THE COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER

Editor John F. Novascone, of the Bessemer (Mich.) Herald, reprinted recently a message of President John R. Burrow, of the Iowa Press Association to its membership on the difficulties faced by the small town publisher and the importance of the local paper to the community. We'd like to quote it in its entirety, but here's the milk in the cocoanut:

"A newspaper is essential to any community; when it loses its newspaper it loses the town's mouthpiece. Seldom can an outside newspaper give adequate news coverage from a local viewpoint. I would like to see all towns in Iowa retain their newspaper, but this is difficult if local people do not cooperate. (Dark type is ours.) not appreciate a newspaper and do not cooperated. (Under-line is ours.)! There is need for local newspapers, but the various communities must pay their own way by patronizing with advertising, subscription payments and favoring local printers with job print-

We think Mr. Burrow is quite right. But we think he knows, just as every other editor knows, that public cooperation is not to be had for the asking. When a paper demonstrates that it is the kind of "mouthpiece" that inspires its readers as well as informing them, that provides leadership for public opinion as well as the food thereof, townspeople, and those in the county, or beyond, will awaken to their responsibility to support the paper, and advertisers will be eager to employ its influence in selling their goods. In these times, perhaps, as never before, people are confused, bewildered-even frightened. They want a strong paper to help them think. They want a strong editor to lean against. We see striking evidence of this every day.—Bob Taylor.

SAFETY AT CHRISTMAS TIME

To prevent the reckless spending of lives every Christmas, the National Safety Council today called on Americans to join in a nation-wide Christmas savings plan to stop acci-

The Council's yuletide ledger shows a loss of 740 lives, from all accidents, during the Christmas holidays last year-and the toll of 556 lives in traffic was the highest on record.

"It is time," Ned H. Dearborn, Council president, said, "for America to start saving-and stop squandering -lives. If every American will join this savings plan before the Christmas holidays, a real yuletide bonus-human life-will be paid."

One hundred and sixty-three national organizations, city and state officials, safety councils and civic leaders have joined the Council in the Christmas savings plan. They will LARGEST SELECTION unite in creating an awareness of the special holiday hazards, and will enlist voluntary cooperation from every American to hold accidents to a mini-

The Christmas-New Year holiday season is the most hazardous single period of the year, according to Council statistics. In traffic accidents alone, twice as many persons are killed during a Christmas holiday period as on the same days of the preceding two weeks.

Heavier travel and the festive spirit of the holiday season increase the normal winter hazards, such as bad weather, slippery roads and more hours of darkness.

The Council suggests this safety measure for Christmas pleasure.

Start automobile trips early and take it easy. Be extremely cautious in bad weather and darkness. Watch out for pedestrians.

FEESERSBURG

The traffic in Baltimore last Saturday must have been a terrific night mare. Several of our citizens parket their cars near Lexington market in one of the newer parking areas and when they called for them they couldn't be found. One person had to walk over three tiers of cars before he located his. The parking lot attendants admitted the jam was so great that they couldn't cope with it. Drivers ignored the traffic lights and tied up the streets so badly it took a person one half an hour to drive two blocks. Shoppers couldn't get near some of the counters in the main de-partment stores. The lesson to learn from all this is to shop at local stores, or shop by mail. Scratched fenders, frayed nerves and lost tempers doesn't put anyone in the Christmas mood.

Speaking of the Christmas spirit, four young ladies possessed it Sunday, when they put on boots and raincoats and took to the woods in the downpour to find a tree and pine decorations for the Missionary Christmas party which was held Monday evening in the parish house at Mt. Union. Needless to say with such an attitude, Needless to say with such an attitude, the party could not help but be a happy affair. About fifty persons were present to exchange gifts and enjoy the entertainment and refreshments.

The Elmer Wolfe P.-T. A. will give a musical program Monday evening, Dec. 14 at its regular monthly meeting. This Christmas program has being. This Christmas program has become an annual event and the public has for the past two years found it very enjoyable, because the spotlight has been on the local talent, which in its performance has been as good as some professionals.

While on the subject of music, Eddie Fisher has a new record out which while deeply sentimental, will appeal to everyone who has ever had a father. That I believe, will take in all of us. The title, "My Papa." Any husband can usually help his wife make up her mind by simply voicing his opinion. This bit of wis-dom, which doesn't happen to be my own, will come in handy during the shopping season.

Do you make a habit to listen to WTTR, the friendly voice of Carroll County? If not, do so for you will like the voices of its announcers and all the news they bring you about persons and places in the county. The new broadcasting station is trying hard be of real service to the county and doing a fine job.

A capacity crowd saw the repear performance of "The Mock Wedding" Tuesday evening in the Elmer Wolfe School auditorium and enjoyed very much the comedy of the cast, which was made up of all men. The talented accordion player from Westminster was given an ovation and delighted the audience with a second appearance. All in all it was a fine program made up of local talent which means so much to a small community. At the conclusion of the program a sale of fancy work and baked goods was held which proved almost as popular as the play.

We picked red ripe tomatoes last week right off the vine. The secret? We hung two vines in the basement late in September loaded with green tomatoes. They ripened in time for Thanksgiving dinner. It was tried as an experiment and it worked.

Someone besides the squirrels knew there wasn't any wild walnuts this year. The price of black walnuts per pound from last year has jumped fifty cents. Usually there are bushels stored at Merry Knoll for use in baking, but this year the trees were bare due to the drought. We can get along very well without them but we wonder what the squirrels will do.

Erich Willen of Westminster and Corrine Hoff, New Windsor, were named National winners at the 32nd annual National 4-H Club congress in Chicago last week. Both winners received a $300 scholarship.

We didn't know until last week that work had already started in the Keymar area to remove the old humpback bridge which for so long had been a land mark and a traffic hazard. The road will be straightened from the Keymar crossroad to the Freder ick county line. This is a long awaited improvement and will be appreciated all motorists.

Hunting season is with us again and all hunters are being warned to take care in handling rabbits because tularemia (rabbit fever) has been discovered in Maryland this year. Hunters should wear gloves in handling the rabbits for it is through the fur that man contracts the fever. Once the meat has been cooked the danger is past. Christmas cards change from year to year almost as much as women' dresses. They seem to be getting brighter in color and gayer in wit. The formal greeting with the printed name of the sender is no longer popular. I like to send and also receive a card with a little personal message on it. It does take extra time of cours to write a line or two on a hundred cards or more but after all that is the real reason for sending out Christ-mas greetings—to let friends and neighbors know you want to remember them during the holidays. It so much more friendlier to send the message in ones own handwriting.

I always take for granted that people like to read as much as I do and that is why, ever so often I recommend a book. My latest offer is "Fire in The Ashes" by Theodore H. White. It is not fiction for I rarely read fiction any more finding the realistic writing much more interesting. You will enjoy this book for it is the story of Europe rising from the ashes of despair-and of America's great adventure as leader of the Western world. It will deepen your pride in being an American.—Ruth

From the Warehimes, Florida, I received a picture of St. Paul's United Lutheran church, Tampa, Florida, a beautiful edifice built in 1950. This is the church of our former pastor, Rev. Andrew F. Theisz. Just recently the Theisz's moved into the new par-

TB PATIENT BUYS CHRISTMAS

"I went down with TB in 1947 and spent eight months at Mt. Union Sanatorium. Now I can work most of the time. I hope that each and everyone that has TB can be brought back to good health."

These words were scribbled on a lit tle folder to which three one dollar bills had been clipped. The Carroll County Tuberculosis Association felt that its contributors would like to know how their contributions had actually been at work to help one of their fellow citizens.

The returns are coming but we are still a long way from our goal of $7000.00. The Beta Sigmas Phi is to be commended for the assistance which it is giving to the Seal Sale Campaign. The members are person. ally soliciting the businesses of West-minster asking that they purchase bonds instead of seals. Many businesses cannot use seals and the Tu-berculosis Association is offering bonds which have no monetary value, but are given in recognition of a contribution of $5.00 or more.

The Senior Girl Scouts of Westminster are also planning to aid the campaign by assisting in the prepara-tion of "reminder cards" which will be sent to contributors who have not, as yet, sent in their contributions. Carroll County has been most loyal in the support of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association and it is felt. that they will respond again this year as they have in the past.

HIGH PEDESTRIAN ACCIDENT RATE FROM TURNING CARS CITED BY AAA

Pedestrians running into turning cars, or turning cars running into pecars, or turning cars running into pe-destrians, accounted for a large per-centage of the fatal and injury acci-dents to those on foot at city inter-sections, Mr. Robert L. Leese, West-minster Branch Manager of the AAA reported recently on the basis of figures compiled by AAA Headquarters One out of four pedestrians killed last year were struck at intersections, he said.

"This alarming situation illustrates clearly the need for greater caution on the part of both drivers and pedestrians", Mr. Leese, in announcing that teachers here will be furnished with a kit of safety educational ma-terials prepared by AAA Headquarters on the theme, Watch for Turning Cars, for use in their classroom safety educational program during Decem-

"The instant a child or adult steps into the street, especially at an unprotected crossing, he enters a zone of traffic consisting of larger, faster and more powerful units that cannot be maneuvered in the same fashion that pedestrians can turn or stop. In any competition between pedestrians and cars, the pedestrian's flesh and bones are no match for the car."

Five precautions to avoid accidents from turning cars cited by Mr. Leese are: Watch for turning cars at corners, alleys, driveways; obey traffic direction changes; cross only at corners; and always look carefully in all directions before crossing. directions before crossing.

The attractive two-color poster to be used in classrooms here this month is a prize-winner in the 9th National AAA School Safety Poster Contest. It was drawn by Eugene Ellick, of Simon Gratz Senior High School, Philadelphia, Pa.

SOME BUILD-UP

A traveling salesman was registering at a hotel. In his conversation with the manager he inquired what there was in the way of entertainment in town at the time.

"Well", said the manager, "do you like burlesque shows?"

"Yes, I like a good burlesque show" replied the salesman. "Then", continued the manager, we got just the thing for you. Zara, the most popular burlesque queen in the country, is appearing at the local burlesque house this week. Her act alone is worth twice the price of admission. She does one of those dances of the seven veils. She has beautiful hair, a lovely face, a marvelous shape; oh boy, wait till you get a load of her. The music plays real slow and she comes out on the stage and dances around and discards a veil and the music plays, faster and she discards another veil than the music plays. another veil, then the music keeps getting faster and she drops more until—say, wait until I get my hat and coat. Development of an effective vaccine against the three varieties of poliomyelitis virus appears close at hand, according to the American Peoples Encyclopedia 1953 Yearbook. One Human Race

Lesson for December 13, 1953

VOU can try a little experiment with your friends or your Sunday school class. Ask each one to think of a human being, any human being. Write it down if they like. Then go around the circle and see what kind of human beings they picked. It's a safe prediction that most of them will have selected a human being of their own race, somebody rather like them instead of someone different from them. In other words, when we think "human being" we think 'somebody like

What Do You Mean by "One"?

The truth is that it really does take all kinds of people to make a world, hard as that is for everybody to believe. Furthermore, with all the bewildering differences there are in language, looks, culture, manners and morals, the human race is one. If there is anything quite clear in the New Testament, this is it. All human beings are human, not one is subhuman. If other races seem peculiar to you, so peculiar you even wonder why God made them, remember you seem just as peculiar to them.

But what is the one-ness of the human race? It is true, all of us in the big collection of living animals called "mankind" have many points in common that are not very important, some that are not important at all. We all walk on two legs, not four-but so do penguins. We all know pleasure and pain-but so do cats. We must all die-but so must grasshoppers. We all came, probably, from the common set of ancestors-but so presumably did catfish. There is something far more important than our brain, our hand, our nervous system or our digestive tract that marks us as one race. It is the fact which only religion acknowledges, but a fact of deepest importance: We are all children of God and made in his image. God made us of many kinds; but he also made us "of one," in unity, for unity. We are one because there is one "Lord of all."

If One, Then What? If the oneness of the human race is taken seriously, then some practical results follow. This is not all theory. It is something we can live by. For one thing, whenever we have any contact with any human being we have to remember that he is a human being, and that so far as we are concerned that is the most important fact about him. He may have a different color, he may talk in strange gibberish, his customs may seem to be topsy-turvy, he may not know how to eat with a spoon. His ideas may be quite the reverse of ours, his religion may be weird nonsense and his whole mental workings as hard to follow as the flight of bats. But nevertheless the thing that unites him with you is more vital than the things that mark him off from you. You belong to the same human race.

Furthermore, if it is true, as said above, that what gives the human race its unity is the fact that we are all creatures of the same Father-God, then in all dealings with other people, even when they misunderstand God (as fetishworshippers do) or even deny his very existence, as most Russians do, we must remember always: Their God and ours are the same. They may not know it, but it is so. All this adds up to the point that we have no right to despise or look down on any member of the human race, -nor they on us. At the foot of God's throne we all are on level ground.

Even A Saint Can Forget This

One of the Bible readings tells of an incident in the life of St. Peter. God had already shown him, as it were by a miracle, that "God is no respecter of persons," but at Antioch he forgot it. Forgot it so far that he would not even eat with some persons of a different race than his own, even though they were all Christians too. So it is easy to read these words, and it was not hard to write them, that all human beings are one.

Telephone Terms

When a telephone man talks about "arms" and a "high-hat," the chances are he's referring to things the company uses in providing service. For instance, arms stands for the crossarms you see on the poles. A highhat is a device over which a roll of open wire is placed for unwinding. And, of course, "planting" telephone poles means more service for more Who's first?

A business firm in a certain state is distributing a list of emergency telephone numbers that runs like this: Doctor, TV repairman, Fire, Police. It really doesn't matter about the order of the names on the list, so long as you keep one handy. And speaking of lists, why not keep one of frequently called numbers, both local and long distance? You can get a handy Personal Telephone Directory, in which to list these numbers, from the telephone office. It's free, of course.
