EDITORIAL

From T. H. S.

SOLUTION TO WONDER?

Has anyone offered an answer to Merritt Copenhaver's editorial, Wonder? Perhaps you didn't read Merritt's editorial. Briefly, he asked, "Where will your child be tonight?" He then went on to explain that Taneytown hasn't any facilities for its youth in the winter time. In an article by R. Roelke, (the only thing we have heard or read concerning the problem) she states, "We are so young our hands over delinquency but do nothing to prevent it. We are so young catering to our own desires that we brush youth aside." I hope that isn't true of Taneytown.

I offer the following suggestion, subject to the approval of the interested parents. Let us have a room or building—the former Bowling Alley, Opera House, or perhaps a room in the Legion Home. Surely there are two ping pong tables, not in use, in the town. We could get enough to equip the tables. We need a few chairs, tables, couches; a fountain bar would be swell; jukebox music for dancing, cards for cardplayers. Open the "Youth Center" from 6:30 to 10:30 on all days of the week except Sunday and during the basketball season close all days of the week except Sunday to break everything. Perhaps a member of one of the service clubs or an interested parent would donate an evening a week. This would be arranged so that no one man would sacrifice too much time.

A youth committee of Taneytown would be more than willing to meet representatives of Kiwanis, Lions, Legion, Recreation committee, and the Mayor.

MELVIN BOWLING.

(The article "Wonder" referred to in the above article is being reprinted for the benefit of our readers who are interested in the welfare of our children and teenagers.—Ed.) It follows:

"WONDER"

Where will your child be tonight? This is a question which today confronts every parent of this town. Some wish they knew where their child is spending his evening.

Some youth go to the movies, in Littlestown or Westminster. Why do they go so far for their entertainment? Why not stay in Taneytown?

We all know the answer to this question. Taneytown has no recreation whatsoever to offer its youth. True, there has been a fine recreational park provided. But you can't swing, see saw, or play ball the year around. Therefore, there are no recreational facilities available to the youth during the winter months.

In my opinion, such circumstances provide a fine breeding ground for Democracy's worst enemy, juvenile delinquency. Certainly, an incorporated town, such as is Taneytown, with its service organizations, its Chamber of Commerce, and its officials, could and should do something to correct this astounding situation. —MERRITT COPENHAVER.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

ABILENE, KAN., DAILY REFLECTOR-CHRONICLE: "The most telling summary of recent history was made a generation ago by H. G. Wells, British novelist and prophet of social development. He described man's activity as a race between education and catastrophe. He meant that the human race had gained so much knowledge of how to use destructive forces that unless our wisdom grew, we would wreck the world."

CABOOL, MO, ENTERPRISE: "The Board of Directors of the Missouri Farmers Association, on behalf of the 150,000 farm families who are members of the MFA have adopted a resolution praising the cooperation of the railroads in helping to carry out the Missouri 'freight-free' drought hay program."

ODESSA, TEXAS, AMERICAN: "True order is based on individualism, for individualism means the maximum possible assumption of individual responsibility. That is why we believe in laws which make an individual responsible for his own acts."

JEFFERSONTOWN, KY., JEFFERSONIAN: "Rank and file American pay lip service to the traditions and ideals of our founding fathers. Do we possess the stamina to back up such lip service with a willingness to accept and abide by such policies and programs as are necessary to maintain these ideals?"

SENATE CLOAKROOM

by J. Glenn Beall
United States Senator from Maryland

Social Security has become an accepted part of our national way of life, and during this session of Congress we may expect to see its benefits increased and the number covered expanded.

Perhaps no other program demonstrates as well the changes that have taken place in our national thinking as does the Old Age and Survivors Insurance System—called Social Security. Almost no one now contends that it is not a proper program for the Federal Government, and indeed President Eisenhower recently told Congress "The human problems of individual citizens are a proper and important concern of our government."

Such a statement by the President of the United States would have at one time generated a vociferous response from the Congress and the public. The very fact that it went without comment is indicative of the general acceptance the social security program has had, and interest was primarily in what President Eisenhower proposed in the way of changes in benefits and coverage.

President Eisenhower asked Congress to extend coverage to ten million persons—self-employed farmers, doctors, dentists, and other professional people; members of State and local retirement systems on a voluntary basis; farm workers and domestic workers, etc.

He also recommended increasing the benefits now received by retired persons, and while the President suggested no particular amount, Representative Daniel A. Reed, Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, immediately introduced bills prepared under Administration guidance which would increase the maximum benefits from $85 to $108.50 a month. The maximum payment to a married person would go up from $127.50 to $162.75, and the maximum family benefit would be increased from $168.75 to $190 per month.

Other Presidential recommendations which will be of great interest to the general public were:

1. Liberalizing the 'retirement test' by exempting the first $1,000 of a beneficiary's annual earnings, and that for amounts earned above $1,000 only one month's benefit be deducted for each additional $80 earned.

2. Additional benefit credits should be provided, by increasing the earning base for calculation of benefits and payroll taxes from $3,600 to $4,200, thus enabling fifteen million people to have more of their earnings taken into account by the program.

3. Computing benefits on a fairer basis, by eliminating the four lowest years of earnings in computing a worker's average monthly wage. The present system works unfairly in some cases since the level of benefits is reduced by including the periods of abnormally low earnings, or no earnings, and averaging them with periods of normal earnings, thereby reducing the benefits received by a retired worker.

4. Protecting the benefit rights of a person totally disabled before reaching the age for retirement. The President recommended that the benefits of a worker who has a substantial work record in covered employment and who becomes totally disabled for an extended period be maintained at amount he would have received had he become 65 and retired on the date his disability began.

Many believed that the President might recommend reducing the automatic step-up in payroll deductions and employer contributions which went into effect on January 1. The rate went from one and one-half per cent to two per cent, but the President stated that the net additional cost of his recommendations would necessitate continuing the step-rate increases already provided in the present law.

In order to clarify the worker-employer contribution rate it might be helpful if the public had a better understanding of what is of great interest only to insurance actuaries.

It is estimated that at the one and one-half per cent rate the trust fund would be exhausted by 1967, but at two per cent it would last after 1975. If later scheduled increases become effective the fund will exceed $65 billion by the end of this century. The present schedule of increases is: two and one-half per cent in 1960, three per cent in 1965, and three and one-quarter per cent in 1970.

Social Security has proven to be of great benefit to vast numbers of individuals and to the country as a whole. It is not a substitute for private savings, insurance and pension plans, but it does provide protection for an individual's economic security in his old age—nearly seventy million persons and their families are covered, with some six million already receiving benefits.

Complexities of our modern society made such a program mandatory, and it should remain, as the President explained, "the cornerstone of the government's programs to promote the economic security of the individual."

Keep Cold Air Out By Locking Windows

A house will be warmer in winter if the windows are kept locked. Locking keeps the sash tightly closed, making the window more airtight.

A window also will close more tightly if all grooves and joints around the sash are kept clean. If windows do not fit properly, they should be weatherstripped.

PATCHING RARELY WORKS

Patching a weathered roof is rarely worthwhile. A more economical procedure is to reroof with asphalt shingles while the old roof is sound enough to be used as a base for the new material. This saves tearing the old roof off.

JEST IN FUN

The group of fishermen stopped in at a backwoods farm house to see if they could buy lunch.

"Reckon so," said the farmer's wife. "Effen you likes pork chops...that's all I got."

The hungry fell to with a will and ate up the pork chops. Afterwards they complimented their hostess on the quality of the meat.

"Well, I should hope so," she replied. "that's none of your butchered meat. That hog died a natural death."

"Jim, I don't think our daughter's old enough to wear a strapless gown to the high school prom, do you?"

Father buried in the newspaper: "If the thing stays up, then she's old enough."

Said one strawberry to the other, "If we hadn't been caught in the same bed together we wouldn't be in this jam."

Tenant: "The people upstairs are very inconsiderate. Last night they stamped and banged on the floor after midnight!" Landlord: "Did they keep you awake?"

Tenant: "No, as it happened, I was still up practicing on my tuba."

They asked an explorer this "Will wild beasts in the jungle harm you if you carry a torch?"

"It all depends," he answered, "on how fast you carry it."

ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

Q. Should I use a growth stimulant on newly-hatched chicks?

If it's Dr. Salsbury's Ren-O-Sal, the sooner the better. Chicks that receive Ren-O-Sal regularly grow faster than untreated chicks. Put Ren-O-Sal in drinking water from start to finish for rapid growth, fast feathering and early maturity. Ren-O-Sal also prevents spread of cecal cocciosis if given at the rate of 8 tablets per gallon.

Ammonia Water Washes Brushes and Brooms

Household brushes and brooms will last longer and do a better job if they are thoroughly washed occasionally. Ammonia water is good for this purpose.

Use two tablespoons of ammonia to a quart of water. Let the brush or broom straws soak for half an hour, then rinse them well and hang them up to dry.

USE FIBER WASHERS

Fiber washers withstand hot water better than leather ones do, and for that reason they should be used in hot water faucets.

OIL MOTOR CAREFULLY

In oiling an electrical motor, be careful not to drop oil on the cord. Oil will rot the rubber insulation.

Test Drive
and you'll want to drive it home

Try the Y or the Π. You'll thrill to Ford's greater responsiveness the first time you take a Test Drive. And you'll discover that this new "Go" is yours through the full range of driving speeds! Both of Ford's new engines have an extra-deep block extending well below the crankshaft, giving the V-8 a "Y" shape, the Six an "Π" shape—and you have a more rigid, smoother, quieter engine. Both are short-stroke engines, too, which means less internal friction, more usable energy, greater gas savings and long engine life.

Feel how Ford's new Ball-Joint Front Suspension cushions the bumps.

You'll find a new kind of ride... level and smooth... even on rough, rutted roads. And, because Ford's new ball-joint front suspension is simpler than the conventional type... with 12 points of wear eliminated... that "new car" feel lasts longer.

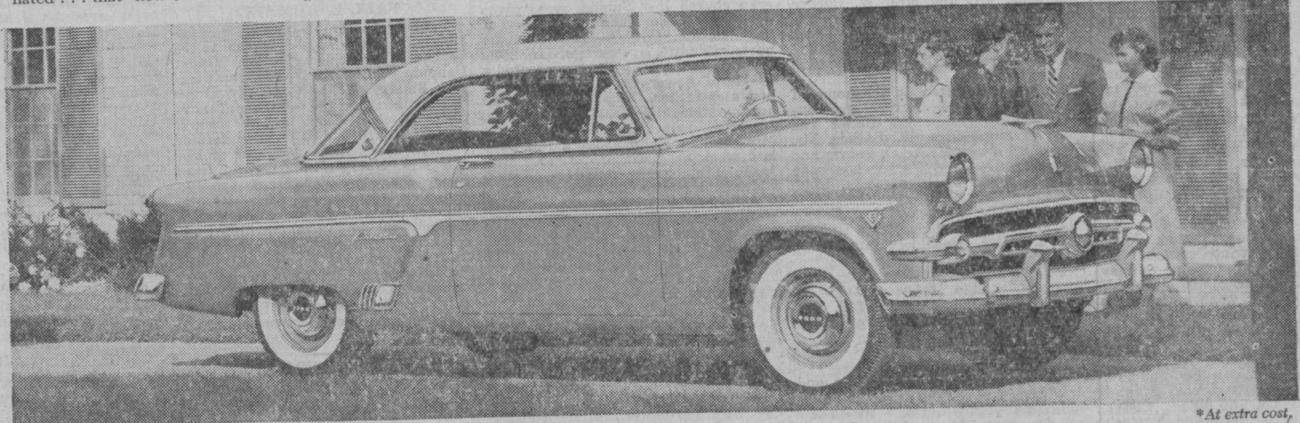

Look at your beautiful surroundings.

You'll see why Ford interiors for '54 set a new high in beauty. For here is a matchless blending of fabric, color and styling. Every detail says "fine car" quality from the new upholstery and trim to the unique new Astra-Dial Control Panel. And you'll find there's all the "living room" you'll ever want or need.

See how Ford's optional power assists* make your driving easier.

Unlike other low-priced cars, Ford offers a power-lift system that operates on all four windows. And Ford's power-operated front seat moves up and down as well as back and forth. Ford also offers you power brakes, power steering and Fordomatic.

Your fun really begins when you own a Ford

Of course, you can't fully appreciate the many, many "worth more" advantages that are yours in a '54 Ford until you actually own one. You'll find that your Ford provides the careful craftsmanship of a hull-tight Crestmark Body, the added safety of Full-Circle

Visibility, the easier action of suspended clutch and brake pedals and the convenience of Center-Fill Fueling... advances which make your Ford more fun to drive. And only Ford in the low-price field brings them to you. Why not join the swing to Ford!

THE CARROLL RECORD THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1954 CORRESPONDENCE Latest Items of Local News Furnished By Our Regular Staff of Writers

FEESERSBURG

In the latest issue of Collier's Magazine, there is an article by Howard Whitman, titled "Speak Out, Silent People". The "Silent People" are you and I, who, seeing things being done in our public schools which we do not like, remain silent though we should stand up in public places and make ourselves heard. I am not the only parent who feels that a lot of nonsense has crept into the schools, because last week, reaching the boiling point over a teacher's bad judgment I contacted six other parents and they felt the same way about the situation, although all of us were uncertain how to proceed to alter the aggravating condition. But I know if we continue to remain silent, things will continue to deteriorate and our children will not be the kind of citizen we want them to be. It is not fair of course to lump all teachers together and label them either good or bad. There are teachers that give the best that is in them for their profession, and there are those in the profession only to earn a living. The major source of irritation for most parents is that many pupils never learn to read. We just don't understand why this is true in a modern school while in a one room school-house of a few years back no boy or girl emerged from its doors without the basic three "R's". Yes, I know some educators is going to ask me to prove that statement. Even more galling to parents, than the fact that their children do not learn the basic subjects well, are the ideas being drilled into their minds, ideas for which they are being taught at home. Teachers have more of an influence on their pupils than they realize. I think if most of them knew how much of what they say, how they act and how they dress was absorbed by open and susceptible minds, they would think twice about their code of ethics. Five days a week, from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m., and for nine months of the year and for 12 years, the public schools have first priority over our dearest possessions—our sons and daughters. Isn't it time we parents presented our side of the story? We furnish the money and the pupils and so we at least should be listened to with an open mind by educators and not told as one parent in a near by city was told: "Parents should stay away from the schools and leave them to the experts". One may ask "Experts in what?" Note: In writing about schools in the above paragraph, I was thinking of schools in general and not about our local school in particular, except in one sentence, where I referred to the parents I talked with about a certain situation. Whenever I write about the schools in a critical manner I am taken to task by someone in Westminster. This only tends to bear out Mr. Whitman's article that professional educators want no criticism from the parents. Dairy farmers in Alaska are receiving ten dollars per hundred for their milk, but I advise Carroll county dairymen not to be hasty to sell out and go to Alaska. The weather up there makes it necessary to keep the stock in the barn nine months out of the year with only three months of field pasture. Machinery, labor and feed are correspondingly high. The bee-keepers and their bees held a convention at the Lord Baltimore this week. Someone is always bringing up the birds and bee story but the farmer knows just how necessary the bee is to farming. Without the little buzz bomb there would be no clover, fruit and other vegetation. So far no mechanical device has been perfected to take the place of bees in pollinating the flowers of fruits, grass and shrubs. The years when DDT was used unsparsingly along with the pesty pests. It taught the farmers a bitter lesson in what not to do again with an unproven insect killer. He about ruined his clover fields until nature and the Dept. of Agriculture put out a new crop of bees. Several weeks ago we mentioned in this column that Gerald Johnson was one of our favorite writers. This week a letter came from a friend in Baltimore telling me that Mr. Johnson visits a small drug store off Bolton Street about twice a week and buys three or four of the paper back books which one finds in any drug store these days. What worries my friend is the names of the books Mr. Johnson buys. He tried to find out but G. J. is keeping that a secret. When he pays the clerk, he cleverly keeps the title of the book hidden. My guess is that he buys Mickey Spillane's thrillers. Most intellectuals read mysteries or Western stories to rest their mind. Like the common mortal, they too have their weak moments. Are you taking the increase in the price of coffee without a murmur or are you doing what this family is doing? We have been used to drinking coffee three times a day, but now we have one cup for breakfast and drink tea at lunch and dinner. Coffee being my favorite beverage I never thought that I could voluntarily give it up. But when coffee went over a dollar a pound it was time to boycott it. There wasn't any justification for the price going up as the Dept. of Agriculture says there is enough coffee in storage to last until 1955, before the present crop of coffee comes on the market. Sales of coffee in New York city have dropped 50%. If enough people do without for awhile the price will drop. Some one pointed out the other day that if people find out they can do without coffee and learn to drink milk or tea, the coffee industry might wake up some day and find out it killed the goose that laid the golden egg and gave the tea industry and the dairymen a break. While the snow covered the ground we had dozens of visitors and were able to feed them twice a day. They included sparrows, starlings, English Mocking birds, Red birds and several species we didn't recognize. The sparrows and starlings preferred to take their meals on the ground, but the others liked their food placed in a tree. All of them had a regular time to come to meals and we enjoyed seeing them sail in from all directions. Of course we were glad to see the snow disappear, but we missed the birds for once the ground was free from snow they didn't show up at meal time. Maybe they didn't want to run up a board bill. Why do some robins stay around all winter while others wing southward? Maybe there are poor robins and rich ones—just like humans. Some can't afford to make the trip and so you put up with the cold and snow. There might be a housing shortage too or not enough worms in the south to go around. Whatever the reason, it's nice to see a robin hanging around all winter, for it adds a bit of cheer to a dull and drab landscape during the winter months. This is the last week of the drive for funds to the March of Dimes campaign. Carroll County you sent in two thousand dollars. Have you sent in your contribution? Remember some child is depending upon your dime. It could be some one you know. If you are successful, your friends say you are just lucky; if you are a dismal failure they say you were always lazy and just a bum. You can't win—that is, if you gauge your rating by what your friends say. Ruth Roelke

The prediction that was made earlier in the fall didn't prove true. According to the prediction we were only to have one big snow, and that was all we were to have this winter. That was like on Sunday morning the weather forecast was given that it was to be fair and warmer and at the same time it was raining. It seems it's hard for the weather man to hit it just right. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Adkins and daughter, called on the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Frock and daughter, on Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Selby spent Sunday afternoon in the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Selby. FARMERS MEET

The Taneytown Farm Bureau Planning Group met Friday, Jan. 22, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Feeser. The meeting was opened by the president, Ellsworth Feeser. Several songs were used. Bills were paid for the Christmas and New Year dinner. Plans were discussed to meet with another group for a future meeting; perhaps March or April. The discussion period was led by Hubert J. Null, the topic being "Support and Adjustment Programs." The meeting was adjourned. For entertainment, several games were played and a poem "Down on the Farm" was read. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held on Friday, Feb. 26th.

DOWN ON THE FARM

Down on the farm, 'bout half past four I slip on my pants and sneak out the door. Out of the yard, I run like the dickens, To milk ten cows and feed the chickens, Clean out the barn, curry Nancy and Jiggs, Separate the cream and slop all the pigs, Work two hours, then eat like a Turk; And, by heck, I'm ready for a full day's work! Then I grease the wagon and put on the rack; Throw a jug of water in an old grain sack; Hitch up the horses, hustle down the lane, Got to get the hay in, it looks like rain Look over yonder - sure as you're born, Cattle on a rampage and cows in the corn! Heaving like I'm wind-broke, wet clear thru, Set down a minute, wonderin' what to do! Get back to the horses, then for recreation, Nancy gets straddle of the barbed wire fence! Joints all aching and muscles in a jerk, I'm fit as a fiddle for a full day's work! Work all Summer, 'till winter is nigh, Then figure up the books and heave a big sigh, Worked all year, didn't make a thing; Got less cash than I had last Spring! Now, some people tell us there ain't no Hell, But they never farmed so they can't tell When Spring comes around, I take another chance, While the fringes grows longer on my old gray pants, Give my spenders a hitch, my belt an other jerk, And, by heck, I'm ready for a full year's work!

CARROLL COUNTY P.-T. A. MET

"The P.-T. A. needs men", said Joseph A. Hunter, President of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers. "We're not running a mother's club" he told the meeting of the Carroll County Council of Parents and Teachers which was held at the Mechanicsville School, Gamber, Md., Thursday evening, January 21, 1954. In addition to urging men to take a more active part Mr. Hunter: 1. Recommended that PTA groups seek out the best possible leadership. 2. Suggested "talk it over" sessions as a means to improve programs. 3. Urged PTA's to make their needs known to state and county officials. Others on the program were Dr. David Zimmerman, Assistant Superintendent of the schools of Maryland. Milton C. Raver, Executive Secretary of the Maryland State Teachers Association, and Paul M. Beckwith, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Carroll County Council of Parents and Teachers. Dr. Zimmerman had for his topic the financial aids available to the county and those used by the county up to the present time. He stated that of the monies spent in the county by the Board of Education 56% came from the State, 41% from local sources and 3% from the Federal Government. In connection with teachers salaries Mr. Raver stated that in Harford County the County Commissioners had approved a minimum salary scale of $3200 to $5000 for teachers. He stated further, that in Carroll County a minimum salary scale for teachers of $2850 to $4450. However, Superintendent of Schools of Carroll County, Samuel M. Jenness, pointed out that he had requested a starting salary of $3000. By comparison Mr. Raver pointed out that the average salary of a teacher is $4000 a year whereas the average income for a dentist is $8000, and both require exactly the same amount of study. Mr. Raver urged those present to keep working on better pay for teachers until parents could recommend the teaching profession to their children. Mr. Beckwith discussed the panel discussion recently held at the Westminster High School. Horatio Fox, President of the Council presided at the meeting. He announced the following slate for the Nomination Committee which will make its report at the April meeting: Miss Ruth Anna Kimmey, Chairman, K. L. Spahr, Fred L. Engle, Mrs. Geo. Gunther and Mrs. C. Randall Kilgore, members. 50 delegates attended the meeting, representing all but two of the schools in the county.

COMMUNITY LOCALS

(Continued from first page) Mrs. Fred I. Wheat, of Wilmington, N. Car., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Carpenter. On Wednesday morning Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Kiser, Keysville, left on a month's vacation to be spent in Florida. Mrs. John Marker, mother of Mrs. Merwyn Fuss, entered the Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, on Sunday. Joseph Arnold, student at Mt. St. Mary's, Emmitsburg, is spending from Wednesday until Sunday with his family. Ernest W. Dunbar and Charles L. Stonesifer attended the Carroll Co. Tuberculosis Board meeting in Westminster, on Monday evening. George Vincent Arnold and George Baumgardner of the University of Maryland, College Park, came home Wednesday for a two weeks vacation. Our scrutinizing Auctioneer, Earl R. Bowers reports that he saw a large flock of robins about 18, this week. This could be, on the part of the birds, an early harbinger, of Spring. Merwyn C. Fuss, president and Charles R. Arnold, cashier of the Birnie Trust Co., were guests of the Maryland Trust Co., at the banquet of the Baltimore banks, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, last Saturday. Mr. Herbert Smith, of Littlestown, was discharged from the Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, on Monday. He had been a patient in the hospital for two weeks following an operation for kidney stones. Mrs. Smith, a patient in this hospital because of a fracture of the right arm near her shoulder, is bright and cheerful. She will be in the hospital several weeks.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my friends and neighbors for their cards, fruit and visits while I was a patient in the Hospital. MR. LAWRENCE MYERS. NOTE OF THANKS I wish to acknowledge with sincere thanks and appreciation the many bouquets of beautiful flowers, boxes of fruit, candy, magazines, and innumerable cards sent to me during my stay at the Annie M. Warner Hospital and since my return home on Monday. These, plus your many very pleasant visits are indeed greatly appreciated. NORMAN R. SAUBLE NOTE OF APPRECIATION When Rip Van Winkle awoke from his 20 years of sleep he found the world much changed, and so do we find Taneytown in the past 20 years. New people have moved in, new ideas advanced, new standards set, and new interests have taken precedence of the old. Families, once leaders in affairs of church and state have left few representatives. Cherished land marks are lost and trees cut down so cement sidewalks, scaled to the inch, may be laid. We began to feel that Taneytown as we once knew it is no more. Yet a recent accident occurred which brought such genuinely shown sympathy that we realize whatever have been the changes the heart of Taneytown still beats. It would seem impossible to thank each and every one individually as the sympathy was so wide spread. So by these lines I thank you all. ANNA GALT CARD OF THANKS I want to thank everyone for the many cards, gifts and visits while I was a patient in the Annie Warner Hospital, and since my return home. MRS. RAY A. COPENHAVER and daughter, MYRA JANE. MEETING OF HISTORICAL SOCIETY A capacity crowd filled the auditorium of the Carroll County Historical Society at the meeting of the Society on Thursday evening, January 21st. The McGuffey Reader program proved to be one of the most enjoyable ever presented by the organization. After a brief biographical sketch of McGuffey given by Miss Lillian Shipley, the program chairman, selections were read. From the Third Reader, Mrs. Sidney Ward gave "A Child's Inquiry" by an Anonymous writer, and the "Destruction of Sennacherib" by Lord Byron. From the Fourth Reader, Miss Louise Matthews read a moral tale, entitled "Respect for Sabbath Observance" from the Edinburgh papers and a poem "The Pebble and the Acorn" by Miss Gould. From the Sixth Reader, Miss Pauline Fuss read, "The Jolly Old Pedagogue" by Sir Wm. Jones, "What Constitutes a State" by George Arnold, and Benjamin Franklin's autobiographical story of his "First Entry in Philadelphia". The program concluded with the group singing of songs suggestive to the McGuffey era, as "The Old Oaken Bucket" and "Old Black Joe". Mrs. Test Kimmey led at the piano. The retiring president, E. A. Shoemaker, presented the new president, J. Harry Koller, who presided over the meeting. President Koller announced his committee chairmen as follows: Mrs. A. G. Tracey, Membership; Mrs. Carroll Rinehart, Program; Miss Lillian Shipley, Museum; Dr. A. G. Tracey, Tours and History; Erman A. Shoemaker, Grounds; Miss Dorothy Elderdice, Publicity; Col. T. K. Harrison, Finance; John R. Byers, Photographer; Mrs. Edgar G. Barnes, Custodian of Records; Carroll Rinehart, Monuments and Markers. The names of Miss Dorothy Elderdice, Col. T. K. Harrison and Dr. Theodore M. Whitfield were submitted for honorary life membership in the society. Among those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide, Mrs. Ernest Ritter, Misses Amelia and Elizabeth Annan, Miss Clara Brining, Mrs. John W. Smith, Mrs. John Teeter and Miss Beulah Englar.

TAKE A CHANCE

There are 132 different spellings for Lake Winnepesaukee, which got its name from the Indians. The red skins may not have known how to spell it in the first place.

ONE MORE

Another of those old slaves is dead. This time Mrs. Ettie Pierce, Madison, Wis., aged 115. She toured the south at the age of 95 and located 50 of her descendants. The one unusual thing in her case is that no claim of having known Lincoln is made.

PROFITEER

"MacDuff, I'm in love with your wife. If you will give her to me, I'll pay her weight in gold." "Let me ha' a fu weeks, first." "What for, to think it over?" "Na, mon! To fatten her."

THE FINISH

"Just think," said the conceited heavyweight boxer, "thousands of listeners will tune in to this fight tonight." "Yes," shouted the manager, "and they'll know the result at least 10 seconds before you will."

FIRST AID

Hubby: "Doesn't this steak have a queer taste to you?" Bride of a "Weak": I can't understand it. I know it was burned a little but I rubbed vaseline on it right away."

TANEYTOWN vs NEW WINDSOR

Taneytown High School journeyed to New Windsor, Saturday, January 23, to challenge New Windsor's Tigers to two basketball games, between the boys varsity and the girls varsity.

Taneytown High girls won their game after relinquishing the lead to New Windsor several times. The final score was 32 to 27.

New Windsor was proved to be over-rated as Taneytown outplayed and out-scored New Windsor 44 to 43. Taneytown won the game in the final second when Graham Wildasin shot and made a basket during the blowing of the final horn.

There is a dispute as to whether the Wildasin shot was before or after the horn. The referees believed the shot was made before the horn sounded, but there was a dispute at the timers table as to whether it was or not. Coach Charles Havens of Western Maryland College will make the final decision on this much disputed game.

"Diddle" Lawyer was high scorer of the game with 19 points while Baile had 14 for New Windsor.

Design Fireplace As Major Feature Of Living Room

SHORT of a hole in the floor, an architect once said, the fireplace is probably the most inefficient means ever designed for heating a house!

Only about 10 per cent of the heat it throws off gets into the room, and when you are too near the hearth you almost roast. However, lots of appeal and personality are needed to live down such a record as that, and apparently a fireplace has just that. It spells "home" to many families, and like a vacation, it pays dividends in contentment and good cheer that can't be measured with either heat or money.

Design as Part of Room
Fireplaces should be designed not only as a part of the room in which they're located, but they should also be appropriate to the type of building and furnishings where they're used. You can't wedge the fireplace in a corner or stick it against any wall as a sort of an afterthought.

FIREPLACE in this room was made the dominant element by extending clay tile facing along the entire room. This type of tile is practical as well as decorative since it's fireproof and won't be damaged or discolored by smoke.

Neither can you move the fireplace around as you would a piano or sofa. You have to be certain it's away from traffic, too, so people don't have to cut in and out of it between pieces of furniture.

Materials Limit Design
Fireplace design has, in the past, always been limited to some degree by the need of using fireproof materials such as clay tile for the hearth and the facing. However, these materials, modern builders are finding, can be dramatized and treated with boldness that makes them as new and fresh as the homes in which they're used.

With this in mind, the fireplace can be designed as a major feature of the living room. In this way, too, you can avoid its looking too fussy or too small for the other room proportions.

In one home, striking modern effect was achieved by using quarry tile for facing the fireplace and running it from floor to ceiling. The warm, reddish material brought essential color to the room and the lines were in keeping with the furnishings.

Wheat Germ Serves Bonus in Nutrition

The tiny heart of the wholesome wheat kernel, called wheat germ, gives you a wonderful bonus in nutrition. It's about 33 per cent muscle building protein and one of the richest sources of the protective B vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, necessary for steady nerves and an avoidance of chronic fatigue.

Flavorwise? Wheat germ is delicious. It tastes nutlike and adds a nice crunchiness to almost any food. Sprinkle it on your cereal in the morning, add some to flour used for cakes and cookies to give them a nutlike flavor and you'll also be better nourished.

Here, it goes into a delicious ice cream:

Butterscotch Wheat Ice Cream (Makes 1 quart)

- 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs, well beaten
- 1 cup milk
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 1/2 cup wheat germ

In top of double boiler, combine sugar, water and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until sugar is dissolved. Bring to a boil over medium heat and boil 5 minutes. Add a small amount of sugar syrup to eggs and mix well. Stir into sugar mixture. Add milk and cook over boiling water until thickened and smooth. Remove from heat and cool. Add vanilla and turn into refrigerator tray. Freeze until mixture is frozen one inch from sides of tray. Turn into bowl and beat until smooth. Fold in whipped cream and wheat germ. Freeze in refrigerator trays, stirring occasionally, until mixture is firm.

Steam escapes rapidly from pots which have been cooking for some time, at the moment that the cover is removed. The lid should be removed so the steam escapes away from the user.

SHORT STORY

Bridal Blues

By Rob E. Mack

MOM, I'm scared. The wedding's tomorrow and all of a sudden, I'm scared. I just don't feel like a bride should." Holly sat on the bed, looking only half her twenty years in pink flowered pajamas and brown pin-curls.

"Nonsense, darling!" her mother laughed. "You're just running true to form. There's never been a bride yet, who didn't suffer these night-before-jitters. It's a tradition."

Holly's blue eyes looked dubious. "Did you have them?"

"Of course, Goodness, your father never knew how close I came to backing out!" She gave Holly a reassuring hug and kiss. "Go to sleep now, baby. You'll feel wonderful in the morning." She turned off the light and closed the door.

With a deep sigh, Holly fumbled in the dark for her slippers and "What is this strange new fear inside me?" Holly wondered.

crossed to the open window. An autumn breeze rippled the white curtains. A locust droned high in the old elm tree, and the air smelled of dry leaves. Across the lawn, stood Ken's house, where the Adams family had lived since Holly was eight and Ken was eleven.

"What is this strange new fear inside me?" Holly wondered. "All my life, I've wanted to grow up and marry Ken. We love and understand each other so well. Why should I be afraid now?"

A car pulled into the Adams driveway and rolled quietly toward the garage. It was Ken, returning from his bachelor party. Jumping up, Holly snatched her tweed coat from the closet and ran lightly down the stairs.

"Ken!" she called softly, running across the lawn.

He was just locking the garage and turned at the sound of her voice, peering through the darkness. "Hi, angel!" he said, holding out his arms. "I'm glad you're here—I wanted to have a little talk with you." His deep voice sounded nervous and worried.

Holly gave him a quick hug. "Let's sit under the tree, so we won't disturb the folks." Holding hands, they moved to the circular bench under the old elm.

"What did you want to talk about?" asked Holly.

Ken cleared his throat. "Well . . . I don't know quite how to say you're ready for marriage? I mean, you've never really dated anyone but me. The fellows were kidding about that tonight at the party. I never thought much of it before, but—" He stopped, embarrassed.

"But what, darling?" Holly prompted. He turned, cupping her chin in one hand and searching for her eyes in the leafy shadows.

"Holly, are you marrying me because you love me, or because our parents planned it this way from the day we met? No, wait—don't answer yet. Think a minute. You know how it's been all our lives. Holly and Ken, Ken and Holly. No one ever thought of us separately—always in one breath. We celebrated our birthdays and holidays together, your folks and mine. You went to all the school proms and games with me. Even those two years I was in the Army, you refused to date the other fellows. Mom used to write me about that. So—well, don't you see, honey? You've had no one to compare me with. How can you be sure I'm the one you want to marry?"

Holly smiled to herself in the darkness and softly kissed his face. She knew now what the strange fear had been in her heart, only minutes ago. Ken had just put it into words and by doing so, had erased the fear completely!

"I've always been sure it was you. There's never been a doubt in my heart," she lied. He held her tighter.

Holly jumped after a long moment of silence. "Goodness! The wedding's tomorrow—or rather, today. I'd better get forty winks, if you don't want a baggy-eyed bride. 'Night, darling—and stop worrying. I love you."

Darting back across the lawn, Holly felt exactly the way a bride-to-be should.

Give New Life To Fall Menus With Sauerkraut

AS THE weather begins to get a bit nippy and activities all around begin anew, you'll want to provide zesty, flavorful meals for your family.

You'll notice that tomato juice is used in this recipe with sauerkraut to give it an appealing rosy color as well as an interesting flavor.

With these pork chops, baked with "kraut", you can serve parsleyed potatoes, an easy canned fruit salad, rye bread and a platter of chocolate cookies to make a fine meal:

- Kraut 'N' Pork Chops (Serves 6)
- 6 pork chops, 1/2 inch thick
- Salt and pepper
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 No. 2 1/2 size can sauerkraut
- 1 cup canned tomato juice
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar

EVERY HOMEMAKER likes a recipe idea that's both simple and satisfying. This hearty main dish makes a hit with the whole family for it consists of pork chops topped with mounds of sauerkraut, served with parsleyed, boiled potatoes.

Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper. Brown lightly on both sides in hot shortening. When chops are browned, stir sauerkraut into tomato juice and arrange in mound on top of each chop. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Cover and cook slowly on top of stove for 40 to 50 minutes or until chops are tender. Baste once or twice during the cooking with tomato juice. Lift chops carefully onto hot platter for serving.

Ham-Kraut Rolls (Serves 6)

- 6 slices boiled ham, 1/4-inch thick
- 1 1/2 cups canned sauerkraut, drained
- 1/4 pound sharp processed cheese, grated
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 cup seasoned medium white sauce

Spread each ham slice with 1/4 cup sauerkraut. Sprinkle with finely diced green pepper and caraway seeds, if desired. Roll each slice beginning at the narrow end. Arrange in shallow baking dish. Add cheese, dry mustard and Worcestershire sauce to white sauce. Heat slowly, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. Pour cheese sauce on top of ham rolls. Bake in a moderate (350°) oven for about 30 minutes.

Bedroom Slippers Can Be Renovated

You can do very little, in a world shaking sort of way, about the cost of replacing new items in the wardrobe, but a bit of work here and there may work some small miracles.

A little work on the slippers will salvage them for another season and get you the work. Plan to spend an afternoon or evening of work on the slippers with these tips.

Lined Fur Slippers

Are your slippers the extra warm kind with lamb or bunny fur inside? The fur is undoubtedly matted but this can be brushed out if it's done vigorously.

The next step is washing them, with a sponge and some rich suds made with warm water. Keep the slipper as dry as possible by using just the suds.

Now, rinse with the sponge and put out all the excess water with a Turkish towel. When the fur is dry, brush again to a new, fluffy-clean loveliness and put the slippers to work.

Quilted Chintz Slippers

Chintz slippers made of a bright, quilted fabric are among the easiest to clean. Suds then gently in mild soap or detergent suds and rinse thoroughly.

Chintz slippers can be made fresh and perky if they're dipped in a last rinse water which contains a bit of starch. When they're dry they need be pressed a bit with an iron and they're almost new.

Leather, Satin Slippers

Leather or satin slippers which can take a different color can be transformed completely, simply with the color change. Purchase a bottle of shoe dye in a shade deeper or a darker color than the one you now have on the slippers.

Wipe off surface dirt on the slippers with a damp cloth and apply the dye with the applicator. Set on newspapers to dry at room temperature.

When completely dry, wipe off any excess dye with a brush or dry cloth. In this way you won't get any color on your feet or hose.

Religion and A. A.

Lesson for January 31, 1954

SINCE this week's Bible study has to do with temperance, this is a good place to call the reader's attention to a notable little (108 pages) book, "A Sober Faith," by G. Aiken Taylor, (Macmillan Co., New York City, $2.00.) The author, a young minister, has been impressed by two things: the harm liquor does, and how little the church has done to help its victims. He believes that both AA ("Alcoholics Anonymous") and the church have something to learn from each other.

The Problem Drinker

The Alcoholic Foundation figures that in America, between three million and four million persons are "problem drinkers." A problem drinker is not yet an alcoholic; but he is next door to being one. He has a regular king-size hangover every Monday morning. Only as he goes on and on.

the hangover runs into the week till toward the bottom of the slide he would regard himself as fortunate if all he lost was a mere week-end. He may not be quite an alcoholic; but he is a problem to his friends, his family, his boss, his business, and to himself. But he does not realize the worst feature of his problem: he is only one step removed from being an alcoholic. One thing Mr. Aiken suggests, he says "always arouses controversy. But why should it? There is just one sure way of not being an alcoholic and that is not to become a problem drinker. And there is only one sure way of not being a problem drinker; that is not to start with the first drink. Yes, it is as simple as that.

The Alcoholic

The alcoholic is more than a problem drinker. He is a thoroughly sick man. No effort of will, no sanitarium, no advice, no fear of disgrace or pain or death—nothing short of sheer force will keep him from getting drunk and staying so. These are the people with whom AA works and of whom in fact AA is composed. AA began about 18 years ago with a doctor who had lost his patients and a business man whose business had folded up—both on account of liquor.

The Twelve Steps

Mr. Aiken's book goes through the "twelve steps" which are both the creed and the practice of AA, shows how they work, and calls special attention to the genuinely religious quality of the program. Here are some of the Steps: 1. "We admitted we were powerless over alcohol." (Conversion begins when a man realizes and admits his own helplessness.) 3. "We made a decision to turn our will and our lives over to the care of God as we understood him." (This is of the essence of religion.) 7. "We humbly asked God to remove our shortcomings." (An alcoholic who wants to be "cured" and yet go on as he is, is a hopeless case.) 9. "We made direct amends to people we had harmed, wherever possible." (It is very impressive, Mr. Aiken writes, to see an ex-alcoholic paying back alimony freely, or reviewing some shady business deal in which he had come out with more than his share.) 1. "We sought . . . to improve our conscious contact with God as we understood him, praying only for knowledge of his will for us and the power to carry it out." 12. "We tried to carry this message to alcoholics and to practice these principles in all our affairs."

AA and Religion

Questions will occur to every one interested. What exactly does the AA group do to help alcoholics? Is the religion of AA the same as Christianity? Why don't the churches have as good a record for saving such cases? "A Sober Faith" is an attempt to answer such questions. One of the author's comments must be quoted here: "Impotence, dependence, fellowship, service . . . They are the stages in a profound religious experience. If the (reclaimed) alcoholic hasn't got religion he has something suspiciously like it!" Mr. Aiken poses another question: The AA assumes that God can be known almost by instinct. Is it not true, rather, that we would not have known about the God of faith if he had not revealed himself in Christ?

WOMAN'S WORLD

Clever Tricks Can Change Woolens Into New Wearables

WHEN old woolens or knitted garments become too tight, too stretched or too shabby for wearing, you know that replacing them may cost your budget more than you can spare.

Before discarding them, look over these suggestions and maybe one of them will solve the problem. Perhaps it may suggest a method or help create a solution for making an old garment wearable and smart.

Tight Sweaters

Sweaters which have shrunk can be treated in this smart way:

COOL WEATHER plays havoc with tender skins, so budget a few minutes extra for daily skin care. Each morning apply a soothing foundation lotion as a base for make-up by dampening a soft, cotton quilted square and smooth over face, throat and neck.

Bands of crochet in a contrasting color can be inserted in front and on the sleeves. A stretched neck can be cut a little lower and bound with a band of the same crochet.

Before you cut knitted or crocheted garments, sew two rows of machine stitching to prevent raveling.

Who doesn't hate to throw out a cashmere sweater, even though it's too tight at the neck? You need not toss it out if you cut a deeper neckline and hem it carefully. This will give you the scoop type of neckline which is popular, and you can wear an attractive choker.

Hints for Dresses

Dresses with faded sleeves, especially underneath the arms can have the entire sleeve removed. Cut a deeper armhole on the dress. New sleeves from striped material, cut to a dress pattern, would be very smart and give you more wear from an otherwise useless dress.

High necklines on dresses, if the neck is tight, can be cut to a lower, scoop-style neckline. Crochet the edge to finish it and run a ribbon through it for a drawstring effect. Short, puffy sleeves can be treated in the same fashion. Dinner dresses which have gone out of fashion usually have wonderful, glamorous materials in them, but they are useless because they're not used much. Why not cut these down and make them into lovely housecoats? Grosgrain ribbon down the front will make them wider, if this is essential, and grosgrain can be used in a large bow at the neckline.

Vegetables Can Be Main Course Dishes

Don't let higher living costs upset your well-planned budgets. Your food budgets can be kept on the right track with many types of economies, one of which is the serving of hearty vegetables as main dishes.

Acorn squash, for example, is a favorite for fall appetites, and is especially delightful when filled with tempting mince meat and a cream cheese mixture which gives you protein.

Mince Meat Filled Squash

(Serves 6)

- 3 acorn squash
- 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
- 1 9-ounce package mince meat
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 cups soft bread crumbs
- 2 eggs
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper

Cut squash in half lengthwise; remove seeds. Steam until tender, about 15 to 20 minutes. Allow cream cheese to soften at room temperature. Break mince meat into small pieces in saucepan. Add water. Place over medium heat and stir until lumps are thoroughly broken. Boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Cool . . . Melt butter in skillet. Add bread cubes; toss lightly until browned. Remove from heat. Beat softened cheese until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs, parsley, salt and pepper. Add mince meat and bread cubes and blend well. Fill squash with mixture. Place in a buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate (375°) oven about 15 to 20 minutes or until crumbs are lightly browned.

SHORT STORY

When Tommy Comes Home

By Maria Martorana

STAN was holding the morning paper in front of him like a shield. But this morning it didn't matter. It was a wonderful day, nothing could mar it. Tommy was coming home.

By tilting her head Ann could look from the dinette into the living room where Tommy's picture held the place of honor on the mantel. How straight he stood in that picture.

"And I'm proud of him too," she told herself. If only she hadn't missed him so much. She sighed for the days when he had been away.

3-Minute Fiction

Stan peered around the edge of the paper. "Say something, dear?" "No. I'm just feeling sort of happy today."

He nodded in understanding agreement retreated behind his paper once more.

"Hadh't you better hurry, Stan? You wouldn't want to miss him at the station."

Her husband laid down his paper, stood up and came to her side. "Takes exactly nine minutes to get to the depot from here," he said. He looked at his watch. "Train's not due for another fifty-five minutes. But—just in case, this one time it might be early, I'll go now." His smile was un-

"Sure you don't want to come along," he called from the front hall.

Understanding as he brushed her cheek with his lips.

"Sure you don't want to come along," he called from the front hall.

"No, I'll wait here."

The door closed. She heard the car starting. It wouldn't do for her to be at the depot when Tommy's train arrived. She was such a ninny about homecomings and home leavings too. She'd be sure to cry. Her husband and son would be uncomfortable, shifting from one foot to the other.

"Mother always takes on so," was their pet phrase about her.

They just don't understand, she thought. They don't know that when a boy leaves for the first time, it's natural for his mother to worry and fret about him.

She walked to the kitchen door, watched the white sheets flapping on the clothesline. Only today they weren't sheets. They were sails in the breeze and the grass underneath was the green sea. Overhead the sky was brilliantly blue. It was a perfect June day. She stretched her arms, sighed with pleasure.

"I wonder," she said aloud. "How often in a lifetime does this bliss come to a person." Very soon now her son would be home.

She ran up to his room. Everything was in order. His prized possessions were exactly as he had left them. "There's nothing to do but wait," she murmured.

Her heart skipped a beat when she saw the car coming around the corner. The train wasn't due yet and there was Stan returning home. Even though she had wanted him to get to the station early, there never had been a time that the morning train was ahead of schedule. Had something happened? Was something wrong with Tommy? But that was absurd. She would have had a wire or telephone call right here at home.

She ran down the stairs, almost tripping over the bottom step in her haste. The door seemed to stick when she tried to open it. It was several seconds before she realized it was locked. She had it open finally. Stan was coming up the driveway, a suitcase in each hand. Tommy was right behind him.

"He took an early train," her husband called.

Ann breathed a sigh of relief. Her arms were around Tommy. "It's good to have you home, son," she said. She held him close for a moment. "Here let me look at you. My look fine."

"I'm okay, Mom and say, guess what?" His words tumbled out before she could answer. "I've been promoted to Sergeant."

"How wonderful," she breathed. She could feel pride for him welling inside. "Just imagine," she said to herself. "A sergeant already." She gazed proudly at the emblem on his sleeve that read, "St. Andrew's military academy."

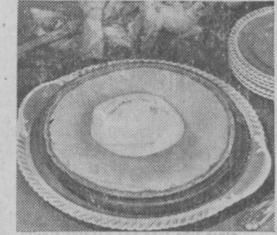

WOMAN'S WORLD

Chiffon Pie Gives Ideal Dessert for Hearty Fall Meals

LIGHT, chiffon pies are the ideal and delightful endings to meals which have been on the heavy side because contrast and balance in menus are always interesting.

Smooth as velvet is this filling for Frosty Lime Chiffon Pie, and it's economical, too, when made with nonfat dry milk. Calorie-counters can feel perfectly safe in eating this dessert, too, since nonfat dry milk has less calories than whipped cream or even whole milk.

Nonfat dry milk is milk with only fat and water removed. It's a rich source of protein, calcium and riboflavin.

FROSTY LIME CHIFFON PIE is ideal to serve as dessert when the rest of the menu is hearty. Made with low calorie nonfat dry milk, it's nice, too, for those who are watching their waistlines.

Frosty Lime Chiffon Pie

(Makes 1 9-inch pie)
1 recipe dusty crumb crust
1 tablespoon plain, unflavored gelatin

- 1/2 cup cold water
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup lime juice
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup water

1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup nonfat dry milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Soften gelatin in the 1/2 cup cold water for 5 minutes. Beat egg yolks until thick and light colored. Gradually beat in sugar. Stir in lime and lemon juices and salt. Cook in top of double boiler, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened, about 10 minutes. Pour hot mixture over softened gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Chill until mixture thickens. Meanwhile, place 1/2 cup water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and vanilla into a deep bowl. Sprinkle nonfat dry milk over this and beat with rotary beater until stiff, about 7 to 10 minutes. Fold this whipped mixture into thickened lemon-lime mixture. Fold in egg whites which have been beaten stiff. Pour into crumb crust. Chill until firm.

Dusty Crumb Crust

(Makes 1 9-inch shell)
1/2 cup graham cracker crumbs, lightly packed
2 tablespoons nonfat dry milk
2 tablespoons sugar
Combine crumbs, nonfat dry milk powder and sugar. Dust evenly on bottom and sides on pie plate.

Housework Helps You Keep Beautiful

It may seem like a surprising statement to make, but housework can keep you beautiful, young and healthy.

Labor-saving ideas, equipment and an enthusiastic outlook are contributing factors to this idea and many women each year prove it. Putting new ideas to work every day can help you achieve a shorter work week and give you free time for hobbies and outside interests.

Be Attractive, Healthy

Devices for your home as other workers dress for their jobs and you'll work better! It's just not smart to be a pincurlet housewife in a wrapper and down-at-the-heels dress shoes. Wear dresses in bright becoming colors that are easily washed and styles which allow plenty of movement, well-fitted shoes with medium heels and some make-up on the face!

Eat the right foods, and eat them at planned mealtimes.

Exercise in Housework

Bending, lifting, pushing and walking done during keeping house can be helpful exercise if they're done the proper way. When bending, for instance, bend the knee and ankle joints until they're within easy reach of the task. In getting up, use the same joints, thus getting motion into the thighs and across the front of the hips.

When carrying parcels, don't always carry them on the same side. Divide them equally and carry some on both sides, in the interests of good carriage. If this is not practical, shift the load frequently to equalize the strain.

Make the Work Easier

Devices to make work easier include long-handled brooms, mops, dustpans and brushes to save stooping; eliminating unnecessary details such as drying dishes when they can drain, folding sheets and towels in place of ironing them.

FATHER-SON BANQUET

Taneytown F. F. A. Chapter Dine in H. S.

The Taneytown F.F.A. Chapter held their first annual Father-Son Banquet Wednesday evening in Taneytown High School Cafeteria, with 45 members, parents, and guests present.

The program was opened with the official opening ceremony with Donald Lawyer, president, presiding, Melvin Bowling, treasurer, served as toastmaster, and introduced the guests and members, who in turn introduced their fathers.

Theron Myers, vice-president, gave the welcome address, and Ray Slabaugh, secretary, reported on the Chapter's accomplishments. Special music was rendered by the club members who sang their chapter song—Hail to the F.F.A.—under the direction of Mrs. Yingling, music instructor. Group singing was led by Merritt Copenhaver, a former club member and president, and was accompanied by Theron Myers and James Sell playing the guitar and ukelele. A quartet of Harvey Dickinson, Jr., John Dudder, Robert Royer and Ernest Stenesifer sang two special numbers.

The main feature of the program was the showing of colored slides of the club members various projects which were taken by Harvey Dickinson, Jr., chapter reporter.

Special thanks were given to the following Mothers who prepared the banquet, Mrs. Dickinson, Mrs. Gunther, Mrs. Lawyer and Mrs. Myers. The twelfth grade girls under the direction of Miss Bankard served the banquet.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board also approved the employment of Mrs. Mona Scrotzhauser, of Spring Grove, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Julia Johns, of Westminster, to be assigned to teaching positions as their services are required.

The Board accepted the resignation of Charlotte M. Janney from the Westminster High school faculty. This resignation to become effective in June, 1954.

Approval was given for the employment of John L. Sloop as custodian of the Sandymount School building, his services to begin February 1.

The Board heard a report on the problems connected with the organization of school bus transportation in 1954-55 and directed that planning proceed for the handling of the increased pupil load in transportation for the school year beginning in September.

The Board also heard a report in connection with present plans for accommodating an increased enrollment of approximately 500 pupils in 1954-55. This report emphasized the fact that emergency measures will be necessary at many locations during the coming year. The increased enrollment will be felt especially in Manchester, Hampstead, Sandymount, Westminster, Sykeville, and Mount Airy communities. The Board directed that continued planning be carried on in an effort to solve some of the problems connected with housing the vastly increased school population. It is further directed that additional publicity be given to the problems which will be incurred on account of the increased enrollment and that every effort be made to bring citizens and parents to a realization of these serious problems.

The Board further directed that the superintendent plan in every possible way to organize an effective teaching staff for the county in 1955 including a sufficient number of additional teachers to care for the increased number of pupils. It was directed that customary measures be set up to secure information regarding the number of incoming pupils at the various schools.

The Board considered the problems related to the loss of time at the schools during the bad weather of early January. In this connection the Board approved the cancellation of plans for a professional conference of teachers originally planned for January 29. The Board further directed the superintendent to make adjustments in the school calendar if necessary in order to continue schools for the required 180 days in 1953-54.

The Board considered a report on progress made in beginning work on the Freedom District Consolidated School and made decisions regarding the purchase of certain equipment for this school.

The Board considered the Budget for 1954-55 which had been received from the County Commissioners and directed the superintendent to use this budget in setting up plans for the coming school year. The Budget approved by the County Commissioners authorized a salary for teachers holding a degree beginning at $2,850.00 in the first year of experience with stated increase applied in accordance with years of experience as worked out under the State Minimum Salary Program.

The Board authorized a communication to be prepared in response to the Budget approval calling attention to the fact that school building could not be continued at this time on a scale which will enable the school authorities to properly accommodate the school enrollment. This communication also suggests that further financing plans will be necessary to enable the Board of Education to meet its problems connected with proper housing and accommodation of an increased enrollment. It was further directed that a statement of the school problems, particularly with relationship to school building, be made to the County Senator, and to the County Delegates in the General Assembly requesting their aid in securing additional financing. It was suggested that this publicity emphasize the very evident fact that additional financing will be necessary either on the State or the County level and that such financing should be prompt so that school authorities will be enabled to go forward with plans already announced.

Authorization was given to the Superintendent to give all possible publicity to the problems of increasing enrollment, teacher supply, and school buildings.

Brief reports were heard on progress in planning of the consolidated high school near Greenmount and several decisions made regarding this building. The Board adjourned at 12 noon.

ABSENT-MINDED

A St. Louis man sent his suit to a cleaner. Coat and trousers came back but no vest. There was a loud and vociferous argument, angry threats and a prospective lawsuit. Upon returning home the owner learned he had been wearing the vest with another suit.

ON THE WAGON

Artist: "Ah, perhaps you, too, are a lover of the beauties of Nature. Have you seen the golden fingers of the dawn spreading across the eastern sky, the red-stained, sulphurous islets floating in the lake of fire in the west, ragged clouds at midnight, blotting out the shuddering moon?" Farmer: "Nope, not lately. I've been on the wagon for over a year."
