DOCTOR HONORED

Birthday and Anniversary of Service Observed

Dr. Chandos M. Benner celebrated his 77th birthday on Sunday, Jan. 31. This year was the doctor's forty-ninth year of serving Taneytown and community in the medical profession. Many recognitions were given the doctor and rightfully so, for his life was one of great service to his fellowman in this town and community.

At the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Wednesday a large birthday cake was presented to the doctor.

A feature story appeared in the Morning Sun, Baltimore, on Monday. "Giving The New An Antique Finish" by Robert G. Breen described Dr. Renner and his life perfectly. It Dr. Benner and his life perfectly. It

"It's not that Dr. Benner doesn't like new things; he does, and he uses all the modern gadgets, but he feels that they can't be trusted too, far," explains one admires

Thus, although he has had central heating installed in his house, he still keeps the potbellied stove (and uses it daily to burn all the advertisements he get in the mail) in case the modhe gets in the mail) in case the modern system breaks down.

He has electric lighting, but he still retains the kerosene wall lamp, hanging above his desk. (It is filled with oil, too, and in working condition).

His kitchen has a modern electric range, but beside it still stands the old-time stove.

Similarly, Dr. Benner keeps abreast of all the latest in medical advances, but he doesn't accept them with slavish dependence or admiration. He tempers today's advances with yesterday's experience.

To call Dr. Benner an "old-fashioned" practitioner in the limited sense would be an outright lie, according to his legion of admirers. In trying to explain Dr. Benner to someone who has just made his acquaintance, the Rev. Glenn L. Stahl, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, says: "Dr. Benner takes all the contemporary advances in browners, and temporary advances in knowledge and gives them an antique finish."

In the opinion of Dr. A. Austin Pearre, chairman of the staff of Frederick Memorial Hospital, Dr. Benner is "one of the few remaining old-time family destroy I know of" family doctors I know of."

Terming Dr. Benner a "man remarkable for his continuous enthusiasm and devotion to the ideals of his profession," Dr. Pearre also had this to say:
"I often wonder if our top-flight doctors in the Baltimore medical centers ever realize that a guy like Dr. Benner exists today. When Dr. Benner first came to Taneytown in 1905 on his graduation from the University of Maryland

WHAT'S IMPORTANT IN FAMILY LIFE?

What is your main family goal? Or have you thought of having one? Mrs. Jeanne Moehn, family life specialist, University of Maryland, says no one can tell you what your family goal should be. But it is possible that human happiness might be a goal.

Most of us know the physical needs of a family, says Mrs. Moehn, but do we always consider the emotional needs? She points out the need to love or be loved; the need of feeling secure; the need of recognition and approval; and the need for new experiences in life. All of these need to be considered if you are to attain human happiness.

Radical changes in any direction could prove disastrous, so the aim is for twin goals—tax reductions and a balanced budget.

Cutting expenditures by over five billion enabled the Administration to bring the budget within three billion dollars of balance. This advance toward a balanced budget will permit the reductions totaling 1.95 billion tax reductions totaling 1.25 billion dollars.

These savings and tax reductions mean that the American people will have more take-home pay—the average person will still think his taxes are too high-no one wants to pay The love shown in everyday living taxes—but at least he is assured that

In the long range view, the difference in basic philosophy between the New Deal-Fair Deal approach and the Eisenhower method will have greater significance

An economic philosophy unconcerned with taxes, debt, and spending encouraged inflation and compelled government participation in, and stimu-lation of industry. This necessitated government controls and planning. Such theories have been tossed out and in place we have the economic theory as stated by the President that mext which stimulate production and productivity and create bigger pay-

CRUSHED STONE

JOHN S. TEETER @ SONS

GETTYSBURG, PA.

It's pretty hard to remember

What's the most important telephone call you ever made or received? You may find it difficult to recall offhand, for telephone service does so much in a single day, and fits so easily into the pattern of life, that you're likely to take it for granted. But whether it means a crop saved or a piece of equipment obtained in hours instead of days, or a long trip into town avoided, the telephone is an extra hand on the farm, ready to work the clock around for only a few cents a day.

It only seems like magic

So many party-line telephone users have discovered that service is just about as good as they want to make it. It's all a matter of neighborly courtesy-of being thoughtful and considerate of others on the line. For instance, if the Smiths start to make a call and find the Joneses on the line, they co-operate courteously by hanging up gently and trying again a little later. The Joheses, on the other hand, try to free the line reasonably soon so that the Smiths and others may use their telephones. And, of course, the result is better service for everyone!

USE OF LIQUID FERTILIZER GROWING IN THE AREA

Increased use of a balanced liquid fertilizer in this area is expected to result from efforts of at least one major manufacturer to build an ex-tensive sales and service organization

The trend toward greater use of liquid nutrients for farm crops is ous ways including seed treatment of small grain crops, as a transplanting solution, as a side dressing and by spraying directly on the leaves of a growing crop. This last method is known as leaf feeding. Tests have shown that leaf feeding has increaser yields as much as 50% on many crops

In most applications, the liquid fer-lizer is applied to the plants rather than to the soil. Scientific tests prove that plants can absorb 90% or more of the nutrients sprayed on their leaves an dthese nutrients are carried quickly throughout the plant struc-ture. Ease of application, convenience in storing and handling, and the abil-ity to get a "free ride" along with ap-pleations of water-soluble weed killers are some of the advantages reported by growers.

Farmers are familiar with single-purpose liquids such as nitrogen, or purpose liquids such as nitrogen, or "Really, how is he?" anhydrous ammonia, but the availability and use of balanced solutions containing the important major ele ments in a 1-2-1 ratio plus powerful trace elements is now winning widespread recognition among America's

My knowledge of teachers is such that I find most of them willing and ready to co-operate with those interested in the welfare of the school, and of the boys and girls. There is a right of the boys and girls. There is a right way and there is a wrong way to go about this matter. Kindness and courtesy will do much good. Attempts at intimidations shut doors of opportunity. The highly trained, disciplined, experienced teacher of today is not likely to receive with open arms a self-appointed critic as the "Guardian Angel" of her classroom.

Do we wonder that there is such a tremendous shortage of public school teachers today? Are we surprised to find a multitude of former teachers, returning from service in the armed forces not going back into the class room? Are we disappointed to be told by high school seniors, almost ready to graduate and to go to college: "no teaching for us?"

FRIZELLBURG

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cashman celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary by holding Open House, Sunday, Jan. 31, from 2 to 4, and 7 to 9 p. m., when Mr. and Mrs. Cashman received felicitations and good wishes as well as many lovely gifts. They received a large number of cards during the week. Mrs. Cashman the former Mae Slonaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Slonaker and Harry Cashman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cashman were united in marriage Jan. 28, 1904 at the home of the bride at 6 p. m., by the Rev. John D. Clark, pastor of the bride. After a short wedding trip by horse and sleigh, they settled down in married bliss and spent most of their 50 years of married life near Frizellburg. There for many years Mr. Cashman was engaged in butchering. Mr. and Mrs. Cashman are en joying good health and are active members of the Church of God, Frizellburg. Mrs. Cashman is a member of the choir, a member of the Aid Society and teaches a class in Sunday school. Five children were born to this union, four are living as follows: Edmond Cashman, Vernon Cashman, both of Baltimore, Emma Mae Carr and Virginia Suffern, both of this place; four grand-children, Edmond Reese Cashman, Carl Robert Cashman, Linda Lee Suffern and Peggy Elaine Carr. The golden anniversary theme was carried out by colors of gold and white in the dining room where the table was arranged with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a golden bell and the No. 50 in gold, and lighted candles. The bride cut the cake assisted by the groom. Buffet refreshments were served to approximately 125 relatives and friends. Mrs. Edmond Cashman and Mrs. Vernon Cashman poured. Out of town guests were from Frederick, Baltimore, Westminster, Union Mills, Silver Run, New Windsor, Mayberry, Uniontown, Boonsboro and Timonium. town, Boonsboro and Timonium.

Last Wednesday afternoon Edmond Cashman from the Naval Base in New Mexico suprised his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cashman by paying them a visit.

On Thursday evening they were the guests of honor at a turkey din-ner, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Myers and family; her too beautiful decorations were in keep ing with their golden wedding anniversary. We wish for Mr. and Mrs. Cashman many more happy anniversaries.

FEESERSBURG

Tuesday being "Ground Hog Day", I decided to get first hand information about the coming weather the next six weeks by interviewing Mr. Wood-chuck in person. So after the sun came up, I wrapped myself in woolens and started for the south hill in the meadow where grandfather Wood-chuck has lived for many years. After waiting around until my hands and waiting around until my hands and feet were beginning to tingle from the feet were beginning to tingle from the cold, I saw grandpa sticking his head out of his den. He sniffed the frosty air for a minute then cautiously emerged from his hole, and painstakingly ambled out into the sun. For a minute he seemed blinded by the height suplight and I decided to the bright sunlight and I decided to put myself between Grandpa and the entrance to his den in case he should suddenly decide to run back into his home. He sniffed the air again and turning around saw me standing in front of his doorway. The unexpected sight of me threw him off balance and he crouched down close to the ground.

"Don't be afraid, Mr. Groundhog", I said. "All I want is to ask you a few questions. What will the weather
few questions. What will the weather 1944. be during the next six weeks"?
"Why ask me," he growled. "Don't you have a weather Bureau?"

"Yes, we do, but a lot of people depend on you to predict the weather. You know that old standby—if you see your shadow today, we get six weeks more of winter. And of course you did see your shadow."
"That's a lot of nonsense. The trouble with you mortals is, you don't know facts from fiction. You start out telling something as folklore and end up by believing your own propagan-da."

"But, Mr. Woodchuck, isn't it true that if you see your shadow you become frightened and run back into your den and stay there until spring is really here?" "Scared of my shadow, huh? That's a lot of bunk. Now let me ask you something, What would I want to stay out here in the cold for when I have a nice warm house back here in the hillside? Is there anything to eat out here? "The Hidden Heart" is a heartsearching, yet heart-warming picture which illustrates with convincing insight the truth that where your treasure is, there your heart will be also. The story reveals that Stephen Ware and his wife, Ellen, are suddenly faced with the fact that their daughter, Charlotte, is living by values altogether different from the values they have outwardly accepted for themselves. The values by which they, well intentioned parents as they are, believe they are living are not the values by which they are making the more important choices of their lives. Charlotte's rejection of a young man of high ideals, but modest income presents the immediate cause of facing up to the direction life is taking in this family where comfort and security have become the determining

The Living Bread Lesson for February 7, 1954

STRANGERS to the Christian religion are always somewhat astonished at its central and most solemn act of worship. It is nothing else than taking a morsel of bread and a sip of wine. Such simplicity is not to be expected. In fact, some churches decorate the simplicity with all manner of ritual till the simple act at its center is almost smothered out of sight. But it is always there, the simple piece of bread. Pitiful to relate, theologians and whole churches have come to blows over the precise meaning of the sacrament we call Communion, but whatever be

Life's Necessity
Jesus never said, "I am the cake that came down from heaven." Man can live without any kind of cake; but not without some kind of bread. When Jesus lived in Galilee, the poorest man always had bread, if nothing else, for his one meal a day. (In Palestine to this day one may see a working-man at noon crouching in a bit of shade munching on his black bread.) When Jesus called himself Bread, he meant that he cannot be "taken or left." There is no such thing as Christi-anity without Christ. There is no such thing as a Christian without Christ.

not food, because they can't be

To Be Assimilated Marbles are filling, but they are digested. Bread is food because it is absorbed into the system. In your bones and blood, in your nerves and skin and glands today, are the elements you have taken in with the bread you have eaten. Some of it is stored up in the fat-cells which are the body's reserve bank. Some of it builds up various tissues. Some of it is expended in energy of living. The bread has ceased to exist, as bread, it does you good only because it has been assimilated, it has become a part of your muscle and brain. So Christ intends that he shall be assimilated by the Christian. It is true a Christian cannot exist without Christ; but we must think what that means. Christ in a picture on the wall is only a picture. Christ as a definition in a catechism is only a definition. Christ as a half-understood phrase in a creed is still only a dim and perhaps meaningless name. Christ as a historical person is a figure in history, no more. It is only the assimilated Christ, Christ taken into your system, Christ a part of you, that is vital in your day's living. How does this take place? First of all by knowing him-in the Gospels, in the New Testament, and then and always as a living invisible Presence, the inner Christ who takes the wheel of your will. Bread has to be eaten to be of use. Christ must be willingly taken if he lives within. To Be Shared

As some one has said, "A crust eaten alone is only a crust. A crust shared may be a sacrament of friendship." There is one fact about the Living Bread which is not true of ordinary bread. A loaf from the grocery will be just as nourishing if you eat it alone as if you eat it in company. A loaf stolen is as nourishing as a loaf honestly bought. It is not so with Christ the Bread from Heaven. The selfish life, the life that thinks only about its own troubles, ambitions. dreams and hopes, is not one in which Christ can live. If all you want him for is to get on better with your own schemes, he will do you no good. If you were sitting in a restaurant enjoying a good meal, and you looked out through the window and saw in the street, nose pressed against the glass, a starved-looking child, would the meal taste as good to you afterwards? And yet church members will sit in their comfortable churches, listening to sermons about Jesus, standing up and saying they believe in him, singing about him, even taking the bread of Communion,-and all the while soul-starved people are on the outside. How can we ever truly have Christ in our lives if we never try to share Him?

Even the price is sensational! only

As you look at it, you can see a lot of what makes this new 1954 Buick Special so sensational.

You can see the long, low, sleek and ultra-glamorous lines that add up to the biggest automotive styling change in years.

You can see the remarkable new windshield with the back-swept cornersgreatest visibility improvement since closed cars came on the market.

And of course you can see the pricethe local delivered price - which is headline news, too.

For that, as a shopping tour will tell you, is just a few dollars more than those of the so-called "low-price three."

But what you can't see is the rest of the sensational automobile that's yours for the low price shown here.

The spectacular power of this Special's brand-new V8 engine. The honest six-passenger roominess. The truly modern interior luxury. The superb new handling ease. The sublime comfort of Buick's famed Million Dollar Ride-now steadied even more by a newly developed front-end geometry.

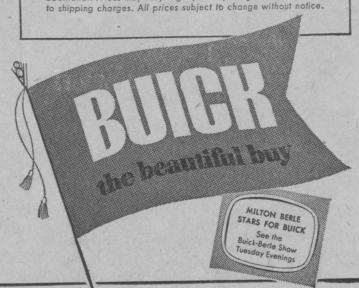

Fact is, there's so much that's terrific about this new glamor car, you ought to drop in and give it a really thorough study and sampling.

That way you'll prove to yourself that the buy-and the thrill-of the year is Buick. Come in this week, won't you?

"They all depend on the hospital and the laboratory today," notes Dr. Benner, who believes that "they all miss that most valuable thing, the connection between the patient, his family, and the family doctor."

Dr. Benner sees a direct relationship in the character of today's doctor and the flow of medical talent from rural areas to cities.

"They all want to be near the hospitals where they can be near the laboratories and the textbooks."

Dr. Benner doesn't write prescrip-

Also intensely interested in local history, he has been a constant con-
