HISTORY OF TANEYTOWN

As It Appears in the 1894 Files of the Record

(The portion of the history of Taneytown to the year 1876, as written by Rev. Luckenbach, was printed in its entirety in last week's issue.)

In continuation of the historical data available, we will commence series of articles this week that is being reprinted from our CARROLL RECORD files of 1894 (This was the first year of publication of our paper). This account was written by the late Dr. Clotworthy Birnie at the request of the late editor of The Carroll Record, Mr. P. B. Englar. The following narration, by Dr. Birnie, collates a few of the facts previously in Rev. Luckenbach's article, and continues with additional information of the chronicle of Taneytown.)

I am afraid the Editor of the Record has given too large a title to this series of articles, when he calls them a history. Reminiscences, would be a better name; Taneytown has no distinct history apart from the history of the state and county, and in the absence of written records, all that I can hope to do is to record some things that have happened in the past, either from my own knowledge, or as they may be remembered by others, and they will only be of interest to those who now or have in times past, lived in Taneytown.

The first idea was only to publish Mr. Luckenbach's address of July 4th, 1876. In this paper I will give some further account of the persons and things mentioned in that address. Stories or legends that come down to us by word of mouth and are not written, are often of doubtful authenticity, and are so liable to be altered by frequent repetition that even when they have a foundation of truth, it is hard to tell how much is truth, and how much tradition. There is, I believe, no doubt about the fact that General and Mrs. Washington passed through Taneytown, and stayed all night at Good's Tavern. It is also certain that the table now in the possession of Mrs. Jno. McKellip was used on that occasion. As Mr. Luckenbach says in his address, it was bought from the Good's by Mr. Matthew Galt; at the death of his wife it came into the possession of her daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Shunk, and Mrs. Shunk's daughter, Mrs. John McKellip now has it, so there seems to be no doubt of its identity.

The truth as to the other parts of the legend of Gen. Washington's visit are not so easily proven, but are interesting to old citizens of Taneytown. The story as it used to be told is that the General was on horseback, and Mrs. Washington in the coach. As the General rode up he saw the sign "A dam Good, Entertainment for Man and Beast." The artist who painted the sign was not an expert and had gotten the capital A in Adam some distance from the dam; the sign was

BUILDING BURNS

Taneytown Grain & Supply Co. Sustains Loss by Fire

Fire of an undetermined origin destroyed a 36x50 storage building of the Taneytown Grain & Supply Company, Saturday night. The fire was discovered 9:50 p. m., but had gained such a headway that the Fire Company was unable to save the building and contents. The excellent work of the Fire Company prevented the flames from spreading to other buildings.

Besides the loss of the building, the flames destroyed 10 tons of alfalfa, 10 tons bran, 5 tons middlings, 13 tons of fertilizer and 3 tons of cottonseed. The estimated loss was placed at approximately $5,000.

Four Fire Companies responded to the call to assist in case the fire should spread to other buildings. They were Union Bridge, Emmitsburg, Westminster and Littlestown.

Many persons seeing the fire and its reflections in the sky came to the scene resulting in a large crowd of viewers and heavy traffic which was well-handled by the State troopers.

This was the fourth major fire in Taneytown occurring Saturday in the past few years; two at the Reindollar Company, the large Cambridge Rubber Company fire and the one last Saturday.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Taneytown Company went into operation during the fire and served the fire fighters coffee and sandwiches. The new short-wave radio was put into action and proved to be a fine asset in assisting the work of the firemen.

The Taneytown Grain and Supply Company began this week in cleaning up the debris and are planning to erect another building on the site where the old building stood.

LIONS NEWS

The Taneytown Lions Club met in the Reformed Church Parish Hall, Tuesday evening, Feb. 23, 1954 at 6:30 p. m. with President Homer Myers, presiding.

The meeting opened with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner", followed by the flag salute and invocation by Rev. E. P. Welker. The Lions entertained their former friends to a delicious roast beef dinner served by the ladies of the Reformed church. President Homer Myers welcomed the guests with well chosen words and several stories suitable for the occasion.

Committee Chairman Ralph Stonesifer then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Rensberg of Middle-town, Md. Mr. Rensberg delighted his audience by telling of his experiences in cattle judging in South America. The speaker told of the climate, ways of life and the number of nationalities that he visited in the various countries that he visited, namely, Ecuador, Chile and Argentina. The speaker had many very interesting stories to tell of the people of these countries and he closed by telling that we are not as much interested in our South American neighbors as we should be and that the best way to get acquainted with them would be to make a trip to those countries.

Meeting adjourned at 9 p. m. with the singing of America.

HARNER IS INITIATED INTO PI KAPPA PHI

Mr. Harner, whose major course is pre-engineering, is a member of the class of 1957.

Mrs. Smith during the night became very ill and was rushed to the hospital. Mr. Smith paced the corridors for what seemed hours before a white-robed doctor emerged from the examination room and addressed Mr. Smith.

"Mr. Smith, your wife has quinzey."

"My gosh," said Smith, "that makes fifteen."

LETTER FROM ANNAPOLIS

Short Session of Legislature Considering Bills

Dear Sir:

Contrary to all predictions, and much to everyone's surprise, the current State Legislative Session has been remarkably quiet. Very few of the threatened factional or inter-party fights have developed and personal and political recriminations have been at a minimum. A most unusual circumstance for an election year in which all State and local offices are at stake.

This is a refreshing change from last year in which the conduct of the Senate, in particular, left little for commendation.

FANCY TAGS

In 1953 a law was passed that entitles anyone who has not been guilty of a motor vehicle violation for over five years to license plates with a combination of letters, or numerals and letters, that may be approved by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. There is a special fee of $15.00 for such tags.

The Commissioner requested that the law be repealed because of the difficulty in handling these special applications. However, H. B. 6, which would have accomplished the repeal of this law, was defeated in the House this past week so the law will remain on the books.

So don't be surprised at the new look of some of the tags in Maryland this year. Initials of the car owner are much in demand, but so are a raft of other combinations of letters. Lawyers want the letters "LAW", doctors "DOC". Liquor salesmen are after "WET" and beer and soap interests are competing for "SUDS". Those domestically inclined seek "POP" and "MOM", and the more youthful go for "COOL" and "HEP".

And if the man from the water company drives up with "H2O" don't let him block the driveway. "ICE" or "GAS" may be behind.

Heaven help the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. Certainly the Legislature didn't.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

In the 1950 General Election the voters of Maryland, in voting for the question of whether or not there should be a Constitutional Convention, authorized the General Assembly to provide for the method of convening the Convention, the election of delegates thereto and all other matters pertaining to the Convention.

By a rather narrow vote the House of Delegates, in 1951, killed the Convention Bill.

There has recently been a renewed demand for a Constitutional Convention in Maryland and in response to this demand H. B. 31 has been introduced. This Bill, if passed would set up the necessary machinery for the Convention.

It is doubted whether this Bill will receive the necessary votes for passage this year. For one reason the 30 day session is too short for detailed consideration of the measure. For another, the pro-convention forces are not well organized and have not made any concentrated effort to influence the members of the legislature to support the Bill.

I would guess that the Bill will be reintroduced in the 1955 Session and, with a change of personnel in the Assembly, may stand a better chance than with the present membership.

BUILDING LOT RESTRICTIONS

In November, 1953, the State Department of Health published a series of regulations relating to wells, water supplies, sewage disposal and related subjects, all designed to establish certain minimum requirements for the protection of health.

Among the regulations issued were several relating to lot size requirements that have become somewhat controversial, so controversial, in fact that a bill (S.B. 53) has been introduced to take away from the Department its power of regulation along these lines.

Due to the fact that there has been so little publicity given to this last regulation, I will summarize it briefly:

3.01 Minimum lot size where there is no public water or sewage disposal shall be 15,000 square feet with a minimum width of 1000 feet. Where there is either public water supply or sewage disposal the minimum lot size shall be 10,000 square feet with a minimum width of 60 feet.

Where there is both public water supply and sewage disposal the minimum lot size requirements will not prevail.

Under the regulation no plats for subdivision can be recorded unless they meet the minimum requirements as established by the Health Department.

Sincerely,
STANFORD HOFF.

KIWANIS NEWS

Ralph Moos, a student working for his Master's Degree at Western Maryland College, addressed the Kiwanis Club Wednesday evening at its meeting at Taney Inn. Wallace Reindollar introduced the speaker. Mr. Moos, a native of Germany, spoke on the economics of Germany from the beginning of Hitler's rule to the present occupation of the European Country.

The meeting of the Kiwanis Club next week (Wednesday evening) will be in the form of an Oyster and Shrimp Feed to be held in Crouse's garage; the net proceeds will be used in helping underprivileged children in this community.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawn.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

With the Mercury soaring to 77 on Feb. Monday 15, many were excited down in the big city as they walked along carrying coats. (I was one of them)—children jumping rope in the school yards sweating and then the Jonquils bursting in bloom at the parsonage door. First heat to compare since the year 1921. Spring surely arrived suddenly but left us just as quickly that night.

Easter has arrived as to all the toys for the Kiddies in the stores. Window displays are exciting on every subject. The delicious Coconut cream eggs are big and plentiful. Be sure when you buy the Easter eggs you purchase the best in candy then the Kiddies won't be sick.

Now being shown, in fact just out of this past week is the very large and long earring, Ladies truly a garland of flowers that appear real. All the saleswomen were wearing them to demonstrate the glamour. There are all colors and just every description for any occasion.

Trying on a dress and white wig as in Colonial Days for the "Living Portraits" Your Observer is presenting this coming Monday night in Commemoration of the 222nd Anniversary of the first President of these United States, George Washington made me realize why those ladies in those days fainted so frequently. How thankful we should be for the simplicity of our clothes today. (More about the affair in next week's column.)

Now, Mrs. Housewife due to the price of Coffee let's do without or use as little as possible and that way means purchasing less frequently. It seems to be a continued rise and after while there will be plenty of past users doing entirely without. I am only drinking one cup each morning! Not a drop any other time.

What a beautiful Calendar arrived from Madar, India and then the lovely colored pictures of the views of Pasadena and the Tournament of Roses!

The nice surprise coming from California on Sunday from my eldest son by phone. Nice to know that he is home-sick and to learn he is saving for that Special Plane trip for me to visit him! Would not that thrill any Mother?

Girls' don't forget to stir your face powder and always use a nice clean powder of cotton instead of the used powder-puff. You will immediately notice the great difference in your skin texture. Be sure you make arrangements with your Beauty Salon as to your Hair-do for Easter before the rush is on and whatever you do go back for regular settings so as you will always appear SUPER-DUPER! How awful it is to have a nice hair do for one time and then neglect it for weeks and months thereafter.

And remember that "SLEEK" is the reward for Spring and this too remember you REALLY ARE WHAT YOU EAT! What did you accomplish with the Rolling Exercise?

Along any Highway now in the Restaurants, the big thing is the "Hotel Radio" which means by inserting a quarter you may have music for just one hour and then it turns off mechanically.

Gentlemen, what did you think of last Tuesday's Wrestling? Martinelli and Markee were surely gentlemen. Clean if you ask me and I hope it continues. Notice the new Referees?

So many have had gifts of the Parakeets for Christmas. Up to this writing have never heard one talk. Have you? Visited a home where there are no one flying all around the house. No wonder Mr. Parker on the Godfrey show asked if they are House-Broken! They remind me of a miniature parrot.

Now, here's a cute one which will please the sentimental or softy! A young couple who have a legal separation paper but not a divorce have been separated for three years or a little more. The man sent the best half a tiny lamp which can be lit up by a turn of a knob. There appears the smallest light you ever saw and on a note was written—"Hope there is that little spark left!" Foxy man if you ask me. He does not believe in divorce but desires to keep a fast hold not to give her the entire freedom. That reminds me of the Gleason fellow. Many have heard off his T.V. programme for good. Nice ideas he has! Eh? Too bad for the little lady in the picture! That is why Your Observer firmly believes in divorce. There would be more murders if divorces were not granted.

Don't miss the colorful Glenn Miller Story with the memorable song hits. It is truly a love story set to music!

Mothers, if you want to read something of educational interest to you and your husband by all means run out right now to Doc's and get the Feb. Coronet and read and read again on page 19 "TEACHER TALKS BACK!" If you and your mate do not learn from that and saw the teacher is right then you are all wrong!

So long until next week. Do V. Have a grand week end. Remember always if you are good tonight you will be glad tomorrow!

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER

THE FARMER FEEDS MORE PEOPLE

In 1910 the average American farm consisted of 138 acres, and each farmer produced enough food for eight people.

Today the average acreage has increased to 215—and each farmer feeds 15 people. And we have better and far more varied foods now than in the earlier era.

This is spectacular progress. It is the result, naturally, of a number of factors—improved seeds, effective pest control, better land practices, use of machinery and more efficient distribution and processing methods. Of all the factors, none is more important than farm machinery, starting with the tractor and going through the long list of other machines and attachments that make it possible for the farmer to produce more, to conserve and improve his land, and to do his work with a great deal less labor and physical effort than was the case in the past.

Machinery has also been responsible, in large part, for turning farming into a business. It is estimated that a typical corn-belt grain farmer utilizing 160 acres has a machinery investment of more than $11,000. It is substantially greater if he raises livestock or milks a dairy herd. That is a large investment—but the return from it is tremendous in the light of today's labor costs.

By 1975 each farmer will have to feed 20 people—which means that still more and better machinery will be needed.—Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

WATERBORO, S. C., PRESS AND STANDARD: "Dr. William Fletcher Russell, president of Teacher's College of Columbia University, in speaking at Mercer University, Macon, recently, stated that, 'On every hand it is obvious that something is wrong in the education of the citizen. Too few vote, too few take part in politics, too many condone corruption; too many look elsewhere, particularly to the Federal government, for direction and for financial handouts'."
FREDONIA, N. Y., CENSOR: "The farmer has special problems, to be sure. But rigid price supports have not made for stability in the market. More flexible ones, to a floor of 75 per cent, would give the farmer protection from extreme price drops while at the same time preserving some advantages of a free market."
BROWNSVILLE, PA., TELEGRAPH: "Democratic government can deteriorate in two general directions. Power can gravitate the Executive branch, finally producing those dictatorships that have marked—and marred—the history of government in this century. Or power can gravitate toward the Legislative branch, producing the parliamentary paralysis of a law-making body without a head. Hitlerian Germany emerging out of the decay of the Weimer Republic is the classic example of the first direction. Contemporary France is a good example of the second."

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports this is the second successive year that off-season milk production has been unusually heavy. Farmers are freshening a higher proportion of their cows for winter production than formerly.

The only way to make the mass of mankind see the beauty of justice, is by showing them, in pretty plain terms, the consequence of injustice.—Sydney Smith.

THANKS VOTED TO CHRISTMAS SEAL CONTRIBUTORS

A resolution of gratitude "to every citizen of Carroll County who bought and used Christmas Seals" was voted unanimously by members of the Board of Directors of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association at their recent meeting.
 "We would like to shake hands personally with everyone who contributed to the support of this association's program for the prevention and control of tuberculosis," the resolution stated.
 "The association recognizes these contributions to the Christmas Seal Sale as an expression of the will of the people of this county that the fight against TB must go on. We pledge, in return, our best efforts to the continuation of the campaign to which you have given so generously."
 The budget and program for 1954 will be presented for adoption at the annual meeting which is to be held the latter part of April.

The alfalfa weevil, first found in Maryland only a few years ago, caused heavy losses of alfalfa over several counties of the State in 1953 and slightly extended its range. 18 counties are now known to be infested.

SHORT STORY

Light-Headed Blonds

By Iva Huston

I SUPPOSE you might say that Java is the most cantankerous, cussed, ornery, no good mongrel that ever lived, but just the same, there'd be a mighty big void of lonesomeness in my life without him; and smart, why that dog is—

It started the day Java ran up to me, after I had just finished cleaning and raking the yard. He deposited a wet soggy mass of papers at my feet.

I was about to pick them up and throw them at him, but as I stooped over to pick them up, I stopped short. There was something odd about those papers, and I had a strange hunch that they were familiar to me. It bothered and nagged at me the rest of the day, but for the life of me I couldn't place them. I proceeded eventually to dismiss it from my mind. It's one of Java's tricks, I figured.

Java raised his lip at her and showing his teeth in a deliberate sneer, walked stiff legged to the door.

I decided to take a shower, change clothes and go to the hospital to see John Carlson, my neighbor. He had been ailing. I used to "kid" him about his bum cooking. Couldn't do that now since he had married a few months ago.

When I arrived at the hospital I found John much improved. "Stomach flue," he explained, my stomach was upset and I felt nauseated, but I'm going home tomorrow."

I visited awhile, and as I was bidding him goodbye, I walked past Mrs. Carlson. Java raised his lip at her, and showing his teeth in a deliberate sneer, walked stiff legged to the door.

"I'm ashamed of you," I scolded him, when we were outside, "you ought to have better manners."

When John came home from the hospital, the two of us took a trip up North fishing. It was just like old times, and John wasn't sick a single day of the whole two weeks, and was lively as a cricket. He told me he'd met his wife on a trip to some big city. He was attracted to her by her beautiful glossy black hair.

When I got back home again I guess I neglected John. Three weeks later, I was flabbergasted in his change.

He was pale and listless and had been bothered with stomach flue again.

Next morning I discovered I was out of coffee, so I went over to John's to borrow some. "Come in and have a cup of coffee with me," called John from the table where he was seated. As I sat down he pushed his apparently untouched cup toward me. Mrs. Carlson picked it up. "I'll pour you some hot coffee," she said, dumping it in the sink.

From the steam that came from it as it went into the sink, it appeared plenty hot to me. She handed me a freshly poured cup, but little things like that worry me.

I spoke with John for some time, as he recited the symptoms of his illness for me. In the back of my mind, I felt that I knew exactly what John's illness was, but the answer evaded me.

As I arose to leave, Java ran to the cupboard and barked furiously. There was a ham bone lying there, which he was barking about, but I saw something else, something that shocked me into going to the police station.

Officers returned with me, to collect the evidence from the crook neck of the sink.

For at last I had connected the familiar mass of wet papers that Java had originally placed on my shoe. It was identical with the paper found on the Carlson cupboard, except that it had been soaked to extract the poison. But the crook neck of the sink had saved enough of the poison saturated coffee to convict a would be murderer.

It had been a close call for my friend.

John Carlson, the victim, was ready and eager to forgive his would-be murderer. But when he discovered one small fact, he washed his hands of her completely. He saw that the black hair of which he had boasted, and had been so proud, was now slowly turning blond.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

ITEMS ABOUT THE BALTIMORE FIRE—In a remarkably short space of time the streets have been cleared of debris by banking it up at the sides, electric light and power wires straightened out, most of the business firms destroyed have opened offices, while many of them have new stocks and are selling them as usual. The subcommittee on street improvements of the Citizens' Emergency Committee made report on Wednesday of plans submitted for straightening and widening the business streets.

JAPANESE-RUSSIAN WAR—The news reports from the war between Japan and Russia are somewhat conflicting and unreliable, but have generally shown Japanese victories. The co-partnership now existing in Taneytown between E. E. Reindollar, Geo. A. Arnold, Robert V. Arnold and Geo. H. Birnie, under the firm name of Reindollar & Co., will expire by limitation on April 1st. At a meeting held at the Elliot House, on Tuesday evening, it was announced that a new Company would be formed and incorporated, and the act of incorporation was read and considered.

In Annapolis the present session of the legislature is one of the most remarkable in the State's history. Half of the time which the constitution provides for the enactment of laws has passed and no measure of any importance has been considered. The remarkably low price of apples, for this season of the year, still continues. Good fruit is still selling at from 40c to 50c per bushel.

The pupils of Pine Hill gave an entertainment in the school house, last Friday night, which was well attended, and the various parts excellently rendered. James B. Galt is the teacher of the school.

It is to be hoped that an outcome of the sale of the Schwartz Hotel property will be the obliteration of the present unsightly condition of the vacant lot adjoining the Firemen's Building. This is undoubtedly a valuable spot, if properly treated.

Miss Graves, the popular trimmer in J. Wm. Hull's Millinery Store in Taneytown, last season, will manage a new Millinery store, in Union Bridge for Mr. Hull this spring.

Taneytown district is not of an excitable nature—it is too self-satisfied. Even the prospect of a large canning establishment, without local investment, failed to arouse much more than a sort of curious passing interest, and a feeling of, "Don't care if you do, or don't come." Well, there is nothing in the world to equal contentment, but it is poor stuff for building material.

REGISTER AND QUALIFY FOR PRIMARY ELECTION

Carroll county's Board of Election Supervisors will endeavor to provide the public with ample opportunity to register and qualify for participation in the primary election on Monday, June 28th.

Those entitled to register will be afforded four opportunities on three different days to register, or obtain service at the Election Board Office in Westminster before the Primary election.

To accommodate the many folks who find themselves free on Saturday, and any others, the Board of Election Supervisors office will be open for the transaction of business on three Saturdays preceding the primary election.

The Election Board office in the basement of the Courthouse will be open for the accommodation of the public on:

- Saturday, May 22nd.
- Saturday, May 29th.
- Saturday, June 5.

from the hours of nine until 4 p. m. Those three dates will be addition to the usual county-wide registration at each and every polling place in Carroll county which this year is scheduled on Tuesday, June 15, 1954. On that date, registrars will be on hand to accommodate the public at each and every polling place in the county from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m. The Primary Election will be held June 28th.

Research Shows Variety Is Best

Name Alone Doesn't Make Chicks Layers

Buying chicks by name doesn't assure a hen house full of good layers, according to the Colorado A&M Extension Service. The same applies to breeds of chickens commonly used for broilers.

Research on random sample laying tests and random sample broiler growing tests point up the importance of selecting a variety or strain within a given breed for its laying or broiler qualities.

The farmer who purchases chicks for either laying purposes or for broiler growing should always do two things—get good chicks and ask for performance records. Tests have indicated that one variety of White Leghorns produced 251 eggs per bird a year while another variety of White Leghorns laid only an average of 101 eggs, under the same conditions.

Here's an artist's view of an egg-factory. Researchers say that name alone does not make the best layers, and that tests show strain or variety within a breed often produces best results.

Quality was much higher from the top variety of birds—66 per cent of the production graded AA, while the other variety of pullets had only 47 per cent of its production in the large AA grade.

Income from the top layers amounted to $6.26 per bird over feed costs, or a net profit of about $2.50. The poor layers, on the other hand, showed only a differential of $1.17 over feed costs, or an actual loss with labor and other costs subtracted.

Performance tests also indicated that various broiler strains can also make a great difference in net profits.

New Hampshires were selected for rapid growth and efficient feed conversion and one variety within the breed weighed 3.45 pounds average per bird at 11 weeks and gained a pound for each 2.88 pounds of feed eaten. The variety showed a net profit of 15 cents per bird.

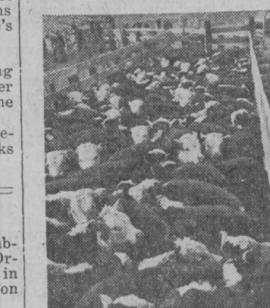

More Chemicals Used In Farm Weed Control

Chemical control of weeds is becoming a successful and economical practice on many of the nation's farms.

Recent reports indicate that Americans are using well over 30 million pounds of the so-called phenoxy compounds—2,4-D, 2,3,5-T and MCP each year. During 1951 alone, approximately 25 million acres of farm land was treated with 2,4-D, but one of the variety of herbicides in use.

Control of wild mustard in wheat has been important in the uses of these chemicals. Cultural practices developed to meet the mustard problem had proved almost worthless 10 years ago and the number of acres infested with wild mustard was increasing annually. Now one-fourth pound of an amine salt of 2,4-D will control wild mustard in an acre of wheat, at a reasonable cost.

Beef Outlook

Some farm economists say the scene above will be typical throughout 1954, with large supplies of meat, continued high consumption and retail process. Cattle prices will stop their steady decline of the past two years, but there is no indication previous levels will be regained. Grass-fed beef will continue plentiful, although finished cattle probably will be short in supply until mid-year.

FEESERSBURG

A group of interested citizens met Wednesday evening, Feb. 17, at 8 p. m., in the Firemen's Social Hall and organized a Babe Ruth and Little League Baseball Club. The following officers were chosen: President, Wilson Harris; vice-president, David Crawford; Sec.-Treas., Ruth Roelke. Earl Bloom was selected as manager of the Babe Ruth League and Robert Bloom as manager of the Little League. The managers will select their own coaches. A finance committee was set up and is composed of the following members: Chairman, Mrs. David Crawford, Mrs. Robert Boone, Mrs. Truman Myers, Mrs. Carroll Hahn, Mrs. Wilson Harris and Mrs. Ruth Wilson. The next meeting of the club will be held March 3. All persons interested in this community undertaking are cordially invited to attend and take part in the club. This is primarily a venture for the youth of the community sponsored by parents and citizens interested in giving our youth interesting and healthful recreation. Other small communities have made Little League Baseball a worthwhile project which has been enjoyed by all age groups, and we know our community will do the same. A great deal of enthusiasm has already been shown for this type of baseball club and with the arrival of baseball weather and the first cry of "Batter up!" we feel confident that everyone—young and old will be baseball fans, and come out and work with and for the team.

Miss Mary Lou Jackson was among forty-eight student nurses that received their caps Thursday evening in an impressive ceremony at the Church Home and Infirmary Hospital, Baltimore. Capping exercises mark the end of the probationary period of a student nurse's career and is generally even more thrilling than the graduation exercises itself. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Wolfe attended the capping ceremony. Open house was held for parents and friends following the exercises.

One of the stained glass windows at the Mt. Union church was broken last week when a tree that was being cut down failed to fall in the right direction. One of those unfortunate accidents that even the best planners sometimes cannot keep from happening. For nature is a prankster and seems at times to delight in crossing up man's best laid plans.

Today being February 22nd, and with Americans taking recognition of the birthday of George Washington we thought it a good time to open some history books and see how Americans were treating their first president. We were even more curious after reading this morning's headlines in the newspaper and seeing the hate and smear campaign now raging in our Nation's Capital between leaders of the present administration. Human nature and politics haven't changed one bit since George Washington occupied the White House. For quoting from an unbiased reference book it reads: "Forged letters, purporting to be his (George Washington) desire to abandon the revolutionary struggle, were published, he was accused of drawing more than his salary; his manners were ridiculed as 'aping monarchy'; hints of setting up a guillotine for his benefit began to appear; he was spoken of as the 'step-father of his country'. The brutal attacks embittered his presidency, especially during his second term. In 1793 he is reported to have said in a cabinet meeting, that 'he would rather be in his grave than in his present situation'. The newspapers were especially vicious with their attacks but there is no evidence to believe, however, that these attacks represented the feelings of any save a small minority of politicians. The people never wavered in their devotion to the president." End of quote.

History books may at times be dull reading, but sometimes they give us hope. For instance, after reading the above we were somewhat relieved, and hopeful too that even the McCarthys, the Jenners, the Langers of our time would spit out their venom, but they too would pass away. The most hopeful fact of life is that nothing lasts forever—not even evil.

Benjamin Franklin objected to the bald eagle as our National emblem, asserting that the bird is lazy, a thief, a coward and a bully. He suggested the wild turkey as our National emblem in place of the eagle.

Curfew might be the answer to juvenile delinquency although it wouldn't prove very popular. The Puritans brought the curfew to the American colonies and even today thousands of such laws remain on the books. Even so often some city plagued by crime dusts off the laws and enforces them.

"Greater love has no matter than that which causes him to give up his own life for others." Cynics will smile at this old fashioned philosophy but it is only because they have never reached the heights of man's soaring soul. Cynics have to be content with the earthworms lot, forever grubbing in a damp, dark spot. This is why they will never understand men like Lt. George Jeffries of Frostburg, who gave up his life rather than crash-land his disabled plane in a thickly populated section of a city. He could have bailed out to safety, but chose rather to guide his plane away from the city, and thereby lost his life. Why will one man give up his life for his fellow men while another will not give up a crust of bread? The difference is that spark within one called a soul. Some men have one—others don't.

Glen Warehime is confined to his home with a heart ailment.

"Relax and Live" is a book by Joseph Kennedy and as the title suggests is a book on how to relax in these tense times. The book doesn't say so but one sure way is not to read a newspaper, turn the radio off and leave it off, throw out the T. V. set and don't communicate with your friends who love to hang crepe on every subject. If you must have companionship, get a faithful dog and beat it to the nearest woods and listen to the birds. One can spend a week with them and never hear a sour note.

There is only one way to happiness and that is to cease worrying about things which are beyond the power of our will.—Epictetus. A woman's way: If at first you don't succeed, cry, cry again. Ruth Roelke.

NEW WINDSOR vs. TANEYTOWN

Taneytown High was denied a major upset on Tuesday, Feb. 16. New Windsor's jayvees won the Reserve Division championship by defeating the Taneytown Tigers 35-31 in the preliminary.

Taneytown bowed in the final seconds to the Bengals varsity 65-64.

Taneytown trailed 42-36 at the half in the varsity game, but outscored the Windsorites 13-12 in the third quarter.

With one and one-half minutes to go, Graham Wildasin of Taneytown hit three out of four free throws to tie the score at 64 all.

Harry Lambert made a foul shot which won the game. Taneytown made one more effort but the buzzer halted the last desperate attempt.

Lambert made 20 points for the night while Donald Lawyer hit with 17 for Taneytown.

an old one, and rain and hot sun had almost effaced the first A, so that at first glance, it seemed to read "dam good entertainment for man and beast." The story does not say that the General even smiled at the oddity of the announcement, but merely remarked that, "it ought to be a good place to stay all night." Then follows the mush and milk and knitting part of the legend. It is probably true that Mrs. Washington spent the evening in some such way, as she was a notably good house wife, and is said to have knit most of her husband's stockings, but the rest of it is doubtful. Within the last year a part of General Washington's private account book was published, and judging by the quantity of Madeira, and port wine, cider, &c, that he bought, it is not at all likely that he was an ascetic. In common with all the patriots of the Revolutionary War, he could, and did, live on a very scanty supply of luxuries when it was necessary, but people in those days were just as fond of good things to eat as they are now, and General Washington was no exception to the rule. The date on which his visit occurred is not known; it was in all probability after the Revolutionary war.

The legend of the Indian and the lead, is one that you will hear in hundreds of places through the Eastern part of the United States, and it is told in almost the same words everywhere. The fact that at a shooting match the lead gave out, and an Indian went away and got some, may be true, but it does not by any means follow that he got it from a lead mine; if the story is true, the Indian probably got the lead where he had hidden it. Legends of valuable mines, and of buried treasures are common all over the world, and the folk lore of newly settled countries is especially full of them.

The "Angell House" mentioned in Luckenbach's address has been torn down and a new house built where it stood.

Last summer the only house remaining from Revolution times was torn down; it was the "Good House," at which General Washington stopped—a log house cased with bricks. Early in this century it belonged to Mr. John McKellip, grandfather of the gentlemen of the same name who still lives in Taneytown. At his death it passed to his son, Mr. Jas. McKellip, whom many will remember as an expert surveyor, indeed there are very few tracts of land around Taneytown which he has not surveyed. The Good property now belongs to Mr. N. B. Hagan and he has built a handsome brick house on it.

During the past summer while the workmen were digging a cellar for a new house, which Dr. G. W. Demmitt built on York Street, nearly opposite the site of the old Angell house, they came on the site of an old blacksmith shop. No one present at the time knew anything about its history, but Mr. Samuel Reindollar remembered that a man named Stroyer, in all probability a son of the man who had the gun factory, used to work there during the war of 1812. There were soldiers passing through Taneytown, and he conceived the idea of making cannon for the defense of the town, and went to work on them; tradition does not say that they were ever finished; at any rate they were never used, and the probability is they were not completed.

Most of the older people mentioned in Mr. Luckenbach's address are dead; Mr. Sterling Galt and his brother, Lieutenant Galt who was better known as Col. Samuel Galt, are both dead, but their properties are still in possession of their descendants. Mr. Sterling Galt's property belongs to his son, Henry Galt, and Mr. Samuel Galt's to his son Samuel. Mrs. Elizabeth Thomson also died of old age, and some of her descendants to the fourth generation still live in Taneytown. The descendants of Capt. Knox also still live on part of the property he owned, although the home place is now owned by Mr. Jonas Harner.

Mr. Luckenbach says he got a good deal of his information from Mr. Peter Heck; he died some years ago, about 90 years old, and was a man of remarkably accurate memory. He could tell every place at which he had ever worked in harvest-time, just when the harvest began, when it ended, and how many days he had worked at each particular place. I have often tested his memory about places and people, and always found him correct to the smallest details even when he was a very old man. He was quite a character in his way; at one time shortly before he died his physician told him, "Mr. Heck, you are very ill, and may not get well," if you have any business to arrange you had better do it," the old man answered in quite a loud, clear voice; "Oh! That's all right—I was in town the other week and paid my bill at Reindollar's, I don't owe anybody anything." From my personal knowledge of his memory and the reputation he had in the neighborhood, I am very sure that old age had not dimmed his memory, or invalidated the facts given by him.

Francis S. Key, the author of "The Star Spangled Banner", is the most noted man born in the vicinity of Taneytown. He was born August 1st, 1779, at a farm between Keysville and Middleburg, and died in Baltimore, January 11th, 1843. His father, John Ross Key, was I believe an officer in the army during the Revolutionary War.

The farm was called "Terra Rubra" (Red Land). The family was noted for its hospitality, and I have often heard people who had been entertained there, speak of the pleasure a visit to Mr. Key's gave and of the warm welcome always ready for them. The Key homestead was at that time in Frederick Co., Carroll Co., having been separated from Frederick Co., in 1837, and Taneytown was the center of business and the principal village in that part of the county, so that in his youth and early manhood Mr. Frank Key was well known to all the people of Taneytown, and took an active part in everything that could in any way benefit the neighborhood; indeed all his life he retained a warm affection for the place and county of his birth. After practicing law for some time in Frederick City, he removed to Washington, D. C., and served as District Attorney for the District of Columbia. In a volume entitled "Poems of the late Francis S. Key, Esq., edited by Henry B. D. Johns, Baltimore and published by Robert Carter & Sons in New York, 1857, is a speech made by Mr. Key at a banquet following a political meeting. The speech was made in answer to the toast: "Francis S. Key, a friend of the administration and an incorruptible patriot, worthy of being honored wherever genius is admired or liberty cherished, as the author of the Star Spangled Banner". Mr. Key's answer to the toast is this: "He has never forgotten, and never should forget, that he was a native of the county whose citizens were now assembled upon an occasion so gratifying to his feelings. Though no longer a resident, its scenes had never ceased to be dear to him. His annual visits here had always been anticipated with pleasure, and never, even from his boyhood, had he come within view of these mountains, without having his warmest affections awakened at the sight." Neither the date on which the speech was made, nor the place where the banquet was held, is given, but it was some time during Jackson's administration, and somewhere in what was then Frederick county. It shows his warm interest in everything about his native county and his old home.

Everyone who knew Mr. Key speaks of him as a delightful companion; sincere in his friendship, earnest, genial and full of fun, he had the respect of every one in the community. I have often heard my father speak of an incident that occurred in Taneytown when Mr. Key was nearly 50 years old. In those days what were called Magistrate's Courts were held at different places through the counties, at which three magistrates sat and tried cases. An old man from the neighborhood, who had known Mr. Key from boyhood, was called before one of these courts, for some offense of which he was innocent. The hour appointed for the trial was 2 o'clock, and as the time drew near, the old man apparently without friends, was patiently waiting for the court to open. Some one asked him, "Who is your lawyer? He answered "Frankie Key". "But it's time for the trial to begin and he's not here; what are you going to do?" said the other. "He'll be here," said the old man, "He said it would be all right, and I know it will; Frankie never tells lies." Just at the hour Mr. Key arrived and brought his client off triumphantly, the old man's only comment being, "I knew it would be all right, because Frankie said so."

Mr. Key was a member of the Episcopal Church, a sincere, earnest Christian, always ready to take part in any good work and to help in furthering the cause of Christ's kingdom. He often worshipped with other denominations and took part in all their exercises; was an earnest Sunday school worker, and often made Sunday school addresses in the Taneytown churches. In the collection of his poems is a piece of Poetry written for a Sunday school celebration, July 4, 1833. The refrain is,

"Sing, all ye nations; the arm of the Lord is revealed in its power, fulfilling his word."

Every verse of the poem is full of patriotism which was one of his leading motives. The last verse is:

"Fair land of the free! may that light that forever Gives freedom and life, pour its brightness on thee; Shed around thee, the light of salvation, and never Be darkness in thee, thou land of the free."

One of Mr. Key's hymns is in almost all our church hymn books, and expresses very fully his christian character; it is the hymn beginning "Lord, with glowing heart I praise Thee."

In politics Mr. Key was a Democrat, and of course a warm admirer of General Jackson. In the speech which I quoted from, he defends him from the charge of illiteracy brought against him by the Whigs, and then occurs the following passage which probably referred to the present conditions. Speaking of the Nation's songs, he says, "But if ever forgetful of her past and present glory, she shall cease to be "The Land of the Free and the home of the Brave", and become the purchased possession of a company of stockholders and speculators; if her people are to become the vassals of a moneyed corporation, and to bow down to her pensioned and privileged nobility; if the patriots who shall dare to arraign her corruptions and denounce her usurpations, are to be sacrificed on her gilded altar; such a country may furnish venal orators and presses, but the soul of national poetry will be gone. That muse will never bow the knee in Mammon's fan." Mr. Key was also deeply interested in the Colization Society, a society to encourage the emigration of free negroes to Liberia and help to pay their passage. It is a shame that his native state and county have done nothing to perpetuate his memory; the only place in the United States where there is a monument to his memory is in San Francisco, where Mr. Lick, who endowed the Lick Observatory, raised a monument to Mr. Key's memory at his own expense.

Chief Justice Taney was born in Calvert county, Maryland and therefore was not identified with Taneytown locally. It is likely true that another branch of the same family owned land here and gave the name to the village. Chief Justice Taney, however, married a daughter of Mr. John Ross Key, a sister of Mr. Frank Key, and early in life was often in the neighborhood; all who knew him well became very fond of him. Two things in his political career made him obnoxious to the Whigs, the removal of the deposits from the U. S. Bank, and the Dred Scott decision, but I have known a good many old line Whigs who were his intimate friends and I never heard one of them dispute his good faith; he was, I believe, personally opposed to slavery and freed all the slaves that came into his possession. Judge Taney was a Catholic and a man of stern integrity and strict honesty.

YOUR Social Security QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

In cooperation with Mr. L. J. Gillespie, Field Representative of the Baltimore (north) Social Security Office, The Carroll Record this week brings you the third in a series of question and answer columns explaining the OASI program.

The questions have been selected from those most frequently asked by persons who have made inquiries at the field office.

If you have a question that you would like answered, address your letter to the Social Security Office, 5227 York Road, Baltimore 12, Maryland. That office will reply directly to you.

QUESTION: My wife and I both work in jobs covered by social security. At age 65 will she receive benefits on both accounts?

ANSWER: No. Your wife would receive payments based on her account, plus the difference, if any, between such benefit and the benefit she would have received as a wife. In other words, she receives a benefit equal to the highest amount payable based on her own or her husband's earnings, but not both.

QUESTION: My business occasionally requires me to hire some temporary help for a few hours. Should I deduct social security and include these temporary workers on my social security reports?

ANSWER: Yes. The social security law provides no exemption for work performed by temporary or part-time employees if they perform services in connection with the employer's trade or business. Therefore, part time or temporary employees used in connection with your business should be reported the same as regular employees. It is important that their full name and correct social security number be obtained and reported. (This however, does not hold true in the cases of Domestic or Agricultural employees).

QUESTION: I am a physician with a private practice. I also own a drug store. I have heard I should file a social security self-employment report with Internal Revenue. Is this true?

ANSWER: You do not report for social security purposes your earnings, from the practice of the profession of medicine. However, you are required to report your net earnings from any other trade or business in which you engage if the net earnings are as much as $400 for your tax year, up to $3600 per year maximum. This same general rule applies to other professions specifically mentioned in the social security law.

QUESTION: I operate a small business but do not make enough to pay income tax. Do I have to make a social security report of my earnings?

ANSWER: If your net earnings from your business are $400 or more for the year, you are covered by social security and your self-employment income will count toward social security payments. Not included for social security purposes, however, is self-employment income from farming operations or any of the professions now excluded.

GIRL SCOUT ACTIVITIES

The Executive Committee of District 10 Girl Scouts met Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 3, in the Davis Memorial Library, Westminster, Mrs. W. Glenn Speicher presiding.

It was decided that outgrown Girl Scout and Brownie uniforms would be handled by individual troops and a Community Chairman will be appointed for this activity. In the near future a Troop Camp Chairman will be appointed to represent District 10 on the Council's Troop Camp Committee. Mrs. M. R. Caltrider, Finksburg, has accepted the position of Community Chairman for Gamber.

A course in Basic Leadership Training will be given in Feb., at the Westminster Methodist Church Hall at 7:30. Mrs. Anne David will instruct with Mrs. Wally Weaver assisting. All interested persons will please contact Mrs. David by calling Westminster 129-R before Feb. 17.

The following ladies were elected to the District Membership Nominating Committee: Mrs. Edmund Pusey, Mt. Airy, Chairman, Mrs. Winter Wright, Hampstead, Mrs. Earl Ferguson, Westminster, Mrs. Rosanna Strevig, Manchester, Miss Alva Smith, New Windsor, and Miss Mildred Shipley, Westminster.

A County-wide Bake Sale for the Day Camp for Carroll County will be held April 9. The Association Dinner Meeting will be held at Stone Chapel, March 22, at 6:30.

The farm phone bill is still going up. Last year was the sixth year in a row average payments by farmers for telephone service increased, although the increase was the smallest for several years. Based on a survey covering more than 21,000 farmers throughout the U. S., it figures out that payments by farmers for local phone service averaged $3.24 a month in 1953 or 6 per cent above a year earlier.

Estimated figures for Maryland wheat acreage for 1954 harvest show 231,000 acres compared to 269,000 acres in 1953. This figure is well under the Maryland allotment of 238,140 acres. Estimated production for 1954 harvest is 4,158,000 bushels compared to 5,268,000 in 1953.

SENATE CLOAKROOM
by J. Glenn Beall
United States Senator from Maryland

The health of our national economy is currently being diagnosed and opinions vary as to the extent of the illness and prescriptions for remedial action.

Political partisanship for a great deal of this controversy, and unfortunately, some attempt to gain political advantage by exploiting fundamental differences of opinion.

If anyone reads this column regularly it will be recalled that the first issue of this session of Congress commented on our national economy, and at that time I stated it would be a grievous error to permit our judgment to be influenced by fear.

Two recent editorials and radio broadcast have made a great deal of sense to me, and in my opinion are deserving of thoughtful consideration.

Eric Sevareid in his nightly analysis of the news commented on the President's statement that if employment didn't pick up in March, then government anti-depression measures should be put into effect.

By virtue of his high office, Mr. Sevareid said, President Eisenhower's remark has the effect of establishing a deadline for determining the extent of our economic illness. If in March things get better then there will be a general dispelling of gloom and fear, but if employment continues to decline then the interpretation will be that the United States is actually in a depression and Federal action will be demanded.

The Baltimore Sun editorially pointed out that the Department of Commerce made two different surveys on unemployment in January—one showing that 2,359,000, and the other that 3,087,000, were unemployed. (The two surveys covered different geographic bases.)

The Sun rhetorically asked, "Which of these two figures is correct?" And answered its question by replying, "Probably neither."

Little faith can be placed in statistics, without many accompanying qualifications, but as the Sun said, "Americans are suckers for statistics."

There is an old adage which says that "figures don't lie, but liars figure." And I have found that statistics can be gathered which appear to prove almost anything, and that even accurate, established statistical information can be interpreted in many different ways.

Therefore, let us not become unduly excited by statistics.

One of my greatest concerns is that this country may have become so psychologically adjusted to prompt and extensive Federal action to meet every apparent crisis that in any anti-depression move we may shoot the works.

In our anxiousness to overcome an economic setback we may over-prescribe, and the patients reaction to the medicine may delay recovery rather than hurry it.

A sound suggestion was contained in a recent Washington Post editorial. The Post suggests that the transportation tax be eliminated. The savings resulting from the elimination of this tax could be passed on to the consumer in the form of reduced prices, and business costs would be reduced.

I urged the ending of this tax last year, and I think the time has come when such taxes as those on transportation and telephone services, which were established in wartime to limit use of such facilities, should be eliminated.

"The transportation levy is the kind of price-boosting tax that ought to be eliminated at the first sign of a downturn," the Post stated, "It would help reduce prices and therefore stimulate consumption."

Careful and well-placed government stimulants can assist in overcoming any minor economic difficulties which this nation may be now experiencing.

HAMPSTEAD vs. TANEYTOWN
by Richard Davidson

Boys varsity and junior varsity teams of T.H.S. again hit the winning column by defeating Hampstead High school on Tuesday, Feb. 9, at T.H.S.'s gymnasium.

Taneytown handed the Eagles a 44 to 38 licking in the junior varsity game. The win moved Taneytown's Tigers into second place in the reserve division.

Hampstead and the Tigers varsity teams followed up the preliminary game with a fast-moving game which Taneytown won 50 to 48. The Taney Tigers led throughout most of the game except during the third quarter. Hampstead trailed by seven points with two minutes to play, but soared back and almost tied the game. The win pushed Taneytown into third place in the Carroll County League.

John Perry, recently advanced to the Taneytown varsity, played an excellent game as he led his team mates to victory. Perry was high scorer with 18 points while Stricklin netted 14 for Hampstead.

All People

Lesson for February 28, 1954

IN BOMBAY, India there is one of the most exclusive religions in the world, the religion of the Parsees. There are more Parsees in Georgia alone than there are Parsees in the whole world. If you aren't a Parsee born you can never get in. Even if you marry a Parsee it does you no good; you are an outsider the rest of your life. That is precisely the opposite of the Christian religion. Billy Graham preaches to thousands of people night after night and he invites every one of those people in the great tabernacles and auditoriums to become a Christian. The congregations are not screened. No one has to pass an intelligence test or an FBI screening or a financial credit rating, or any sort of previous sifting whatever. Billy Sunday did not know, of course, his audiences by name. All he knew is that they were people. And being a Bible Christian he knew that wherever people are, there God's invitation holds good.

All People Are Lost

Two things are quite clear from the New Testament. One is that all people are lost. The other is that God does not want any one to stay lost. Jesus spoke of himself as the Shepherd and of people as lost sheep. To be "lost" does not mean to be hopelessly accursed. Any one who has ever seen a lost sheep knows what a forlorn sight it is, bedraggled, bewildered, not likely ever to get home unless some one shows it the way. Lost cats need nobody's sympathy; they will find their way back all right. But we are not lost cats or homing pigeons, we are lost sheep. That is a picture-way of saying that unless God sets us on the right track and leads us home, we are all of us more likely to go wrong than to go right. A lost sheep has no pride.

Some men have said that pride is the root of all sins, Jesus did not seem to think so; weakness and stupidity account for just as many sins as pride.

God Invites All

God never meant heaven to be exclusive. He never meant us to be snobbish about our religion. There are some mistakes here, commonly made, which need clearing up. One is that because God wants all men to be saved, he is going to save everybody regardless. Now if all we knew of the New Testament were this parable of the sheep, we might suppose God would work it that way and bring all people to his eternal home regardless of how they felt about it, as a shepherd does with his sheep or a cowhand with his little doggies. But the rest of the gospels show us that God deals with us as free men. Heaven is not a sack into which God dumps everybody sooner or later, with their leave or without it. Heaven has a door, and the name of the door is Jesus Christ. You can put that in different ways too. Christ is the only door to the Christian life. He is the only door to the kingdom of God. If we wish to belong to God's kingdom we cannot turn away from Christ, we must come to God through him. But another mistake is to suppose that God has a private list of those he really does not want to come in to "the marriage supper" as Jesus put it once. His invitation is to all, really to all; but he never forces any one to accept.

The Church for All

A common sight, and a sad sight too, is a "class church." It doesn't make any difference what class it may be; it may be entirely of country people, or entirely of city people; it can be made up of high-brows or the uneducated; it is a class church if the people in it just don't want to have others in it whose circumstances are different from theirs. If all men are lost and if God's desire is that all shall be saved, no church should be more exclusive than God is. God does not draw color lines or class lines or money lines. The ideal church, the one that reflects the facts of God, is one in which no human being who loves the Lord Jesus and gives his heart to him, can feel strange or out of place. There is no use saying, "We only want our kind of people", if Christ lived and died for all people. For that means all kinds of people!

Out ahead!

A fast start, they say, is important in a race. And I'm telling you -- a fast start is necessary in this business of becoming a layer. Thank goodness, I am 'way out ahead because my boss gives me Ren-O-Sal in the drinking water. It helps me grow faster, aids against cecal coccidiosis, and can help me lay sooner and better! If you would like to have your chicks move out ahead, give 'em Ren-O-Sal right from the start. And when you think of Ren-O-Sal, ask for --

The most notable banquet ever given in Westminster will be given at the Hotel Westminster next Monday night. It will be the most notable in that the menu will be the most elaborate and there will be more distinguished guests than ever entertained on one occasion before in this city.

The object of the banquet is to show to the Postmaster General Smith the appreciation of the great benefits derived from the certain and quick daily mail communication between the citizens of the county; the great convenience to the people of having the mail carried daily to their doors, and the prospect of having free delivery, in Westminster, made possible by the establishment of Rural Free Delivery. DEATH OF SCHOOL TEACHER NOTED BY BOARD OF EDUCATION

The office of the Board of Education has noted with extreme regret the death of Mrs. Vallie Brillhart Warehime, who served for many years as a teacher in the schools of the county. Mrs. Brillhart served as a teacher in the Commercial Department of the Hampstead, Westminster and Manchester schools from 1932 until 1944 and returned to service in 1946 continuing until the school year 1952.

Mrs. Warehime was active in the programs of the County Teachers' Association and in 1940 was named to the vice-principalship of the Manchester High school. Her influence was felt in the lives of a great many pupils who attended the schools where she taught.

She studied at Western Maryland College, Johns Hopkins University, and the University of Maryland securing credits in Education, Business subjects and guidance. She was regarded by her associates as one of the outstanding teachers in the county.
