HISTORY OF TANEYTOWN

As It Appears in the 1894 Files of the Record

Since writing the last article on the history of Taneytown, I have gotten from Mr. John McKellip some of the records of the burgess and commissioners under one of the former acts of incorporation. They were in a desk which Mr. Jere Shunk gave him when he left Taneytown. Mr. McKellip tells me he had the book containing their records but is not able to find it. The papers he gave me are some of the Laws and ordinances as they were passed; some of them rough drafts, and others signed by the burgess and attested by the clerk. They will give a very good idea of the way they did things, and in what respect they differed from the present ordinances. They started out with very large ideas, and their ordinances with regard to paving were just as strict as they are now. In other respects they were more severe. If our present board of Commissioners should attempt, for instance, to compel every male white citizen between the ages of 18 and 50 to drill as a fireman, it would almost raise a rebellion.

I do not know how many of the following laws the burgess and commissioners enforced or tried to enforce. Some of them are evidently a rough draft prepared for consideration but most of them are signed by the burgess and attested by the clerk. The oldest paper is headed: "At a session of the burgess and commissioners of Taneytown in Carroll County, Maryland, this 1st day of April, 1894."

MARYLAND GOVERNOR SIGNS OPEN-MEETING LAW

After going down to defeat in the 1893 session of the Maryland Legislature the publishers in that state again introduced an open-meeting law patterned after the Pennsylvania statute of 1847, and this session succeeded in having it passed and signed March 2, by Governor Theodore McKeldin. The Maryland law provides that all meetings, regular and special, of any legislative body in every municipal corporation; all meetings of the Board of County Commissioners, of the County Council; all meetings of the boards of commissions in control of any department, bureau or other agency of the Executive Department in the Government of Maryland, "shall be public meetings and open to the public at all times."

It further provides: "Nothing contained herein shall be construed to prevent any such board or commission from holding an executive session from which the public is excluded but no ordinance, resolution, rule or regulation shall be finally adopted at such an executive session." The act becomes effective June 1, 1954.

STATE ROADS EXPERIMENTING WITH WHITE LINES ON ROAD EDGES

Maryland is now experimenting with white lines down the edges of roads, as an added safety measure for the motoring public. The lines are four inches wide and contain reflective torized beads for night driving. The State Roads Commission, who is conducting the experiment on certain roads, will keep a close watch on traffic conditions with a view to expanding the program if the lines benefit motorists.

Rout 40 is one of the roads on which the experiment is tested.

"BE ALERT ON RAINY DAYS"

Auto Club Urges That Autoists and Pedestrians Be Careful

When it rains, street and highway accident rates go up, and school children must be warned to adjust their normal walking habits to offset the increased danger, Mr. Robert L. Leese, Westminster Branch Manager of the A. A. A. said today.

"As we approach the spring season," Mr. Leese said, "we are making a special point of impressing the youngsters in this area that they should be extra alert on rainy days." The AAA National Traffic Safety Poster, which is now being distributed to elementary and junior high schools in Maryland as a part of the regular monthly AAA safety education kit, will serve as a constant reminder all during the month of April that rain means trouble.

The poster was the $350 Grand Prize winner in the 9th AAA National Traffic Safety Poster Contest. It was drawn by Herbert Olds, Tappan Intermediate School, Detroit, Michigan, and is being distributed nationally by AAA Clubs.

"Of course, school children are not the only ones who must take special care on wet days. Automobile braking distances are increased and often a motorist has less time to make an emergency stop safely because of reduced visibility. The surest compensation for this double hazard is reduced speed, clean windshield and windows, and extra alertness on the part of the driver," Mr. Leese added.

He listed the following safety precautions for pedestrians in rainy weather:

Never hold an umbrella so that it obstructs your vision. Remember that it is more difficult for you to be seen on rainy days, so never depend on the motorists to slow down or stop.

In rainy weather—day or night—wear or carry something white or bright.

Be alert. Scrupulously obey all traffic rules and regulations.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

How cute the dresses of the "Tots" are this year as the stores are showing! A sign was just this—"For Flowers that Bloom in the Spring!" Ladies, the "Forward-Looking" hat seems to top the Spring fashion news and again very small this year.

Museum Prints—a gallery of beautiful prints done in exquisite colors on a wonderful washable cotton in a full circle skirt with its belt is also going over big.

Why not start housecleaning right now, Mrs. Housewife, by doing a room at a time? That is much nicer and you won't be all fagged out. Then when the nice weather is upon you you can be outdoors. Prepare a meal that is easy to fix and as you clean, it can be cooking. Try not to have fried foods if possible.

Did you hear Arthur Godfrey on the Talent Scout Show say after a girl sang, "I'm Going to Love You as No One Has Ever Loved You!" that he wished that he had some one love him like that? Well, he has the biggest love of all T. V. Stars! What say you?

Gentlemen, it truly will be pink shirts this season with the button down collar in front, also blue was shown!

"Buttons", my precious Boston Terrier was three years old on St. Patrick's Day—March 17!

When your Doctor states to take a teaspoon of medicine be sure and use the old fashioned teaspoon as all the new Silver is coming in with the spoons much smaller—both in teaspoons and tablespoons!

Here is a prediction—we won't have War with Russia but the next step will be AFRICA!

Another prediction after viewing the picture of Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz in "The Long Long Trailer" there will be less sales of trailers and in a few years all the companies will bring about suit against their product! In this picture at times, Lucy was a real blonde and then again in other parts she was a red-head!

How sad of that "Poor Little Rich Girl"—the five and dime Heiress! The honeymoon was scarcely over when the rift came!

Here's to those nice Post Office clerks! A lady in the P. O. places many stamps on the envelopes for the individuals who mail on Sunday and forget to put on the stamps! She finally wrote a little sign like this, "Won't you please remember to put on your stamps?" They still do not remember and this Post Mistress keeps on doing what she has been doing.

In Harford County on Bel Air Rd. the lovely Roller Skating Rink which was finished in the Fall and is doing a tremendous business from far and near. Your Observer skated for the evening. Nothing is more graceful than skating to the lovely music played. Get up a party, Ladies, once a week and attend that nice one in Carroll County. No finer exercise.

Here's to the expectant mother who asked for an old fashioned name for a girl. Abigail is truly my favorite which means "her father's joy". The nickname for this girl is "Abby". Bridget is another meaning Strength. "Faith" meaning a firm believer. "Grace" meaning kindness and patience and then there is just plain Jennie which is sweet and wholesome especially if your last name goes along beautifully with it (which means the Lord's Grace).

If you are tired of cooking, Mrs. Housewife do take inventory of the pots and pans. Perhaps you need a new set and if you do, get them immediately even if it means to purchase two or three at a time. It sure does give the Cook a Lifter-Upper and I think you know just what I mean! Eh?

When you hear Ed Sullivan on the "Lincoln" and "Mercury" hour rave about the "Mercury"—it sure is a fact.

Your Observer examined the car yesterday and it is positively glamorous! It will please the Ladies with the lovely interior and the real carpet on the floor in jet black. The styling is most striking. I asked to drive one and the Station Wagon was ready to go. It truly is smooth and grand for that long trip this summer! All cars are good and the only difference one may have some new feature about it to top the other car.

So much has been done to raise our standard of living but—has much been done to raise our standard of thinking?

So long, Folks. Until next week. D.V. will be seeing you. D.V. I am, Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER.

HAVE YOU ORDERED YOUR AUTO LICENSE PLATE?

The Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Thomas B. R. Mudd, wishes to remind the motoring public that it is past the middle of the month and if they have not applied for their new license plates for privately owned passenger cars and motor cycles, they should do so immediately to avoid waiting in long lines or being deprived the use of their vehicles.

Commissioner Mudd further states that current plates for these two classes will expire at midnight March 31, and no extension will be granted. Applications for all commercial classes of motor vehicles will be mailed out the latter part of this month, and plates for these classes will be placed on sale April 1.

SHOULD GOVERNMENT OPERATE FARMS?

The New York State Association of County Supervisors held its fourth annual meeting, with 200 members attending. It passed a number of policy resolutions on important problems and controversies of the moment. One of these dealt with electric power development, and it deserves national attention.

The Association specifically opposed the proposal to have a state agency, instead of private enterprise, develop hydroelectric power on the Niagara River. And then it made this statement of principle: "Government has no more business in the field of power production than it has in the operation of farms or production of automobiles."

What rational argument can be made against that view? The production and distribution of power—like the production and distribution of food, autos, clothes, or any other service and commodity—is a commercial enterprise. In the case of power, the terms of sale to the public are stringently regulated by state public service commissions and, in some instances, by federal agencies. If it is proper for government to actively engage in one commercial enterprise, in competition with private citizens, it is equally proper for it to engage in any and all.

Moreover, from a purely economic point of view, power is an extremely minor item to most people. In 1952, the last year for which official figures are available, household electricity accounted for a trifle less than one per cent of average family expenditures. Its total cost was about half that of the national expenditure for tobacco, and less than one third of the national expenditure for liquor.

Why, then, all the uproar on the "power issue"? The answer is simple—the socialists want a government power monopoly as a prelude to general socialization of American enterprise. —E. Hofer & Sons

SOLUTION TO A SALES PROBLEM

Of late, the great farm equipment industry has been facing a sales problem. The problem resulted from a decline in farm income which, naturally, caused farmers to tighten purse strings and think twice before buying.

The farm equipment people haven't just shaken their heads and said the situation is bad but there's nothing to be done about it. Instead, they've come forward with a positive and far-sighted solution—new and better products.

The story is told in a Wall Street Journal News Article signed by Ray Vicker. It begins, "Farm equipment makers are giving a flock of pointers to other industries plagued with sluggish sales. They're rushing new products in production and giving fresh features to old ones." Mr. Vickers describes many of the improvements and they are striking and important ones, not just gimmicks.

Another point of interest is the attitude of the leaders in the industry. Mr. Vickers quotes an executive of one major concern as saying, "Production of greatly improved machines is in our best interest, and it is also in the best interest of our farmer customers." Another said, "If you sell 1954 equipment at the right prices, you can interest customers. If you try selling 1948 equipment at high prices, you are headed for trouble." Still another told him, "Farm labor is scarce and high priced. This, coupled with softened farm commodity prices, makes cost-reducing implements all the more important to farmers."

These views are typical of the entire industry. The upshot is that farm equipment makers look to the future with confidence—and the farmer is getting the best tools the world has yet seen. —Industrial News Review

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

HAGERSTOWN, MD., MORNING HERALD: "With the advent of the New Deal—the Government took over the direction and in large part the operation of our economy. It began to spend money, to provide jobs, to redistribute income. The trend toward socialism began—and this in face of the fact that no free people in history had ever prospered or could ever prosper under this form of government."

CANADIAN, TEXAS, RECORD: "The small country weekly has as vital a mission in the life of American citizens as the newspaper that has a circulation and reading public in the millions. History shows us that freedom is lost wherever a free press is lost. Would-be dictators cannot stand the full harsh glare of publicity—they cannot tolerate truth. The press is the first attacked, and once that is captured or made subservient other freedoms quickly fall and perish."

AFTON, WYO., STAR VALLEY INDEPENDENT: "There is no such thing as the indispensable product that can coast along on its past laurels."

"I AM"

And Moses said unto God, Behold, when I come unto the children of Israel, and shall say unto them, The God of your fathers hath sent me unto you, and they shall say to me, What is his name? What shall I say unto them?

Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you. Exodus 3:13, 14 (KJV).

God is called by many names because His names designate certain attributes. The name "I AM" was given by God Himself, and denotes the absolute self-existence of God. The name denotes the ETERNITY of God, the Ever or Eternal Living One. The Israelites would understand the meaning. The word implies—I Am because I WAS and I WILL BE because I AM. The name expresses the assurance that God will be with His people as their helper & deliverer always. There is comfort and strength in the thought: From Everlasting to Everlasting Thou art God. This should be a fundamental thought throughout Lent. Many of the things said of the Lord during this holy season should be cherished and pondered. As a man thinketh in his heart so is he.

Is Jesus truly real to you in your daily life, or is He mainly a historical character like Paul, and Gladstone, and Washington, in your thinking? Is He so real that you actually measure what you think, and do, and say by His teachings, ideals, and spirit? There is danger of living as though the Lord spoke only for, and to the peoples of past ages. Thus you come to live far from God when you think of Him as a God far away.

"I AM THAT I AM" is not so much an announcement of the moral qualities of the Divine Lord, of course that is implied, as it is a pronouncement of His EVERLASTINGNESS. The Supreme Being without beginning or end who cares for each individual and his destiny. Therefore, this conviction grows stronger as we continue to read Exodus-third chapter: "I have seen," "I know," "I have come," "I will send," et cetera. What resource there is in the "I AM"!

What is your philosophy of life? Your philosophy determines what you look for, and what you see. Robert Louis Stevenson put the thought this way:

"Two men looked out through their prison bars;
The one saw mud, the other stars."

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

Tanetown needs better light and more of it. If only Mr. Rockefeller was in some other line of business, we might appeal for a slice of his generosity, as we need light more urgently than do a good many towns and churches need new libraries and pipe organs.

Jas. B. Galt has sold a lot, corner York Street and Fairview Avenue, to a Mr. Welty, of Emmitsburg, who will erect on it a dwelling and blacksmith and repair shop.

Easter Monday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., the annual election for Elders, Deacons and Trustees, will be held in the lecture room of Grace Reformed Church.

Rev. H. J. Macalister who has been very ill for some weeks, is at this time much improved, and will, if weather permits, hold service at Baust church on Sunday afternoon.

A petition is being circulated for the division of Tanetown district into two voting precincts, which is being generally signed by voters, without reference to party.

SALE REGISTER—(A few of the public sales listed of 50 years ago.) March 23, John H. Sauble, near Piney Creek Station, Live Stock and Implements, J. N. O. Smith, Auct.—March 29, J. Roy Keefer, near Mayberry, Live Stock, Implements and Household Goods, J. N. O. Smith, Auct.—April 9, Franklin Bowersox, Tanetown, annual sale of new Buggies and Agricultural Machinery, J. N. O. Smith, Auct.

Harney—Quite a number of our men are going west this spring; nearly all are going to work their way towards St. Louis for the World's Fair.—J. W. Fream contemplates making some improvements on his property, before moving there in the spring.

Copperville—The following movings will take place from this community, in the near future: Edward Phillips our blacksmith, will be located after April 1st., at the James Shildt stand in Tanetown.—John Baird, an experienced painter, who recently sold his property in this place to E. O. Garner, will remove to Tanetown.

Mayberry—There will be more than the usual changing of residences in this vicinity, this Spring as follows: Harry Eckard to Frizellburg; U. Grant Yingling to the property he purchased from Mr. Eckard; Scott Fleagle to the farm he purchased from the Yingling estate; Wm. Babylon on the Birnie Farm, to the property he purchased from D. F. Phillips, in this place; George Stonesifer on the farm vacated by Scott Fleagle.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF SOUTHERN STATES COOPERATIVE

Southern States Cooperative's net worth increased over two million dollars during 1953 as compared to the year 1952. J. H. Ruckholz, Director of Cooperative Seed & Farm Supply, of Richmond, told members at their annual regional board meeting held in Westminster.

Net worth of the South's largest cooperative stood at $27,427,305 on Dec. 31, 1953 as compared with $24,658,988 for the same date in 1952, Buckholz reported.

Net savings of Southern States for the first half of the 1953-54 fiscal year totaled $1,638,000 which was one of the largest totals in a comparable period in the history of the organization.

"This increase in net savings", Buckholz said, "stemmed primarily from market gains in inventories whereas losses were sustained the year before."

Dollar volume for the same period for Southern States Cooperative, exclusive of affiliated cooperatives, was slightly lower than that of a comparable period last year.

Combining both wholesale and marketing volume, not only for Southern States Cooperative, but for subsidiaries and local affiliated cooperatives as well, the total for the six month period ending Dec. 31, 1953, stood at $65,903,990, which is slightly below that of the corresponding period a year ago, Buckholz said. "This decrease was due largely to the lower price level prevailing on most commodities," he added.

Feed tonnage increased some 14,966 tons; petroleum volume was up 1,455,000 gallons, and dollar volume on farm supplies which was $4,439,849 on Dec. 31, 1953 as compared with $4,228,907 on Dec. 31, 1952, showed an increase of $210,942. Decreases were reported in fertilizer and seed, which was due largely to lower prices and the severe late summer and fall drought, which hit the six-state operating territory of the organization last year.

One of the other highlights of the meeting was a discussion on the proposed future patronage refund policy to be followed by the cooperative.

Approximately 62 members of Southern States Cooperative community advisory boards, directors of affiliated cooperatives and Cooperative Service Agency managers attended the meeting. Representatives were also present from the local area.

WITH OUR ARMED FORCES

Robert F. Sentz, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Sentz of 5 Frederick St., Tanetown, visited Nagasaki Japan last month while serving aboard the battleship USS Wisconsin on her second tour of duty here. The Wisconsin is the flagship of the Seventh Fleet.

POWER OF THE PRESS

"When the history of this age of peril, prosperity and hope for atom peace is fully described", Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks said recently, "great credit for maintaining our freedom will go to the American press, and particularly the country and suburban newspaper."

What a bore it is, waking up in the morning always the same person. I wish I were unflinching and emphatic, and had big, bushy eyebrows and a Message for the Age. I wish I were a deep Thinker, or a great Ventriloquist.—Logan Pearsall Smith.

BAILEY GOSS—ips ON SPORTS

by BAILEY GOSS

YUMA, ARIZONA—When you read this week's column, we will be on our way home. Just think of it... only three more weeks until our big league Orioles make their major league debut! Yes, sir, we'll be in New Mexico and Texas this coming week-end, starting our southern tour that will lead us to Detroit for opening day, April 13th.

Winner of nine of their first 11 exhibitions, our Orioles are on their way to one of the best spring-time marks of any major league club in recent years.

And now the club appears to be strengthened by the addition of EDDIE WAITKUS, veteran first sacker of the Philadelphia Phillies. General Manager ART EHLERS, in his continuing efforts to build the Orioles, purchased the smooth fielding Waitkus just a few hours before it was learned that slugger DICK KRYHOSKI had suffered a broken wrist after being hit by a pitched ball. "Kry-Kry," as he is popularly called, probably will be out of action during the early weeks of the season, and it sure will be great to have the experienced Waitkus on hand.

MARLIN STUART, the Birds' relief specialist de luxe, claims that pitching in the majors is not as tough as hurling in the minors. And his reasoning is sound enough. Stu claims that most good hitters in the big leagues guess the pitch, so they can be fooled when the pitcher outguesses them or "sets them up." The minor league player, Stuart maintains, will be swinging away at your best Sunday pitch, even when he isn't supposed to. This doesn't prove anything, but Marlin really believes it's easier in the big time.

BOB HABENICHT, whose name translated from German means "nothing," is one of the Orioles' best conversationalists. A law school graduate from St. Louis, Bob hasn't yet made a major league team though he's had trials with the Cardinals, Browns and now the Birds. But he claims the bar exams he recently took are tougher than the batters he has to face in baseball. Quite a wit, this Habenicht, along with Stuart. The two keep things moving on our bus trips between cities.

Thought you might like to know how some of the boys are paired as roommates in the hotels out here. Excluding those who have wives in camp, here's a recent "rooming" list as supplied by traveling sec. JACK DUNN.

HERE AND THERE: Folks in these Arizona cities are mighty proud of their western heritage. In Phoenix, Tucson and Yuma, ya better not be caught dressed as a city slicker from Baltimore or Boston. Just a western tie will do, but they mean business, particularly in Phoenix... Of the first 37 inter-league exhibition games played, the National League had eked out a 20-17 edge after the Junior Circuit started with a big lead... Sure was good news from home when I heard that the Eastern Open in Baltimore from May 20-23 was going to be the first "big money" event on the summer golfing circuit, with prize money upped by our sponsors from $15,000 to $20,000 this year... Little JEHO-SIE HEARD, promising southpaw from Memphis, married a cute gal who's earned her Master's Degree in psychology (child's). The only catch is that after two years of marriage, they haven't any pupils yet... ERNIE HARWELL and I will be broadcasting our games back to Baltimore (WCBM) each weekend for the remainder of the training season. Hope you'll tune our way each Saturday and Sunday... and see you in this same space next week.

Ford rides on a Ball-Joint cushion

...and it handles with ball-bearing ease

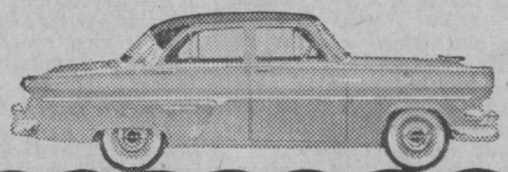

CONVENTIONAL KINGPIN SUSPENSION depends on hinge-like joints for movement of front wheels up and down or right and left. This system also requires lubrication at 8 points of wear at each front wheel. Doesn't permit maximum up-and-down wheel travel and is not sealed against dirt and water.

NEW FORD BALL-JOINT FRONT SUSPENSION replaces "hinges" for pivoting and up-and-down wheel movement with sealed ball joints. This eliminates 12 points of wear... helps keep front wheels in line longer. You get a smoother, more level ride. Your Ford keeps that new car "feel" longer.

It's THE GREATEST chassis advance in 20 years. And only the '54 Ford in its field has it! It pays off with the smoothest ride you've ever experienced in a low-priced car... easier handling... fewer service worries... and many, many other advantages.

And besides this revolutionary advance, Ford offers two brand new deep-block power plants: the 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 and the 115-h.p. I-block Six. You'll also find a new stronger frame... a beautiful new Astra-Dial control panel... new styling inside and out... plus all the other fine-car features that have already established Ford as America's "worth more" car!

FEESERSBURG

Judging from the written opinion of many experts our younger generation is in a bad way. To hear them tell it you would think that all of our boys and girls drove cars like maniacs, smoked marijuana, and thumbed their nose at good morals. There are dozens of surveys that tend to prove that our youth are on the road to ruin. This has a most familiar ring, for it seems that we heard the same dire predictions back in the twenties, when incidentally our generation was the teenage group then, on the road to heavens knows where. It wasn't marijuana in the twenties, but bathtub gin that was ruining the morals. And "Free love" was a favorite expression although very few understood what it meant. Instead of wearing tight sweaters the flapper exposed her knees in the most hideous fashions that have ever been fostered on unsuspecting females. The boys wore knickers and drove jalopies too, although the latter were never known for their speed only for their terrible noise. What happened to that lost generation of the twenties? Look around you and you will see them. Most of them are approaching fifty with a more than average waistline. They are grandparents now and wondering what this lost generation is coming to. Their own trials and tribulations of youth have been forgotten or else silently put away in mother's drawers. The spirit of adventure and new ideas have departed from them and they cannot understand the zest for the new and the untamed in their children and grandchildren. It has always been this way—the friction between the "tired generation" and the "spirited generation." If there is any difference between the succeeding generations it is, that they are becoming aware of responsibility at an earlier age and are willing to accept that responsibility. The proof is in so many young marriages and desire of a home and family of their own as soon as they get out of high school.

To my way of thinking there is no lost generation and never has been. Each wave of youth flung upon the beach-head of life has its own merits and demerits. Each wave deposits leaders and morons, men with vision and prophets of doom, the doers and the fearful. There is really nothing to get excited about. Senator Humphries suggests that all dairymen tie a piece of black crepe to their milk cans April 1st when the change in parity is scheduled to take place. If this proposed change does take place it will mean the loss of 350 million dollars in income to the dairy farmers. And at a time when the national economy is getting shaky. Just as the small business man has felt the pinch of the recession so will the small dairy farmer feel the squeeze from lower milk prices. The truth is that many a small farmer will be squeezed out of the dairy business. What is the answer to all this readjustment? The farmers should organize like labor and industry. Its all very well for someone in Washington to say the farmer is independent and wants to work out his own salvation. I notice that the people that put out this kind of talk generally represents some other group than farmers. The day of the lone wolf is over. In union there is strength. And it is because the farmers have never been able to put their heads together and keep them together that they have had to take the crumbs from the tables of industry and organized labor. I believe in unions, one hundred percent and that is why the farmers should form one of their own. In this way they would have some bargaining rights when they go to Washington, to plead their case. If the small family farmer thinks anyone is going to look out for him he is laboring under a delusion. This is the age of "Bigness" and if one can't grow big alone, grow big together.

A youth group was formed Friday evening by the teenage members of the Mt. Union Sunday School and church. This group will meet every other Sunday after Sunday school and once a month they will have an evening of social activity. Any boy or girl between the age group of the 6th and 12th grades is welcome to join this movement. The officers selected to head the Youth Group are: Bobby Royer, President; Tommy Lambert, Vice-Pres.; Nancy Roelke, secretary and Deanne Crouse, treas. Mrs. Claude Bohn and pastor Warrenfeltz will serve as the leaders.

The officers of the Little League Baseball Club met in Woodsboro this week with the officers of four other Little League clubs to work out a schedule and to write up the rules. It is hoped that playing between the four clubs will begin June 1st and the following clubs will participate: Union Bridge, New Windsor, Woodsboro and Liberty. As soon as the Little League plans have been settled, work on the Babe Ruth League will begin.

Mr. and Mrs. John Arbaugh have moved on the Roger Roop farm. The Krug sale was held last Saturday with an extra large crowd attending. The farm sold for $20,000 and the successful bidder was Merlie Simpson.

Birthdays were celebrated last week by Mrs. Maude Martin, Mrs. David Miller and by our popular Sunday School Superintendent, Frank Bohn. The ladies refused to say how old they were, but I suppose they are over 21. However, Frank isn't so shy about his years. Two coins added together make up his age; last year just one did it. What are the coins in good old American money?

Bonnie Munshower, 8th student won the spelling bee at the Elmer Wolfe school contest, Monday. The runner up was Carl Albrecht, 6th grader, who missed the word "consistent." As in so many contests under pressure, nervousness can play havoc with the best of spellers. Congratulations to both Bonnie and Carl for trying their best.

Our friends returned to Merry Knoll from the southlands this week. Jake and Jenny Dove, members of the Robin family, the saucy Mr. Mocking Bird and the petite Mrs. Wren.

Never believe that to work for one's daily bread is a curse; that to escape from the hard facts of living all one needs to do is to discover a religion, and that money is the answer to most problems. If you believe any one of these is true then you have never learned the art of facing the truth.

Ruth Roelke.

RESULT OF MARCH OF DIMES CAMPAIGN

In the recent 1954 March of Dimes campaign the amount raised was $18,142.44. The amount is divided into thirds and checks for that amount of $6,047.48 have been allocated to the Vaccine Trial Test for the National Foundation, for the research and laboratory and gamma globin and for the work of the Carroll County Chapter for Infantile Paralysis. The county chairman, Mrs. Gladys M. Wimer, has been in touch with Mrs. Helen Reese, chairman of women's activities, and Mrs. Mabel Reese, chairman of Mothers' March, concerning a new problem which has developed concerning nurses' problems. Miss Catherine Gault, state representative of the National Foundation, has forwarded the following information to Mrs. Wimer for consideration in the chapter.

Due to the scarcity of nurses, Baltimore City Hospitals have made the statement that they will not be able to hospitalize county polio patients this season unless counties are able to give them some assurance of nursing care. A canvass of all hospitals and nursing organizations in the State is being made in order to determine where an adequate supply of nurses may be found. These nurses are being called upon as volunteers from the various counties and in order to prepare them for the polio season, a short three day training course will be given at Baltimore City Hospitals. Our county patients can receive excellent care at a very low rate at Baltimore City Hospitals. For this reason, the local chapter will underwrite the expense of transportation and maintenance during this three days' training for any nurse coming from this county.

Any nurses volunteering for this service may contact Mrs. Wimer, or Mrs. Helen Reese, phone Westminster 580 J1 or Mrs. Mabel Reese, Westminster phone 3273 for further information. The need is urgent.

Wise sayings and garrulous talk may fall to the ground, rather than on the ear or heart of the hearer; but a tender sentiment felt, or a kind word spoken, at the right moment, is never wasted.—Mary Baker Eddy.

If all our misfortunes were laid in one common heap and each invited to take an equal portion most folks would be contented to take just their own and depart.

MEMORY LINGERS

Is "7" still a perfect score
As in days of Hebrew lore?
Then why does the heart not cease
To pine
For her who walks the earth no more!

Seven years ago this very March
Her final word: "Dad, I'm gone,"
Gasped in an abated breath
Is not a forgotten past;
It lingers, still lingers on.

WHAT THEY MEAN

Ever wonder about the meaning of the pyramid and the eye above it, on the back of a dollar bill? The pyramid symbolizes the strength of the union of the states which make up our land. The top of the pyramid is unfinished, meaning there is still work to be done to make our system ever better. The eye stands for the all-seeing God, Supreme Builder of the Universe.

AFTER DEADLINE

Like many another metropolitan daily newspaperman with hourly deadlines to meet, we used to ponder on how nice it would be to have a hometown newspaper with only one deadline a week. Comes now a colleague of the old New York Sun, Tom Head, Editor of The Waldorf (Md.) Leaf, who, having achieved our mutual ambition, says "It's more fun than working on The Sun. Also the pressure is considerably higher. Don't think that putting out a weekly is a relaxed operation." But the dream does hard.

Carl C. Helm, Editor.

'JUST BEING FRANK'

You'll have yourself alone to thank when, through the things you say, You lose a friend "Just being frank". So, here's a better way: Just be sincere, yet kindly, too. In all your honesty; Have, in the things you say and do, A bit of sympathy.

—Carl C. Helm.

Lord Birkenhead proudly announced to his family that he had obtained a lucrative contract for a series of articles to be called "Milestones of My Life." They discussed what incidents he proposed to use.

"You might put in our marriage," Lady Birkenhead suggested, "and the birth of your first child."

"I said milestones, my dear," rejoined Birkenhead, "not millstones."

county, Md., for the year 1835 the following laws were enacted." George Miller, Burgess; Israel Hiteshue, Patrick Burke, James McKellip, Commissioners.

"Chapter 1st. An ordinance for the valuation of real and personal property within the corporate limits of Taneytown.

Section 1st, makes all property subject to taxation, except "houses of public worship, school houses, the tools of Mechanics, wearing apparel, goods, wares and merchandise, all home manufactures, wagons, carts and other farming utensils."

Section 2nd, enacts, that "a sensible and discreet person" be appointed assessor, who is to assess "the property" at such sum or sums as he shall believe, the same to be worth in cash."

Section 4th, enacts, that "any person or persons having in his or her possession any property liable to be assessed and shall refuse to give in a particular account of such property to the assessor when applied to by him for that purpose shall forfeit the sum of five dollars."

Section 5th. The assessor is to begin his work within 5 days of his appointment and finish it in 10 days.

Section 6th. "After a person is appointed assessor for said Borough and accepts of the appointment, and after such acceptance, shall refuse to serve, and through negligence does not discharge the duties of his appointment he shall forfeit the sum of five dollars for each and every such offence."

The tax was ten cents on every hundred dollars, and there is a notice signed by Jere Shunk, clerk, for the citizens to meet the burgess at his house on Wednesday, August 29th, and pay their taxes, from which it seems that the burgess also filled the office of tax collector.

Section 8th, exempts any one from assessment who has not property amounting in value to the sum of $20. Chapter 2nd, is entitled: An ordinance to authorize the burgess to make use of any part of said Borough for certain purposes.

Section 1st, Invests the burgess with "full power and authority to remove or cause to be removed to any place or places that he may choose or designate within the limits of said town any fifth, manure or rubbish of any kind whatever; he the said burgess may have cause or occasion to have removed off, and from streets, lanes or alleys of Taneytown, and to see the same, or cause it to be sold, and the proceeds arising from such sale to be applied to the use of the corporation and the owners subject to all penalties described for removing nuisances."

There is an ordinance to "repair and pave the footways in the Borough of Taneytown."

Section 1st, enacts, "That it shall be the duty of the owner or owners of any house, lot or part of a lot fronting on Frederick or York Street, to measure and lay off from each house and lot direct into the street eight feet (except where the same has been graded and paved) to be graded and curb stones planted, and the same paved with brick, stone or gravel."

Section 2nd., directs, that where there is a porch, 4 feet shall be laid off, paved and curb stones planted.

Section 3rd., defines that "metes and bounds" of the pavement, for York and Frederick streets beginning at the south corner of Rev Nicholas Zockle's lot, fronting on the street and John Wickard's on the opposite side of the street, thence to the north corner of John Harmon's lot fronting on the street, and the corner of John McKaleb's lot on the opposite side of the street." The Rev. Nicholas Zockle was the Catholic priest at that time and his property was that now owned by the Catholic church. John Wickard's lot was the lot now owned by Henry Fink. John Harmon's lot is the one which James Koons owns, and John McKaleb's lot is that now owned by Mr. Forward.

On Church street the bounds are, "Beginning at the corner of John McKaleb's stone house and Mr. Boyle's on the opposite side of the street, and running thence to the corner of George Miller's house on the alley and thence to the corner of the lot on the opposite side of the street on the alley. Under this ordinance Church street was to be paved from the town pump to Burgess Miller's house on one side and the Reformed parsonage on the other side of the street."

Section 9th., forbids anyone placing or causing to be placed on the footway, any boxes, barrels or any thing to obstruct the passage along said footways, under a penalty of not more than $2.00 nor less than 50 cents.

Section 10th., forbids any person or persons to ride or drive or hitch any horse or horses on any of the footways, under a penalty of not more than $3.00 nor less than 50 cents.

The ordinance to organize the citizens into fire companies is a curiosity. It is entitled, "an ordinance to regulate one or more fire companies in Taneytown." It commands that all white male citizens between the ages of 18 and 50 shall be organized into one or more fire companies, that "each of said companies shall consist of a president, vice president, one or more engineers, two ladder men, two hook men, two axemen, two lane men, one or more key keepers, and as many pump, bucket and rope men as are contained within the limits of said town." They may come together and elect their own officers, but if they do not, the Burgess is to appoint a president who is to notify the men to attend, to call the roll, mark the absentees, report them to the Burgess, and they are to be tried by a court of appeals provided for in the ordinance, and if not excused, are to be fined 25 cents for each time they refuse to attend and go through with the fire drill. Evidently they had large ideas about the danger of fire, and their own power to compel men to serve.

Section 1st. of another ordinance enacts, "That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to fire any gun or guns, pistol, snub or crackers within the taxable limits of said corporation, excepting on days of military maneuvers and then only when commanded by their officers, or in cases of absolute necessity.

Section 2nd., fixes the penalty for breaking this law at a sum not exceeding ten dollars and not less than one dollar, and give one-half to the informer.

We often hear it said that the young people of the present day are worse than their forefathers, but an ordinance that the commissioners enacted at that day does not look much as if that were the case. Certainly there would be no use for such an ordinance in Taneytown to-day. It is entitled, "an ordinance to prohibit certain practices within the corporate limits of Taneytown."

"Section 1st., 'Be it enacted 'That after the passage of this ordinance that no person or persons be allowed to fight chickens, run horses, playing bullets, and all kinds of improper gambling practices as may be deemed by the Burgess to disturb the peace and harmony of the said inhabitants.' This ordinance seems to take it for granted that there were some proper kinds of gambling, and at that time playing games of cards for small stakes, at private houses, was much more common than it is at present. Then it seems to take it for granted that the Burgess was a good judge of what would disturb the "peace and harmony of said inhabitants," rather a difficult task for any man, I should think.

Section 2nd., of the same act will sound queer to many young people, yet there were few towns in the South and none in the border states where some such ordinances were not in force. The harboring of slaves running away from their masters was an especially heinous crime, and their arrest was a paying business. It is as follows:

Section 2nd., Be it enacted and ordained, "That no tavern or ordinary keeper shall at any time harbor any colored slave within his or her premises, unless by permission from his or her master or mistress." The penalty for violating this law is a fine not exceeding Five dollars nor less than fifty cents.

There is also a copy of a notice of the corporation election to be held at "John D. Wood's house on Monday, the 6th day of April next, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 3 p. m.

Guiding Spirit

Lesson for March 23, 1954

"WHAT kind of evidence could convince you that God exists?" The question was put to a famous agnostic who answered it in a popular magazine last fall. He writes: "I think that if I heard a voice from the sky predicting all that was going to happen to me during the next 24 hours, including events that would have seemed highly improbable, and if all these events then proceeded to happen, I might perhaps be convinced at least of the existence of some superhuman intelligence." This agnostic, who has a brilliant mind and knows a great deal about many things, Dr. Foreman has managed to lay bare a considerable ignorance about religion on his part. If this is what he insists on before he will believe in God, he will never get it. If we all waited for the kind of thing he wants to hear, no one would be able to believe in God.

The Spirit, Does Guide, But . . .

To begin with, it is most unlikely that God will reveal his plans in detail to this gentleman. He has never done it yet, not to prophets and not to apostles, saints or martyrs. It one of the greatest of these who said we walk by faith and not by sight. So it is not likely that God will give an elaborate set of predictions to a man who does not want to believe in the first place. In the second place, the demand made by the agnostic assumes that the future is just as fixed as the past, that there is no such thing as freedom. Not even God can predict one day's events in advance if there is any real freedom in the person to whom he makes the prediction. (This is a different thing from saying God cannot know in advance—that is another proposition. And yet, and yet—the same Christian church which would with one voice deny that God promises to any man infallible knowledge in advance of even one day's happenings, has affirmed from the very beginning that God does guide his people by His Holy Spirit. We believe that Jesus' promise that the Spirit would guide his people into "all truth," has been fulfilled. It may be a mistake (though this writer thinks not) to suppose that the Holy Spirit has more than we think to do with men's discoveries in science, in geography and invention; it is certainly no mistake to suppose that the Spirit guides men and women in their daily lives and problems. The Spirit does guide us . . . but not as a voice from between the clouds and the moon. How long is it since anybody in your church heard, with his ears, a voice out of the sky? Yet God's voice is heard every day by Christians, the "still small voice," the voice that makes no sound, the "sound of gentle stillness" which is the literal translation of "still small voice."

Spirit of Truth

The most serious practical problem connected with the guidance of the Spirit of God in our daily lives is this, first of all: How can we tell the Spirit's "leading" from notions of our own? When we have an impulse to do or to say something, to go or to wait, is this God that gives us the impulse, or is it only ourselves, or (chilling thought) could it even be an evil spirit? Now we must remember that God can and does speak to us in quite "ordinary" ways. When we are really hungry, we look for food. We don't need any voice from the sky. But in the "natural" instinct of hunger, God who made us is saying to us, "Eat if you want to live." Admitting all this, is there any good way of telling when the voice is God's and when it is not? Yes. One test is this: Is it the voice of truth? Does it push you toward reality or away from it? . . . What would you say to a man who told you that God had commanded him to marry five wives?

The Spirit of Jesus

The Holy Spirit and the Spirit of Jesus are not two Spirits but one. This gives us further insight into how we may identify the true divine Spirit, as different from our own. If ever we are tempted to justify something we want to do, by saying it is God's will, let us stop and think first: Is this what Jesus would do? We know enough about Jesus to know what sort of person he was. We know how he lived. We can be quite certain that the Holy Spirit will never lead a man to do an un-Christlike thing.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

For the first time in this century the internal revenue laws have been revised, and the political controversy which preceded passage of the bill in the House should be even more partisan when the Senate discusses it.

Not since the Sixteenth Amendment in 1913 made income tax levies Constitutional has the entire internal revenue code been revised—and in fact the House bill, H. R. 8300, is the biggest revision since 1875.

Debate on this bill provoked the sharpest division between Republicans and Democrats since the Eisenhower Administration took office over one year ago. As in all such political maneuvering the real facts are sometimes badly mangled, if not outright distorted.

Briefly—and only briefly since the bill itself is a voluminous 875 pages—this is what the bill provides:

A comprehensive revision of internal revenue laws, including rearrangement of provisions to place them in more logical sequence, deletion of obsolete material, and an attempt to express the law in a more understandable manner, plus cross reference tables as an appendix to the bill itself.

Substantive changes in the law, the purpose of which is to remove inequities, to end harassment of the taxpayer and to reduce tax barriers to future expansion of production and employment.

That is a general summary of the bill's intent, and the House Report explaining the bill is over 400 pages so it is obviously not possible to give a detailed explanation in this column.

Well, what was all the furor about? Why did the opposition party complain so bitterly and fight so hard? The answer is: to create a political issue for the campaign next fall by detracting from the real tax relief given individuals and holding out a promise of greater reductions.

It was claimed that the biggest reductions went to that enemy labelled Big Business. What are the facts? Reductions to corporations total $619 million, however, this is more than offset by the increased revenue of $1.2 billion created by extension of the present 52 per cent corporation income tax rate for one year to April 1, 1955.

Reductions to individual taxpayers amount to $778 million—substantially greater than the corporate reductions.

Now that is what the bill provides, and anyone who takes the trouble to read H. R. 8300 can see for himself, but to listen to the spokesmen for the Democratic Party one would believe that the individual, or the "common man" as they are so fond of describing the uncommon, individualistic American citizen, was being sacrificed on the altar of the corporate empires of Wall Street. The Democrats single out Wall Street for much verbal vehemence despite the fact that many of that parties leaders, the Roosevelts, Harrimans, Lehmans, et al, cut their eye teeth in that neighborhood.

For purely political purposes the Democrats shouted that the thing to do was to increase personal exemptions from the present $600 to $700, alleging that the smaller taxpayer would then receive greater benefits—supposedly at the expense of the rich, or Wall Streeters.

Well, supposing the Democrats proposal had been adopted, how would the "poorest" and the "richest" taxpayers fare? In dollars the taxpayer in the lowest bracket would receive a $20 tax reduction for each exemption, while the "rich" man in the highest bracket would receive an $88 tax reduction for each exemption. Despite their claim that they wanted to favor the taxpayer in the lower brackets, the Democrats' tax reduction would return the greatest dollar saving to the man in the higher income level.

The moral of the story is quite simple and the taxpayer should always keep it in mind when he is promised tax reductions or threatened by increases. In reducing taxes the man who has been paying the most dollars to the Internal Revenue Bureau is going to enjoy the biggest dollar saving; and when taxes are increased the person in the highest income bracket will be shelling out more dollars in taxes than someone in lower brackets.

Don't be fooled by political demagogues. The tax revision bill now before Congress contains no tax reduction benefit to any rich man that is not also granted to the poorest individual income taxpayer.

Two Turkish soldiers in Korea were transferred from a Turkish Division, noted for its ruggedness, to the American paratroopers.

Through an interpreter they asked their new NCO from what height they were supposed to jump.

"Five hundred feet," was the reply. The two Turks looked a bit dismayed and after some talk among themselves asked if they could try from 300 feet first.

The interpreter explained that the parachutes might not open from that height.

Bursting into smiles the Turks said, "Oh, that's different, we get parachutes do we."

SPRING BURNING PROVISIONS AND REGULATIONS

The spring burning provisions of Maryland's Regulation IV went into effect on March 1. District Forester William A. Parr said this week. From March 1 to May 31, no burning may be done before 4:00 p. m. (EST) if the fire is within 200 feet of woodland or inflammable material that could carry fire to woodland.

Parr explained that March, April and May constitute Maryland's spring fire season, and said the weather conditions this month had already started the fire season, with a number of small fires being reported since early February.

The forester announced that during 1953, 139 forest fires burned 247 acres in the Northern Maryland area. Damages totaled nearly $2,100. He said this was thirty-four more fires than in 1952, but only about half the area that was burned that year.

The provisions of Regulation IV are:

A. Open-air burning.
1. Open-air burning is prohibited except under the following conditions:

a. There must be a fire break (natural or constructed) at least ten (10) feet wide completely around the material to be burned, free of inflammable material, and
b. There must be present adequate personnel and equipment to prevent the fire from escaping, and
c. There must be at least one responsible person at the location until the last spark is out.

2. During the months of March, April and May and from September 15 to December 15, inclusive, there shall be no open-air burning except between 4 p. m. and 12 midnight, EST, or except when the ground is covered with snow, and then only in compliance with the conditions specified in subparagraph (1).

HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

Miss Evelyn D. Scott, Home Demonstration Agent, Carroll County, has accepted a position on the State Home Demonstration Staff at the University of Maryland, April 1. Miss Scott will serve as temporary assistant Home Demonstration Agent leader, according to Dr. James M. Gwin, Director of the Maryland Extension Service.

Miss Scott, a native of Union County, South Dakota, came to Carroll County as Home Demonstration Agent from South Dakota in September 1946. She received her bachelor of science degree from South Dakota State College, Brookings, South Dakota, in 1932. Also done advanced study at Colorado State College, Iowa State College, University of Maryland and this past summer attended University of Wisconsin where she took courses in Extension Supervision.

During Miss Scott's tenure of office in the county there has been a growth in membership of both adult and 4-H Clubs. In 1946 there were twenty Homemakers Clubs with six hundred members—today there are twenty-six Clubs with a membership over nine hundred. The 4-H enrollment has more than doubled.

Miss Scott's work in the county has been directed toward the development of leadership among the Homemakers. She says one of the greatest satisfactions of her contacts here was the development of leadership as women assumed responsibilities within the organization.

As temporary assistant Home Demonstration Agent leader Miss Scott will work with County Home Demonstration Agents and Assistant Home Demonstration Agents in helping them plan and carry out the Home Demonstration program in the state. She will work with specialists in preparing training information needed by agents in carrying out these programs.

Miss Scott will assist with the training of new assistant agents, and will also work with the annual Rural Women's Short Course.
