VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Taneytown and Community Will Hold Bible Study

The Annual Community Vacation Bible School will be held in the Taneytown Elementary School from June 14 through June 25. Courses will be offered in the Bible study on the same grade level as that of the Elementary School including those who will be enrolled in the first grade in September. Classes will meet daily, Monday through Friday, for the two-week period from 9 o'clock till 11:30 each morning. Again this year it is recommended that parents take note of the opening and closing hours since the school cannot be responsible for children before and after the school hours. Since it is impossible for the school to furnish transportation, it is further recommended that parents consider the possibility of operating car pools.

There will be no registration fee though a free-will offering will be received daily to help defray the cost of the school and to support with a benevolent contribution, the work of the John Milton Society for the blind.

Advanced registration for the school may be made through the local pastors who will have registration cards.

Airy 7 to 0 on the winners' diamond. They again handed Mt. Airy another defeat on Friday on the losers' diamond. That score was 17 to 4. This concluded a fine season for Mr. Ecker's baseballers.

Scientists at Kansas State College have used high-powered listening devices to hear insects chewing inside the kernels of stored grain. They hope by means of this technique, or by improvement on it, to make possible rapid determination of infestations in large quantities of stored grain.

The number of cattle on feed for market in the 11 Corn Belt States on April 1 was 1 per cent less than a year earlier. The decrease was probably about 30,000 head. It appears the number of cattle on feed April 1 for the country as a whole was down 2 to 3 per cent from April 1 a year ago.

Spider mites, the cause of stunted leaves on many plants such as phlox, hollyhock, roses, and evergreens, can be seen through a magnifying glass on the under surface of the leaves. During hot weather they build up rapidly and can soon cause severe damage. Malathion, Aramite, or Ovotran in dusts or sprays is effective against them.

The farm price-cost situation as the planting season begins this spring is about the same as it was a year ago. General stability in farm price-cost situation is expected the rest of this year. At present, there is no indication of any material change for better or for worse.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION

MONDAY, JUNE 7

Additional Money Needed for Sewer Construction—Main Issue

On Monday, June 7th the polls will be opened for the citizens of Taneytown to vote for or against the additional $150,000 bond issue. As you recall you citizens voted for the $500,000 bond issue on April 29th of this year but when the bids were received the lowest bid was in excess of the original bond issue by $125,000. Although the Mayor and City Council have the legal right to sell the extra bonds they have decided to let you, the people, decide this issue.

The Mayor and City Council have done their part by hiring the best sewer engineers they could get. The firm of Whitman, Requaert & Associates are competent men of long successful experience. They have designed and supervised most of the largest sewer projects in this area. The lowest bidder for our sewerage system, W. F. Wilson and Sons, of Brookeville, Maryland, we have been advised by reliable sources, is also competent. The question then is not one of design or about the reputation of the contractor. The question is, shall we have a complete sewer system in Taneytown NOW? You are the one to decide. How adequate is your sewerage system? How adequate is the one of your neighbors? We all know that this rock under us will not absorb much sewage so can we let it go, or shall we go to work now?

One of the important questions is what will it cost each of us? After a study by the engineers and by the council it has been found that to finance the bond issue and to run the town business adequately, would make the tax rate not more than 85 cents per $100 assessment. There would be no extra taxes; this would be tops. As the town grows, the taxes would drop proportionately. The $500,000 bond issue would have made a maximum tax rate of 80 cents per hundred. The question therefore is, can we afford the extra five cents? The bond attorney has stated that in his opinion the bonds would sell for an interest rate lower than 4% and if such is the case your tax rate would be lower.

These are a few facts for your consideration. The Mayor and City Council want your opinion. They are your representatives and are trying to conduct your business in the best possible manner they can. Whatever your opinion may be, come out and vote Monday, any time between noon and 6 p. m.

GOLDEN RULE CLASS MEETS

The Golden Rule Class of Grace E. & R. church met at the home of Mrs. Otis Shoemaker, on Tuesday evening, June 1, at 8 p. m.

The meeting opened by singing "The Church's One Foundation"; Scripture was read from Luke 10: 25-37, followed by prayer by Ruth Shoemaker. The class sang "I Can Hear My Savior Calling".

Business meeting was in charge of the President, Mrs. Harry Mohney. Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved. Roll-call followed with each member responding with a poem composed by the member. These were very entertaining. Dues collected totaled $145. The treasurer reported $122.40 in treasury. The class planned to complete decoration of dining room windows by buying drapes in addition to venetian blinds. Committee to care for this project is Miss Lily Bell Houck, Mrs. William Simpson and Mrs. Jacob Stambaugh. Sunshine work was discussed as well as a plastic party which was considered inappropriate at present.

A picnic will be held the regular meeting date on July 6, at Memorial Park, at 6 p. m., for members and families. Mrs. Mary Mohney and Ruth Shoemaker will plan program and games.

Mrs. Harry Mohney conducted riddles and Ruth Shoemaker gave a reading. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Harry Mohney and Miss Lily Belle Houck. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

KIWANIS MEETING

Rep. of the Du Pont Company was the Speaker

President Edward Reid presided at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Taneytown Wednesday evening at Taney Inn. Rev. M. S. Reifsnnyder offered the prayer, Raymond Wright led in group singing with Mrs. Wallace Yingling, piano accompanist.

Guests present were Ralph Hoffman of the Westminster Club, Donald Unger of the Taneytown H. S. Key Club, James Browne of Frederick and Judge Anderson of Pikesville.

S. E. Breth had charge of the evening's program and introduced the speaker, Mr. James Adshead, Jr., Public Relations Department of the E. I. duPont de Nemours and Co. Mr. Adshead's topic was "Research; The Accelerator of Progress." With free-hand drawing he told of the tremendous research work being done by his company. A few of the facts indicating the efforts being made to improve living conditions for the people of the world were: 2200 persons being employed in their research department at a yearly cost of $25,000 per man. The total cost to the company was $57,000,000 last year. One out of every twenty "discoveries" by these scientists prove to be something worthwhile. This is determined, not by the Board of Directors of the company but by the buying public of which 85% of purchases made in the world is by women. The latest "discovery" is called Nylar, a product resembling cellophane but having a textile strength equal to 1/2 of steel. A factory has already been built in Ohio to manufacture this product. The commercial value of this product is unknown but apparently unlimited in the many purposes it can be put to.

The meeting next Wednesday evening will be held in the Baust Church Parish House and will be a Ladies' Night.

ATTEND TRAPSHOOTING EVENT

Monday morning, May 24th, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Smith left Baltimore by plane for Reno, Nevada, to attend the Golden West Grand Tournament. They arrived before dark the same day, air mile distance of about 3,000 miles. Flying at an altitude of 20,000 feet in a cloudless sky the pilot circled over Badwater in Death Valley, 280 feet below sea level and the lowest point in the U. S., and over the highest point, Mt. Whitney, 14,495 feet above sea level. Because of the altitude both could be seen at the same time. Without a cloud between them and the places below the beauty of the Painted Desert, and the wonders and grandeur of Grand Canyon and Hoover Dam, etc., were plainly seen.

Their first view of Reno came as the plane came over the Sierra Nevada Mountains into what seemed to be a bowl scooped out of the top of the mountain range. In the valley, surrounded by the mountain range of some 7,000 odd feet in height was Reno, 4,400 feet above sea level. It seemed odd to them, as it must have to travelers before them, to find it so warm and pleasant on the ground with the snow-capped mountains surrounding them, some of their little lakes frozen over.

Four of the five executive members of the Amateur Trapshooting Association were in Reno for an executive meeting during the Golden West Grand, a trapshooting event second only to the Grand American held in Vandalia, Ohio, each year. On Thursday, May 27th with a score of 199 out of 200, Mr. Robert Smith won the Golden Grand Class AA Championship and was awarded a Philco Clock Radio as trophy. Top shooters from every state in the nation and Canada participated in the seven-day event.

One of the nicest parts of their trip was meeting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holgate, who on the evening of their departure took them to their ranch high up in the hills. A typically western ranch house nestled against the side of a hill, but with all modern comforts and conveniences, the Holgates had beautified this dry western soil with flowers and shrubbery and rock gardens to equal any in the east. Fascinating to an Easterner is their kitchen doorway of paneled pine on which their visitors stamp their ranch insignia with a branding iron. Mr. Holgate's collection of branding irons must number over 200 and adorn the living room walls.

While many think of Reno as the divorce capital of the nation, they were told that there are seven marriages to every one divorce; that the crime rate is the lowest of anywhere in the United States, the latter a factor which might defy the fact that iniquities are connected with gambling; and that poverty is non-existent in this town. Everyone you meet in Reno is just plain nice. They feel their hospitality extends that of any town they have visited.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith flew home by night on an uneventful trip which landed them in Baltimore one week later completing over 6,000 air miles of travel.

LOCAL STUDENT RECEIVES ATHLETIC AWARD AT MERCERSBURG

Mercersburg, Pa., May 28—Harry B. Dougherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dougherty, 18 Middle St., Taneytown, Md., received "M" in varsity baseball at the Mercersburg Academy at an assembly of that school held here last Friday morning. Headmaster Charles S. Tippetts presided and presented letters to a large number of students for their participation in spring-term athletics.

BI-CENTENNIAL

IN TANEYTOWN

Plans Progressing Nicely. Rehearsals to Begin June 7th

With only seven weeks remaining before the big event, plans are rapidly being made by all committees and work is progressing towards making the event one of the greatest ever held in Taneytown. The scenery committee has completed painting one section of scenery which depicts the Adam Good Tavern and is a very fine piece of work. Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner, Assistant Director of the Pageant has completed the casting for the pageant and preparations are being made for rehearsals to begin on Monday evening, June 7, at the park. All materials, consisting of histories, pictures and advertisements went to the printers today. The advertising committee is more than pleased with the results of over 300 adds subscribed amounting to a total of over three thousand dollars. Everybody's Printers of Hanover are doing the work of printing the program, which is to be ready for sale about July 6th.

The Parade committee has received word of many organizations and business places wishing to enter floats, and several bands and drum corps have responded that they will appear in the parade. Plans are being made to have about 12 refreshment stands along the route of the parade and a committee consisting of Mrs. Wilson Riffe and Mrs. Ruth Fowler are working to secure the names of those who will help at these stands as well as the refreshment stand at the park during the nights of the pageant, and also at the parking lots on the night of the block party.

Miss Dorothy Elderdice, writer and producer of the pageant, has done a splendid job on the pageant, and who, incidentally, is the only person receiving payment for services rendered for the Bi-Centennial.

The meeting was opened with the singing of "Open My Eyes" and "I Cannot Get Beyond His Love" with Dorothy Rohrbach at the piano. Mrs. Ruth Rohrbach read Scripture from the Acts of the Apostles and offered prayer. Miss Dorothy Rohrbach played a selection on the piano. Mrs. Hilda Hopkins, president, presided over the business. The minutes were read and approved. Mrs. Lulu Shirk, secretary, reported that the proceeds of our treasury were turned over to the building fund treasurer, Mr. Carroll Hess, for the purchase of hymn books for the new chapel that is being erected in our church's present building program.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The lovely Peonies are bursting into bloom on the Parsonage lawn and the days are getting warmer for which every one is glad!

Did you hear Arthur Godfrey announce on the Talent Show on Monday night that he will be back in the hospital again for another Surgical operation? Instead of the Spring, they are going to put off the operation until Fall! He has invested money along the coast of Florida for "MOTEL" business! He is truly one of the most tender T.V. Stars—always affected by the very fine music which is played on his show—so much that the tears flow!

Ladies, if you desire to have your nails appear glamorous all the time be sure and purchase in any five and dime or at Doc's "TRIMALL!" Ten and twenty-five cents sizes and whatever you do leave off that awful red nail polish which now is Passe! Everything in pinks and natural as to nails!

Nothing yet has or is being done to stop that frightful cruelty as to the girl Wrestlers at the Coliseum! Paging our Governor! ORTABEALAW! EH?

Betcha, that "Grammar" man will be given "life imprisonment" by our Governor instead of the usual thing!

Here's a boner for you and a big one at that! A State Policeman was riding past a truck and saw a man asleep. Here is the story! The Farmer was exhausted from the wee hours of the morning—taking his products to the big city so upon his return fearing he may get into an accident, he pulled over to the side of the road and went sound to sleep (which was a very sensible thing to do) The farmer is a very religious man. Suddenly there was a tap upon the shoulder of the Farmer and there stood the State Cop and accused the man of being under the influence of liquor just to sleep it off! The Farmer tried to convince the Police that he was not drunk and the answer came back with, "Yeah—that's what they all say!" So different from the nice State Policeman around the town! And here's still another. A school teacher in the big city (and a grand person) plus an excellent teacher—not alone with teaching but building characters for the future, said to a little boy who is quite a leader in his class, "I know you must be a leader in your church and Sunday School!" This pleased the little fellow of 8 and he told his Mother. The Mother called the Principal on the phone and was quite angry about any discussion of church or Sunday school. The Principal went to the teacher and told her never to mention anything of Church or Sunday School to any pupil! UGH!

Driving along in Jarrettsville saw a small meat truck which serves to the country people regularly each week. Your Observer has always desired to do that kind of buying even if it was just for one time. I hailed the driver. He was a butcher by the name of Zittig from Shrewsbury, Pa. Folks, I have never purchased any finer meat—first cut of the rib roast! Ask your butcher about that one! Ummmmmm good!

Thinking of good things to eat, that "Star-Kist" Tuna is really something so different! I never cared about Tuna before until I tasted this brand. Be sure and send for the free and exciting Recipes made with "Star-Kist" The address "Star-Kist" Foods, Inc. Terminal Island, California, Dept. M.S. That will be a nice one for the summer time!

Are you the perfect visitor when you call in any hospital? See if you can measure up to this. Speak quietly, walk softly as ill people are easily disturbed. Do not remain long and do you, walk hard on heels! Do you talk of the pleasant things in life and smile often. Do you sit on the bed or a chair beside the bed. Never go to any hospital if you have the slightest cold as germs spread rapidly on the helpless patient. You must think twice about gifts and bring potted plants instead of cut flowers as they last longer. You must not bring candy to the weak stomach. Books and magazines help to pass away the time and cheerful notes and cards can be read over and over again!

Always be a perfect visitor for then you are always welcome. The nurses will smile upon you and you will be as precious as a jewel, above price!

So long, Folks. Have a grand week-end and please, please—if you drink don't drive and if you drive don't drink. Keep on driving slowly so as you can live longer! Until next week and when I will see you on Unique Tyson Street in Baltimore. D.V. I am, Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

A person who stands with you today and against you tomorrow cannot be depended upon. He lacks moral stamina.

If a man empties his purse into his head, no one can take it from him.—Benjamin Franklin.

We limit God's power when we limit our own.

Progressive Education is another name for Digressive Education.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson points out that milk is a good bargain, price wise. He says research has shown that the food nutrients contained in a quart of milk cost about 42 cents if obtained from other sources. The Secretary says that since we buy milk at prices ranging from 23 to 26 cents, the bargain nature of milk is emphatically illustrated.

THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1954

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BELLINGHAM, WASH., HERALD: "Nobody can be sure in advance of what the near future holds, but there is comfort in the fact that 'risk capital'—the kind that takes a chance in helping to make a profitable prosperity—has not succumbed to the defeatist theory that good times depend on government spending of money which the government does not have."

HILLSBORO, ORE., ARGUS: "A sub-committee, following extensive hearings on the commercial-type activities of the federal government, urged 'that the federal government get out and keep out of competitive business operation'. There is much merit in the suggestion because it is American free enterprise that has given this country and its people so much."

WEST POINT, MISS., DAILY TIMES LEADER: "For many years we have been demanding more from government—and now we are reaping the unsavory harvest. It was never intended that the government should support its citizens. In fact, it is our obligation to support the government."

SARANAC, MICH., ADVERTISER: "The hope of reward—profits—makes men take risks, spurs them to think, plan, work. The hope of profits has helped build our economic system of 4,000,000 business and industrial firms."

SENATE CLOAKROOM
 by J. Glenn Beall
 United States Senator from Maryland

Our national security remains the first and primary consideration of the Congress and the Eisenhower Administration.

There are threats of wars and rumors of war, and one can almost hear at times the ghostly, anguished cry of Patrick Henry's "peace, peace, but there is no peace."

The Senate has now received a bill appropriating $28,684,251.484 for the operation of the air, ground and sea forces for the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

Secretary Dulles is in Geneva attending the Asian conference endeavoring to maintain at least a semblance of Western unity against the determined onslaught of Communist aggression by diplomacy.

President Eisenhower has pointed out repeatedly the importance of Indo-China to the free world, and this beleaguered country is now referred to as the cork in the bottle—without which, if removed, would permit the forces of Communism to pour throughout the rest of Asia.

The President recently explained that the United States at this time is steering a course between two extremes—on the one unattainable and the other unacceptable.

As the President put it, to arrive at a completely satisfactory answer to problems with the Communists would be unattainable; and it would not be acceptable to this country to see the whole anti-Communist defense of Southeast Asia collapse.

The line between war and peace is at this time a fine and devious one, and the President and the Secretary of State must make use of all their skills and abilities in order to lead this nation through the dangers and risks of war.

The President has given renewed assurances that the United States will not go into any war except through constitutional processes, involving a declaration of war by Congress.

If it becomes necessary to defend the free world by force, then we must be prepared and that accounts for the huge peace-time defense budget which the Senate has received. However, the defense appropriation now in Congress is $5,632,614,500 less than last year's, and $1,206,348,500 below the original budget estimates.

Our military strength is very great, and growing; and as Representative Dewey Short, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, stated, "If a possible enemy attacked us today, God pity them!"

In concluding, I believe the American people will attach particular significance to President Eisenhower's statement that this country will not become involved in any war except through the Constitutional process of a declaration by Congress—-which means that both the House and Senate would formally act on a declaration of war.

CARROLL COUNTY AGRICULTURE CENTER ESTABLISHED

For a long time the farming and livestock interests of the county have been in need of a suitable place with proper facilities, centrally located, where farmers, stockmen, and all other groups concerned with good farming and homemaking can gather and meet in carrying on the activities of their several organizations. This need, so long recognized, has not been met.

On March 31st the State Tax Commission of Maryland approved the Articles of Incorporation of The Carroll County Agriculture Center, Inc., and this charter provides that the purposes for which the corporation is formed are, among others: (a) To arrange and promote meetings, contests and exhibitions in the interest of agriculture and livestock, and the conduct of all lawful activities pertaining thereto; (b) To promote and assist its members and others within the limits of Carroll county in the production and marketing of agricultural products and commodities of any character and description; (c) To cooperate with other agricultural and educational groups and all governmental and other related or interested agencies in all matters and things calculated to benefit or advance the interests of those engaged in agricultural pursuits and activities; and (d) To promote and stimulate public interest in agriculture, livestock raising, and other related activities. The incorporators were:

Charles F. Brehm, representing associated young people of the Farm Bureau; Landon C. Burns, County Agent; Charlotte Conaway, Home Demonstration Agent; Violet M. Coshun, Associated Women of the Farm Bureau; Mary Louise Snyder, Council of Homemakers; Lester F. Stem, Pomona Grange; Randall G. Spoerlein, Farm Bureau; Stewart D. Young, Senior Council of 4-H Clubs.

These eight incorporators, together with Walter V. Bennett, representing the County Commissioners of Carroll county, are the nine directors of the corporation for the ensuing year. At a meeting of the directors on April 12, by-laws of the corporation were adopted, and the officers elected were: Stewart D. Young, President; Lester F. Stem, Vice-President; Charles F. Brehm, Secretary, and Randall G. Spoerlein, Treasurer.

On April 27 a written contract was executed by the corporation and the County Commissioners of Carroll County, in which the Commissioners have dedicated to the use of the Center a parcel of land containing 13½ acres, which is part of the County Home property, and the interested groups already are active in clearing this land, installing a water line, and preparing for the construction of the necessary facilities to enable the member organizations to use the site this summer for agricultural and livestock exhibitions, and other related activities.

The charter of the corporation further provides that its organization is for social, scientific and beneficial purposes and that it shall have no capital stock. This makes it apparent that the investment in buildings and other facilities will have to be made by the several interested agricultural groups, and members and "friends of agriculture" within Carroll County, but no shares of stock will be issued, and there will be no return on the investment in the form of cash dividends. The project will be related to and representative of every section and interest of the County's agriculture, and since farming occupies a major position in the life of the citizens of the community, this undertaking should enjoy immediate successful experience. All friends of agriculture as well as those engaged in farming and related activities within the limits of Carroll county are invited to contact any of the officers of the corporation for any desired information concerning its purposes and activities, and a hearty invitation is extended to all our citizens to come forward and actively assist and participate in the expected success of this venture.

The years that a woman subtracts from her age are not lost. They are added to the ages of other women she knows.

In 1953, each man, woman and child in the U. S. ate an average of 35 pounds of poultry—75% above pre-war average.

"A man's Sunday self and his week-day self are like two halves of a round-trip ticket; not good if detached."—Lee H. Bristol, Jr.

In the funeral oration at the death of his brother, Robert Ingersoll expressed a wistful hope: "We cry aloud and the only answer is the echo of our wailing cry. From the voiceless lips of the unreplying dead there comes no word; but in the night of death hope sees a star and listening love can hear the flutter of a wing."

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

Mr. Ensor T. Angel, of Taneytown, and Miss Effie E. Fowler, of near Frizellburg, were married on Sunday, May 29, by Elder W. E. Roop, of the German Baptist Church. Mr. Angel is Taneytown's best drayman, and an industrious young man of good habits whose many friends join in the wish that the married life of the young couple may be both long and happy.

On June 1, 1904 Mr. Wm. E. Thomson, of Baltimore, was married to Miss Lorena LeFevre daughter of Mrs. Milton H. Reindollar, by Rev. P. S. Hooper, of the Lutheran church. The graduates of the Western Maryland College in the class of 1904 were formally announced on the completion of examinations today. They are 28 in number, all from Maryland.

President Roosevelt was the attraction at Gettysburg, on Monday, and an immense crowd was the result. Aside from the movements of the Presidential party, and addresses by Governor Pennypacker and the President, the day was uneventful. Generals Howard and Sickles, who participated in the great battle, were present and described the movements of the armies to the President.

One hundred and six of the students of the Maryland Agricultural College left Monday morning at 10 o'clock for the St. Louis Exposition. Lieutenant Colonel Ezra B. Fuller, commandant of cadets at the college, left with them, and will be their commanding officer during the trip. They will be required to have guard mount, one exhibition drill and a parade each day.

Pleasant Valley—For the first time Decoration Day services were held here by the P. O. S. of A., Sunday afternoon immediately after services, when the Order, headed by the Pleasant Valley Band, marched in a body to the cemetery, followed by a number of Sunday School children. The services were as follows: Strewing of the flowers and placing flags with the inscription "Camp No. 7, P. O. S. of A., Pleasant Valley, Md., our departed Brother", music by the band; prayer by Rev. H. J. McAlister; Singing, Rock of Ages; Music by the Band; address by Rev. J. B. Stonesifer, Benediction.—The Pleasant Valley Band will hold a festival in J. P. Yingling's grove on Saturday night, June 25th., they will be assisted by the Mayberry Band.

FRENCH PROJECT AT BRETHREN SERVICE CENTER

34 young French Agricultural students will be given the opportunity to learn American farming methods first-hand this summer in Carroll county, if plans now being formulated are successful. On Monday evening, May 24th, at 6:30 P.M., 65 Carroll County residents attended a dinner meeting at the Church World Service Center, New Windsor, Maryland to consider the possibility of bringing the students here.

John Eberly, Director of the Service Center and head of the Student Exchange program for the Church of the Brethren, explained that the project was initiated by a request from the Rennes National Agricultural College, one of the most outstanding agricultural schools in France. Each year it is the practice of the graduating class of the college to make a tour into another land and observe agricultural methods and practices. This year they hope to find places to live and work on American farms. Since the original request came to New Windsor, Carroll County is being given the first opportunity to extend its hospitality to these young students.

Stewart Young, New Windsor, Md., described his experience on a French farm where he lived and worked during the spring of last year.

Also in attendance was Dr. James Keim, Agricultural Extension Specialist from Penn State University, State College, Pennsylvania. He indicated that he would be willing to assist in the placement of the French students on Pennsylvania farms, if Carroll County facilities are not available.

Plans were made at the meeting for the formation of committees for Reception and Orientation, Placement, Educational Field Trips, Publicity and Finance.

Attending the dinner were representatives of agriculture, business, service clubs, and education in Carroll County.

ARMY HOME TOWN NEWS CENTER

John M. F. Hopkinson, Jr., whose parents live on Rt. 4, Westminster, Md., recently was promoted to Corporal while serving with the 147th Armored Field Artillery Battalion at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

Army units stationed in Alaska undergo intensive field training while guarding the northern approaches to the U. S.

Corporal Hopkinson, a medical aidman in the unit, entered the Army in February 1953 and arrived at the fort last August.

How far from the Divine Image is the face that wears a perpetual scowl.

Many a person has a reputation to live down; the Man of Nazareth had one to live up to.

FROM "LIFE IN THESE UNITED STATES"

I had spent the night with a friend and next morning was awakened by a commotion in the adjoining room, occupied by my host's brother, an Air Force officer. He rushed into the shower, then rushed to put his uniform on, then tore out of the house. Apparently he was late for the ride back to the base. I looked out the window, expecting to see him head for the bus stop.

Instead he made for an odd-looking coconut tree. Its palms had been cut off and it was spiked like a telephone pole. He proceeded to climb it, and had barely reached the top when a helicopter appeared, hovered for a moment, and off he went to work.

A good name is to be chosen rather than great riches, and favor is better than silver or gold.

FEESERSBURG

This is the time of year when the farmer works with one hand on the tractor wheel and the other hand operating a spray gun of some kind killing off harmful insects. But there is one insect he should not destroy and that is the praying Mantis. The Mantis gets his name from the way in which he holds his forelegs together, as though he were saying a prayer. But he is not really praying, for what is really on his mind is where his next meal is coming from, and he keeps his fore-legs ready to snare his victim. The two limbs are good weapons for this purpose, because they are studded with sharp hooks. The mantis keeps them folded back, partly hidden while he stalks his prey. When he sees what he wants, he waits until he has the insect within reach. Then his legs shoot out, grab the victim, pin it between the hooks, and pull it to his hungry mouth. Flies, mosquitoes, grasshoppers, spiders and katydids are the mantis favorite meal. So it is easy to see why the farmer should protect the mantis. Although many insects feed the mantis, it has enemies too. Wasps and flies feed on mantis eggs and birds devour mantises of all sizes. But in spite of many difficulties, the mantises seem to have no trouble in thriving. Some areas do not attract the mantis but Carroll County seems to be one of their favorite spots. (Smart bugs) The female mantis lays a patch of eggs anywhere from one hundred to a thousand on a twig, fence rail or on an old board. She covers the cluster with a secretion of glue which protects the eggs from fall to early summer. The young mantises hatch in June and do not reach maturity until August. The adult mantis is about two inches long and may be either brown or green in color. He is very clumsy looking as he works himself around the garden but he isn't as clumsy as he looks when he is in action. He can turn his head in any direction and his black beady eyes misses nothing as one soon learns when trying to catch him.

Nature was in her most gayest mood over the Memorial Holiday for the weather was perfect with enough sunshine and balmy breeze to send everyone outdoors. The sky was a cobalt blue with white clouds like playful lambs following each other over a blue-grass meadow. Below, the earth lay green and fragrant with grass and flowers and trees at the peak of their beauty and color.

The Union Bridge Babe Ruth ball team went to Taneytown Saturday to play a game but a storm came up and the boys had to return home without even getting on the field. They looked very smart in their new uniforms and we hope the community will soon have an opportunity to see both the Little Leaguers and the Babe Ruth team in action.

The Youthful Endeavors of the Mount Union Church held a social meeting Monday evening in the Parish House. Games were played and refreshments served. Pastor Warrenfeltz and Mrs. Claude Bohn were the chaperones.

Mrs. Blaine Broadwater has organized a junior choir at Mt. Union and the members will sing at the Children's day service June 6th.

A woman from a southern state has reported that after her two cats had a fight out on the lawn sparrows lined their nests with the torn-off feathers.

A woman will always enjoy having her chair pushed in at the table by her husband, and for some reason this one little gesture on the part of father lets the children know that he's still romantic about mother.

Father's Day will soon be here and we have been wondering what unusual thing we could do for the head of the house this year. Maybe the one thing that might please him most would be to stay in bed one morning and not have to milk the cows at five a. m.

Everyone had a holiday Monday except the school teachers and the pupils. There was a lot of fussing about it from both boys and girls and I would also think from the teachers. It is my secret hope that some day the school term will end on the 30th of May. Parents know that when the weather gets warm and the summer season is near the children do not have their minds on books. The teachers too are tired and listless for there is nothing more exhausting than mental strain combined with the physical effort of keeping children under discipline when they would like to be roaming the countryside.

Few luxuries are more esteemed than home-made strawberry jam. Right now local strawberries are in their prime and the ones I have bought are extra nice for jam. Short cake topped with the berries and whipped cream is our favorite dessert and we are especially fortunate that no one at our house has to watch their waist line.

"Are you really a full-blooded Indian?" asked the pretty nurse as she taped the arm of an Apache Indian after he had donated a pint of his blood to the local blood bank. "Well, no," the Apache replied, thoughtfully, "I'm one pint short."

If there is one thing of which the American people can be proud it is their willingness to give so much of their time to the functioning of the local civic organizations. One example is the women's Auxiliary of the Volunteer Fire Company. The members spend hours and hours preparing food for a supper and then some more hours serving it, and washing the dishes. Not only is this hard work but it is time that the women could be using with their family or doing something for themselves. The only reward they receive is the personal satisfaction of serving their community, and working with a group toward a common objective. To some this is the only real satisfaction from life and a very deep reward. To those people who never think of giving but only of receiving life has cheated them of a very moving experience.

The biggest worry of the modern world: Where can I park my car?—Ruth Roelke.

MARRIED

WILLIAMS—ECHOLS

The marriage of Miss Barbara Kathleen Echols, daughter of Carlisle Crockett Echols, of Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. Ray Shriver, of Taneytown, Md., to Carroll Aubrey Williams, son of Mrs. Hershey L. Williams, of Norfolk, and the late Mr. Williams, took place May 1, 1954 at 2 o'clock at the Park Place Methodist Church. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Roland P. Riddick, pastor of the church, in a setting of palms, white gladioli, white snapdragons, and cathedral candles. Mrs. Darra Donahue played the wedding music and Charles Williams sang "Until," "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of white satin, designed with a modified sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, moulded torso, and full skirt, softly pleated that fell into a cathedral train. Her finger-tip veil of imported silk illusion fell from an all-pearl princess crown and she carried a satin covered

The Gray Ladies of Baltimore and Carroll County gave some of the men and women at the State Springfield Hospital, at Sykesville, a party on Tuesday. The Red Cross Chapter of Baltimore furnished gifts for more than 500, and the ice cream and cookies. The Carroll County Red Cross furnished 30 cases of Coca Cola. Half of this was donated by the Coca Cola Bottling Co., of Westminster. The party was held at 1:30 p. m. in the large auditorium. Around one o'clock the patients hearing strains of music—played by one of the patients—started strolling in. Soon some gathered around the piano and entered in the singing of the old familiar pieces. One of the Gray Ladies led in the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner", and those seated arose and together all sang. Music was furnished by the hospital orchestra, 14 men and one woman. Dancing and music enlivened the occasion. There were 24 Gray Ladies from Carroll County and just a few from Baltimore. Those from Taneytown were: Mrs. John Teeter, Mrs. Richard Rohrbaugh, Mrs. C. C. Let's Think by

G. H. ENFIELD

ET CETERA

Eating is a primary function in the process of living. It is a vital part of the curriculum of life. That man might work, the Creator made it necessary for him to eat. It is possible to overeat as indicated by the avoidpous of those growing "out" instead of growing "up". One preventive to over-indulgence is to dine at public eating places. In some of these both the quantity and the quality seem to be for those on a strict diet. In some eating places, there is a close resemblance between them and the kitchen of can-openers at home.

The number of eating places is galore. But few are glamorous. They go by many names. Some, no doubt, occasionally, have other names given them, at least mentally, by some of the patrons.

It is interesting to observe how the prices vary one way or another in the various restaurants. The larger prices usually include the drink-tea or coffee. When the price of tea or coffee is added to the cost of the meal in the cheaper eating place, the cost is practically the same. So, no matter which direction you turn, they get you. In those restaurants where certain conditions are more ideal, and the surroundings more desirable, they are included in the cost of your meal ticket. So here as everywhere else in this life, you pay for what you get. The less you pay, the less you get. So, don't be miserly, reach in your pocket, pull out the coin, for the jingle of the coin is loved to be heard. On the other hand, there are others who prefer the color of the money. They love green. These have a keen taste for color. None of them are color-blind either.

A mere suggestion to those who are accustomed to eating in public places: It is highly recommended, if your order is going to include a meat, to slip a magnifying glass into your pocket, else you might be inclined to think upon your leaving the restaurant there was no meat on your plate. It is very easy to fool one's self these days.

EARLY DAYS OF R. F. D. IN CARROLL COUNTY: CUSTOMER REACTIONS

Compiled by Howard Lawton Knight for the Historical Society of Carroll County

The final unit in the Carroll County Caravan on 1937 was a replica of the famous "Post-Office on Wheels", with Calvin Fritz, postal clerk on the original routes, in person. According to the script, when that wagon first appeared children ran to meet it, farmers laid down their hoes, women left their kitchen work and greeted it with excitement. "Yet here and there the Post-Office on Wheels found rough traveling. There was a bitterness engendered by the abolition of sixty local offices to make way for Rural Free Delivery. Calvin Fritz encountered some who refused to take their mail, and one man who tried by force to halt the wagon! Soon, however, even bitter enemies became staunch friends, and now there is no praise too warm that our farmers can bestow on Rural Free Delivery."

These few lines dramatize pretty accurately the early reactions. As previous articles in this series have shown, the Post-Office on Wheels was only one, and not the first phase of the experiment, and passed out of the picture in about five years. Likewise the "bitterness engendered" ran to the entire undertaking. Nevertheless, as a symbol it tells the story very well.

Considering the later repercussions, the authorizing and initiation of the four rural carrier routes which started things caused surprisingly few ripples. Of course the routes covered only relatively few miles of the county. Probably the people affected noted little difference from the "Star routes", or contact deliveries, which they supplemented. Anyhow, little is on record about them.

The operation of "Wagon", beginning on Easter Monday of 1899, was a real innovation. As such it met with a varied reception along its thirty mile route. According to a report in the Baltimore Sun, some fourth class postmasters attempted to delay it, hindering passage from town to town and the exchange of letters and parcels. On the other hand, a letter from Warfieldsburg to the Democratic Advocate protested a statement in the Baltimore American as to an unenthusiastic reception there. "We are glad to greet improvement in our mails, but do not go wild on an experiment and our postmaster will not turn gray from grief for a few days yet." The advantage of direct delivery to those living along the road was conceded, but it was pointed out that those at a distance did not like it as well.

On the whole there was a reasonable attitude, as indicated by the Winfield correspondent of the American Sentinel. "Quite an interest was manifested by our people in the P. O. on Wheels. The people in these parts do not take kindly to any change, and hence some adverse criticisms have already been heard. We are not ready to down the scheme simply because it will not give us increased facilities for carrying the mails to Baltimore. We prefer to await developments, because we believe if the enterprise proves a success it will be the greatest 'Godsend' in modern postal inventions to the masses in rural districts. Carroll County should feel flattered in the Government's repeated choice of her soil in which to plant these advanced ideas, and her citizens, unless greatly inconvenienced, should be the last to murmur."

Two weeks later the same correspondent wrote, "Interest is still manifested by our people in the Traveling Post-Office. As the novelty of the scheme wears off we believe our people will begin to realize some of the benefits of the enterprise."

In the following December came the extension of the R. F. D. to cover the entire county and parts of others.

This was a drastic development and brought many reactions.

According to a report of the Postmaster-General, "The experiment began by the discontinuance of 63 of the 94 fourth class post-offices in the territory and of 33 star routes, and by substitution of a free delivery service with four complete postal wagons and 26 rural letter carriers in their own conveyances. So radical an innovation, involving the displacement of a number of officials, naturally at the outset excited some antagonism. But the service proved so satisfactory and the advantages of universal delivery were so great that the opposition speedily subsided, and there is now an undivided sentiment of cordial approval and support."

This was the official view, but examination of the current files indicated that its admission of some antagonism was very conservative. Intense feeling and active opposition immediately flared up at many points. At a Union Bridge meeting one man said he was disturbed by the echo of R. F. D. when he knelt down to pray. A Prayer of the Anti-Free Deliveries was mentioned in the Advocate asking that carriers be "led into snowdrifts and mudholes and deliver us from the Free Delivery."

A Mayberry correspondent of the same periodical wrote the "R. F. D. is becoming more unsatisfactory and unpopular every day." Sams Creek also opposed it, its representative saying that "people here cannot understand why they should be deprived of a system that gave satisfaction in every particular." Slow deliveries were specifically complained of there and at Englar. Much criticism also came from such scattered points as Uniontown, Melrose, Union Mills, Manchester, Harney, Pleasant Valley, and a writer from Pipe's Creek hoped the system would not strike there.

Petitions against it were soon circulated in several communities and within a month about 2,500 adult signatures were claimed. An Anti-Free Delivery meeting was held in Westminster on January 13, 1900, with an attendance of several hundred despite a freezing rain. A committee was appointed to attempt to secure a restoration of the former service.

Nevertheless there was by no means universal dissatisfaction. Correspondents from Bachmans Valley and Shipley were among those who were favorable. A counter-petition secured over 1,200 signatures. From Gist and Taylorsville came counsels for patience. "Of course there are many improvements to be made before the system will be perfect. But give Uncle Sam time, he'll get there."

Fortunately the Post-Office Department itself realized that most of the complaints had merit and took prompt action. Two months after closing of the offices, service resumed at Uniontown, Manchester, Pleasant Valley and Harney, the last named as a substitution of Taneytown and others of Westminster. Several new routes were added, and adjustments made in many others. Much less criticism was noted after the changes. The committee which had been set up participated in the conferences on a local level and disbanded without making its expected trip to Washington.

Within the next few months, other modifications were worked out which removed causes for dissatisfaction. Rural carriers were empowered to register mail, and to deliver mail collected on their routes for patrons farther along without home office cancellation. For a number of years carriers were allowed to take subscriptions and procure merchandise, and this service was much used and appreciated before the advent of parcel post.

Perhaps even more important in the development of good will was the gradual growth of acquaintance with the carriers, replacing some of the contacts with the village stores. These daily visitors had been strictly cautioned against wrangling with patrons, and much credit is doubtless due to their tact and patience, and also to the good sense and courtesy of the county residents. A special agent of the Department who spent much time here in the crucial weeks of the county-wide beginnings is said to have declared that "in all his experience as an agent of the Department he never came in contact with more generally intelligent, kindly, and considerate people than are found in Carroll County."

Thank you.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Scripture: II Kings 14:23-29; Amos, 7-8.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 58:1-8.

Social Justice

Lesson for June 6, 1954

IS THE country prospering? Ask the Chamber of Commerce and they will give you a commercial answer, as you would expect. They will give you figures on the national income and the national debt; they will furnish you with statistics on farm prices and freight-car loadings and employment figures. If all these look good, then the C. of C. will tell you the country is sound and prosperous. Away back in the times of the Bible, in the administration of Jeroboam II, if there had been an Israelite Chamber of Commerce, they must have been optimistic, even enthusiastic, about the prosperity of their country. Wealth had risen to unprecedented levels, trade was active, the territory of Israel was growing. There never had been so many millionaires in Israel.

Sour Note

There was just one man, so far as we know, who did not see eye to eye with the optimists in Israel. His name was Amos and he lived in the back districts as a hired man, perhaps as a migrant worker. He had had a good look at Israel from the seamy side, for his layer in the social cake was somewhere below the bottom. He is known to history as a prophet, but he did not claim that title for himself. "The Lord spoke to me," he said, and that was enough. Perhaps the reason he did not care for the label of prophet is that he did not want to be mixed in people's minds with such Yes-men as King Ahab had gathered around him. But he believed and we believe that he had the mind of God, and that is what a prophet has. He went up to Bethel, one of the main cities of Israel, and there made some speeches that nobody liked.

He even got himself attacked as subversive. At all events, he brought what the leaders of Israel thought was a very sour note into the sweet chorus of prosperity.

What Is Happening to People?

Amos looked at "prosperity" in another light, or we may say he measured prosperity with a different yardstick. Whether a country is on the up-and-up or on the down-and-down is not to be discovered by looking at dollar signs or counting freight cars. The real question is: What is happening to people? The first of all questions is: Which seems to you more important, people or property? If they both seem equally important, or if property seems even more important, then Amos would say you are certainly using the wrong yardstick. He looked over the nation of Israel and he saw two classes of people, the poor and the rich. The poor went to jail for robbing the rich, but no one ever jailed the rich for robbing the poor. The rich were growing richer and the poor were growing poorer. This was not the worst of it, for in the process of becoming wealthy, the luxury-classes of Israel were growing both softer and harder than they should be—softer by indulging in luxuries, harder by indifference to the troubles of the people at the bottom of the pile.

A Few Questions

"Social Justice" or its opposite, social injustice, is a big all-inclusive phrase. If you think it has nothing to do with religion, you have the Bible against you. Let us bring it down to cases, as Amos did. Is there social justice in your community, your state? Before you can answer that cover-all question, you will have to break it down into particular questions. For example: Are there any second-class citizens in your community? Are the same jobs open to all, at the same wages or salary? If a man has to borrow money can he get it at a reasonable rate of interest or do the loan sharks run wild where you live? Are the responsible citizens of your community and state willing to be taxed for the benefit of better schools? Compare salaries paid in your state to horse trainers, with salaries paid to school teachers. Do horses seem to be rated higher than children? Does every child in your state have an adequate opportunity for an education, or are children penalized for being born in the country?
