Held Interesting Meeting at Sykesville

The meeting of the Historical Society of Carroll County, June 24, in Society of Carroll County, June 24, in Springfield Auditorium was attended by around 150 people from all dis-tricts of the county. The very special attraction of the evening was an ad-dress by Francis Beirne (Christopher Billop) of the Baltimore Sun on Bet-syr Petterson Mr. Beirne did an exsy Patterson. Mr. Beirne did an excellent piece of work in relating Bet-sy to the background of her time. He depicted the little town of Baltimore (20,000 inhabitants) in the latter part of the eighteenth century and the early part of the nineteenth. It was then that William Patterson, Betsy's father, amassed a fortune through the merchant marine, when he en-gaged in munitions trade with the west Indies supplying material. The money adquired by the sea was spent for land in Baltimore (now Carroll County). The life of the ambitious but unhappy Betsy was traced from the time she met Napoleon in the late summer of 1803 until her death at the age of 94 From time to time at the age of 94. From time to time Mr. Beirne contrasted the career of Betsy with that of the three Caton sisters, her friends, who attained happiness with fame. Some time after Betsy became the sister-in-law of Napoleon, Mary Caton Patterson became the sister-in-law of the Duke of in reporting some of the highlights of the life of The Carroll Record during the past sixty years but we feel that we have had some little part in the life and progress of Taneytown and community.

Any progress in publishing The Carroll Record should rightfully be given our loyal employees, contributors, correspondents, advertisers, subscribers, readers, board of directors, in fact, we like to feel that everyone has had some part in "making" The Carroll Record what it is today.

HISTORY

THE CARROLL RECORD'S first issue was put into circulation on Saturday, July 7, 1894, this being the third newspaper to be published in Taneytown. A year or more previous to this date, the late P. B. Englar and first editor of The Carroll Record, aspired to have a local newspaper in Taneytown. town. Mr. Englar then owned a small job printing outfit and his idea was to unite with John J. Reid, another local printer. His dreams remained without much hopes of becoming a reality until The Carrolltonian, published in Westminster, went into the hands of receivers and was offered at public sale

Mr. Englar and Mr. Reid attended the sale, the former placing the last bid on the plant, but was not accepted because it was considered below value. However, at a later date, the plant was purchased privately of Clabaugh and Roberts, receivers. Prior to its removal to Taneytown, the promoters of the enterprise, being uncertain of the safety of the investment as an individual undertaking, called a meeting of those whose interest had been enlisted, and a Stock Company was formed for the purchase and installation of the plant, which was afterward incorporated under the title of "The Carroll Record Printing and Publishing Company.

Looking back into the old minutes record book, we found the Board of Directors met on May 17, 1894 and organized by electing Dr. Motter temporary chairman. On motion, W. Jesse Roberts was elected President, for one year and Dr. G. T. Motter, Vice-President for one year; H. M. Clabaugh, Secretary and Geo. A. Arnold, Treasurer and Assistant Secretary each to serve for one year. The treasurer was instructed to collect subscriptions and have the committee buy the press, rent a room, have it moved and put in place at P. B. Englar was appointed to prepare the certificates of stock after the order of the old Carrolltonian, and also purchase a seal.

At several other Director meetings before the first issue was published advertising rates were established and the By-laws of the company adopted.

The presses, machinery, type and fixtures—which were in excellent condition. dition—were moved to Taneytown and installed on the third floor of the Reindollar warehouse. The first issue were produced by the force in trepidation, but they needn't have worried over the success of The Carroll Record, for even now as we look over the first publications we see a paper far advanced for its day and which could look about to success. day and which could look ahead to success.

Mr. John McDonald, a former compositor on the Carrolltonian, as well as John J. Reid, the foreman of the office from the beginning, employees in these early days, mastered the mechanical problems. (Artie Angell and Curtis H. Reid were two of the first employees of The Carroll Record Company—M. Ross Fair entered as an employee September,

It was an unprofitable venture for Mr. Forward—although it helped pave the way with people for its successor—and the fact of its unprofitableness caused much suspicion which attached to investing in the stock of the Record. The few subscribers of the ceased paper formed the nucleus of the subscription list of the new paper. The first issue was 380 copies, most of which were used as

TO MAKE AMENDS?

President Dwight D. Eisenhower has wired ex-President Harry S. Truman in the latter's Kansas City hospital room wishing him, it is said, a speedy recovery. Just how he said it is not known. But it is to be hoped this kindly gesture will set right a most unfortunate occurrence to which is charged some of the aloofness noted between the two men.

Last October when President Eisenhower was in Kansas City. Mr. Truman telephoned personally to ask if he might just shake hands and extend a welcome. An unnamed aide answered the phone and told Mr. Truman that Mr. Eisenhower would be too busy. Mr. Truman did not succeed in getting by the aide, and no visit was made. Consequently when Mr. Truman came to Washington this spring he did not ask for a White House appointment.

It seems inconceivable that such a thing could have happened. But, apparently, it did,

Harry Truman has made a genial, mellow alumnus of the White House, making himself heard not in carping criticism but in defending for his successor the constitutional powers and prerogatives of the office he once occupied himself. We would add to whatever President Eisenhower may have said to him our own wishes for a speedy recovery. The Christian Science Monitor.

Says the Cynic

Women need never expect to be men's equal until they can sport a bald spot on top of their heads, and still think they're handsome.

Before America became the land it its today, There was a dream; A dream that men could say The things they wished to say. Before America became to us a nation dear, There was a hope,

A hope that men could come and go at will And without fear.

Before America was born, and here off a fire-cracker or lit a sparkler to stay,

And worship each in his own way. And so that dream, that hope, that prayer

Became America: America the free, home of the brave, Our native land so fair.

At this moment there are two things uppermost in the farmer's mind here in Carroll County. One is the hope of rain and the other is what to feed the stock if the drought continues to dry up pasture and corn fields. The lack of rain is serious and with the drop in farm prices, some farmers face disaster. One must either be a moron or a person with buldog tenacity to stay in the farming business under present conditions. Any person that depends upon his living by the whims of nature is not only a confirmed gambler, but a doctor of philosophy as well and also he isn't exactly bright. But as has been so aptly pointed out to me more than once, you can't be farming one year and quit the next year when things don't go just right. Like Mrs. Ace use to say on the radio "You must take the bitter with the better".

Since last I wrote this column the Army-McCarthy hearings have ended and I am wondering what the lady of the house is doing these days for en-tertainment. If the hearings per-formed no other service they did keep mama at home and saved papa a of money on the grocery bill, for I know for certain all some families ate during those six weeks of give and take, were hot dogs and mustard. The thing that I liked most about the hearings were the political ommer cials. Some of them were really good and made a whole lot more sense than some of the evidence.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Roelke and daughter, Nancy attended a garden party in Catonsville last Saturday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Witzke's 25th wedding annversary. The party was given by the Witzke's daughters, Mrs. William Bartgis, Jr. and Mrs. David M. Buffington.

Studies show that the house wife who belongs to many clubs, organizations and com mittees is likely to be restless and dissatisfied; the woman who likes house work. children, and belongs to only one or two clubs is usually a happy wife. This recalls to my mind a classmate who last year was divorced by her husband. When asked what broke up her marriage she said that reading too many statistics about how to be happy and make a happy marriage kept her from having meals on time. Her husband grew tired of late and burnt meals and decided he had enough. The moral: Better concentrate on vour husband instead of

How to Grow

Lesson for July 4, 1954

IF A Christian is not a growing Christian, is he a Christian at all? Whatever a person may think about that, one thing is certain: If a Christian is not growing, he is not like Jesus. For the next three months the Bible lessons studied in all the churches that sponsor this series will be on the general subject of "Growth in Christian Living." Can this be studied? Doesn't growth come naturally or not at all? For answer to that question, consider the Lord Jesus Dr. Foreman himself. It is said of him that he "increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man." If Jesus is our Example in growth as well as in other ways, then we can learn much about Christian growth from him. A Time for Struggle

The Greek language in which Luke wrote, has words for everything. Many times we can see what Luke meant by carefully looking into the Greek words he used, which are sometimes more precise than our English words usually are. In Luke 2:40 it is written that Jesus the boy "grew." In Luke 2:52 it is said that he "increased." Now those are two different Greek words, in the original manuscript, and they do not mean just the same thing at all. The first is the ordinary everyday word for "grow." Plants grow, animals grow, the little boy Jesus grows. The same word is used for all kinds of living things. Now a little boy, say five years old, no more tries to grow than an oyster does. He will grow, all right. Nothing can stop him if he gets plenty of food and sunshine. When he goes to school he does not have to study hard he "picks up" things as we say. But there comes a time in every boy's life, and it must have come in Jesus' life, when this simple word "grow" is not enough any more. The word

"increase" is a different word entirely. It means literally to cut one's way forward. It is the word which was used to describe what a road-building crew did in chopping out a trail through the forest. It is a word for effort, struggle, hard work. The time came for Jesus, as it does for all growing persons, when he could no Monger grow without putting out his own vigorous strength.

Good Animal?

An angry woman came into a teacher's room one day and complained about the way her poor little boy (a rascal if ever there was one) had been treated. "I want you to understand," she said, "that I don't care if he is a scholar or not. All I want is for him to be a good animal." If the teacher had not been young and shy, he would have said to the woman, "Madam, that's just the trouble. He is a good animal; we should like to have him develop into something else besides. If all you want is a good animal, take your boy home; he has graduated!" Of course the lady was partly right. We human beings are animals, and as such we ought to develop physically to the best of our capacity. We have to work at it. God will not send it free, not even to Christians.

The All-Round Life

Jesus cut his way forward not only physically, but mentally (wisdom), spiritually (in favor with God) and socially (favor with man). There comes a time in life when if we are going to learn something (say the Greek language, or the guitar) we just have to get down and dig. The growing Christian will grow in mind as well as in body. Ignorance is not a Christian ideal. The same is true socially. Our Lord was popular, in the good sense. People loved him. But Luke suggests that this was not something that just came to him, he had to work at this too. Some persons are born more sociable by nature than others; but even the shy ones, the awkward ones, can learn the fine art of getting along with other personsif they try. If they never try, this side of their natures, of their lives, will be stunted. Even the spiritual life does not grow without effort. We grow through those old-fashioned but never out-dated ways, which Jesus used and which we can use too: prayer, study of God's word, and service in His name. We never grow spiritually by magic, never by "wishing," only by working with God.

HISTORY (Continued from First Page)

At the end of the first month (July, 1894) the paper had 195 legitimate subscribers; a month later the number had grown to 241, the following month to 282, the last of October to 309 and at the end of the first six months to 400. The first year closed with 646 names on the mailing list, 528 being paying while the objective of the promoters of the enterprise was to cover the local field successfully, there was an expectation that the paper might, in the future, have a broader aim, and for this reason the word "Taneytown" was omitted from the title, and the word "Carroll" chosen.

The opportunity to advance beyond local prominence came earlier than was anticipated. Before the close of the first half-year, the editor searching for some special attraction for local readers, comprehended the idea of re-publishing the history of Taneytown, written by W. H. Luckenbach in 1876 while he was pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church. The idea was shortly discovered, before the advisability of enlarging on it was seen, and the result was a history of Taneytown, written by Dr. C. Birnie, who used the Luckenbach sketch only as a nucleus, and added much new and heretofore unpublished information, bringing the history of the town, its churches, industries and growth, to date. This required 22 issues, closing March 30, 1895. (Starting in February of this year, we again reprinted from our files this series of Taneytown's history, due to the fact that this is the 200th Anniversary of Taneytown).

Long before the conclusion of this history, the value of this feature was evidenced. The idea to write histories of other surrounding communities was created. Competent authors of these histories were secured and the subsequent histories of towns were published as follows: Taneytown, Dr. C. Birnie, 22 weeks; Union Bridge, Daniel Wolfe, 7 weeks; New Windsor, F. J. Devilbiss, 9 weeks; Harney, J. Wm. Reck, 11 weeks; Linwood, Jesse P. Garner, 3 weeks; McKinstry's, Jesse P. Garner, 3 weeks; Middleburg, Keysville, Double Pipe Creek and York Road, Jas. H. Koons, 6 weeks; Bruceville, E. H. Sharretts, 1 week; Middleburg Dist., S. Weybright, 7 weeks; Uniontown, Dr. J. J. Weaver, 20 weeks; Trevanion, J. H. Taylor, 12 weeks.

The size of the Record was increased from seven columns to eight, from a 24x36 sheet to 26x40 sheet with the issue of January 2, 1897. The pressure of advertising was the main cause of the improvement, along with the eager determination to earn success through satisfied readers.

GREAT FIRE LOSS IN 1897

The business of the Company continued to increase satisfactorily, to the time of our big fire, November 26, 1897, when the plant of the Record was totally destroyed, nothing but the office fixtures and the files being saved. The loss was approximately $2000, one which there was insurance of but $950. Fortunately, the Company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable of the company had accumulated a fair surplus a

Fortunately, the Company had accumulated a fair surplus, and had a considerable amount of good outstanding accounts; consequently, our disaster never for a moment stood for discontinuance of the business.

Plans were made for the issuance of next week's paper before the ruins were cold. The editor and manager, made arrangements with the Frederick City Manufacturing Company, Elmer Fahrney, Manager, by which the use of press and plant was secured, and two of our compositors, M. Ross Fair and Curtis Reid placed in charge. This arrangement proved as satisfactory as could be expected and lasted five weeks.

On December 18, a new job printing plant was bought, and a week later a newspaper press and plant. These were placed in operation, temporarily, the composing room being located over C. E. H. Shriner's harness shop, and the presses in a room owned by Mrs. C. A. Shoemaker. The Record was "at home" again with the issue of January 8, 1898, an accomplishment considering all the circumstances. From the time of the fire to the final installation of the new plant, John J. Reid, foreman, remained on the ground and did most of the work, to the conclusion that when our compositors were recalled from Frederick, things were in fairly good condition, though far from convenient, for home publication. Nevertheless, the paper was regularly issued and all job printing executed without any public inconvenience.

The Home of the Company

On November 12, 1898, the plant was removed to its present quarters and with the change came also the addition of a water motor, for power. With larger and more comfortable quarters, came many additions and improvements, among them a telephone and the influx of business and subscribers became much more rapid. On January 1, 1899 the mailing list num-an act which was not missed even for the year of the fire, and almost from the first shares were sold at a premium.

On July 1, 1902, the size of the paper was again increased, from 26x40 to 28x41, and the job presses were replaced by two of much larger size; thus, the facilities of the office for all kinds of work greatly increased.

Fifty years ago, on Saturday July 2, 1904, The Carroll Record issued a Tenth Anniversary issue which was illustrated with many pictures, not only of the Carroll Record and force, but pictures of Taneytown Churches, homes, places of business etc. places of business, etc

A history of the Carroll Record's ten years of progress also appeared in this publication. A portion of our information for this history was taken from the anniversary issue

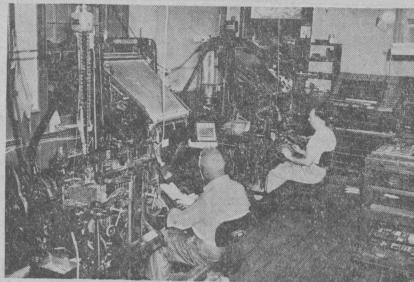

Also in the year, 1904, The Carroll Record, made many additions, changes and general improvements including a new supply of type and general equipment, and advanced to two telephones.

"MODEL K" LINOTYPE BOUGHT

The Record in the interest of progress purchased a Linotype machine in April, 1917 to add to its equipment. The machine, known as the 'Model K' is of the double-magazine type, supplemented by an additional magazine, is a versatile machine covering a wide variety of work. Naturally, through the years it has become worn, but it is still in our shop, and is used along with our new Linotype. The type from the machine was first used in the newspaper on May 11, 1917. Heretofore, type in the paper was all set by hand.

NEW TYPECASTING MACHINE

The Company realized that in order to continue to produce the newspaper The Company realized that in order to continue to produce the newspaper and job work efficiently, it would require them to purchase a new linotype machine to capacitate the force to yield work of fine quality, as the old linotype had become badly worn. The new machine was ordered October 3, 1951 from the Mergenthaler Linotype Company, Brooklyn, N. Y. (The same company from which we purchased the one in 1917). The New Model 31 Blue Streak Linotype was delivered on January 10, 1952. A factory representative and mechanic competently erected the machine and on January 18, 1952 it was in operation.

FOUNDER AND EDITOR DIES

Mr. Preston B. Englar, who faithfully served 48 years as editor of The Carroll Record passed away on Tuesday, April 28, 1942, at the age of 83 years. Born at McKinstry's Mills, he attended school in Union Bridge. He came to Taneytown in 1877, worked as a clerk, later marrying Miss Margaret L. Reindollar and engaged in merchandising. Nine years he filled the position of Taneytown Postmaster. The Carroll Record was originated by him in 1894 and for 48 years, with perseverance and loyalty, he as editor and manager, made the Carroll Record an enterprising business in Taneytown. Mr. Englar's children still retain an interest in the success of The Carroll Record. Surviving him are the following children, three daughters, A. Beulah Englar, Mrs. Margaret Nulton, and Ada R. Englar, of Taney-PRESTON B. ENGLAR town, and a son, H. Clay Englar, of California.

NEW EDITOR ELECTED

Charles L. Stonesifer, was elected Editor and Manager of the paper, on June 10, 1942 at a meeting of the Board of Directors. He had been with the company 22 years, starting in January 1920 as an apprentice and learning the printing trade. As Mr. Englar's health and vision began to fail, Mr. Stonesifer was given more responsibility by assisting the former Editor with the business affairs, gradually being obligated with additional duties to perform. Eventually, he was made Business Manager and Treasurer, which occurred two years prior to his election as Editor and Manager. Since he has occupied this position, he has increased the business considerably and brought about many changes and advancements toward present and future success of The many changes and advancements toward present and future success of The Carroll Record.

On December 6, 1948 a new C. & P. Automatic 12x18 Press was purchased to enable a speed-up of the volume of Printing that the company was then enjoying.

In September, 1952 the antiquated condition of The Carroll Record Co., office came to an end. Mr. Stonesifer, with the intention of making the office a more pleasant place to work, and to improve the appearance, modernized
