Drepperd, who comes through the courtesy of The Spinning Wheel, the editor and publisher of which is Marjorie M. Smith.

Since 1951 Mr. Drepperd has served as Editorial Consultant to The Spinning Wheel. His interest in antiques began when he was a mere tot and has continued to such an extent that he has become one of the nation's leading authorities, authors, and lecturers on the subject.

HISTORY OF HARNEY

Written by the Late J. W. Reck in 1895

(Many requests have been received in our office that we publish the History of Harney as it appeared in the columns of The Carroll Record in the year 1895. This History as written by the late J. W. Reck, will be published serially, the first installment appearing this week.)

In endeavoring to write a History of our town and community, I am at a great loss for correct information, no records ever having been kept, so far as I can learn, therefore my work must be based on information gathered from older citizens, and, in conversing with them about various places, the time of erection of buildings, and the names of old residents, I am confronted with a great variety of opinions as well as contradictory statements. I am, therefore, at a loss to know who is right, or who is wrong, and perhaps many things may appear in this work, which will in all probability, not meet the approval of those who are inclined to think that it would be impossible for them to make a mistake. And, those who desire to be critics, will doubtless find that things will appear that may be contrary to their way of thinking; therefore it must be remembered that I have reserved the right to my own judgment, and as I proceed, shall aim to give what I consider the best authority and try to set forth throughout the entire work, what I consider the most plausible accounts.

We look back nearly a century, and find that the soil which today produces so abundantly the fruits of the earth, was then one mammoth forest, over which roamed many a brave Indian warrior, of which we are reminded by the occasional finding of arrow points, the old corn mill hewn in rocks, and the peculiar characters carved upon the inside of an old cave in one of our neighboring hills.

We find that in the early part of the present century, the very ground upon which our flourishing little town now stands, was a heavily wooded plain, which was then, and is now, included in that lot and parcel of land known as "Rich Level" and supposed to have been owned by John Topper and Eliza Reck, the ancestry of whom we are unable to trace but both are supposed to have been of German descent. At that time, we have no positive information that any public roads were opened up in this community, but there may have been a road running from Gettysburg to Taneytown.

We are informed that it was not until some time between 1812 and 1815 that a charter was granted for this road, which was placed upon the old records at Frederick city court house; this record, however is supposed to have been destroyed by fire at the time the old building was burnt down, so that today this public highway is not upon record, and disputes often arise about changes that would be desirable, and in all probability would add very much to the appearance of (Continued on 6th page)

EASTER DAWN WORSHIP

Taneytown's Community Easter Dawn Worship will take place on Sunday morning at 6 o'clock in the church of Grace Evangelical and Reformed church.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that will last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Barley soup is on "Hearty Barley Soup" due to the extreme cold weather which is unusual for this time of the year. When next you do your shopping ask for "Scotch Barley" and follow the directions on the package. It is a different taste entirely from "Barley Soup!"

If you have a real old piece of silver, Ladies which you think cannot be cleaned do purchase, "International Silver Polish" put out by the International Silver Co. of Meriden, Connecticut. I possess a lovely old piece of silver for the dresser and it was discolored beyond describing and one day as I was cleaning the other pieces of silver, I attempted to do this old piece, too. I was astounded for it now appears glamorous. It truly is a professional polish. I purchased the big bottle in Hutzler's in Baltimore. No doubt, any company which sells this famous make silverware will also sell the polish.

Be sure, Ladies you have your hair done for Easter and then top it with one of the lovely hats being shown in all the stores. One which appealed to me was in the Hat Salon in "Hochschild's" in Baltimore called, "Sweet Sues!" A large hat (just big enough) of a beautiful canary colored Milan. I do not like to see any woman without a hat for it really makes the lady. Don't wear those awful scarfs for it makes one think you just landed and I think you know just what I mean!

If by chance you happen to be wearing a lovely shade of a green suit this Spring, be sure you purchase a yellow hat or with much yellow on it as green and yellow go beautifully for the Spring. Browns and greens go well for Fall.

What a lovely letter came from that grand Bishop Sheen!

Have a grand week-end, Folks this Easter Day. Go to church regardless of the Denomination and sit right there in the Pew and Thank God for these wonderful UNITED STATES! See you next week in the Easter parade. D.V. Happy Easter! I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

TALLASSEE, ALA., TRIBUNE: "It is no small feat to try to explain to a customer that the government can print envelopes cheaper than a tax-paying printer because the government, with its vast resources including the printer's tax money, can simply overpower him in bidding. It seems to make little difference to some customers that this is socialism, pure and simple, and that the money they think they are saving on the printed envelopes will be siphoned off in some other way by the eternal need of the government for more taxes."

BEDFORD, IND., DAILY TIMES-MAIL: "On a nationwide basis the states pay an average of $6.99 into the Federal treasury for each dollar returned under direct grants and 'matching fund' projects. These figures would indicate that the Federal government in its role as a collection and distribution agency is depriving the states of billions of dollars per year which might be administered more effectively at home."

INDIO, CALIF., NEWS: "There is no good way for the Government to control the day-to-day affairs of a free people. Attempts to do so inevitably create greater and more menacing problems."

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, ME., REGISTER: "Many administrative positions in government do require men who have been especially trained. But it is not true that every aspect of government should be run by experts, by the select few. Those who would have it so lack faith in the people. They would turn their backs on democratic ways and would open wide the doors to totalitarianism and dictatorship."

HILLSBORO, ORE., ARGUS: "There is a great deal of logic in President Eisenhower's belief that terms of office of members of the U. S. house of representatives should be for four years instead of the present two. On a four-year term basis the congressmen would be in a position to do a better job because under present conditions they must devote too much of their time to a campaigning and give too much thought to what effect their votes on issues will have on their re-election."

Bluing For Bunnies—Too!

Proud as can be Mr. Bunny sits atop this unusual Easter centerpiece which is made almost entirely of paper! Just two paper plates, a paper cup, crepe paper and laundry bead-bluing... and for the eggs, an assortment of gummed stars, dots and holiday seals... and it's easy as pie to make up this gay Easter decoration.

And—yes, you did read correctly among the list of essentials... it said laundry bluing! It's certainly true the home laundry shelf isn't anywhere near as dull as you might expect. Take this bead-bluing, for example—it promises new and shining life to your white and pastel nylons... it keeps your stockings from fading, too—but whoever in this Springtime world would expect it to provide a glamorous trimming for Easter! Mixed with water (*1 cup of the blue beads and ¼ cup water) and applied sparingly to the edges of ruffled crepe paper, it provides an exquisite color—very like a bit of bright Easter sky peeping thru the clouds.

Lower Plate: Cut 3" strip thru entire fold of yellow crepe paper. Gather as you paste it around edge of 8" paper plate. Cut strip of Spring green crepe 2 ½" x 20" ... cut 1 ½" points on one side. Paste the points around center of the yellow ruffle and cover the center with a circle of yellow crepe.

Upper Plate: Cut 1 ½" strip thru entire fold of yellow crepe... paste around 6" plate, gathering and pasting. Cover center with circle of green crepe.

Middle: Cut 1" strip thru entire fold of yellow crepe... wind around 4" paper cup, stretching and pasting as you go. Trim edge of cup with 2 ½" strip green crepe, cut into points.

Tiered Plate: Paste cup upside down on larger plate: paste smaller plate on top of cup. Brush edges of all ruffles with Easter Sunday Blue.*

Nutcup: Stretch green crepe around souffle cup. Cut 5" circle of yellow crepe; fold in half 3 times and cut out a "V." Open out and cut small circle from center; slip over cup from bottom; paste at rim. Brush petals with Easter Sunday Blue.*

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

The banks have transacted an unusual volume of business this Spring, the result being a largely increased surplus which belongs to the people of this section, and which conclusively indicates prosperity.

The former Yount store room, on Baltimore street, will be reopened about May 1st, with a new line of Goods, by Homer S. Hill. The character of the new business is not definitely known.

This spring, Harry G. Hawk, an employee of The Reindollar Co., was compelled to move his family to Harney, because of the dearth of houses in Taneytown. There should be no cases of this kind—let us have more houses.

The C. & P. Telephone will be petitioned to establish an exchange and switchboard in Taneytown, as the large number of individuals rings on the same line is very unsatisfactory, for many reasons. Unless the request is granted, it is likely that a number of subscribers will order their phones removed.

President Roosevelt is on his hunting expedition in Texas, while Mrs. Roosevelt and family are enjoying themselves in Florida.

On April 2nd, 1905, Mr. Chas. E. Weikert and Miss Annie Gertrude Reaver were married by Rev. W. G. Minnick, Pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Harney.

Copperville—Tuesday of this week was general moving day, and several passed along our road that we did not learn of their whereabouts; Harry Stouffer moved from the property of Tobias Harner to that of Augustus Dayhoff; Mr. Harner, with his new wife, occupy the vacant house; Frank Crouse, from Tyrone to the Hilters property; Pius Hemler to the farm belonging to Thomas Shoemaker; Uriah Zentz from the house belonging to Geo. Hape to his son-in-law's, Joel W. Bollinger; John Furney from the Ridinger farm to Taneytown; Samuel Hill from Trevanion to Taneytown.

EASTER AND ITS MEANING

This is Holy Week in the Christian Church. During the week the passion of Christ is commemorated. In the life of Jesus, this week is one of suffering, rejection, and mental anguish. The week is bound on both ends by a day of triumph. On Palm Sunday Jesus entered Jerusalem as the Prince of Peace, on Easter He rose from the dead, the Conqueror of death, sin, Satan, and hell. "Why seek ye the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen; behold the place where they laid him."

Easter is the oldest festival of the Christian church. Its observance began in the Apostolic Age. A serious dispute arose as early as the second century between Jewish and Gentile Christians as to the proper date of Easter. This contention was finally settled by the Council of Nicaea (Nice) in 325 A.D. It was decided that Easter Day shall always be the first Sunday after the full moon next after March 21. If that full moon occurs on Sunday, then Easter Day is the following Sunday. March 21 is the time of Vernal Equinox. This is the time when the sun's center crosses the earth's equator and day and night are everywhere of equal length.

All Nature is bursting into life at Easter time. All about us are manifestations of new energy and life. Flowers bloom, trees bud, birds sing, frogs croak, crickets chirp, grass blades shoot through the ground, boys and girls skip rope, and thrill with joy, mirth, and laughter. Easter blesses all mankind.

Observe the manifestations of Nature, recall the experiences of Jesus, and your conclusion must be that of another "the life that comes to us at Easter is the life that comes through death." If Easter cannot convince us of the Resurrection and assure us of our own resurrection eventually, then its observance is a mockery and the grave is the end of all human existence.

The faith of Walt Whitman encourages faith in life beyond the tomb: Nothing is ever really lost, or can be lost.

No birth, identity, form, no object of the world.

Nor life, nor force, nor any visible thing;

Appearance must not foil, nor shifted sphere confuse thy brain.

Ample are time and space—ample the fields of Nature.

The body, sluggish, aged, cold—the embers left from earlier fires,

The light in the eye grown dim, shall duly flame again;

The sun now low in the West rises for mornings and for noons continual:

To frozen clouds ever the spring's invisible law returns,

With grass and flowers and summer fruits and corn.

May our Easter prayer be that of Phillips Brooks:

O Risen Christ! O Easter Flower!

How dear Thy grace has grown!

From East to West, with loving power

Make all the world Thine own.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 3 Not All Your Income Goes In Your Tax Form

(This is one of a series of articles on income tax changes. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Maryland Association of Certified Public Accountants.)

Taxpayers make more mistakes in listing their income than any other type of error, according to a survey made by the Internal Revenue Service. It is important to know what to include and what NOT to include. Look at this list and see if you can tell which should be listed as income on your federal income tax return:

Dividends from an insurance policy.

Pay of armed forces enlisted men while in combat or while hospitalized from combat service. Social Security benefits.

Payments received under Workmen's Compensation laws.

The answer is that none of the above should be listed as taxable income! There are other forms of exempt income, too, which you will find listed in the official tax instructions. Some of them are:

Other Exempt Income

Inheritances and bequests (the estate may be taxed but not the recipient).

First $200 of monthly pay of armed forces officers while serving or hospitalized from active service in a combat zone.

Railroad Retirement Act benefits. Certain health and accident benefits.

Damages awarded by a court or paid out of court for personal injuries.

Government payments and benefits to veterans and their families, except nondisability retirement pay and interest on terminal leave bonds. Interest on state and municipal bonds.

Parsons and Prizes

The rental value of a parsonage furnished to a minister of the gospel is not taxable income; the law now adds that a rental allowance paid to him for this purpose is also exempt.

If you won a prize, watch this fine distinction: the prize is taxable if you were required to exert even the slightest effort to earn it; on the other hand, if it was made in recognition of scientific, literary or other achievement and you were selected without any action on your part the prize is considered a gift and you are not taxed on it.

Most scholarships and fellowships are exempt, unless they are paid as compensation for services, such as teaching and research.

Additional Information

Be sure to read the official instructions. You can also get help from the Internal Revenue Service, which urges you to consult only qualified advisers.

HISTORY OF HARNEY

By J. W. Reck, 1895

different places but the long-standing of the road compels it to remain just where it was found, and no change can be made except by mutual consent of all parties concerned.

FIRST BUILDING

About 1815, a tract of land containing several acres, located west of the Gettysburg and Taneytown road, and belonging at the time to John Topper's tract, was sold to Nicholas Eckes, (or Eckes). He went to work at felling the trees, cleared off part of his land, and erected a small story and a half log house, which contained one room of medium size, and a very small kitchen. The loft as it was called, was all in one, and it is said was divided up into several rooms, by hanging up curtains. This kind of a building would today be considered a very humble abode, but at that time was doubtless considered a very comfortable dwelling. This was the first house erected upon the present site of our town, and after it was completed, Mr. Eckes and his wife moved into it, and started life together. Mr. Eckes was a shoemaker by trade, and carried on the business for a number of years at this place. It is supposed that he bought part of his leather at Taneytown, and carried it home on his back.

During this time three children were born, one son and two daughters. Unfortunately, during the midst of a very cold winter, while the old man was returning from Taneytown with a roll of leather, he became tired, it is supposed, and stopped to rest near where Mr. V. J. Crouser now lives, and was found seated upon his roll of leather, leaning against a hickory, frozen to death; and thus ended the life of the first citizen of our town.

It is evident that while seated there alone in the woods, he was conscious that he was freezing, but was unable to move; his cries for help were heard by the neighbors for nearly a mile around, but no heed was given, all thought that it was simply some mischievous boy running along the road, shouting for amusement. After the father's death, the entire family put their shoulder to the wheel and helped to make a living; his son Enoch Eckes continued the shoemaking business, and the sisters worked out on the farms of the community, while the mother doubtless superintended household duties at home.

During this period, all of the grain was cut with the cradle, and it was customary for nearly all of the women to help in gathering the harvest; some raked while others would bind, but as a general thing the women done all the raking, and we are told that the Eckes girls were considered very good hands. One harvest while John Hess was cutting grain on the farm now owned by Frank Null, one of the girls raked after him, and she raked up so close to him that in finishing up her sheaf she would always take the last cut as it would drop from the cradle. Mr. Hess was afraid of cutting her and told her several times to stay back, but she kept no account of his warning, but rather kept getting closer and closer, until the point of the cradle swept out her apron string in two and it dropped down on the ground; this frightened both Mr. Hess and the girl, and after this narrow escape she could keep back far enough to be out of danger.

Some time between 1820 and 1827 John Topper sold his farm to Richard Hill, who occupied it until his death, when it was left to Abraham Hill, his only heir. Some time after this, Enoch Eckes became dissatisfied with his occupation and the family decided to dispose of their property, and move west; this was done, and Peter Reigle became the next owner, while the Eckes family engaged in tilling the soil somewhere in Ohio. Peter Reigle was a shoemaker by trade and carried on the business while he lived here. It is said that while Mr. Reigle was helping Richard Hill to harvest he carved his name on an old poplar tree that is still standing and the name perfectly plain. Reigle next sold the property to John Reindollar, who was also a shoemaker, and Reindollar afterward sold to Harry Rineman who worked at shoemaking for several years when he sold out to Samuel Eline a shoemaker also.

During Mr. Eline's stay in this place, it is said that he took the measure for several pairs of shoes about the same time; one pair for Richard Hill, and the other for old Daniel Hesson, and immediately proceeded to make the shoes, but rather unfortunately for the mechanic, when the gentleman came for their shoes it was discovered that they were all made for one foot. From our knowledge of Mr. Eline, we have every reason to believe that he made use of considerable amount of language on this occasion divided his property, and sold talk. The mistake was considered quite a good joke, and he was compelled to stand the teasing of the entire community.

John Kump became the next owner of the property, and was also a shoemaker by trade. It will be observed that the old log house in the woods, was a famous resort for shoemakers, all who have lived there thus far carried on the business. Some time prior to this, probably about 1824, Nicholas Eckes divided his property, and sold part of it to Adam Lichtenwalter who built a two story house, and commenced the tailoring business which he successfully followed for a number of years. This building stood along the Gettysburg road and was the second house in this place, as will be remembered by a very few of our older citizens of today.

CORNELL'S STORE

We now leave this place, and go about half a mile east through the woods, and there we learn that some time between 1824 and 1826, Jesse Cornell started the huckstering business, and also kept a small store. This was the first store in the community, and proved to be a great convenience to the citizens for miles around, and might at that time have been considered a kind of a trading post, as we learn from his old books that very little money was exchanged. Nearly every one had something to trade for what they needed; we notice that he would accept butter, eggs, chickens, calves, meat, potatoes and many other things, as payment for his goods, and that he would make a trip to Baltimore every two weeks to dispose of his country produce, and buy a new supply of goods to meet the demands of his trade. He evidently kept a little of almost everything on hand, and his books show many little charges that are somewhat amusing. We notice the first charges were made in 1826 as follows.

December 8th, 1826. Frederick Stocksleger, debtor to 2 lbs. of sugar at 12½¢, 25¢; to ½ a gallon of molasses, 20¢. December 25th, John Fogle, to one pen knife, 15¢; this knife in all probability was bought for a Christmas present for some one. January 1st, 1829, Elizabeth Eckes debtor to one Comley's spelling book, 15¢. January 22nd, William Shaner, butter, 22½ lbs. $2.20¢. January 22nd, John Reck debtor to 13½ yards of muslin at 16¢ $2.15¢; received of John Reck 76¢ received of John Reck, 13 chickens; John Reck debtor to 5 yards of Messelin at 16¢ per yard, 80¢. John Reck debtor to one pound of coffee 18½¢; to 1 pound at 12½¢, to 1 pound of tobacco at 25¢. February 3rd, 1828, William Reck debtor 13¢, March 29th to ½ gallon of whisky 14¢; to ½ lb. of tobacco 10¢.

John Reck and William Reck were brothers, who left this country many years ago and were among the first settlers of Dark County, Ohio. John Reck was the founder of Gettysburg in the same county, and named the place after Gettysburg, Pa. (To be continued)

A PSALM OF PASSION

Psalm Twenty-two
My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

Why are thou so far from helping me, from the words of my groaning?

O my God, I cry by day, but thou dost not answer;
And by night, but find no rest.

The feeling of being forsaken is most frightful. But frequently such a feeling has no basis outside of oneself. That seems to be the case in respect to the writer of the twenty-second psalm. This individual begins with a lament and finally rises to a mood of triumph.

Notwithstanding his personal feeling, the Psalmist concedes:
In thee our fathers trusted; they trusted, and thou didst deliver them.

To thee they cried, and were saved; in thee they trusted, and were not disappointed.

What one thinks is determined in a large measure by what one accepts one's self to be. We seldom regard ourselves as being treated as men when we hold ourselves to be but worms.

But I am a worm, and no man.
Others will think no more of us than we think of ourselves. "And as a man thinketh in his heart so is he".

In the last half of the same breath, the Psalmist acknowledges God's care, and watchfulness over him in his infancy and boyhood. And now asks for a continuance of the Lord's care, protection, and watchfulness.

Be not far from me, for trouble is near
And there is none to help.

When a person loses faith and trust in God, he also loses faith and trust in his fellowmen. Fear blinds a person to the presence and help of God. How we must insult our Creator by worthless thoughts of ourselves. We have learned to sing no more the wretched hymn:
Great God how infinite Thou art,
What worthless worms are we.

We are created in the image and likeness of God. We are children of the King.

In a more sane moment, the Psalmist takes hold of himself and lifts himself to a higher level of thinking:
I will tell of thy name to my brethren;
In the midst of the congregation I will praise thee.

When he moves out of himself, the Psalmist beholds God, and receives Him as Helper against the hostile treatment vividly described in verses 12-18. There is restoration of strength and manhood indicated in the following virile words:
Posterity shall serve him;
Men shall tell of the Lord to the coming generation,
And proclaim his deliverance to a people yet unborn,
That he has wrought it.

G. H. ENFIELD.

The annual Key Club Convention was held at the Southern Hotel, Baltimore, Md., March 25th through the 27th. Attending from Taneytown were Wayne Baumgardner, Kenneth Crouse, Frank Henshaw, Larry Feeser, Glen Copehaver, Mary Alice Rue, and Shirley Jordan Sweetheart. Among the many events were the Talent Show held on Friday night and the Governor's banquet and ball held on Saturday night.

Wednesday, March 30, there was a spring meeting of Guidance Counselors at 2:30 p. m. in the Westminster High School. Mrs. Edward Shipley, guidance counselor of Taneytown High School attended the meeting. The discussion of the counselors centered mainly around the use of test results. Also included was a discussion of how counselors can best discover the vocational interests and aptitudes of students and how they are meeting the needs of superior students.

The following students, accompanied by Mrs. Yohn, made a trip to the United Nations Building in New York City on Thursday, March 31: Laverne Albaugh, William Crapster, Edward Kaufman, Glen Copehaver, Leslie Null, Robert Fuss, Henry Lippincott, Larry Martin, Harold Slaybaugh and Larry Barnhart.

Reports were heard on the installation of the sound system in the High School Auditorium. It was reported that the system is being used daily and proving a great help in assemblies, movies, and dance periods. The entire cost of this very useful addition has been underwritten by the Alumni Association. This amplifier will prove a great asset to the general public in their use of the High School auditorium as well as the students. If this project is to be carried through successfully it is important that the play be a financial success.

The members decided to send flowers to families of deceased active-paid members and to faculty members or former teachers if retired from T.H.S. The standing committee to handle this will be: the President, Secretary, and Miss Helen Bankard.

Banquet plans were discussed and the executive committee is proceeding to obtain an orchestra. Menu committee will be: Mrs. James Fair, Mrs. Delmont Koons, and Mrs. Elwood Harner.

It was decided that trophies be ordered for the graduates receiving the sportsmanship award.

Dues are being received and all Alumni are urged to forward same to Miss JoAnn Wolfe, 518 York St., Gettysburg, Pa.

The entire 9th grade, accompanied by Mrs. Edward Shipley and Mrs. Wallace Yingling made a field trip to Annapolis, Md., on Tuesday, March 22. They visited the Governor's mansion, the State House, and the Naval Academy.

The Student Safety Patrol held a meeting on Wednesday, March 23. A movie was shown depicting the AAA safety parade held in Washington, D. C., last May. The group made plans to attend the parade to be held on May 7, 1955.

SOUTHERN STATES REPORT

Farmers in the six-state operating territory of Southern States Cooperative used their organization more than ever before during the first six months of the 1954-55 fiscal year, according to a report presented by Howard Gordon, of Richmond, Va., to members at their annual regional board meeting held in Westminster, Md.

Total service volume for the cooperative and its affiliates, was reported as $72,919,946 as compared with $65,903,990 for the same six months of the previous year.

Tonnage volume, the true measure of a cooperative's service to its member-owners, was also at an all-time high.

Despite a general decline in feed usage due to unfavorable feeding ratios, Southern States feed volume was up almost three percent for the period. Feed volume for the six-month period totaled approximately 350,000 tons.

Fertilizer volume increased 14 percent during the period. The total fertilizer volume stood at approximately 85,500 tons, according to Gordon.

Seed volume was also at an all-time high showing about a 34 percent increase. Petroleum gallonage showed a 5.17 percent increase and miscellaneous farm supply volume increased over 10 percent.

Approximately 76 members of Southern States Cooperative Community Advisory Boards, Directors of affiliated cooperative and Cooperative Service Agency Managers attended the regional meeting. Representatives were also present from the local area.

WITH OUR ARMED FORCES

Second Lt. Charles Carroll III, son of Mrs. Anne D. Carroll, Elf Farm, Westminster, Md., recently participated in a special army test exercise at Fort Hood, Tex.

Purpose of the exercise was to test combat command experimental formation organized by the 1st Armored Division to adapt to the latest concepts of atomic-age ground warfare. Lieutenant Carroll, whose wife, Anne, lives at 1703 Poage Ave., Killeen, Tex., is an assistant executive officer with Company B of the 27th Armored Field Artillery Battalion. A 1954 graduate of Princeton University, Princeton, N. J., he entered the Army last July.

Paul M. Francis, electrician's mate first class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Francis of Route 6, Westminster, and husband of the former Miss Shirley A. Conlon, of Portland, Oregon, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Gearsarge.

The Kearsarge was one of the carriers providing air coverage for the evacuating forces.

The carriers operated as part of the U.S. 7th Fleet under the command of Vice Admiral Alfred Pride, USN.

How Advertising helps you

People May Know

A long time ago an intelligent man phrased a single sentence which has outlived every other thing he wrote. This was Dante, Italian poet. And the deathless sentence he penned reads simply: "Give the people light and they will find their way."

This light-giving function of advertising is one of its most important and fascinating and, yes, in a way, unbelievable aspects.

For of late years men have discovered that, by spreading light through the medium of advertising, they can accomplish unbelievable results—for good.

One of the current advertising miracles is the campaign to minimize forest fires. When forestry men discovered 90 per cent of all forest fires are caused by man, they asked how they could induce man to cause fewer of them. Being tough—and functional-minded individuals, these forestry experts decided to advertise.

You have seen the ads. "Remember only YOU," they told you, "can prevent forest fires." That was putting it on the line. Look at results: In 1942, there were 210,000 forest fires in this country. They destroyed 30 million acres of valuable forest. Then came advertising, and "Smokey Bear," and your responsibility. And last year there were only 164,000 fires, and the destruction was a third of what it was in 1942—10 million acres.

It's easy to say, "Yes, but that was a big national campaign, and there was a lot of money to spend. Can advertising do just as well on a smaller scale?"

It can. And does. A few years ago, in an egg-producing section of Kansas, a produce dealer decided to help the poultry raisers make more money, hence to enrich everyone in the community.

He began running small ads in the local newspaper. They were simple ads, plain ads, and they merely told farmers what they ought to know about raising chickens, feeding their flock for best results, grading their eggs; just a simple informative campaign. It didn't cost much.

But it produced immense results. Every poultry raiser made more money, and the benefits of the advertising reached every one in the community.

We Shall Live

Lesson for April 10, 1955

"ETERNAL Life" has two meanings in the New Testament. One meaning refers to life beyond death. And yet this meaning is never applied to all human beings. It is either taken for granted or taught outright in the New Testament that all persons survive what we call death. But "eternal life" refers in this sense only to the survival of those who have accepted God's grace, never to those who have rejected it. The other meaning has to do with a quality of life itself, here and now, in this world, this side of what we call death.

Dr. Foreman

Everlasting Life Can Be Terrible

The point is that if this quality of life is lacking in this world, the prospect of immortality is the most dismal that can be imagined. A modern pessimistic poem ends with the thought that in our whole universe we find everything contemptible,—there is nothing to praise, not even ourselves. Suppose a person who has come down to that wretched conclusion goes on out through the curtain of death into the beyond,—facing the prospect of endless existence, still seeing nothing but the contemptible within and without? What worse hell could be needed than that? So in the New Testament, immortality, as such, the mere prospect of personal survival after death,—is never held out as something to be desired in itself. Eternal life, life that endures beyond death, is desirable only when the person who looks forward to it already possesses eternal life, as a changed and new life. To put it another way: Only those who have been born again can be happy in looking forward to their "birthday in heaven." A corpse lying in the baggage car does not look forward to the train's arrival at its destination; only the living may have that pleasure. The corpse exists; the passengers live. So the Christian thought of Life—beyond is not "We shall exist" but rather "We shall live."

Christ Lives Again

Perhaps Christians believe in eternal life, in the sense of this on-going through "death" of this present eternal life, less because of arguments than because of some inner certainty, some whisper of God within the heart rather than some argument of logic knocking at the brain. Still, if one can speak of arguments, there are two which specially appeal to Christians in all ages. One is that Christ lived, and lives, again. The first Christians told the world about a risen Christ. It is true they spoke of Christ crucified; but a crucifix does not express the whole Christian message. The dominant note of the New Testament is not death but life. Paul appeals to the resurrection of Christ in this famous chapter of his letter to the Corinthians. If that story is not true, he says, we are simply back where we were, the whole Christian faith is pure delusion. Every once in a while, and in our times more than twice in a while, people will try to tell us that the resurrection of Christ is a story you can "take or leave, that you can cut off the gospels with the burial of Jesus, and still be a Christian. No, if that were so Christ would be no more than another dead dreamer. The resurrection sheds a brilliant light on everything that went before it and everything that comes after it.

Christ Lives in Me

The other argument which lies at the heart of the Christian's faith in a "life everlasting" which is worth looking forward to, is based on personal experience. "Christ lives in me" was the testimony of Paul first, and it echoes from the hearts of Christians ever since. When a man honestly thinks himself over, and asks, "What have I done, what am I, that God should trouble himself about me any longer? What right have I to expect, much less to demand, life everlasting?" his answer will be a melancholy "Nothing." Life that has no present sheen or strength of eternity about it or in it, has outlived itself in less than three score years and ten. But if there is anything in a man that Christ has touched, if there is anything in a man that warrants saying, "Christ lives here," then he will dare and rejoice to say Christ, "We shall live."

A Look of Spring for Your Hair

By TONI WOODWARD—ANS Features

AS GREEN AS THE SEA AROUND THE EMERALD ISLE, and as beautiful in its effect on your hair. That's the newest entry into the hair glamour field. It's new liquid Prell. Emerald in color, it's fresh and cool looking, and in a bottle elegant enough to hold expensive perfume. But this shampoo is inexpensive and economical to use in spite of its luxurious appearance.

It's extra-rich—the new shampoo, with fast lathering qualities that make it a time saver. And though it's a liquid, it isn't thin and fast pouring so is not wasteful as some liquids are likely to be. It's even consistently makes it comfortable and economical to use with billowing suds appearing instantly in either hard or soft water. Also, you'll need no "extra" or "after" rinse, since this shampoo leaves your hair as shiny as it can get.

Sheen and speed go hand in hand with cleanliness in the hair beauty ritual. Cleanliness is not enough, says Katherine Potter, Procter & Gamble's beauty and grooming director. Hair has to look clean, as well as feel clean, and to look clean it must shine. That's what this new shampoo will do in abundance. The extra-richness of the product makes your hair dance with highlights and radiance, with a natural beauty that was there, undiscovered, all the time. And it does it with speed.

Big news about

Buick's 4-Door Riviera

THIS brand-new kind of automobile — the sensation of all the Auto Shows this year — is now rolling off the Buick assembly lines in volume numbers. That's the first news.

And the second is just as wonderful — this dramatic new model is very definitely everything that eager buyers hoped it would be.

For the 4-Door Riviera is the first "hardtop" ever available with separate doors for rear-seat passengers — plus rear-compartment room big as a Buick-size family sedan.

It comes breezing in with all the low-lined sweep and wide open visibility of Buick's original 2-Door Riviera — and with luxurious new spaciousness in its sizeable and full-length 4-door body.

With windows down, no posts appear for the rear doors, and you get a completely unobstructed view at both sides.

You find rear doors are hinged at their front edges to swing wide and free, and assure easy entrance and exit.

And you'll find legroom, headroom and hiproom extra-generous both front and rear — with interiors tailored in fabrics and patterns specially reserved for the 4-Door Riviera.

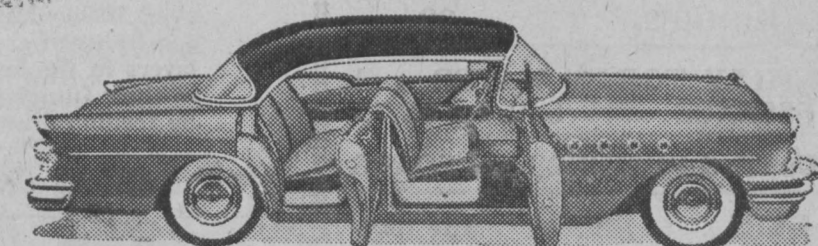

Best of all, this new Buick beauty comes off the line in both the low-price SPECIAL Series and the high-powered CENTURY Series.

So you can pick your 4-Door Riviera with the potent performance of a 188-hp or 236-hp Buick V8 engine — the swift get-away and gas saving of Variable Pitch Dynaflo® — the velvet stride of the Million Dollar Ride — the long list of Buick bonus features at no extra cost — and all at "great buy" prices that have helped move Buick into America's "Big Three" of best sellers.

But — better come see us about the 4-Door Riviera now.

With all-out production — and a prompt order — this newest excitement in cars will be yours that much sooner.

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

MORE PROTECTION

In order to give my customers complete, dependable, insurance service. I have added the following lines:-

Life
Accident and Sickness
Hospital Expense
Mortgage Redemption
Retirement
Income Protection
Disability Insurance.

There are very few companies that issue a NON-CANCELLABLE, GUARANTEED RENEWABLE, LEVEL PREMIUM policy, but after thorough investigation, I do have this type policy, without the so-called loopholes.

You can not buy Windstorm insurance on your home while it is blowing away, or Automobile insurance running head-on toward another car, so you can not buy above lines on your way to the hospital. If you can qualify, I can sell you insurance that you can depend on having, if and when, you need it.
