TRIP TO JAPAN

We stayed eight hours at Adaklong enough to get all unloaded that was going there. Ben, Jr. (her small son) took a nap and Vera, my roommate watched him while I took a 20 minute tour of the island. There surely isn't much there and I hope we never get stationed there. They don't even have any Eskimos.

Two days out from Adak we ran and mother what a time we had! We made less than 100 miles during a 25hour period and were tossed around like a cork in a pail of water. Every-one was seasick and secretly willing to die. Believe me when I say that seasickness is the worst kind of sickness possible. We found out after things calmed down a little that the wind had been blowing at speeds up to 80 miles per hour and the waves were 60 feet high. I guess it's just a good thing we didn't know about all that at the time or we really would have been sight. have been sick.

Well, anyway, we all came through it fine and all managed to be out on the ship's deck as we neared Yokohama—the port where all the husbands from different bases in Japan came to meet the dependents. What a get-together that was!

The House and Garden Tour last week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in old Harford County was really a grand treat. Now, I can understand why Captain John Smith when he visited the County twice from Virginia in the year of 1608 stated, "Heaven and earth seemed never to have agreed better to frame a place for man's commodious and delightful habita-

Our first stop was "The Mill' which was one of the last pre-Revolutionary stone grist mills with it's interesting stone buildings. The mill race winds under ancient trees and through plantings of naturalized narcissi, Ju-das and dogwood, wild azaleas and water iris. The natural azaleas were yellow. As I walked in the garden with Mrs. Stokes after visiting the house, she told me they tried to keep it with the country atmosphere and that Mr. Stokes had planted many of the trees years ago. In the living room there was a window which was beautifully arranged as a garden affair with another pane of glass on the inner side and which was most

The next house "Deerfield" was charming with every room furnished beautifully with antiques. The long lane to the house was most unusual and way he towned as a long road to and may be termed as a long road to the house. The front entrance of this home was as lovely as the back part and at the very height of the house under the roof gable there was the date on a stone of 1807 but the house was old in the year of 1785.

There was a very charming quest

There was a very charming guest from Leesburg, Virginia there who was one of the hostesses for the day and explained every item in detail to us. When I met the owner, Mrs. Proctor I was pleasantly surprised to see a great resemblance to Ethel Barrymore and this I had to tell her.

We were shown through the second floor which was furnished all in ma-hogany and in keeping with the rest of the house. Space does not permit me to go into detail in describing the fine and rare old pieces in each home. The next house on the tour was "Westwood manor" which was built in the late 1700's by a Signer of the Declaration of Independence, Samuel Chase for his daughter Eliza as a wedding gift. In the Drawing Room which has all English furniture was most interesting plus the china cabinet interesting plus the china cabinet containing a collection of French, Swedish, German, Chinese, Italian and American China. Much detail was explained to the visitors about the furniture. Betsy Patterson's high chair was in the dining room (the wife of the brother of Napoleon Bonaparte) Jerome. "Sion Hill" appeared to me on the exterior as a school of olden days. It is about 200 years old. The sixth generation are the present owners. There were many old portraits of Officers one Commodore John Rodgers of the War 1812.

Upon entering the huge and massive hallway there was a room off the left with two fireplaces which had been a "school for boys"!

As we approached "Mount Friendship" built in 1721, I recognized at the window on the first floor, "A Philadelphia Busy Body"! This I described to my Minister and the friend with us as a gadget in Philadelphia invented as a gadget in Philadelphia invented by a Philadelphian, David J. Kennedy and used many years ago. They are very rare today and I know of only one in Baltimore being used. This gadget was always attached to the outer window sill on the second floor window which had three mirrors. mirror reflecting the left side of the entire city block and the other the right side. The slanting mirror on the top reflected the front steps of the house which would enable a busy house wife in Philadelphia to gaze into the mirror and if she saw it was a peddler, she saved many steps by or answer the bell. The Busy-body was a godsend! I asked Mrs. Ewing about the "Busy body" being on the first floor and she stated it was to see the pond. The slanting mirror was missing. "Indian Spring" a farm of 1400 acres has the largest dairy herd in the state. The house is guarded by "ha—has" instead of fences.

"Swann Harbor" is a bayside house built before 1750 and has been en-larged by two additions. The massive curved and paned window in the dining room is most intriguing looking out upon a lovely garden.

GIRLS' CLUBS

Nothing in this world is more natural than for a little girl to want to "play house". Cooking, cleaning up, making clothes, and giving parties are her idea of a wonderful time.

Girls' Clubs, which is celebrating its tenth anniversary during National Girls' Clubs Week, is channeling this basic urge to "play lady" into habits of good conduct and good grooming for some 50,000 youngsters from 6 to 16 years old.

From the last afternoon school bell until bedtime girls flock to their clubhouses, where a premium is put on neatness, cleanliness, and character development.

Besides the social graces, which many girls would never learn in overcrowded homes, the youngsters acquire skills in music, drama, and athletics.

Girls who set high standards of behavior for themselves help the boys they date to do the same. On this basis the organization believes it is curbing delinquency on a broad basis.

Girls' Clubs have never been so busy. By flooding their classes, girls are proving that this is the wholesome kind of fun they want.

But, like every other youth group today, the organization needs expansion-more volunteer leaders, more citizens' committees, and more money.

Instead of wringing its hands over the lawlessness of a small percentage of its youth, the nation could better lend a hand to an organization that is teaching good behavior standards to thousands of its children.—Christian Science Monitor.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BELLINGHAM, WASH., HER-ALD: "A suggestion that stockholders be guaranteed an annual dividend meets with silence or chuckles, but a guaranteed annual wage, which must come from the same source, is presented as a demand and considered seriously"

GEORGETOWN, ILL., NEWS: "Mass production, a backbone of our economy and our standard of living, is not new in America. Away back in 1798, when each army rifle had to be made laboriously by hand, each part to fit one gun and onegun only, Eli Whitney evolved an unheard-of method of speedily forging and stamping out 'standard' interchangable parts and assembling them later. The idea caught on, and has been going strong ever since".

SAUGERTIES, N. Y., DAILY POST: "Anyone who has had any dealings with governmental agencies knows full well that economy of operation has never been an important item: 'Uncle Sam is paying the bill', was the general retort. However, WE're Uncle Sam. A penny saved is a penny earned. It's about time Uncle Sam and his extravagant nephews started realizing that fact".

District Office Manager
Social Security Administration

In the previous installment of this article we saw that Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, better known simply as social security, is based on the insurance principle of sharing the risk; that the very existence of survivorship protection is the thing about social security which is of constant value. cial security which is of constant val-ue to the young family; and that if a young father, whose wages have averaged $200 a month, dies leaving a widow and two children (ages 1 and 3), the surviving family could draw in monthy payments a total of $30,000. Now let us consider some other aspects of social security as it relates to young parents.

To protect children orphaned by the death of their father, the Congress has provided that they and their tire winters.

mother may become entitled to social security benefits when the father has worked under social security only long enough to have acquired six quarters of coverage out of the thirteen calendar year immediately preceeding his death. We can see here an application of the principle, referred to above, of sharing the risk. Thus, this protection can be acquired in a short period of time-in a minimum of a year and a half. In some instances fathers may have worked under social security for a number of years but at the time of death this particular requirement, relating to the period immediately preceding his death, may not be met. In these cases, however, it will usually be found that the chil-dren can still qualify for benefits un-der their father's earlier employment.

It seems self-evident what this protection would mean to our young widow who, having recently lost her husband, comes to the Social Security District Office and learns for the first time that she and her children will be entitled to social security benefits— that they will be entitled to monthly benefits which can continue until the youngest child reaches eighteen and that the amount may total over thirty thousand dollars. In many such nstances this may even mean the difference between the mother's being able to maintain her home or of having to give up her children.

But what is it that makes this protection so vitally important to the hundreds of thousands of young parents throughout our land in whose families such calamity of death has not struck? Two facts, at least, make it so. First, few young couples with children are able to save or otherwise accumulate enough so that, should the father be taken by death, there will be sufficient funds left after settling the estate to provide for his widow and children. Second, although it may sound trite to say, yet in this connection it is an all important fact that no one knows when or where the grim reaper is next going to strike. It might be your home.

In consequence of the two facts we have just mentioned, it should be a source of great and constant comfort to young fathers, and even more so to young mothers, to know that under social security there is this protec-tion should it be their home that is

As far back as 1940, amendments to the social security act provided this protection for widows and children. Yet even now, among the public in general and particularly among young people, there is a lack of understanding of this survivorship protection. Even less is there a realization of what this protection can mean in actual dollars that will come to the family month after month and year after year when the father has been taken. For your own comfort and peace of mind, don't you—young parents—lose the awareness that under social security this protection is provided for your family. Should death strike— your nearest Social Security District Office should be promptly contacted.

RED CROSS REPORTS

Six districts in the county have reported that they have exceeded the suggested quotas for the 1955 Red Cross Fund Drive Campaign for membership and funds. The districts over the top headed by their chairmen are Taneytown-Middleburg, Ernest Dun-bar; Myers, the Rev. Edward Hamme; Freedom, Mrs. Horace Jefferson; New Windsor, Mrs. Edward Derr, Sr.; Mt. FIFTY YEARS AGO

Taneytown is undoubtedly doing a large business in the mercantile line at present, but it certainly does seem that there should be no real necessity for the extremely late closing of Public places on Saturday night—if not early Sunday morning. We suspect that a great many waste time on the streets during the early part of the evening, and put off going to the stores until the latest minute, with the result that they do not get home until Sunday-and then they are "too tired" to go to church.

Owing to a lack of interest in the Decora-tion services the past years by the lodges and citizens, as well as the surrounding community, the committee appointed to arrange the program this year has decided to make a change from that of other years, and instead of securing an orator for the occasion, the program will consist of appropriate readings by a first-class elocutionist, recitations, vocal and instrumental music.

FACTS FOR MEN

Your wife may be the big user of hot water in your home but when it comes to choosing a new water heater to replace the one that's worn out or inadequate, you're going to make the selection. Here are some facts you should know about ELECTRIC WATER HEATING.

SAVE MONEY ON INSTALLATION

An electric water heater needs no flue or chimney. It can be installed anywhere in your home. In most cases long pipes are eliminated and, of course, pipe costs are cut down. Then too, in long pipes water accumulates and grows cold. When you want hot water, all the cold must be drawn off. This runs up both water and water heating bills. Short pipes eliminate this.

SAVE MONEY ON RATES

Because your electric water heater uses current only during "off peak" hours—that is when power demand is low—you get the advantage of a special low electric rate. Efficient insulation keeps heat in the tank, making for further savings.

AUTOMATIC FUEL SUPPLY

A POEM You will never be sorry For telling the truth, For living a purer life For your faith in Christ For confessing your sins, For doing your very best. For thinking before acting. For hearing before judging. For forgiving your enemies. For being candid and frank. For helping a fallen brother. For being honest in business. For thinking before speaking. For being loyal to your church. For standing by your principles. For stopping your ears to gossip. For bridling a slanderous tongue. For harboring only pure thou For sympathizing with the afflicted. For being courteous and kind to all.

For money given to the Lord's cause. For faithfulness in keeping your promises. For asking pardon when you have done wrong.

Sparks from the anvil. Changed an initial figure It is so often the little things in life that cause not a little trouble. Just like a fly's leg that at one time happened to be pressed in a bookkeepers account caused seven months of work before the mistake was discovered. An Advertisement Noticed: "This book will do half your work". If this were true, would not many purchase two of them.

The new Church of God in Frederick on Winchester St., will be dedicated on Sunday, May 22, with three services morning, afternoon and evening. The Rev. Bond E. Cecil is pastor. Everybody is welcome.

(A Voice From Carroll) Housecleaninng time can be both a headache and a backache at the same time. It's a headache when we start to discard things that are no longer any use to us but seem too expensive to throw away. Under this title comes eyeglasses which the owner can no onger wear. We have about six pairs just taking up room and it wasn't until last week that we found out what to do with them. A letter came to us from the Prevention of Blindness Society asking us to tell the readers of this paper that the Society can use all old eyeglases. It is remarkable what can be done with them. The metal from the frames is salvaged and last year one chapter of the Society made 1200 dollars on this alone. Enough to fit 92 people with new glasses. The plastic frames are remolded and re-fitted to those people in need of them. The lens are rarely used except on the advice of a doctor. Even old sunglasses are accepted. So if you have a pair or two of eyeglasses waiting to be put to use please send them to "Prevention of Blindness Society, 839-17th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C."

What surprised some parents was the fact that their children could get up that early. When at home it takes a three alarm fire to rout them out of bed at that hour in the morning.

As any woman can tell you this is the season for cotton dresses and blouses. And aren't they beautiful? The problem is how to keep them that way. In India where the weather is hot and sticky women change their clothes three and four times a day. And they wear cotton clothes mostly. The secret of keeping cottons at their best is to wash them often and starch them slightly with each washing.

Davy Crocket was a fine gallant American, but if the song doesn't soon lose its popularity many of his countrymen, now living with T.V. will wish that they had never heard the name. Also will someone round up all the coonskin caps and give them back to the little coons from whence they came.—Ruth Roelke.

Rev. Clifton A, Best will speak on Sunday morning at 10:30 in the Piney Creek Church of the Brethren, Rev. M. A. Jacobs, pastor, His message will be on Prayer. Sunday School will convene at 9:30.

Rev. Best is the Canon Missioner of the Episcopal diocese of Harrisburg, which includes the twenty-four counties in the central part of Pennsylvania, extending from the New York state line to Maryland.

His messages are deeply spiritual, yet their emphasis is on the Christian's heritage for this life as well as the next. He not only tells one to pray, but he explains how to pray—and how to experience in this life the blessings promised by our Lord.

The delightful aroma will always linger with me! Folks, you don't have to go abroad to see real beauty—see America first!

One can spend the entire day just oking and reading of all the interest right there. Your Observer was amazed and I really had to tear myself away. It is full of charm, too. It was built in 1793, restored in 1928, the Square dedicated in 1950 and the Museum in 1952. It is the bitthylace of seum in 1953. It is the birthplace of the Fort McHenry, "Victory Flag" of 1814. There is no admission charge (as is proper) and it would be a grand treat for the children to write about it for school after the holidays are over and most interesting for Ma and Pa. HISTORY OF HARNEY By J. W. Reck, 1895

The next thing that presented itself was a proper name for the place. Prior to this the town had no particu-Prior to this the town had no particular name but was commonly called "Monocacyville". As there was already one post-office in the state by that name, it was necessary to change the name before the office would be started. Quite a number of names were suggested, but none could be definitely settled on, as there always seemed to be another place by the name suggested, so at last Mr. Rinehart went to Emmitsburg to examine the post-office directory so that a name might be chosen that was not already on the list of offices. It was then decided that James Elder, Postmaster at that time, as well as a master at that time, as well as a prominent and influential citizen of Emmitsburg, should have the honor of naming the place.

In 1850, Utah was organized as a territory, by the United States government, when Brigham Young was appointed governor by President Fillappointed governor by President Fillmore, and his appointment was subsequently renewed by President Pierce. In 1857, however, charges of violence toward the officers of the federal government in Utah, were brought against the Mormons, and in June of this year, General Harney was appointed the command of a large body of troops who were to accompany Mr. Cumming, a new governor, appointed in Brigham Young's place by Mr. Buchanan, to the scene of his duties.

When Mr. Elder was informed that he was to name the new post-office, he had just finished reading an account of the above named trouble, and he promptly replied, "we will call it Harney, after General Harney," and the name was sent on to the Post-office Department where it was accepted, and the office established, with Jeremiah Rinehart, who is well known throughout Carroll county, as the first post-master.

A short time after this, however, Rinehart sold his store and property to Wm. Hiteshew, who used the place for a dwelling and store for a short time, when he saw the necessity of having a larger and more suitable having a larger and more suitable room for the accommodation of his rapidly increasing trade, and he built a very respectable brick store house on the corner of Gettysburg and Littlestown streets, where he moved his store, and filled it up with nearly a full line of new goods. After several vegrs he sold his property to Jacob years he sold his property to Jacob Shoemaker, who rented the property for a number of years, then sold it to Daniel Hess, who afterwards sold the store house and part of the lot to S.

PROGRESS IN BUILDING

In 1857 and 1858 the town seemed to be in a prosperous condition. John Black built a new house on the Emmitsburg road, E. D. Hess built on the lot situated between the Taneytown and Bridgeport roads, Daniel Hess bought a tract of land, and built on the Littlesown road, and Jacob Kreglo built on the Littlestown road near the square, thus making four new houses in a short time.

In 1860, George Fream built a full set of new buildings on a tract of land purchased from his father's farm and James Angell built on Littlestown street. In 1861 James McIlhenny built a new brick house on Gettysburg street, but soon after sold to Polly

About this time David Bollinger bought Jacob Kreglo's property near the square, and commenced storekeeping just across the street, in the storehouse formerly built by Wm. Hiteshew. Here he carried on business until about the close of the war, when he built a new store house on his own he built a new store house on his own property, where he carried on business for some time, then sold his property to John Davis, who kept a saloon.

In 1864, E. D. Hess sold his property to J. Worthington Jones, and bought the James Angel property on Littlestown street. After moving there he shift on addition to the house and he built an addition to the house and also a small shop and started the cabinet-maker business. Mr. Jones also erected a small building on his property and commenced store-keep-

About this time, Philip Shriner sold his property on Gettysburg street to Dr. Bear and bought the Daniel Hess property on Littlestown street, where he moved in the spring of 1865, and carried on the wagon maker business until his death, which occurred in 1886. when the property was left to his wife as long as she lived. After Daniel Hess sold out to Shriner, he bought another tract of land on Littlestown street, and improved it with a full set of new buildings; while living there, his son John G. Hess, started the blacksmith business, and soon after, built a new dwel ling house on the corner of Littles-town street and the road leading to Walnut Grove school house, adjoining his blacksmith shop, which he afterward sold to the present owner, John J. Hess, who continued the busi-ness. John G. Hess, after this became famous as a coach builder, and is to-day general manager of the famous Hess Manufacturing Company, of

Daniel Hess also moved away, and rented his property for several years and finally sold to its present owner, O. T. Shoemaker, who greatly improved the place and it is now considered one of the most beautiful, as well as one of the most convenient homes in this community. In 1866, J. Worthington Jones quit storekeeping and rented his room to Dr. E. B. Simpson, who bought out Dr. Bear's large practice, Simpson at that time was the only physician in the community, and had an unusually large practice. Mr. Jones afterwards went into the butchering business, which he continued for a number of vears, he was also at one time appointed Squire, but, finding it a very provoking business, he resigned his commission and lived a retired life, and at his death, which occurred in 1894, left his estate to his daughter, Miss Eudora V. Jones. In 1866 The United Brethren Church was built, a two story frame dwelling house. Mr. Shoemaker kept a small confectionery, and was postmaster for a number of years.

In 1869 or 1870, W. F. Eckenrode bought a lot on the corner of Gettysburg and Emmitsburg streets, and built a large frame house suitable for a store and dwelling; this house made quite an improvement to the town, and here Mr. Eckenrode kept store for a few years, then sold the stock to his father, Mr. John Eckenrode, who, with his younger son, J. V. Eckenrode, went into business and after bought the property, and continued merchandising here until a few years ago, when he sold out and rented to E. S. Eyler, who afterwards went out of business, and the store property was rented to its present occupant, D. J. Hesson.

For several years following the building of the Eckenrode house, the growth of the town seemed to come to a standstill, but business kept gradua standstill, but business kept gradually increasing, until people of the community began to think that the town could be made a place of considerable importance. In 1875, Henry Kemper bought a lot and built on Gettysburg street, and in 1876, Wm. H. Lightner bought his father's property, tore down all the old buildings, and built a fine brick house and a good barn, thus making it a desirable home; here Mr. Lightner lived until his death which occurred in 1893, when his property was left to his wife, his death which occurred in 1893, when his property was left to his wife, Mrs. Sarah Lightner.

In 1878, three new houses were built, one by Rufus Bishop on the road leading from this place to Bridgeport, one by Josiah Hawn, and another by Henry Hyser; both these properties are located on the road properties are located on the road running from this place to Walnut Grove school house. In 1889, J. V. Eckenrode built a house on Emmits-burg street; this house he rented un-til he quit business, then he moved into it himself. In 1881 Mr. Shriner built on Littlestown street. In 1882 two new houses were built, one on Gettysburg street by Henry M. Null, and one on Littlestown street by Daniel

In 1883, James H. Reaver built a fine frame house; here he carried on the boot, shoe, and harness-making business, for several years. Prior to this, Reaver had built a small frame house adjoining his new houses on Gettysburg St. and S. S. Shoemaker's store property; he finally sold this property to Shoemaker, who lived in the house for several years. In 1884 T. J. Hess built on Littlestown street and started a coach repair shop. In and started a coach repair shop. In 1885, James H. Reaver sold his property in town to Abraham Hesson, and about the same time bought a tract of land at the edge of town, and put up a full set of new buildings.
In 1886, George W. Shriner built on Littestown street, and Chas. H. Hess

a house and carpenter shop on Gettysburg street; this property was afterwards sold to C. F. Reindollar, who fitted the shop up for a drug store; later it was traded to John V. Eyler, who sold it to its present owner, Mrs. Perry Eyler and Miss Sallie Snider opened a millinery store in the store room. Mrs. Peter Sell also built an addition to her property on Gettysburg street, thus making a great improvement. E. H. C. Shoemaker, during this time, also built a large and handsome house on the same street.

The year 1887, is prominently noted for being the most prosperous of any single year in the history of the town, D. D. Hesson bought the old saloon and a small lot connected, and built a large and commodious hotel. Dr. John Bush built a beautiful house on Littlestown street, which is considered the most perfectly built house in the town; everything was arranged to suit his own convenience, but unfortunately, he was not permitted to enjoy it very long, and after his death in 1893, the property was sold to W. A. Snider its present owner. Andrew Degroft built on the lot joining the U. B. Church. Charles A. Cornell bought and built on Gettysburg street; Cornell sold his property to Samuel C. Shoemaker, who built an addition to the house, and it is today a beautiful residence.

S. Shoemaker built to the side and over the top of his store room, thus making it quite a large building. All these buildings were large and added very much to the appearance

You certainly can throw out your chest and call this strapping big Buick yours.

Because - as any comparison shows - the dollar difference between this brawny beauty and the well-known smaller cars is now virtually erased. So if you've been holding back, thinking a Buick was out of reach-let yourself go. You can afford a Buick if you can afford any new car-and the price we show here proves it.

Buick Sales Are Soaring To New Best-Seller Highs

That's a major reason for the phenomenal success of Buick today. So much so, that production and sales are hitting new peaks to move Buick more firmly into the tight circle of America's best sellers. And a companion reason for this soaring popularity is Buick's full line of cars to give you a choice in any price class - the bedrock-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-roomy

But pure and simple, it's all the automobile you get for your money that's winning so many new owners to Buick.

SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

It's the extra pride you feel, the extra room you enjoy, the extra comfort you get, the extra safety you sense-from Buick styling, Buick size, Buick ride-engineering, Buick solidity of structure.

Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: Heater & Defroster-$81.70; Radio & Antenna-$92.50.

It's the extra lift and snap and ginger you get from Buick high-compression V8 power-and the fun and thrill of bossing such eager might.

As we said-if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick-even with the spectacular performance of Variable Pitch Dynaflowt at modest extra cost.

So why settle for anything less than a Buick? Drop in on us, take the wheel, press that pedal, and see for yourself what a whale of an automobile -and a whale of a buy-today's Buick really is.

+Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series

DID YOU KNOW= - that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below any other car of 188 horsepower and 122inch wheelbase?

- that the Buick SPECIAL is priced below some models of the three well-known smaller cars?

- that the Buick SPECIAL gives you more pounds of automobile than any other car at its low price?

Reconciliation

Lesson for May 22, 1955

THERE are only three possibilities when two persons or groups are lined up on opposite sides of a fence. It may be a family quarrel, a national crisis, a split in a church, a community fight . . . Whatever be the cause, whatever the "fence" may be, there are really only three ways the two factions can be related to each other. One is the way of hostility. They can cut'off all communication; they can refuse to hear any good of each other; they can

Reconciliation

The trouble with both these ways is that either one of them leaves the two parties just where they were. Hostilities (cold or hot) harm both sides. Compromise for selfish reasons actually brings the parties no closer together; they will stay together only so long as selfishness dictates, and they will split apart at the next opportunity. There is a better way: the way of reconciliation. Apart from religion, it is doubtful whether true reconciliation ever takes place; for it can be fully done only in the spirit of repentance first of all, and is nourished and strengthened only through the joining of hearts in worship. This, by the way, is why Christian marriages hold together far better than marriages between people of little or no religion. Quarrels occur in most marriages sooner or later, Christian or not, The battle of the sexes is one from which no family is free. But in a couple without religion, little quarrels grow to big ones, husband and wife either become enemies and go separate ways, or stay together only for the sake of appearances, or the money, - not because of love. Without religion repentance is rare. It is only in the family with a common faith that reconciliation is possible. When the day's end comes and it is time for prayers.

It Has Worked

Reconciliation is not a theory: it is a fact. It has actually worked. The Hebrew Book of Chronicle tells of King Hezekiah's experience with his neighbors to the north of him. They had been citizens of a seceding group, no doubt inheriting much of the bitterness that always underlies secession at any time or place in history. To their inherited prejudices against the Kingdom of Judah from which their forefathers had revolted, there was added the sting of poverty and defeat; for the seceding kingdom of Israel had finally gone down in weakness to a final smash-up. The left-behind citizens must have been an embittered lot. But King Hezekiah sent invitations to all these people, recently his enemies, to come up to the Temple and join in the great Passover festival. Men once enemies were drawn together in a common confession of sin, and in a united worship of their one God. In this spirit broken churches have come together again, in this spirit broken homes have been mended, northerners and southerners in the United States have forgotten their grandfathers' quarrels. It was in this spirit that in 1948, coming out of nations that only three short years before had been at violent war, Christian churches around the world came together for the first time in the World Council of Churches,-born of repentance, cradled in worship. Never 100 Per Cent

It never works 100%. There were unreconciled Israelites who did not come to the Passover; there are Irishmen today who have never forgotten Cromwell, southerners who cannot forget Sherman, bitterly proud churchmen who refuse to be reconciled with any church but their own. When we attempt reconciliation with others, we may not always succeed. But which is better, to try God's way - for reconciliation is the way he has shown us-even if we do not always succeed, or not to try at all, and end in a dark wilderness of bitter isolation? # Telephone call saves wife *3 on order for sheets

This economy-minded housewife* saw an advertisement in the paper, featuring a new low price on some sheets she had planned to buy. Unable to get into town, she made a telephone call to the store, gave them her order and asked for delivery. Here was a call that saved two ways. First, an order for the store which otherwise it would have missedand a saving for the housewife amounting to $3!

TANEYTOWN DEFEATS BRUSH-TOWN

The Taneytown team defeated Brushtown Sunday on the local dia-mond at Recreation Park by a score mond at Recreation Park by a score of 1 to 0. The game was a tight pitcher's duel between Dougherty of Taneytown and Crawford of Brushtown. Dougherty held our opponents to 4 scattered hits, while the locals made only 6 off of Crawford.

Taneytown gave Dougherty excellent support, especially, Nusbaum and "Babe" Myers ,who made two spectacular catches in the outfield, that cut

Our lone run of the game was scored in the 3rd inning on a walk, stolen base and a texas leaguer by Single, base and a texas leaguer by Single, that fell safely between several opposing players, and by the time the ball was properly fielded, Wildasin was across the plate, with the games only run and Single was perched safely on 3rd, where he remained, as the next man flied out, to end the inning. A very disappointing crowd(?) of less than 100 persons was on hand to witness the best game of the young season and this is not easy to understand as we have one of the best, if not the best baseball parks in the state, with a roof over the grandstand, for those who prefer not to sit in the sun; as you know, all proceeds in the sun; as you know, all proceeds from these games, go towards the improvement of the park, and as you also know the local team needs moral support from the fans at every home game, so fans, why not turn out in "huge numbers" at every home game, and not only fill the grandstand but show the boys that we are all pulling for them? for them?

Next Sunday Taneytown plays Hunterstown at Hunterstown at 2 p. m., and the following Sunday they play host to Greenmount at the local park at 2 p. m.

Wenksville won its 4th straight game Sunday by defeating Hunterstown 13 to 4, and is still out in front over the 'meagerness' of over the 'meagerness' of in the league standing, Greenmount is in 2nd place, while Taneytown is in a 4 way tie for 3rd place with 2 victories and 2 defeats

CONSERVATION

Conservation of the water resources of Carroll County was the topic discussed by the Carroll Soil Conservation District Supervisors at a special meeting held Monday evening, April 25th, at Westminster, Md.

Mr. Horace Brauning, Sr., Finksburg, Md., Chairman of the board presided and welcomed as guests business and community leaders representing and community leaders representing the towns of New Windsor, Unice Bridge, Taneytown and Westminster. Mr. S. L. Hoke, Chairman, told of having purchased an abandoned farm located in Bachman Vailey in 1928, and how, by changing the stream channel, he was able to collect hundreds of tons of top soil washed down from the farms above him. By proper conservation measures installed in 1940 losses of top soil from his land has been small and after heavy rains, water that runs from his fields is clear water that runs from his fields is clear and pure enough to drink.

Mr. Brauning told of how after contour strip cropping one of his fields, run off has been so small that he has been unable to fill a pond he built to collect surface water.

Mr. J. Harry Koller, Sykesville, board member, told of how new wells being drilled on land adjacent to his farm has caused a serious water problem for him. Mr. Randall Spoerlein, New Windsor and Mr. Raymond P. Bpchman, Hampstead, board members told similar water problems affecting farms in their districts.

Mr. Edward M. Davis, State Conservationist, College Park, Md., discussed the water problem from a water shed basis, telling how Civic minded groups from the county could help with the water conservation by assisting in the formation of small water shed groups in the county.

Mr. William Parr, District Forester and Mr. Gerald Williams, Assistant, discussed the tree planting program of their Department and agreed to as-sist in making this program available to farmers and interested groups sponsoring water conservation.

Mr. L. C. Burns, County Agent and Secretary to the District, along with Grover C. Zimmerman, Soil Conservationist, joined in the discussion and will be available for technical advice. will be available for technical advice in developing the program.

FACTS THAT CAN HELP YOUR TURKEY PROFITS THIS YEAR

Purina has just completed a nation wide turkey profit survey, interviewing 1,116 growers in all sections of the country, who marketed 4,614,670 turkeys.

To get a fair appraisal, they interviewed growers on all kinds of feeding programs. Here are the results:

9 out of 10 Growers Who Followed the Purina

Only 5 out of 10 Non-Purina Growers Reported a Profit.

This is a significant difference that you can't afford to overlook in selecting your turkey plan for this year. Come in today and find out more about Purina's
