ALUMNI BANQUET

More than 200 Taneytown High School Alumni and their guests gathered at their Alma Mater and danced Saturday evening, June 4. The attendance was the largest ever and thrilled Alumni officials since this was the first year that it was necessary to remit payment with reservations, and therefore fearful that attendance would drop. The group enjoyed the splendid fried chicken banquet which was prepared and served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Co., assisted by a number of high school girls who served as waitresses. Invocation was offered by Merritt Copenhagen.

The program opened with group singing led by David Reifsnider, President Robert Waddell, who acted very capably as toastmaster then introduced the other officers of the Alumni Association: Mr. David Reifsnider, Vice-President; Miss JoAnn Wolf, Secretary; and Mrs. Dorothy Hartsock Koons, Historian. The treasurer, Marlin Rittase was unable to be present. President Waddell gave a short resume' of the past year activities, the plans for the coming year and made the announcement of the annual outing and weiner roast. The outing which is always scheduled in July will take place at Beverly Beach, near Annapolis, on Sunday, July 17th. The weiner roast will be held in Taneytown Memorial Park, Monday evening, August 15. It was pointed out that due to the success of the projects and activities of the Association last year, that over $300.00 worth of useful and needed gifts were presented to our Taneytown schools, including the auditorium public address system which was recently installed in the high school.

After expressing regrets that Rev. Guy P. Bready and Mr. Samuel Jenness who are honorary members of the association, could not be present Mr. Waddell introduced the Elementary School Principal, Mr. Frank Wagny and Mr. Andrew Mason, the High School Principal. Mr. Mason congratulated the group for having such an active and interested association and thanked them for their contributions and help. He extended particular appreciation for the Public Address system which was installed in the auditorium.

Mr. Waddell then introduced Paul Hymiller, President of the class of '45, who were holding a reunion. He in turn introduced Mrs. Louella Sauble Harner and Mrs. Mildred Ingram Rittase who read from the class prophecy, telling what had been prophesied for each one present. These members then rose and told what they are doing at the present. Mrs. Doris Wilhide Harner read their class poem. Mr. Stanley Lutz and the class of 1930 was then introduced and gave an interesting comparison of the almost fantastic strides that have been made in science and research in the past 25 years. Many things which were mentioned in their class prophecy and which seemed impossible at that time have come true or are conceived possible in the near future. The members of the class then introduced their husbands or wives and gave their present occupation and address.

Mr. Elwood Baumgardner, president of the class of '25 introduced the 7 members of their class who were present and their guests. He also introduced one of their teachers Mrs. Geo. Fringer Birley. It was interesting to note that of the 14 living members of this class many of them are scattered across the nation. Following the program this class met in one of classrooms and spent a very enjoyable social hour talking over old times, looking at their yearbook and pictures.

These classes who held reunions added much to the program and those members and officers who helped to encourage and plan, should be commended and congratulated. The class of '55 who were guests of the Association, had 27 members present and should also be congratulated for such a splendid turnout.

At exactly 9 o'clock the program finished, the folks retired to the auditorium where they enjoyed dancing to the music of Gordon Colston and his "Mets" and chatted with old schoolmates until midnight. So ended a lovely evening with perfect weather and many fond memories and promises to return again next year.

BUSINESS CHURCH MEETING HELD

E. & R. Churchmen Met at Frederick

The annual legislative sessions of Potomac Synod of the Evangelical & Reformed Church were held last week from Wednesday to Friday on the Campus of Hood College in Frederick.

Dr. Truxal, President of the college, welcomed the delegation and the organizational meeting followed according to schedule. Five students who had been under the care of synod during their college and seminary days and who were recently graduated from the seminaries of the church were licensed and recommended for ordination. Dr. John R. C. Hass, of Evansville, Ind., who was the denominational representative to the meeting, preached the sermon at the communion worship which was held in the newly dedicated Coffman Chapel.

Highlighting the whole session was the election of a full-time synodical president in the person of Dr. Frederick D. Eyster, who for the past 9 years as the minister of Christ Church in Hagerstown. He will begin his 6 year term of office on October 1 and his office will be located in the Coffman Chapel.

Albert Robinson, of York, spoke concerning the camp program for this year at which time a bumper crop of young people will again attend the camp. The worship for the teachers of children was highly recommended. It will be held in Woodstock, Va., in August.

In addition to Dr. Truxal, Dr. Allen Meek, president of the Lancaster Seminary, spoke in connection with the report of the committee on Christian Higher Education.

The committee on the Church and the Ministry suggested that more be done to enlist the finest young people in accepting the challenge of Christ to be a leader for him and also that every charge to comply with the recommended minimum salary of $3,600 and parsonage as suggested by General Synod and Potomac Synod.

The Rev. Arthur Leeming and Rev. Mark Wagner, superintendents of the Hoffman Orphanage and Homewood Church Home, respectively, spoke concerning their institutions in connection with the report of the committee on Benevolent Institutions. Rev. Wagner spoke of the two oldest residents, Mrs. Ida Landis, who will be 100 years old in September, and Rev. Charles LeVan, who is now 97 years old.

All other committees of the synod made similar reports noting progress and urged that the synod as a whole support the full church program. Rev. Morgan Andreas and Elder Murray Baumgardner were the delegated representatives of the local congregation.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)
With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It's the wonderful month of June again—the month of Roses, Brides and Honeysuckle! The sweet Aroma of the Honeysuckle delights the nostrils which can be inhaled driving along any country road or highway.

The Cows are in the field opposite the Parsonage and the Sheep in the Meadow! Many families now are moving to the country and love all the new life surroundings. One hears them say, "I never knew it would be so nice to live out of the city!"

Now, that school has closed for the summer, I do hope the Teen-agers reading this column will do something worthwhile with all the idle time. If you have graduated this month be sure you get to work immediately for what you do right now will count for all the future years!

There really is too long of a period for vacation and I recall hearing on radio not long ago that there will be school days all summer long in the year of 1960!

Did you see the aged couple celebrating their wedding anniversary on the Dodge T.V. program last week answer all the questions of the 90's and win the sum of $2,600?

From Florida comes word that the Crabbing is just great even better than previous years! Must be so in Maryland, too as there are many huge signs such as this, "Freshly Steamed Crabs!"

Hope you did not miss Gorgeous George, Gentlemen last Tuesday night. I thought he wrestled for the last time and that was some time ago but he still can "Strut" as always!

Now, Mr. and Mrs. Parents if your daughter is a Tom Boy Girl—don't worry for they really do make the best wives—and that I have observed closely! Meeting such nice people along the way in life last week! A lady who has been in one department in Hochschild Kohn's Department store for forty years! She is to retire in July and she said, "In my time it was the customer that counted and now the young people think only of the number of sales they make and never are interested in the customer!"

"See what I mean, Folks?"

As I had put my hand forward to open the door of that famous store, a colored aged man quickly held the door open for me as he saw I held a shopping bag!

And have you noticed, Mr. or Mrs. Driver when you are on the Highway and you are behind a big truck, the real etiquette of the driver of the truck? He always drives over to the side to let you pass the very first opportunity he has. Remember always to show your appreciation by blowing the horn and a nice salute as you pass him by!

This is a delightful time to go on that long looked for vacation. When it is real hot there is no place like home! Eh?

A prospective bride buying the furniture for her home writes to ask me if she should purchase twin beds or a double bed.

Well, there are many answers which I could give to that question—are you going to do your own housework and keep on with your job which you now have?

Of course there is less work in having a double bed for it will mean that it is much easier for you to take care of one bed than just double. Are you a light sleeper, are you restless?

Many husbands object violently to such a revolution in their sleeping habits and are promptly backed up by most of the Clergy who state that twin beds mean the end of the sanctity of marriage! I cannot agree with that one!

Everyone knows that they have a better rest sleeping alone. Of course, the Highposter double is really back in style but I see as many twin beds in fact more so than the double when I am being shown through the new homes of our brides. Don't let a little thing like that worry you but talk it over between you before the knot is tied for good!

Now, your second question. You can make two meals on a large frying chicken by having the white meat creamed with a white sauce the second dinner and it is delicious.

The answer to your third question—Always turn your paint can upside down for 24 hours before using and that way the paint will mix better.

Have a grand week-end, Folks. Go to church no matter what the denomination as long as it is God's House! See you next week, D. V. I am, Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER.

RESTRICTING THE RIGHT TO WORK

In spite of the President's press conference reiteration of his recommendation for a 90 cents an hour wage law, the Senate a few hours later passed the Democratic bill raising the national minimum wage from 75 cents to $1.00 an hour. The CIO had urged $1.25.

This would have been more serious matter but for the fact that the President's recommendations for broader coverage were also ignored and omitted from the bill, leaving wholesale and retail workers, farmers and farm hands, and various others excluded. For, among the facts of life of which politicians seem unaware, is the unfortunate truth that there are many thousands of working American to whom an employer could not profitably pay $1.00 an hour. An iron-clad minimum wage law would simply deny them employment.

The wage for which a free-born American will work should still be his own business.—U. S. Press Association.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

TEMPE ARIZ., DAILY NEWS: "The United States of America were visualized as so many republics, determined on handling their own affairs and looking to the Federal government only for international policy and guidance in matters of a strictly national character. We have moved so far away from that original principle that we have reached a point where all powers begin and end in a Federal government. It's a sorry comedown for the American heritage; and if it isn't to sink any lower people had better begin getting up on their hind legs and speaking up for it."

LEESBURG, FLA., COMMERCIAL: "There is little logic behind all the to-do about regulating and price-fixing gas production. Federal price controls show no promise of doing the job that competing private enterprise has done. What they do seem to promise is less gas supply by curtailing the necessary financial risk-taking in gas exploration—a logical result of the uncertainties and confusions arising from absentee, over-all management by a bureau in Washington."

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "Earnings are being ploughed back into the business for expansion to a greater extent than ever. Competition for new markets compels the growth."

BEDFORD, IND., DAILY TIMES-MAIL: "So long as man is inventive, so long as he is able to reap the rewards of his own efforts, just that long will there be no monopoly. The biggest monopoly, the biggest fear in the world today is not business, not labor—but government itself. That is monopoly."

HILLSBORO, ORE., ARGUS: "Government, whether it be federal, state or county should stay out of business. Loss by private business is a loss to government because there is no money with which to pay taxes. In many instances it uses taxpayer money with which to compete with private business as for example in printing, thus cutting its nose to spite its face by hurting a segment of business and reducing taxable income."

PRENTISS, MISS., HEADLIGHT: "Isn't it strange how many props the Government puts under folk these days to kill human initiative and do away with the Biblical injunction to man to earn his livelihood in the sweat of his brow?"

DETROIT LAKES, MINN., BECKER CO. RECORD: "The turmoil of the modern world is obvious evidence that the way of life taught of Christ is not universally accepted."

GOVERNOR McKELDIN'S PREPARED SPEECH AT THE DEDICATION SERVICES OF THE HARNEY VOLUNTEER FIRE COMPANY HALL, SATURDAY, JUNE 11

If we win the cold war against Communism—if we establish at long last a lasting peace, ending aggression, we shall, of course, give much credit to the great defensive armament that our Nation has built, and to the retaliatory power that our foes may fear.

We shall withhold credit from the determined diplomacy that is practiced in high levels by our Federal Government.

But we shall know and we shall praise the magnificent strength with which the communities of America are contributing to the power of the Nation. It is the strength of confidence—the strength of faith—the strength of courage that keeps building the buildings of peace and permanence. There are buildings for stability and for the long future ahead—not for the emergencies that concern the great and the near great who head the roll calls in the Councils of the Nations.

There are very few people in this troubled world, in the United States or even in Maryland who know that we are gathered on this occasion to dedicate a new Fire House in Harney.

But, believe me, the word gets out that here in America, in a given time—a year or a decade—we have built a given number of new public buildings—new town halls or city halls, new court houses, and new fire houses.

There are forces at work in the lands behind the Iron Curtain to make it known that those buildings are built and paid for by the people of the communities.

The news of such faith at the grass roots of America is the wonder of oppressed peoples in many towns, villages and cities of the old world.

The realization of these springs of strength in America—this initiative that exists at thousands of crossroads—this power to build and to accomplish that lives in the hands of the people—must be discouraging to the rulers in the Soviet Kremlin and in the other countries where all power, all initiative, indeed all official thinking is concentrated at the top of government.

It must amaze the little people of Russia and Poland and other lands of oppression when they learn that this construction was not directed from Washington or even from the State Capital. They must find it hard to believe that you did not even have to seek permission from high levels of Government to build this Fire House.

Yes, the people hear about the American picture as a whole, but it is a slow process.

If I were broadcasting over the Voice of America tonight I would make it plain that you—the people of Harney—built this Fire House on your own.

"We hear", I would say, "that the people of Harney, Maryland, have built a fine new Fire House and have dedicated it today."

I would insert such messages in my broadcasts night after night—as Fire Houses and other properties of the people were dedicated across the length and breadth of free America.

It would have more effect, I believe, on down-trodden people who are yearning for hope, than would repeated announcements of new devices designed for destruction. The distant hope would create more restlessness and desirable discontent among the enslaved masses than does the fear of death from the weapons of war.

Oh, there are fire stations in Russia, too—but none like this one. They don't belong to Ivan, Serge and the ladies of the auxiliary. They belong to the Kremlin.

Viadimir and Igor may belong to the Fire Company—but they are not volunteers. They are assigned there by the commissars.

Anton and Bogdan do not drop into the Fire Station for a social evening with the boys. They may go there under orders for a party meeting. They may go there to be told their production is too low, or to be questioned about some remark they were heard to make.

But Harney, Maryland, thank God, is not the Russia of today. This new Firemen's Hall is as American as the seventh inning stretch. This is yours. It is the club, the gathering place of the men—the volunteers—who were organized to extinguish fires in Harney and the surrounding territory—not start world conflagrations.

John and Pete, and Joe and Jack can come and go as they like. The auxiliary can use the rooms for a sewing bee or a bridge party. There is no one in Washington—no one in high station—who can tell them when to come or when to go. There is no one in the Nation's capital or in any other place of power who can say who must belong to the fire company.

If anyone in Washington or Annapolis wants to hold a town meeting in this Firemen's Hall for some good purpose, he must get your permission. If the purpose is not good, you can deny the use of the premises, whether the request comes from the Governor of the State or even from the President of the United States because—this is America!

As Governor of your State—one of the great States of our Federation—I thank you for this symbol of the people's strength that we dedicate now—for this expression of community confidence and of faith at the source—the real strength of America.

Caution is the confidential agent of selfishness.—Woodrow Wilson.

CURRENT EVENTS
FIFTY YEARS AGO

The Central Hotel building has been improved by the completion of the portico on the York street side, and steps on the Baltimore street side.

Null—Eckard—Notwithstanding the inclement weather of June 7th, about ninety guests assembled at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. William Eckard of Dennings to witness the marriage of their eldest daughter, Zelma Irene, to Rev. Arthur G. Null, a recent graduate of the Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, and who is a son of Mr. Jacob Null, of Frizellburg.

Buy your own Paper

A man who was too economical to subscribe for his home paper sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance, and failing to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into it, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $5 pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the corn field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing a racket, the wife ran, upset a four-gallon churn of rich cream into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole flock. In her hurry she dropped a $25 set of false teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the spilled milk and into the parlor, ruining a $20 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up eleven setting hens, and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four fine shirts.

It is said that quite a number of citizens of this section of the county were recently "taken in" by a traveling oculist who sold gold frame spectacles that now turn out to be "from gold." This is such an old scheme that it is a surprise that it can be worked around here, and it is simply another illustration that real economy rests in patronizing dealers with a known reputation, and paying their price. It rarely pays to buy from peddlers of any kind.

Taneytown is enjoying a year of prosperity. Everybody is busy who wants to be and everything is booming except the electric light question. Really, brethren, you ought to set things moving along this line, and it can be done by a little working over time.

NEW HISTORY PROJECT FOR TANEYTOWN

Several months ago members of the Carroll County Historical Society from Taneytown and Middleburg districts attempted a new project here. Fifteen members contributed a dollar each and brought a large walnut used bookcase, and the plan was to put this case in some public location in town, and exhibit in it special historical relics. These relics would be permanent gifts and also rotating loan displays according to the wishes of the donor.

The inspiration for the project arose when Edward Reid presented the group with a most interesting relic of Taneytown's early days. This was a perfect pair of the old handforged H and L hinges that had been on a door in the old stone Sultz Tavern which some years ago was taken down and replaced by a modern grocery store. Only a Ford or a Rockefeller can afford to save and keep up whole buildings for history's sake, but we can preserve here the small things that will give our children and grandchildren a picture of early days.

After a discussion with Principal Mason of the High School, it was decided to put the Relic Case in the corridor just outside his office. This was done as an appeal to any budding historians who might be among the students, and there always are a few who want to know the old stories.

The first exhibits were of the two gifts, the Sultz Tavern hinges, and thirty-five selected arrowheads picked up by Mr. William Naill from his own farm on the banks of the Monocacy. Misses Amelia and Elizabeth Annan filled several shelves with loans of most valuable and interesting relics as follows: Letter 1822 from Joseph Taney to Clotworthy Birnie, Letter 1815 Roger Brooke Taney to Clotworthy Birnie, Letter from Francis Scott Key to C. Birnie, Picture of Roger Brooke Taney, School subscription list 1818 in Taneytown, Thorndale Seminary Record 1837-1871, early textbooks from Thorndale on history, literature, arithmetic, grammar, geography published from 1682, 1757, 1786, 1812, 1830, 1818. The Annan loan also showed arrows and arrow heads and a number of Gettysburg battlefield relics, canteens, knapsacks, bullet pouches, that were picked up by their great aunt, Miss Fanny Birnie from Thorndale, who visited the battlefield just four months after the battle.

In this first exhibit were also items of early lighting, a Paul Revere lantern of pierced tin, a nutmeg lamp, a Betty lamp, a sparking lamp, and a rare Bennington candle. There were a banhandled knife, two pronged fork and pewter spoon from the Old Pipe Creek Meeting House, Pewter plate, Indian Ax from Wakefield Valley, and a triangular brick from a pillar in the original Francis Scott Key Mansion.

In May the first exhibit was removed and Mrs. George Harner has filled the case from her wonderful collection. Mrs. Harner has a delightful understanding of small detail. She makes a real picture with nothing left out, even down to the tiny cat snoozing under the miniature old iron kitchen stove, with the roast in the pan inside the oven. More about this exhibit later, and in the meantime go see it. You will be missing a treat, if you don't.

A colonel's wife at a Far East army post was remonstrating with a house boy over his habit, when bringing up the breakfast tray, of entering her dressing room without knocking. "No worry," said Ling. "Me allus look through the keyhole first. If missy no has clothes on; Ling no come in."

To Every Dad
There are little eyes upon you, and
They're watching night and day;
There are little ears that quickly take

Everything you say.
There are little hands all eager to
Do everything you do;
And a little boy who's dreaming of
The day he'll be like you
There's a wide-eyed little fellow who Believes your always right
And his eyes are always open and he Watches day and night.
You are setting an example, in
Each kindness that you do,
For the little boy who's waiting to Grow up to be like you.

FEESERSBURG (A Voice From Carroll)

So much has been written in behalf of retarded and delinquent children that few persons know or understand that there is a third child that needs some consideration, too. He is the gifted child, who often becomes delinquent (how I hate that word) because he requires special attention too but rarely gets it. Our schools, planned for children with average ability are not much help in aiding the child with special talent and too often the parents themselves do not know what to do with a talented offspring. Educators admit that these children need special training to bring out their abilities. They likewise admit that the public has been slow to understand and provide for these children. But there does seem to be a glimmer of hope for the future geniuses. Industry has awakened to the fact that we have too long allowed the average to dominate our educational system at the expense of future leaders and scientists. Industry is now searching out for the gifted boys and girls and offering them means of getting specialized training. But this isn't done until they reach high school and often this is too late to salvage many gifted children. Too often these children become bored while still in elementary school and channel their talents into bad habits before they reach high school. Many of our colleges are already tackling this problem, but it should be the concern of all educators and parents, too. Since the very life and continued existence of our country depends upon how well we use our brains in the future, it is only being far-sighted to salvage the bright and gifted child. We sometimes wonder at the antics of some of our law-makers on whom we have to depend for appropriations for schools and teachers. It sometimes

The average hog man already has an investment of 2 1/4 bushels of corn in every pig the day pigs are farrowed. But the man who feeds his sows Purina Sow and Pig Chow on the Purina Program has an investment of only 1 bushel of corn per pig when pigs come—that's a difference of a couple of dollars per pig to start with.

Here's why—Purina Sow and Pig Chow has everything sows need to keep them up in condition and help them to grow and farrow big litters. Purina Farm farrowing records show better than 3 more pigs per litter than average. Many Purina Program feeders get equally good results.

And sows are ready with lots of milk...to start them right. Let us tell you more about Sow and Pig Chow and the Purina Hog Program. Come see us soon at Your Store with the Checkerboard Sign.

Before Worship

Lesson for June 19, 1955

I DON'T seem to get much out of church." You can hear that complaint too often. Maybe you have made it yourself. Let's leave the question of the sermon out of the picture. The sermon isn't all you go to church for. The object of that meeting, on Sunday morning or whenever it is, is to bring you closer to God, to make God real to you, to send you back into your every-day life with a radiant heart and a mind at peace.

Dr. Foreman

The object of your going to church is, in one word, Worship. Hymns, prayers, offering, meditation, sermon—all of it ought to blend into one blessed experience of worship, that is to say, an experience in which you and others with you meet with God. Why doesn't this always happen? Maybe the fault is with the people, not with the minister alone. One good preacher can't make a good service all by himself.

Encouraging the Minister

In the Bible story of Josiah and his great Passover, there are some valuable suggestions that even after all these years and all these changes can help us too. The Passover was the great festival of worship among the ancient Jews; it was observed every year. But the chronicler reports about this one of King Josiah's, that there had not been one like it since the days of Samuel; or in other words, it was the best Passover in about 400 years. What made this one so special? Three points stand out. One is that Josiah "encouraged the priests in their service." Put into modern terms, that means the people encouraging the minister. You always see the minister at the door after service, shaking hands with the people. They may tell him they enjoyed the sermon; but how many who tell him that, helped him beforehand? How many of them prayed for him, not while he was preaching but long before, when he was working on his sermon? When a religious chicken-farmer is taking his poultry to market, he doesn't pray that they will be good chickens. The time to pray for that is back when the eggs are hatching, when they are in the baby chick stage, while he is selecting the feed, and so on. By the time the chickens are ready for market it's a little late to be praying about it. So the time to begin praying for your minister and encouraging him is while his sermons are hatching, so to speak; before, not only after, the service.

"Prepare Yourself"

We read also that King Josiah said to the Levites, "Prepare yourselves." The Protestant Christian belief is that all believers are priests. A service of worship, as we understand it, is not a kind of performance in which the minister up there behind the pulpit does it all while we just sit and watch him. One reason why we get so little out of church is that we put so little into it. If you had an interview with the President of the United States, wouldn't you make some preparation for it? You don't just "drop in" to see a man as important as that. And yet people will go to the house of God without the least preparation. They may be well dressed, but their minds are only half-dressed and their souls are more than half asleep. You have a right to come before God with a burdened heart; he welcomes the heavy-laden. But you have no right to expect much from a so-called worship service which you enter with a mind cluttered with workaday botherations you won't let go, with a heart hardened by pride, with a spirit almost of defiance, as if you said to the minister, I dare you to interest me!

"Prepare for Your Brethren"

Josiah also told the Levites to prepare for their brothers who were coming to worship. True worship in a church is not an individual affair, as if each person present were sitting in a separate cell listening in by ear-phones. There is no point in "public" worship unless there is some sharing, some fellowship, some opening of the heart. A service of "worship" from which the people stream homeward without speaking to one another, or praying for and with one another, is a poor affair.

Let's Think

by
G. H. ENFIELD

THOUGHTS FOR THOUGHT

The blindness of some people becomes the eye-opener of others.

If you would be upright, you must grow upwards.

How little does a "Deb" think of the burdens borne by pa and ma to lift her to her pedestal!

The hen that cackles most is not always the one doing the most laying. That may be propaganda.

It is nobler to reduce enemies by conversion than by decapitation. Just a difference between Democracy and Totalitarianism.

The person who gets no fun out of life is the person who puts no fun into life.

The proudest people usually are not the ones who have made something or done something, but who have inherited something.

"Every generation has boy problems" Yes, and so does every girl."

One must go early to church to get a back seat.

Some of us can remember when it was mannerly to use manners.

Once I was an indolent lad,
Always wanting my way;
One day across the knee of dad,
I decided to do his way.

Train up a child in the way he should go,
And when he is old he will not depart from it.
—Proverbs 22:6 (SRV).
