HARNEY 4-H NEWS

On June 28, the Harney 4-H Club held its monthly meeting at the Grain & Supply Company in Taneytown. Since some of the members are farmers, some of them arrived a little late because of the harvest.

Among these stragglers were the reporter and secretary. Due to preceding, the minutes were read later on in the meeting. Always on time and faithful, the treasurer, Earl Angell, was ready with the club's holdings.

Earl Weant conducted a little pep talk to the club on participation in livestock judging.

A trip is being sponsored to the Baltimore Fertilizer Plant by the county on July 6. If any of the member want to go on this trip, they are to get in touch with the county agent's office.

Several members from the club will venture down to Westminster, June 29, to work on the Agriculture Center.

Speaking of the Ag Center, the Senior Council, and the 4-H clubs of Carroll County along with other public-spirited organizations are trying to make the Ag Center a success for the present and future 4-Hers of Carroll County. The Center consists of three barns for show animals and a new agriculture building. This is a worthwhile project for the youth of the county. But the public's, your, help is needed. Any donation, no matter how big or small will be graciously accepted. To inquire for information about the Center, contact the Carroll County Agent's office, and if you have time drop down to Westminster and see how the work is progressing.

The Harney 4-H will give away two shoats at the Harney Firemen's Carnival on July 16. At the 4-H Fair, July 19, 20, 21, at Westminster, an exhibit will be entered by the club. The committee to study this project consists of Carl Weant, Albert Angell, Robert Rock, Merle Weant, Jack Mooney, Clyde Weant and Earl Angell. The committee will meet July 6, at Clyde Weant's home.

Projects that the members themselves will enter at the Fair are as follows: Lee Rock, Swine; Merle Weant, dairy heifer; Carl Hahn, dairy heifer; Richard Hahn, dairy heifer; Clyde Weant, Jr., yearlings; Albert Angell dairy heifer; Gene Angell, dairy heifer. The club Scrapbook will be entered by reporter, Jack Mooney.

The Harney Boys' 4-H has made a new and big change. For the first time, girls will be allowed into the club. So the name of the organization has been changed as you have probably noticed. If there are any girls interested in any phase of 4-H work, they can get in touch with Mrs. C. E. Null, phone 5031, Taneytown.

Meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served. Next meeting will be held at the home of Gene Moose, July 26.

CARROLL COUNTY AGRICULTURAL CENTER CONTINUES PROGRESS

The building program for the Carroll County Agricultural Center is going along according to schedule and will be ready for use during the July 4-H Fair. All people of the county are expressing a genuine interest and enthusiasm at the progress being made.

A county-wide campaign is now in operation to secure the necessary funds to take care of the contractor for the present and final building to be erected.

The response to the request for funds is coming along satisfactorily, but $20,000 will be needed to finish this main building and properly equip it.

This goal will be reached if all organized groups and individuals of the county continue to respond as many have already done. Funds are needed now and if those organizations will continue to mail their contributions to Mr. R. G. Spoerlein, Finance Chairman, New Windsor, Md., the job will be done in good time.

The facilities being provided will serve all groups of a county-wide nature regardless of the community they represent.

4-H Clubs, F.F.A. Chapters, Boy and Girl Scouts, Women's Clubs and all other organized groups which have for their purpose the advancement of Carroll County will desire to use these facilities.

All contributions, large or small, will be greatly appreciated by the corporate body as well as all individuals interested in the welfare of this great county.

DRUM AND BUGLE COMPETITION

Ellis E. Eyer's executive committee for the Eighth Annual Eastern States Drum and Bugle Competition recently completed the "groundwork plans" for the July 23rd event in Small Athletic Field, York. The committee announced the completed plans for three important phases of the competition included ticket sales, tabulation and runners.

The advance sale of tickets will be directed by Miss Kathryn Welsh, and tickets will be available from Miss Georgia Stum, Central Ticket Agency in York and from George's Self-Service Meat Market in Red Lion. Eyer indicated that a heavy advance sale of tickets is anticipated for the annual competition. Reserve seats at $2.50 each will be particularly scarce as only about 800 will be available. General admission tickets at $1.50 each, and children's tickets at 50c will be more plentiful, however.

The all-important tabulating of the corps drills will once again be covered by members of the York Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants. This on-the-spot tabulation of each corps complex score enables the judges to announce the complete competition scores within minutes after the last corps completes its drill.

Messengers and runners will be supplied again this year by Troop 96, Boy Scouts of America from East York and Yorkshire. These runners carry the individual judge's scores to the tabulators and assist the committee in the competition line.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's great wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The Airplanes seem to be so close and so frequent as I write this Column and it all must be due to the holidays just ahead and many going on vacations.

The lovely colorful Zinnia bed is just full of the flowers and most picturesque which is on the outside of the stream which runs by the bungalow.

Ran up to Philly for a day last week and noticed so many of the girls with much longer hair. Cotton dresses seem to be leading in materials and they are most attractive.

Folks, there was a real Deer in our yard the other day back by the grove of trees at 7 in the morning. She surprised "Buttons" and of course "Buttons" thought it was her duty to give chase. What a grand picture it would have been if I could have snapped that Deer!

This is the first year that the Rhododendron is in full bloom with the pastel pink and white flowers.

This is for the Teen-agers and many adults, too. When you are placing on your watch or taking it off for the night be sure and do this right over the bed so as you may save a big bill in case you drop it. If you take care of a watch regardless of price, it will last many years.

Mrs. Housewife, have you tried that grand starch called, "Bright Sail"? It is the best yet!

And when you are doing a lot of work these hot days be sure you have a boiled dinner—cooking while you work! That way when meal time arrives all you will have to do is serve and eat!

Recently, I was asked which car is my favorite of all the makes I have driven! All cars are good today, folks but my preference is "The Olds!" and will always be my favorite. In starting off after a red light, "The Old" really is a half block ahead of any car by one touch of the toe and that really sells "Olds"! The nice part it drives so smoothly no matter how rough the road!

What a grand time at the "Webb" reunion in Harford County where we are always guests each year. This family has met for 54 years in the very same place at Fawn Grove, Pa. Such a feast! Nothing could compare to that one! The very long tables appear as banquet affairs which served the 150 which attended. There was talent and a real program after the big dinner which appeared as a picture in any magazine which is advertised representing certain foods. Then, lovely gifts were presented to the oldest member, the youngest, twins, newly married couple and the ones married the longest.

Then there was the big Family Tree Chart on the wall and it was most interesting to read and study. The first "Webb" was Joseph Henry Webb and Salome Agnes Smith. How nice it is to keep up this reunion each year. I have never heard of city families doing such a thing.

On Route 1 this side of Oxford there is a real "Log" house which has been painted recently in brown and white. It is a most attractive affair and just so very old timey.

I stopped and made inquiries about it and the lady who rented the cabin stated the man next door could give me all the information.

I went to the bungalow next door and there sat. Mr. Jones, a retired gentleman of 83 years young who really does not appear a day older than 68. He told me that he built it many years ago and he and his wife lived there until her death. Then he talked about the years past and reminisced and suddenly there were tears. Such a good and kind face. Never say that "old people are cranky"—age does not make one this way but the manner in which they lived all the previous years and if they always had a nice disposition the latter is the part that counts as age positively does not make one cranky.

You, no doubt have read of the great "RESEARCH" for Polio and its success through Dr. Salk and his Dr. Members. It has taken years and time for which those big men and the Public (Continued on Second Page)

THE NEWSPAPER TOPS THE LIST

Alfred G. Peterson, who is president of the National Savings and Loan League, has this to say about advertising: "I feel that advertising is a very profitable investment. But we should not buy advertising blindly. We should give careful consideration both to the appeals and the media we use."

"The medium which tops the list is the medium that reaches the greatest number of people at the lowest cost. It is my opinion the newspaper is that medium. I place the newspaper at the top of the list because it reaches the local market. All of us are really conducting local businesses. We may be bound together into a national industry but our spheres of influence are entirely local."

"The newspaper reaches precisely the people we want to reach."

Well spoken Mr. Peterson!—E. Hofer.

THE FAMILY FARM IS STRONGER

The family farm a passing institution? John Bird, associate editor of Better Farming doesn't think so. He tells why in a Reader's Digest article carrying the dramatic title, "They're Inventing the Drudgery Out of Farm Life."

His article deals with the enormous progress that has been made in getting farm jobs done swiftly, efficiently, and economically. He writes: "Mechanization is bringing fundamental changes to U. S. farm life. Going, at last, is the traditional dawn-to-dusk drudgery which has been the age-old lot of people on the land. The up-to-date farmer has evolved into a power-minded production engineer who is quick to acquire the latest labor-saving implements and who also invents many of his own. As a result, each hour of work is becoming more productive, life in the country is more enjoyable and the family farm is growing stronger than ever."

He also observes, "Ask almost any farmer, 'What is your greatest labor-saver?' and he will point to his tractor, or give it a fond pat. The modern model is a compact, fast-moving power package that not only pulls heavy loads but also hoists, pushes, digs, cuts, pumps, shakes and carries."

Mr. Bird goes on to describe some of the other power-operated tools that American enterprise and ingenuity have brought to agriculture. The farm of past generations just wouldn't believe such miracles could exist. Machines are revolutionizing agriculture as completely as they are revolutionizing industry.—Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BEAVER FALLS, PA., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "Gas is vital to the general well-being and we want at all times an assured and ample supply, at a fair price. We want no Federal regulation...that will hamper the development of additional gas supplies and its transmission to our local industrial and householders users."

NEW HOLSTEIN, WIS., REPORTER: "During the conflict between Joseph Stalin and Leon Trotsky for control of the Communist machine in Russia in 1924, a blue print of world conquest was drafted by the Stalinites. Stalin wrested control from Trotsky and after had him murdered. This blueprint of conquest, according to Dr. Fred Schwarz, the noted Australian scholar on Communism, calls for the conquering of Asia first, then Africa, then Western Europe, then 'to isolate, degenerate and, if necessary, devastate the U. S.'"

 Rose plot, fringed pool,
 Ferned grot—
 The veriest school of Peace;
 And yet the fool contends
 That God is not—
 Not God! in Gardens!
 When the eve is cool?
 Nay, but I have a sign:
 'Tis very sure
 God walks in mine.

Thomas E. Brown

This poem was the theme around which the Carroll Garden Club planned its June Flower Show held at the Garden House, "Brookside", the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Miller Richardson, New Windsor Road, Wednesday, June 8, 1955.

To interpret Nature's moods in flower arrangements was a challenge for the exhibitors who created artistic masterpieces which were enhanced by the beauty of the setting in the Garden House. This show was the most ambitious ever undertaken by the club and the results were most gratifying. General chairman of the show was Mrs. Edgar Barnes who was ably assisted by members of the various committees on management and exhibits. Chairman of the bake sale and luncheon was Mrs. Walter Bower. The success of the show, despite the weather, attested to the ability of these members. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson also deserve thanks for the use of the Garden House which added so much to the beauty of the show.

Mrs. R. L. Sebastian is president of the club.

The judges were Mrs. Wendell Allen, Mrs. Wm. M. Beury and Mrs. John S. Strickland, of Baltimore. The club appreciated their giving so much time and effort to the judging of the arrangements and horticultural specimens.

WITH OUR ARMED FORCES

Pvt. William R. Flickinger, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Flickinger of Union Bridge, Md., has been assigned to Svc. Battery, 518th Airborne Field Artillery Battalion at Ft. Jackson for eight weeks of basic training.

He will spend the next eight weeks learning the fundamentals of being a soldier. This includes classroom lectures in such subjects as military courtesy and first aid, and combat field problems involving the use of the M-1 rifle, which he will learn to fire on various ranges.

After eight weeks of training with the 101st Airborne Division, the trainee is given about 14 days leave. He may return here for eight more weeks of infantry training, or he may be assigned to one of the many Army schools.

Basic training is required of each new man coming into the Army. Ft. Jackson is one of the Army's largest training installations. Primarily an infantry training post, the Fort offers schooling in specialties associated with an infantry division, as well as in combat tactics.

MEETING OF CARROLL COUNTY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The meeting of the Historical Society of Carroll County, held in Winfield School on the evening of June 24 was of exceptional interest. Mr. J. Harry Koller, president of the Society, turned over the meeting to Mrs. Bertha Pickett, director of Franklin District and Albert Franklin, director of Berrett District.

After Mrs. Pickett read a brief history of the John Evans House, a well-known Methodist shrine preserved by the late George Albaugh, she introduced Mr. C. Ray Barnes who gave the history of Bethany Southern Methodist Church built in 1877 near Taylorsville. Although the original building was sold in 1946, the marble cornerstone was preserved and placed in the foundation of Taylorsville Methodist church addition, erected in 1952.

Dr. Arthur G. Tracey described the early settlements in Berrett and Franklin Districts and pointed them out on a wall map of his construction, showing the locations of the first hundred settlements in Carroll County. He also called attention to the display of early land grants which he had brought with him. A vivid contrast was drawn between the holdings of the bona fide settlers with their 200 acres of land allotted free and the 800 acres quota grabbed by land speculators.

Dr. Tracey also made the most important announcement of the evening when, as chairman of the history committee, he reported that the invaluable historical collection of the late Leland Jordan has just been purchased by the Carroll County Commissioners who will turn it over to the Historical Society of Carroll County. During the past month Dr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Tracey, Dr. Theodore M. Whitfield, Mrs. Edgar G. Barnes, Miss Lillian Shipley, Mrs. J. Leland Jordan and Dr. Morris G. Ratoff, Annapolis, have been listing and evaluating the books, newspapers, and various documents in the Jordan collection. Mr. A. Earle Shipley asked the Society to consider equipping a vault or fireproof room for the preservation of these and many other irreplaceable items now in the possession of the Society.

Mrs. Alton Gosnell outlined the history of Calvary Lutheran church, of Woodbine. Built in 1889, the original structure was destroyed October 26, 1904, by fire ignited by a spark from a locomotive of the B. & O. Railroad. Whereupon the congregation decided to rebuild on a lot purchased on Sam's Creek Road, now Route 40 through Woodbine. The cornerstone was laid in 1905 by the Rev. A. H. Burkee. During the pastorate of the Rev. W. E. Saltzger the past six years, the membership and attendance have doubled, a new Parish House has been added, and the church has been completely remodeled.

A unique feature entitled "Open House at Winfield Academy" was introduced by Mr. C. Ray Barnes as he gave a brief outline of its story. This private school, started in 1890 in a room of the Dudderard home near Taylorsville progressed to larger and larger quarters until in 1897 it occupied the first floor of the new building erected by the P.O.S. of A. No. 2. The first teacher, Prof. William J. Heaps of Baltimore was followed by Professors Emory, Bradley, Hern, and Steele. Students who attended have been numbered among prominent doctors, nurses, teachers, merchants, bankers, and farmers of the county. The Academy was discontinued in 1908.

Mrs. J. Byron Gartrell a former student, then enlivened the program with a roll call of members of the Academy, many of whom survive and some of whom were present to rise in answer to their names. Among them were J. Byron Gartrell, John S. Barnes, Mr. Frank Barnes, Mrs. Harry Koller, Edgar Pickett, and Erman Shoemaker. Mr. Shoemaker related amusing human interest anecdotes connected with the school and outlined the very comprehensive curriculum which included not only the regular branches of learning but also made excursions into hypnotism and theology. Mrs. Gartrell displayed two medals which she won at the Academy: one in 1899 for highest general scholarship and the other in 1900, as first honor for her original essay on Maryland. Mrs. J. Harry Koller read a letter of greeting from Mrs. Zola S. Koontz, a former student now residing in Baltimore.

Mr. Arthur Griffice gave a graphic narration of his pioneering efforts in the development of public concern for Winfield School from 1928 to 1934. Working against what seemed to be insuperable obstacles. Mr. Griffice persisted until the County Commissioners gave a grant of $25,000 for the erection of a modern consolidated school. Then with the aid of the school children, he proceeded to beautify the grounds and climaxed the effort in 1938 when he celebrated the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States by dedicating a Constitution Memorial Garden which has become the pride of all Carroll County. In answer to a request letter sent the governors of the states, 36 replied with contributions of trees native to their states.

Of particular interest was a second generation seedling of the famous George Washington Elm of Cambridge, Mass., presented by the Mordecai Gist chapter of the D.A.R.

Mrs. Earle Shipley announced the Card Party and luncheon sponsored by the Carroll Garden Club for the benefit of the Historical Society Garden Restoration, Bowling Brook, Wednesday, July 13.

The evening concluded with refreshments served by the hostess committee of Franklin and Berrett districts.

lic were most patient. As in my previous columns where I stated that no one should ever begrudge one cent for Research of any kind as long as it was for Humanity! The Salk antipolio vaccine cost $10,000,000 and every penny of it came from the American people through their "MARCH OF DIMES". Thank God that you and you contributed and keep on doing so for you may save some one close to you—not just strangers!

Well, Gentlemen what did you think of Rocca last week down at the Coliseum? There surely was excitement for the entire bout! It was confusion with those Grapplers due to the fact that Rocca dropped his left leg over the lower rope.

Went to see the Year's Greatest Musical Romance, "The Glass Slipper!"

It was the story of a lonely girl who won the man she loved although the world was against her! Leslie Caron and Michael Wilding play the leading roles and if you ask me it was truly leading all the way. It is spectacular of our time. It will bring back "Cinderella" to you in some parts and really make you believe that the famous Fairytale finally came to life. The love song, "Take My Love" you will always remember and as you leave the theatre, you will forget you ever had a dull moment in your life time and the catchy tune you will be humming all the way home! I could go on and on but I want you to be surprised. I'll end with, "Don't Miss it!" It is playing at "The Film Center" 10 East North Ave. right off Charles Street.

You still have time, Ladies to have your old coat made into a lovely Cape or Stole by Mr. Sydney Winkler 203 W. Saratoga Street. He was formerly with Hochschild's. I am most pleased with the one he restyled for me. Everyone thinks it is new!

Well, folks, I'll be seeing you next week D.V. It was grand to stop in and lunch with Doc and see that young "looking Grandma" right there Wow—what a glamorous Ranch home he has out the 71 Highway! Just like a picture in a magazine! It was good to see the little widow whom I always thought would have made a grand Judge! Hope to be coming over in May for the day. Have a grand week-end and always remember, "GLASSES EFFECT VISION, PARTICULARLY WHEN THEY HAVE BEEN EMPTIED SEVERAL TIMES!" I am,

Ladies, many dresses are being shown this year as to the Peplum of years ago. They always look nice on a tall thin girl but never a shy!

All the fine T.V. programs are going off for the summer vacation and will not be brought back until September. Now is the time to purchase a T.V. at big savings as there are drastic reductions. (In every make and type).

Are you wondering about the purchase of Venetian Blinds and hesitating having them especially in the bedrooms due to the light coming in? Well, you do not have to ponder any more for there is the new one out called, "Flexalum" "TWI-NIGHT-NIGHT"! You can really turn day into night by just flicking the cord and the tapes won't fade either and there are two hundred color combinations from which to choose.

Ladies, as you go hatless most of the time in summer be sure your Crowning Glory stays lovely all the time by additional visits to your favorite Beauty Salon and never, never let your hair down even some of the times and I think you know just what I mean. Another thing which is most repulsive to women as well as to men is to wear those awful pin curlers during the day. It really appears freakish and takes away something from a very womanly woman.

I know of one young husband who said to me, "I never look at my wife without she having her hair done up in that mess just as you see her now!" Take heed, Ladies of any age!

Here's to the inquiry about the Gemini individual—those born from May 20 June 20 (inclusive). Many of these people (both sexes) are quite fascinating as they are very kind, thoughtful, considerate and sympathetic. They usually have a dual personality—in other words blowing hot and cold almost at the same breath—very changeable. They love all the beautiful things in life which they like to place in their home. They make excellent nurses and are fine sales individuals. They are smart dressers and have fine taste. They should always stick to one thing before they go delving into something else. Their partner for life should be either a Sagittarius or Aquarius—that is the December sign or the February sign. When not properly mated these people have two marriages and sometimes three! Go slow, Gemini and be careful. It is best to marry a little later in life than run off in a hasty marriage when too young!

Now, that vacation time is on hand and you cannot afford to take along one—why not enjoy day affairs by spending the day away from home at a resort. You can see the different sights and yet come back to your own bed. That way you won't lose any rest whatsoever! A long boat ride is the most relaxing of all as you just sit down the entire time.

Well, Gentlemen you did not miss much if you did not see the "team match" on T.V. last week of Wrestling at the Coliseum with the Human Orchid, Gorgeous George, Tolas, Eagle and Berry. It appeared as a joke as Georgia was jumping up and down and running around like a kid! Never have I seen him do this before. He always demanded a big respect from all on lookers. The Bout only lasted 28 minutes. As for "The Human Orchid" he is really finished!

Did you hear Walter Winchell the other night state the real reason for so little delinquency cases in England? Would be wonderful to start it over here??

So long, folks. Have a grand week-end. Will be seeing you next week D.V. Remember always if you are good tonight, you will be glad tomorrow! Have a grand week-end. I am,

MR. JOHN D. YOUNG TO SERVE ON WELFARE BOARD

It has been announced that Mr. John D. Young will serve on the Carroll County Welfare Board for a year's term as representative of the Board of County Commissioners.

At the last meeting Mr. E. O. Weant was reelected Chairman and Mrs. Gladys Houck, Vice-Chairman.

The Board also announced that beginning July 1st the rate of payment to foster parents who care for children for this agency will be increased to $35.00 per month for children under twelve years of age and $40.00 for older children. The clothing rates will be slightly increased for older children to help meet the cost of supplying clothing for teen-age youngsters. This new rate for boarding and clothing costs will bring the Carroll County welfare agency in line with surrounding counties and with most private agencies.

The Agency director submitted to the Board the monthly financial report which showed that the agency spent a total of $16,791.65 for public assistance, foster care and administration. This is a decrease over the month of April of approximately $600.00.

There was one run-in, due to firecrackers, and a number of narrow escapes, but the most damage was done to the finances of one who felt that the great object of the day was to shoot off something, bigger the better. We're pumping more power into more cars than ever before

... thanks to Marylanders' unswerving confidence. Almost 60 years of petroleum service have convinced motorists that they will always get the best in automotive fuels and lubricants when they drive in at the familiar Betholine-Sinclair sign. As a result, Betholine-Sinclair stations have multiplied and today Betholine-Sinclair dealers are pumping more power into more Maryland cars than ever before. Drive in ... you'll enjoy dealing here ... where the men in white serve you right.

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Habakkuk.
Devotional Reading: Habakkuk 3:2-4, 17-19.

God In Dark Days

Lesson for July 10, 1955

SOMETIMES we envy the serene faith of the prophets of old. If so, it shows we have not read the prophets carefully, for some of them had a faith that was anything but serene. Jeremiah was one of those, Habakkuk was another. Habakkuk lived during the dark days at the end of the little kingdom of Judah. Reading his opening lines, one might think he had been reading our morning papers in 1955. "Why dost thou make me see wrongs and look upon trouble? Destruction and violence are before me; strife and contention arise. So law is slackened and justice never goes forth..." Why does God let such things go on?

Dr. Foreman

This Is Hard To Believe

Habakkuk asked the same question; and got an answer from God that the Lord told him he would hardly believe. Not only was the local scene, in Jerusalem and Judea, dark with violence and injustice, but the farther horizon was darker still. Out of the east the newly resurgent Babylonian empire was rising. Now empires seldom rise peacefully. They come to power with the uproar and the agonies of war. Empires arise by crushing smaller kingdoms, and Babylon was no exception. If you had asked any wide-awake Hebrew of Habakkuk's time, "What is the greatest national danger you see threatening your country?" he would probably have said: "The imperial ambitions of Babylon." Most Hebrews would have said that the Babylonians, or Chaldeans as they are often called, were the enemies of God's people. But Habakkuk is told something God says is hard to believe: "I am rousing the Chaldeans." That bitter, hasty, terrible, violent, godless nation, whose only god was their own might—God was arousing that nation to punish Judah for Judah's sins. What was God going to do about the violence and injustice in Judah? He was going to wipe it out, wipe it off the face of the ground... and use the Chaldeans to do it with.

Is The Remedy Worse Than The Disease?

We can see from reading the second part of Habakkuk's first chapter, that he could not understand, at first, how God could do such a thing as arousing the Chaldeans. How can God use devilish men to accomplish divine purposes? Is it conceivable that a God who is the Holy One, who cannot look on wrong—is it conceivable that such a God would be silent while the ruthless and cruel armies of the invaders were capturing men and treasure, cities and villages, as a fisherman takes everything in his net? Nevertheless it has often been true that God's good purpose has been set forward by men who did not know nor obey him. When Joseph's brothers sold him into Egypt as a slave, they intended no good by it. Their only motives were greed, cruelty, jealousy and revenge. But God brought good out of it. War is a terrible thing; but as Lincoln suggested, it is quite possible to believe that the horrors of a civil war are God's way of punishing a nation for the injustice of slavery. If a nation will not listen to its true prophets and repent, God can use sterner measures.

Faith Endures

Habakkuk, pursuing bravely his questioning of God, comes out at last to two illuminating thoughts which the Lord gave him. (It may be noted in passing that sometimes the questioning mind gets answered when the unquestioning mind does not.) One is that in dark days, when God is not to be seen, the man of faith must wait. "God does not settle all his accounts in October." The answer to life's riddles is not always given immediately. God's signature can be seen at the end, though not always do we recognize his handwriting at first. The other thought was this: The man of faith must not give up his faith. For faith has the power of enduring life. God may use a "bitter and hasty nation" to punish another sinful one. But God judges all nations, Chaldeans and Judeans alike. Seen in the light of history, we can perceive as a fact what Habakkuk could see only with his inward eye: that the God-defying conquering Chaldean nation would vanish soon without a trace, while the little conquered people of the Hebrews would survive, because in them was the undying seed of faith. BEATITUDES FOR CHILDREN

Blessed is that child who has someone who believes in him and has high hopes for him.

Blessed is that child who has someone to whom he can carry his problems unafraid.

Blessed is that child whose home is a haven of happiness.

Blessed is that child to whom life is a book of knowledge and who is privileged to turn the pages one by one.

Blessed is that child who is allowed to pursue his curiosity into every worthwhile field of information.

Blessed is that child who has someone who understands that childhood's griefs are real and bitter and call for understanding sympathy.

Blessed is that child who is led gently by the hand along the pathway of life by one who is guide, companion and inspiration.

Blessed is that child who has about him those who believe in his divinity and not his depravity.

Blessed is that child whose love of the true, the beautiful and the good has been nourished through the years.

Blessed is that child whose innate imagination has been turned into channels of creative effort.

Blessed is that child whose efforts to achieve have found encouragement and kindly commendation.

Blessed is that child who has learned freedom from selfishness through responsibility and cooperation with others.

Blessed is that child who discovers that all life is a process of education and that each graduation is but a commencement in a higher grade.

Blessed is that home or community or nation which sees in the child the hope of the future and dedicates itself to the realization of that hope.

Twin Pipes that play sweet music!

Chevrolet's "Super Turbo-Fire V8" with 180 hp.

You can spot this one by the twin tailpipes. No matter what you drive, you're going to see twin-exhaust Chevrolets pulling away—in traffic, on the toughest hills, on the long straightaways.

... Unless you have a "Super Turbo-Fire V8" of your own. And then you'll know what it's like to pilot the car that sets the pace for everything else—and doesn't pause to read the price tags!

What makes the Super scot? Chevrolet's superb valve-in-head V8, with the shortest stroke in the industrial, the most power per pound, and the only 12-volt electrical system in its field—all this plus a four-barrel carburetor and free-breathing twin exhausts.

Want to sample this silk-lined cyclone? Just give us a call, any day this week, and we'll be proud to show you just how hot a V8 can be.

*Optional at extra cost.

†Station wagon models have single exhaust pipes.

SHORT STORY

Straw Boss

By Hal Borden

AT FIRST Mabel Turner had been overjoyed to find the "For Sale" sign tacked to the clapboards of the Cape Cod cottage. Even more so when Stuart Clark, young freelance architect, had offered to move out almost immediately.

But now the pleasure seemed to pass. In all her twenty-four years she couldn't recall having seen anyone so discouraged as the young man before her. Earlier the real estate man had told her Stuart was a returned POW recuperating from the Korean ordeal. He had been left with a five-year-old son following his wife's accidental death.

It seemed like misfortune had literally rained upon him for all the major builders had rejected his low-cost housing plans.

"It's harmful," she said, "To just quit this way. Why, your model houses are wonderful. There must be someone—"

Stu looked up at her sharply. His face still thin and gaunt. "Every major builder has had a look at them," he said with bitterness.

"Now what," she asked simply. He shrugged his thin shoulders. "I'll probably become a floor walker in one of Uncle Lloyd's department stores." And there was sarcasm hidden in his voice.

"I'll probably become a floor-walker in one of Uncle Lloyd's department stores." There was sarcasm in his voice.

The heavy silence was shattered by five-year-old Bobby who, in a world of his own, was playing with one of his father's model dwellings.

Mabel was forced to smile at the way Bobby was directing his imaginary workmen about the tiny house. Then she turned back to Stu. "That playacting helps to fill in the blank spaces of his life," she said.

"From here on in there will be no blank spaces in his life if I can help it. He'll have to learn to like Uncle Lloyd."

Mabel said a shaky goodbye when Stu handed her the key to the cottage, told her where things could be found and what repairs should be attended to.

In the weeks following she threw herself into her new home and her town job. Loneliness seemed to melt away during the busy, Spring days.

Her surprise engulfed her when Stu and Bobby drove up one Sunday afternoon.

"Just in time for lunch you two," was her happy greeting. "Toss your coats over any chair."

"We'll have to skip lunch," Stu told her. "We've just come after that fool model house for one thing. Bobby seems lost without it."

"Then you're lucky I saved it," Mabel answered. Remembering secretly how she had carefully packed it away, Bobby's eyes lit up at the sight of it.

"Uncle Lloyd bought him a big, new one," Stu stammered. "But Bobby didn't care for it somehow—" He never finished.

Silence again shrouded the cottage and somehow Bobby had momentarily been forgotten. Now, softly and industriously, his voice came through the open window leading off the porch.

They both watched silently as the five-year-old boy put the finishing touches on the model home. To his workmen he was issuing orders.

"—and if daddy doesn't marry Miss Mabel and we have to go back to that big spooky house, I want you men to take good care of this house and see that Miss Mabel always has a nice place to live."

Mabel lifted her tear fogged eyes away from the scene and started to walk away from the open window, but when she turned she saw that Stu had removed his coat and had tossed it over the back of a familiar chair. His hand reached out and took her arm and before she could speak, he kissed her.

"I can't let those tiny workmen do it all alone," he said. "I think we'll all have to ditch in and help out, darling."

Then after he kissed her again, he straightened up and asked like a hungry bear. "But first, what about that invitation to lunch?"
