Games Sunday
Wenksville at Brushtown
Hunterstown at Greenmount
Mummasburg at Harney
Bonneauville at Taneytown
Taneytown's baseball team of the South Penn League, assured itself of at least a place in the first division by virtue of a forfeit Sunday. The scheduled game was with 7th place Greenmount, who failed to field a full team. The win gave Taneytown a right to play in the shaggy play offs which are scheduled to begin one week from Sunday. Wenksville has already assured itself of the championship, but a red hot race still exists between Taneytown, Bonneauville, and Hunterstown for 2nd place. The big game will be this Sunday with Bonneauville playing at Taneytown on the Memorial Park diamond. Game time is 2 p. m.

Taneytown's baseball fans have had plenty of good ball offered to them this year with the home-town boys playing much improved ball. The attendance at the games has been discouragingly poor and the boys could use some encouragement from the fans. Many times the club cannot meet their weekly expenses which amount to approximately $25.00 for every home game. Let's show these players that we are squarely behind them by cheering them on to a win this Sunday and then in the play-off games.

In the Babe Ruth League Taneytown lost to Libertytown on Tuesday by a score of 10 to 15. Brown pitched for Taneytown with Crouse catching. This game eliminated Taneytown in the second half of the divided season schedule. Taneytown copped first place in the first half.

Two more regularly scheduled games are to be played. Tomorrow (Fri.) evening Taneytown at Woodsboro and on August 16 New Windsor at Taneytown.

An exhibition game will be played Monday evening with Hanover on the local Memorial Park diamond.

Support the youth of our community by attending these games.

Paul "Smoky" Morelock, local manager of the C. & P. Telephone Company, is very ably managing the fine playing boys of the Taneytown team.

PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONARY SOCIETIES MEET AT PINEY CREEK SOCIAL HALL AUG. 10

The Missionary Societies of Emmitsburg, Piney Creek and Taneytown meet together three times a year. On the Emmitsburg and Taneytown dates a book is chosen for study or review and the hostess society serves a lunch. In August one feels more like being entertained than study so the program is in a lighter vein.

This year the play was chosen, "They Made An Impression", which they surely did when they sent a famous writer to the kitchen to help serve and greeted the substitute waiter Grandma Wallen had sent as the writer.

The story was presented by Mrs. Evelyn Peterson, Mrs. Charles Stambaugh, Mrs. Robert Ingram, Mrs. William Abrecht, Miss Elizabeth Annan and Miss Anna Galt.

Mrs. Louise Baker, with her bevy of able assistants, served the usual supper of chicken salad, rolls, potato chips, slaw, tomatoes, coffee, iced tea, peaches and cup cakes.

As greater space permits a greater number of guests, the gentlemen are invited in August. All were welcomed by the pastor, Rev. Gideon Galambos, who also asked God's blessing on the meeting and the supper. There were 74 present.

Mr. Roy Baker furnished music with the chimes during the evening.

CHILD EVANGELISM DAY CLUB HELD

Clubs were held at the homes of Mrs. Kenneth Nusbaum, E. Baltimore St., Miss Phyllis Flickinger, Pine-Mar; Mrs. Kenneth Stoner, Middle St., and Mrs. Stoner Fleagle, of Mayberry. A total of 92 children attended the meetings, most of them having perfect attendance for the four days.

ADDITIONAL MAIL SERVICE FOR TANEYTOWN

To Be Inaugurated Saturday, August 20

Postmaster J. F. Burke has announced that Taneytown will be the recipient of a new and improved mail service in the near future. This new service known as the Balt. & Martins. H.P.O. will be a highway post office operating between Baltimore, Md. and Martinsburg, West Va., and will be inaugurated on Saturday, August 20, 1955. Mails carried on the initial trip of the route will be restricted to first-day covers. Time has been allotted at offices enroute for dedication ceremonies at which time the vehicle will be open for public inspection. Regular scheduled service on this run will begin operation on Monday, August 22, 1955.

The Post Office Department in establishing this highway post office route is endeavoring to bring a modern and efficient means of mail transportation to this area, with provisions for distribution enroute and improved handling of both incoming and outgoing mails. With the employment of this new Balt. & Martins. H.P.O. together with the currently operating York & Wash H.P.O., Taneytown is provided with better mail service than many cities throughout the nation, because all mails are worked for direct connections with other railroad junctions and terminals route, thus giving your mail a more speedier dispatch to its destination.

Citizens of Taneytown and community should be very proud to be participants of this fine and improved mail service. A most cordial invitation is extended to all patrons to help participate in the inaugural trip on Saturday, Aug. 20, 1955 at 9:22 a. m.

Patrons desiring first-day cancellations of the first trip covers may leave their covers with the postmaster who will dispatch them with the first trip on the H.P.O., and those desiring cancellations of the return trip or trip 2 will be kept separate and given desired treatment by the clerks on duty. A clear space not less than 2 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches to the left on the address side of all covers must be left for application of the cachet.

HOFF APPOINTED Maryland Senator Named Head of P S C

Carroll County's State Senator Stanford I. Hoff has been named by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin to be chairman of Maryland's Public Service Commission.

His appointment to the $9,000-a-year job is for a term expiring June 1, 1961.

Hoff's successor in the Senate has not been announced, although it generally is believed it will be Sherman E. Flanagan, Westminster insurance man and chairman of the County's Republican state central committee.

The state senator is the second public official in the county to resign his elected office. Last week Walter V. Bennett, chairman of the Carroll County Commissioners, announced he would quit that post to become postmaster at Sykesville.

SOCIAL SECURITY TWENTY YEARS OLD

67 Million Persons Covered by Act in 1955

The Baltimore (North) social security office will participate in the nationwide observance of the 20th anniversary of the enactment of the original social security law, Mr. Franklin M. Barnes, district manager, announced today.

The Social Security Act became law on Aug. 14, 1935. "At that time only about one worker in 10 was covered by any retirement system, and only about one worker in 20 by a public retirement program", Mr. Barnes said. He pointed out that 9 out of 10 people who work for a living can now look forward to retirement benefits under the old-age survivors insurance program and said that the original law provided only old-age protection. It applied to some 33 million workers in commerce and industry. The 1939 amendments added payments for dependents of retired workers and for the survivors of workers who died.

It was not until 1951 that coverage was extended to the self-employed, and to certain employees of non-profit organizations, regularly employed domestic and farm workers, and some employees of Federal, State, and local governments. Ten million more workers were brought under the program through the 1954 amendments which extended coverage to self-employed farmers, most farm employees and workers in private households, and certain self-employed professionals. Protection was also made available, under special agreements, to more State and local government employees, and to ministers and members of religious orders. "About 67 million persons will build this protection for themselves and their families during 1955", Mr. Barnes declared.

Mr. Barnes pointed out that the average old-age benefit payment has increased from $22.60 monthly in 1940 to $600 monthly at the end of 1954. Payments are still higher for retired workers who have more recently come on the rolls. This average old-age payment is now $80, and the average monthly payment to a young widow with two minor children is $185.

As an illustration of the progress of the program during the twenty years of its existence, Mr. Barnes said that many people who had themselves received benefits as children now have families of their own and are building old-age and survivors insurance protection through employment or self-employment now covered by the law.

Looking to the future, Mr. Barnes said that by 1975, when there will be 20 million Americans age 65 or over, 4 out of 5 of them will be eligible for benefit payments as retired workers, aged wives, dependent husbands, widows or dependent widowers or aged parents. At that time, nearly 90 million people will be in work covered by the law, and 93 million people will be insured, Mr. Barnes predicted.

COUNTY HOLSTEIN BREEDERS' CLUB TO HOLD TWILIGHT MEETING

The Carroll County Holstein Breeders' Association will hold a twilight meeting Tuesday, August 16th, on the John Teeter farm near Taneytown, Md.

All Holstein Breeders as well as all other farmers of the county are invited to be present on Tuesday evening, August 16, at 7 o'clock sharp on the farm. There are many interesting developments on the farm other than the good Holstein herd of 75 milking cows. A large pole barn and bunker silo where both hay and ensilage is self fed to the cows can also be seen. A hay dryer is in operation together with a rather complete irrigation system all of which will be available for inspection.

All dairymen will be interested in the pipe line delivery of milk to the large stainless steel tank which has been in use for some time.

Specialists from the University of Maryland will be present to answer questions and give a demonstration in the trimming of feet.

This will offer dairymen of the county an opportunity to see many improved practices in operation on this farm and the officers of the County Holstein Club are especially anxious that farmers of the county avail themselves of the opportunity and be present on this occasion.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, 1955

GONE, BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

The 84th Congress has made its traditional summer exit from Washington in something slightly more hectic than the traditional confusion. For a week or more before the annual retreat, both the House and Senate, like two great Roman candles were spewing out laws far into the night. Whether this was accompanied by more light than heat might also be debated. But they certainly got production. Of a total of 811 items of legislation for the session, 271 were dropped on President Eisenhower's desk during the furious drive for adjournment.

Sure that they had finally quit, the President held a delayed press conference to tot up the score. On foreign affairs, he said, this Congress, like its predecessor, had shown "complete appreciation of the bipartisan approach". But it hadn't been so hot on the domestic front. Of 13 legislative problems on which he had asked action last June, he said, only four had been disposed of. And of the remaining nine, he considered four to be "vital". These were the programs for school construction, public health, highway construction and water resources. Such problems, he said, must be intelligently met to insure the continuation of our unprecedented prosperity. The possibility of an extra session was hinted at.

As is our annual custom, we shall again mention that it would seem to make no sense for the Congress to deliberately leave the country without a Government for as nearly half a year as they can contrive it. Time was when Washington's heat was a good excuse, but now the lawmakers are air conditioned. Likely enough they'll be hotter at home. Also, having voted themselves a thumping raise last year, most people consider they are now pretty well paid—for a year's work. And in today's world, we'd feel safer with them on the job.

One thing we did note. An increasing number explained they were not knocking off, but would be working very hard until the next session convenes in January. Could there be a guilty feeling developing?—U. S. Press Association.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

TOLEDO, OHIO, BLADE: "A fair trial, involving the age-old struggle of the individual against all-powerful government, is the most basic, the most essential of all human rights. From the dawn of civilization, mankind has looked to it as the first line of defense against oppression under any form of government."

ANGOLA, IND., STEUBEN REPUBLICAN: "Benjamin Franklin, a worldly man, said, 'He who shall introduce into public affairs the principles of primitive Christianity will revolutionize the world.' Franklin's words have been justified by the amazing development of the group of weak little states into the richest, most powerful nation in the world, with the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any country. . . . The great force which spurs men to be zealous in the development of his country is the right to see the ownership of the reasonable profits of his own efforts."

"You sure have an excellently run garage here," remarked the tourist as he was having his car serviced. "I was noticing that mechanic working on the car over there. He is so careful to use that cloth blanket on the fender when he's working on the motor. It was a pleasure too, to see a mechanic lower a hood gently. And notice he washes his hands and puts a clean cloth on the upholstery before starting the car."

"Yeah," replied the attendant, "that's his car."

FARM TALENT ROUND-UP AMATEUR CONTEST

Members of the Southern States Taneytown Cooperative Board of Directors and the Farm Home Advisory Committee voted at their annual meeting Planning Conference held recently to hold another Farm Talent Round-up Amateur Contest this year as one of the highlights of their local Southern States annual membership meeting to be held on September 1, 1955. The meeting will be held at the Big Pipe Creek Park, Taneytown, Md.

This contest—which is for amateurs only who are 12 years of age or over on August 1, 1955—offers an opportunity to the winning act at the local meeting to compete for an expense-paid three-day trip to New York City, plus a $100.00 cash award. Members of the immediate families of all farmers and all Southern States' patrons are eligible.

All individual members of the 1954 talent acts who won first place at their local contests and those who participated in last year's district contests are ineligible to compete. Employees of Southern States Cooperative and its Cooperative Service Agencies and members of their families are also ineligible.

HORSE SHOWS SPEED

Citan, a three-year-old Titan Hanover trotting colt owned by George Shriner of Taneytown, scored its 4th victory of the season in 10 starts. His most recent victory came at Roosevelt Raceway, by four lengths over Worth A Call, in 2:05.

Citan, reined by Stanley Dancer, the meeting's leading driver, established a new lifetime winning mark. Previously, the Taneytown trotter scored a victory in 2:07 at Rosecroft Raceway, Oxon Hill, Md., in May.

After starting from the no. 4 post position, Dancer tucked Citan into second place at the quarter behind Black Bird, and remained there till the three-quarters.

Going to the outside at this point, Citan assumed command and led by 3 lengths at the top of the stretch. Trotting the last quarter, Citan completely outclassed the field and showed four lengths over his nearest rival, Worth A Call, at the finish.

The 2:05 performance by Citan marks him as a trotter to watch in the future.

LOW COST PURINA SUPPLEMENT

for MORE MILK from your GRAIN...

General farmers . . . at last there's a LOW-COST supplement that helps you get more milk from grain. It's Purina Bulky-Las, a BIG bag of ration that costs about the same per bushel as oats or barley. Cows love it. Try Bulky-Las on your grain, or mixed in with your ration. When production goes up over 350 lbs. fat per cow yearly, begin adding Cow Chow Concentrate for still higher production.

FLIES DIE LIKE MAGIC

Just sprinkle Purina dry Fly Bait on the floor . . . and watch 'em die!

WOMAN'S WORLD

Select Skirts That Add Pep to Tired Wardrobes

If you're longing to add some small item to your wardrobe to revive its spirits, why not one of the nice skirts which are so popular? Only few women have a one-skirt wardrobe because fashion tempts them with so many styles such as sheaths, gores skirts, flared, whirled, pleated, walking and squaw skirts.

The trend "to borrow from the boys" continues strong. Hence, slim skirts in men's wear flannels are important as is an increasing interest in belts. More and more designers are choosing belts that serve as a conversation piece for the skirt or effect a dramatic color touch.

Slim, Trim Skirts

A whole phalanx of walking skirts are going to schools, offices and to town. These are usually done in Bankers' gray or brown flannel. They're slim as a reed with two back kick pleats or a single front butterfly pleat to allow for action as well as comfort.

One of the prettiest of the current skirts is a slender skirt with all around kick pleats to effect a trumpet silhouette.

Popular, too, are a host of front-seamed skirts that depend upon hip-high pockets for styling interest. These may be flap, patch, bel-lows or slit pockets, with the latter done in horizontal, vertical or slantwise position.

Novel fishtail cut gives room for action without altering the slim sheath look of this new skirt. Slim skirts such as this are fashion's favorite and many carry the Sanforlan label which means they can be washed without shrinking out of fit. Tailoring interest centers on the slantwise pockets multiple seamed at the top edge.

New Short Skirts

One of the most startling innovations in the skirt picture is the very brief skirt which ends just above the knees. These are mainly for sportswear and lounging and for the very young who have pretty knees and even prettier legs. In this class is the short "kilt" skirt.

With short skirts, there's word, too, that the underwear people are making special pants for wear under these short skirts.

Hot Sandwiches Make Good Snacks

Having people in to play some games or just visit? Young folks coming in from ice skating, sleighing or the movies? In either case hot sandwiches make wonderful refreshments on a nippy night.

Grilled ham and cheese sandwiches are bound to be a favorite and can be put together in advance, wrapped in waxed paper and grilled at the last minute. Serve with cold slaw, pickles and a hot beverage.

Grilled Ham-Cheese Sandwiches (Makes 6)

½ pound American cheese
½ pound cooked ham
12 slices buttered bread

Shred cheese fine and blend with finely minced ham. Spread over tops of 6 bread surfaces, top with remaining slices. Press together. Spread outside surfaces with softened butter and grill on griddle or in a heavy skillet over moderate heat until golden brown. Turn and brown on other side. Serve at once.

Broiled shrimp goes into this wonderful sandwich which folks will cheer. It's nice to serve with relishes such as carrot and celery sticks, black and green olives.

Broiled Shrimp Sandwiches (Serves 6)

6 slices buttered toast
1½ cups cooked, chopped shrimp
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped cucumber
pickle
Mayonnaise
Salt to taste

6 large slices American cheese
Combine shrimps, celery, pickles and enough mayonnaise to bind ingredients together. Add salt to taste. Spread about ¼ cup of this mixture on each slice of toast, top with a slice of cheese and place under moderate broiler heat. Broil until cheese has begun to brown and melt a little. Serve at once.

Radioactive Tuna Increased Geiger Counter Demands

NEW YORK—The disclosure of radioactive tuna fish in Japanese home waters led to a world-wide demand for Geiger Counters from American suppliers.

One New York firm received numerous inquiries from all over Japan and Europe, as well as from Africa and South America, asking for Geiger Counters to check for radioactive contamination resulting from A-and-H bomb test shots.

Civil Defense and Public Health authorities throughout the United States and the fishing industry on the West Coast have been studying the problem and the possibility of world-wide spread of contamination of fish from A-and-H-bomb fission product fallout.

Radiation "fall-out" may travel thousands of miles from the site of an explosion, and this is one of the means of detecting atomic blasts anywhere in the world. Though personal danger is remote, no one is entirely free from the reach of radioactive particles. Every A- and H-bomb explosion leaves considerable contamination in the air which decreases to infinitesimal amounts as distance from the detonation point increases.

Following public reports of contaminated fish in Japan, the Atomic Energy Commission said in its semi-annual report: "It appears that contamination consisted largely of radioactive materials on the exterior surfaces of the fish from contact with fallout material on the ship," adding that analysis of a specimen fish showed the "radioactivity of the edible portions to be . . . acceptable . . . for continuous use by humans."

So, it's safe to eat tuna next Friday.

Older Men Are In Skilled Ranks

NEW YORK—The guy who said "It's a young man's world" probably hasn't been informed that half of all employed males in the United States are at least 40 years of age and that men at ages 40 and over are definitely in the majority among the skilled craftsmen, such as carpenters, brickmasons, machinists, painters and paper hangers, plumbers, stationary engineers, and tool and diemakers.

Too, older men predominate in some occupations such as tailors and railroad locomotive engineers more than half of whom are well past their 50th birthday.

Where are the younger men? An analysis of 1950 Census information shows relatively large numbers of young men among farm workers, automobile service station and parking attendants, and among linemen and service-men employed in electric power, telephone and telegraph industries.

But the study, relating to 40-, 500,000 employed males, shows that each major occupation includes men in a wide range of ages, the median age being 39.7 years.

Among the 15,700,000 employed women the median age was 36.4 years. The median age for the large occupational group of stenographers, typists and secretaries was only 25.8 years.

Pin-Ball Machinery Aids Defense Weapon

FLINT, Mich.—A scientific "pin-ball machine" is being used to speed up testing one of the Army's newest defense weapons—the Skysweeper.

The technical name for the new device is an "automatic high potential and continuity tester." Engineers have shortened this to "hipot."

In operation, it looks like a pin-ball machine. Rows of lights mounted on the hipot flash off and on as it quickly and automatically tests hundreds of electrical connections in the Skysweeper for "shorts" and breaks. The light flashing stops if a faulty connection is found.

In each Skysweeper (an electronic artillery machine gun built to seek out and destroy invading fighter planes) there are eleven wiring harnesses. Each has as much as a half mile of wire and 800 connector points. The hipot can test the largest of these harnesses in less than an hour, while former test procedure took 40 hours.

Sure-Fire Scarecrow—Two Michigan State College faculty members think they've found a way to do away with scarecrows and costly tree covers in Michigan orchards.

Horticulturist G. M. Kessler and zoologist G. J. Wallace are installing in test orchards phonograph records of bird distress calls which they believe will keep robins and starlings from invading orchards and eating up the profits.

HISTORY OF HARNEY

PART X

Mt. Joy Church

On the 6th of April the council decided to call a congregational meeting on April 27, to decide whether or not this congregation would form themselves into a self-sustaining charge. A communication was also read from the council at Taneytown, agreeing to allow their pastor to supply this congregation for the present, or until the meeting of Synod in the fall.

After the council had consulted a goodly number of the members, it was found that they were very much opposed to supporting Rev. Finckel, whom the Taneytown people had elected, and that more than double the amount of money could be raised for Rev. M. L. Beard, then a student at Gettysburg Theological Seminary, who had been filling the pulpit as a temporary supply since the separation of the two congregations.

This feeling of opposition which existed among the members of this church, was not caused by anything that they had against Rev. Finckel, but simply on account of the manner in which the Taneytown council and congregation had been acting towards this congregation.

April 27th the congregational meeting was held according to a previous announcement. Dr. J. C. Bush was called to the chair, and the meeting was opened with prayer by Henry Benner. Letters were then read from the council at Flohr's church, also from the council of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Littlestown, both in reply to this council in regard to forming a charge; both, however, were opposed to uniting in forming a new charge with Mt. Joy congregation.

The object of the meeting was then clearly stated by the chairman, after which, came the question—Will this congregation form themselves into a self-sustaining charge? After considerable discussion it was decided that it should be left to a vote; when the question arose—Shall the female members of the church be allowed to vote on this question? It was decided that they should; the vote was then taken, and resulted in favor of forming a self-sustaining charge. Rev. M. L. Beard was then unanimously elected as a supply to fill the pulpit until the 1st of July, by which time the congregation expected to be able to secure a permanent pastor.

Rev. Beard would not agree to serve any longer as a supply. His course of studies would be completed by that time, and he of course expected to be engaged somewhere in the ministerial work as a regular pastor. Rev. Beard served as a supply for nearly six months, and when his term expired on June 23, 1878, he was unanimously elected pastor of the congregation, without one dissenting voice, thus showing clearly a high appreciation of his services and the great esteem in which he was held by the members of the church. Rev. Beard accepted, and therefore became the first pastor of Mt. Joy church.

On Jan. 1, 1880, it was ordered that "It shall be the duty of the council to meet quarterly, for the transaction of business, and that any business transacted at any other time shall not be legal, unless it be in cases of absolute necessity, and that each meeting of the council shall be held on the last Saturday of each quarter."

The following preambles were also offered, and resolutions adopted:

"Whereas, much inconvenience and unnecessary confusion has arisen in reference to funeral services taking the place of the regular Lord's day worship, therefore,

"Resolved, 1st, That in the future no funeral service shall take the place of the regular Lord's day worship, except said appointment be made to suit the regular hour for preaching and the services be held in the church."

Resolved, 2nd, That no member shall have the right to claim the services of the pastor during the regular hour of the Lord's day worship.

Whereas, much trouble and inconvenience is given to the officers of the church owing to the present arrangement of yearly canvassing the congregation, to request members to renew their subscription, therefore,

Resolved, That hereafter the present rate of subscription shall be binding upon each member from year to year, unless notified to change the amount subscribed, which notice must be given at least three months before the expiration of the year.

Whereas, Mt. Joy congregation has severed its connection with Taneytown, and became a self-sustaining charge, and,

Whereas, a suitable lot of ground for the erection of a parsonage and other necessary buildings has been offered free of charge, and,

Whereas, these buildings are necessary to the best interest of the congregation, and to the comfort and convenience of the pastor, therefore,

Resolved, That we, the members of the council, deem it expedient and to the best charge, to begin as soon as possible to canvass the congregation to secure money for the erection of such buildings.

Resolved, That this resolution be presented to the members of the congregation for their consideration and immediate action.

ACCIDENT FACTS

Nineteen times as many persons were killed in motor accidents in 1954 as in 1910—but there were 123 times as many vehicles on the highways and they traveled faster and farther. In addition to 36,000 killed, 1,250,000 persons were injured in motor vehicle accidents last year.

The 1955 edition of "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical yearbook, which is just off the press, shows that Americans drove 560,000,000,000 miles.

Nine out of every 10 jobs today are covered by social security, with nearly 72 million of us coming under it.

Standing Alone

Lesson for August 14, 1955

THEN what? What happens next? What is going to happen to me if I don't do what you want? What does "or else—" mean? If the person who asks such questions doesn't get answers he likes, but goes right on in his determined way, we say he is brave. If a man does what he does when everybody else is doing it, when he gets well paid for it, praised and rewarded, we do not call that brave. But when a man does what he does knowing pretty well that he will get hurt because he does it, we call the man brave.

Dr. Foreman

Two Kinds of Courage

There are two kinds of bravery or courage. One we call physical courage, the other is moral courage. The physical hero dashes into a burning building or into a swift river, to save some one else at real peril to his own life. He may refuse to disclose an important secret even though he is being tortured to make him reveal it. The moral hero stands up for what he knows is right even though this makes him unpopular or ridiculous in the eyes of people whose good will he would like to keep. We might say that physical courage is determination in spite of the prospect of bodily pain; moral courage is determination in spite of the prospect of mental or spiritual pain. Sometimes the two are combined in the same act and the same person, as with Daniel in the stories assigned for this week. Moral courage being rather more unusual than physical, let us take a look at that, especially.

Ridicule

Standing with the crowd never takes courage. Standing alone against the crowd always calls for courage, no matter what the crowd is carrying. Are they picking up stones? Then facing them calls for physical courage. Are they laughing their heads off? Then facing them calls for moral courage. The one thing that most people are afraid of more than anything else is being laughed at. Ridicule can be as cruel as any instrument of torture. Even men with a keen sense of humor don't like to be made fun of. Why do people who really know better, who down in their consciences know it is wrong for them to drink, drink and even get drunk all the same? The reason is, they can't stand being laughed at. It takes courage to stand alone against a laugh!

Contempt

Most men do not like to admit having made a mistake. It sounds a little like admitting one was a fool. And it has been observed that most men can more easily admit to being knaves than fools; we would almost rather be wicked than look silly. We can stand opposition more easily than we can stand contempt. But that is exactly what calls for moral courage in the man who stands alone. No one likes to be looked down on, no one likes to be thought of as so stupid or out-of-line that no one will respect him. But that is what young Daniel was facing in Babylon, it is what many today have to face. To take our temperance illustration again: Why do many people drink alcoholic liquors against their better judgment? They can't stand up against the crowd. Within the memory of living men there was a White House hostess who would not serve liquor at State dinners, no matter who was there. Many foreign ambassadors wrote home contemptuously about it; but she stood to her convictions. Not many have courage of that sort.

Loneliness

"Dare to be a Daniel, dare to stand alone!" is easy to sing, hard to do. The sheer weight of numbers overpowers people. They will climb aboard any bandwagon if it looks crowded; they will not venture into a heavenly chariot if they have to ride alone. It takes a little moral courage to stand up and be counted with a minority. It takes a great deal more to stand up and be counted THE minority of One. But such courage is possible. Daniel showed it; he showed that his moral courage was matched by his physical courage. And after all, he was not in the minority after all. God was on his side, or rather he was on God's side; and that made the difference. Many a time a good cause has been lost not by weakness but by cowardice; but on the other hand good causes have been saved by men who believed in their rightness so deeply that rather than deny their faith, they would be buried alive in loneliness. THE GRAND FLORAL PARADE OF PORTLAND'S 1955 ROSE FESTIVAL

It was a record throng that paid homage to Queen Nancy Wyly and her court, and that marveled and gasped at the beauty and ingenuity of the 51 ponderous flower-bedecked floats.

Sir Knight of the First Love Rose was title and honor bestowed on cowboy star Montie Montana, grand marshal of parade, by Queen Nancy. Other notables who added to the happiness and success of the Rose Festival were Dennis Day, the silver-tongued Irishman; Owen Dunning's band, Charles Correll, of Amos 'n Andy fame, and Jack Benny's Sportsmen Quartet.

As this is the final article on the rose festival, many things of interest will be omitted. The remainder of this article will be given to a brief and feeble description of a few of the floats. The fact is that not one of them should be overlooked. All were most beautiful and descriptive. The parade's theme was: "Famous Books in Flowers."

Her Majesty, Queen Nancy I, rode her floral carriage. Depicting a huge royal purple robe with its ermine overlays and edges done in thousands of daisies, peonies and roses, the official queen's float assembled by the Portland Chamber of Commerce was a sight to behold. Queen Nancy and her court of seven lovely high school princesses contributed their share of beauty to the float. Flowers were used to portray the jewels in the crown and the royal robe.

Grand Sweepstakes winner in non-commercial division was city of Vancouver, Washington, with its float, "Anna and the King of Siam" based on the novel by Margaret Mortenson Landon. The float was built by more than 200 volunteer workers. There were 2000 roses and more than 50,000 fresh flowers.

There were five daisy-covered pagodas on the architectural style of Siam and on each side was the Siamese symbol that appears on temples and houses in Siam. Basic colors of flowered entry were red and gold. Five daisy-covered pagodas carried out theme.

ALICE. The March Hare, the Caterpillar, the Cheshire Cat, the Mad Hatter and all the characters of "Alice in Wonderland" were depicted on the float entered by the Portland Traction Company. Setting is that of a garden, with a walk, clusters of flowers and famed looking glass. Alice was Joan Young.

DOGS. Yana, lead dog; Kheta and Kiev are three Samoyed Siberian work dogs, used on the float, "The Call of the Wild." Float portrayed an Eskimo igloo in a white setting surrounded by a radiant aurora borealis. Two maids in parkas completed the picture. From Jack London famed story.

HOLMES. "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" was amusing story in flowers for float entered by the Portland bureau of police. It won first place in government section of entries. Money to build the float, buy the flowers and other material came through contributions from the members of the bureau and a donation from the Portland police union. The float was decorated with 30,000 Esther Reed daisies and Portland garden roses.

RIDER. Susie Murray, 11, all bedecked in her best western finery, posed on her handsome Shetland stallion Jimmy Cricket. They rode with the Davy Crockett float entered by the Reliable Transfer Company. Jimmy Cricket has appeared in four Rose Festival parades.

FRIENDS. The float of Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People", complete with mama skunk, atomizer of perfume and whole family of little skunks, won first prize in banks and department stores division for the Meier and Frank Company. Unique float caused considerable laughter. A big mother skunk had an atomizer and sprayed perfume on four little skunks that revolved in a circle in front of her.

"Madame Butterfly" was portrayed in the Hollywood Boosters entry. A garden scene of 50,000 daisies surrounded Lt. Pinkerton in his white navy uniform. Madame Butterfly stood on a bridge over a floral lake.

ALCOA. Aluminum Company of America's entry represented the Jules Verne classic, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." Marlene Shroll, 19-year-old Alcoa employee chosen in a plant-wide election, rode as float queen near a background of pink fan coral with an octopus close by to guard a treasure chest of gold. More than 100,000 blooms decorated the 35-foot entry.

WHALE. The frolicking white whale from "Moby Dick" swam in a soft blue setting of floral waves on the Pacific Power and Light Company float. A pretty girl, Nancy Fida, rode in a crow's nest high above the floral seascape. The whale, flipper and tail, were constructed of thousands of Reed daisies and stock blossoms.

BEAVERTON. The Beaverton junior chamber of commerce entry consisted of a floral grass hut on a bed of red and yellow flowers. Palm trees, floral water pools and Miss Beaverton, Dorothy Johnson, added beauty and color to the float. This float took first place ribbon in division for cities under 2500 in Oregon. Three tiers of water poured over small falls. About 275,000 flowers, 40,000 of them roses, were in this float.

over from Hawaii. Thousands of daisies in white, pink and blue were used for the float.

"COME UNTO ME" was the theme of the Catholic Organizations' float. This float took second place ribbon in its division.

THE BIBLE. The Portland Council of Churches float, that picked the Bible, the most famous book of them all, for its theme, took first place ribbon for community clubs, schools, fraternal, athletic and civic groups. "For I Am The Light Of The World" was lettered in red flowers on an arch that supported an open Bible.

OREGON TRAIL. The famous story of the Oregon Trail is depicted in flowers of pioneer float entered by the First National Bank. It showed a covered wagon with team of fiery oxen created from top to bottom out of multi-colored blossoms. Oxen and the bleached bones of a buffalo were executed in flowers, portraying the story of the Oregon Trail, written in many a book. Nearly 1,000,000 flowers were used to decorate the float.

Let me say that in all these floats there was not a wilted flower. The floats are decorated at the latest possible minute for the parade.

The remainder of the floats, and which are not mentioned in this article, were equally as beautiful, and the story each told of equal significance.

Some of the floats were "Cinderella", "Pinocchio", "One-Hoss Shay", "Five Little Peppers and How They Grew", etc.

I have written nothing about the 22 bands and drum corps and the hundreds more of strutting marchers. Neither have I written anything about the large number, and various types of training vessels anchored in the Willamette River at Portland for inspection by any attending the Rose Festival.

Hope you have enjoyed these articles on the Rose Festival.

CHILDREN'S PARK TO OPEN

Some 1200 State officials, civic dignitaries, educators and other guests will attend a reception at the Enchanted Forest, a new children's park located on U. S. Route 40, just west of Edmondson Village, on Sunday afternoon.

On Monday the park will be opened to the public for the first time. The park itself is literally a recreation of Mother Goose stories and scenes, and in addition there are many exhibits of other old and well-known fairy tales.

Children of all ages can play in the home of Hansel and Gretel, watch Merry Miller's mill wheel go round, or even look at the sturdy brick house the most prudent of the "three little pigs" built.

Most of the attractions are of a "walk-in" type, and many of the story book characters—constructed in life size—are animated and activated with voice and music. For instance, if a child requests Papa Bear in the Three Bears' House to tell him his story, Papa obliges with a 90 second recital.

At the entrance of the park is the Enchanted Castle with actual 40-foot high towers, and a moat and drawbridge. Reminding visitors of the land of fantasy is a huge dragon serenading a model of Princess Rapunzel. Another attraction in the castle is Old King Cole, who greets visitors to his domain.

Upon request, birthday parties will be catered under the "Sugar Plum Tree, where children will be served by waitresses dressed as Mother Goose characters.

Many live animals also will be on display including the Little Red Hen and pony carts are also available for young guests.

Owners of the park are Howard E. Harrison and his son, Howard, Jr. Howard Adler was the artist for the project and Bonnett and Brandt were the architects and engineers.

An old Chinese proverb states: "He who crosses ocean twice without taking bath is dirty double-crosser."

JUST WONDERING

The Travelers Insurance Co. has issued the first public liability policy ever underwritten by an American Company on a Nuclear power plant. Peace time use of Atomic power has the largest of insurance companies concerned, therefore, I am just wondering if your present insurance policy is designed for these Atomic ages, or still designed for the horse and buggy days.

You may have bought the best on the market a few years ago, but how about today? I do not know how my companies were 10 years ago, nor do I know how they will be 10 years from now, but check them now, 1955, you will find I am writing insurance to fit today's needs.

Be sure of your Insurance, no job too large or too small. You will get honest advice and personal service if you call—
