NIAGARA FALLS

Minister's Viewpoint of Nature's Handiwork

Last month, I was one of those many thousands American who drove across Rainbow Bridge into Niagara Falls, Ontario, to observe one of the great wonders in God's creation.

As the sun disappeared beyond the Western horizon, a breathtaking scene emerged before my eyes. Reflectors with a concentrated volume of approximately 10 million candlelights cast their beam against the water-wall, in the midst of this illumination, the thundering noise of the water aroused in me the desire to worship the Great Artist who's work and power, mystery and glory was manifested before my eyes.

Beneath the Canadian Falls I noticed a lonesome rock perpetually beaten by the descending forces of nature. For some time I watched this rock. Its shape reminded me of one of the gate-towers of an Oriental city. May be one of those massive wall-towers of Damascus or the timeless masonry above one of the gateways leading into Jerusalem. This rock in the Niagara-Gorge with stood every assault. It was there long before the first pilgrim's feet touched this blessed land. The uncoming water had beautified this rock with the crown of agelessness.

Before this country was born, sons of the Cippewa Indian tribe assembled at the foot of Niagara Falls. They came to worship there. Even with their primitive rituals they tried to express the pagan man's longing to know the Maker of this great water. They did not come to be amused by colorful illuminations but they came to worship the power of the Unknown.

The Niagara is not only a wonder of nature, it is also a meeting-place of nations and people. During my meditation at the foot of the waterfall I turned my eyes toward the people who came there. I saw some old people standing in amazement before the most radiant jewel of the American landscape; I saw middle-aged people returning at the occasion of their wedding anniversary and paying tribute to "an old friend"; the Niagara; I saw heartbroken people who stood there for hours hoping that the white bubbles of the water might wash away their memories; I saw young people in each others arms as they ceased thinking and by the rush and noise of water they traveled into a land where everything is but a beautiful dream; I saw little children frightened by the mist which beat against their tender cheeks but not even the nearby standing mothers could hear their cry. I this great panorama God was acting. Niagara Falls is a show-place of God's Eternal Power.

When the midnight signal sounded I joined the multitude leaving behind the rock and the waterfall to prove that thousand years in God's sight are but as yesterday when it is past and as a watch in the night.

"SCHOOL'S OPEN" CAMPAIGN TO ALERT MOTORISTS BEGAN

SEPTEMBER 2nd.

The Automobile Club of Maryland's annual "School's Open—Drive Carefully" campaign to alert motorists that they must once again be on the lookout for children crossing streets on the way to and from school began Sept. 2. Cooperating in the campaign are State and local police, Boards of Education, Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, and the Baltimore Safety Council.

Mr. Robert L. Leese, Westminster Branch Manager, Automobile Club of Md., pointed out that while schools in Maryland do not actually open until September 6 police through out the state started placing large posters supplied by the Automobile Club of Maryland near all schools Sept. 2 so that motorists will have a short "conditioning period".

The eye-catching red and black poster will be one of the major "tools" that the motor club will use in bringing the opening of school to the attention of motorists. This year's poster was drawn by Gene Wilkerson, Mergenthaler Technical High School, Baltimore, who won a nation-wide contest conducted by the American Automobile Association.

"The two principle things that motorists should do in connection with the campaign," Mr. Leese said, "is to scrupulously obey speed limits around schools and be extra alert for young children who are not yet safety-wise darting into the street at unexpected places."

"During the school year," Mr. Leese added, "the Club will work with school officials to train children in safe walking habits, but past experience has shown that it takes time to really fix safety in the minds of new students. Meanwhile, it's the motorist's responsibility to watch out for children—even if the children are at fault".

Mr. Leese also asked motorists to give every cooperation to School Safety Patrol boys and girls. "These volunteer safety guardians are on duty to protect their schoolmates and to see that they cross streets only when it is safe, and their job can be much easier and effective if motorists learn to recognize them all cooperate with them", he added.

"Throughout the country, the safety record for school children has been very good during the past years, but these first few weeks after school opens are critical ones. Children will learn more about traffic safety in school lessons, but meanwhile motorists will be doing a great service to the community if they will drive carefully", he added.

Other phases of the campaign include "School's Open" film shorts and slides for television stations, spot announcements for radio stations and mats of the poster for newspapers. Police, commercial and private vehicle operators will cooperate by displaying on their vehicles a "School's Open" bumper strip distributed by the Automobile Club of Maryland.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Before driving back to Maryland, we visited the five Caverns, two of which I wrote about in last week's column were the beautiful "Skyline" and "Luray", then we drove to "Melrose" "Shenandoah" and "Endless". If you plan to take a vacation this Fall instead of the "Skyline Drive"!

In the "Endless Cavern", we had a real Southern gentleman as our guide who is a native of Virginia, elderly, and of the old school! His name, Mr. Herford Tynes Cowling, Colonel Air Corps, U. S. A. In 1922 he began a career of free-lance exploration on his own, which lasted until 1927 and took him to the little known corners of the world with his motion picture cameras, "Bringing the World To You"! From Tibet, he brought back the first movies of those quaint people living on the "Roof of the World". He took his time in explaining every detail of the Cavern to us and especially did he have much patience in manipulating the electrical lights in colors to best advantage. His voice was very deep and his English perfect as well as the pronunciations! One would have thought you were walking along with a king!

In the Melrose Caverns were many names of the soldiers of the Civil War on the huge rocks where they spent six days hiding. (Doing this as a pastime).

The Museum of Art at Endless Caverns held a collection of oil paintings and water colors by the distinguished American artist, William Starkweather. That was most unexpected treat. Those paintings would require many columns weekly. I could have remained right there for the entire day so very interesting was each subject and so beautifully highlighted with "oil's". (See Who's Who in America). I would have liked to talk with the grand Colonel but time would not permit and we said, "Adios!"

No wonder the Virginians love their state—the Blue Ridge Mountains all along the way, first on one side of the road and returning on the other side. It all must be a more beautiful sight in the autumn and be sure to stop at the Guest Lodge at Skyline in Shenandoah atop of the mountain—a grand hotel of individual rustic and beautiful cabins which can accommodate 250. There is a coffee shop, craft and gift shop, dining room, saddle horses and the season is from May 20 to October 31. Here's a secret (we were given the bridal suite) and it so happened to be our wedding anniversary, number 22). Nice? I do hope to be back right there again in the fall. D.V.

Returning by the way of Harpers Ferry, I wanted to see The Ghost Town! We drove right in and parked on this weird street of evacuation!

What a strange feeling came over me. I knew that Harpers Ferry experienced outstanding events in American history from Colonial Days to the Civil War. General Washington selected it for a national armory because of abundant waterpower. The town witnessed the race between the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, on the one hand, and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, on the other hand in linking the Ohio Valley with the East.

John Brown's famous raid in 1859 dramatized the intense bitterness existing at that time between the North and the South. Harpers Ferry was the gateway to the Virginia Valley and straddled important transportation lines, consequently it was a strategic point of great importance during the Civil War and it changed hands many times. In 1862 Stonewall Jackson captured both the town and 11,500 Union troops and then dashed off to help Lee's Army at the battle of Antietam just in the neck of time. As the end of the war, Harpers Ferry was a "ghost town" with mills, armory and many other buildings destroyed. It never fully recovered.

The first settler at Harpers Ferry was a trader named Peter Stephens who was impressed by the picturesque location at the junction of the Potomac and Shenandoah Rivers. Thomas Jefferson, an early visitor to the locality, expressed his opinion thus, "The passage of the Potomac through the Blue Ridge is perhaps one of the most stupendous scenes in nature. This scene is worth a voyage across the Atlantic!" There is so much more to see and learn about the ghost town, folks. I did see and was glad that our Stars and Stripes flying outside of a lovely old home used now by the National Park Service of the U. S. Dept. of the Interior. (A supervisory park ranger is in immediate charge).

Returning by the way of Frederick, we came across 71 Highway and my heart stood still (and I think you know just what I mean) there were so many changes and then into Taneytown stopping by to say, "Hello" to Frankie and buy some of that wonderful meat which no one can top!

See you next week D.V. Hope to take a last swim in the ocean for the year. I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER

UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS FOR FEDERAL EMPLOYEES

With the inauguration of the program for the payment of unemployment benefits to Federal workers in January of this year, Maryland unemployment benefits were extended to an additional 48,000 job-holders, according to Robert B. Kimble, Board Chairman of the Department of Employment Security for Maryland. Kimble also pointed out that, already, the 41,300 private employers in the State each month were providing similar benefits for an average of more than 640,000 workers.

In the first month of operation approximately 1,200 unemployed Federal workers filed claims. In April, when a new benefit year began and wage credits earned in 1954 became available, about the same number filed, but almost 700 of these applicants were already in claims status and were merely transferring from one benefit year to the next.

In June, slightly less than 200 Federal claimants sought benefits. In all, up to the end of June, 2,121 jobless Federal workers have collected a total of $517,539. Although the State agency administers the Federal program, these benefits were paid out of the U. S. Treasury funds. However, there is a provision in the Federal Law which permits claimants, who also have earned wage credits in private employment during the base year, to draw benefits concurrently from both sources, provided the total weekly amount of $30 or the 26-week period of duration is not exceeded. Around 300 persons included in the above figures fall in this category.

Chairman Kimble explained that in all respects, eligibility requirements under Federal program, by law, must conform to the provisions of the State Law. During the six months period the Federal program has been in operation, 240 persons with sufficient wage credits to be eligible for benefits, nevertheless, have been disqualified for such reasons as voluntary quits, misconduct, etc. Moreover, penalties have been imposed on 270 persons in claims status for failure to comply with the legal requirements for continued eligibility.

Depending on wages earned in the base period, Maryland claimants are eligible for benefits for a period varying from 7½ to 26 weeks. A total of 99 Federal claimants have exhausted their full entitlement, or approximately 5 out of every 100 who received one or more checks since the beginning of the program.

MORE ABOUT THE G. A. W.

Maryland industrialists and businessmen were urged today by the National Association of Manufacturers to resist at the bargaining table the threat of the union leaders' efforts to win special unemployment wage guarantees at the expense of the general public.

The NAM said that the general adoption in Maryland of the supplemental unemployment benefit plan as granted by Ford and General Motors would undermine the state's free enterprise system and start it toward "economic stagnation."

Even pressure by labor leaders for changes in the present state law to permit the plan to work is subject to challenge by any citizen of the state, the NAM said, and it expressed certainty that Maryland industry would "meet the challenge."

The NAM believes that the supplementation of state unemployment benefits by industry-financed payments is illegal and that court tests should be instituted wherever state administrators held otherwise.

Also the NAM predicts that the union leaders will keep pushing for larger benefits until they have won their original goal of a full year at full pay for laid-off workers. Under the Ford and G.M. pacts workers will get 65 per cent of normal take-home pay during the first four weeks of unemployment and 60 per cent for the next twenty-two weeks. The payments represent a combination of state and company benefits.

If two-thirds of the states with auto plants do not give a green light for the two-way payments by July 1, 1957, the supplementary pay provisions of the Detroit agreements become void.

This is the reason, the NAM said, it is urging all employers to fight against approval of the simultaneous plan in every state.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

SWANVILLE, MINN., NEWS:

"The measure of a man's living standard is how much he can buy with the proceeds of his labor. Taking the wages per hour of the average worker in three countries and equating them to the cost of things they buy, it is estimated that the free American can buy a suit of clothes for 15 hours work, while a Socialist-including Englishman works one and one-third weeks for a suit, and a Communist-controlled Russian three weeks."

AUXVASSE, MO., REVIEW: "According to a recent survey, the average service station is open and at your service 100 hours every day and seven days a week. When customers were asked their reasons for patronizing a particular station, the replies were: good service, location, friendship with the dealer, and the brand of gasoline sold. . . . Over 200,000 service stations in the United States compete for your business, and 95 per cent of them are owned or operated by independent local dealers."

MANSFIELD, OHIO, NEWS-JOURNAL: "In the long run American prosperity, not Marxist ideology and stagnation, will be the leaven that promotes world amity. Communist leaders fear this probability as they fear nothing else."

LITERATURES AND LIBRARIES

The books that help you most are those which make you think the most. —Theodore Parker

Literary commercialism is lowering the intellectual standard to accommodate the purse and to meet a frivolous demand for amusement instead of for improvement. —Mary Baker Eddy

The great standard of literature, as to purity and exactness of style, is the Bible. —Hugh Blair

A LINE ON PRIVILEGE

A certain Moscow citizen stood in so well with the party that he was granted a permit which, among other things, allowed him to buy a railroad ticket without having to stand in line for it. One day he went to the railroad station and presented his precious permit.

"Get in that line over there," he was told.

"But," protested the privileged citizen, "this permit allows me to buy a ticket without standing in line!"

"I know that, comrade," rejoined the station agent, "and that is the line for people who don't have to stand in line to buy tickets."

JEST JOKIN'

Photographer: "Why don't you ever get to work on time?"

Girl: "I'm a late model."

The senator was covering a rural area seeking reelection. His long-winded address had been going on and on, punctuated only by occasional gulps of water. During one of these pauses an old farmer turned to his neighbor: "Say, that's the first time I ever saw a windmill run by water."

Lecturing his son who had been avoiding school, the father asked sternly, "What do you mean by playing truant? What makes you stay away from school?"

Replied the son, briefly, "Class hatred, father."

The tourist peered, awe-struck, down into the yawning depth of the Grand Canyon.

"Did you know," asked his guide, "that it took millions of years for this great abyss to be carved out?"

"No!" exclaimed the tourist. "First time I'd heard that it was a government job."

"Remember, son," father pontificated, "when I was a young man I often went to bed hungry, seldom went to a dance and didn't have a car to drive all over in."

"Well, pop," sonny replied, "that just goes to show how much better off you are since you've got me."

STORE WILL HOLD "OPENING" SATURDAY

Something new for Taneytown was begun last January when David B. and Mabel L. Shaum opened an interior decorating and gift service for this community. The new store "Ma-Da-Sha Shop" was established in the First National Bank Building. This building was the location of the "McKinney's Drug Store" for many years.

The grand opening of the store is set for 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. Saturday. Every customer during those hours will receive a gift, a small dish for the ladies, a small can of paint for the men, or a bank for the children. In addition, door prizes of four one-gallon cans of paint and one paint kit will be awarded.

Officials from several concerns are expected to attend the opening, to explain and demonstrate their products.

Mr. Shaum is in charge of the interior finishing department of the shop. He handles the paints, wallpapers, floor tiles, aluminum doors and windows, venetian blinds and shades. He also installs the floor tile.

Mrs. Shaum handles glassware, chinaware and silverware, as well as small gifts and greeting cards. She also does slip cover and upholstering work, and offers interior decorating service. She is a graduate interior decorator from the Maryland Institute, in Baltimore.

LOT'S WORSE

"I hear your store was robbed last night," said the sympathetic customer to the local merchant. "Did you lose much?"

"I lost quite a bit," the storekeeper responded, "but it would have been a lot worse if the burglars had gotten in the night before. You see, yesterday, I just finished marking everything down twenty per cent."

TOO YOUNG

"These eggs are very small," complained the young housewife as she stood in front of the egg case at the grocery store. "They're straight from the farm this morning, madam," said the grocer. "That's the trouble with these farmers," she replied. "They're so anxious to get these eggs sold they take them off the nest too soon."

MUTUAL

Patient—Doctor, I'm scared to death. This will be my first operation. Doctor—I know just how you feel. This is my first operation, too.

GOOD QUESTION

A farmer visited his son's college. Watching students in a chemistry class, he was told they were looking for a universal solvent.

"What's that?" asked the farmer. "A liquid that will dissolve anything."

"That's a great idea," agreed the farmer. "When you find it, what are you going to keep it in?"

A man was approached by an insurance canvasser and asked if he was insured against fire. "Yes," said the other. "Burglary?" "Well, yes." "Are you insured against floods?" "Floods," said the other showing interest at last. "How do you start floods?"

It was a little girl's first day at school and the teacher was making out her registration card. "What is your father's name?" asked the teacher. "Daddy," replied the child. "Yes, I know, but what does your mother call him?" "She doesn't call him anything. She likes him."

Policeman, producing note book: "Name, please?" Motorist: "Aloysius Alastir Cyprian." Policeman, putting book away: "Well, don't let me catch you again."

Judge: "I notice that in addition to stealing this money, you took a lot of valuable jewelry." Prisoner: "Yes, your honor, you see I was always taught that money alone does not bring happiness."

Confidence

Since the early days of the horseless carriage, Marylanders have been buying with confidence from the marketers of Betholine and Sinclair. They know they will always get the best in automotive fuels and lubricants at the familiar Betholine-Sinclair sign. As a result, Betholine-Sinclair stations have multiplied and today Betholine-Sinclair dealers are pumping more power and more pleasure into more Maryland cars than ever before. Drive in soon. You'll enjoy dealing where the Men in White Serve You Right!

Where Marylanders have always bought with confidence

Executive Task

Lesson for September 11, 1955

THE city of Jerusalem was a slum. There is no other good word for it. The people, poor and few and scared, were existing in the midst of rubble. Today in Korea the cardboard shacks are coming down, more permanent houses are being built; but in Jerusalem there was no rebuilding. Everything was left just as it was after the war. How long had that been? One hundred and forty-one years! Four generations — as far back from Nehemiah's time as 1814 is from us. Suppose the city of Washington had never been rebuilt, since the British burned it in the "war of 1812"? Nehemiah was amazed and shocked when he heard about it. Like all prosperous Jews who lived in Persia, he had supposed everything was all right back in the motherland. When they told him how things actually were, he first cried; but then he acted.

Dr. Foreman

Competition
Nehemiah, armed with a royal commission — for Palestine was no part of the great Persian Empire—turned out to be one of the most remarkable executives in history. He went to Jerusalem as governor; but he saw it was no real city. In those days you could no more have a city without a wall around it than you can have a city today without paved streets, or telephones. The wall was an absolute number one must. No doubt previous governors had seen as much; but they had done nothing about it. Nehemiah at once went to work on this problem. In 52 days the wall was completed; 52 days to do what for 93 years (since the first "Return") every one else in charge of Jerusalem had failed to do. How did Nehemiah succeed where so many others had failed—or not even tried? The answer, in one sentence, is: Nehemiah was the kind of executive who can make hindrances and handicaps work for him instead of against him. One of the handicaps obviously was the many jealous divisions among the people. The class-spirit can be shown just as easily in a group of castaways on a desert island, as it can in New York. Nehemiah knew all about this; and he organized his wall-builders by groups according to their occupation. The goldsmiths built here, and the priests built there, and so on. No group wanted to be outdone by any other group, so they all pushed on till it was done. It takes healthy competition to bring out what people can really do.

Fear Can Be Useful
Perhaps the big reason why the wall had never been built was that the people, ill-equipped and leaderless, knew that their watchful enemies would not want Jerusalem to rise again. They were afraid of "reprisals" or raids from one place or another, if they really set to work to build a real city again. Now Nehemiah did not wait till they got over being scared. They never would. So he (so to speak) tied that scare to their coat-tails, like a pack of firecrackers. He ordered the citizens, as far as it was practical, to build the part of the wall nearest to where they lived. Every man and woman (yes, there were women) working on the wall would think: If this section of wall goes down, my own home will be the first one pillaged! So of course these scared people worked like mad, each one determined that if the wall gave way anywhere, it wouldn't be near his house.

Putting Human Nature To Work
All that business about the spears, and other army equipment—ordering half the people to stand by in battle dress while the rest worked on the wall—may have scared off the enemy raiders; but it did something else: it got the wall built in an amazingly short time. Just the sight of those spears would put everybody into high gear. They wanted to finish that wall before the battle started. It never started; but Nehemiah's dramatic mobilization kept those amateur wall-builders going from dawn till dark. So Nehemiah showed in his time what the best executives have always shown: the skill to use human nature as it is, on the hoof. Executives—governors, presidents, heads of corporations, bishops—could doubtless get better results with better people. ONCE NOT ENOUGH

On going into the cowshed, the farmer was surprised to find his new hand, a town girl, giving one of the cows a drink from her milking pail. "What are you doing that for?" he demanded. "Well," explained the girl, "the milk seemed pretty thin to me, so I thought I'd better put it through the process again."

HELL FIND OUT

A little boy attending his first wedding asked his mother why the bride was dressed in white. "Because," answered the mother, "white stands for pretty and joy." "Then why," was the retort logical, "does the groom wear black?"

SHE DID

"Hey," cried Satan to a new arrival, "you act as if you owned this place!" "I do," came the reply, "my wife gave it to me before I came."

The man whose authority is recent is always stern.—Aeschylus, 490, B.C.

Fruit Relishes Help to Make Meat More Tantalizing

SPICY, PICKLED fruits are a wonderful addition to any menu to help make it interesting. There are many cuts of meat and fowl, too, which seem less rich when a fruit relish is served with them. You'll like the garnish and food value, too, of these relishes. The pineapple is especially good with ham, pork, chicken or turkey:

- Pickled Pineapple
 2 No. 2 cans sliced pineapple
 1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks
 3/4 cup white vinegar
 1 cup sugar
 2 teaspoons whole cloves
 2 teaspoons whole allspice berries
 2 3-inch sticks cinnamon
Green Food Coloring

Drain syrup from pineapple into large saucepan. Add vinegar, sugar, cloves, allspice and cinnamon. Boil 5 minutes. Add pineapple slices and simmer for 5 minutes. Place sliced in refrigerator.

It's not canning season but you can use canned pineapple to make this zesty pickled pineapple to serve with your meat or poultry. Tint pineapple green with vegetable coloring, if so desired.

For dish and cover with spiced syrup. If desired, add enough green food coloring to remaining syrup in saucepan to make a bright green color. Add pineapple chunks and simmer 5 minutes. Chill in refrigerator.

- Spiced Bananas
 3/4 cup vinegar
 2 dozen whole cloves
 2 1/2 cups sugar
 1 small stick cinnamon
 3 bananas

Boil vinegar, sugar, cloves, and cinnamon until sugar is dissolved and the syrup thick. Drop the bananas into the hot syrup and boil for 2 minutes. Remove from heat and cool. The bananas may be cut in smaller pieces, if desired. Use as a garnish and accompaniment to meat.

Looking Pretty For Evening Dates

WHEN THE AIR is frosty and darkness falls early, as it does during this season, the important social get-togethers are planned for evening. There's a call for you to have something more than daytime charm, but do you know just what to do to achieve it?

If not, then check over these beauty tricks and see if some of them can't add some moonlight magic to your attractiveness.

Clothes Magic
 If you're wearing last season's dresses and they seem to feel somewhat old add new accessories.

One thing you might try if you're feeling slightly experimental for special occasions is gold or silver dust sprinkled lightly through the hair. A dusting of it catches evening lights.

Glitter beads and sequins can be pasted or sewed over the backs of gloves or across the skirt of and older gown to add gayety. Theatrical gauze in rainbow hues makes a luscious stole or a filmy overskirt.

Make-Up Hints
 You'll find that make-up for evening is slightly different for evening than daytime. For one thing, you may use a bit more of it.

Use your rouge, for example, a bit more generously, and more than just on the cheeks. After you apply cheek color, touch your chin and ear lobes with it lightly.

Lipstick gains allure when used over powder. Use a fresh cotton ball dipped in powder to coat the lips lightly, then apply lip color over the powdered lips. This helps prevent the lipstick from "bleeding" which is definitely less than attractive.

Apply eye mascara, too, after powdering as this makes the lashes look thicker and lovelier.

Perfume Adds Glamour
 Now's the time to take out your stock of scents. Use something special which you've been saving for a special occasion, or get into some of your perfume or cologne gifts. There's an aura of glamour that goes with perfume or cologne.

Perfume or cologne is to be used lightly rather than overpoweringly. Dab a bit to the ear lobes and wrists. If you're wearing an evening gown, tape a cotton ball sprinkled with perfume to the bodice or hem of your gown.

ACCIDENT FACTS

Aspirin can be as deadly as an asp— if eaten in quantities by young children.

The 1955 edition of "Accident Facts", the statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council, just off the press, shows aspirin and the salicylates to be the most common drug killers of young children. Barbiturates are next. All are frequently kept in the family medicine chest within reach of children, the Council says.

Accidental poisoning is one of the principal causes of home deaths among children under five years old. Three main groups of poisons caused 99 per cent of the deaths: drugs (35 per cent), petroleum products, of which kerosene is the most important (26 per cent), and products for external use (38 per cent).

Lead is the No. 1 killer among the external use products, and arsenic is second. Caustics, such as lye, cresol and ammonia, rat poisons and fly sprays also rank high. Other dangerous products include shampoos, rubbing solutions, bleaches, moth balls and furniture polish.
