The invocation, given by Rev. Harold Hodgson, was followed by group singing with Mrs. Ober Herr, Jr. at the piano.

In dedicating the opening of three classes for retarded children in Carroll County Miss Ruth DeVore stated that it was appropriate that the dedication should take place in a building already dedicated to spiritual development because spiritual development is a real part of education. Dr. Myers presented the scissors to Miss Maye Grimes who cut the tape as shown in picture officially opening the three classes—one in Mt. Airy and two in Westminster.

Mrs. William Herring, president of the Junior Women's Club presented the Association with a refrigerator and piano and pledged future support; Rev. Joel Cock, pastor of the Church of Scott, a record player; and Mr. Ralph Yealy, representing the Civitans, a floor covering and record player.

Airy class, and Miss Louise Bankert and Mrs. Albert Angell, teachers of the Westminster classes, who participated in a panel discussion of a school program for retarded children with Mr. Smith acting as moderator. At the conclusion of the meeting and at the suggestion of Mrs. Mildred Hirsch, Mr. Samuel Jenness was given a rising ovation for his cooperation in setting up the classes for retarded children in Carroll county.

Mr. Fern Smith, speaking for the Association, expressed appreciation to the community groups and individuals who met to plan for the year. Items necessary to get these classes started. The Association is happy with this fine beginning; but in order for this program to be operated effectively and efficiently, there are still many needs, which will be presented according to priority. The greatest needs at present are 50 aluminum cots, two station wagons, and 50 folding chairs.

Groups of children in Westminster are continuing to show their interest in this program by sponsoring street carnivals. The Liberty Street children netted $57.09 and children from City View Avenue netted $15.23.

Let others praise ancient times; I am glad I was born in these. —Ovid, 2 B.C.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Here I am sitting on the beach at Ocean Grove, N. J. (The big Methodist Centre all down through the years) in a reclining chair with the huge umbrella overhead (so as that old man Sun does not burn me) writing this Column!

Just had my last ocean swim which was delightful—nothing can ever compare with ocean bathing!

As I sit here gazing upon the many individual lying around being baked, boiled and broiled, it amazes me how they can really suffer so just to be sun tanned! It does not become anyone to be so dark brown.

What has surprised me about Ocean Grove which was always such a strict affair—to see the girls walking along the boardwalk in "Bermudas"! Ocean Grove has won a world-wide fame for it's quiet Sunday. The admonition to "remember the Sabbath and keep it Holy" was written into the by-laws and ordinances of Ocean Grove at the beginning. This principle has never been changed and NEVER SHALL! It was founded by a group of Methodist Ministers and laymen in the year of 1859 who selected the site between two lakes and fronting on the sea for more than half a mile as comfortable and accessible place for rest and worship. That very atmosphere still is maintained and all the other denominations as well as the Methodists enjoy the tranquility of it all. The Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association was organized a few months after the location was selected and it was given a charter of the New Jersey Legislature on March 3, 1870. The charter authorized the Association to provide and maintain, "for the members and friends of the Methodist Church a proper, convenient and desirable permanent camp-meeting ground and Christian seaside resort!"

After interviewing a lady who is a Baptist and who has waited a number of years in rotation for the little "tent" near the wonderful tabernacle she said, "I never want to give my tent up!" And she meant every word of that. It is truly a grand place to visit and you will say after your first visit, "I feel so refreshed in mind and spirit and in my physical self!"

The Ministers who speak are engaged for the summer and the big highlight of this season was the visit of Billy Graham. Thousands packed the tabernacle. That sermon was an invitation to the Congregation to be saved and to repent not just feel sorry! Truly the place was alive with Methodists!

The hotels and homes were packed even to the Motels for reservations far in advance. This was the 78th Anniversary of Camp Meeting.

Walking along the Boardwalk, I asked two young girls and a young boy about those "Bermudas" (AND THAT JUST FOR THE TEEN AGERS WHO READ THIS COLUMN) to give me their candid opinion if they thought it was smart, sporty or nice to don those garments. The one young girl would not answer but the other said, "Well, it is comfortable!" I looked at the young man whose head was lowered a little and I said, "Now, you tell me what you really think. Would you not prefer a young girl to be dressed in a very girly dress instead of Bermudas and Shorts?" To this he quickly replied, "I know all young men would as well as I even is they don't admit it!" There you have it, Miss Teen Ager!

Returning from dinner one evening, I noticed a very old claspboard small house with very fancy woodwork on the porch and I felt somehow there was an interesting story. I walked to the porch where a lady was sitting alone whom I found out later through our conversation to be the owner. When I asked a few questions about the house she said, "Yes, there is a romantic story to this house and the one next door. Here a man lived many years ago who was in love with the widow next door. The widow had been the wife of President Grover Cleveland. A courtship started which ended in the wedding!"

When I went back to the hotel, I made inquiries there to be sure and the story was a true one every word of it!

The latest Manicure, Ladies is the complete electric one and it is fascinating to watch the procedure and to the finishing touches!

Last week that dear and grand old lady, Grandma Moses was just 95 years of age! Actor Lewis will celebrate his 45 Anniversary in Show Business!

Bernard Baruch also celebrated his birthday and says that he never will grow old. Just as I keep writing to you, folks to be interested in you! Life will be interesting in you! That is truly the real secret.

On the 15th of September is the yearly reception to the Asbury Methodist Home called "Rolling Acres" in Gathersburg, Md. Hope to be seeing you right there.

Be careful, folks as you drive and even more so now that school has started. Have a grand week-end. Will be seeing you, D.V. I am,

Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER.

VOICE OF THE MULTITUDE

Zoro Neale Hurston, a highly articulate Negro writer, who decided long ago that she would have nothing to say about desegregation-by-law, has found it impossible to keep silent on the subject. She takes on what has always seemed to use the crucial point of the whole issue—but which we have not brought up since any comment would come more gracefully and more forcefully from a member of the black race than from the white.

"The whole matter revolves around the self-respect of my people", writes Miss Hurston in The Orlando (Fla.) Sentinel. "How much satisfaction can I get from a court order for somebody to associate with me who does not wish me near them? The American Indian has never been spoken of as a minority and chiefly because there is no whine in the Indian. Certainly he fought, and valiantly for his lands—and rightfully so. But it is inconceivable of an Indian to seek forcible association with anyone. His well-known pride and self-respect would save him from that. I take the Indian position."

In the matter of the educational rights of Negro children in the South, Miss Hurston denies that she is "one of those 'handkerchief-head niggers' who bow low before the white and sell out my own people out of cowardice". If negro schools in Florida were inadequate, or if white schools possessed some advantage "impossible to duplicate", she says, she would be the first to insist on sharing. "But if there are adequate Negro schools and prepared instructors and instructions, then there is nothing different but the presence of white people."

"For this reason, I regard the ruling of the United States Supreme Court as insulting rather than honoring my race", Miss Hurston derides the long-held misconception that "there is no greater delight to Negroes than physical association with whites". She calls this the "doctrine of the white mare", explaining that "Those familiar with the habits of mules are aware that any mule, if not restrained, will automatically follow a white mare."

In Miss Hurston's opinion the segregation issue was politically inspired and a grave mistake "just when the nation is exerting to shake off the evils of Communist penetration". She warns that "more important things" may lie ahead and that the ruling may have been a trial balloon. "If it goes off fairly well", she says, "a precedent has been established. Government by fiat can replace the Constitution."

It is refreshing indeed to have these views from a Negro writer. Further, they will be reassuring to those whites who have always considered the Negro race to have been richly endowed with its own special attributes—and a race that should be as prideful as any other.—U. S. Press Association.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Plastic Materials Require Mild Suds, Careful Rinsing

MOST AVERAGE homes have a number of plastic items in them, and though they shed dirt rather freely, there will come a time when they, too, will need laundering care of some kind.

Plastic shower curtains and drapes, as well as other plastic drapes which you may have about the home can usually be washed off with just a cloth. Use warm water, from 110 to 120° and a mild detergent suds.

Follow this with a clear warm water rinse and wipe dry with a cloth.

Water-Spotted Plastic

White spots on plastic curtains and drapes are usually caused by soap curd and hard water. In this case, the plastics should be washed in a washing machine with a non-precipitating water softener. Water for this should be not warmer than if you were washing off the plastics with a cloth. To your tub, add ¾ to 1 cup of the softener. Allow the curtains to soak until the spots dissolve, or, at least, soften. Brush off with cloth or a very soft brush.

There are no more ice cube trays to fill or empty when you have an LP-gas refrigerator with an ice maker that freezes and stores these "ice circles" automatically. Water is piped to the refrigerator to make the ice circles, and they are dried before being dropped into a large storage basket, automatically, of course, so they don't stick together.

Plastic materials should not be spun dry or wrung in the usual fashion. Shake them out as much as possible on taking from the tub, then hang on a line to drip dry.

Pressing plastics is much open to question. If you want to press, set the iron at the lowest possible temperature.

Vegetable Plates Can Catch the Eye

WHAT A wonderful outlet for your artistic talents are vegetable plates. You can blend flavors, colors and textures as happily as an artistic and serve your family a good bit of nutrition, too!

Here's a combination with which you can start: delicate golden corn pudding baked in crisp, sweet green peppers, sauteed eggplant slices with creamy-rich mushroom sauce and buttered carrots to complete the treat:

Corn Pudding Peppers (Serves 4)

- 4 medium green peppers
- 1 egg
- 1 cup evaporated milk
- 1 cup canned, whole kernel corn, drained
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 2 tablespoons minced green pepper
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Few grains black pepper

Select uniform peppers. Wash thoroughly and cut off tops. Discard stems and mince remaining top slices for pudding. Remove seeds and membranes from pepper cups. Beat egg with fork, add milk, corn, onion, minced pepper, salt and pepper. Blend thoroughly and pour into pepper cups. Place in a small, deep baking dish with ½ cup boiling water at the bottom. Cover and bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven until pudding is set, about 35 minutes.

Eggplant Saute, Mushroom Sauce (Serves 4)

- 1 small eggplant
- 1 pint mushrooms
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 cup evaporated milk
- 4 slices toast

Peel eggplant, cut in thick slices. Place in pan of cold water to cover, to which 1 tablespoon of salt is added. Let soak for one hour. Drain eggplant, then coat slices with flour and brown slowly on each side in hot fat. While eggplant is browning, wash, slice and cook mushrooms, sliced, in butter for about 10 minutes. Sprinkle mushrooms with flour and salt; stir to blend. Add boiling water and cook until thickened. Add milk and cook until thickened. Place slices of eggplant on toast and cover with sauce.

Our School Children Enjoy Greatest Health in History

NEW YORK—America's school children are enjoying better health today than ever before in the country's history, says a report by a leading life insurance company.

Extraordinary gains have been made over the past 20 years in reducing mortality at the school ages. In the experience of the insurance company's industrial policyholders at ages 5 to 14 years, the death rate for boys dropped nearly two thirds, from 158 to 57 per 100,000 between 1933 and 1953, and the rate for girls declined even more sharply, from 126 to 37 per 100,000.

In each sex decreases of 85 percent or more were recorded over the 20-year period in the death rates for a number of diseases, including the principal communicable diseases of childhood, appendicitis, pneumonia and influenza, and tuberculosis.

Despite this progress, there are still about 15,000 deaths among children at school ages in the general population of the United States, and a considerable part of the loss of life is amenable to control, say the statisticians.

Accidents are the greatest single menace to child life, accounting for more than two fifths of the total mortality among boys and for more than one quarter of the mortality among girls. Second in rank as a cause of death are the cancers, which twenty years ago were a minor cause of death at school ages. The leukemias account for nearly a half of all deaths attributed to malignancy among school-age children.

Pneumonia and influenza and acute poliomyelitis continue to be among the leading killers at ages 5 to 14, but the death toll from these diseases varies from year to year with their prevalence and virulence.

Strange Worm Must Be Eaten to Survive

LOS ANGELES—The survival of the spiny-headed worm is quite dependent upon the appetite of other animals, unlike that of most creatures, which is largely a matter of avoiding being devoured by other animals.

The tiny worm, says a University of California zoologist, belongs to a group of organisms that "hitchhike" through life. The worm would never be born in the first place if the egg from which it hatches wasn't ingested by a sand crab. Apparently the egg will hatch only inside a sand crab.

And if some marine bird, perhaps a gull or scoter, doesn't eat the sand crab, the larva never becomes an adult worm. Spiny-headed worm larvae apparently just don't grow up except inside marine birds. They are encased in a sturdy capsule which enables them to survive digestive processes and grow into adulthood in the bird's intestines.

The spiny-headed worm must produce a tremendous amount of eggs. Otherwise the chance that a sand crab would ingest an egg and that particular sand crab would be eaten by a marine bird might be too much of a long shot for survival. Yet they are abundant.

Engineers Diverting River Thru Mountain

WASHINGTON—Engineers are diverting a river through the middle of a mountain so that the Indian village of Kitimat in British Columbia can double Canada's aluminum production.

A $600 million program of damming, drilling and building in some of the wildest country in Canada will reverse an entire watershed, send it through a mountain range and drop it 2,400 feet to make electricity in a cave.

So much electric power is needed to smelt aluminum that the strategic metal has been nicknamed "packaged electricity." Successful pioneering to find abundant power sources on its wilderness frontiers has ranked Canada next to the United States in aluminum production even though all the ore must be imported.

Now, to double that production by tapping a new power source, the Aluminum Company of Canada is spending a million dollars a week to build at Kitimat the world's biggest aluminum smelter. In ten years isolated Kitimat may grow into a city of 50,000 people.

Wrong Type Support

VIENNA—A Communist magazine reaching here from Budapest says Hungarian girls wearing low-cut dresses have succumbed to the "influence of the enemy."

The magazine, Uymarcus, said, "Sex-emphasizing short skirts, loud colors, and low-cut dresses are unpatriotic and foreign."

The article charged that Hungarian girls wearing such clothes support the views and morals of capitalist countries.

CAMPAIGN TO RAISE FUNDS TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS

Rev. Joel W. Cock, Seal Sale Chairman, met with the Board of Directors of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association on Monday evening at the Carroll County Medical Center to plan the campaign to raise funds to fight tuberculosis.

"The tuberculosis association helps protect the health of our communities throughout the year," Rev. Cock said. "Just once a year they ask us for funds. We can all be proud to share in this work which benefits us all."

Plans were made for preparing and getting out Christmas Seal letters, publicizing the campaign, and receiving and tabulating returns from each town. Most of the work will be done by volunteer committees.

The Christmas Seal Sale of the 3000 tuberculosis associations throughout the country affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association will open November 16 and continue thru December.

Community chairmen are: Westminster, P. O. Coffman, Edwin Shauck, Mrs. Gladys Wimer, Carroll Rinehart, Samuel Jenness, Mrs. Beatrice Robinson, Frances Gates and Mrs. Paul Lawyer; Union Bridge, George Otto; Hampstead, Mrs. Josephine Newman and Raymond Buchman; Keymar, Mrs. A. Millard Roelke; Mt. Airy, Mrs. Harry C. Clower and Lyndon Myers; Sykesville, Mrs. Arthur B. Shipley; Taneytown, Ernest Dunbar and Charles Stoniesfer; Manchester, Rev. Harvey Schleicher.

Rev. Frederick R. Seibel, president of the association, invited members of the board to attend a conference on Rehabilitation and Service to Patients to be held at the Hotel Emerson, Oct. 17 and 18th.

"We have a net gain of 7,000 new citizens every day—more than two and a half million every year. Marriages are increasing and the size of families is rising at the same time."

"Growth of individual firms in both numbers and size is an obvious corollary of national growth and both kinds of business expansion continue to happen. The most bilious critic of bigness has to face the fact that this is a big country with a big future."

—Wroe Alderson, Partner, Alderson & Sessions.

"Looking ahead to the future, management is convinced that more effective cooperation between employers, employees and leaders of organized labor will make the maximum contribution to the continued growth and prosperity of our economy and the welfare of the American people."

—H. C. McClellan, Chairman, NAM.

"Never in world history has a country been accorded the God-given opportunities we see about us daily!"

Harrisburg Patriot-News.

"Growth creates new problems as well as providing the means of meeting old problems. While growth is satisfying expectations it may at the same time stimulate even greater expectations."

—Wroe Alderson, Partner, Alderson & Sessions.

"It is increased production, resulting from tools and machinery which increases individual productivity, that gives us our higher standard of living."

—Emile F. duPont.

Frances Perkins, former secretary of labor, tells about turning to a gentleman seated behind her at a movie, and saying, "If my hat prevents your seeing this picture, I'd be happy to take it off."

"Please don't," said the man. "The hat's much funnier than the movie."

Poor Oyster Has More Than Share Of Natural Enemies

The oyster, despite its sedentary habits, leads a perilous life, from spawning to harvest.

When the "r" month rolls around, the mollusks are again in season and may be found in stews, scalloped, paned and fried dishes everywhere. Those consumed by humans, however, represent only a tiny minority of the enormous potential supply, says the National Geographic Society.

Natural enemies garble up the larvae as they swim about for a brief period of freedom before attaching themselves to some solid object at the bottom of a bay or estuary. After the "setting," predators get to the soft body even behind its armor of shell.

The oyster drill, a small snail, bores through the hard outer covering, Drumsfish, skates and other rays crush the shells between grinding teeth. Conchs chip away at the oyster's bill (opposite the hinge) to make an entrance. Starfish pry the shells apart with arms equipped with suctionlike cups, then turn their digestive mechanism inside out to absorb the flesh.

Muscles may starve a whole oyster colony by growing over it and cutting off the food supply—the microscopic plant and animal organisms that the oyster filters from the many gallons of sea water it pumps in and out of its shell each day.

Sharp temperature change may also kill the bivalves. Too much or too little salt in the water is a hazard. So is a soft mud bed in which oysters may smother. Polluted water may infect them or retard growth.

Naturalists have always found the oyster interesting. Some varieties, they say, change sex in mid stream of life.

Treat Eye Defects Early, Report Says

MINNEAPOLIS—Unless certain common eye defects are treated before children reach school age, the damage to their sight is likely to be permanent, says a national life insurance company report which recommends a thorough eye examination for every child by age three or three and a half.

If a child's eyes are even slightly crossed, or if one eye deviates outward, upward, or downward, normal vision frequently fails to develop in the "off" eye; the same thing often happens if one eye is more nearsighted or more farsighted than the other, says the report.

The worst handicap to a child's future chances, it adds, is the well-meaning friend or relative who tells the parents, "Wait a while. He may outgrow it."

Children simply do not outgrow crossed eyes or definite refractive impairments. And if treatment is delayed, permanent damage to the sight commonly results—the weaker eye fails to develop normally unless it is put on the right track by the time the child is five or six years old.

Crossing or other deviation sometimes do not show when the child looks straight ahead, but only when looking up, down, or to the side. Treatment of crossed eyes should begin as soon as detected. Glasses, exercises and alternate covering patches, if used in time under competent direction, will correct many cases without surgery.

Shortstop Stops Game By Taking Short Walk

PARIS, Kentucky—All kinds of excitement broke out when the LaGrange Reformatory baseball team shortstop took a walk—one that wasn't indicated by the game umpire.

His team had taken to the field when it was noticed he wasn't at his position. Somebody saw him running away. The entire team, including players sitting on the bench lit out after him—28 of them.

The convicts swarmed all over Paris looking for the shortstop. One other player got lost, stopped at a grocery store and was told how to get back to the ball park. Eventually the team gave up the search and went back to the prison.

The police didn't give up, later found the missing player, who had donned ordinary clothing. He was returned to prison, no doubt with a mighty error chalked up against him.

In the excitement, nobody remembered to report the score of the interrupted game—or the opponent.

But, He Made It!

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Dr. John Nesslerode, an interne at City-County Hospital, was to pick up his wife, a nurse at the same hospital, when she got off duty.

But Nesslerode, who got off earlier, arrived at the hospital in an ambulance. En route to pick up his wife, Nesslerode's car collided with a truck and he suffered a hip fracture.

What Is Right?

Lesson for September 18, 1955

THE most dangerous notion in the world is that "right" and "wrong" do not mean anything at all but "I like it" and "I don't like it." When people begin to think along that line, all the walls are down, they have made the surrender of their character. Right and wrong do mean something, and all the slippery philosophies to the contrary notwithstanding, a person who is blind to these green and red lights is headed straight into trouble. Even when people are professing not to see any sense in those great words, for themselves, however, they do see how important they are for others.

Dr. Foreman

Doing As Everybody Does

One of the wrong ways to find out what's right and what's not, is the simple, easy, and foolish method of counting noses. That is, some people will think anything at all is right if enough people do it. At the lowest level, take some primitive tribe in Borneo where men are admired in proportion to the number of heads—human heads—they have cut off and brought home. The "best citizens" of such communities are the most murderous! Now it has not occurred yet to some of those people that this killing is wrong; everybody does it, everybody has always done it, so it must be right. At the upper level, or at higher levels anyhow, take some American school or college where more than two-thirds of the students cheat on examinations. Everybody does it, the freshman is told, so it must be all right. In the same community, perhaps, people who should know better will indulge in liquor just because "everybody" does it. But you cannot make a wrong thing right by addition.

Doing As You Like

Another mistake about right and wrong is to suppose that if a thing appeals to you strongly enough it must be right—for you. One man's meat is another man's poison, you will be told. If it is pleasant, that is a sign it is good; if it is unpleasant, that is a sign it is bad, or wrong. Now everybody knows how silly this is, when they see some one else putting up this kind of excuse. But when it comes home to one's own self, one sings a different tune. We hear talk like this: "I have a right to be happy, haven't I? . . . You can't expect me to sacrifice my own interests . . . Something I want so much can't be very wrong . . . I'm in the grip of something too big for me . . . After all, I've got myself to consider . . . If you knew how much this means to me you wouldn't blame me . . ." and so forth and so forth. Now there is a grain of truth—no more than a grain, mind you—in this kind of philosophy of life. Certainly the opposite is wrong, too: if the pleasant is not always the same as the good, the unpleasant is not always good either. Stuff you hate to eat may be good for you (like spinach) or it may be bad for you (like underdone sausage). In an ideal life, a person would love to do what is right to be done, he would not hate it. Still it does not follow that duty is always delightful, or that the "kick" we get out of something is a measure of how right it is for us.

Doing What God Likes

Malachi the prophet many centuries ago said pretty plainly, in the name of God, what is the real difference between right and wrong. (And of course this is not the only place in the Bible where this comes out.) The righteous (the good man) is one who serves God; the wicked man is the one who does not serve him. Now that is not so simple as it is true. The will of God cannot be read off like a blueprint. God does not stand at a man's elbow all day long dictating to him moment by moment what he must do. Nevertheless in the Word of God we have the main lines of God's will plainly shown. We are never to be saved the trouble of thinking our problems through. But yet we do have some course-lights, some beacons on our way. We have the Ten Commandments. We have the Golden Rule. We have the inspired word, "He that loveth his neighbor hath fulfilled the law." The will of God—the right for men and women—is as simple and as profound, as love.

UN Report Says Folks Around World Are Living Better

WASHINGTON—An insight into the comparative living standards of the United States and certain other countries for which statistics are available, and changes that have occurred since the late Thirties, are given in a special study made by the United Nations statistical organization.

In addition to the United States, the countries covered are the United Kingdom, Canada, Sweden, Norway, West Germany, Ireland and Japan. Belgian figures are given only for the post-World War II period. The study is based on the personal consumption expenditures for each country in their respective currencies, and gives a breakdown of outlays for food, shelter, clothing and a selected list of other goods and services. In most cases, the year 1938 is the pre-World War II base, while the latest figures are for 1952.

The study shows certain common tendencies in the personal expenditure pattern in all countries over the last decade and a half. For example, the proportion of total consumption outlays going for food in most countries has risen in the period. Part of this is due to higher prices, but the figures also suggest that people are eating better than before in other countries as well as in the United States.

Another common trend has been a decided decline in the proportion of personal expenditures on shelter, which includes the cost of fuel and light, furniture and household operation as well as rent.

1960: More Pay For Less Work

NOTRE DAME, Ind.—By 1960, Americans will be earning 40 per cent more and buying 40 per cent more but working about five hours less each week, according to a prediction made here by a former presidential advisor teaching at Notre Dame.

Dr. Robert C. Turner, visiting professor in the University's College of Commerce, forecast that within 15 years the United States will have a total national output "in excess of 600 billion dollars" as compared with 365 billions in 1953.

A former member of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisors, Dr. Turner said that America's population will be nearing the 200 million mark by 1970. Although the size of the labor force will grow, hours worked per week will probably decline to about 35, compared with just under 40 today, he said. Turner forecast a level of consumption 40 per cent higher than today, assuming that defense expenditures remain at the same absolute level as now and that other government expenditures and business investment expenditures maintain the same relative level as at present.

Heart Disease, Cancer Second to Accidents

NEW YORK—Only heart disease and cancer cause more deaths than accidents among American men at the principal working ages of 15 through 64. At ages 15 through 39 more men die through accidental injuries than from any other cause.

More than 40,000 accident fatalities each year occur among men under 65.

A leading life insurance company says nearly half of the accidental deaths among policyholders are the aftermath of motor vehicle mishaps. Falls, ranking second as a cause of fatal accidents among the insured men, accounted for one-ninth of the fatalities, and drownings for nearly as great a loss of life as falls.

Altogether, the three leading causes—motor vehicles, falls and drownings—were responsible for about seven out of every ten accidental deaths in this insured group.

Saws Smuggled In During Open House

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio — When Open House was held at Clark County Jail recently it seemed everybody wanted to get in—or out—of the act. When guests had departed deputies found three cell bars partially sawed and uncovered a nest of hacksaw blades and crude weapons.

Some 1,000 residents toured the jail as part of a campaign to push a $495,000 bond issue for a new jail. Deputies decided to shake down the inmates to make sure nothing had been smuggled in.

Extended Honeymoon
KEY WEST, Fla. — Keith and Joan McDonald, who started a honeymoon trip in March, 1952, from New Zealand by motorcycle, arrived here recently on a ferry from Cuba.

They say they have covered 55,000 miles in 40 countries on six continents. They planned to continue to Miami, thence to New York, Montreal, Alaska and then back to New Zealand.

THOUGHTS FOR THOUGHT

The person who feels himself indispensable should have something to dispense.

A requisite for the development of brotherhood is brotherly love.

When one observes the large number of patients in the waiting rooms of physicians, the conclusion is they aren't eating an apple a day.

A dog's life isn't always to be snarled at.

When fighting the 'good fight', consider both the weapon and the aim.

It isn't the length of the modern sermon but its contents that kill many a congregation.

Why the Creator has put so much love, devotion, and loyalty, in a dog, and so little in some people, has always been a mystery.

The person who asks, What have I to be thankful for? is a person who deserves even less than he gives thanks for.

The nearer we get to God, the more conscious we become of our need of God.

Day-dreaming is the blueprint for air castles.

When you're pleased with yourself, find out how your neighbors feel.

"The nation is not confronted with the prospect that the value of the dollar will grow less and less."—Philadelphia Bulletin

If you plan a winter holiday, you will have plenty of company. Southern and California resorts will be heavily booked. The cruise and tour business will be especially active, with thousands of tourists traveling on the charge-it plan (10% down and up to two years to pay)—Changing Times.

"Big business has not merely been effectively subject to a competitive system; on the whole it has also made an essential contribution to its scope, vitality and effectiveness."—The Manufacturers Record.

BOWLING BROOK SOLD

Bowling Brook, the estate of the late Robert W. Walden, at Middleburg, Carroll County, which was inherited by a niece Mrs. F. Earle Shriner, of Frederick, has been sold to George S. Walden, Ballston Spa, N. Y. It is understood he paid "around $100,000" for the mansion "some furniture" and 266 acres of land.

The sale included the world famous stables which contain about 75 stalls but did not include the livestock. Among the horses retained by Mrs. Shriner is War Hero, son of Man of War.

The late Mr. Walden was vice-president, for many years, of the Maryland Jockey Club and trained over 200 horses at his stables for races at Pimlico. The stables have been inactive for some years, but with the training track remains a show place.

The purchaser, who is a cousin of the late Mr. Walden, will take possession of the property this month. He expects to live there with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Julia Carroll, but has made no plans for the continuance of the training stable at present.

"John, dear, it says in the paper that the average woman has a vocabulary of only 500 words."

"It's certainly a small number, my love, but think of the turnover!"
