THE STAGE SET FOR "BOLTS AND NUTS"

Practices for the play, "Bolts and Nuts", written by Jay Tobias and being acted by local talent are progressing most satisfactorily and the play should be exceptionally well presented in the Elementary School auditorium on Thursday and Friday, December 1 and 2.

In the play Rebecca, who is the manager of the Bolt Sanitarium for Mental Hygiene says, "Somebody's spilled the beans. Heavens! I must locate that fifteen thousand before one of the patients steals every penny of it". And Henry, the porter who is afraid of lunatics asks, "Am fifteen thousand dollars hid in these premises?" If you want to know more about this huge sum of money don't fail to attend this play filled with laughs and chuckles.

The play is being most ably directed by Mrs. Florence Keppel, who has had a most interesting career and experience upon the stage of some of the metropolitan cities of the world before taking up her residence in the Taneytown Community.

Mrs. Keppel, the former Florence Kirk of Philadelphia, was one of America's brilliant young sopranos with the Metropolitan Opera Company, The Philadelphia Orchestra, New York Philharmonic-Symphony and San Francisco Opera from 1941 to 1949. During that time she made her debut as Lady Macbeth in Verdi's "Macbeth", was the soloist in Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis" and "9th Symphony", and took part in Puccini's "Girl of the Golden West".

Newsweek magazine of December 11, 1944 praised her very highly as she sang in Mozart's "Don Giovanni" with such world-acknowledged masters such as Ezio Pinza, Salvatore Baccaloni, Eleanor Steber, Charles Kullman, Nadine Conner and Mack Harrell. The article mentioned that "Miss Kirk took over the stage with an authority and poise which marked her as a singing actress with a great future."

Internationally Mrs. Keppel appeared on the stages of Teatro Colon, Buenos Aires; Teatro Municipal, Rio de Janeiro; the Greek National Opera, Greek Symphony and Greek Radio; Athens, Greece; the Turkish National Opera, Ankara, Turkey, and in Havana, Cuba, and Mexico City, Mexico.

Mrs. Keppel and daughter spent 5 years abroad with her husband as he was associated with the State Department administering the Economic Aid program in Rome, Italy and Athens, Greece. Because of her keen interest in and her intimate association with the stage the Taneytown Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association considers itself most fortunate in procuring the gracious services of Mrs. Keppel and the play promises to be a most-outstanding production.

MEETING OF ELEMENTARY P-T. A.

School Asks City Council for Fluoride in Water

The Taneytown Elementary school held its monthly P-T-A. meeting on Tuesday evening in the auditorium. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Henry Keimollar, Vice-President. The invocation was given by Mrs. Shirley Ellsworth, one of the sixth grade teachers. The audience participated in the flag salute and the singing of America. The secretary and treasurer each gave their report. Mrs. George Gunther gave an up-to-date report on the present status of the membership committee. Mrs. Ted Jester, delegate to the P-T-A. convention in Baltimore, gave an account of her representation at the convention. Rev. Morgan Andreas brought to the attention of those present the importance of having Fluoride added to the town's water supply to aid in the decrease of tooth decay. He informed us of the favorable results that other cities have experienced from this addition. A motion was made and carried to have the secretary write to our Mayor and City Council asking them to act upon the suggestion. It was also a part of the motion to ask the High School to endorse this suggestion.

The secretary read a letter of resignation from Mrs. Charles Hopkins, President of the P-T-A., who is in the hospital at this time. It was decided that no action be taken on this letter at this meeting.

The meeting was then turned over to Principal Frank Wagny, who was in charge of the program. Nancy Stine played a trumpet solo and Steven Feeser a piano solo. Mr. Wagny gave a very interesting talk, using as his theme "Maryland". He brought out many unfamiliar details concerning our State and ended the program by showing colorful slides of the mountainous section of Maryland in Carroll County.

Light refreshments were served.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY HOLDS DINNER MEETING

Pictures Shown Identifying Early Carroll County

The annual dinner meeting of the Historical Society, held at the Westminster Methodist Church, Thursday, Nov. 10, was very largely attended by members and friends of the Society. President Harry Keller presided over the business meeting.

Among the Committee reports, Mrs. A. Earl Shipley reported on the progress of the Historical Society garden, which has been beautifully landscaped. This garden is a project of the Carroll Garden Club.

The following officers were elected: President, Dr. Theodore M. Whitfield; 1st Vice-President, Dr. Howard L. Knight; 2nd Vice-President, Lloyd E. Wilhide; 3rd Vice-President, Carroll E. Myers; Secretary, Edith E. Rill, Treasurer, Col. T. K. Harrison. New directors, Mrs. Edgar G. Barnes, Uniontown District; Miss Elizabeth M. Annan, Taneytown District; Mrs. James M. Shriver, Myers District; Miss Esta Bosley, Woolerys District, and Mrs. Frank Dorsey, Freedom District.

The program called Identification Night consisted of the projection of old pictures associated with the early history of Carroll County. Some pictures not adapted to screen use were posted around the room with the request that information concerning places, names, and dates be added by people who could vouch for them. The projected photographs contracted those completely or partially identified with those completely unidentified. The Society requested that all photographs or articles donated in the future be completely identified by the donors. Only items directly associated with some phase of Carroll County history are wanted.

Among the pictures shown were those of churches, schools, institutions, and homes no longer in existence, along with others that still survive after a century or more. Four views of the Winchester Place depicted its transition from the private residence of Lydia and Betsy Winchester built in 1802 to that of the fashionable summer resort which flourished at the turn of the century. There was a picture of the house which for a long time has been reputed the oldest in Westminster. Formerly known as the John Crouse home, it stands near the intersection of Main Street and Washington Road. Early Main Street scenes of Union Bridge, Union Mills, Silver Run, Winfield and Westminster were shown. Grubbin's Store, Miller Brothers Dry Goods Store, and the Chautauqua Tent of 1912 were included along with unidentified places.

The pictures were selected by Lilian Shipley and were projected by Dr. Theodore Whitfield. The narrator was Dorothy Elderdice.

"THE ESQUIRES" TO APPEAR FOR THANKSGIVING DANCE

Music will be furnished for the 8th annual Thanksgiving dance this year by "The Esquires" a 7-piece orchestra hailing from Frederick, Md. The dance is sponsored each year by the Taneytown High School Alumni Association and will be held in the Taneytown High School auditorium on Thursday evening, November 24, (Thanksgiving night), with dancing to begin at 9 p. m. This will be the first appearance of "The Esquires" here in Taneytown and it is being looked forward to with much anticipation. They feature Louis Sagan on the trumpet, Frank Danner at the piano, Hammond Gaugh, Edw. Burke, and Tommy Powell on saxophones, Walter McKinney on guitar, and Ray Wachter as drummer-boy. Those who have heard these fellows agree that they should provide a very enjoyable evening, always endeavoring to play the favorites and type music that is most requested by the patrons.

All of the net proceeds of this dance will go to help buy new uniforms for the High School varsity basketball squad. Alumni and school officials both agree that this annual dance is one of the best which is held during the season. Unfortunately, the past few years attendance has been dropping to a dangerously low level. It is the sincere hope of everyone concerned that this annual event will not have to be dropped. Possibly the lack of interest results from a general loss of interest in dancing in the local High School the past few years, but it is hoped that high-school students, recent graduates, old timers and the public in general turn out this year to swell the crowd of usual out-of-towners and make this a big success.

Last-minute preparations will be made for the dance when the alumni meet in the High School this coming Monday night. Other important business includes the report of the nominating committee and nominations from the floor for the 1956 officers. The election is set for December. All Alumni are urged to attend.

On Thurs., Nov. 24, 1955, a Thanksgiving service will be held at the Church of God, Frizzellburg, Md. This service will begin at 9:30 a. m., and will include a speaker, special music and readings.

THE HOG SITUATION

Hog prices have declined sharply of late. The Portland Oregonian explains why, in an editorial aptly entitled "Too Many Pigs".

The paper says: "The reason the hog market is so low is that there are so many pigs going to market. The reason so many pigs were produced this year—more than 100,000,000—is that prices on hogs were good a little more than a year ago and corn prices, depressed by a total supply of some five billion bushels, have been dropping. When corn is cheap and pork high, hog production goes up and hog prices go down".

This then is an example of how the law of supply and demand works in a free market. Almost invariably scarcity makes for higher prices and abundance for lower prices. The producers and sellers of every commodity in general are subject to the law's workings. This year, for instance, automobile dealers have found themselves hard-pressed to dispose of the roaring flood of cars the factories are making, and as a consequence consumers have been offered exceptionally good buys.

Going back to the hog situation, what should be done? One important help lies in current campaigns in which packers, retailers and others are participating, to promote increased pork consumption, and to publicize the bargain prices now prevailing. Also the government is to buy $85,000,000 worth of pork products—not for storage, but for consumption in the school lunch and other established programs. And, of course, there is talk about government price supports for hogs. The fallacy in that was pointed up by the Record Stockman, of Denver, when it said: "The chief answer lies with slashing hog numbers. Price propping for hogs could only encourage the inefficient hog feeder to feed this winter."—Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

KINGMAN, ARIZ., MOHAVE MINER: "Nothing serves as a better barometer of the condition of a community or a state than its newspaper. Many first impressions are made by the community newspaper and it can either promote or detract from its area".

SAUGERTIES, N. Y., DAILY POST: "The dairy people . . . have begun to promote their own goods on their own merits, and the demand is growing".

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "Every time a motorist fills his gas tank, he pays over a dollar in taxes to the state and federal government. This fact, said T. S. Petersen, president of Standard Oil Company of California, might well push the tax up to a point of diminishing returns on a commodity supposedly not in the luxury class".

BEDFORD, IND., DAILY AIMESMAIL: "We firmly believe that most of the people in the United States are fundamentally conservative, because most of them have something to conserve—a home; insurance policy, farm, personal property among the tangible things, and certainly all of us want to conserve the system of government and private enterprise which has created this high standard of living".

To find a career to which you are adapted by nature, and then to work hard at it, is about as near to a formula for success and happiness as the world provides. —Mark Sullivan

KITCHEN TIPS

NUMBER 8

Here are some Autumn homemaking suggestions from the kitchens of your local electric light and power company and its Home Service Advisors. We hope you will find them useful.

To pep up plain canned or pre-cooked beans, fry an onion in bacon fat several minutes, then add beans and some brown sugar.

It's easy to freshen shredded cocoanut—just soak in fresh milk with a dash of sugar for a few minutes. Or, place in sieve, set over boiling water and steam until moist.

The most dreaded after-dinner chore fades away when you have one of the new electric dishwashers.

To remove odors from jars and bottles, pour a solution of water and dry mustard into them and let stand for several hours.

Salted nuts, caramel corn, potato chips keep their flavor and crispness better when stored in your home freezer.

Avoid "boil-overs" when cooking spaghetti or macaroni—add one tablespoon of cooking oil or shortening to the water.

Refrigerator ice cream will have a better texture if they are removed from the tray and beaten with a rotary beater once during freezing . . . beating incorporates air and keeps ice crystals small. If an electric blender is used, no beating during the freezing process is required.

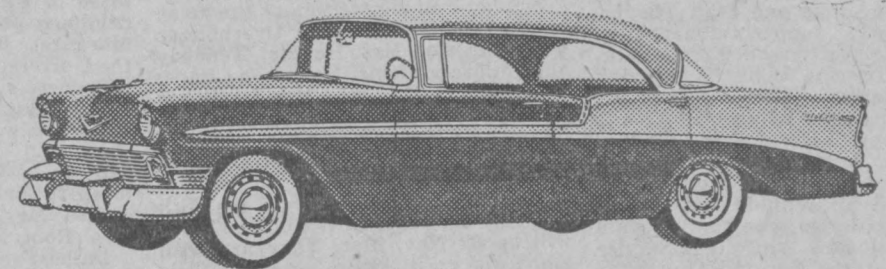

Never attempt to re-can any food that has begun to spoil . . . it's a difficult process and the results may be dangerous.

There's a free new recipe booklet, "Reddy's Recipes," waiting for you at our local office. Get your copy now by writing to our Home Service Advisor at the nearest office of the

DETOUR-KEYSVILLE

Church notice: Keysville Evangelical Lutheran—S. S., 9:30, Worship service, 10:30.

The sympathy of this community is extended to Mrs. Monroe Hann and her children in the death of her husband who was killed when the truck he was driving was in an accident with the Western Md. train at the crossing at the Donald Six Warehouse. This accident occurred on Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Priest and family of near Detour were guests on Sunday of her aunt, Miss Stella Scott, of Laurel, Md.

Fred Stonifer returned to his home in Keysville Wednesday of last week and is getting along pretty well. Due to his jaws being broken in several places, he has his jaws wired together in order for the bones to heal correctly.

Glad to be able to report that Chas. Cluts was able to return to his home on Riverdale Farm on Sunday. He had spent about two weeks at Frederick Memorial Hospital.

Residents of near Keysville received prizes in the Emmitsburg Halloween parade. Little Roxanne Stine was dressed as an organ grinder's monkey, with tin cup and all, while her father, Gilbert Stine was the organ grinder. Mr. and Mrs. Stine's other daughter Nancy received a prize for being an elephant.

HARNEY

The sure and nimble touch of the hands of a great pianist is the result of hours of daily practice over a period of years. The great and thrilling music which he creates is the product of daily devotion to his art. Every fine accomplishment in life requires the same daily devotion. If your house is neat as a pin, if you have a lovely garden, if your office is well-run and efficient, you know that it takes time and effort. You know that it takes hours of daily care and devotion. So with Prayer—Prayer is one of the highest gifts a man has. But it is to become more than a spasmodic and superstitious cry for help—it too requires daily care and devotion. It takes practice.

The church stands ready to help you and your children know the great joy which comes to a man through daily prayer. And the best part of it is, the more you practice prayer, the greater joy and happiness you will derive from it. Plan to go to the church of your choice Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Day of family get-to-gether, fun and ## THANKSGIVING!

Yes, Thanksgiving is a day for family-get-togethers, good fun and reverence. Although they had little by comparison, the little band of Pilgrims attended divine worship and gave thanks before sitting down to the first Thanksgiving meal with their Indian friends.

This Thanksgiving and every day let us give thanks, each in his own way, for the many gifts which many of us in rich America take for granted.

So that our staff may spend Thanksgiving with their families we will be closed throughout the day.

In Loving Memory of my dear father, WILLIAM H. OTTO, who passed away 30 years ago, November 19, 1925.

The stars are shining brightly, Upon a silent grave. In it lies a precious one. We loved, but could not save. He bade no one a last farewell. He said goodbye to none. His loving heart just ceased to beat. And suddenly he was gone. Though his smile is gone forever, And his face we cannot touch. We will never lose sweet memories Of the one we loved so much. You are gone but not forgotten Daddy. By his loving daughter MARION.

SHORT STORY

Rookie Cop

By Maurice Vincent

"GOODMORNING officer," the man said. The voice came from a well dressed, distinguished looking gentleman, slightly greying at the temples. He was carrying a brief case.

Joe Prentice, the new policeman on the beat, nodded pleasantly and continued his walk.

3-Minute Fiction

A right nice gentleman, Joe was thinking. Probably the president of the bank he was entering so importantly; with a tip of his black Homburg to an elderly lady and a casual wave of an aristocratic hand to the doorman. The man disappeared in a bustle of hurrying men and women into the inner works of the Montgomery State Bank.

Joe Prentice didn't look too much like a policeman.

In his new uniform he looked more like a man dressed in a policeman's outfit on his way to a party where originality of costume would reward him with first prize. He walked his beat a trifle self-consciously. And uppermost in his mind was the fervid hope that today, on his first day in uniform, he wouldn't have to arrest anyone. He just wasn't certain, out here in the sunlight and on this busy street, just how he would go about making an arrest. He wasn't anxious to try.

Joe Prentice whipped out his traffic book and began writing with a shaky hand.

Although Joe's thoughts were almost as bright as the sunny day, uppermost in his mind was a nagging suspicion. He walked by the expensive car several times, hopefully. Yes, there was only about a half minute left on the parking meter.

I hope the guy comes back in time, Joe muttered. Or he would have to give the party a ticket for a parking violation. And today was too nice a day for such a business. He could just hear, in his own mind, the recriminations and great outpourings and wailings.

"But officer," the imaginary person would say. "The meter must be out of order . . . distinctly remember . . ."

"Nonsense," Joe would say firmly.

In his mind's eye, he could just see the small, talkative crowd of loafers gathering. A crowd that mumbled and grumbled to itself: "Huh . . . new cop . . . trying to show off . . . giving a poor chump a ticket."

Everyone was against the cop, Joe thought bitterly. His jaw hardened. It was his duty to uphold the law, and, by George, he was going to do it! And Joe Prentice felt a great anger stirring within him and the day seemed to grow bleak and even the bright sun shone sullenly.

He watched, fascinated, as the red flag on the parking meter moved slowly up until it read VIOLATION. At the exact instant the red flag pushed up its crimson head . . . Joe Prentice whipped out his traffic book and commenced writing with a shaking hand. He was muttering and grumbling to himself.

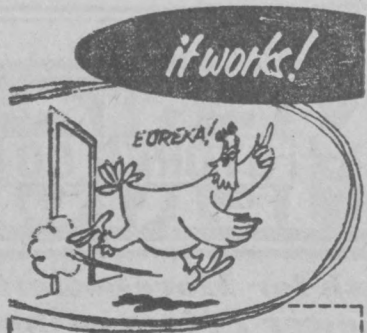

This was an out and out violation and Joe was building up quite a case against the unknown owner of the car. No one paid the slightest attention to the rookie cop who was writing his first ticket; a thickset young man on his way to become a policeman—the hard way!

And then he heard it. The rumblings of the crowd. No one loved a cop! As he turned in great anger, with narrowed eyes, he thrust out his traffic book like a deadly weapon and pointed it at the well dressed man who was rushing before the crowd to his car.

"Just hold on YOU!" Joe roared in great rage.

No one was more surprised than Joe when the well dressed man handed over the bulging brief case and threw up his hands.

Later, when Joe was informed that he had captured the "Pink Kid"—lone wolf bank robber and con man extraordinary—he had the good sense to keep mighty quiet. But he had to admit to himself that the "Pink Kid" looked more like a bank president than the arresting officer looked like a cop.

This chicken has found it—Wazine, a water wormer that works! Simply add Wazine to water and give till consumed. Wazine removes 95% or more of large roundworms including very young worms. It acts in a jiffy—worming is usually done in a day or less. And Wazine treatment costs only about 1/4c a bird. A regular worming program helps reduce disease burden, produce more profit. So, ask for Wazine—it works and takes the work out of worming. Say Wah-zeen.

Powers of God

Lesson for November 20, 1955

JESUS no doubt did many ordinary things, such as paying his bills and eating his breakfast. It may well be that he "never did an ordinary thing in an ordinary way." (How would he pay you what he owed for lumber for his carpenter shop? How would he be as a breakfast companion?) But it is also true by all the records that he did some extraordinary things, so extraordinary in fact that no one word could quite describe them. The Gospel writers, all of whom of course used Greek, used sometimes a word meaning "sign," sometimes one meaning "wonder, miracle," and sometimes one that means "power." The same Greek words is translated in different ways. For example: the Greek word "dynamis" (power) is translated in the old King James version "power" in Luke 5:17, "virtue" in 6:19, "mighty works" in 10:13, "miracles" in Acts 2:22.

No Show-off

You can get into all kinds of stupid and endless arguments over the "miracles" of the New Testament. They are not always labeled as such, or labeled with any word. The Gospels will just tell what Jesus did, and let the reader draw his own conclusions. What they all agree on is that Jesus performed acts of power which no one else could match. He did these things as naturally as you would pick a blackberry—as naturally but perhaps not so easily. As he himself expressed it, he could perceive "power" going out of him. (Luke 8:46, R.S.V.) However hard it may be to understand Jesus' miracles, we can confidently say three things about them. One is that he did not do them "just to be doing them." They were never aimless, or at random. Further, they never had the aim of showing off. To the end of his days Jesus was beset by demands from the Pharisees and others, to show a "sign from heaven." One of his early temptations was to cast himself down from a pinnacle of the Temple and expect God or his angels to see that he did not get hurt in the fall. But he did not yield to that temptation.

Never Too Much

Another striking fact about his miracles is that he never wasted power. He never did what others could do. When he fed the five thousand, he got the people to sit down in orderly fashion and got his disciples to help distribute the food. One would suppose it would have been just as easy for him to arrange for every person present to find a loaf and a fish suddenly in his hand; but Jesus did not work that way. Or again, after the tremendous miracle of restoring to life the little daughter of Jairus, Jesus—instead of producing lunch for her himself by a miracle—gives orders to the family to get the little girl something to eat. When he healed the paralytic, he told him to pick up his pallet and go home.

He Went About Doing Good

Simon Peter, who was far more impressed by Jesus' miracles than by what he said, summed up a great deal when he said that Jesus, endowed with divine power, "went about doing good." (Acts 10:38.) Our Lord's acts of power were always done for the help of other persons. This is the great distinction between Christ's miracles and those done, or allegedly done, by magic. Your typical magic-worker makes a doll and sticks pins in it, hoping by this means to inflict pain or death on some one. Whether or not magic is anything real, magic is malicious by intention. Jesus' miracles on the contrary were never malicious, but the exact opposite—they were acts of goodness and generous help. Jesus never called up genies out of bottles, he never created fire-breathing dragons, he never produced potions of love or death. All his miracles simply restored health, life, strength, gave food to the hungry, eyes to the blind... yes, and good news to the poor. For in listing for John the Baptist's benefit the acts of power he was doing, he names as climax not the raising of the dead, but the coming of good news to the poor. That is a miracle we still too seldom see!

New Sweep-ahead styling
New Sizzle to match

WHAT YOU SEE pictured here is Buick for 1956—and from the gleam of that "V" grille to the sassy slant of the tail fins, you can see it has no equal for gorgeous good looks.

But what you see from the curb is fully matched by what you feel at the wheel—and that's gospel.

For this Buick gets its zoom from a mighty 322-cubic-inch V8 engine lofted to a new record high in power and compression—and from a spectacular new advance in Variable Pitch Dynaflo.

What's new in the '56 Dynaflo is this: in the first inch of pedal travel—and not with wide-open throttle—your Buick moves from standstill to cruise with silk-smooth, instant and certain getaway.

But comes a sudden need for safety-surge action to get out of a tight spot—and you floor the pedal to switch the pitch of this airplane-inspired transmission. Instantly and smoothly, you're at full-power acceleration—a thrill beyond words.

There's a lot more we could tell you about these great new Buicks—about brilliant new interiors, a superb new ride with a safer "sense of direction," and new safety features everywhere you look.

But the best way to get the whole story of the best Buick yet is right at the wheel of one of these '56 beauties. So drop in this week and do just that.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
