PRESIDENT AVAILABLE FOR SECOND TERM

Eisenhower Announces Decision Wednesday

President Dwight D. Eisenhower answered the long-awaited question that Americans have been asking—Will he be willing to run for a second term if asked? He made his announcement on Wednesday, ending a long period of uncertainty and speculation, at a news conference held just five months and five days after his Sept. 24 heart attack.

"My answer will be positive—that is affirmative," Eisenhower said. In Congress, there was jubilation among Republican legislators. GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall called it "the best possible news for all Americans."

In the business and financial world, repercussions were sharp and immediate. Stock prices bounced up on the New York Stock Exchange. Buying orders poured in so that the ticker was about 19 minutes behind an hour after Eisenhower's announcement.

The President declined to say at this time whether he favors Vice-President Nixon as his running mate again.

However, he again had warm praise for Nixon and called him a dedicated public servant.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health-life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness.

Despite the extremely cold day and sharp, biting wind, Your Observer ventured "down town" on Washington's birthday for the big sales which were advertised to make note just for this Column.

Parking the car at the "Boat Show" at the Armory, I ventured to brave the wind and hugged my coat closer around me as I walked the distance to the shopping district. The bright Mr. Sun did not help any and on the special corners it felt as though I was up in Alaska! As I walked along "Antique Row"—there I saw that grand Oyster House of Dunlop's as of old and where I had not dined for over two years. I thought that hot oyster stew for which they have always been famous would warm me and as I opened the door exactly at 10 a. m. I saw a different proprietor. When I inquired about the other man who had been there for so many years with his lovely wife, he told me that he passed away just two years ago!

However, when the stew came on it was the very same—a delicious one with big fat oysters so the name of "Dunlop" will still be on the map!

As I continued to walk down Howard street, I noticed all the "Antique" stores were closed with a little sign on each front door, "Open at noon!" Then, I took a long look at the grand new Maryland General Hospital which will soon be completed. The old part then on the other side will be torn down as soon as this is in readiness to accept the patients.

The jam of cars was terrific as though it was a parade as it was moving very slowly toward the shopping district.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

COVINGTON, TENN., LEADER: "We feel that labor unions have served useful purposes in the past. However, if they are to continue to serve the best interests of the people, labor leaders must realize that restrictive tactics and 'feather-bedding' produce not more jobs, but fewer jobs in this age of mass-production, prefabrication and automation."

OGALLALA, NEBR., NEWS: "Financial statement of the major companies show that the packers, by an almost unbelievable elimination of waste and development of profitable by-products, reflect an efficient job and at a margin of a small fraction of one penny for each dollar volume of business."

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "The common economic goal of the free world, to discourage communism, is removing barriers to the flow of capital. The opportunities are fabulous. By strengthening capitalism abroad, we are strengthening the free enterprise system, which is basic to our own way of life."

PLAINFIELD, IND., MESSENGER: "We do not need to look to the federal government for help. Let's learn again the fine art of taking care of ourselves and our own."

HOMETOWN JUBILEE

Talented men, women, boys and girls of this community will have an opportunity to take part in the all star comedy revue, HOMETOWN JUBILEE, to be presented by the Harney V. F. W. and Auxiliary on the nights of March 16th and 17th.

Hometown Jubilee is a two-hour fun-fest, a combination of music, song, and comedy skits and pretty girls in colorful costumes.

A Golden Wedding couple (or may be couple married greatest number of years) will be honored each night of Hometown Jubilee, and the show takes them back through the years with songs and sketches.

A Salute to the Red, White and Blue presents a stirring tribute with the chorus in bright military costumes. A stage full of youngsters attend Glamour School, and bring to all the magic of make-believe. A tribute to the churches of this community adds a reverential note.

Three local citizens will impersonate Bob Hope, Bing Crosby and Dinah Shore. A pair of "country boys", Tobias T. Ticklebush and his little brother arrived for the Jubilee and end up staging a show of their own, both in the audience and on stage.

An old-time proposal scene between Earnest Higginbottom and Miss Fanny Farnsworth is followed by an ultra modern proposal, between Butch and Babe, and the old time meller-drammer will bring howls of laughter over the sad plight of the Heroine, the dastardly deeds of the Villain and brave actions of the Hero.

Throughout the show the fast-stepping chorus line of pretty girls enchant with colorful costumes, lovely gowns, cute and clever routines. Hattie Carbunkle is a famous fashion designer who has designs on everyone. The high spot of the evening is Hattie, with her Honey Bunny Ecos, the darlings of the fashion world. The rafters will ring when Marilyn Mudrow, Rita Hayrack, Betty Gobble and Irmintrude Poppirdle, all impersonated by men, step on stage.

A professional director who has had special training in the production of Hometown Jubilee will arrive approximately two weeks prior to the entertainment. She is a representative of Redpath-Horner, famous old Chattanooga company, which this year is celebrating its own Golden Jubilee. The Director will have charge of promotion and production, including holding rehearsal to teach the show members of the cast.

Those who would like to take part in Hometown Jubilee, including high school and junior high school girls for the chorus numbers, are asked to contact Roy Overholtzer.

"Hometown Jubilee" promises to be one of the biggest shows of its kind ever presented here and it offers two hours of good, clean fun for every member of the family.

SAVE BY BUYING

By LOUIS LUDWIG

THERE are many solid living values, as well as a lot of interesting developments, in keeping the furniture of your home up-to-date in terms of you and your family.

Many families buy furniture with the expectation of having it last a lifetime. Good furniture can, of course—but furniture was made for man, and not man for furniture.

Many fine homemakers, however, operate on a different plan. They budget each year for at least one, sometimes several, pieces of new furniture. Families grow and contract with the years, and the entertainment of friends and relatives grows and contracts.

In studying furniture needs a homemaker should always think of her back. Dusting is a back-breaking job, and the less there is the better. Present furniture which requires too much dusting should be irrevocably slated for replacement. So should furniture with prominent scars. Ditto for furniture which is no longer comfortable.

In modernizing your furniture don't be afraid of mixing period with modern. There are very few well-executed rooms that are strictly in one period. A good decorator will combine pieces from several different periods. Many eighteenth-century pieces combine well with modern because both emphasize straight lines.

If you are at all doubtful of what is appropriate, consult the interior decorating department of any reputable store. It is also always worthwhile to buy at such a store, since chicane has long been rife in the furniture trade. A reputable store will stand squarely behind its merchandise.

A leading interior decorator gives these recommendations: "Pick furniture that is appropriate. This means 'matching in' your new piece with the old pieces; also with the draperies and the floor covering. Select styles that harmonize well. Remember that there are good and bad examples of any period—insist on getting the good. Buy pieces that will fit your rooms, pieces that are neither too large nor too small."

An annual furniture budget, no matter how small, will work wonders in keeping your home a real "design for living."

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

GREEN SUNFISH

(Lepomis cyanellus)

RANGE: Found in almost every State, and plentiful in many waters of Maryland where it is found generally along with the bluegill and other sunfishes; many anglers catch them at Loch Raven and other similar Maryland waters and mistake them for bluegills.

DESCRIPTION: Is similar to the common sunfish or pumpkin seed, but has a much larger mouth than that species and the bluegill; average length around 5 to 6 inches. Rather a dark body with tiny green specks; dark blotch on dorsal and anal fins; white or orange edge on fins; red eye.

BREEDING: Spawning habits somewhat similar to those of other sunfishes; inclined to build nests in colonies in shallow water; male guards the nest.

MANAGEMENT: Need little if any protection in proper habitat; in fact has a tendency, like bluegills, to become overcrowded and need thinning out by angling or other means; scientists seem pretty well agreed that members of the sunfish family, with the exception perhaps of the smallmouth and largemouth black bass, need no closed season.

HABITS: Eats insects, small fish; garden worms favorite bait.

VALUE: Small but very good to eat; no commercial value, but does supply an army of anglers, young and old—along with bluegills, common sunfish and other pan fish—with healthy outdoor recreation.

how Advertising helps you

BY CHARLES B. ROTH

If Advertising Stopped

TAKE one minute, please, will you, to ponder on this subject: Suppose every bit of advertising were suddenly to stop, every bit of it. What would happen?

One man in New York City, a noted advertising man named Harold E. Fellows, did that, and his conclusion is this: "It would be more catastrophic than if America's principal cities were destroyed by atomic bombs. For this would be total destruction, not only of cities, but of the entire nation as well."

You may think that Mr. Fellows has gone pretty far in making this statement. But if you think of the effect of the stoppage of advertising you won't.

The first thing that would happen, of course, is that those who work directly or indirectly in advertising would immediately be thrown out of work—the printers, the writers, the suppliers of ink and paper and presses, and others who depend for a livelihood upon that industry known as advertising. There are many millions of them. They would be the first to fail.

Then what would happen? It would be the return to the Dark Ages, and mankind would slip back to where he was there, to a wolfish, animalish existence, degraded, impoverished.

All because all advertising stopped!

But don't worry too much about this. Advertising is not going to stop. It is going to increase, not only in kind and amount, but in its essential service to humanity. That is what advertising really is—a human service institution.

FOREST TREE SEEDLINGS FREE TO LANDOWNERS

The Department of Forests and Parks is again furnishing forest tree seedlings to landowners in Maryland. These trees are furnished free for reforestation, soil and water conservation. Mar. is tree planting time in the Northern Maryland district, which is comprised of Baltimore, Carroll, Cecil, Harford, Kent and Queen Anne's counties.

Species available this year are: White pine, loblolly pine, Norway spruce, Scotch pine and a limited supply of Virginia pine, yellow poplar, and black locust.

Upon receipt of request from the landowner, a representative of the Department of Forests and Parks will examine the planting site and make recommendations as to what species is best suited for the site, the number of trees needed, the best time to plant, how to plant, and the care of trees before and after planting.

The minimum order is 250 trees or enough to reforest ¼ acre of solid planting. Furnishing trees for small residential lots is not permitted as this would be considered as ornamental planting and not a conservation practice.

A mechanical tree planter is available for use on larger areas. This machine and all labor is available at a cost of ten dollars an acre, with a minimum charge of $25.00.

District Forester William A. Parr said that landowners should apply promptly to any employee of the Department, the District Office at Bel Air, or to their county agent, to be assured of getting trees this spring. All tree orders are taken on a first come, first served basis.

THE GOLDEN AGE—

There are legends which tell of a Golden Age
When wisdom and innocence set the stage;
But mythology says the senses caused the Fall,
That selfishness was back of it all.

Man was etheric when he first came;
He gave to the animals their name;
But, greed and passion it was, I find,
Which caused him to fall and change his mind.

He had not yet, through selfishness and pride,
Forgotten Him who was by his side;
So, a patriarch he was content to be,
For he did not crave no-to-ri-ety.

But as civilization prospered, he went down—
He gave a pound of peace for an ounce of renown;
As a patriarch, he was happy and free;
So, his pristine State was much better, you see.

Our present lifespan is only a day,
Compared with the years man is on his way
Back to God, and the things he has lost,
But he shall find Him at a terrible cost.

The Greeks and the Romans placed the day
Under Saturn, when the "Golden Age" held sway;
They also said that it would return
When life's many lessons we all shall learn.
That return will mean a Paradise for all
Who dwell on this "terrestrial ball";
This earth shall be what God wants it to be,
The home of the soul through eternity.

The earth was common property in that day,
And, God intends to keep it that way;
It produced spontaneously, we are told—
That is why it was called the age of gold.

The land flowed with milk and honey, it is said,
Man did not toil for his daily bread;
Beasts of prey were at peace with all, they say
Because God told them to act that way.

Nothing can change God's great plan
To make earth a Paradise for man;
To round him out like Jesus of Galilee.
Is the way God intends that man shall be.

The "Age of Gold" has no counterpart in this;
It will be an eternal era of exquisite bliss;
Men shall know God, as in days of old,
And the truth about Him shall be told.

FEESERSBURG

(A Voice from Carroll)

The Baltimore stores are feeling the bad effects of the prolonged strike of the Transit Company which has been in progress for four weeks. For once, a labor union is not blamed, but company officials are accused of delay in reaching an agreement. The effect of the strike has reached out into the counties for people have learned that the streets in Baltimore can hold just so many cars and no more and that finding a place to park one's car is impossible. Rather than baffle traffic, people are staying out of the city unless a trip is necessary.

With Easter shopping in the offing, stores are in a desperate situation. One can be sure that all the pressure possible will be brought to bear on the Transit Company and the labor union to end their differences at top speed. Although up to the present time, speed has been clocked to a minimum in the dispute.

According to scientists, spots on the sun are responsible for the crazy weather the world has been enduring for the past month. Europe is trying to cope with the worst winter in memory, but even when the deep freeze disappears, floods will take its place and everyone will feel the effect for a couple of years. Here in the U.S.A. we are having all kinds of weather trouble too. On Saturday the wind played havoc with roofs, trees and power lines, in Carroll and surrounding counties. There may be a warm up in the changing weather pattern.

We complain too often about the farmers raising too much food, but who knows but what the sun might be going through some kind of evolution that would effect the world's climate to such a degree that no crops could be raised for several years. Remember the severe lean years of Biblical history? Instead of fussing over the abundance of food and the cost of storing surpluses, we might be doing ourselves a favor if we found a way to put away surplus food for an unforeseen weather emergency. It always has struck a chill of forboding in my mind whenever I have read or heard our leaders boast or condemn our abundance, especially concerning food. When one notices how quickly the weather can ruin a crop and how little control man has over the sun, it would be wiser to take good care of our abundance while we have it. Men, may at times feel that he is the master, but it only takes nature on the rampage for a few minutes to teach him otherwise.

Next to growing old, the dating period in anyone's life is probably the most frantic and heart-breaking. Adults never realize the dating period. Then the family seems to disintegrate. Up until this period Mother and Dad knew all answers and son and daughter thought their parents did too, but when dating starts, some how the parents become back numbers and they don't know anything from their teenagers point of view. Each batch of dating youngsters feel that they alone discovered dating with all of its complications. They can't believe that mother ever waited for the telephone to ring and waited in vain. They can't believe that Dad was ever too shy to call a girl and ask her out to a movie. They can't believe that their special dream-boat of today will probably turn out to be a drip in a couple years and the shy, slow-draw will be the future man of distinction, or a teased business woman in the future. (It seems so long ago.) We wanted life to give us every thing at sixteen. We weren't content either, to grow up gradually. If there is any difference in dating today and that of yesterday it is in competition. Today boys are fewer in number and less aggressive than girls. It is a pity that this is true, because the social rule is still the same—a girl has to wait until a boy asks her for a date and some boys just don't get around to going out with girls until later. There seems to be a code among modern teenagers that didn't exist years back. They don't try to steal each other's dates. The old code of "Anything is fair in love and war", is out the window. While dating is a normal and healthy stage in growing up, never-the-less any household blessed with boys and girls is thrown into somewhat of a turmoil when dating begins.

The Daniel Boones seem to be winning over the Davy Crocketts. There are 149 people named after Davy while 221 are called Daniel Boone.

There are three things people hate to spend their money on. They are food, school teachers and ministers. People stint on their food budget to buy cars, fur coats, trips to beauty salons and most any luxury item and yet without food a person will die within a week. The teachers are denied a decent salary and yet in their hands rests the future leaders of our nation. The minister also is denied a salary big enough to keep up the dignity of his office and yet he is the person that looks after the spiritual life of the community he serves. And the spiritual value of any country guides its destiny. The truth of the matter is that we have our values mixed up. First things should come first, but we are putting them last.

Whoever eats the bread that another has reaped and kneaded is under an obligation to his brother, and cannot say he owes him nothing. The poorest of us has received from society much more than his own single strength would have permitted him to wrest from nature. Emile Souvestre.

I hope I am not alone when I say that when the basketball season is over in our local school I will breathe a little prayer of relief. Not that I have anything against the game but I think that it takes top priority over everything else and keeps not only the students in a state of tension, but it also upsets the routine of most homes.

We see by the papers that a group of doctors are interested in building a small hospital in Carroll providing they receive sufficient support from the public. Our county is certainly citizens and from all evidence when I was a patient at the Annie Warner Hospital in Gettysburg there are enough patients from our county to justify building one for ourselves. So many people ask me why I went to Gettysburg hospital instead of Baltimore. The main reason was the convenience. No traffic to worry about and it was close to home. This is one reason why a hospital in Carroll would prove popular, especially with maternity patients. As for the medical and surgical care one receives in a small hospital, the standard is just as high as a large hospital. With the doctor shortage being what it is, a hospital located in our county would help much toward attracting more doctors to our community. Since Carroll County is attracting more and more people from the cities, something must soon be done to give our county better medical facilities. A hospital would certainly help.

I would not give a fig for a man's religion if his neighbors and community are not benefitted by it.—Ruth Roelke.

TANEYTOWN H. S. ALUMNI ASSOCIATION MEETS

The Taneytown H. S. Alumni Association met in the Taneytown High School on Monday evening. President Waddell presided over the meeting which was very poorly attended.

The contents of the annual letter which will soon be sent to all Alumni was discussed. This gives the report of the past year's activities, financial statement, and the calendar of events which are scheduled for 1956. It also solicits the cooperation and support of all Alumni. Dues are payable now, with the minimum remaining at $1.00, and they may be sent to: Taneytown H. S. Alumni Assoc., %Box 384, Taneytown, Md. Membership cards will then be issued. It is the sincere hope of all those interested in keeping the very worthwhile organization alive that there can be at least 300 paid members this year. It is realized that due to the cramped schedules of so many people around our town, that they feel they cannot give much of their time in attending meetings, etc. But it is hoped that they will remember that their dues money alone can be a great help in keeping the Association in a position to do good for their schools and the Alumni themselves.

Plans for the annual banquet were discussed. The music committee reported that Bob Kersey's orchestra has been engaged for the dance which will follow the banquet. Menu and serving committee reported that the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fire Company will serve the meal again this year. Program and class reunions were discussed and since those classes holding reunions usually want time on the program, the officers and interested members of those classes should soon begin plans and notify the President, Robert Waddell, what part they plan to take. This has become one of the highlighting parts of the annual banquet and it is hoped that the classes of '46, '41, '36, '31, '26, etc., will take advantage of the opportunity. It makes it possible for any class to have a real affair, including banquet, program, time to talk old times over, and dance, without the usual terrific costs involved. The banquet will be held this year on Saturday, June 2.

Harry Dougherty, Jr., business manager of the basketball team, reported that a very active year for the Alumni boys is drawing to a close. The team played 21 games, winning 13 and losing 8. Four games still remain on their schedule to play.

The next regular meeting will be held on Monday evening, March 19 in the High School.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Gentlemen: The Retail Merchants Association of Westminster, have always been vitally interested in the proposition of a suitable hospital for the people of Carroll County. With this in mind, we would like to call your attention to these basic facts:

1.—The liberal gift of Mr. Scott Bair will become invalid if nothing is done by 1960.

2.—Should this gift be allowed to become invalid by default then the act of the State legislature enabling the County to match the gift of Mr. Bair, and others, would also become invalid.

3.—Without the above sums, the County would not be in position to qualify for matching Federal Funds under the Hill-Burton act.

4.—The continued increase in population growth of Carroll County make the need of a hospital more urgent.

5.—The growth of population of our surrounding areas continue to overcrowd the existing hospital facilities of these areas.

6.—We feel that the citizens of our County will support a hospital with their gifts and cooperative efforts.

In view of these basic facts, we are suggesting that immediate action is needed to promote this project. With the Medical Society taking the lead in requesting the County Commissioners to appoint a committee, or to form a Hospital Corporation, that will furnish the leadership, necessary to accomplish the completion of a suitable hospital and for its efficient management. This leadership group to work under the advice, guidance, and recommendations of the Carroll County Medical Society.

If people would confine their talks to subjects that are profitable, that which St. John informs us took place here in heaven, would happen very frequently on earth.—silence for the space of half an hour.

Christ and the City

Lesson for March 4, 1956

CENSUS takers have long been dividing us Americans into "Rural" and "Urban." The fact is, wherever we may live, if we are not in a city we are in many ways affected by cities. The magazines and papers we read are often published in cities. Most of the things a farmer uses—tractors, combines, fertilizer, tools, came from cities. Our clothes were made in cities, our laws were made there. Your casket may have already been made in some city. There is a state in America which has just one large city. A former resident of that state told the writer that very few small towns there amounted to anything, because all the young people in the state who had any ambition struck out for that big city as soon as they could. One way or another, we are all becoming "urban" pretty fast.

Dr. Foreman

Enthusiasm Is Fragile
The largest city Jesus ever saw brought tears to his eyes, and no wonder. Some of the things he saw are true of cities and of urban civilization today. They are true of our American way of life, 20th-century style. One was the swiftly rising, and as swiftly falling, enthusiasm of the crowds. There they came with joyful shouts of welcome on Palm Sunday morning; and by Friday morning some of the same mob would be screaming, "Crucify him!" City people take quickly to new ideas and new heroes—and quickly drop them. They will strew tons of ticker-tape and torn-up telephone books (for lack of palm branches) on some returning hero, but in six months' time won't be able to remember his name. Explain it as you like, the fact is that urban enthusiasms are fragile. That goes for most of us. What we live for in our urban America is mostly excitement. We live from headline to headline, from thrill to thrill. Advertisers do their best to stir us up. They talk of "exciting" new colors, exciting new fashions, even (believe it or not) exciting new toothpaste. The advertisers know that if we can really be persuaded that a thing is exciting, we'll buy it! We would rather listen to a new idea than a true one. That's city fever.

Mass Man

In the days of Davy Crockett, whose ghost, we trust, will have been laid to rest before these lines meet the public eye—in the days of Davy C. and of Dan'l Boone, nearly all Americans were living in the country, as we would call it today. Even the cities were small. Those were the days of rugged individualism. When a neighbor came within 50 miles of Daniel Boone, he thought the woods were getting too crowded, so the legend has it—and moved on. Nowadays in our more urban era, we have come to the time of "Mass Man" as philosophers call him. The city is the Land of Follow-my-Leader. It is the dwelling-place of the Joiners. Mr. Boone did not belong to many societies; but where is the man today who is happy without belonging to enough clubs and societies to keep him out every night? Mass Man is a rather sad spectacle. Jesus wept over him there in Jerusalem. The people of that city were like sheep, doing, saying, even thinking what their Scribes and Pharisees told them to. The men of Jerusalem would not look for themselves, they "knew" not the time of their visitation. They did not know when God was knocking at their door. If Christ came to America today, would Mass Man recognize him? Or would he be under suspicion because he would not fit the universal pattern?

Den of Robbers

The city over which Jesus wept was the site of a magnificent Temple, built as a place of worship. But when Jesus visited it, he found a cattle-market going on in the very middle of it. What should have been worship had turned to money-making. So it is too often with an urban civilization. Built on business, on the market-place, it tends to turn everything into a market-place. Art is commercialized; so is education, so are athletics, politics, sometimes religion. If the reader thinks this is exaggerated, let him look around during this month and see some everyday examples of how religion is commercialized in America. We are approaching the joyful Christian festival of Easter. How many thousands of people in our land are planning to make money out of it?

THOUGHTS FOR THOUGHT

It isn't difficult to get the approval of conscience when conscience hasn't been disciplined to discriminate.

It is good when we must go down on our knees and call out into space for the help of the Invisible.

Liberties are bought frequently with the price of blood.

There are two kinds of regrets: Regrets of what one may have done; regrets of what one may not have done.

Multitudes of little things kindly done awaken more happiness than their combination into our one large blessing.

Did it ever occur to investigators that even investigators sometimes bear investigation?

Everything is not made more beautiful by coloring. This is so of Truth.

An act is not necessarily righteous and justified because it is done in the name of religion.

The language read and understood by all men is written upon the face.

The one thing borrowed more than any other and kept by the borrower is worry.

I don't know what has happened when a generation allows itself to be terrorized by its own children.—Paul Harvey, the commentator.

WILLIAM WINCHESTER CHAPTER MEETS

The William Winchester Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution met on Friday, Feb. 10, at 2 P. M. at the home of Mrs. F. LaMotte Smith, Westminster, with Mrs. Robert Gist and Mrs. Smith co-hostesses. Mrs. Wesley A. Pickens, Regent, conducted the meeting which was opened with a prayer by the chaplain followed by the pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Mrs. Frank T. Parish, Sec. read the minutes of the January meeting and Mrs. F. Donald Shriver presented the treasurer's report.

Mrs. James T. Marsh read the President General's message in which Miss Carroway states, "Young people especially must be taught the background and workings of our Constitutional Republic, the advantages and blessings of our American Way of Life, so that they will zealously wish to protect and preserve them for posterity." Mrs. Sherwood Kay read the National Defense news from the Press Digest.

The members voted to extend the Good Citizenship medal project to one more student during this year. The recipients of these medals are selected by the faculty and the medals are presented not in the sense of a prize but in recognition of the effort put forth by the students in the field of American Citizenship. The requirements for the award of the medal to a boy or to a girl are based upon five qualities—Honor, Service, Courage, Leadership and Patriotism.

Mrs. David H. Taylor, Historian, has extended the History Medal program to three intermediate schools, Charles Carroll, Uniontown and Mechanicsville. Top ranking history students are selected to participate in an essay contest which determines the winner of the medal, in each school. The medals are presented at a spring assembly or on promotion night.

Mrs. Arthur G. Turner, Senior president of the Terra Rubra Society, Children of the American Revolution announced that the meeting, postponed because of inclement weather, would be held at Thonedale near Taneytown on Saturday, Feb. 18, at 1:30 P. M. Ted and Meg Parish will be host and hostess, and D.A.R. members are invited. The State Society C.A.R. will hold their annual conference on March 10th at the Catonsville Methodist Church. Castle Thunder will serve as the hostess Society.

The chapter has again fulfilled the requirements necessary to receive the National Gold Honor Roll Certificate of Award. Seven sterling spoons from the Mellhenny family were presented to the D.A.R. State Chapter House by Miss Cecelia Shower, Manchester.

Governor McKeldin has issued a proclamation designating February as American History month. The William Winchester chapter will be represented in "A Chat with Gladys" over WTRR on Washington's birthday presenting Historical facts from a press release by the National Society. February 29th is DAR Civilian Defense Day at the State Chapter House, Baltimore, Md. Speakers have been secured for both morning and afternoon sessions and members are urged to attend this meeting.

LEARN YOUR ROLE IN C.D.

Miss Lillian Shipley, Curator of the Carroll County Historical House was introduced by Mrs. F. Donald Shriver. She spoke briefly concerning the many hidden histories now at the Historical House. Some of them are files and magazines from the collections of Mr. Leland Jordan, Mr. John Mitten and Miss Mary Shellman. The need for volunteer workers to assist with the sorting and filing of reference material is a pressing one. Miss Shipley also read a most interesting paper, written by Earl D. Wantz, which was largely compiled from material secured at the Historical House. The paper, Westminster in the Gettysburg Campaign tells of the important part the town played as a supply center for the combat troops and as relief center for the wounded moving south.

Guests were Mrs. Edwin M. Mellor, Mrs. Garrett Weersing and Miss Lillian Shipley. Following the program Mrs. Gist and Mrs. Smith served tea. Mrs. Jas. Marsh presided at the table.

Attitude of Farm Youth Is Sampled

No, On Drinking; Yes On Attending Church

What are some of the social attitudes of America's young farmers? A poll conducted by rural sociologists at the Pennsylvania University shows they frown on social drinking and advocate regular church attendance, among other things.

The poll, which sampled 2,807 sophomore boys and girls in 74

A sampling of opinion among rural youth in Pennsylvania indicates that our young farmers believe that regular church attendance is a requirement for those who would be community leaders.

different rural high schools, revealed that:

1. Drinking of alcoholic beverages was disapproved by 76 per cent.
2. Regular church attendance was advocated by 62 per cent who felt it a requirement "in order to be a community leader." A total of 49 per cent disapproved Sabbath labor.
3. On Sunday movies, 40 per cent approved, 39 per cent objected, 21 per cent remained undecided.
4. Card playing was approved by 45 per cent, "loafing up town" was approved by 55 per cent, dancing won approval of 87 per cent, and 54 per cent approved the use of tobacco.
5. Divorces in cases where a couple can no longer remain happily married were approved by 56 per cent.
6. Makeup for girls won approval of 63 per cent.
7. High school students should be allowed to spend their money as they see fit, according to 56 per cent.

Research on Fertilizer Carryover Reported

Every farmer who pays off a fertilizer bill naturally wonders just how much of this year's fertilizer will carry over into next year's fields.

It's been a guessing game until recently. Now, agronomists at Iowa State College have conducted research to determine the amount of carryover and have come up with some figures which make fertilizer savings possible.

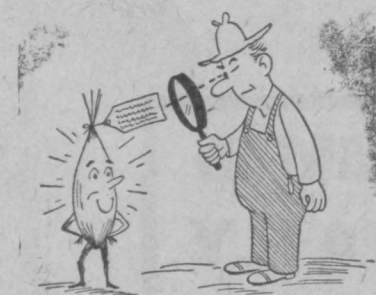

Nitrogen carryover, the Iowans have found, amounts to 25 per cent on the average. It may go higher following a dry year, or it may be less after a good crop or in sandy soils.

Phosphorus generally has a higher carryover than either nitrogen or potash. The rule-of-thumb figure given by researchers is about 40 per cent phosphorus carryover where 40 pounds of soluble phosphorus is applied, or as high as 60 per cent when 80 pounds or more is applied.

Many farmers apply phosphorus to small grains with the expectation that it will carry over at least the first hay year. Researchers found this a sound idea. Where phosphorus is applied to corn, the corn is followed with small grains and legumes, there will be some carryover and though probably not enough for maximum legume yields.

Potash will usually last two years at average application rates.

Bargain Seed

Buying "bargain" seeds is a practice that often pays off in poor stands and low harvest yields. Even a high price does not always assure quality, either. The safest bet is to always buy certified seed—even though it may cost more.
