SCOUT ACTIVITIES IN TANEYTOWN

Paper Collection, Etc. Will Be Made Saturday

The third scrap drive for paper, rags, magazines, and iron will be made by scouts of American Legion post 348, Taneytown, on Saturday, April 28. In addition to the town itself, roads to Harney, (as far as Greenville), to Littlestown (as far as Johnson's store), to Stumptown, and to Mayberry and Tyroce will be covered. Where it is possible, curb or roadside placement of the iron and securing of the papers make the collection faster and more efficient, particularly in the outlying areas.

At their meeting last Monday Explorer Scouts were called to order by Senior Scoutmaster Harold Slaybaugh and a program conducted by the scoutmaster, pinhitting pending appointment of a new adviser. British bulldog proved to be an active and popular game, run by Slaybaugh, the making of a back splice was taught and practiced, Star scout award presented to George Abrecht and in a business session plans were made to swim at the Frederick "Y" next Monday, transportation to be provided by designated members. Donald Sharrer volunteered and was voted explorer quartermaster, Philip Garrett acted as temporary secretary that evening, and for the meeting of May 7 the theme will be handled by George Abrecht, games by Grev leaders Wilmer Barnes and Robert Fitz, and a special feature by Sharrer and Jackie Bowers.

There being a long unrealized desire for a camping trip, it was voted to treat this as an event in the unit's program, and Senior Scoutmaster Larry Martin was unanimously named director, the time and details to be determined by him and committee of his choosing. Present also was Robert L. Bowers, assistant scoutmaster of the troop, whose present demands upon his available time prevent his accepting the leadership, but who is watching with considerable interest the progress of the explorers themselves in fleshing out their own program of scouting activities with the counsel of the acting adviser, as a matter of fact, this is the manner recommended by the National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Boy Scouts embarked on a cross-country hike of 10 miles last Sunday on a roughly semicircular route along parts of Big Pipe and Piney Creeks south, west, and somewhat north of Taneytown, managing to escape any threatening downpour and concluding about 5 p. m. Hikers were Byron Baer, John Myers, Harold Raab, Donald Reaver, Edward Reaver, Frederick Sherman, Lee Sherman, and Wilbur O. Thomas, scoutmaster. The next one will come during the month of May, on a date to be announced, and possibly in a far different locale.

For the scrap collection Saturday, members of the troop, both Boy Scouts and Explorers, are asked to report by 8 a. m. to the scout hall, whence the drive will begin, with the aid of John Sell, of Littlestown.

MILL IMPROVEMENT

Taneytown Grain & Supply Co. Expanding

The residents of Taneytown and surrounding community are interested in Taneytown enough that they want to see it make advancement in beauty and business.

The eyes of these community minded folks have been on the Taneytown Grain & Supply Co. The directors and management of the Taneytown Grain & Supply Co., realizing the inefficiency of their old sheller with the need for a new sheller with arrangement for dumping, also the need for easy handling of bulk wheat, started planning for their means of progress.

Work is now in process in the building of an addition to the Mill which will house a Western Corn Sheller, purchased from Mr. J. H. Ommert, placed in the basement with a drive through dump and hoist placed immediately above. A fire wall built for protection also strengthens the two 1500 bu. capacity bins and cob storage immediately above. The cobs are so stored that they may be delivered on trucks or run for litter.

All through the erecting of the addition the foremost thought has been now, just as it has been for over a half century, to serve the public quickly, easily and to the best advantage of the customer. This is just one more step to make our community more popular and help the farmer get his work done easier.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The lovely creeping phlox is just about everywhere in the city and in the country plus the lovely Pink Dogwood. It always seems so sad that all this beauty is only for so short a time.

The Magnolia trees are in full bloom, too and we see them even in the front yard of many of the city homes. Remember that lovely tune about the Magnolia?

Your Observer planted those sweet Pansies at the bungalow today and the potted flowers of Easter gifts—Lillies, Orchid Mums plus Hyacinth.

Down in Baltimore there was real shopping due to "May Day" and I noticed quite a few new customers, too shopping right in that department store. What fabulous bargains in just everything and the store was packed.

This Columnist loves to walk around in town especially alone for then, I can observe things more quickly.

On Franklin street there is a parking place near Charles called, "Sky Line" which is the first in Baltimore and that since January 1955. One car can be parked on a runway just above the one on the ground and this is all in a line on both sides.

There is a "rummage Room" in the furniture store of "Stein's" on Charles Street where they place beautiful pieces of furniture at a big reduction in fact it was just half the price for everything.

In the store of creations of Artistic jewelry of Oscar Caplan & Sons on Howard Street there are some valuable antiques in a very special showcase and the salesman will be glad to show you. There is the old-fashioned watch, bracelets, earrings, Cameos, Brooches, Watch-fobs, lockets and the ever delightful Coral which has always been a big feature and coming back in style now and then. It was very rare at one time and most expensive.

Now, Ladies you can really reduce with Javar Coffee and it tastes just like the brand which Theodore Roosevelt stated, "Good to the Last Drop!" If you are a real coffee drinker that will remedy things, too.

Your Observer had a sample in the May Company presented by the most beautiful girl. That one you will agree with me, I'm sure!

Hope you did not miss the Jockey with that 64,000 grand the other night and think of it all about Art, too!

What a sweet letter from Mr. Clifton Daniels—that news paper man of The New York Times! Another to add to my famous collection!

If you are contemplating purchasing a piano by all means visit 327 N. Charles Street and gaze upon "The Chickering" that has always been one of my three favorites—the other two Steinway and Sohmer.

There is a grand story about Chickering which I learned in detail but the following will be condensed which I am sure you will appreciate knowing. First of all it is America's oldest piano since 1823. It is the only piano today which can still boast of its ivory keys. The founder Jonas Chickering was born in 1798 and died in 1853. Previous to building of this fine piano, the country people in the village of New Ipswich in Southern New Hampshire in 1817 only knew music largely in folk tunes and fiddler's reels. The wealthy family who resided on the hill in the Georgian Mansion came from England and brought with them the only piano in the County. It wasn't much of an instrument compared with the standards of piano perfection of our day but it was the best that money could buy at the turn of the 19th century. And to its owners it was a treasure beyond

THIS IS SUCCESS

It's doing your job the best you can, And being just to your fellow man; It's making money, but holding friends And staying true to your aims and ends; It's figuring how and learning why, And looking forward and thinking high, And dreaming little and doing much; It's keeping always in closest touch With what is finest in word and deed. It's being thorough, yet making speed It's daring blithely the field of chance While making of labor a brave romance; It's going onward despite defeat And fighting staunchly but keeping sweet, It's being clean and it's playing fair; It's laughing lightly—at Dame Despair; It's looking up to the stars above, And drinking deeply of life and love; It's struggling on with the will to win, But taking loss with a cheerful grin; It's sharing sorrow, and work and mirth, And making better this good old earth; It's serving, striving through strain and stress, It's doing your noblest—that's success!

CHEERFULNESS

It is so easy to be good-natured I wonder anybody takes the trouble to be anything else.—Douglas Jerrold.

The spiritual sense of Life, and its grand pursuits is of itself a bliss, health-giving and joy-inspiring.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Wondrous is the strength of cheerfulness, and its power of endurance—the cheerful man will do more in the same time, will do it better, will persevere in it longer, and the sad or sullen.—Thomas Carlyle.

THE WEED

"I am a weed. It is fun to grow Beside a flower. It is fed, you know, And it's cultivated. If I'm not pulled out I steal its food, and grow tall and stout."

"I'm a bad habit, I can grow Stronger each day that you let me go. All the good resolutions you may make I can surely, swiftly break."

Look for the weed beside the flower! Break that habit's evil power! Do not wait till they grow so strong You must hurt the good to kill the wrong. —Unidentified.

UNFAIR

grows
big pullets, gets lots of

Here's why you can expect an extra basket of eggs per week from each 100 hens, compared to U.S. Average.

How'd you like to get an extra basket of eggs per week this fall from each 100 layers? That's what a nationwide survey indicates you can expect if you feed your pullets on a Purina Growing plan. And remember, that's during the fall and early winter when prices are usually most favorable.

Records from 1,033 farmers showed that each hundred pullets grown out on a Purina feeding program laid nearly 20 dozen extra eggs per week over the U. S. Average flocks during the four fall months—September to December.

Feed Growena in the new feed-saving Bite-Size checkers. Or, if you have grain, your Purina Dealer can show you how to feed a ration that's largely your own grain—with just enough Purina to make pullets grow right.

Always ready to

FOX PICK-UP HARVESTER

The toughest test of any forage harvester is its ability to harvest heavy windrowed materials without bunching or choking.

That's where the FOX shines. You'll have no delay with the FOX when you're racing the weather.

You can't hurt the Fox by overloading. The Fox Auger Feeder actually pulls the forage on to the feed apron and centers it into the feeding rolls ... gives you faster feeding and greater volumes without overloading, crowding or forcing the machine.

COME IN AND SEE FOR YOURSELF the 21 Reasons why—FOX is the standard of comparison of all forage harvesters.

LET US SHOW YOU ... in your own field how easily the Fox will pick up, chop and load 2 tons of dry hay in 12 minutes. Just phone for a demonstration.

FEESERSBURG

(A Voice from Carroll)

The Dixie Tatlers, dramatic club of the Elmer Wolfe School, presented a three-act play April 16 and 17 in the school auditorium. There were two casts—a different one for each evening, which added a great deal of interest and helped attract a larger audience. Due to two performances the auditorium was not over-crowded but not only added greatly to the spectators' comfort and enjoyment but aided the actors also, for noise and confusion from the audience was kept to a minimum. There were many comments made about the good manners of the spectators. The play went off with fine timing and each performer spoke his lines with clarity and feeling for the role he was playing. Mr. Montgomery, director of the play and his entire casts deserve the highest praise for their contribution of two enjoyable evenings of comedy to the community. Miss Eleanor Baker delighted the audience before the play with an original song composed by Mr. Montgomery.

During the first intermission a five year old niece of the director sang a popular song in a cute and appealing style. The following students made up the two casts: Arlene Ahn, Janet Myerly, Donald Glacken, Glenn Green, Pat Roop, Lois Bowman, Alice Booher, Gordon Cheeks, Neil Bohn, Ned Bichman, James Yingling, Betty Young, Nancy Roelke, Carroll Utz, Tom Winebrenner, Rose Marie Grabill, Sandra Weishaar, Beverly Priest, Jeanne Bohn, Sam Spalla, Lois Rippeon, Mary Sue Albaugh, Barbara Rippeon, Carolyn Myers, Elizabeth Hoover and Audrey Bowers.

No play can be presented without the persons who work behind the scenes. The following ably helped to put the play across: Pat Glacken, Eleanor Baker, Jack Fortney, Russell Williams, Ernest Colwell, Glen Yingling and many of the faculty members. To each and everyone—"Congratulations!"

Mr. F. J. Fuss owner of the Fuss Furniture Store of Taneytown loaned the furniture used in the play. It might be said that the stage decoration was perfect and added so much to the smoothness of the comedy.

We lost a pine tree last week and it was almost as sad as if we had lost a dear friend. In truth the tree was a dear friend for in the summer it gave us the pleasure of its shade and in the winter shielded the north side of the house from bitter cold winds and snow. But the strong wind last week twisted it at the base and the proud pine fell to the ground. It wasn't an ordinary pine but an aristocrat from Colorado which seldom will grow in an Eastern state.

Twenty years ago we bought ten but one lived. It was the kind of pine that bears small cones and so we are going to take off the cones and sow the seeds through our woods hoping that Mother Nature will lend a hand and some seedlings will sprout. And while we are writing about trees we want to mention something about the tree our neighbors, the William Albaughs cut down several weeks ago because it was decayed and a danger when a storm came along. It must have been a hundred years old for it stood as a landmark against the sky ever since we have lived at Mt. Union.

The wind had twisted its arms in unusual shapes but not without a rhythm of poetry. Time and the elements had given it a distinguished character and after every storm I use to look to see if it was still standing. It always was, and it gave me a feeling of security since I am a timid soul when it comes to electrical storms. But it is gone now, and I wonder from what source I shall get my courage the next time lightning pierces the clouds and the black wind clouds roll across the sky. It is sad when a tree must go, but there is comfort in the knowledge that man can plant another to take its place.

Last year about this time we wrote something about the DAR which we intended to be humorous but we soon found out that if there is one thing the Daughters of the American Revolution don't have, it's the ability to laugh at themselves. We wonder what they think of the "Washington Post" who has this past week done some cartoons and editorials on the DAR which are filled with satire. For instance, the Post wants to know which Revolution the D A R represents, Washington's or Roosevelt's? I think that is pretty cute because the DAR could not tolerate F. D. R. and his policies any more than they can stand criticism.

The tax collector must love poor people.....he's creating so many of them.

We are a perfectly happy family until the baseball season starts.....then we are a house divided three ways. My husband is for the Orioles, our teenager is for the Red Sox and I am for my favorite T. V. program without benefit of baseball. How do we work this situation out? All of us watch baseball.

More than 350,000 farmers lost their farms through distress transfers of one kind or another in 1933. In the years 1930-1935, it is probable that more than one sixth of all farms in the United States were lost to their owners through various types of forced sales growing out of depression conditions. This pattern is going to repeat itself during the next several years unless someone comes up with a plan to put more money directly into the farmer's pocket.

Dealers in farm machinery are beginning to complain about the farmers' inability to buy equipment. We wonder if this week and a half was in Frederick what some people are about the President vetoing the farm bill. And they weren't farmers, either, but business men who depend upon farmer's trade for a living.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy; but all play and no work makes Jack a worthless boy.

When we got up Tuesday morning and looked out the window, we thought November was back with us for it was snowing and except for the green grass and some flowering shrubs we would never have dreamed that this is supposed to be spring. It was a dismal looking April morning and the birds looked depressed as they huddled among the tree branches. But by the time you read this it may be sunny and gay as an April morning should be. Hope springs eternal to the human breast.

About 1500 women from all counties in Maryland attended the tea in Baltimore, Saturday afternoon, given by Mr. and Mrs. Millard Tydings. It appears that many women intend to vote for Mr. Tydings in the primary for the nomination for U. S. senate. They remember the fine record he made when he served before and the prestige Maryland received by being represented by a statesman and not a run-of-the-mill politician. Mr. Tydings has had 24 years of experience in the Federal Government.....just what is needed at the present time.

The Christian Endeavor group of the Mt. Union Lutheran Church held a social Sunday evening in the parish house. There were twelve members and their guests present with their leader, Mrs. Claude Bohn. The National Christian Endeavor is celebrating its Diamond Jubilee this year which marks 75 years of encouraging the youths of the Nation to accept and live by the high ideals of the Christian faith. Young people do not like to be preached at and the Christian Endeavor movement tries to teach by doing, and it encourages young people to meet in a group of their own to solve some of their social and moral problems themselves. It has met with good success.

My husband is not one to remember birthdays and anniversaries unless reminded by hints and even the hints have to be loud and long. This year more in fun than in seriousness, our teenager and I decided to mail him a card to prod his memory. When my big day arrived I don't know what I expected but certainly not what I received for the mail brought me a birthday card from my humorous spouse with the following written on it: "In case I do forget you can forget mine in October. At our age we should forget all about birthdays." He is so right.

MARRIED

PLAINE—LAWRENCE

Miss Mary Ellen Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Lawrence, Taneytown, became the bride of John Kenneth Plaine, son of Mrs. John C. Plaine, Taneytown, and the late Mr. Plaine, April the 8th at two o'clock in the Emmanuel (Baust) Reformed Church, Westminster.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Miles S. Reifsnnyder in a setting of mixed spring flowers, white carnations, snapdragons and palms. Mrs. Ruthanna Wantz, organist, played the traditional wedding marches. She accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Alice Morep, who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Charles Frock, Taneytown, wore a ballerina-length gown of white Chantilly lace and net over satin with a Peter Pan collar and three-quarter-length sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion net was attached to a band of sequins and rhinestones. She carried a white Bible topped by an orchid with streamers of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Charles Frock, Taneytown, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a light blue ballerina-length gown with a matching jacket. The bridesmaids were Miss Charlotte Mae Lawrence and Mrs. William Fogle, Taneytown, sisters of the bride. They were matching rose ballerina-length gowns with matching jackets. "SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" price because of its associations. For it had belonged originally to the sweet and gentle Princess Amelia, the favorite but ill-fated daughter of the King. That little piano suffered much from being brought across the sea to the changes of the New England climate. To repair that piano presented a difficult problem due to the importation of the strings and parts. The local cabinet maker restored the beautiful case but of course shied from any attempt to mend the working parts. Fortunately for the piano's owners and for all generations of music lovers who have lived since his day, the cabinet's apprentice was of a different mind. He was young Jonas Chickering, an ambitious lad from the nearby village of Mason. Jonas did not know anything special about pianos but he had an inquiring mind (and you know that is a good sign) and with native ingenuity he reckoned he could learn. Possessed of more determination than knowledge he volunteered to repair the damage and accomplished the restoration to the surprise and satisfaction of all concerned. John Adams from over the hills at Quincy had been recently made President of the United States. George III sat nervously upon the throne of England while Napoleon rode unchecked across Europe and this was the world of Jonas Chickering's boyhood spent in the tranquility of New Hampshire. At that time none could see that this modest lad one day would reach the pinnacle of musical fame as a builder of pianos and such fine ones when he first started with the piano belonging to a Princess! From his little town, he went to Boston and within five years he had mastered every detail of piano craftsmanship by being employed with John Osborne. He added many improvements of his own. He then established himself in business with a Scotchman, James Stewart, the latter finally going to Europe and leaving his share in the business to his young companion. Thus, the House of Chickering was born! You will be interested to know that the very first Chickering piano is now in the Henry Ford Museum at Dearborn, Michigan treasured and carefully guarded! There is so much more interesting material to write about. It has always been called the piano with a golden tone. Some of the owners of these wonderful pianos were Franz Liszt, Longfellow, Jenny Lind, Emperor Napoleon, President Harding, Charles Gounod, Amelita Galli-Curci and hundreds of other prominent and famous people. Nothing can ever take the place of music and now is the time to start that youngster in your home.

Have a grand week-end, folks. Be careful when you drive. The country side is most picturesque at this time so enjoy it all. Until next week, D.V. I am,

Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER.

ELMER WOLFE PTA NEWS

Berkley Bowman opened the monthly PTA meeting on April 9th with the devotional period. He reminded us of the verse from the Bible which says "that we should work well and not be ashamed of our work." This Rev. Bowman said applied not only to the young people but also to adults. After the prayer Frank Bohn, President, conducted a short business meeting. Paul Bowman, chairman of the nominations committee reported on the nominees members of the PTA will have the opportunity to vote by mail in the next couple of weeks. Mr. Kanowicz greeted the group. He presented the idea of getting an inter-communication system for the school. The program "Music and Fashions" was very interesting. While the Judges were choosing the winners in the fashion show, Gene Michaels, a student of Western Maryland College, introduced a man from Korea who explained the Korean clothing which was worn by another Korean man. Then a man from Arabia explained the clothing which he was wearing. The two Koreans and the Arabian are students at the Western Maryland College. The judges chose the following prize winners, 1st for her dress, Rose Marie Grabill; second for her skirt and blouse, Patricia Roop; 1st for her apron, Stella Study. All of the dresses, skirts and blouses and aprons displayed a lot of work on the part of the girls and their teacher, Mrs. Shouck. The next general meeting for the PTA will be on May 14th and will be the May festivities in charge of Mrs. George Crommer. The PTA executive committee will hold its meeting on Monday, May 7th. Please all executive committee members be present.

A FEW WORDS OF EXPLANATION—No votes are registered until you open the curtains. You can therefore make as many changes in your ballot as you wish while the curtains are closed. There is no danger of anyone knowing how you vote, as the movement of the red handle to the left returns the voted levers to their unvoted position before the curtains begin to open. Church Must Grow

Lesson for April 29, 1956

A CLUB can close its membership list at any time. It can decide not to accept any more new members for six years, or sixty. But if a church decides to do the same, it is not a church any more, only a club. A church that is for good reasons not growing may be a true church of Christ; but a church that does not want to grow is certainly no church that Christ would recognize. "GO," Jesus said, into all the world. A church that has no go about it, a church whose horizon is limited by its own parking lot, a church without an outreach, is a parody on a true church. It is not the real thing.

Dr. Foreman is a parody on a true church. It is not the real thing.

Hurdles and Handicaps

The early Christian church was surely the real thing. It was a going, and therefore a growing, church. But it could have had, if it wanted, all the mouldy excuses which lazy churches offer nowadays to explain why they don't reach out. For example, the early Christians could have said, "We can't reach out, we haven't any money." But they managed to get around, or at any rate some of them did. They could have complained, "We have a shortage of ministers." Well, they did, but they had no shortage of laymen. By the time the distinguished apostles got down to Samaria they found an enthusiastic layman Philip had been there already and got a work started. The church could have said, "We can't afford to send missionaries all the way to Africa." They couldn't, to be sure. But what they could do was to make a Christian of an African in their own country, trusting that he would take the gospel back to his own people. (And he did, the tradition tells us.) A track man does not complain about seeing hurdles in front of him; he jumps over them. A good golfer does not "go home mad" because he has to play with a handicap against him. He takes it as a compliment and a challenge. So the early church took their hurdles and handicaps as challenges.

Laymen and Clergy

When you see a present-day church with no outreach, one of the reasons may be that the people leave all the outreach to the minister. He is supposed to be interested in missions, sure, that's his business. But the people—well, we have a hard enough time raising money with our bazaar just for the preacher's salary, you can't expect us to think about missions! In fact, one has seen churches where the only really "active member" was the preacher. Now the early Christians talked no such nonsense. They did not have the hard-and-fast division into "laity" and "clergy" that churches today have, even if they use other words like "member" and "preacher," or "pew holder" and "pulpit orator." The Apostles, it is true, were men set apart. But the outreach of the early church was mostly done by people who were not Apostles. And so far as we hear in the book of Acts, the Apostles did not dress differently from any one else. They did not claim exemption from taxation, they did not claim reduced rates at stores or when traveling. They were not given titles like Reverend or Doctor, everybody called them just Paul or Peter or whatever, without so much as a "Mr." in front of their names. They worked at outreach, yes, but the point is, they were not looked on as professional outreachers while the "laymen" were professional sit-backers!

Multitudes and Lonely Man

The early church reached out in two ways. They went where the crowds were, and also they went to far lonely places. We hear about crowds in Jerusalem and Samaria and elsewhere. We also have the story of Philip going down to a desert road where his only congregation was one lonely puzzled foreigner. The going church today, the outreaching church, the New Testament kind of church, also will be reaching out to the multitudes, and to the lonely man. It will be sending missionaries into great cities, in our land and overseas, working among overcrowded tenements and swarming streets. It will be reaching out to cowhans on the open ranges, to lighthouse keepers' families along the seacoast, to little villages on the edge of the Arctic and under the dripping tropical rainforests.

MEETING FOR RETARDED CHILDREN

At the Tuesday meeting of the Carroll County Association for Retarded Children, Inc. Dr. Lyndon Myers, President, showed with appreciation a check for $300 from 1st Lieutenant Jack Scattergood representing the 110th Field Artillery, Battery C, of the National Guard. This money was the proceeds of the St. Patrick's Day dance sponsored by that organization for the benefit of the retarded children.

Mr. Fern Smith, program chairman, showed slides of the recent formal dedication of the station wagon donated by the Mt. Airy Lions Club. He then introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Mr. Leslie Quant, Director of Education at the Rosewood State Training School.

Mr. Quant remarked that in a democracy it is just as important to educate the least competent as the most gifted. Through education his life is made richer and more rewarding. He said that no civilization can be built up when there is a submerged group without opportunity to develop existing potentialities.

In describing the education program at Rosewood, he said that they try to teach the children to participate as a member of a group, to follow directions, to finish a job that is started through foresight and perseverance to do work in simple arithmetic involving time, change, etc., to listen attentively and tell what they have heard, to use leisure time wisely, and to live hygienically. This year fifty trainable children have been included in their education program and the education staff has been amazed at the progress that some of them have made since they were taken out of a crowded cottage and put into a small group and given individual attention.

In answering the question: How does teaching retarded children differ from teaching normal children? he said that the teaching techniques are much the same. The task is fitted to the need and ability of the child regardless of age. They are not concerned with the length of time it takes a child to learn a certain skill, but he must know that there are acceptable standards. Each child competes with his previous record rather than with the other children.

Mr. Quant, like others who have spoken from the Rosewood Training School, expressed the opinion that it is good to keep the children in the community when possible and provide education facilities for them so that they can remain at home. He, too, emphasized the fact that no institution can replace the home and the love of parents.

Plans for Annual Meeting
Plans for the annual meeting of the Association for Retarded Children are being completed. It will be held on May 8, at 8 p. m., with the noted writer, Edith M. Stern, as the guest speaker. Her topic will be "The Community Stepchildren." In order to accommodate the large number of people who will want to hear Mrs. Stern, this meeting will be held in the Westminster Elementary School Auditorium. There will be no admission charged.

Shown is 1st Lieutenant Jack Scattergood of the 110th Field Artillery, Battery C of the National Guard presenting a check for $300, proceeds of the St. Patrick's Day dance, to Dr. Lyndon Myers, President of the Carroll County Assoc. for Retarded Children. To the left is Mr. Fern Smith, Vice-President and Program Chairman of the Association and to the right, a guest speaker, Mr. Leslie Quant, Director of Education at the Rosewood State Training School. In the background is one of the six aluminum cots donated to the retarded children by the Westminster Lions Club. These cots are used during the retarded child's daily schedule.

MRS. JAMES R. LANGDON, Publicity Chairman.
