"HONOR THE DEAD... AND AID THE LIVING"

Buy A Poppy - "Keep Faith with Those in Flanders' Field"

This is a busy but happy time of year in the veterans hospitals throughout our nation. Poppies are blooming on beds and window sills. Volunteer Hospital workers of the American Legion Auxiliary are busy counting and preparing the poppies for shipment, while the Hospital Representatives are at work paying the veterans who made the poppies.

Some of the veterans have made poppies carefully, painstakingly, with crippled hands. Others have worked entirely by the sense of touch, their unseeing eyes unable to guide their fingers. For many of the veterans, their poppy earnings are the only money they have been able to earn during the year. What a joy it is to a veteran when he can send home to his family money that he has earned with his own hands! If we are to keep true faith with those who sleep in "Flanders Field", we must sell every last one of these poppies.

Memorial Day is the day when Americans wear bright red poppies in personal tributes to those who gave their lives in America's defense. The poppies are distributed by women and girls of the American Legion Auxiliary, who also receive contributions for the Auxiliary's Rehabilitation and Child Welfare funds. They all give their services as unpaid volunteers.

This year more than 25,000,000 poppies have been made by disabled veterans working under Auxiliary direction in hospitals and convalescent workrooms in all parts of the country. The flowers are crepe paper replicas of the wild European poppy which grew in such profusion "between the cresses, row on row," in the battle cemeteries in France and Belgium. This poppy has been the memorial flower of the American Legion since the Legion's first days.

So, when an Auxiliary girl wearing an identification of Hesson-Snyder #120 Auxiliary offers you a poppy, wear it proudly and contribute generously to the Auxiliary's great work for disabled veterans and needy children of veterans.

THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1956

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

QUINCY, MASS., PATRIOT LEDGER: "George Washington explained why men owe some of their time to their country. He said, . . . every citizen who enjoys protection of a free (unoppressed) government owes not only a proportion of his property but even his personal services to the defense of it." . . . When George Washington spoke, the dangers were small compared to the terrible risks of the Mid-Twentieth Century."

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "After a decline in small business health over several years, it is generally prosperous today, the Small Business Administration semi-annual report declares. As more money is spent for civilian goods, small business is getting its share. Its health is essential to the growth of our economy."

TRAER, IA., STAR-CLIPPER: "The changes in newspaper production methods through the years have been extraordinary. Our ways are as different today from 40 years ago . . . as power farming compared with the days of horsepower."

PALATKA, FLA., DAILY NEWS: "Few parents would give their teenaged youngster a stick of dynamite and tell him to go and have fun with it. Nor would they present him with a loaded pistol and urge him to take it to a party and 'have fun.' But they do not hesitate to provide him with a lethal weapon far more dangerous—the family car."

RAYNE, LA., ACADIAN-TRIBUNE: ". . . we believe high farm land prices reflect confidence on the part of most Americans in the future of agriculture. There is widespread and justifiable confidence in the future of agriculture as one of the most rapidly developing industries and as the most essential of all industries."

KNOW WHAT LAW REQUIRES IF YOU'RE IN CAR CRASH

What should you do if your car is involved in an accident? If you don't know the law, you're only asking for additional—and unnecessary—trouble.

Your actions immediately after a crash may have an important bearing on any legal action concerning the accident, said insurance agent Robert L. Zentz, of Taneytown.

"Too many drivers who may be lucky enough to escape with their lives and unhurt can get involved in long and costly court cases if they don't do what the law requires," he pointed out.

Based on a study of accident reports made by the claim department of American Farmers Mutual Insurance Company, a member of the Kemper Insurance group, Zentz has prepared a list of what's to be done in case of a crash.

Notify police if the damage is at all serious, and tell them if an ambulance or doctor is needed.

In Maryland, you have to fill out a state report if the damage exceeds $75.00, or if anyone is injured. If you're in another state, find out from the nearest police what reports are required.

Do not abandon your vehicle to go for help unless in case of extreme emergency. Try to get a passerby to summon aid. Leaving the scene of an accident could be misconstrued and you could be punished for it.

Never argue with the other driver over who was at fault. Witnesses in court give strange interpretations of things said in anger.

Exchange name, address and license number with the other driver.

Show your operator's license on request.

Be sure to write down information such as the position of the cars before and after the accident and damage to the vehicles. Note the number, direction and length of skid marks. If you have a camera handy, a picture could be valuable.

Try to get the names and addresses of all persons at the scene and indicate whether they're drivers, passengers, pedestrians and if they actually saw the accident happen.

If the accident is serious, call or wire your insurance agent, insurance company or the company's nearest claim representative at once. They'll look after your interests, Zentz said.

For your own protection, don't give any information to strangers. Give a complete report only to the police and to your insurance representative—after you've seen his official credentials.

Why pay more than Ford's price?

"Can you see, steer, stop safely? ... Check your car—check accidents!"

'56 Ford Customline Fordor

You can't get better value at any price!

Ford brings you far more car than many which sell for hundreds more

Let's start off with Ford styling. No other car has Ford's distinctive Thunderbird look. It's long, low, and lovely!

But the Thunderbird touch is more than skin-deep. Take Ford's 225-h.p. Thunderbird Special V-8—the engine that smashed 30 world records in one day at Kingman, Arizona. You can have this mighty 225-h.p. V-8 in any Fairlane or Station Wagon model. And Ford's record-breaking 202-h.p. Thunderbird V-8 is yours at no extra cost in these Fords.

Ford gives you more in safety features, too. In fact, Motor Trend magazine voted Ford's Lifeguard Design the top '56 car advance. And Ford's rugged K-bar frame has 5 cross members—more than even many costly cars. Also Ford brings you the kind of gas savings that won over all competitive "sixes" and "eights" in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run.

Put all these facts together, and you'll see why you can pay more but you can't buy better than Ford. Come in and let us show you!

FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

The annual May Day fete was presented Monday evening in the Elmer Wolfe school auditorium by the Elmer Wolfe school in cooperation with its Parent Teachers Association. The theme of the program was "Heigh-Ho for a Merrie Spring." The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Queen, Miss Barbara Rippen by the president of the PTA Frank Bohn.

The Queen's attendants were: Patsy Hahn, Mary E. Shipley, Joyce Snider, Bonnie Higler, Joyce Leeseleat, Maria Steffen, Jeanne Bohn, Deanne Warner, Lois Bowman, Lois Rippen, Nellie Scheu and Alice Booher. Flower girls, Vicki Kennedy and Yvonne Green. Crown Bearer, Douglas Le-sight. Following the crowning of the Queen a program was given made up of dancers, singers and others. Stella Study did a ventriloquist act which the audience enjoyed very much. Judy Wilber, Melvin Bostian and Thomas Winbrenner played two numbers on the accordions. Nancy Roelke sang "In the still of the night" and Cole Porter. Eleanor Baker gave a short history of May Day and introduced the May Queen and her Court and the performers. The orchestra under the direction of Mr. Ralph Minnick played the processional and recessional march.

Susan Crumpacker did a toe dance specialty which was very graceful and lovely. The Rhythm Band composed of members of the 2nd grade played two numbers which sounded very nice as did the flute orchestra by the 3rd grade. The second and third graders taking part were: Wanda Lemmon, Robert Boone, Richard Selby, Althea Schneider, Joyce Eby, Cheryl Kazley, Tommy Edwards, Wanda Wetzel, William Higler, Douglas Bohn, Elizabeth Repp, James Stitley, Gloria Metcalf, Alesia Donnada, Theroso Fritz, Gary Otto, Donna Six, Elvin Study, Corey Johnson, Lily Alexander, Marian Harmon, Barbara Edwards, Emily Alexander, Jeanne Bowman, Diane Singer, Beverly Young, Richard Stone, Karen Forney, Audrey Black and Susan Shry, Barbara Stitley, Diane Smith, Joyce Myerly, Eleanor Clabaugh, Beverly Nokes, Mary Albaugh, Peggy Knouse, Gordon Flickinger, Gerald Knouse and John Barner.

The students performing in the different dances were: Bonnie Johnson, John Testerman, Rebecca Howe, Deborah Hoy, Richard Lowman, Martha Otto, Wayne Welker, Fred Stitley, Jane Wilhide, Peggy Frock, Joyce Stitley, Susan Crumpacker, Samuel Motter, Newton Staples, Gloria Davis, Christine Nusbaum, Samuel Leppo, Nancy Rinehart, Earl Wetzel, Ray Pool, Charles Ricketts, Jerry Wetzel, Charlotte Conaway, Darlene Black, Dale Miller, Gary Schildt, Nancy Hyde, Mary Franklin, Douglas Bostian, Emogene Nichols, Richard Le-sight, Letty Grayson, Harold Thomas, Charles Weishaar, Edith Brooks, Rebecca Houck, Dwight Yingling, Hayden Hahn, Harry Houck, Jack Crawmer, Linda Lovejoy, Terry Nusbaum, Nancy Munshour, Ned Eichman, Carolyn Myers, Eddie Stitley, Shirley Reed, Wilma Welsh, Richard Wilhide, Betty Young, Billy Keirmer, Mary Ann Sipes, Raymond Wetzel and Roy Evans. The members of the orchestra were: Barbara Nusbaum, Pat Roof, Lorraine Bubbick, Ann Jarvis, Brenda Lightner, Jeanne Bohn, Nancy Roelke, Audrey Diller, Richard Eichman, Audrey Bowers, Jimmy Yingling, Shirley Wentz, Barbara King, Beverly Priest, Dale Miller, Ernest Colwell, Truman Hamburg and Gordon Cheeks. The May Day fete is one event in the local school which always attracts much attention. Many people cooperate to make this affair possible. It takes time, energy and talent to put a program of this kind together. One can call it a labor of love. We know the public and parents appreciate it and we hope the teachers and students had a good time too in performing such an interesting program.

The seniors of the Elmer Wolfe school returned Sunday night from their class trip to New York City. By all reports they had three glorious days in the big city. One senior complained he had so much to see that he didn't have time to eat. Well—one can eat any time. A number of girls thought that attending a T.V. program in person was quite different than seeing it on a T.V. screen—part of the glamour is missing. No one got lost except one brave boy who got on the subway and landed in Coney Island, but he found his way back. Chinatown was a disappointment to many probably because they didn't see any rick shaws drawn by chinese. One senior summed up the trip with this classic remark: "New York is fine to visit for three or four days but I prefer to live in Carroll County."

The pretty perky petticoats that all the girls wear these days are really glamorous until they need a bath in soap and water and then they can become limp and tired looking. But don't discard them for all that is needed is a good starching job. Laundry the petticoat in the usual way then dip it into precooked starch. Take one and a half cups of starch to two quarts of cold water. Mix the starch and water together thoroughly and then dip the petticoat up and down in the solution. Squeeze the solution through the garment but do not wring. Hang it dripping on the line by the waist band and secure it with five or six pins. When dry it will be quite stiff but after it is ironed it will be softer. Use a steam iron if possible and iron the petticoat after it is completely dry.

If boys think girls spend too much time on clothes they should get wise to themselves. Boys should spend a little more time on their own wardrobe. Boys like to be seen with a smartly dressed girls and girls like to go out with a boy that knows something about the clothes he is wearing. If a girl says "NO" when a boy asks her for a date, he had better take a good look in the mirror at himself. The shirt and tie he is wearing maybe all right with the gang at a ball game, but is it ok when he takes out a date? Learning to combine the right colors isn't too much of a task, but it can mean the difference in making the right and wrong impression on the favorite girl friend. Girls don't expect boys to be fashion plates but they do expect them to dress properly for the occasion.

No man knows his true character until he has runout of gas, purchased something on the installment plan and raised a teenager. Ladies Home Journal.

We dedicate this column this week to the youths of our community. They are so eager, so vulnerable, so wise, so wonderful. And yet they don't know it.—Ruth Roelke.

FAMILY NIGHT AT GRACE E & R CHURCH

The Women's Guild and Churchmen's Brotherhood of Grace E & R church observed family night, Thursday, May 3, 1956, at 6:30 p. m., with a covered dish supper in the parish house dining room. There was an attendance of 100 persons to enjoy the abundant food and Christian fellowship.
Mrs. George Harman acted as toastmistress for the evening and welcomed the visitors and the church families. Group singing under the direction of Mrs. Marian Rue with Mrs. George Motter as piano accompanist was enjoyed by everyone.
Mrs. George Motter, Guild President, made several announcements and notified interested persons of the forthcoming Guild Workshop at Hood College from July 10-13, 1956. Registration blanks are available from Mrs. Motter and reservations are being accepted now.

Mrs. Stanley Jennings, from Trinity Lutheran Church was the speaker for the evening. She used as her topic: "Keep the Home Fires Burning" reminding everyone of the song being originated in war days when soldiers were thinking of home. She told of things that cause our homes to be unhappy places; unloyalty; argument and ungodliness. She urged everyone to keep home as the most important place, first, last and always. The use of Daily Devotions would do much to make home a happy place, but is often difficult because of the busy world in which we live. She told of the yearning for peace, everywhere; in the nations of the world; in our own communities and most of all in our hearts. Are we also yearning for God and what He can do for us? Have we done all we can do? Are we willing to sacrifice for our children and young people? Are we willing to sacrifice 2 hours on Sunday so that our families attend Sunday School and Church and thus are led to Christian beliefs? It is time to teach our young people to make a home and to choose a Christian life. Let us help them make a right choice. Less talking and more acting would help them along the way of God. Religion must be developed in our young men and women. We must pray that God will bless them and help them and the right way. She stressed the value of helping others and used the story of the Violet with the golden heart as an illustration. In closing she urged us to keep the home fires burning in order that our homes can go on living in our hearts.
The evening was brought to a happy ending with everyone singing, "Bless Be the Tie that Binds."
The program committee was composed of Mrs. Morgan Andreas, Mrs. Harry Mohnsey and Mr. George Motter.
The food and arrangements were under the directions of Mrs. Ralph Stonesifer and Mrs. Leonard Reifsnider and their group of able women.

GOD AGREED

A little girl known to me only by report had developed a bad habit of telling highly imaginative whoppers. One morning, when she came in breathless to announce that she had been chased by a lion, her mother decided things had gone quite far enough.

"You know very well it wasn't a lion," her mother said. "It was that collie dog at the corner, and you've told a big lie! Now, you go upstairs and tell God how sorry you are. March!"

The child went upstairs, and presently came back down.

"Well," said her mother, "did you tell God?"

The little girl nodded happily. "Yes, Mum, and God said, 'That's perfectly all right, my dear. I often mistake that dog for a lion myself.'"

THREE IN A ROW

"Is Elsie your oldest sister?" "Yep." "And who comes after her?" "You and two other guys."

AWKWARD AGE

Visitor: "And how old are you, Bobbie?" Bobbie: "I'm just at the awkward age."

Visitor: "Really? And what do you call the awkward age?" Bobbie: "I'm too old to cry and too young to swear."

Mother: "How was school today, Johnny?"

Johnny: "Oh, that old teacher asked us fool questions—like where everybody was born."

Mother: "You certainly knew the answer to that question—the Woman's Hospital."

Johnny: "Beta life, I knew. But I didn't want them to think I was a sissy so I said the Yankee Stadium."

MY BOYHOOD DAYS

When I was a boy, how the March winds did blow! The hills you now see wore a mantle of snow, The creeks were all covered with crystal clear ice; But, to me, this earth was a paradise.

When the birds came South, from the great northwest; That was the signal to don coat and vest; And the little birdies also said: "Rush to the attic bring down your sled!"

Snow then lay on the ground 4 months of the year; It seemed like God sent it, boyish hearts, to cheer; For, when the hills were no longer white, He patched the bare spots, with snow at night.

When Boreas, King of the winds, knocked on the door, He whispered: "Summer days are o'er", And, let me tell you, not long after that The country's sports took off their straw hat!

About the time of the great Frederick Fair, Hats were seen flying in the air; Old Boreas shouted: "Put on your shoes as before" For, of me, you shall soon see more.

When the clock of Time struck, in days of old, Men, everywhere, prepared to fight the cold; With axe on their shoulders to the woods they would go, For they all liked to see the embers glow.

Winter came early in days of old Even in November, it was quite cold; So, after the farmers took in their last crop, Peter Rabbit and his buddies began to hop.

The country boy would then put on his cap And cross frosty fields to inspect his trap; He never feared the snow or the ice—His only concern was to get a good price.

Country boys all liked the "Fall" season best, Because it gave them more cash to invest; Rabbits were plentiful in those days, Then, too, they had income from other ways.

They had walnuts, shellbarks, and apples to sell, Besides other viands people liked so well; They also sold partridges, sometimes creek fish, Both of which made a delectable dish.

One boy whom I knew caught two one day; But, on his way home, one rabbit got away, He tried to catch it, the people say, But, being excited, threw the other away.

Not long after the rabbit season, in those early days, People were out in "cutters" and sleighs; The jingle of bells could be heard everywhere, And the spirit of Christmas was in the air.

Boys in the city shall never know Of the many enchantments of long ago; The country boy seemed slow it is true; But, instinct told him, just what to do.

He had no "7 up", or the beverages of which we think, But he always had apple cider, to drink; And, instead of the movies which you now see, To a hill or the creek he used to flee.

The kids of to-day seem to be more alert, Than urchins were when I was a "squire"; When company came, behind a chair we would go, Now junior always takes a seat in "a-row."

But, why blame the kid? His father was slow, When the old horizon was hanging low; He, too, was bashful, and did the same thing—Too timid to give his mother a wedding ring.

To the boyish ear, it matters not how the organ swells, It cannot equal the jingle of bells; Like a spirited horse, he is eager to go And share the sports which come with the snow.

But the seasons have changed, so have our ways, People no longer journey in buggies and sleighs; Those who laugh about old customs fail to see It was they who helped to make America

Just imagine the hardship through which they went, Of the many drops of sweat they spent, To make the great east, and the golden west, Which the God of heaven has so richly blest!

Just recall those days, whoever you are! Then men walked to work; now they go in a car! The wage they received was a dollar a day; And, for years and years, that was their pay.

At first the whole country was covered with trees, But they labored, and cut them down by degrees; It took more than 100 years, the "new land" to clear, Though they cut down thousands of trees each year.

Of the timber, they built beautiful homes on the farms, Some of which still add to our country's charms; Out of a forest, they made the richest soil on earth; So, they gave to this country, as it were, a new birth!

"Old Dobbin" did his best to make things go, Even though, at times, his tread was slow; As a speedster, they say, he seldom reached fame, But a halo of glory still surrounds his name.

No matter how hard the tempest might blow He was always ready and willing to go; When the snow or hail hit him in the face He always seemed to increase his pace.

On foot or horseback men would wend their way; But, in winter, some chose to go in a sleigh; Old Dobbin would goggle slowly along With one ear to the driver, the other to a song.

The auto is better in numerous ways And goes much faster than buggies or sleighs; But, we don't get the thrills, many persons say, That we did, when we went the old way.

Then, too, it is too inanimate, others say, It goes, but it goes in a different way; Life, not speed, on this earth is the thing Which causes laughter and makes people sing.

Just so people talked; and, some still say—(Especially those who went the old way): "We knew when we left, and a trip was complete We would still be alive, and on our feet."

They had signs for each season of the year, Of which people talked when a change was near; As it was in the Fall, so it was in the Spring When the birds and robins began to sing.

When the April Sun shone good and hot, Out of his boots, the country boy got; And, he did not put them on, they say, Till the birds which went South came back this way.

But some pedestrians, far out on the sod, Over terra firma barefoot had trod—Before the grass on the lawns was real green, Many shoeless people could be seen.

Just so things were in days of old When the summers were hot and the winters cold In the summer boys went to the creek to get cool, In winter they went on their skates to school.

This is a picture of things when I was a boy, People had backaches, but hearts full of joy; Modern innovations do not take the place, Of the horse and buggy, in the boyish heart of our race.

Problem Church
Lesson for May 20, 1956

THERE are two different kinds of problems with children, as every father and mother know. One is the kind of problem you have with a sickly child, who has allergies, won't eat, play or sleep the way a healthy child should; perhaps a retarded child. The other is the kind of problem you have with a child who seems sometimes to be altogether too healthy; growing too fast to keep up with noisy and hungry; perhaps ahead of his grade in school. The Dr. Foreman problems of growth may be even more difficult than the problems of illness; but all the same, the problems of development are more to be desired than the problems of decay.

problems of growth may be even more difficult than the problems of illness; but all the same, the problems of development are more to be desired than the problems of decay.

Will the World Swallow the Church?
The Christian church at Antioch, one of the great cities of the world at that time, had its problems; but they were all the kind of problem that goes with growth. Dr. C. R. Erdman in his book on Acts points out that in this church we meet with four new things: a new name for the believers (Christians), a new kind of church (of which more presently), a new leadership, and a new center of missionary activity. Another new thing, which indeed was the mother of the others, was the new kind of city in which the church there found itself. Up to the time the church began in Antioch, the largest city where there were sizable groups of Christians was Jerusalem. That was a city which, so to speak, made religion a specialty. The long-time religion of Jerusalem led right up to Christianity. But what about Antioch. That was a pagan city, religions of many kinds flourished there, and none of them led up to Christianity at all. If the environment at Jerusalem was partly favorable to Christianity, the atmosphere of Antioch seemed more than likely to smother it. Religion in that city was what it is for some cities today—not by any means the most important interest. Antioch was a big business town, a central city for trade and transportation. People were much more interested in getting rich than they were in religion.

Uncongenial People
One of the problems, new at Antioch, was whether it would be possible to include in the same church groups of persons so different as the Greeks and the Jews. That had not bothered the Palestine church, because there the various races and nationalities kept to themselves. The Jerusalem church was all Jewish, the Samaritan church all Samaritan, and so on. But in big cities people mix and mingle pretty freely, and so it was in Antioch. Would different races, backgrounds, and so on, mix in one church? Somewhat at Barnabas' surprise, maybe, they did. When Christians are really what they aim and claim to be, the church becomes the "fellowship of the uncongenial." People who ordinarily have nothing in common, discover that if they have Christ in common, they are bound by a tie stronger than any other in the world.

Leadership
When Barnabas went up there to Antioch, commissioned by the church in Jerusalem to look around and use his judgment about what to do, we read that he "saw the grace of God and was glad." But the grace of God, in man or church, does not iron out all the problems. We have to think. And Barnabas must have thought long and hard about one problem which concerns every church large or small: leadership. Barnabas could easily have taken on a smaller church; but that one at Antioch was just too big for one man, any one man. He could have picked up some assistants there, no doubt, and stayed as top man; or he could have invited in one of the Jerusalem leaders. But he needed more than that "chaplain's assistants." And the Jerusalem leaders would have felt pretty strange in an inter-racial church. So Barnabas took a rather difficult trip, all the way to Tarsus in Cilicia, just to get a man he had never forgotten; the then unknown (or, if known, suspected) Saul. The future of a church depends on its leadership. Blessed is the church with a pulp committee as wise and far-seeing as Barnabas!

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY
Recommends "School Planning and Building Commission"

To the Honorable, James MacGill, Judge of the Circuit Court for Carroll County:

The Grand Jurors empaneled for the November 1955 Term, report that they have been in session six days have examined 41 witnesses, and have returned 23 presentments and true bills.

The Grand Jury inspected the County Jail and found two prisoners confined. The property was found to be in a clean and orderly condition and Sheriff and his family are to be commended for this. However, the need for some minor repairs was noted. The three window panes on the east side of the cell block should be installed and the appearance of the sanitation facilities would be improved by replacing the tops of the flush bowls.

Your Grand Jurors visited the County Home and find sixteen male and four female persons being cared for. The property was found to be maintained in an orderly condition, but the facilities are obviously inadequate and outmoded. One female inmate was being cared for on the third floor and the room temperature was very cool. It is suggested that this person be transferred to the second floor if it is practical to do so, where the temperature is more moderate. This Grand Jury recommends that the County Commissioners give present thought to accelerating a plan whereby the elderly people cared for at the County Home would be more comfortably maintained.

Your Grand Jurors are alarmed over the increasing cost of operating and maintaining the Public School System, and an open discussion was had relative to some plan to meet this situation. Approximately 73% of the County tax dollar is presently expended for school purposes.

Your Grand Jurors are not unmindful of the problems with which the Board of Education are confronted, nevertheless, in planning to meet these problems every effort should be made to carrying out the educational program in a manner consistent with economy.

It is deemed imperative by the Grand Jury that a "School Planning and Building Commission" be formed at once consisting of members of the School Board and the Superintendent and the members of the Board of County Commissioners.

This entire Commission would be fully informed and actively participate in discussions and subsequent arrangements for future school buildings and extensive modifications. This Commission should convene at an expeditious date to develop in collaboration with their other planning, a sound ten year school expansion program for Carroll County. The deliberations and studies required in the foregoing would be primarily concerned with the expansion or modification of the School System's physical plant and facilities, rather than the curriculum. In the important matters of ascertaining architects, engineers, retaining architects, engineers, and construction engineer to supervise the actual construction, renovations, etc., once undertaken.

The County Commissioners should be kept advised monthly by financial statement of the School Board as to the exact circumstances of County School Board funds. Such monthly statements to contain full details of income and disbursements, and to be completely comprehensive as to the matter of State funds received and the purposes for which expended. At the conclusion of the County School Board fiscal year, a complete accounting of all funds shall be rendered to the Board of County Commissioners including any surpluses or carryovers that exist, as required by law. It is deemed highly essential by the Grand Jury that in conference with School architects and engineers, a prototype, readily expandable set of plans could be devised which could be used for a number of school constructions. Industry has developed such plans, and such structures are economically enlarged on an efficient and practical basis. At the same time the general architecture of the plant is not adversely affected. Such a plan as above would provide uniformity by appearance and construction and would save heavy architectural and engineering costs.

Recognizing that statistical studies seem to indicate that by 1960 the school population in Maryland will be more than double what it was in 1945 (273,656 to 562,000), requiring that all the school buildings and facilities existing in Carroll County in 1945 will also have to be doubled by 1960. It is suggested that the Board of County Commissioners give serious consideration to the following:

1. Limit the necessity for funds to build additional expensive high schools, after the three now in the planning stage are completed (Mt. Airy, Westminster, and West Carroll), by encouraging the construction of 6, 8, or 10 room less costly elementary schools in several sections of the County where population growth seems to indicate that such construction is needed.
2. Require that a citizen's committee in each affected locality be contacted for, such committee to be appointed by the Board of County Commissioners.

3. Explore sources of supply from both private business and State operated institutions in the purchase of materials and equipment so as to maintain a maximum operating expense.

And now having concluded all things brought to their attention your Grand Jurors beg leave to be excused from further service for the time being, subject to the further call of this Honorable Court.

Corporation Will Build Plant in Hanover

The Inland Homes Corp., one of America's leading manufacturers of factory built prefabricated homes, is planning to erect a plant and establish its eastern headquarters in Hanover.

E. A. Morris, Jr., assistant to the president of the corporation, revealed that the firm has obtained an option to purchase approximately 15 acres upon which it plans to build a factory in the "near future".

The land, part of the estate of the late Raber C. Sell is on Bettner Ave., to the north of Frederick Street, Pennville, and adjoins the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Inland Homes Corp., has its headquarters and only present plant in Piqua, Ohio.

Morris said that the establishment of the Eastern Division headquarters in Hanover will mean that all eastern sales and shipments will be handled from here.

Negotiations for bringing Inland Homes here were made through D. Guy Hollinger & Bro., realtors, Morris said, with the co-operation of the industrial development committee of the Chamber of Commerce, of which John S. Hollinger is chairman.

The town of Hampstead announced "Clean-up Week" and designated week of April 2-7, 1956 as the time to clean up Hampstead. All property holders are requested to clean their properties and grounds, sidewalks and gutters. The order as published by the Mayor and City Council was in keeping with the theme "Keep Hampstead Beautiful—keep Maryland Beautiful."

Meeting of Hurlock Chamber of Commerce

An energetic new program for the Hurlock Chamber of Commerce, with community-wide cooperation, was discussed Tuesday night at a special meeting held at Parker's store, attended by most of the town's leading merchants.

A multi-point plan to boost business and promote the general welfare of the community will be the organization's goal in the coming months. Arrangements were made at the meeting to investigate the possibility of new industries for Hurlock, and to give full and serious consideration to any projects that would induce business plants to move here.

The State Planning Commission has been informed that Hurlock businessmen are interested in encouraging new industrial development, and that this Dorchester county community would be an ideal site for the location of new plants.

AIR DEFENSE FACILITY TO BE BUILT NEAR HANOVER

Award of a contract for construction of an air defense gap filler facility near Hanover was announced today by Colonel Stephen E. Smith, Baltimore District Engineer.

The facility, to be announced relay station in the nation's air defense system of radar warning stations, will be built in the Pigeon Hills, near Hanover.

It will be a single-story building about 41 feet long by 21 feet wide, with an adjoining wing about 20 feet long by 21 feet wide.

Contract for the construction was awarded to the Gettysburg Construction Company of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. Their bid of $38,735.00 was the lowest of seven bids received by the Corps to Engineers.

Colonel Smith estimated that the construction would be completed by the end of July.

QUARTERLY INVENTORY OF AVAILABLE INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES

In its effort to assist the utilization of available industrial facilities in Maryland, the State Planning Commission is compiling its "Twenty-Sixth Inventory of Available Industrial Plants in the Counties of Maryland," which will be published as of May 15. Chambers of Commerce throughout the State have been invited to forward listing information for available plants in their areas for the inventory. Representatives for available plants may obtain copies of "Data Sheet for Inventory of Available Industrial Plants" from the Commission or from local Chambers of Commerce. The inventory is distributed widely to prospective users, both within and out of the State.

ELMER A. WOLFE PTA NEWS

A number of persons were in attendance at the May Day program held at the PTA meeting at the school on Monday, May 14th. The program was very good. Arnold Weeks had charge of the devotions. He read the 13th chapter of I Corinthians and prayed a prayer. Frank Bohn, President, conducted the business. Nominations for President were reopened and the name of Dr. David Edwards was placed on the ballot. This was necessary due to the inability of Earle Wilhide being able to serve if elected because of his moving his residence to Emmitsburg. Other business was conducted.

The executive committee met on May 7 at the school with 12 members present and with Frank Bohn, president. Mrs. Crommer, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, gave 46 dollars to the treasurer, it was the income from the bake sale. The treasurer, Harold Thomas, then reported the treasury balance was $310.52. A request for new instruments and repairs to the ones already owned and new music was put in the hands of Mr. Kanowicz. He would discuss this matter with Mr. Minnick. The suggestions first to have triple post cards for the election, second, the sending of a ballot to each member of the P-T-A., for instance, send a ballot to Mrs. Frank Bohn and also one to Mr. Frank Bohn instead of one to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bohn were made. It was decided to bring these suggestions before the general body of the PTA on Monday, May 14. I might add that the general body agreed favorably concerning both of these ideas. The treasurer reported that $45.00 from the residents near the school needed to be collected to date for the street lights. Lon Edwards was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate the getting of an intercommunication system for the school. Mr. Edwards would choose his own committee. Mr. Kanowicz urged attendance at the May Day program on May 14th. Mr. Edwards and his committee would only get information—to present to the general body of the PTA so that a decision of whether or not the purchase of an intercommunication system should be made.
