JAYCEES HOLD MONTHLY MEETING

Fishing Rodeo for Children of Community Planned

The Taneytown Jaycees met at Sharrer's Restaurant on Monday evening, May 28, 1956. After a tasty dinner was enjoyed by all, President Edward Sauble called the business meeting to order. The minutes were read by Secretary Thomas Phillips and the treasurer's report was given by Treasurer John Myers. After a report from the committee appointed to look into the possibility of having a fishing rodeo there was further discussion on this subject. The project is being planned by the Chamber for all children of the community up to the age of 14 years. It has been planned to have it held at the Taneytown Rod & Gun Club. There will be various amusements for the children and prizes being awarded to them for the different types and sizes of fish caught. It was felt that a project of this type would be very worthwhile considering the excitement and fun that children derive from this sort of recreation. Different committees will be appointed by the president to carry out the various duties connected with this project.

The selling of screwdrivers for funds by Jaycees members proved to have very satisfactory results. The membership agreed that the success of this project was due to the kind patronage and cooperation shown by the people in and around the community.

The Chamber voted to have a delegation in the Memorial Day parade held May 30, 1956.

At the close of the business meeting a film on the highlights of the 1955 World Series was shown by Harry Dougherty, Jr., and Delmont Koons, Jr., who were in charge of the program.

President Sauble appointed a program committee of James Fair and Robert Waddell for the next meeting.

The first stop was made at the Franciscan Monastery. This monastery is known also as the commissariat of the Holy Land for the United States, which has for its object the preservation and maintenance of the Holy Shrines, the support of many churches, missions, and schools, and the education of missionaries. From there we visited the Smithsonian Institute and the Museum of Natural History.

At one o'clock that afternoon, a group of us were on our way to Cinema Holiday, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. During the viewing of the latter the rest of the pupils went to the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. We ended our day by visiting the Washington Monument.

It is hoped that many boys and girls of the community will attend, including those entering the first grade this Fall through those entering the seventh grade. This latter group is asked to bring Bibles and fountain pens.

The theme for study is The Living Bible, an interesting and well prepared course.

The ministers of the town will lead the daily devotional service.

The school has a splendid and consecrated staff of teachers as well as enthusiastic assistants.

Such a well-worthwhile Christian community project needs the co-operation and support of the parents of the community.

So please keep the date in mind.

COLORIZED JAMBOREE WIND-UP

On Thursday evening, May 24, at 7:30 p. m., The Reindollar Company of Taneytown, Md., had a feeder meeting climaxing their Colorized Jamboree.

Originally scheduled to be held at the Memorial Park, the meeting was held in the basement of the Parish Hall of the Grace E & R Church, due to the extremely cool weather.

Over one hundred persons were in attendance. Movies of the Chicago live-stock market were shown and then Mr. B. J. Arnold introduced the speaker, Mr. Herb McKittrick, Territory Manager for McMillen Feed Mills, and Wally Weaver, Assistant Territory Manager. Mr. McKittrick gave a short but very informative talk on farming in our locality, climaxed by the official introduction of his company's new colorized poultry feeds.

The meaning of colorized, he explained was a brand new way of formulating feeds in order to make them more efficient, so that the farmers could realize more profit by feeding this new feed.

Mr. McKittrick then presented Mr. B. J. Arnold a loving cup as his company's appreciation of the job well done. Mrs. Arnold received one dozen roses.

A short movie on the 20th Anniversary of McMillen Feed Mills was shown and thoroughly enjoyed.

The prizes were presented and refreshments were served.

LARGE FIRE

A large barn, wagon shed and two smaller sheds were destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon on the Howard Hyser farm about 3 miles east of Taneytown.

The fire of undetermined origin, broke out about 5:50 p. m. and gained too much headway before the arrival of two trucks each from Taneytown and Littlestown companies.

Firemen pumped water for about an hour from a stream and then used their booster tanks to fight the blaze. A shortage of water hampered the firemen in extinguishing the flames.

There was a large loss of farm machinery owned by Harry Fogle. The buildings and machinery were reported to have been covered by insurance. Taneytown Chief Charles D. Baker estimated damage to the building at about $15,000 and the machinery, between $7,000 and $8,000.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Staub live in the farm house which was not damaged. The farm is located at Taneytown R. D. 1, two miles off the Littlestown Road.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Nothing in Baltimore is quite as charming and full of enchantment and eye appealing as the Flower Mart which is always scheduled in the lovely month of May by the Women's Civic League.

The day was a real sunshiny one although there was a high wind but no one seemed to bother about that.

There were flowers—Geraniums top of all the lamp-posts for decoration for many blocks along Charles Street toward the Washington monument.

This year it appeared more glamorous and bigger than ever (and I have only missed it once since living in this grand state of Maryland.)

There were many more plants, greens and flowers for sale in all the colorful booths, (than any other year) and just about everything was for sale that one could think of for such an occasion.

The beautiful women of Baltimore were right there and their large hats trimmed with huge flowers were most flattering. Baltimore can still really boast of their beautiful women all down through the years.

One can imagine that they are in a foreign country with all the highlighting of gayness and gaiety.

One booth named "The Cliff Dwellers," sold Knotty pine hand-made pieces for $1.50 which were most useful as well as ornamental.

The lemon and peppermint stick booth were doing a big business and as we browsed around, we enjoyed the treat.

And the band played on—No. 324 of 22 men from Aberdeen Post. St. Leo's in "Little Italy Drum and Pipe" were right there, too which many enjoyed.

Charles Street traffic was closed off and that gave a grand atmosphere to it all.

There was one booth which was so jammed with the ladies as though it a bargain counter in any department store.

I discovered it was the "Czechoslovakian" Confections which were selling fast.

A grand lunch was served on the tables with Sun Umbrellas overhead on Charles Street and people were awaiting their turn to sit down. The lunch was delicious with the special kind of crab cakes.

One of the highlights was the selling of the plaques of the "Constellation" This went over in a big way.

This was the 44th annual flower Mart which was in a late Eighteenth Century Atmosphere and it was enjoyed by hundreds. There was a carousel for the kiddies, too and much else of enjoyment.

It was fascinating to sit on a bench and gaze upon it all!

Baltimoreans look forward to this gay time each year and plan many months ahead for it.

If you have never been a sight see by all means plan to go next year. You will desire to go back each time.

Here are a list of books that have come out recently and think about their titles—Recipes for What Ails you, Eat to Stay Young, Tasty Dishes for Reducers, How to Calm Your Nerves and Relax, Food Guide to Better Health, Put Your Mind at Ease, How to Earn Financial Security in Your Spare Time!

So long, Folks. See you next week. D. V. Have a grand week-end. I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

NEWSPAPERS AND ECONOMIC WELL BEING

If anyone still wonders just how valuable the newspaper is as an advertising medium for retailers—in this era when other media are competing vigorously for business—he would do well to study a survey made by the Bureau of Business Research of Michigan State University. The survey deals with the effect on retail sales of last December's newspaper strike in Detroit. It shows that a gain in over-all sales in the Detroit metropolitan area during the strike period was due to buying in the suburbs. Sales in the down town area actually declined by $35 million. Editor & Publisher says editorially: "The Michigan State analysis . . . is one of the greatest testimonials for newspaper advertising that has ever been written . . . It . . . adds to the growing volume of data showing that wherever a community is deprived of its newspapers all business suffers. . . when general business conditions are good, customers do not just naturally gravitate to a store. They have to be attracted by advertising, particularly newspaper advertising. People react to a sales message in newspapers. They do not react if the sales message and/or the newspaper is missing. Newspapers are essential to the economic well being of the business community."

That goes for the smaller papers as well as the larger ones . . . and for the villages as well as the metropolitan centers of population.

THE FALCON IS HOODED

Last April 5, someone pitched the contents of a vial of sulphuric acid in the eyes of a newspaper reporter.

The reporter was Victor Riesel of the New York Daily Mirror whose labor column has been widely syndicated among newspapers of various political persuasion.

The incident occurred on the heels of a radio broadcast by Mr. Riesel in which he referred to certain labor leaders who had been convicted of extortion. Mr. Riesel recently has been told that he has lost his sight for life.

While one man's eyes have been burned out, the fact of the Riesel case is this:

The vision of the entire American public has been diminished and obscured.

Some say that Mr. Riesel's column has sometimes been "pro-labor." Others say it has sometimes been "anti-labor." That would appear to balance. That he was an expert in his reporting field has not been questioned.

No question of "pro-labor" or "anti-labor" is involved in the Riesel case. He was a reporter. No more. No less. In pursuit of his profession, he was, as all legitimate reporters are, the eyes and ears of a sizeable share of the American people—who cannot be in two places at one and the same time.

A falcon has been hooded with a mask that can never be untied.

What happens now?

Rewards for the apprehension of the acid-thrower have been piling up. Sympathetic comment has been widely printed.

Is that enough?

It would appear that the very institution of the free press—on which our basic liberties are founded—has been assailed.

This is an outrage to organized labor—and to organized business.

If the "someone" who threw the acid in Victor Riesel's eyes was indeed a henchman for a labor union, that union is in the same class as an enterprise condemned by a better business for including poisonous ingredients in a supposedly edible product.

In particular, it would appear that this violence against a reporter is the responsibility of the American newspaper profession.

What happened to Mr. Riesel could happen to any reporter—now.

Is the newspaper profession going to deliver to the courts and the court of public opinion the "someone" and "the someones behind the someone" who tossed the acid? Or will the story fade away into the limbo of yesterday's sensations, forgotten in the excitement of today's events?

In its great respect for the newspaper profession, Washington Report believes that the newspaper profession is equipped, to track down the source of this violence to the First Amendment.

In its faith in the newspaper profession, Washington Report believes that the newspaper profession will maintain an unceasing hunt for the rude hands and vicious minds that dared to trespass on the rights of an institution devoted to the enlightenment of us all.

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

BELLINGHAM, WASH., HERALD: "Despite the political cry of 'giveaway' when any diminution of government-owned property is suggested, if much of this property were on the tax rolls as private property the tax burden . . . would be materially lightened. Basically, the nation was built on a policy of private enterprise."

WILCOX, ARIZ., RANGE NEWS: "The American people can be proud of themselves. Through their untiring efforts they have brought about the coining of a brand new word. This word is 'litterbug,' and it is to be included in the new edition of Funk and Wagnall's dictionary. Is it too much to suggest that each of us sees how soon the word can become obsolete?"

SHELDON, IOWA, MAIL: "Speaking recently before the Inter-American Bar Association at Dallas, Texas, Mr. Hoover warned that Russia's new strategy for the promotion of worldwide communism was through Socialists operating under the guise of 'liberals and progressives.' Less than 48 hours after our former President made this prediction, Russia itself announced that 'Socialist successes have created new conditions for the activities of the Communist and other workers' parties.'"

ANTIGO, WISC., DAILY JOURNAL: "Husbands and fathers who used to find it relatively easy to duck their responsibilities by fleeing to another state no longer have that opportunity, the states having entered into mutual agreements for return of such offenders."

FALLON, NEV., STANDARD: "The truth is that the right to work is as fundamental as religious freedom and the right of free speech, free assembly, and free press. Where the right to work does not exist, there is no real freedom."

POSTER BOY IN U.S. SENATE

From the floor of the U.S. Senate a beautiful tribute was paid to the 1956 March of Dimes poster boy by Senator J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, himself a polio. Tommy Woodward, 5, of Baltimore stood in the Senate gallery as Senator Beall introduced him to his fellow members. Tommy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Veryl Woodward, stood beside him with tears in their eyes. Senator Beall said he knew from his own experience what a fine job the boy from Maryland would do in the March of Dimes "visiting every state in the Union and demonstrating the excellent results now being obtained in rehabilitating victims of polio." There was a wave of applause from the senators and Senator Case of South Dakota, who had yielded the floor to Senator Beall said, "it was a pleasure to yield the floor for such a greeting and we are pleased to have this fine boy here." Here Senator Beall and Tommy get together after the introduction.

Always a Fresh Start

WE can always make a fresh start, for in the words of Shakespeare, "There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so." And we all possess the ability to change our thinking whenever we please.

What usually keeps us from making a change for the better is the belief that inability, time, past or present circumstances, hinder us from improving our position or turning over a new leaf, as the saying goes. Yet Jeremiah, out of his own experience long ago, said of our all-wise Father-Mother God, to whom we can always turn for guidance (Lamentations 3:22, 23): "His compassions fail not. They are new every morning."

How encouraging it is to study the Bible and to discover that Christ Jesus' healing ministry consisted in giving those he helped a fresh start. With his understanding of God, and of man as made in the divine image, he revealed to them their innate soundness and purity as the sons of God. It did not matter whether an infirmity or sinful habit had held them in bondage for many years, or was even supposed to be inherited. His clear realization of their spiritual and perfect selfhood immediately released them from that bondage, and thus gave them a fresh start toward a healthy and useful life.

Jesus' command (Mark 5:34), "Be whole," is today reiterated by the Christ, Truth, in Christian Science, and with blessings following. This Science, based on the words and works of the Master, teaches that mortal existence with its pleasures and ills is unreal, a dream, from which men need only awaken to find their true selfhood with its divine heritage of health, happiness, and unbounded freedom.

One's true individuality as divine image and likeness is unceasingly maintained by our Father-Mother God in its original perfection and wholeness. It has never been marred, spotted, or obliterated, but remains ever untouched and undisturbed by sin, disease, and death.

As this truth is understood . . . it transforms one's human experience. It reveals and activates his ability to denounce and annul blighting and fettering material so-called laws of heredity, disease, and sin. It shows that opportunities believed to be irretrievably lost are always at hand to open a new way of usefulness. Of our heavenly Father's tender love of his creation Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, says (Christian Healing, p. 19), "Tireless Being, patient of man's procrastination, affords him fresh opportunities every hour."

The repentant and honest heart, long in bondage to sinful habits and awakening to man's glorious divine sonship, which has never been disgraced or dishonored, need not spend long periods in remorse but can start a new, useful career at once. Nor will a period of convalescence delay the one who perceives, even in a degree, the unchanging wholeness of his true being. He can enter immediately into an unrestricted enjoyment of his health and freedom.

How uplifting it is to know that the errors and discords of the past or the present are nothing but illusions, powerless to retard or stop the advancing course of the sincere and humble heart. Our loving Father works with us to prove that every moment is fresh with hope, courage, and promise. What greater joy than to fulfill the divine command given to Job (40:10), "Deck thyself now with majesty and excellency; and array thyself with glory and beauty." — The Christian Science Monitor.

WHAT'S YOUR WASHDAY I. Q.?

By Ann GARY—ANS Features

EVERYONE WHO KNOWS ONE END OF A CLOTHESPIN from the other knows that washing is getting automatically easier—thanks in large to the automatic washer.

Two decades ago, when just the purchase of an automatic could cause a neighborhood stir, manufacturers got phone calls from folks who were afraid to turn "the thing" on! Today, women are more wash-wise. Only a few, expecting full-dress miracles rather than convenience, run into difficulties—and in some instances, even repair bills.

To track down causes for unnecessary repairs, Tide Washing Clinic, a washday sleuth, gumshoed after repairmen, appliance salesmen and women themselves. Here's what it learned:

Overloading causes biggest service headaches. A proper load allows clothes to circulate freely. Overloading cuts down washing efficiency and even damages clothes. Follow the manufacturer's instructions on what constitutes a proper load. A laundry scale is a good safety precaution against overloading.

Proper sorting methods will catch the fish hooks in a little boy's pocket! For best sorting procedure, the Tide Clinic advises pulling out first all clothing which may not be color-fast. These items need luke-warm water. Then sort the dirtiest things because they take longer washing action and hotter water. Finally, sort the sheers and such things that need short washing action.

Running the automatic on an extension cord can be dangerous. When you disconnect the washer cord, stand on a dry floor mat and work around the washer in rubbers. Keep the cord off the floor so that the washer won't roll over it.

Another washday problem comes from using either too little or too much detergent. Use suds as your gauge to determine how much to put in. Put in enough to make a rich active suds, turn on the machine, and then check back in 3 minutes. If the suds are still high, you've used enough. The amount of detergent needed depends on how dirty your clothes are, the size of your wash load, how hard your water is, how much water is in the machine, and the water temperature.

When the suds go pfft, it means the cleaning oomph is gone, too. Only when they stand up throughout the wash cycle do you know there's enough cleaning power in the water to do a job.

How Advertising helps you

How to Get Bargains

EVERY now and then, even now when most of us know better, someone comes along with this argument: "Buy my goods. I don't advertise. I pass along the savings to you. So you get a very great bargain. Why pay for advertising when you don't have to?"

To our shame, most of us at one time or another have "fallen for" this argument. We have bought a "bargain." In your case, was it always a bargain? It never was in mine. It never can be. And as long as anyone believes that by buying unadvertised goods he can get better goods for less, he is living indeed in a fool's paradise.

The fact, as you well know by now, is that if you bought nothing but advertised goods you would always be sure of a bargain!

The purpose of advertising is to make bargains possible. This it does by creating enough demand for the goods to enable the man who makes them to make them for less, the man who sells them to sell them for less—and the man, or woman, who buys them (that means you) to buy them for less.

So if you want to know how to get bargains, the answer is this: Before you buy anything, before you even visit a store for the purpose of buying anything, read the ads in the newspaper.

Thus you will enter a store, not an uninformed purchaser, at the mercy of slick sales talk, but a qualified purchaser with sufficient knowledge to judge quality and price, and see whether you are really being offered a bargain.

It's a pretty comforting feeling to know that you have enough facts (because you read the ads before going to the store) to judge fairly whether the value you are being offered is good.

As long as people exist there will always be some who are gullible and will listen to the story of an unadvertised bargain.

But long ago the wise customers concluded that if there was a sure way to get value for their money that was the way they would follow.

And the sure way is always one and the same way—whenever you buy, whatever you buy make sure that the article is advertised. Advertising is the customer's Bureau of Standards.

NEW FURNITURE FACTORY PLANNED

A modern, fire-proof plant will be erected on Bletner Road, at Hanover, Pa., just west of the borough line, for Wheelwright-Folger, Inc., manufacturer of French provincial furniture.

Preliminary excavation and grading of the site was started last week by the general contractor, Hoffheins Brothers. The new plant is expected to go into production about Aug. 1, according to Sherman A. Hildreth, vice-president, who will be in charge of its operation.

The entire production of the firm is sold through Richard Wheelwright Inc., which maintains showrooms in New York City, Chicago, Dallas, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Miami. Its products for bedrooms, living and dining rooms are considered primarily a decorator's line.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 14 - The F. J. Kress Box Company, with headquarters here announced today that operation of their new plant at Hagerstown, Md., is expected to begin July 1.

The Hagerstown operation, located at Marber Road and Norfolk and Western Railroad, will produce corrugated fibreboard containers for industrial shippers, as well as a complete line of corrugated packages for fresh fruit and vegetable packers.

In his announcement of the new plant, J. Burk LeClere, Kress president, said that his company has received valuable assistance from the Area Development Department of The Potomac Edison Company, and from the Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Kress Box, founded in 1880, is one of the largest manufacturers in the corrugated container industry, operating twelve plants throughout the United States.

Good gasoline mileage is built into the engines of most automobiles today, but the motorist must keep tabs on a number of things to realize the best possible performance from under the hood.

So, if you find your gasoline consumption higher that it should be, says Keystone Automobile Club, here are eleven common sense practices which should improve the mileage obtained by your car:

Avoid racing your engine. Start, drive and stop smoothly. Keep your speed moderate.

Never let tire pressure get BELOW the manufacturer's recommendation. Keep your carburetor properly adjusted.

Maintain proper engine temperature. Keep ignition correctly timed. Have valves ground and carbon removed, if necessary.

Replace worn piston rings. Shift to second gear when going up a steep hill.

Do not allow unusual engine or chassis noises to go uninvestigated.

At Salman, Idaho, Judge Hill mar-later the bride came back and said: "Just cancel that. I did not want to get married after all."

The judge told the young woman that before the ceremony could be cancelled, a divorce would be necessary, provided she could make up her mind just exactly what she really wanted.

"Do you know what 'knee action' is in a car?" She: "Yes, and don't you try it."

There were important guests for dinner when young Billie asked: "Mother, is the dessert too rich for me or is there enough to go around?"

Man is like a wagon - rattles most when empty.

A browbeating attorney finally asked the witness how far he had been from the scene of an accident.

"Five yards, two feet, seven inches," roared the attorney.

"Well," drawled the unabashed witness, "I expected some fool or other would be sure to ask me, so I measured it."

Mr. Warren MacPherson, president of the Cambridge Rubber Company, Taneytown, announced that the plant's entire personnel-workers, plant officials, department heads, and secretaries - had received X-rays in the mass X-ray survey to find unknown cases of tuberculosis in this area.

The 100 per cent score, a total of 400 persons, was accomplished in six hours.

The Cambridge Rubber Company cooperates each year in the county-wide chest X-ray project sponsored by the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association, the Carroll County Health Department and the Maryland State Department of Health.

Mr. MacPherson praised the speed and efficiency with which the X-raying in the plant had been done. Registration went like "clock work" and workers were particularly impressed with the facts that no one had to undress or be away from his work more than a few minutes, he added.

"We are very proud of the fact that our plant cooperates in this important case-finding project," he said. "The sponsors of the survey wish to join me in thanking our employees for their prompt cooperation."

The X-ray unit used for the survey was transferred last week to Black & Decker Company, Hampstead, where group X-raying of its employees began on Thursday and continued through Friday.

Other industries that have cooperated 100 per cent include: Westminster Manufacturing Company, Kessler Shoe Manufacturing Company, Koonz Creamery, Carroll Manufacturing Company, Taneytown Manufacturing Company, Pleasant Valley Shoe Company, Lehigh Portland Cement Company, Manchester Pants Manufacturing Company, Jacob Brothers, Hampstead Manufacturing Company, Westminster Coat Company and the Coca-Cola Bottling Company.

BASEBALL

One of the best ball games ever played in Taneytown was the game Tuesday evening, May 29, between Union Bridge and Taneytown on the Memorial Park diamond.

The score was 2-0, in favor of Taneytown, with no errors by either team in nine innings of play.

Lefty Melvin Blizzard pitched and helped to start the rally in the last inning with his single. Weaver got hit by a pitch. Charles Crum hit a booming double down right field for the winning tally. There were a couple of big league scouts present who watched the game. Blizzard has yet to give up an earned run in 23 innings.

The game on Memorial Day between Taneytown and New Oxford was rained out and will be played here, Saturday, June 2.

Babe Ruth League. The Babe Ruth League team, sponsored by the Taneytown Kiwanis Club, will play Walkersville at Walkersville this (Thursday) evening.

Little League. The Little League Baseball Team (Cards) sponsored by the Taneytown Lions Club will play Union Bridge at Union Bridge Saturday, June 2. On June 5, the Taneytown (Cubs) will play New Windsor on the Memorial Park diamond.

KNOWS COMBINATION. "Whenever my wife needs money she calls me handsome."

"Handsome?" "Yeah! Hand some over!"

FEELING BETTER. Mrs. Jones (kindly): "Hello, dear, how's the pain in the neck?" Mrs. Green: "He's out playing golf."

DID NOT RECEIVE LOOKS. He: "I just dreamed I had a job." She: "You look tired."

CAN'T ESCAPE BLAME. Woman: "My husband is so careless of his appearance. It seems that he just can't keep buttons on his cloths."

Neighbor: "Are you sure it's carelessness? Perhaps they are uh - well, sewed on improperly."

Woman: "Maybe you're right. He is terribly careless with his sewing."

POOR SHOOTER. Joe: "Will your wife hit the ceiling when you come in at this hour?" Jim: "Probably. She's a rotten shot."

QUIZ KID. Sue (aged 8): "Mother, why did you marry father?" Mother: "So you've begun to wonder, too?"

He took her hand in his and gazed proudly at the engagement ring he had placed on her finger only three days before.

"Did your friends admire it?" he inquired tenderly.

"They did more than that," she replied. "Two of them recognized it."

A browbeating attorney finally asked the witness how far he had been from the scene of an accident.

"Five yards, two feet, seven inches," roared the attorney.

"Well," drawled the unabashed witness, "I expected some fool or other would be sure to ask me, so I measured it."

Footloose Folks Still Following Greeley's Advice

NEW YORK—"Go West, young man," Horace Greeley advised his contemporaries of the 19th century. With the 20th century more than half over, the mass westward migration Greeley helped promote is still going strong.

Over the past 15 years there has been a marked shift of population to the Far West, principally from the South and Midwest, with California gaining more people through migration than any other state.

From 1940 through June 1945, when defense production was booming in California, the net migration of civilians to that state averaged 385,000 a year, but even in recent years the average has been 284,000 a year. As a result of this movement and a sustained high birth rate, California gained 1,968,000 in population from April 1950 through June 1954—almost one fifth of the increase in the entire country for those years.

During the same period a number of other states have had substantial gains in population through migration. Florida averaged 130,000 annually during these years; Michigan averaged 52,000; New Jersey 44,000; and Arizona and Ohio 38,000 each.

By contrast, Pennsylvania and seven southern states—West Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, and Arkansas have been losing 30,000 or more persons annually by migration since 1950.

The principal cause of migration is job opportunities, although in recent years there has been an increase for older, retired people to settle permanently in milder climates, particularly in Florida and Southern California.

First Deathless Congress in Years

WASHINGTON—For the first time in more than 20 years, no members of the Senate or House died during the session which ended last August 3.

The year before there were nine deaths among senators and representatives.

One member-elect of the 84th Congress, Dwight Rogers of Florida, died in December before Congress convened in January. His son, Paul G. Rogers, was elected to succeed him.

Not since the house membership was increased to 435 more than two decades ago had there been a session of Congress during which no senator or representative died.

Since 1929, when the practice of conducting annual memorial services for deceased members started, an average of 10 members have died each session.

As reflected by the memorial services, the peak number of deaths was 21 Senators and House members in 1937. The lowest was previously 3, in 1943.

Drive-In Movies Try Gimmicks for Crows

PITTSBURGH—The popcorn machines that have kept millions of Americans contented at the movies are giving way to more spectacular gimmicks in the campaign to lure customers into drive-in theaters.

Drive-ins along the shores of Lake Erie have gone in for complete restaurants where you can get pizza, shrimp rolls, chicken in a basket, along with the usual popcorn and candy.

Even baby sitters are provided to watch over children while their parents relax in their automobile to watch the giant outdoor screens. Some theaters have playgrounds with merry-go-rounds, swings and scenic railways.

One enterprising outdoor-theater owner near Pittsburgh went the limit—by stocking a pond with trout and building a swimming pool for overheated patrons.

Animal Reaction to High Flight Recorded

MINNEAPOLIS—Mice and guinea pigs which soared almost 25 miles above the earth in a free balloon ride landed safely in North Dakota after a 26-hour flight.

The flight was conducted by Winzen Research, Inc., for the Air Force to determine the animals' reaction to high altitude.

The plastic balloon, tall as a 25-story building, landed near Crosby, N.D. 26 hours after leaving International Falls, Minn.

The balloon attained an altitude of 125,000 feet. Defense sources in Washington said monkeys and mice were rocketed to 400,000 feet in March, 1952.

Sneak in Sink
ST. LOUIS—Mrs. Richard Godier went to her kitchen sink to wash the dishes.

The sink was clogged. As she poked around, up popped a snake. Mrs. Godier did the natural thing—she screamed. Her husband came running and captured the 10-inch garter snake.

INTOLERANCE AND THE CHURCH—

Judging by the gossip one often hears, Little change has been made in 2000 years; Like the Samaritan woman at Jacob's well, We all have a similar story to tell.

Some say, "Our church is the right place to be;" But, with that consensus, Jesus did not agree; "Neither on this mountain, nor at Jerusalem, said He Shall God be worshiped by you and me."

For "God is Spirit"; He exists everywhere, Both on the earth, and in the air, Nature is His physical body, which we see, So He lives in all things, as in you and me.

There are many churches scattered over the land; But some of their members do not understand, That one God is the Father of us all Who dwell on this terrestrial ball.

The groves were God's temples in days of old, It was there the truth about Him was told; To call men to worship in ancient times The birds did the calling instead of chimes.

The preacher told them the right way to live, While Nature taught them how to give; And the moss-covered ground and gold-tinted tree Told of how Paradise shall be.

In his sermons about what men ought to be The preacher seldom mentions jew-el-ry, Except to tell of that precious gem Which is call the "Royal Diadem."

Said he: "That is the jewel you shall wear If you all have God, and with men act square;" He rarely spoke of the styles to be For all robes must be white in eternity.

By object lessons men were taught of old; No mention was made of silver or gold; The groves were God's temples throughout the land, And a feeling of reverence seemed to demand.

Likewise, the many churches all over the land Are temples of God, and much reverence demand, They are temples of peace, and intended to be The meeting place of God and humanity.

But, with intolerance and dissension on every hand, It is hard for the church of to-day to expand; So, why not traverse the trails used of old When all went together of God to be told?

All the roads we travel lead to one place; It is there God said we shall see His face; So, all churches under one roof should be, Since we all hope to meet in eternity.

Not one of God's children shall ever be lost, Regardless of what his salvation may cost; For God has devised a marvelous plan By which to make a perfect man.

Reincarnation, it is said, is the only way By which to prepare for the endless day; A single lifespan too short would be To learn how to live through eternity.

If men know God as in days of old Our churches would not begin to hold The millions for whom He made this earth And whose life He has been since their day of birth.

On the Sabbath day, wherever you go, Strings of automobiles stand in a row In front of the theatres, in every place; That not only looks bad, it is a disgrace!

It only goes to show how patient God must be To close His eyes, and tolerate such idolatry; In spite of all that He dies for man, Man seems to ignore both Him and His plan.

This earth is not just a ball, flying in air, To attract the eye, and be seen everywhere; God intends to make it our future home On which to dwell and forever roam.

If only man could be made to see What a Paradise this earth shall be The voice of an angel could not change his mind, For to Him better he would be inclined.

Taneytown is famous for its churches to-day They all give a welcome to people, they say; They greet all strangers, great or small, And the water of life is free to all.

They never argue about a fellow's views, But try to make room for him in their pews; Neither do they proselyte or scheme To get him to come and join their team.

That is a virtue we should not despise For it makes one look big in another's eye; It not only pleases God, but your neighbor as well And of your broadness to others he will tell.

The churches in Taneytown, it seems to me, Are models of what all churches should be Their members have always shared their pews With others, regardless of their views.

Take Grace Reformed Church—Presbyterians worshiped there; They were always willing their pews to share; And in her Necropolis—one of the best, Many Lutherans, and some of my ancestors rest.

My Aune Emilie was a lifelong member there; Uncle Dave was a Lutheran, but did not care; And that is how all churches should be; Their members should practice charity.

I remember quite well, one Christmas night, Uncle Dave came for us, and carried me home, For I was too small through the snow to roam. A blizzard raged, and made the ground white,

The church is the bulwark of our Nations today; So God, not a statesman, should have full say About things which concern the good of mankind Of which the man of the earth is blind.

Through the years I have studied numerous creeds But they don't seem to suit humanity needs; To impersonate God must always be Tolerant, and practice charity.

ready
ready now
to take care of you when disaster strikes!

Your community hospitals must be ready round-the-clock to care for you and yours when civilian disasters come...

Right now, in a hospital near you, plans have been made to meet civilian emergencies. Fires and hurricanes, accidents and floods, will find hospital staffs ready—in many ways you might not suspect.

Surgeons, nurses, and key staff personnel are always prepared. But their preparedness, as your community hospital knows too well, is only the beginning of disaster planning. The hospital engineer must plan for emergency power. Dietitians must be ready to feed casualties, patients, personnel. Drugs and sterile materials must be bought and stock-piled.

Readiness to meet civilian disasters is a continuing day-to-day responsibility. It involves time, personnel and, very often, extra expense.

But it is a responsibility your community hospitals accept. They must be ready.

You can be ready, too... through Blue Cross

BLUE CROSS membership gives subscribers an effective, low-cost way to budget in advance for hospital care. Today over 950,000 of your fellow citizens in Maryland belong to BLUE CROSS. Working together with member hospitals, the non-profit BLUE CROSS plan provides real protection against the expense of sudden illness or emergency. Take your first step toward preparedness now. To the West

Lesson for June 3, 1956

IN PAUL'S vision at Troas, his night visitor did not say, "Come over into Europe and help us." He only said "Macedonia." In fact, the word Europe does not occur in the story at all. Paul and his contemporaries were not conscious of moving from one continent to another when they set sail for Macedonia. Nevertheless it was a notable move. The Christian church was moving west, and it has never stopped permanently at any frontier. The little party that took ship for Samothracia was only one of countless groups of Christians westward bound. This was the first step in a great march. The Gospel was carried into every country in Europe, then into the Americas. Here in North America, as the settlers moved inland, westward and ever westward, as the frontier moved across the land the church moved with it. Sometimes the church itself did the pioneering, as the Roman church did in California or the Protestants in Oregon.

Dr. Foreman

Moving and Changing
 Pea vines and people often change when transplanted to a different soil and climate. So it is with the church. The church at Antioch was different from the church in Jerusalem, and the church at Corinth was still different and by the time the church reached Rome and settled there, more changes could be seen. Churches in Northern Britain were not just like those of southern Italy. When the church came to America, there were further changes. To this day, a Presbyterian church in this country will be in many ways unlike the church of the same name in Scotland. English Methodists and American Methodists can easily be told apart. A distinguished English Baptist who is now serving in the largest American Baptist denomination has said in public how hard it was at first for him to feel at home here. Even in the Roman Catholic church priests who have been in America all their lives find some features of European Catholic churches rather strange, and vice versa. In America, too, as the church moved west it changed its ways.

Always the Same
 "The more it changes, the more it stays the same," is a French proverb, which might well describe the church of God. It is quite true, the church has gone through many changes as it has moved westward with the years, but at heart, when it has had a heart, it has always been the same. (We say "When it has had a heart," because some churches have lost heart, or lost their heart, grown cold and died.) It would be quite a shock for a member of any American church east or west to walk into a meeting of the church at Corinth in St. Paul's time. It would be just as puzzling for a Corinthian to enter any American church—a great cathedral in New York or a country church forty miles from anywhere; neither one would be like his Corinthian meeting. But the heart of the church is the same. In Corinth, Kansas City or the Kentucky hills, wherever people are gathered together who love the Lord Jesus, who adore Him as Son of God and know Him as their Saviour, wherever those who love Christ are united to serve mankind in His name, there is the Christian church at worship and at work. Languages and forms differ, but the spirit of Christ is always the same.

Frontiers of the Future
 When the church reached the eastern edge of the Pacific Ocean, had it come to the last frontier? Is there anywhere else to go? Of course there is. Beyond the Pacific are two vast continents. The Christian church has been so busy stretching westward that it has all but forgotten the "East"—which now is literally our Far West. Asia, Africa and the islands of the seas are our Christian frontiers, the frontiers of the future, and the church is (if yet only dimly) aware of them. The churches along these frontiers will be different from the churches "back home" as ours are different from Corinth and Jerusalem. But the Spirit will be there; for wherever there are true churches, there Christ lives and works again.

Let's Think

by G. H. ENFIELD

THOUGHTS FOR THOUGHT

Sorrow emaciates the body, and strength fails one who lives apart from God.

The chief value of background is that others have laid the foundation on which you are to build.

You can't tell whether he is good or bad if he is always tied to his mother's apron string. And if he is not tied to his mother's apron string how does she know what he does!

Agriculture colleges interfere with farmers who plant their crops by the signs of the moon.

A writer says the world needs more music. Is that why the radio is turned on in study halls to soothe the mental disturbance of the pupils who won't study?

The person who hogs the road brings to light his animal instinct.

A teacher is one who renders the most service and gives the most time for the least money.

Slow thinking and fast driving are not safety devices.

When you are imprisoned within yourself the outside world looks gloomy.

One is often branded a heretic if one deviates from the use of meaningless, trite, threadbare, and time-worn words and phrases, in one's thinking and conversation.

THE SWORD OF GOD

I have prayed in the fields of poppies, I have laughed with the men who died.

But in all my ways and through all my days Like a friend He walked beside.

I have seen a sight under heaven That only God understands, In the battle's glare I have seen Christ there

With the Sword of God in His hand, Gordon Johnstone.

HOT ANYWAY

Teacher: "Now to remember something, you should try to connect it with something else. For instance, to remember Bobby Burns think of a little boy named Bobby in a fire."
 Student: "But how are we to know that that doesn't represent Robert Browning?"

LEST WE FORGET TO SMILE

A drunk staggered home and made his way subconsciously through the house, winding up in the stall shower of his bathroom. As he groped about, he turned on the water, deluging himself plenty and making a racket which brought the Little Woman to the scene.

Taking in the details, she called him all kinds of a so-and-so, winding up with a not too flattering estimate of his past, present and future.

"That's right, honey," admitted the shuddering sot. "I am everything you said—and worse. But let me in, won't you?—it's raining something awful out here."

IT'S ALL DONE WITH MIRRORS

A brass band once visited a small village, and the people were delighted with it, but they couldn't make out the trombone, so they sent old Cyrus to investigate.

Old Cyrus watched the performance of the trombone played for some time. Then, he said, with a sneer. "Take no notice of him, fellers. There's a trick to it; he don't swallow the dum thing."

A Sweet, Luscious Treat For a Romantic Leap Year.

THAT EXTRA DAY FOR ROMANCE IN FEBRUARY, inspired this special strawberry-flavored gelatin treat—a most delicious way to please those loved ones—whether it's a family party or one to celebrate a newly found "valentine." They're creamy delights, filled with cherries and almonds and as pretty as a bride's bouquet, arranged on a platter with a fragrant corsage of violets.

SWEET & PERKY MOLDS

- 1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- 3/4 cup cold water
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup sliced red maraschino cherries
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup sliced green maraschino cherries
- 1/4 cup slivered blanched almonds
- 1/2 cup whipped cream

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Then pour half into individual molds or a 1-quart mold and chill until almost firm. Fold cherries and nuts into remaining half. Whip cream and fold into gelatin-cherries mixture. Pour over gelatin in mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with additional whipped cream and cherries, if desired. Makes 3 servings. (ANS)
