COMPLETES COURSE IN AUCTIONEERING

Mr. Augustus Shank has just arrived home from Decatur, Indiana, where he has graduated from the Reppert School of Auctioneering. This school teaches every phase of the auction work, and was established thirty-five years ago by the late Fred Reppert, known as America's greatest auctioneer. This school employs fifteen of America's foremost auctioneers who explain to the students just how to become a successful auctioneer.

Bona fide sales were conducted so that the students had actual experience under the guidance of these instructors, and students are really seasoned auctioneers when they receive their diplomas. Seventy-six students from twenty-six states attended this summer term of school. All of them were more than pleased with the training which they received, and for the future the auction business holds in store for them.

Mr. Shank's many friends will be glad to know that he has taken up this pleasant and profitable occupation. With his natural talents and the training received at this school, we predict a bright future for him as an auctioneer. He will be glad to contact anyone expecting to put on an auction sale. In addition to this, he will conduct auctions for the benefit of the Red Cross, churches, schools, or any other organization that wants to raise money for a worthy cause.

His phone number is Taneytown 4012.

LOCAL U. R. W. UNION TO HOLD MEETING

Taneytown, Md. The Executive Board of Local No. 468, United Rubber Workers of America, has issued a call for all production and maintenance employees of the Cambridge Rubber Company to attend a special meeting of the local union, according to Leonard Fink, president.

The meeting will take place on Wednesday, August 29, at the VFW, in Emmitsburg beginning at 8 p. m. sharp.

Mr. Fink reports that unrest created recently by the wage cuts being imposed on the supervisory force calls for a meeting of all employees, both union and non-union, to determine our course, and to consolidate the gains we have made since 1953.

Mr. Fink added, "This local union intends to make this the best attended meeting in our history. We expect to offer door prizes and give away refreshments to make the evening complete."

REPUBLICANS MEET
IN LOS ANGELESEisenhower and Nixon will Head Ticket

Most of this week the air waves were taken over by the Republican Party when they convened in Convention at San Francisco, California, on Monday for the purpose of nominating a candidate for president and another for Vice-President, adopt a "platform" for the coming election and other sundry business.

The highlight of the convention on Monday evening was the keynote speech by Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, of Washington. His speech was comparable to the keynote address given at the Democratic Convention in that it contained charges against the opposition party and claims of progress and promises by the Republican Party. Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Massachusetts, was the chairman of the convention, this being his fifth time in this capacity.

Former President Herbert Hoover received a great ovation when he appeared on the scene Tuesday to make his address. This was his seventh time to appear as a convention speaker.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower changed his plans and went to the convention city, Tuesday, a day earlier than originally planned. His arrival was exploited by television to the extent that the convention activities took second place in the show. Miss Bertha Adkins, of Salisbury, Md., assistant to the Republican National Chairman put on a women's program after Hoover had spoken and before the platform business was taken up.

Wednesday evening the convention unanimously renominated Dwight D. Eisenhower for president and Richard M. Nixon for his running mate.

Eisenhower watched it all, heard all the praise it was possible to pour out on a man, through a television set in his downtown hotel in San Francisco, California.

Nixon was 400 miles away, keeping vigil at the bedside of his desperately ill father at Whittier, California.

The convention will hear the acceptance speeches today (Thursday) of the two candidates unless the condition of Mr. Nixon's father's illness prevents him from being present.

WORK ON THURMONT BY-PASS

Work on an important segment of the new Thurmont by-pass has been ordered to commence at once.

The State Roads Commission this week sent an official "notice to proceed" to the contractor who will build a five-span steel bridge which will carry relocated U. S. 15 over Maryland Route 77 and Hunting Creek. The relocation of this important north-south highway will carry traffic around Thurmont rather than through the central part of the town. The bridge will be 275 feet in length accommodating a road width of 40 feet.

Contract for its construction was awarded the M. J. Grove Lime Company, of Frederick at its low bid of $185,337. On this contract the Roads Commission received twelve bids, the highest being more than $100,000 greater than the low bid of the Grove Company.

U. S. 15 is the route President Eisenhower uses in driving from Washington to Gettysburg. With the completion of the Washington National Pike, the Frederick By-Pass now under construction and the new Thurmont By-Pass, a traveler from Washington to Gettysburg will have an almost uninterrupted run, avoiding towns and most grade crossings.

SUMMER CAMP

Parents who aided in transporting boys to and from summer camp were William B. Abrecht, Wilmer L. Barnes, George Abrecht, Wm. Darrell F. Nelson, Mrs. Leroy Sherman and Myron R. Tracey, their assistance being much appreciated. A complete roster of campers in the Arrowhead campsite the week ending August 11 were the following explorers: Advisers Bowers of 348 and Philip R. Lawry of 391, Silver Run; Senior crew leader Slaybaugh; George Abrecht, Jackie Bowers, and Philip Garrett of 348, and Peter Manning of 464, New Windsor. Boy Scouts attending were Scoutmaster Wilbur O. Thomas, Senior patrol leader Francis Nelson, Patrol leaders Grant Harman, John Myers, and Frederick Sherman, Assistants Edward Reaver and Larry Weishaar, Scribe Ronald Hopkins, Quartermasters James Hemler and Charles Turner and Byron Baer, Roger Blanchard, Roy Chapman, Ronald Corbin, David Hopkins, George Kreit, Harold Raab, Donald Reaver, Lee Sherman, Larry Six, James Tracey, and John Whalen all of 348, and Wayne Hollinger of 391, Silver Run.

A BAND CONCERT

On the evening of Sunday, August 19, the garden of the Historical House, headquarters of the Carroll County Historical Society, was the scene of a concert by Noah Arbaugh's orchestra, postponed from an earlier date because of rain. A large audience enjoyed a program of old favorites, and the soloist of the occasion was ten year old Wanda Hailey, of Frizellburg, who sang four songs to the mandolin accompaniment played by her father, Edward Hailey. During the program, Mr. Arbaugh presented the Historical Society with his conductor's baton, which was made for him by Jacob Little, of Warfieldsburg, and has been in constant use for sixty-two years.

ORGANIZATIONAL MEET

The Formation of Council for Crippled Children and Adults

Participating in the organizational meeting of the Western Maryland Council of the Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults held in Frederick, on Monday evening, the 20th of August were: Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bankard, Jr., Mr. Elwood Baumgardner and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bohn, all of Carroll County. Representing Frederick were Mrs. Paul Michael, Mr. J. Milton Brunk, Mr. and Mrs. Nevin Waskey, Mr. Clarence Carty and Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Offutt. Attending the meeting from Washington County were: Stuart Bushong and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Green. Also present were Miss Merle Lee Champney, occupational therapist and Society field representative for the area, Dr. John Culler, M. D., of Frederick, and Mr. Bruce G. Eberwein, Executive Director of the Maryland Society for crippled children and adults.

The purpose of the Western Maryland Council of the Maryland Easter Seal Society is to survey and meet the unmet needs of the physically handicapped in this area of the state. Discussed at the meeting was the possibility of establishing a complete treatment center in the area to supply, under medical direction, all of the needed therapies to crippled children and adults.

Officers of the Council elected to fill temporary terms, until the completion of the 1957 Easter Seal campaign when permanent officers will be elected, were: Stuart Bushong, of Hagerstown, Chairman; Kenneth Bohn, of Westminster, Vice-Chairman; and Clarence Carty, of Frederick, Secretary.

Meetings of the Western Maryland Council of the Maryland Society for crippled children and adults will be called by the Chairman, but not more than five times a year.

INSURANCE POLICY MAY BE SURRENDERED IF MISREPRESENTED

At the 1956 session of the Maryland General Assembly, a new statute was enacted which adds two additional paragraphs to Section 152 of Article 48A. This statute is now Chapter 28 of the Acts of 1956.

Under the provisions of the new law, every purchaser of an accident and sickness policy is entitled to surrender the policy within not more than ten days after its delivery and to obtain pro-rata refund of the premium paid.

This statute was enacted because of the many complaints which the State Insurance Department received from policyholders indicating that the contracts when delivered did not contain all of the coverages promised by the soliciting agent.

The State Insurance Commissioner requests all policyholders to review their accident and sickness policy contracts when they are delivered so that they may take advantage of the surrender privilege granted them under the 1956 statute if they are not fully satisfied with the contract which has been received.

Explorer Scout boosters for this special project are George Abrecht, Robert Fitz, and Larry Martin, with the scoutmaster serving as chairman. Problems of a various complexion have hitherto delayed the scheme, but now it is hoped that it may be pushed to completion as a worthwhile part of any community's youth program.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Spending the vacation at home for two weeks meant much this year to Your Observer as much was accomplished around the bungalow both in side and out.

First of all I attempted to paint the exterior never dreaming it was such a task for a woman. Toward the finish, I really had to engage someone to reach the high places as the eaves and the second story plus the tower. Taking day trips meant much as then it was sleeping in my own bed at nights instead of changing.

I had contemplated going out to California and to Arizona by driving but when I heard about that awful desert at this time of the year and as one put it who just returned, "Only Mad Dogs would attempt it during July and August!" That was enough for me and then to drive 500 miles a day—that I would never, never do regardless who was on the other end awaiting my arrival.

It will be by train for me when and if I go at a future date.

Attending the "Capping Exercises" at the Maryland General Hospital in Baltimore, I would not have wanted to miss for a pretty penny. There were just twelve young girls and never have I seen such good looking! They appeared immaculate in their white and blue uniforms and their poise no adjective could describe. There were the "Greetings" and then the Hymn "Living for Jesus" and the grand address by Dr. J. H. Franz (Chief of Radiological Service) and then "The Spiritual Aspects of Nursing" by Rev. Elmer Lambert. Then the Presentation of Caps and the "Lighting of Lamps" and last of all "The Florence Nightingale" Pledge by all the student nurses and then the Benediction. It truly was the most impressive day of my two weeks and one which will be a lasting memory!

So, Young Miss if you have God Given talent for this wonderful Profession as soon as you have completed High School by all means jump at the chance. It will mean that no one can ever take this education from you.

It may come in handy even at a later date by brushing up as I know one R. N. did just recently.

Thinking of Nurses and Doctors—this one will bring a smile but it is a true one—recently I learned of a big Surgeon who kisses his lady patients before he operates! When one patient told me, she said it with such reverence! Cute?

Then one day we went sailing down the Chesapeake Bay to Betterton and such a drop at figures—instead of 1500 individuals or passengers—there were only 340! The S. S. Bay Belle now makes the trip to Tolchester first and then continues on to Betterton.

There was the same three pieces of musical instruments playing all the up to minute tunes with that special rhythm which all the dancers like (and Your Observer was asked to dance a real waltz by a lady who could really waltz). No one ever forgets to waltz just as in swimming that one never forgets either.

The meal was delicious at the "Rigby" as in all down through the years. The most relaxing part of that trip is sitting down for the three hours on the boat!

Then taking part in the County Fair Show in a play for "The Grange" was surely loads of fun especially seeing all the men dressed as models with such titles as "Lady of Leisure", The Twins, Sportswear, Negligee, Debutante Masquerade Costume, The Stylish Stouts, The Bride, Flower Girl. The audience screamed with laughter and knowing all those men added to the fun!

Last but not least rising at 5 A. M. to spend the day at Beall's Grove—the delightful drive over and hearing the fine speakers engaged for the ten day period. These talks are most spiritualistic.

So long, folks until next week. D. V. when I hope to be seeing you in Atlantic City for one last swim. I am Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER.

WHO IS GOD—TRUTH

Who is God? Men ask, when on earth's boggy sod,
They seek the path which the saints have trod;
Is He a man? Does He dwell in the sky?
Does He sit on a throne, and rule from on high?

The legends of old picture God as a man;
They are mostly occult, never tell of His plan,
For those who inhabit this great sphere,
Why He made the earth, or why we are here?

That was something which few men knew,
So they gave little credence to the view
That He made it to be a school-house for man,
To learn how to live, and to study His plan.

But that is exactly why we are here—
To me, the answer is quite clear;
There are thousands of things we all must learn,
And eternal life is one thing we must earn.

To weather the storms of the endless day
Man must be perfect in every way;
His "brother's keeper" he is here to be,
And to learn how to practice charity.

The God I worship—fills all space,
Cannot be confined in any one place;
And you are just like Him in embryo;
So, He is always with you wherever you go.

God implants Himself in man at birth;
So, He is his personal God on earth;
As it was with Jesus, so it is with us to-day;
We are meant to be like Him in every way.

We behold God in the plant and the rose;
His, is the physical body of everything which grows;
Everything we see on this green earth
Because of Him has had its birth.

As I once said, the chemist can make a grain of wheat
Which resembles the one we daily eat;
But, if you plant it, it will not grow;
For, God is not in it, to make it do so.

For, "God is Spirit", and the Life of all
Things which exist on this great round ball;
Without Him the animals would not be;
He made them to serve humanity.

If on Morning's wings, I compass the sea,
From His watchful eye I cannot flee;
When I listen to Satan; and, with him, agree,
For, to tell you the truth, He is a part of me.

Even Adam knew that God, and God alone,
Is the one with whom man must atone;
He knew it was vain to try to flee
From One so Great and Wise as He.

God is much more than a fog or a mist,
A fabulous something which does not exist—
(A will-o-the-whisp floating on the air);
His physical body is seen everywhere.

When a man leaves this world of toil and strife
His God goes with him, for He is his life;
A constant friend and companion is He;
And, with Him, he shall spend eternity.

Death is not an enemy; it is a friend,
Since to worry and pain it puts an end;
God has decreed it, so we all shall be
Made fit to live through eternity.

So, back to earth man must return;
It is here the fires of hell still burn!
In God's great school he is fitted to be
A God among gods in eternity.

A single lifespan to short would be
To learn how to live through eternity;
In a land where "a thousand years are as one day"
One must be prepared in every way.

Such is the God on whom I depend
To make this earth heaven when time shall end;
He has promised to make it a paradise for all;
So, here He prepares us, both great and small.

One might write for hours; but, all can see
How God loves and indulges humanity;
In summer He sends the cooling showers
Which give verdure to earth and gladden the flowers.

There is nothing on earth which consoles me so
As to know He is with me every place I go;
When storm-clouds gather, and billows roll,
I know He has them under full control.

None of His creations are greater than He
Who walked on the water at Galilee;
He has all things under full command,
Whether on the sea or on the land.

So, let us give thanks that, to-day we know
From whence we came, and whither we shall go;
Let us hail our Great Leader to be shown the way
All peoples must take to the endless day.

FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

Last week the donkey kicked up his heels and this week the elephant is waving his trunk. We are of course referring to the two political parties which have filled the airways for the past two years. From both conventions comes the world-shaking announcements that the "people's choice" has been nominated, that the platforms have been constructed out of solid oak and should hold everybody and last but far from least the people are to be delivered from greed, corruption and sin. For over one hundred and fifty years now we, the American voter has been saved from something or other, but all most of us want to be saved from is long-winded speeches and political name-calling. There was a time perhaps when it was necessary to treat the voter as a child and present politics to him as a circus. When our nation was young and isolated we had the time to treat politics and conventions lightly and to name candidates as carelessly as we named our children. But that day is over. We should be a matured nation, and because we are in no sense of the word isolated from any other country in the world we must choose our leaders in a more dignified setting than in the past. The Democratic Convention last week was surely a break with the past and may be the Republicans this week will do the same. We sincerely hope so for no longer can we be too concerned with partisan politics—there is too much at stake abroad to allow either party to select any but the best candidate for both the presidential and vice-presidential office. The Democrats surely named the best candidates from their party. We will have to wait a few days longer to see what the Republicans will do about the vice-presidential candidate.

It is estimated that five million Americans suffer from hay-fever and when we use the term suffer it is meant literally because any family with one of its victims in its midst can so testify. We mention hay-fever because for the next 31 days the victims of this affliction will be sneezing the most as rag-weed the chief culprit of this allergy will be giving off its pollen. Every attempt to stamp out ragweed has failed here in America. In European countries where every square inch of land must be used for food, ragweed has been eradicated. There is no cure at present for the allergy, but many drugs help in many cases. One thing can be said about hay-fever—it treats all of its victims alike. The rich suffer the same as the poor if that is any consolation.

We had a nice surprise this week when Mr. Albert Brenneisen, of Wilmington, Delaware dropped in for a visit. He is a person of many talents and interests and his conversation is filled with many amusing incidents. One of the things he talked about was his visit to the New England States and becoming involved in the sale of John Alden's ancestral home by feuding relatives. Mr. Brenneisen is a gifted photographer and we tried to persuade him to take some pictures of our hornet's nest and the busy hornets.

During the last few years there has been a growing tendency to organize baseball teams among children between 8 and 12 years of age, to keep them out of mischief. In the beginning little leagues were organized to give the children something to do and to teach them the fundamentals of baseball and also how to get along together. At present the emphasis on winning has become so strong that many persons are becoming alarmed that competition may endanger the health of young boys. Dr. Thomas E. Shaffer says that small boys cannot be treated as adults. Too often youngsters become frustrated and upset when they cannot win or make the team. The average boy of eight is in the awkward stage and does not know when to stop for rest and relaxation. At this age the bones are growing rapidly but muscle growth lags, which makes the joints vulnerable to injury. Whether it is wise to allow a young boy to play depends a great deal upon the coach or director. If he understands children and has worked with them and knows their limitation then the best results will be obtained. Parents too, should know their small sons well enough to understand whether they are ready for competition and vigorous exercise.

Is waiting up for your teen-agers who go out for the evening too old-fashioned? We never thought so. We have been doing it without a second thought until we were jolted out of our lethargy the other day by a letter. It seems some girls and boys feel that they are being "checked on" if their parents wait up until they come home. It is like being treated as a six year old. We try to look at things from youths viewpoint, but this is one time that we think they have no argument to stand on. Teenagers will "earn" that all through life they will be "checked on" if not by parents, it will be public opinion. In most colleges there is a book one must sign when coming in at night. It isn't a case of not being trusted, but a way letting one know that he or she is being looked after. There are some rules that never become old-fashioned or outdated and one of them is the right of parents to look after their children. Furthermore, instead of girls and boys feeling resentful of "being checked on" it should give them a feeling of security and well-being to know that someone is standing by to help if it is needed.

You, no doubt have heard of split-level homes but have you ever heard of a split-level cake? That's the kind I have been making lately because my stove is not sitting level on the floor.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE SERIES

During the past year or two the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission has been supplying this publication with a series of articles, including illustrations, of Maryland birds, fish and animals, which were more or less regularly published in these pages. This Series No. 1 covered 18 mammals, 37 birds and 23 fish. Later these articles and drawings were made up in book form for use in schools and by individuals, and are available at cost price at the offices of the Commission.

The Commission has now started its series No. 2 covering plant, tree and shrub life, similar in form to the first series and is making them available to us for publication in these pages. It is our intention to use these articles and drawings when space permits as we feel that our readers will be interested; we hope you will read them and like them. This Series No. 2 also will be published in book form later.

* The subject of the first article of this Series is the persimmon, the fruit of which is known by most everyone and consumed by some birds and mammals including humans. The information furnished on each subject will give its range, preferred habitat, description of the subject, its fruit and flowers, if any, and value to wildlife. We are sure you will like them.

OLD FRIEND

There's this about an old friend:
You know each other so well
No use is there to pretend—
No need to "buy" or "sell."

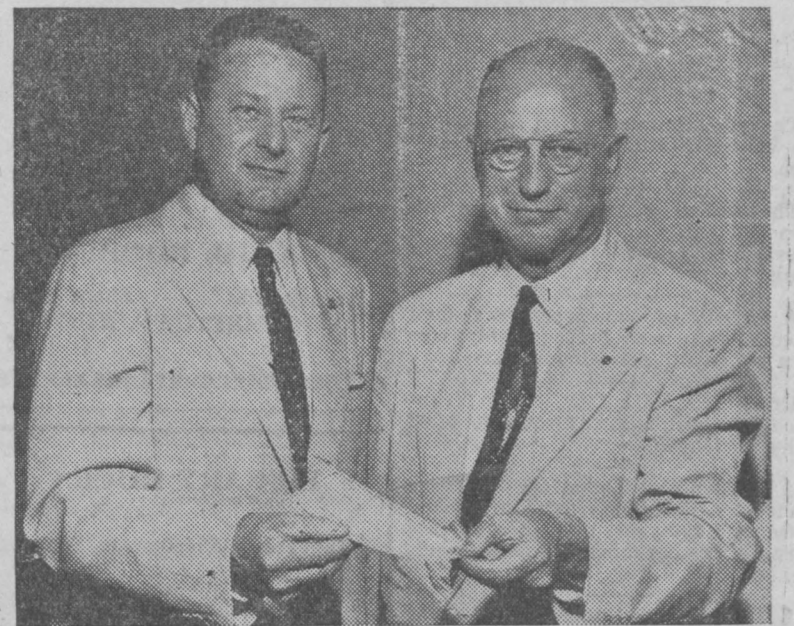

Your joys and triumphs and fears
You share, and lessen the pain
Of ups and downs through the years,
The failures, and trying again.

The good, the bad, and the schemes
Which didn't go as you'd planned;
Those unattainable dreams—
You know that he'll understand.

And if your whole life you spend
To earn the richest reward
Of having one good old friend,
Then you should thank the good Lord!

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Matthew 4:1-11; James 1.
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 6:10-20.

Strength—How?

Lesson for August 26, 1956

THE nine short letters which have been the subject of the Bible studies throughout the Protestant churches of America these past two months are as different among themselves as their writers were different. The 3 letters of John were written by a "mystic," one for whom the things that are unseen are more real than anything the bodily eye can see. The letter of James was written by a man who would probably find himself very much at home in the typical American go-getting, practical-minded church. He deals with many problems in a short-spoken blunt fashion; and the problems are exactly those that an American pastor would run into most often in talking with his people.

Dr. Foreman

Why Must This Happen to ME?

One question preachers are asked pretty often is something like this: "Why must this happen to me? I have been a good citizen, I try to be a good Christian, I do all the good I can . . . and now this has happened." "This" may mean a disappointment, disaster, sickness, trouble of almost any kind. James has a surprising answer. "Count it all joy," he says, when such things happen to you. The reason why trials ought to make us happy instead of sad is that trials make us strong. Of course there are always a few abnormal people who don't want to be strong, or don't care; but it is perfectly normal and right to want to be strong in every possible way. No sensible Christian will want to be healthy in body and mind, and yet be content with being a spiritual weakling.—This does not mean that troubles and trials don't hurt; indeed they do. There's no telling ourselves that we like being hurt—we don't like it. Pain is real, death is real, disappointment and frustration are real. But—James would tell us—let's not whine about such things. Nobody loves to sit in a dentist's chair but all the same, sitting there the patient may well be thankful for dentists. Lying on a bed of pain one may not like the pain but if it is from an operation one may be thankful for the surgeon. So we have every right to thank God for the pains he sends us.

How Does Strength Come?

How does a coach build up a powerful football team? Not by taking the boys out to the field every afternoon in Cadillacs and letting them watch somebody else scrimmage. No strong team ever took a game yet, that had not had a full share of aching muscles, perhaps even broken bones, beforehand. How does a recruit in the army put his muscles into shape? Not by tender words from a sergeant who wouldn't for the world hurt these poor young boys committed to his care. No, the sergeant is tough, and his job is to make the boys tough (this does not in the least mean that they have to be profane or mean or cruel), and you don't toughen up by sitting around. You do it by taking long hikes, hikes a little too long, in fact; lifting loads you'd rather not lift; carrying a pack that you think should have been meant for two men. How do students strengthen their minds? Not by letting the teacher do the work. The most effective teachers are those that make the students live hard. So it is in all walks of life. A strong bank is one that can come through years of depression; any bank can make it on a wave of prosperity. A strong farmer is a farmer who can keep on through drought and grasshoppers and boll weevils and what have you, a man who sticks to it while his weaker neighbors pick up and head for the end of the rainbow. Troubles make strength; without trial there will be no strength.

God Knows What He Is Doing

Some people think.—Yes, this is all very true. But there is such a thing as an overload. What if I am so overloaded I break down? The answer to that should be simple for the thoughtful Christian. One who believes in Providence will believe that no trial comes to any man without God's knowledge, indeed not without God's sending. He knows where we need strength; he knows what it will take to make us strong. One who trusts his life to the true God will be assured that God knows what he is doing. He knows what too much would be; and he does not send it.

SHORT STORY

Paradise Of Birds

By Scotty Ogletree

JEB HOWELL was neither pious nor eloquent, but he was a good man. Only once while I worked for him did I know him to act vengefully. Then he made use of both piety and eloquence.

It came about through Jeb's inordinate fondness for fighting cocks. He had several, and spent much of his leisure in grooming them and pitting them. This last was much deplored by his wife, Martha.

"Only the brute in man," She averred, "prompts him to encourage God's lesser creatures to fight and kill each other." To drive this point home, quite often she would save one of Jeb's roosters from this fate by killing

3-Minute Fiction

"Wait'll you see Blizzard, Tommy. He's a whiz." it herself, and cooking it up in a pot of dumplings.

Whatever witchery Martha practised in her cooking, Jeb's roosters in her dumplings had my unqualified approval. At least one who shared this view was Amos Henderly, who preached at the little community church.

Henderly was young and lank, and I suspect, could smell Martha's cooking at a considerable distance. It was remarkable how often his "just happening by" coincided with the demise of Jeb's pets at Martha's hands.

This day Jeb and I had stopped for dinner. As usual he was talking about his roosters, particularly a young new one he had just acquired.

"Wait'll you see Blizzard, Tommy. He's a whiz. His first fight will be tomorrow, and after that I'll set him against any chicken in this county."

As we reached Blizzard's cage he stopped. I knew by his face what had happened. Then ironically, a wisp of breeze brought the odor of chicken dumplings and the jovial voice of Amos Henderly.

After a crestfallen moment Jeb said feelingly "Tarnation!" Then more quietly, "Tommy, it just don't seem right for Blizzard to go that way." Then Martha hustled him into the kitchen, trying to do the same with me.

There was a scraping of chairs, a sense of bowed heads, then Amos Henderly's voice, calling down blessings on "this household and these fine people whose works are evidence of their worthiness."

There was an individual blessing for the "worker in the field," (me, I guess) and a collective one for the land, the equipment, and everything that contributed to the bounty which "bless to their use, and to the use of this, Thy servant." The "Amen" was strong. I knew that Henderly's had lifted to rest squarely on that big bowl of dumplings. Then Jeb spoke.

"Preacher, I'd like to add a mite to that blessin'."

The sharp intake of Martha's breath was covered by the preacher's puzzled, "Why, of course! Brother Howell." Again the sense of bowed heads, then Jeb's voice, strong and clear.

"Our Lord; it seems like we've left out one important contributor to this occasion. That's Blizzard, as promised a bird as I ever seen. He had spirit, and fire, and would'a made a real fighter. Now I know fighting ain't your way, Lord, but you'll understand, seein' you're the one made game chickens that way. Besides, Blizzard never done no fightin'. He never had a chance. So Lord, if there's any arrangements up there for fightin' roosters, I'm asking you to remember Blizzard. Thank you, Lord. Amen."

Henderly's reply was a mumble of which I caught only the two last words, "potatoes instead." A minute later Martha appeared in the door with a heaping plate, a bead of sweat glistening high on her cheek.

"Eat all you want of these, Tommy." She said. "There's plenty, and no one else seems very hungry. It might be a long time before we have chicken dumplings again."

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Mrs. Smith. Accordingly they are assigned as follows: Pupils of Mrs. Phillips' class to Mrs. Koutz. Mrs. Mohny's to Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Koutz to Miss Jordan. Mrs. Smith's to Mrs. Bair. Miss Jordan's to Miss Shreeve. Mrs. Turner's to Mrs. Lanier. Miss Shreeve's to Mrs. Ellsworth. Mrs. Lanier's to Mrs. Wargny.

Pupils are divided between the first two grades according to age with the dividing line on or near July 1st. The date may vary one way or the other as an attempt is made to keep the classes approximately equal in size. Teachers in grades one and two alternate classes according to age, having one year the younger children and next year the older. This makes one exception in alternating teachers in that each year Mrs. Gass's children go to Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Stonesifer's to Mrs. Mohny. This year Mrs. Gass will teach the older children and Mrs. Stonesifer the younger. First graders are assigned to the following teachers:

Mrs. Gass, Room 1—David Bailey, Roy Bauerlein, Patricia Baumgardner, Margaret Becker, Larry Carr, Deborah Dunn, Gary Eckard, Sharon Fesser, David Ficus, Susan Fogle, Elvin Green, Carol Hamrick, Paul Heffner, Shirley Keilholtz, Anne King, Daniel Little Frances Pittinger, Thomas Riffe, Linda Schaffer, Carroll Shaffer, Steven Spielman, Roy Stambaugh, Donna Simpson, Harold Wantz.

Harney Pupils

Pupils entering the fourth grade from Harney school are assigned as follows: To Mrs. Bair-Rickey Clingan, Barbara Ann Kiser, Kenneth Leister; to Miss Jordan-Ellen Ridinger, George Bower, John Shriver.

First Grade Dismissal

Beginners in grade one will be dismissed at 1:45 p. m. from Sept. 4th through Sept. 21. Parents may call for pupils at that time. No first grade pupil will be allowed to walk home alone. They may, of course, walk home with parents. Town children whose parents do not call for them and bus pupils will be kept in classrooms until regular dismissal time.

Nation-wide Test Results

Every year prior to the close of school, pupils in the sixth grade are given the California Achievement Tests in reading and arithmetic. According to his mark, a child is graded in terms of grade placement. Tests were given in the 6th year, 8th month and a child achieving a score equal to the national average would, therefore, receive a grade placement of 6-8. It is encouraging to note that an average of the two sixth grade medians totaled approximately 7-0 in both reading and arithmetic.

Cafeteria

Lunches will be served on the first day of school as usual. Cost of the complete plate lunch including milk will be 25 cents. Beginners in the first grade will be helped with their trays by upper grade pupils. The school is again participating in a special milk program sponsored by the federal government whereby individual ½ pints of milk will be sold to pupils for 3 cents. Parents are urged to avail themselves of either the plate lunch or special milk program, or both. Weekly lunch tickets may be purchased for $1.25. Mrs. Shorb lists the menu for Tuesday, the first day of school as follows: Barbeque sandwich, potato sticks, buttered green beans, fruit, ½ pint milk.

Accident Insurance

Accident insurance for pupils will be available again this year at a cost of $1.25 per pupil, and parents should consider the advantages of this low cost insurance. With an enrollment of over 400 pupils it would seem that our accident rate is low inasmuch as only ten claims were submitted last year totaling approximately $98.00. However, some years are better than others. Last year over fifty percent of our pupils were insured and it is hoped that the percent of coverage will increase this year.

Polio Shots

Two polio shots were administered by the health department through the schools. Parents whose children were vaccinated at school are reminded that they are responsible for providing the third shot. Contact your local physician or the clinic at the Health Center in Westminster.

Organizations

Parents are cordially invited to attend all meetings of the Parent-Teacher Association which meets on the third Tuesday of each month at 8 p. m. and the Parent-Study Group which meets on the first Wednesday of each month at 1:15 p. m.

FRANK WARGNY, Principal.

THE POTTERY EXHIBIT

The pottery exhibit held at the home of the Historical Society of Carroll county on the afternoon of August 16 was largely attended. Valuable specimens of antique pottery were exhibited by 32 members from the following districts: Westminster, New Windsor, Taneytown, Hampstead, Manchester and Uniontown.

Among the interesting pieces known to have been made by Carroll County potters were: A bowl, "Made by T. Crawford, Potter, 1812". This bowl of 2 gallon size, inside glaze, fluted rim and ear handles was exhibited by Mrs. Frank Haines, Uniontown. T. Crawford plied his trade on the Smelter Mill road between Uniontown and New Windsor. A small crock made by Samuel Crouse and given to Addie McKellip in 1865, mother of Miss Clara Brining, Taneytown. Samuel Crouse was located in Taneytown. A large strawberry jar marked "S. H. Nickey, manufacturer of rustic and antique work, 1880. Mrs. Edgar Nusbaur, New Windsor.

A piece of local interest (potter unknown) was a mottled red ware bowl that had belonged to Mrs. Fanny Bish Royer and exhibited by Mrs. John W. Smith, Uniontown. This dish according to the penciled inscription by Mrs. Royer on the back was used at the Meadow Branch Church of the Brethren at an 1847 lovefeast.

Another dish at Pipe Creek Church of the Brethren lovefeasts for many years was a slipware piece exhibited by Mrs. Robert Cairns, Jr., New Windsor.

Other Carroll County potters who worked during the 19th century were: George Trumb and son located on E. Main St., Westminster, beyond the Manchester road. Van Worder near New Windsor and John Wike, born in Germany in 1840 emigrated with his parents to this country and had a shop on his father's farm between Manchester and Snydersburg. Wike brought all the red clay for his products from Pennsylvania. His wares were sold locally.

The exhibit ranged in size from the small 1½-in. jug to the 3 gallon size; small bowl to the large bread bowl and included beautiful specimens of Bennington ware, slipware, earthenware and salt glass.

In the absence of Miss Eugenia Holland, who was unable to be present, Mrs. John W. Smith, Taneytown, Mrs. Robert Cairns, Jr., New Windsor, along with other exhibitors told interesting stories of their collections and as much of the history as available.

Refreshments were served in the 19th century garden by the following hostesses: Mrs. Milson Raver, Finksburg; Mrs. Robert Shower, Manchester; Mrs. Bernard D. Seiverts, Hampstead; Mrs. Edwin A. Englar and Miss Margaret Snader, New Windsor; Miss Sue Billingslea, Miss Madeline Geiman, and Mrs. Norman Hunter, Westminster.

A HARVEST TREAT

A harvest treat was held at the home of Harry Fogle, Friday evening, Aug. 17 at which 39 attended, and delicious refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Ausherman and children Irene and Lewis, Detour; Mrs. Maria Syfer and son Benny, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. John Eyer, Liberty; Mrs. Harry Eyer and daughter, Mary Louise, Walkersville; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fogle and children, Darlene, Junior and Wanda, Keymar; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Valentine and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fogle and daughter, Diane, Emmitsburg; Marie Fogle and Mr. and Mrs. George Warner and children, Sammy and Joan, Taneytown; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Buffington and children, Eddie and Barbara and Nancy Buffington, Union Bridge; Mrs. Isabelle Buffington and Hazel Settle, Frederick; James Rinehart, Littlestown; Catherine Fogle, Myrtle Eyer, Mrs. Milton Eyer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fogle and Dutch, Taneytown. All had an enjoyable evening.
