JAYCEES MEETING

Chapter Was Honored By Presence of State Officers

President Edward Sauble presided over the regular monthly meeting at the Legion Home on Monday evening. Secretary Thomas Phillips read the minutes of the last meeting. The treasurer's report was given by John Myers. The chapter was honored by the attendance of the Md. State President George Snyder, who remarked on the intended activities and projects of the state organization. Other guests present were Mr. Donald Weller, Chairman of the State Ways & Means Committee; Paul Dell, President of the Westminster Jaycees and Andy Shawl, also of Westminster. The president appointed the necessary committees for the year ending May 31, 1957. It was explained that the work of these various committees is what makes a success of an organization of this type. Everyone present was urged to do his utmost in cooperation and hard work. The committees were as follows:

Profit making: Harry Dougherty, Chairman; Delmont Koons, Jr., Robert Boone, Clarence Harner, Martin Smith, Russell Walker.

Membership: John Harner, Chairman; John Myers, William Copenhagen, Glenn Lookingbill.

Chaplains: James Fair, Herbert Bowers.

Publicity: Marlin L. Rittase, Chairman; James Fair, George Fream, Robert Waddell.

Special Activities: Thomas Phillips, Chairman; Earl Lookingbill, Ray Copenhagen, Keith Brown, Eugene Vaughn, Glenn Bollinger, Herbert Bowers.

It was announced that several members attended a meeting of the Gettysburg Jaycees this month. Also President Sauble was at the State Board meeting at Westminster on August 18.

A letter was read from the Hanover Jaycees inviting the chapter to participate in the Halloween parade coming up soon.

The chapter wishes to express its gratitude to the firemen for the invitation to their annual picnic.

It was brought to the attention of the members that a meeting of the Mid-Atlantic conference of Jaycees will be held Sept. 21, 22 and 23 at Wilmington, Del. Among the many activities and entertainment will be a session of forums on the many subjects of interest in conjunction with Jaycee work. All Jaycees are invited to attend.

Among items discussed during the evening was one of the Jaycees' most important national projects, the sponsoring of the Voice of Democracy contest in which all 10th, 11th and 12th grade students in public, private and parochial schools are eligible to participate. The four national winners each receive a $500 scholarship and a gold recording of the winning script. It was decided to look further into the possibility of sponsoring this project in Taneytown.

A special meeting will be held Thursday, Aug. 30 when the State Vice President will be present to discuss future problems and activities with the members. All officers and committee chairmen are urged to be present at this meeting.

The next regular monthly meeting in September will be a dinner meeting at which all new members will be treated to a free banquet. The program committee for this meeting consists of George Fream, chairman, with Earl Lookingbill and John Myers assisting.

CONGREGATION TO NOTE DEDICATION

Mr. David Reifsnider will sing "Hear My Cry, O Lord" by Wooler as a solo, and a duet, "Seek Ye the Lord" by Lansing will be rendered by Mr. and Mrs. George Motter.

This fine choir which is widely recognized for its splendid rendition of sacred music deserves the praise and support of the congregation and all those of the community interested in the ministry of music.

SCHOOLS WILL OPEN TUESDAY

An Enrollment of 9750 Pupils Anticipated for Carroll County

The Carroll County Board of Education announces through the county office in Westminster that the public schools of the county will re-open for the school year 1956-57 on Tuesday, September 4. Schools will hold full sessions on the first day and thereafter.

An enrollment of approximately 9750 pupils is anticipated in twenty schools with a teaching staff of 381 to 385 teachers.

School authorities urge that parents have their pupils enter on the first day and be in regular attendance. Those transferring from one school to another or from another system should bring evidence of their attendance in 1955-56.

A total of 80 teachers will be new to the system.

Preliminary planning for school since early in 1956 and meetings are being held during week of August 27 to August 31 for the purpose of organization and orientation.

On August 27, 9 a. m., all school principals and vice principals met with Superintendent S. M. Jenness in an administrative meeting devoted to details of organization. Later, on same date this group met for professional discussions with supervisors, Mrs. Margaret M. Bailer, Miss Ruth DeVore, Mr. Charles Reck, Mr. Gerald Richter, Mr. Philip Royer and Mrs. Josephine West.

On August 28 a special meeting was held for teachers of general education under direction of high school supervisors.

On August 29 all teachers new to the county met with superintendent and supervisors for a planning session in Westminster High School.

The entire county teaching staff met on August 30, 9 a. m., at the new North Carroll High School for a professional meeting at which Dr. Edward McNeerney, Penn State University, was the principal speaker.

The meeting of the new teachers on Aug. 29 featured Miss Dorothy Shires, State Dept. of Education, as speaker on the subject "Social Climate of the Classroom."

On Thursday afternoon, Aug. 30, and on Friday, August 31, all teachers report to schools for planning and preparation for school opening September 4.

Schools will be closed October 18, 19, for meeting of Maryland State Teachers Association, on November 6 (Election Day), on November 21, 22 (Thanksgiving)-December 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 31, Jan. 1, 2, 3, 4, (Christmas and New Year holidays).

Pupils entering first grade must have attained the age of six on or before December 31, 1956, and must be vaccinated. Parents are urged to have first graders checked by their physician prior to entrance.

School officials extend greetings to both parents and pupils and express the hope that 1956-57 may be a happy and profitable year for pupils and teachers.

A leading cancer researcher said Tuesday that if there were half the evidence that the Brooklyn Bridge was unsafe as there is evidence linking smoking to lung cancer, the bridge would be shut down.

HEALTH FOR ALL

"A Dillar, A Dollar . . ."
...a ten o'clock scholar.

What makes you come so soon? You used to come at ten o'clock, And now you come at noon." In my nursery rhyme book, this gem of poetry was illustrated with a picture of a small boy dragging his books in the dust as he reluctantly took the path to school.

The meaning was never clear to me until I had one of those sarcastic teachers who, if she taught me anything, taught me that grownups don't always say what they mean. I will remember the day I was late for school and she asked me, "Aren't you a little early—for recess?"

Tardiness is, no doubt, a great trial to teacher. But it is of equal or more concern to parents. It can be a symptom of serious trouble. With some children, it probably means no more than an undeveloped time sense. A little boy stops to watch the activity in an ant hill. He truly has no idea of the length of time he stares in fascination. But with others, like the lad in my nursery rhyme book, tardiness undoubtedly means reluctance. They don't want to go to school. Why?

Most children like to go to school. If they are reluctant, there is usually a good reason—something that prevents them from enjoying school, from working and playing with other children of their age.

More often than you'd think, the trouble is physical. The child can't see or hear well enough. Or he tires quickly. He probably doesn't know what's the matter and can't describe it. But parents can and should make sure that Junior is in good physical shape before he starts off to school. Be sure that he has a thorough physical examination including hearing and sight checks. If the doctor says glasses are necessary, see that he wears them. A substantial breakfast—but one not so heavy as to make him dull—should start the day. "Early to bed" should end the day.

With basic good health, Junior should trot off to school eagerly and take part happily and successfully in the day's routine. If he still has trouble, it's time to look for possible emotional problems. Teacher will be glad to sit down and try to discover the trouble with you.

TANETOWN SCHEDULES TWO EXHIBITION GAMES

The Taneytown team of the Penn-Mar League has scheduled a pair of exhibition contests with Littlestown team of the South Penn. League. Thursday the two teams will collide at Littlestown Memorial Field in a game starting at 7:15 p. m. On Sunday at 2 p. m. the clubs meet on the Taneytown Memorial Park field.

Cashtown upset Blue Ridge Summit's champs, 7-6, and the Penn-Mar League concluded regular-season competition avoiding any tie for a first division spot.

The triumph, only the second non-forefeit success against Blue Ridge, assured Cashtown of second money, despite Fairfield's convincing 18-6 conquest of Union Bridge.

In other action, Taneytown nipped New Oxford, 3-2, and Emmitsburg belted New Windsor, 18-3. The winners wound up in a tie for fifth.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Blue Ridge Summit	17	4	.810
Cashtown	14	7	.667
Fairfield	13	8	.619
Union Bridge	11	10	.524
Taneytown	10	11	.476

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The clock on the steel pier has its hands pointing to 10:45 and Your Observer is seated in the reclining chair on the beach with the umbrella overhead. These items, I bring along each year for the week spent in the World's Playground by The Seal.

Many are in bathing suits at this very moment enjoying those rough waves and many individuals just lying around on the sand getting broiled and baked. Not for this columnist as I do everything to prevent getting sun burned. My attire is a bathing suit always relaxing for a full hour or so before getting the big swim.

The sun is a delightfully warm one especially after the cold and rainy day of yesterday. There is a cold air blowing and many are placing on outer garments to prevent an after chill.

I have been remaining for many years each summer at "The Carolina Crest" on S. North Carolina Ave., which is not quite a city block from the ocean and across the street from Haddon Hall. This place has always been under the same type of management all down through the years. Breakfast of choice foods is served in your room (and that appeals to most every individual). The only thing that one misses of the passing years is the morning newspaper at the door and the shoe shine. There is a certain charm in the atmosphere of home right here in this hotel with the comfortable and massive lobbies with the T.V. as one enters. When once you remain here, you will always desire to return.

On the beach, just now a few boys called out "Morning papers—all about Bing Crosby! Read on page 14!" In no time at all the boys sold their papers and I, too, was gullible! The news? The big ad of the movie, "High Society" (now playing in Baltimore) with the new princess, Grace Kelly, Frank Sinatra, Cole Porter and Bing! Cute? Those boys must have thought that one up themselves!

On the boardwalk last night, I observed immediately that "Black is back", ladies, for the fall and the fashions are truly beautiful. There are many sales of the summer stock right now and the stores are doing a big business.

I observed something else, folks—the manner and attire of the girl teen-ager along the boardwalk—peddle pushers, slacks, blue jeans, shorts and much less instead of the proper dress. If I were a teen-ager, I think I would start the fad of dressing properly and that way others would follow suit. Eh? Boys do not admire girls who dress in the former manner and have been frank enough to admit it to Your Observer and that was in the presence of the girls, too!

The show, "Ice Capades", is here right now which I saw in the stadium in Baltimore several weeks ago which I enjoyed more so than other years here due, no doubt, to the sky as the canopy!

Antonio Rocca will be the headliner in the bout on Saturday night in the big Convention Hall.

Mrs. Housewife, just think of this one—all along in New Jersey—eggs for the price of four dozen for one dollar! Watermelons, huge ones, 3 for a dollar! There are so many chicken farms in the state of New Jersey.

Having dinner the other evening in the Y.W.C.A., noticed the following in the lobby which I know all of you will love!

WORDS

A careless word may kindle strife,
A cruel word may wreck a life,
A bitter word may smite and kill,
A gracious word may smooth the way
A joyous word may light the day,
A timely word may lessen strife,
A loving word may heal and bless!
"Soft answer turneth away wrath:
but grievous words stir up anger".
Prov. 15:1.

So long, folks. Have a grand week end. Be careful when you drive and remember always to "Slow up and live!" Will be seeing you next week D. V. I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

OUR UNSUNG LEADERS OF YOUTH

Opening of schools will find more than 2,500,000 youngsters taking their seats in the bands and orchestras that are now a basic part of school life. These youngsters are the favored children of America, for they not only will be gaining the blessings of music in their lives—they will be gaining the influence of those anonymous builders of fine citizens, the bandmasters.

Too much attention is given to the small percentage of young people who find destructive outlets for their creative urge. For more of our young people are learning to direct this urge and to enrich their lives with it—under the patient, friendly and firm guidance of the men and women who direct not only the music but the development of their students.

According to the Selmar Music Research Center, there will be more than 60,000 bands and orchestras in our schools this year. Each will be under the guidance of a man or woman who is a teacher, a musician, a confident, a leader, and an organizer for many young people in their formative years—all on a modest teacher's salary.

America can be thankful for these selfless bandmasters who are making certain that the next generation will be worthy of leadership and capable of living happy lives.—Winnifred S. Taylor.

THE CAMPAIGN BEGINS

"I humbly but confidently accept" said Dwight David Eisenhower to the delegates before him in San Francisco's Cow Palace—to the millions more watching him on television and listening by radio. His speech accepting the rigors and the tensions of another campaign, and if successful, four more years of the hardest job in the world, was over.

But a moment later, the President of the United States was back at the microphones, facing the crowd whose first real excitement had come in the closing hour of the Convention. "I have to make an announcement," he said. "Irving Berlin is going to lead us all in singing God Bless America." All did. There was a prayer, adjournment sine die, and all filed out—after Ike and Mamie.

Up to that last hour the Republican National Convention of 1956 was a model of precision, of decorum, or dutiful "demonstrations" with no surprises other than a none-too-welcome address by Harold Stassen and a rebellious delegate's effort to nominate a mythical Joe Smith for Vice President. But with the arrival of the Presidential motorcade, pulses quickened. As Ike and Mamie stood together on the rostrum, a genuine, grade A bedlam broke loose. And as the President delivered a fighting speech on "the Party of the Future," and urged independents and "discerning Democrats" to "come in and help," the whole nation witnessed an electrifying spectacle—an Eisenhower aged far beyond the years that have passed since his first acceptance speech, but speaking with a fire and vigor and assurance his countrymen had never seen before.

He predicted victory—but departed from his script to warn his hearers that there are only a few days more for registration in many states, that registration figures are deplorably low and urged everyone to "help get people registered."

The campaign is on, and clearly Ike is in it—up to the hilt.—Robert N. Taylor.

RIGHT-TO-WORK IN KANSAS

The Republican gubernatorial primary in Kansas was hard fought. A dominant issue was the right-to-work law—the law which provides that a man can join or not join a union if he so chooses, and that he shall have the right to work at his trade in either case.

In this Kansas primary, the incumbent governor opposed the law. He was beaten by a man who supported it.

Long ago, the indefensible practice followed by some employers of black-balling union members was outlawed. The practice of making a man join a union in order to support himself and his family is blackballing in principle and equally indefensible.—Industrial News Review.

KEYNOTES FOR AMERICANS

We can't seem to remember what it was that Governor Langlie told the Republican Convention—except that the first half sounded pretty good but was cancelled out by the dreary recital of Democratic shortcomings in the second half. To these long-suffering ears, the Republican keynoters were the Messrs. Hoover (the elder) and Knowland.

Our revered former president, in his third "farewell address" before a GOP convention, warned against "menacing idea" and listed them as "communism, fascism, atheism, aggressive nationalism, centralization of government away from men's control, and that veiled sister of communism—legalistic socialism."

"Today," he said, "the greatest issue in America, is the encroachment of Government to master our lives."

Declared Temporary Chairman William F. Knowland, "The longer I have served in public life—in the Legislature and in the United States Senate—the stronger a believer and supporter of the principle of states' rights I have become." And again: "I have a deep conviction that if, as Americans of this generation, we only use the same courage and common sense that motivated the men who sat at Philadelphia and gave us first, our Declaration of Independence, and later our Constitution; there are none of our domestic problems we can not solve and there is no foreign foe we need ever fear."

Senator Knowland assured his hearers that the Administration and the Party "believe in our Constitutional system with its limited powers in the Federal Government and its reserved powers belonging to the states and to the people thereof."

He urged "Democrats of good will" to join in "the preservation, protection and advancement of the American way of life," and added: "I believe the spirit of that great Republican and American statesman, the late and highly revered Senator Bob Taft, should motivate us all in the days ahead. He knew that a party based on principle could survive temporary defeat, change of leadership or factional contests."

Or—as former President Hoover observed: "... there are some members of both parties who are out of their spiritual home."—Washington Exclusive.

THE PRODIGAL RETURNS

Suspending the rules which require unanimous consent of the delegates for an outsider to take the rostrum, Chairman Joe Martin deprived the Republican Convention of the right to deny or the privilege of booing Harold Stassen—or both. Instead, following the Chairman's casual introduction as a seconder of Vice-President Nixon's renomination, the delegates applauded—perhaps automatically, and perhaps without recognizing the most unpopular man in San Francisco.

But now, we thought, we shall be able to compare the crow-eating propensities and techniques of the "Secretary of Peace" and the Man from Independence. As Stassen stalked—urging independent voters, union members, minority groups and younger voters to join with him "cheerfully and wholeheartedly in accepting the results of the Convention"—it gradually dawned on us that he was not eating crow at all. He was building up the importance of his work (for peace) in the Cabinet, buttering up the Boss so as to be sure he could go back on the payroll Monday morning—and saying just enough about Richard Nixon, the man he failed to destroy, to qualify as a seconder.

Further, Mr. Stassen left himself in position to accept credit for whatever happens. If there's a Republican victory, he is the man who abandoned his high-minded, last-minute search for a candidate that would attract the elements mentioned above, and restored party harmony. If the GOP should lose, he will be the prophet who was figuratively stoned for his warnings and his patriotic efforts to bolster the ticket.

Mr. Stassen said he spoke "with all humility." We didn't observe any.—U. S. Press Association.

living
by LUCY P. GAVIN

Looking through some old recipes the other day, I ran across one that used to be my favorite summer meal when I was a kid. On hot summer days when no one felt like eating a thing, mom would cook up a big bowl of cherry soup and dumplings in the afternoon — chill it — and serve it cold for dinner.

Just the thought of the delicious wine red soup and tender dumplings soaked in cherry broth was enough to tantalize my taste buds. And since my own family has a "sweet tooth" I decided to try out cherry soup on them — And did it ever make a hit!

Here's the recipe, copied from grandma's own file:

1 qt. box fresh sour cherries (not pitted)
1 1/2 qts. cold water
1/2 cup sugar
Pinch of salt

Bring to a boil and let boil until skins break. Turn flame low and add dumplings.

Dumplings: Beat 1 egg lightly, adding a pinch of salt and butter the size of a hickory nut; then add 1 tablespoon milk, 1/2 teaspoon sugar. Stir in 1/4 teaspoon baking powder and enough flour to make a soft batter. Drop from end of teaspoon into boiling soup and cook about 2 minutes. Cool in refrigerator — and serve cold.

Chilled soups, salads, fruit juices, cold meats and seafood are regular summer meals at our house. I've learned to add an elegant touch by serving cold foods surrounded by ice.

A regular set of glassware "icers" comes in handy for chilled consommé or seafood cocktails but I have lots of fun making up my own ice servers, too.

To make an attractive relish tray, I line my favorite roll basket with heavy aluminum foil. Then fill it with finely crushed ice and arrange carrot curls, olives, celery hearts, green onions, radishes, green pepper rings, cucumber slices and small hot peppers — paying particular attention to color contrasts.

Ordinary glass baking dishes make fine ice servers, too. Fill the dish with crushed ice and then place glasses of fruit juice in the ice and serve on a buffet table.

I was inspired to use a lot of ice because of the automatic ice server in my new LP-Gas refrigerator. It's actually a miniature ice making machine built right in the freezing compartment. We never have to fill ice trays or struggle with removing cubes at our house. Interesting ice circles are always available — one at a time or by the bucketful.

My husband and I have always been intrigued by the silent operation of gas refrigeration and when we planned to use LP-Gas for heating and cooking we decided to hitch up our refrigerator to our back yard "gas well" too. As a bonus we developed a new "yen" for all sorts of iced drinks and chilled foods.

Leaving Frederick, through Winchester, Va. and Clarksburg and Parkersville, W. Va., over the Saddleback Mountains, crossing the Ohio River to Belpe, O., through the Coal Groves, crossed the Big Sandy River to Ashland, Ky. Here we passed through the one-lane rock tunnel about 800 ft. long under the mountain, on to Natural Bridge (which is 30 ft x 50 ft. at base, and 100 ft. in the clear), near Slade, Ky.; on to Lexington and Winchester to the Blue Grass Farms. Visited Calumet Horse Farms, saw the great race horses "Citation and Ponder." These farms were beautiful.

Toured the New State Capitol at Frankfort, Ky., considered the most beautiful State Capital in the U. S. A. The old capital building is used for a museum. On to Louisville, stopped at "Lee Terminal Standiford Air Field," saw many planes ascend and descend. Then on to "Churchill Downs" the home of the Kentucky Derby. After touring the Philip Morris and Marlboro Cigarette Factory; to Bardonia joined a hostess tour through Stephen Fosters, "My Old Kentucky Home." Next to Berea, Ky. and viewed the Drama, "Wilderness Road" (second season) Mountain side Theatre, capacity 2000. Average 800 nightly from May until Sept. 3). Here we visited the Church Hill Weavers and Pottery of Berea, College at Loomhouse. This is a self supporting college, students operating all industrial phases), through Renfro Valley, the home of the "Barn Dance"; in the "Great Cumberland Falls"; "National Park"; then to Oak Ridge Museum, (World's Only Atomic Energy Museum) on to Chattanooga, Tennessee. Quite a city indeed.

W. Va., Pa., Ala., Ga., and N. C.). On to the "Fields of the Wood" tiny trees growing; then to Iron Ore and Copper Mines through the section extinct to vegetation due to sulphur fumes for many miles. The old Mundig Bluff and Flume Line, used to float logs down the mountain was interesting near Murphy; then to Bryson City and the National Cherokee Indian Reservations.

Remained for the Drama, "Unto these Hills" given by the Cherokee Indians. Seventh season. Mountaintop Theater. Seating capacity 1800. Cherokee, N. C.; Leaving the Oconaluftee Indian Village 3000 inhabitants as life 200 years ago, we drove across the "Great Smoky Mountains National Park" to Newfound Gap. The Smokies are about equally divided between Tenn. and N. Carolina. Saw many black bears, also the "crockett chair—lift at Newfound Gap. at "Fort Weare Live Animal Museum" we saw an Indian giving an elephant a bath. Then we decided we had seen everything. So started home by Newport, Johnson City, Bristol, Tenn to Staunton, Winchester, Va. to Frederick, Md.

FUNDS APPROVED FOR IMPROVED TELEPHONE SERVICE

The board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland in its regular meeting (August 27) approved expenditures of $3,900,000 for expanding and improving telephone service in Maryland.

To meet the tremendous demand for service in the southern section of Baltimore, $1,660,000 has been appropriated for dial switching equipment in a new telephone building to be erected in the Brooklyn area. The total cost of this expansion project is estimated at $2,900,000.

For the installation of new cables and underground conduits to serve an increasing number of telephones, the board approved an expenditure of $376,000 in the Essex area and the Milford Mill Road section of Pikesville.

Expenditures totaling $125,000 will be made for aerial and underground cable to meet demand for additional service in southwest Baltimore and nearby suburbs.

For the Ridgeway exchange, $89,000 was appropriated for additional equipment in connection with the $785,000 project now underway to enlarge facilities serving the Catonsville area.

Along Chesapeake Avenue in Towson, approval was given for aerial cable and poles to be erected at a cost of $83,400. In the Forest and Cockeysville exchanges, $65,000 will provide for additional cable to expand outside wire facilities.

In other areas in the state, a total of $189,500 will be spent to expand telephone facilities. For Silver Run in Western Maryland, $51,000 was approved for a new building and dial switching equipment to provide for more telephone service. Along Aaron Run Road in the Westernport section, $17,000 was approved for wire and poles to care for growth. An appropriation of $65,000 for four additional switchboards and equipment was made for the connection of additional telephone lines in Severna Park.

To provide telephone service to new homes in the Maryland area suburban to Washington, $174,000 will be spent for the installation of aerial and underground cable and to increase the capacity of the Hyattsville dial center.

GENERAL SYNOD OF E & R CHURCH TO MEET

Delegates of the 34 Synods to the Evangelical and Reformed Church General Synod which will meet from this Friday until September 7 at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Penna. may take action that will in effect put their church out of existence as a separate denomination.

The most important item of business scheduled for the week-long session will be the discussion and vote on the proposed union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church with the Congregational Christian Churches.

The proposal, which would combine the two denominations into one group to be called the United Church of Christ, now awaits only the approval by the Evangelical and Reformed Church. The Congregational Christian Churches meeting in Omaha, Nebraska, earlier this summer, voted their approval of the plan.

According to Dr. James E. Wagner, president of the denomination, "There is a very real possibility that Lancaster this summer may be the scene of the last General Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church."

If the church votes its approval of the proposed union, the two denominations will meet in June of 1957 in Cleveland, Ohio, to formally unite and to write the constitution of the new United Church.

This proposed step is recognized in Christianity as one of the major steps of faith being taken by the Church of Christ as a step closer to His dream as he expressed himself in his high-priestly prayer in John 17—"that they may all be one."

THOUGHTS FOR THOUGHT

Every well-regulated life receives and maintains its direction through disciplinary observances.

Religion without spiritual content is as empty as an egg-crate without eggs.

Why the difference? "Someone has said that one should pray once before going to sea, twice before going into battle, and thrice before selecting a wife."

In any sense a Displaced Person may be defined as one a long way from home.

Power and armament apart from the Divine Commander cannot guarantee a people permanent security.

Comparison in the hands of the invidious can be a deadly weapon.

Too many people yield to despair when they take a stand for the right and have to stand alone.

A man went to consult a psychiatrist about his inferiority complex. He became more "complexed" when told, "You don't have an inferiority complex, you actually are inferior."

To talk with the Unseen Companion on a trip would prevent many wrecks by otherwise reckless drivers.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Feeser and son Paul, Jr., Mrs. Margaret Feeser, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Feeser and son Richard, Mrs. Verna Deberry and Mrs. Maude Fox. THE EARTH AND MAN

The story about the creation of Adam and Eve, Like the "Garden of Eden," is hard to believe; For, if there was no Garden of Eden, as they say, Man and the earth were made the same way.

The scriptures tell us, "God spake: and it was done", As with Adam, so it is with everyone; Ever since man first appeared on earth He has come by way of physical birth.

Since that is true of all things which exist; Why then, was man left off the list? If God made Adam and Eve out of clay, Then He made the animals the very same way.

But that is not true of the God I know; You can see how He works, wherever you go; Our God does not practice legerdemain; To all who know Him, that is quite plain.

The truth is, man pictured God as they would do If they had a similar job to put through; But God is not a Potter who manipulates clay; His methods differ from ours in every way.

People of old pictured God as a man— (They did not know of His great plan);— But, God is Spirit; He dwells everywhere, Both on the earth and in the air.

They thought the Sun and the moon which shone Were only made for this earth alone; But, God made them light and heat to give To eight other planets that they too might live.

They knew not that, for man to be complete, God must be in him—closer than hands or feet, For He is the Life and the health of all Who dwell on this terrestrial ball.

It may sound conceited; but, I can see How God, with man, shall always be; He implants Himself in us at birth, So He is our personal God on earth.

In that way, the God in you and the God in me, Shall reign through time and eternity, To me, this truth is simply sublime, For, God shall be with us all the time.

Even the birds which soar in the sky Can not escape His watchful eye; Since He gives to them the power of flight, They can never be out of His sight.

What I am saying may to some seem odd Since we all are told so much about God; But, God does not work the way man say; His wonders are done in a different way.

We ourselves, create the bodies you see to-day By the thoughts we think and the words we say; This is a mental world; so, you see, Things which appear are the things we decree.

Everyone has a right to have his own views Concerning God, and the path he shall choose To find Him; and should know the truth, About things he was told in early youth.

From the way man talk, it is not hard to see Why, on Biblical matters, they fail to agree; Says the skeptic, "Where did Cain get his wife"? There were many maidens at his time of life.

Ages before Adam and Eve had their birth Millions of people were here on earth; Things did not start when Adam was born, That was only the dawn of another morn.

Among those who lived in an age long ago, Adam, like Noah, was the last to know; So God started with him a family tree Which includes the names of you and me.

The Garden of Eden, of which we are told, Was an allegory taught in days of old; Man's body, that Garden shall always be; And, in it, he shall dwell through eternity.

Of the far distant past little is known; The winds of time its records have blown Into the sea of oblivion; the truth is all we know Occurred less than six thousand years ago.

The earth itself is two billion years old— Many fantastic stories about it are told; But its real history the things we know, Are of recent date as the ages go.

In our story-books we read of the "Age of Gold", Of its many enchantments, we are told; But that all took place years ago, Of the day and the year, we do not know.

Edons was the last of old ages of which we know; And, like former ages, it too had to go; From the patriarch Job, it got its fame, And it's knowledge all went to Egypt, they claim.

And so it has been through all the ages of Time, When one age went down, another would climb; They all shared the fate of the one before; So that is what happened in days of yore.

The age when Adam came on the scene Will be the greatest which has ever been; It will be the last of the ages governed by man; Henceforth, things shall follow God's great plan.

The "Golden Age" must have preceded this; For, at no time since, has such ineffable bliss So ravished the hearts of women and men As history tells us it did then.

At the very beginning of our six thousand year day, Enoch was an astronomer, they say; Where did he get his knowledge of the stars? It must have come from the age before ours.

The ancient astronomers among the Sarants are classed; Their erudition has never been surpassed; They could figure ahead thousands of years; So, in our day, they have no peers.

Then, take the prophets who lived in days of old, Just think of the marvelous things they told! How the earth shall furnish its own light, Of constant day, and never more night.

To achievements of the past, little credence is given; But authentic proof has sometimes driven Men to concede, that the ancients had a better way Of doing some things than we have to-day.

They made swords which could cut another in two, That, alone, was one thing we can not do; To us it seems fantastic, but to them it was real, For they knew the secret of temporing steel.

Common sense tells us these bodies of ours, Which droop and fade just like the flowers, Could not forever continue to be; So, perfection is a law of eternity.

He who jokes about "Reincarnation" does not know From whence came, or whither he shall go; Through mercy God sends him back to earth To try again through another birth.

Gradually, he shall learn to know Things are far from perfect here below; So, this earth is God's school-room where all must be Taught to practice love and charity.

So, man must return to Mother Earth; And, try again, through another birth, To know God better; and, study the plan Which shall someday make him a perfect man.

There is only one door to the planet earth, And that is by way of physical birth; Many persons remember having been here before; That, too, is a truth we must not ignore.

Jesus is the Pattern, which God gave to man; To emulate Him in a part of His plan; So, both you and I like Jesus must be Else we could not live through eternity.

As the tree which stands in the storm-cloud's path Must train its roots to encounter its wrath, So man must prepare in every way To weather the storms of The endless day.

Royal Law

Lesson for September 2, 1956

"LOVE your neighbor" is called the "Royal Law" once in the Bible. It becomes and is the royal law only when all of it is meant: Love your neighbor as yourself. Everybody loves his neighbor a tiny bit. At least you don't want to see his house burn down, and if you heard that his children had been eaten by an alligator, you would have (it is hoped) some tinge of regret. But loving your neighbor as yourself—ah, that is something quite a lot harder to do.

Dr. Foreman

But the Royal Law demands that we love our neighbor, any neighbor, all neighbors. This is a Royal Law, as James called it, because it is the law by which the King of the Universe operates. To be sure, we cannot say that God has "neighbors" just as we have; but when God was here on earth, focused (you might say) in one person, this Son of God, truly royal if ever a man was, lived by the Royal Law.

No Exceptions!

James writes that keeping the law means keeping all of it. To fail in one point means failing, period. We can apply this to the Royal Law. If we are (as Jesus called us) sons and daughters of the Most High, then we are under a kind of regal obligation to live as befits our high privileges. The more truly we live as children of God, the less we can afford to make exceptions, on our own, to the royal law of love. But most of us do make exceptions. Jesus knew what they are; so did James. Jesus mentions people who love those who love them in return. We all know the type—maybe we are the type!—the person who treats his friends like princes and old people like dirt; the family who are very warm-hearted and devoted to one another but whom the minister has a very hard time enlisting in any project for community betterment; the college student who is a very loyal fraternity brother but who hardly knows, and doesn't care to know, the student without money to spend. Jesus' parable of the good Samaritan showed up two men who made exceptions to the Royal Law. The priest must have loved his neighbor priests; but the beaten stranger was no priest, so this priest didn't bother with him. The Levite must have had friends; he belonged to a class of professional philanthropists. But Samaritans were not on the Levite's list of Worthy Causes. So he wasn't bothered. As for the Samaritan, there was every reason to cross off that battered stranger by the roadside. By every Samaritan standard, he didn't "belong." But the Samaritan kept the Royal Law without making exceptions.

For Whom Do We Pray

One way the reader can test how well he himself keeps this Royal Law, is to reflect on his own prayers. We get around to more people in prayer than in actual visits. It is true that on a given day we probably don't pray definitely for every sort and condition of men; but the question which really probes us is not, "Do you pray for every one," but, "Are there any kinds of people for whom you would not pray?" If you are a democrat, do you ever pray for a republican? If you are a white person, do you ever pray for negroes? If you are Protestant, do you pray for Roman Catholics? For the Pope? If you are an American, do you pray for Russians? For Chinese? If you are a business man, do you pray for your competitors? As a law-abiding citizen, do you ever pray for the men and women in the state penitentiary? You see how it is. The Royal Law is the hardest law there is.

With Whom Do You Pray

James draws a sarcastic little picture of some church ushers he had very likely seen,—polishing the apple of the well-dressed visitor to their church, and shoving the poor man around so that he would be almost sure never to come back. How is it in your church? You may have hanging on the wall somewhere a copy of the Royal Law; but does the church itself keep it? Are there people, Negroes perhaps, who if they risked showing themselves at your church, and wanted to worship with you, would be shoved into a corner or perhaps refused admission entirely? Does your church set the example for its members, the example of love without exceptions?

LABOR'S CONTRIBUTION TO AMERICA'S GREATNESS

America's greatness was wrought by the toil of humble millions; by the axe of the pioneer, the plough of the farmer, the sledge of the worker, the blue-prints of the employer — all laborers and builders of our civilization.

Tomorrow's goal should be closer cooperation and a keener awareness of our mutual problems and common destiny.
