"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer you in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Al Jolson used to sing, "California here I come!" and Your Observer is writing on the train, "Baltimore here I come!" from Jacksonville, Florida where I spent a delightful week. And that was a real surprise, too asking me to be ready in no time at all.

Spending even a few days in that wonderful state named for my Ancestor "Florian" which was the first name of Juan Ponce deLeon will always give you the desire to go back.

What a wise man Ponce deLeon was realizing about that part of the country so many many years ago and pretending to the Queen that it was a Fountain she would be interested in which would make individuals young! He knew that that would appeal to any woman. Eh?

The two days driving down in the heat were terrific especially driving so many miles the first day over 500 (and that I do not like in any direction). I arrived at the home of my friend and she enjoys surprises as much as I and we were happy to be together again as she is formerly from Baltimore having gone to live in the wonderful state of Florida just eleven years ago. While there, I was driven to see the Memorial Beautiful which is one gorgeous sight in memory of Stephen Collins Foster.

Folks, it would pay you to drive to Florida even if no other reason than to see it all for you will want to visit this gorgeous sight again which I hope to do some day in the near future.

Now that I have seen it, I would say that that woman "Hitch-hike" to this state which is "Way Down upon the Swanee River!"

As you drive through the gate entrance over the acres to the wide path which leads to the entrance of the huge building and then immediately gaze upon the interior you will hear the "Oh's" and "Ah's!" Your heart will miss a beat and your throat will have a tightness (as it was with me) as you gaze upon the eight dioramas those popular tunes of the famous composer come to life!

There is "Old Black Joe", "Oh, Susanna", "My Old Kentucky Home", "Open the Lattice Love" (which was the one I did not recall but which was the very first song published) "Camp-town Races", "Beautiful Dreamer", "Old Dog Tray" and "Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair."

Each diorama depicts a song which the composer wrote which are electrically powered with the movable parts. You will stand before each and imagine that you are living just in those days. So affected were the men visitors that I saw them as well as the ladies with tears in their eyes.

For instance there is the Steamer moving down the Swanee River and in another the boy keeping time with his foot as he plays the banjo, there is the cart bumping over the rough road driven by a colored boy with a donkey, there in one is Stephen playing the Melodeon in front of a house with two other young men—one supposed to be singing and the bow of the Violin moving. The sun is shining beautifully in all the dioramas and every inch appears as though it all has come to life.

The song of "Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair" was dedicated to Foster's wife and which was written when they were apart which shows of the great love he had which gave him the inspiration for many of his songs.

There are many Memorials all over the United States in memory of this great Composer but the one in White Springs, Florida is the most elaborate and costly. Somehow there is "Southern Hospitality" even to the architecture on the exterior of the building as well as the interior.

In 1939 part of the ground was deeded to the State of Florida for the park and since that year there are now 243 more acres.

Public law 225 was approved Oct. 27, 1951 authorizing the President of these United States to proclaim Jan. 13 of each year as National Stephen Foster Memorial Day. The first observance was held in the park Jan. 13, 1952.

There is a 200 foot Carillon Tower housing the world's largest set of tubular bells which can either be played manually or mechanically. More than $600,000. has been spent on the park and Museum Building. The tower is almost completed which will cost $1,375,000. There will also be a statue of the composer in the near future on the banks of the Swanee River. Up to date there have been more than 800,000 visitors. The song, "Old Folks at Home" has been adopted as Florida's official state song.

There is a massive painting on the wall by Howard Chandler Christy which is titled, "Beautiful Dreamer" was the last song that the composer wrote.

There are many old and original manuscripts encased for the public to see and read. In one corner of the room is a large square piano which was played to accompany Jenny Lind, the Swedish Opera Singer.

One could spend the entire day in reverence in the wonderful Memorial. Whatever you do, folks—don't miss it. Make this a visit and a real vacation the very next time you plan to take a trip. No adjective could define it all!

For this Columnist, I was taken back to other wonderful years when life was beautifully quiet!

So long until next week D.V. Have a grand week-end. Be careful when you drive. I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

SOME SHOVEL

A short time ago the Associated Press wires carried a feature article about a shovel.

It's obvious that to earn such attention the shovel in question must be a very remarkable one indeed. It certainly is. It belongs to a soft coal company, and has been in operation for eight months. Company officials say it has fully justified its cost—$2,600,000. Called "The Mountaineer", it is 16-stories high and has a 150-foot boom. In its brief working life it has scooped up 8,129,903 cubic yards of earth, in 60-cubic foot gulps, and has laid bare 340,000 tons of coal. The amount of earth removed would leave a hole big enough to swallow the Empire State Building.

This monster typifies the kind of progress that has been going on throughout the coal industry. Present-day competition, along with present-day labor and other costs, make ever more efficient production a matter of sheer survival. Coal is one of the oldest of all our industries—but technologically it is as modern as today. —Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

WAVERLY, VA., DISPATCH: "We were at a fellow's house recently who boasted that he never had taken hand or rod to his three year old son, who at that very minute was trying to snip off the cat's ears with a pair of scissors. Regarding this new conception of child raising, which says don't touch Junior, let him be a free soul to develop his natural whims, we are reminded of the Chinese proverb: 'Give a pig and a boy all they want and you will end up with a good pig and a bad boy.'"

DUBLIN, TEXAS, PROGRESS: "The trouble with foreign affairs today is that you can never tell whether dictators are smart men bluffing or imbeciles who mean it."

ITALY, TEXAS, NEWS-HERALD: "The federal government had no rights, no power, and no authority until it was given them by the various States. . . . Now we are face to face with a federal government that has forgotten its founding. We have a government that through the years has pre-empted rights it never had and which have never been delegated to it by the member states of the union."

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "Michigan State University announces that of 140,000 college scholarships with a value of $31 million in the United States, 17,000 went begging last year. The list of unclaimed scholarships should go to the principal of every high school in the land, with requests to recommend candidates for them. It also should encourage every qualified boy and girl to go get them. Lack of money is no bar to higher education."

FRANKLINVILLE, N. J., SENTINEL: "... fighting soil erosion is a continuing task. Like some of the other things that menace mankind, the time to start the war on erosion is when it begins."

WYNNE, ARK., PROGRESS: "History has shown that freedom and paternalism simply don't mix. We hope that freedom will always be more precious to Americans than a federal hand-out."

RED CREEK, N. Y., HERALD: "The steelworkers themselves will have to pay as the steel they make goes up in price, and the steel goods they buy for their own use rises to keep pace. . . . We are glad these workers will have more wages but will this benefit them as they pay more for what they must have? Will it increase their buying power?"

PARK CITY, UTAH, RECORD: "There is no cut and dried formula for a country newspaper. . . . We know papers that seldom print pictures on Page One. And we know papers that have almost as much art on Page One as they have copy. Some papers carry over stories on Page One. Others never do. Some papers run hundreds of little items reporting that 'Minnie Gooch went across the road for Sunday dinner.' Others read like small editions of the New York Times. If you are looking for variety you'll find it in the nation's press."

SALISBURY, N.C., POST: "Things are really looking up for the Soviet worker. Now he can no longer be thrown in jail for quitting his job. Under the new labor decrees those guilty of infractions of work discipline will not be hauled into court. Instead they can be fined, fired, demoted or deprived of bonuses and seniority by management. Grand, isn't it?"

CHANGES IN THE ADMISSION TAX

District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, C. I. Fox, said today that Public Law 1010 (relating to the tax on admissions) was approved by the President on August 6, 1956. This law, effective September 1, 1956, provides for an exemption from the Federal admissions tax if the amount paid for admission is 90 cents or less. Admission payments in excess of 90 cents remain subject to tax on the total admission payment. The exemption also applies to a season ticket or subscription if the amount which would be charged for a single admission is 90 cents or less.

Explaining further, Mr. Fox said, the exemption does not apply to admissions to horse or dog races at a race track, to the permanent use of lease of boxes or seats, to sales outside of the box office in excess of the established price, to sales by the proprietor in excess of the regular price, or to the tax on admissions to a cabaret.

The Director pointed out that the provisions of the new law are applicable only with respect to amounts paid on and after September 1, 1956 for admissions on and after such date.

Continuing further, Fox said present stocks of serially numbered admission tickets showing a tax to be due which, after the effective date of the new law, will not be subject to the tax by reason of the increased exemption, may be used for a reasonable period of time on and after September 1, until properly printed tickets can be obtained or tickets on hand overprinted or overstamped to reflect the exemption provided by such law. This procedure may be followed provided signs are posted conspicuously at the outer entrance and at each box office of the establishment showing the admission price, the tax, if any, and the total, and provided also that accurate and complete accounting is made by inventories of tickets, daily records of sales, etc., that will establish correct tax liability.

In conclusion, the Director said, present stocks of tickets not serially numbered may be used for a reasonable period of time on and after September 1 but those sold after September 30, 1956 must be overprinted or overstamped.

Too often habits make men instead of men making habits.

Santa Claus, we presume, is enjoying a well-deserved rest.

People who hurry through this life meet death that much earlier.

Ford tandem axle BIG JOBS are rated to carry more payload than comparable tandems of any of the leading manufacturers. T-800 model has max. GVW of 45,000 lb.—GCW is 65,000 lb.

Ford's F-100 Custom panel is one of the top load carriers in its class. It provides 155.8 cu. ft. of cargo space in a smooth, fully lined interior and hauls up to 1,535 lb. of payload.

The hardest-working, biggest-saving "two-tonner" of them all is the Ford F-600. Only Ford offers a Short Stroke Six and three Short Stroke V-8's in this field. Max. GVW is 19,500 lb.

FOR BIG JOBS... SMALL JOBS... ALL JOBS

Ford Trucks cost less

And low first cost is only your first saving

Ford's F-100 pickup with 8-ft. box is the biggest in the half-ton field—up to 19 cu. ft. more loadspace than the others. Regular 6½-ft. box with a full 45 cu. ft. capacity also available.

COME IN TODAY!

● Before you buy your next truck, look at both sides of Ford's story of value. Check what you get and what it costs. You'll like what you see.

Look at the costs. Ford's first cost is low. Resale value is high. Modern Short Stroke engines—V-8 or Six—are designed for less friction, less wear, lower running costs. Maintenance costs are lower, too, because Ford trucks are built stronger for rugged long life. And a 10-million truck study proves Ford trucks last longer.

Look at what you get and you'll see you get more in a Ford. For example, more horsepower per dollar—proved by a comparison of factory-suggested list prices and net horsepower of all truck lines. You get more comfort and safety in Ford's Driverized Cab with exclusive Lifeguard features.

Look carefully... consider everything. You'll agree Ford trucks cost less, give you more. If you want a great deal—a great deal more for your money—see your Ford Dealer.

FORD TRUCKS LAST LONGER

Using latest registration data on 10,502,351 trucks, insurance experts prove Ford trucks last up to 9.9% longer.

CORRESPONDENCE

We desire correspondence to reach our office on Wednesday, if at all possible. It will be necessary, therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Tuesday morning. Letters mailed on Wednesday may not reach us in time.

FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

After seeing the picture of our hornet's nest in the Baltimore Sun, a Mr. J. B. Stung of Baltimore became so disturbed about the safety of the cows that he wrote a letter telling us how to dispose of the hornets. It seems that Mr. Stung was bitten by some hornets once and became seriously ill and he was afraid the hornets would sting the cows with the same bad effects. So far the hornets have not bothered the cows but we do appreciate a stranger being so concerned about the animals welfare that he took the trouble to write us a letter. Mr. Stung didn't know our address so he just wrote on the envelope: "To the man with the hornet's nest in his milking barn in Carroll County," and we received it after the letter had passed through two post-offices. Mr. Stung didn't write any return address on his letter so we could thank him for his kindness and concern and I am sure he doesn't read this column so he will probably never know how much we appreciated his advice on how to destroy the hornet's nest although unless the hornets start to play rough we do not intend to get rid of them. But anyone having hornets and want to destroy the nest may have Mr. Stung's method by getting in touch with us. It is a simple procedure and requires no fire or torch. Although our advice is to keep the hornets if you have them. Man has already done enough damage by upsetting the balance of nature with his sprays and other destructive methods. We are just beginning to learn that insects play a vital part in keeping plant life in the cycle of pollination.

For most of the graduating class of '56 of the Elmer Wolfe School the diploma they received this spring was not the sign which ended their school days, for this week one-third of the class took off for other halls of knowledge. To the University of Maryland went Miss Eleanor Baker, Ernest Colwell, Richard Wilhide, Glenn Yingling; to Western Maryland College went Miss Rose Marie Grabbill, Neil Bohn and David Houck; to State Teachers College at Towson went Miss Alice Booher; to Frederick Memorial Hospital Training School for nurses went the Misses Arlene Ann and Elizabeth Hoover and to Hagerstown Hospital for Nurses Training went Miss Janet Myerly, Miss Audrey Bowers is in the U. S. Air Force receiving training at Lackland Air Base in San Antonio, Texas. Several members of the class plan to work a year and then continue on with their education in fields of business engineering and the nursing profession. Over one half of the class have plans for careers which is a very high percentage. It speaks well for the class itself, but some credit must be given the parents, the school and its teachers, and the community.

Up on Long Island last week one hundred wives of potato farmers marched in a picket line to protest the low price their husbands were offered for potatoes. One woman said that it cost $2.25 to grow a hundred pounds of potatoes and that doesn't include the farmers own labor. When he is offered $1.00 per hundred pounds while they are retailing for $5.50 in the stores then its high time to do some protesting. This spring the housewife paid the highest price in the history of potato prices. (At one time we paid twelve cents per pound). Right now prices are down due to the harvest of potatoes in the Northern States. But anyone that has ever planted and raised potatoes knows that one dollar a bushel is an unfair price.

Each year the Israel Department store in Union Bridge and the Polly Dime Store in Taneytown offer three prizes to the boys and girls who purchase their school supplies from them. All one has to do is drop their name in the box, and if their name is the one selected then they are indeed lucky and happy. Well, last week luck smiled on our teen-age daughter and she won an electric Roplogle Globe. Its hard to say which was the happier, Nancy or her mother because for about five years both have wanted a globe but it always seemed just out of reach of the budget. Thanks to the Polly Dime Store we can circle the globe whenever we please from now on.

Yesterday Postmaster General Somerville said that it costs the post-office department four and a fraction cents to deliver a first class letter. It costs the department more to deliver second and third class mail because the rates to the public are cheaper than first class. The general wants higher postal rates so that his department will not continue to operate in the red. We know one way to put an end to the postoffice deficit and that is stop the franking privileges of our Senators and Congressmen. Some of them have certainly abused the privilege and one of them happens to be Senator Butler from our own State. We cannot see why taxpayers should foot the bill to allow any Senator or Congressman to flood the mail with his personal propaganda or opinions to influence the voter to elect him. If the Postmaster General really wants to get his department out of the red let him close up the real wasteful loopholes and not pick on the once-a-week letter writer.

"I like done-over food, such as hash and stews, and I cotton to the women who wear the old-fashioned dresses, with basques and full skirts. You can have mink and genuine precious stones and all those other symbols of conspicuous expenditure. But give me my old shoes and old hat, even long after they should be thrown away."

—Morris L. Ernst.

I borrowed the above paragraph from a book titled "So Far So Good" which a friend recently loaned me. It is not a book recently written but it could have been written any time. It contains 271 pages and I read it at one sitting. . . . and allowed my dinner to cook too long. Who wants food when a book can stop the hands of the clock and still the pangs of hunger? Of course my family doesn't have much sympathy with a cook who doesn't stick to her cooking and attempts to combine culinary art with literary art. They just won't mix. No matter how orderly and neat you are by nature or self-discipline, it is a mistake to always be putting your husband in his place.—Ruth Roelke.

Fire Protection Needed on Farms Water Resources, Sprayer Essential

Isolated farms must usually depend on their own resources and equipment to fight sudden fires. There are not enough town fire departments yet to insure rural safety.

But two measures of protection are quite often available. Reliable resources of water supplies are afforded by good deep wells and farm ponds. The ownership of man-purpose, high-pressure, high-volume portable farm sprayer will put that water to good use.

Mounted on wheels as a trailer, the farm sprayer can quickly be brought into action. The tank which normally holds pesticides for crop protection is usually large enough to contain enough water to put out a small blaze. Refilling is necessary, of course, in battling larger fires. The same would be true if a fire brigade were there, using a booster tank.

Having available water supplies can mean difference between heavy fire losses and a short-lived blaze of little consequence.

Everyone who has ever lived on a farm knows the terror which comes when a bad fire breaks out. A sense of utter helplessness and despair is the usual result.

But not so for the provident farmer who has a handy power spray apparatus, kept ready and in slick working order. The same trusty sprayer, powered by its own engine and with tank and hose mounted close alongside, is a made-for-emergency stand for just such a vital purpose.

Ready equipment, speed and good judgement are the basic rules of the fire-fighter. In the first few minutes while the blaze is still small, it may be quickly controlled if the sprayer is all ready for instant operation.

Soil-Saving Practices Proved in Studies

The economic value of soil-saving conservation practices is re-emphasized by results of a long term U.S. Department of Agriculture study.

At Waco, Tex., 12 years of conservation practices contributed to a substantial increase in the efficiency of cotton production through higher yields per acre.

On comparable lands at Waco, soil conservationist J. B. Pope has since 1943 compared the production of cotton with and without the benefit of such conservation practices as terracing, contouring, fertilization, and the use of a legume in the crop rotation. The cumulative gains of conservation practices, measured in per-acre yields of lint cotton in 1955, ranged from 297.7 to 358.4 pounds of cotton per acre, depending upon the type of rotation.

Production without benefit of conservation averaged 154.4 pounds. Highest yields were obtained from a two-year rotation of cotton and oats-clover. A phosphate fertilizer —0-45-0—was applied at the rate of 100 pounds per acre at the time of seeding oats-clover. The rotation followed on the non-conservation fields was cotton, oats, cotton, corn.

How Advertising helps you

BY CHARLES B. ROTH

Advertising Teaches

THE head of one of America's great universities sat on the same platform with the head of one of America's great advertising agencies. It was the advertising man's duty to introduce the educator, which he did, identifying him as one of the most eminent of educators and head of one of the world's greatest institutions of learning.

After acknowledging with graciousness this introduction, the college president said: "You, sir, are a greater educator than I or anyone else in my place. For advertising, which you represent so successfully, conducts the greatest school for adults—children, too, for that matter—in the world."

And then he pointed out that through advertising America had become a well-informed nation; not only in values or qualities of merchandise, for advertising long ago outgrew such narrow boundaries, but in ideas and issues as well.

What he said is true. By that same token, the advertising pages of the newspaper ceases to be merely a guide for those who have needs to fill and money to buy. It really becomes an encyclopedia of current living. In those pages you can find practically anything you want.

Future historians, studying our current civilization, will learn more about us and how we lived from reading the ads than the news section of the papers. For each generation put down its story in the things that it found essential to life and comfort.

When you pick up your newspaper, read the ads carefully, which is the habit of intelligent people, you may not think you are "going to school." But you are. It is a pleasant "school," one easy for you to attend, but its learning is no less important or lasting for that.

The late Will Rogers was wont to say so often it became his slogan that all he knew he read in the newspapers. He knew a good deal. And anyone who will read the newspapers, not alone what is printed in the news columns, but also in the ads will know a good deal also.

He will not only know what is interesting to know, but he will know how and where he can spend his money to best advantage. Which is also important knowledge.

SATAN IS A NONENTITY—GOD IS LIFE

Why is it that many good people to-day Still picture God as a fiend, some say? They say, "Unless you are perfect, and fail to do well, Your future abode shall be a place called hell."

But, our "God is Love," the scriptures say— How can He show hate in any way? The truth is He don't; and, intends you to be A god among gods in eternity.

Then, try to be like Him; and, ponder well Before you accuse Him of building a hell; Jesus came to tell us just how things shall be When we go from Time to Eternity.

That is proof conclusive, my dear friend That your pilgrimage on earth does not end; There are many things which God wants you to do When your work down here is through.

Just imagine what a fairyland earth shall be When the time arrives for her great jubilee! All our fears of hell shall vanish from sight When we shall enter the day without night.

That is no devil cultural people know well; And, without a devil, there could be no hell; But, it is true, the five senses take his place, And have caused the downfall of every race.

The fellow who invented Satan did not see What an autocrat his devil would turn out to be; He intended him a sort of scapegoat to be Which would bear man's iniquities and flee.

But, instead he remained, many experts say, And built the hell so many fear to-day; Since God is the Father of every race, It is a sin to think He would make such a place.

God is too good and too wise, many other say, To build a hell like we talk of to-day; He has other things for us to do When our itinerary on earth is through.

So, all who love Him should ponder well Before they accuse Him of building a hell; To say it is beneath us is only a notion, For the earth represents "perpetual motion."

This earth does not stand still—it is a star; And, like all of the planets, travels far; Each year we take a trip around the Sun; So, that should be proof to everyone.

Then, too, it differs from God's great plan To make a god among gods of every man; Back to earth we must all return— It is here the fires of hell still burn!

The earth is God's school-house where all must be Taught how to live through eternity; A single life span too short would be To learn what God means by charity.

The ancients pictured God as they would do If they had a similar work to put through; But, they went too far—(and we know it well) When they said, He made a place called hell.

The right to pass the "pearly gate" Shall not be given to those who wait To walk the shining streets of gold— neither can it be bought or sold.

If that Royal Passport you hope to win Your body must be free from sin; Like Pilate, you must wash your hands When forced to do what earth demands.

God knew that man from Him would stray; So, He devised the only way By which to get and wear that precious gem, Which is called the "Royal Diadem."

Then, "do justly, love mercy," and thou shalt roam Over the fields of God's Paradise home; Hell and its fury will have no terror for thee, For God intends that there you shall be.

Vision of Victory

Lesson for September 23, 1956

AFTER the battle, as Homer's poem tells it, the Greeks and Trojans who had been killed went right on fighting. Whoever won the flesh-and-blood war, the ghost-war went on and would go on forever. That was primitive Greek religion. But the same kind of notion is to be found in other religions. In the Zend-Avesta, sacred book of the ancient Persian religion, there is the picture of the good God Ahuri-Mazda and the evil God Ahri-man, in perpetual never-ending war with each other. Strangely enough, this same idea floats around in people's heads who have been Christian long enough to know better. They pray, "Thy Kingdom come"; but nothing would surprise them more than if the Kingdom of God really came!

Dr. Foreman

Desperate Battle
The ancient Persians were not entirely wrong. Life is a battle, a desperate age-long war, between good and evil. God, and the friends of God, do not run over all opposition. The cause of God has had defeats. As a modern writer puts it, "Victory has many wounds." There are those who cannot see this. All things are good, some wish us to believe. But it is truer to the facts to see that not all things are good, but there are persons and forces going all-out to destroy what is good. No matter how good a man is, no matter how good a cause is, if it prevails in this world there has to be a fight first. The book of Revelation in our Bible is a book of battles. Its pages are red with flame and blood. The white-robed saints in light have come through "great tribulation." The young Christian who finds the going rough, the veteran Christian who becomes discouraged over the defeat of some cause that surely ought to have won—all need to read the Bible again. Victory for God and the right there will be; but not easily and probably not today.

Personal Victory
In all the wars of this world, some on the winning side have never struck a blow or got into the fight at all. The armed forces do the fighting, the stay-at-homes celebrate the victory when it comes. It is different in the world-wide, age-long struggle between God and all that is anti-God. If the Bible teaches anything plainly it is that no one will share the victory of God who has not taken part in the struggle on God's side. Many Christian hymns express this idea, such as "Am I a soldier of the cross?" and "The Son of God goes forth to war." First the war, then the victory. Now there are many religions that teach something like this. Valhalla, Paradise, Nirvana, heaven, whatever it is called—most religions look forward to a time and place where everyone is, so to speak, a veteran of a successful war. But what do they do with their victory? Here the Christian religion stands out alone. "His servants shall serve Him," the Bible says. So John Sutherland Bonnell says in his little book, "Heaven and Hell," (Abingdon Press, $1.00) "The rest which is promised us in heaven is not the rest of passivity or indolence. There will be constant opportunities for spiritual development and service."

Christ Will Reign
But the church is sure that the Christian can look forward to final victory only because he is fighting in the cause and army of Christ. It is his victory after all, not ours. If he lost, we would lose. There is a great future tense our faith in Christ. There is a past tense first: He has conquered death and evil, by the cross and resurrection he struck the forces of evil the fatal blow. But not the final one. For there is the present tense: In the lives of Christians, in his church, he wins victories today. But the future tense is equally important. Christian people have never been agreed on the details, but all Christians everywhere are one in affirming: CHRIST WILL REIGN! Not only in heaven but on earth. A Christianity that does not look forward to Christ's final triumph, complete and world-wide, is not only untrue to the Bible but is like that old Persian belief, courageous to be sure, but dismal,—that outlook on an eternal future just as uncertain and mixed with evil as is this present age. No,—the How and When are God's secret, but it is no secret that Christ will be Lord of all.

THOUGHTS FOR THOUGHT

They who cheat you cheat themselves more.
They live in the realm of selfishness who have no consideration for others. Neither envy nor jealousy is a fit foundation for contentment.
The first round in the ladder of success is self-reliance. And ambition is the ground on which the ladder stands.
To have to labor for what one gets adds an element of appreciation to the possession.

No man is a law unto himself. Law is the expression of the majority or of their representatives.

The original purpose of a penitentiary was to give time and place for penitence on the part of the offender, and not for punishment.

A person, an animal, or a plant can be made soft by too much petting.
Beds of roses do not serve as goads as well as paths of thorns.

There are mothers who spoil their sons and hope they will marry women who can straighten them out. What is more certain is to follow the Biblical injunction:
Train up a child in the way he should go.

And when he is old he will not depart from it.

'56 COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE SET FOR OCTOBER 1

The Campaign organization is operating on an area basis, with the county divided into the following eight areas.

Districts with campaign headquarters
Districts with campaign headquarters in Taneytown.

Area 2. New Windsor and Uniontown Districts with campaign headquarters in New Windsor.

Area 3. Westminster, Myers and Woolerys Districts with campaign headquarters in Westminster.

Area 4. Sykesville and Berrett Districts with headquarters in Sykesville.

Area 5. Manchester District.

Area 6. Hampstead District.

Area 7. Union Bridge District.

Area 8. Mt. Airy and Franklin Districts with headquarters in Mt. Airy.

Campaign Chairmen and Staffs have been organized in each of the areas, and area goals have been signed.

The Campaign Headquarters for Area 3 and the County Campaign will be situated at the First National Bank Building in Westminster, and will be under the operation of Col. T. K. Harrison, the Campaign Secretary.

The Carroll County Community Chest organization is headed by Charles G. Fisher, Westminster, President; K. Ray Hollinger, Westminster, First Vice-President; Mrs. Edwin Pusey, Mt. Airy, Second Vice-President; Mrs. Preston Yingling, Pleasant Valley, Secretary, and Russell Sellman, Westminster, Treasurer.

Mr. Donofrio, the 1956 Campaign Chairman, is immediate past President of the Westminster Civitan Club. In recent years he has been active in the organization for the March of Dimes Campaign in the Westminster area. He is President of John P. Donofrio, Inc., landscape designers and contractors.

FUND RAISING DRIVE FOR RETARDED CHILDREN

Mr. Fern L. Smith has been named chairman of the second annual fund raising drive to be conducted under the auspices of the Carroll County Association for Retarded Children, Inc. This drive will be part of a nationwide campaign and will be held from November 13 through 23 inclusive which will be known as National Retarded Children's week.

Mr. Smith is at present serving as president of the Association for Retarded Children and he has been one of its most diligent workers since its organization in 1954. He is employed as a Supervising Equipment Specialist at Fort Meade in charge of the inspection division. He is a member of the Bee Hive Club and the Westminster Door-to-Virtue Lodge.

Mr. Smith stresses that this week has been set aside for a two-fold purpose: Namely, for the solicitation of funds and the promotion of a better understanding of this tragic human handicap which is a major community, state, and national problem. It is his hope that through this campaign the "story of the retarded child" will be carried to the most remote corners of the county and will become common knowledge in every home.

Mr. Smith points out that most people do not realize how great the problem is. Of all the afflictions of children, mental retardation exacts the heaviest toll. National statistics show that in every 100,000 children born, on the average, about 200 are blind; 300 crippled by polio; 350 afflicted by cerebral palsy; 700 by rheumatic heart. But 3,000 are mentally retarded.

To their parents, these children are no less precious because of their affliction. It is known now that retarded children can be helped, but public support is needed.

—because your present car is at its peak value right now. And because—with Buick so solidly set as America's No. 3 Best Seller—our bigger sales volume permits us to make you an even better trade-in allowance.

Bonanza Buy

Buick prices start right next to those of the smaller cars. But those Buick dollars buy you a whole of a lot more automobile—more room, more power thrill, more styling freshness, more ride stability, more solidity of structure—the Best Buick Yet.

Bonanza Resale

A Buick always resells high. But the '56 Buick will bring you even more money when you trade it because it carries today's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo.* It's the most advanced transmission yet developed—and the only one that breaks with the past to bring you the switch-pitch performance and gas savings of the modern plane's variable pitch propellers.

It's a great time to buy a Buick

P.S. We have some especially good buys right now on the high-powered CENTURY and the extra-spacious SUPER. Better see 'em real soon!

ing, he treats it as a serious business. Even a rich nation like the U. S. A. has a limit to the amount it can spend.

Individuals need balance for successful living—especially balance at the bank.

Civilization: the passing of the hat-pin and the advent of the pin-up. Principle must be above expediency if our political system is to endure.

Mark of Maturity

Now at last you're 21—and old enough to vote. But growing up is just one essential—the other is, simply, thought. Don't be a don't-care voter. Think it through. Look over the candidates. Listen . . . read . . . argue. A thoughtful vote is a mark of maturity. Also a matter of pride!
