TANEYTOWN SCOUTS

A theme on First Aid triangular bandages, under Francis Nelson, a swim in the "Y" at Frederick on a Friday evening, and a group of Christmas party games have high-lichted the left three metiiner lighted the last three meetings of the Boy Scouts of Troop 348, Taneytown, and Horse and rider was a popular game selected by Edward Reaver for the first of these.

Last Saturday, an abbreviated leaders' session was participated in by patrol leaders Frederick Sher-man, Grant Harman, and John Myers, assistant Edward Reaver, Junior assistant scoutmaster Harold Slay-baugh, and the scoutmaster, when plans were talked over for the patrol contest to start with the new year. Last year's winners, the Panthers, now that they are almost all of Exnow that they are almost all of Ex-plorer age, have for the most part agreed to split up and aid younger patrols. That the contest may get off to an even start, and with an ex-citing chance for all, a reorganization plan will be tried tonight, and the rolls held open for mutually accept-able shifts among buddies for the week after, possibly two. This is to keep everybody happy and yet make the running fairly equal, and the thought is to start another patrol as well.

Explorer Scout Program

The test of the compass trails laid The test of the compass trails laid the prior Monday saw the Explorer scouts of Crew 2 under George Abrecht come in first from following the other crew's directions, and this was only one feature of a full meet-ing presided over by Adviser Robert L. Bowers, whose trail laying theme thus encompassed two nights. Before the refreshments brought by Mr. Bowers were dished out, business in-cluded a check-up of dance locations, cluded a check-up of dance locations, decisions to decorate Sunday for a Christmas party, plans for a New Year's Eve get-together at Natural Dam, and the choice of Jan. 9 for swimming.

Mr. Bowers' games of "Sleeping pirate" and "Earth, air, etc." seemed to hit the spot that night, while formations and ceremonies were capably managed by Senior and deputy crew leaders Slaybaugh and Robert Fitz.

The Christmas party Dec. 24 was eminently successful, with Charles Becker's tree, Larry Hively's light-N. Y. She spent the past week-end at her home in Taneytown. Mr. and Mrs. John Vaughn had as guests over the holidays their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jaeger, of Westfield, New Jer-sey. Mil-ler, and children, Bonnie Lee and Randy as consulting engineer and procurer materials, gave the ping pong table and some benches a new look while George Abrecht in his dual cuartermastering capacity miracu-lously cleared the room of unsightly items or provided fitting disguises. Fifteen crowded the cabin at Natural Dam for a game night to watch the old year out, with Larry Eckard, once one of our more active Explorers, a guest for part of it; and ten remained over until New Year's Day. Mr. Bowers quickly settled the wood problem in the modern, efficient way with a handy little gadget called a chain saw and also provided some coal so that George Abrecht, who came on the scene in sufficient time, could get the wood-burner to roar and handle a layer of bituminous fuel as well.

50th ANNUAL CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE LAGS

The 1956 Christmas Seal Sale is lagging behind last year's record drive by more than $14,000, according to statewide returns for the first month of the campaign.

As of December 15, latest date for complete returns from all locals. $313,408.23 had been raised through the sale of Christmas Seals in Mary-land. Of this total $205,910.41 had been raised by the local affiliates and $107,497.82 in Baltimore city. With Baltimore city and all but four coun-ties running behind, the state total is down 3.1% compared with the same period of last year's campaign. Those locals running well ahead of last year's pace are: Harford (38.2%), Baltimore County (11.4%), Howard (11.0%), and Allegany-Garrett (5.1 %).

Carroll County's sale goal was $6208.05. The sale was off $199.40 or a percentage loss of 3.1%.

Perhaps no unanimous agreement can be reached on the reasons for this year's decrease, but no one can argue that it brings into sharp focus the increased importance of follow-ups. With two months remaining before the books are closed for the campaign, the 1955 record Christmas Seal Sale of $514,000 is certainly

Feasting Important To World Observance Of New Year

Feasting is as important a part of a New Year celebration as of Thanksgiving, with a good meal on the first day of the year symbolizing that there will be plenty throughout the days ahead.

The New Year's day banquet differs as one travels around the world. An important dish among the Spaniards is sopa, rice cooked with olive oil, tomatoes, vegetables and meat particles. Africans partake of cous-cous, which is composed of wheat grains, lamb and vegetables. Pickled greens, raw fish, roast bird and shrimp fritters are menu headliners in Japan, with pickled chrysanthemum petals considered a special delicacy. The Swedes temper their feasts with a special drink, called glogg which is a claret wine sweetened with sugar and flavored with almonds, raisins, dried orange peel, cinnamon, cloves and cardamon. It is usually set afire before serving. Feasts in England and Western Europe are similar to our American menus, chief difference being in the choice of side dishes. Turkey, duck or goose make the popular roast in England and in France. Latin countries bedeck their holiday fowl with truffles, chestnuts and olives and one might find snails on the menu in France.

ROSE BOWL

The fabulous Rose Bowl game started out as a supplement to the Tournament of Roses when the first east-west game was played on January 1, 1902. Michigan beat Stanford, 49-0.

"Dad," she arose, stood facing the towering storm cloud, mildly replied. "Why all the confusion? You're most unreasonable, treating me like a two-year-old. I am not a child. I know what I do and do not want. Does that clear the situation?

"Now, listen, Lula Mae, I ain't a-tryin' to force you, not even askin' you to marry, but some day you will." He paused, then quickly continued: "That's why I'm a-arguin' in Tanks favor; he's a top hand, don't drink-er-ahthat is, not too much. He's a good foreman, best I ever had. Why can't you git interested in him?" "Easily answered; Fayette Tankersley just isn't the right man." Jim Williams removed his som-brero and ran his bridle-knarled fingers through the thinning strands of his sandy hair, then said:

"Reckon that's what Eve would a-said to her Father had thar' been 'nother wrangler 'sides Adam in the pasture-I mean, Garden. Why the thunder is it, the feller a parent picks fer his daughter is all'us wearin' the wrong brand?" "Perhaps," she smiled, "The daughter recognizes her range brand when she sees it."

Jim opened his mouth; words failed to materialize. He gave a disgusted grunt, wheeled, clattered down the porch steps and walked stiff-legged to a cottonwood where his pony was staked, vaulted into the saddle and vanished out yonder in a cloud of dust. Lula Mae gave way to joyful laughter as her mother came through the front door and onto the porch.

"Well," beamed Mrs. Williams, gathering Lula Mae into her arms. 'That settles that."

"Yes," exclaimed Lula Mae, delightfully squeezing her mother. "You naughty old schemer, your plan worked perfectly. Had dad known that I really was in love and wished to marry Fayette Tankersley, he would have fired the best foreman he ever had."

trimmings in Detour—go see them. The homes of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Groshon and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stonesifer have outlined their homes The brand new year has come for with lights.. Stop to look at the Thomas Fox home, there is so much visit that will last a year and within that time we can expect a great to see there. Mrs. Daisy Dinterman, many things to happen that we would on the corner in Keysville, makes it rather not happen and many more a pleasure to slow down at that corner and look at the lights. Many that we will welcome with heartfelt other decorations here, too. A former resident of Detour, Mrs. Donald Baltzell, daughter of Mr. and thanks. It would be wonderful if at the beginning of each New Year we could wipe out our past errors, close the book on hopeless dreams, shut Mrs. Loren Austin, and Mr. Baltzell of Union Bridge, have displayed a, our minds to all regrets and start all over again. But life doesn't can't find the word or words for it, function that way. A span of time or Christmas decoration. Upon ap-proaching this group of houses, al-though all or most of them are deca decimal of space cannot cancel out the past years, for only by trial and error is a person ever matured. If orated, you see only this outline of blue lights. When you get closer, it a new year offers anything in the way of change from the past it is in the mind and soul of the individual. is the Baltzell home and the lights make your eyes go to the "Merry Christmas" sign on the roof. For a division of time is only imaginary. No one can say a certain day divides the beginning or the ending of an age or a year. Just as a river flows down the same bed day after day, so does life keep flowing on and on marked only by the rhythm of the sun and moon and changed scar understand that real music will be cely not at all by man. If we could stand off somewhere in space and heard coming from this decoration at certain times. When traveling on grasup the immence grandeur of the Middle Street, one of the homes drew universe we could understand more our attention with models of a couple completely the insignificance of puny man and the childish concern about an old year or a new one. Live one day at a time, accepting with good All of us should take one night grace what we cannot change, giving a little pleasure and accepting some joy for ourselves and forgetting entirely the "good old days". For there are just as many good days ahead if we are smart enough to recogonly nize them when they arrive. Do give yourself a chance to have an inspir-Being able to celebrate one's golden wedding anniversary is not one of those occasions that many can boast about but Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Weishaar who live on Hape's Mill Road belong to that select group. Sunday afternoon they held open house to all their relatives, friends and neighbors and nearly 200 persons came to pay their respects to the happy pair and to congratulate them upon reaching the golden plateau of their lives together. The house was decorated with yellow cut flowers and a four tier wedding cake was the center of attraction of the refreshment table The couple received many beautiful gifts. Something to think about this year: It has just been learned through a press release that Carroll County has more deaths due to heart disease than any other county in the United States. We will not quote figures because numbers are either misleading or depressing, but the report is factual and convincing. The whole south-eastern part of the United States produce more heart disease than in any other part of the country. Why? No one seems to have the answer. Some believe the pressure of living is greater in the East and this is true to some extent. Some think too rich food and more of it plays a great part in the higher rate of coronary diseases in the Carroll countians, but my pet theory is that people live longer in our country and when they do die its from heart disease. There are more people living eighty years or more than ever be-fore and remaining active enough to enjoy living. Its logical that after 80 of constant work the heart vears would finally grow tired and quit. Some time ago the Baltimore Sun published a picture titled "The Good Earth" taken by Mr. Aubrey Bodine. It was supposed to have been taken around Union Bridge and several persons wrote to the editor asking just where the picture was taken. We noticed yesterday in the paper the editor answered Mrs. Wm. Holbrook Mrs. Grace Lansinger of Hanover and Mrs. Earl Hevner inquiries and visited in the Smith home the past said that Mr. Bodine became confused with so many towns beginning with Mrs. Grace Lansinger is spending Union that he confused Union Bridge with Union Mills. The picture was taken near Union Mills.

What was the most exciting thing to happen to you in 1956? Do you have to think about the question awhile before you can answer? If so you probably had an average normal year. Unless you took a trip abroad, inherited a fortune, wrote a book or got a divorce you had a tranquil, uneventful life.

The last month of '56 set a record. It was the warmest December ever recorded in Maryland and maybe the wettest. It seemed like spring and the forsythia thought it was spring because it started to bloom. We some and brought it indoors and we notice this morning that the yellow flowers or becoming more bold emerging from their winter sleep with full-blown courage.

Mike, our pugnacious dog, has been overcome with the holiday spirit or else the excitement around the farm has been too much for him. He has lost interest in cars and visitors. Maybe he has become disillusioned about them for he never wins a race with a car and he gets tied up when guests are expected. "Its a dog's life" says Mike.

Farmers! Start the New Year right by reading Dorothy Thompson's article in the January issue of the Ladies Home Journal. She tells you what has happened to farming or more specific what has happened to the family farm. She is realistic and correct in her analysis and although she doesn't tell you the solution, you can figure that out for yourself.

It seems to be a popular pastime to predict what is going to happen in the year ahead. If anyone was absolutely sure he or she could become a rich person or a very unhappy one. Babson is one who pretends he knows so much but when you finish reading what he writes it goes something like this: If the stock market doesn't up it will come down . . if we don't go to war we will have peace . . . if it rains there will be no drought and the sun will rise in the east and set in the west. Our prediction is that if we don't end this column right now our New Year's dinner will be burnt to a crisp and we will be in the dog house with Mike.

Be good . . . be kind . self in 1957. nd . . . be your--Ruth Roelke

Hot Summer Days Lower Production Of Farm Animals

Summer heat is vital to high production in the corn field, but it has just the opposite effect on most farm animals and poultry.

They show their distaste for hot weather by lower milk production, fewer eggs, less weight gain or a drop in breeding efficiency.

Agricultural colleges and oth-er organizations throughout the country today are using air con-ditioning in livestock buildings to demonstrate how cooler tem-peratures can relieve hot weather production losses.

Obviously, the average farmer can't afford to air condition his livestock buildings. But he can keep his livestock cooler and more productive with insulation.

Thick insulation batts or blankets of mineral wool, properly installed in the walls and ceilings of barns, farrowing houses, chicken houses and other structures used for livestock, act as an effective barrier to keep heat out of the building.

THE RESURRECTION OF THE BODY-

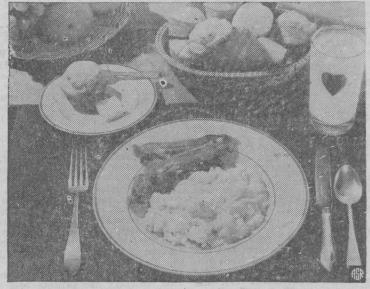

- Of the Resurrection of the body, much is said; But, this we know, it does not concern the dead; In a living body one must surely be To prepare to live through Eternity. As the tree which stands in the storm cloud's path Must train its roots to encounter its wrath,

- So man must prepare in every way To weather the storms of the endless day.
- The resurrection of the body shall not take place On a certain day; or, in a dead body of any race; "God is a God of the living, not a God of the dead"; This truth is backed by the Scriptures, it is said.
- The millions of bodies in our cemeteries to day Are only the houses in which people used to stay; And, those who dwelt in them, many experts say Are now building bodies which shall not decay.

. F.

- There are many people on earth to-day Who claim they were here only yesterday; They have intimations of having lived before; That, too, is something we should not ignore
- Nature seeks Perfection, so does mortal man; So, the evils of the past, the new races shall ban; Just so it shall be on the "new earth" of ours With its cultural peoples, its trees, and its flowers.
- The Ragamuffin shall not always be a bum, Though to-day God's face is not seen in some; They, too, are God's children, and shall learn to know In His great school how they must go.
- Such dissolute beings do not go to hell, There forever to simmer and dwell; God lets them sow "Wild oats" so they may see What fools earth can make of humanity.
- Not one who has lived shall ever be lost, Regardless of what his salvation may cost;
- For God has devised a marvelous plan
- By which to make a perfect man. Reincarnation is the way, it is said
- By which God is raising all the dead; In a perfect body we all must be Since, in it, we shall spend Eternity.
- A single lifespan too short would be To learn how to live in eternity; In a land where "a thousand years are as one day" One must have a body which shall not decay. To go there like many good people to-day Would be to enter an eternal hell, some say; For a land of cripples it would turn out to be In which we would live through eternity.
- But our God is too good to permit such a curse; So He has planned to make it the reverse; Before we leave here He shows us the way Our bodies must be in the endless day.
- Death is only a transition; it is not the end Of your existence, you may depend; God has many things for you to do When your present work is through.
- Man was not made to come here and die;
- The source of his being is in the sky; He only comes here certain lessons to learn; And, when that is finished, he shall return.
- Death is not an enemy; it is a friend, Since to worry and pain it puts an end; To all who are worthy it opens the door To a world of enchantments not known before.
- Many of the Hebrews who left Egypt, they say, In new bodies entered Canaan the very same way A type of man's pilgrimage, don't you see? On his journey from time to eternity.
- The Promised Land was only 300 miles away; But it took them 40 years to reach it, men say; So it is with all mortals here below Our jorney to Paradise is also slow.
- Perfection is man's goal; and perfect he must be; From nundance teachings, he must flee; Like Pilate, he must wash his hands
- When forced to do what earth demands. These lives the Spirit of Truth hast revealed to man,
- They tell how God works, not the way men plan; The Bible says, you are God's hands; so, it is through you That He is making all things new. This earth is not yet what God wants it to be;
- And the same may be said of you and me; So, like the rivers, you and I must come and go Till we make a paradise here below
- The Bible is a closed book, the Savants say To those who believe all the ancients say; For they all thought the earth was flat;
- So, they based all their arguments on that.

A Honey Of A Cookie

New "Honey Crunch Cookies", made with the favorite candy-coated puffed wheat, are an ideal Christmas treat. They're fun to make, easy to serve and especially good to eat. Surely you'll want to keep your cookie jar filled throughout the holidays for family and friends who drop by to exchange greetings at tea time. Too, you'll want to package some of these crunchy cookies in fancy wrappings for the young 'uns . . . they make a perfect extra "little" gift.

Honey Crunch Cookies

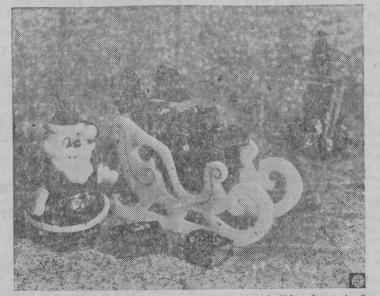

11/4	cups sifted flour
1/2	teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/2	teaspoon salt
1/2	teaspoon cinnamon
3/2	cup shortening

1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar ½ cup honey 1 egg 1 cup Sugar Crisp puffed wheat ½ cup seedless raisins*

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and cinnamon and sift again. Cream shortening; add sugar and honey and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Then add flour and mix thoroughly. Fold in cereal and raisins. Drop by tea-spoonfuls onto greased baking sheet about 2 inches apart. Decorate with candied cherries and nuts, if desired. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 10 to 12 minutes, or until done. Makes about 3½ dozen cookies.

*Or use 1/3 cup chopped nuts.

Yuletide Mars Brownies

Looking for an unusual way to serve your holiday brownies? Pile them high on a decorative sleigh midst a jolly winter scene

And by the way, we've just come across a wonderful new brownie recipe developed by Mars Inc.'s test kitchen. Made tasty and chewy by the inclusion of candy bars, these brownies boast a truly unique flavor. In addition, they are simple to prepare and so delicious that you'd best make up several batches—they're bound to disappear in a twinkling of an eve a twinkling of an eye.

MARS CANDY BROWNIES

1/2	cup butter, soft cup sugar, gran eggs	ulated	3 Milky Way candy 4 tablespoons milk 3/4 cup sifted flour	bars
197	1/2	cup chopped	walnuts

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Melt candy bars with milk in the top of a double boiler; add to mixture and blend well. Mix nuts with flour until evenly distributed. Add to mixture and blend just en ugh to mix ingredients together. Spread batter in an 8-inch square greased and floured baking pan. Bake in hot oven 400° for about 30 minutes. Remove from oven; place on cake rack and mark off in squares when still warm. After the brownies are completely cool, remove from pan.

"Merely trying to teach Jack a lesson," Tim replied. "Haven't you noticed the way he's been ogling the ladies lately? That's bad. Before this day is over he'll find out it's a dangerous busin He'll be back before you close tonight, mark my words.' He was right. Portraits

Not one of the gospels is what in modern times would be called a "definitive biography" of Jesus-a story so complete that no one would ever bother to investigate further. They are not biographies at all. They are not photographs, they are more like portraits. A commercial photograph is a neutral sort of thing. A portrait is an interpretation. Mark interprets Jesus as the mighty Son of God with power. Very little teaching is reported by Mark-it is all action, and rapid action too. Luke's portrait is of the broad humanity of Jesus, his sympathy with all men, with women and children too. He gives us Jesus, the ideal human being. John's portrait interprets Jesus as the divine Son of God, in constant touch and harmony with the Father on high, doing the works of God and teaching the truth of God. In other gospels Jesus' teaching is, so to speak, in his own name. In John the reader is never allowed to forget that it is all the teaching of God. Matthew combines the wonder-worker and the teacher in one portrait; Jesus ' appears as the One with Authority. From the very beginning, where Jesus is presented as the scion of kings, to the end where he is given "all authority in heaven and earth," he moves with majesty and power.

can see who will take the trouble to read some of the fantastic or dull productions the church rejected. (See The Apocryphal New Testament, in any large library.)

Viewpoints

Not only are the portraits different, but the viewpoints of the four gospels are varied. Two features of Matthew's point of view will be evident all the way along. One is that he tries to interest Jewish readers. He quotes the Old Testament more often than any other gospel; he traces Jesus' family tree back to Abraham through the Hebrew kings (quite a contrast to the family tree given by Luke). To this day it remains one of the best gospels for interesting Jews in the life of Jesus. The other feature is that while Matthew begins, as it were, on the small stage of the Jewish people, he does not remain there. The Christ who comes first only as heir to the throne of David, is at last seen to have the very authority of God himself. Already in the gifts of the wise men Matthew hints his truth: Christ is

Lord of all men everywhere. (Based on oullines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, Na-tional Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S. A. Released by Community Press Service.)

"Don't tell me you ran off the road and killed the redhead?"

"Worse than that," he gasped. "She wants to marry me!"

About this time the door opens and Tim dashes across the room with a bill in his hand. "Here's your ten!" he cried, forcing the paper into Jack's limp hand. "Didn't think you could do it! Re-mind me not to make any more bets with you.'

Jack just sat there as if he had turned to stone. I tried to tell him about my own home, and how much I loved it, and if it weren't for him I'd be there now. I was just about to chuck him out into the dark street when the front door opened again; the redhead, attired for travel loped straight at Jack.

"I'm all packed, darling," she purred.

Jack gulped. I had to help him -somehow.

"Your wife called," I lied hopefully. "She wants you to pick up some eggs on your way home. Here's a bag-get some out of my ice-box. I know it's too late to buy any.'

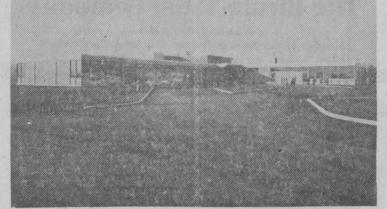

Gratitude showed in his eyes, like a drowning man when he spots a life-raft. The three of us watched as he chucked eggs into the bag as if they were rocksthen he streaked for the door.

When I turned to give the redhead a piece of my mind I was startled to see Tim with his arm around her.

"Permit me to introduce Mary-lyn-my wife," he grinned. "When I told her about our friend's roving eye she suggested this little skit. Marylyn, you see, is an actress. Neat, wasn't it?"

I agreed-naturally.

Jack stops in every day, as usual. Never looks around much though-just straight at the menu. And once in awhile when he doesn't realize I'm listening, he hums to himself, real contendedlike.

Hot Chocolate Eggnog AR

Combining the best features of a piping hot chocolate drink and the creaminess (but not the potency) of eggnog, this newly created winter beverage joins the ranks of treats for young-timers during the holidays. One envelope of chocolate milk shake mix is the ingredient that does the trick, and when combined with two eggs, milk, sugar, nutmeg, and vanilla, makes a creamy winter beverage that is especially neurishing for youngsters "on-the-go" during the busy holiday season.

California Oranges A Holiday Tradition

There was a time that a big California orange in the toe of a Christmas stocking was a rare treat reserved for special occasions such as Christmas. Although oranges still are flavor treats, they are available everywhere, every week of the year. The large Cali-fornia oranges in the markets this time of the year are called navels. You can tell them by the navel formation at the blossom end and their bright natural golden color. Best of all, they are seedless and easy to peel, so are "naturals" for eating whole. Whether you're in the process of wrapping gifts or having a family get-together for the holidays, a tray of Peppermint Stick Oranges makes a welcome sight. Just cut a small hole in the top of each orange and insert a peppermint stick. Tuck a couple of

A NEW YEAR'S MESSAGE LEST WE FORGET!

The phrase is a caution. Its mean-ing is beware. We are creatures ad-dicted to forgetting. Much of one's forgetting is self-imposed or, conven-ient forgetting. We forget what we should remember, and remember what we should forget. Why we are creat-ed thus is hard to understand, never-theless, it is true.

theless, it is true. We forget names and faces, we for-get obligations and responsibilities. Frequently, we forget our promises. A new year affords new opportunities to correct what was wrong in the old year, to amend what needs mend-ing. It was Benjamin Franklin who said: Each year, one vicious habit rooted out in time ought to make the worst man good.

Resolutions avail nothing unless we Resolutions avail nothing unless we also resolve to carry them out. Other-wise, resolutions are merely retro-spections. Such make us conscious of our shortcomings and omissions. Our greatest failures are omissions rather than commissions. We leave so many things undone, even unattempted. We do not like to bear one another's burdens many times, not even our burdens many times, not even our own.

A follower of Christ is not a follower unless he walks in the Mas-ter's footsteps-going about doing good, sacrificing for human welfare, good, sacrificing for human welfare, ministering to humanity's needs. If everyone who names the Name of Christ were true to his pledge of loyalty and devotion, it would not be long before peace would reign in the earth, and the Fatherhood of God, and the Brotherhood of Man, would become realities. And people would go about with light in their faces, joy in their hearts, and a song on their in their hearts, and a song on their lips. "We

"Weshould walk in newness of life." The path of a new begin-ning, in a new period of time allotted to us by the Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace, this is the way, walk in it.

Budget your time, budget your tal-ents, budget your life. For all belong to Him who came that you might have life, and might have it more abundently.

This is the meaning of a New Year. Let's take cognizance. "Lest we for-get! Lest we forget!"

Woodmoor and Dundalk. In conclusion, Mr. Fox warned that if taxpayers do not receive a tax form in the mail, it does not excuse them from filing a return provided they are required to do so. If forms are needed they can be obtained from the Custom House, Room 130; Inter-nal Revenue Building, 222 E. Red-wood Street; also banks and post of-fices. fices.

Yesterday has mone, tomorrow may not come, today is here. Where we've been represents yesterday, we don't know where we'll be tomorrow, so the time to go places has to be TODAY.
