THOSE FARM EQUIPMENT PRICES

Farm machinery prices have risen each year since 1940, except for 1943. That fact has caused much discussion -some of it highly acrimonous. So an explanation of what has happened and why it has happened should be of interest to farmers everywhere in this age of highly mechanized agriculture.

That explanation has been provided by two members of the Department of Agricultural Economics of Purdue University. The primary causes of the price rises are two: First, increases in the costs of labor and steel, the most expensive items used in making machinery and, second, costs of development and improvement in the quality of the machinery.

At the same time, the equipment producers have made notable strides in increasing the efficiency of production-and those strides have held the price increases to lower levels than would have been necessary otherwise. That story is told by the statistics. Hourly wages of workers in the farm machinery industry were 2.8 times as high in September, 1956, as in 1940, and iron and steel prices were about 2.5 times as high. However, wholesale prices of farm machinery were only 1.9 times as high.

As these Purdue authorities state, "When this or any other industry has to pay more for its major cost items, there is little it can do but raise the price of its products unless the rises can be offset by operating efficiencies.' The equipment makers have adopted figure.—Industrial News Review.

No other cooler can match Dari-Kools fast cooling and year-after-year low operating and mainte-nance costs.

Milk is cooled to 38° in only one hour—assuring a lower bacteria count and better milk. The milk cannot freeze because it is cooled with ice water.

• All Dari-Kool tanks are stainless steel—inside and out (not painted black iron). A rugged 10-gauge steel frame and pre-expanded milk tank assure accurate calibration and correct payment. Dari-Kools are electronically calibrated at the factory.

Antibiotics

Antibiotics are known as aids for poultry — among other uses. They tend to stimulate growth, improve feeding efficiency, and combat disease. Certainly antibiotics are an important tool for poultrymen.

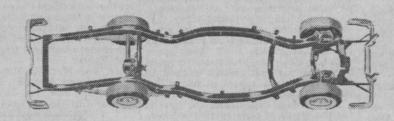

My Recommendation:
Use Dr. Salsbury's MedicAid, a concentrated compound of antibiotics and vitamins (for drinkingwater use). Start chicks on Medic-Aid for faster growth, better health. Costs about 1c a chick, first 4 weeks. Get Medic-Aid in

Here's what makes it a new kind of Ford

The frame is wider... wheels are lower

(Lets you ride sweet and low)

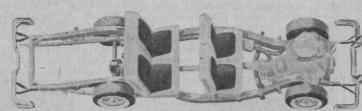

Never before has a low-priced car hugged the road so well. Partly, it's because the frame is sturdier. Partly, it's because the wheels are smaller. Partly, it's the way front and rear suspensions take tilt out of turns. Mostly, it's because there's a whole new smoother-riding quietergoing "Inner Ford."

The power is bigger

(Most power in Ford's 25 years of V-8 leadership)

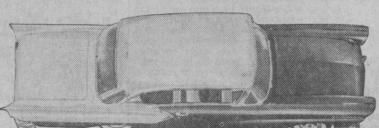

And what a V-8 engine! You can have the kind of Thunderbird power that smashed records at Daytona ... set a new stock car mark at Indianapolis ... traveled 50,000 miles in just 20 days at Bonneville, Utah!

The comfort is greater

(You've never had it so plush)

You sit in the lap of luxury. There's head room, hip room, leg room galore. And wait till you get a load of those new upholsteries and color schemes!

The body is "beefier"

(Up to 9 inches longer, 4 inches lower, with full head room, full road clearance)

From top to floor, front to rear, this body is built like a "battleship." You ride surrounded by new strength.

... and best of all it's the lowest priced* of the low-price three!

The transaction was recorded in the national office of the Ayrshire Breeders Association in Brandon where complete records of all registered Ayrshires in the United States have been maintained since 1875. Because of their ability to produce at a low cost an abundance of milk with an average butterfat test of 4 percent the Ayrshire breed of dairy cattle has become increasingly popular with dairymen throughout the country.

FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

Maryland's General Assembly finally passed the teachers a pay raise of $400, but also passed a bill to put a three-cent tax on cigarettes to pay for the increase in teachers annual pay. Governor McKeldin says he will veto the bill giving the teacners a pay hike because he reels the local communities should take care of their own schools and teachers. As we have pointed out any number of times the school issues have become political hay making and unless the majority or parents get good and mad and raise their voices effectively this sort of political quagmire will continue forever. The school situation has become too big a problem to be handled locally any more and anyone who says it can is just fifty years behind the times. Is it really fair for children who live in a rich section of the country getting so much more in education than the girls and boys who live in poor rural section. Each group will have to face the exact number of problems when they seek jobs, but one group will have a far better chance than the other simply because one group went to a better school. This isn't democracy—this is political expediency by selfish interests. If our national leaders had really been concerned about the awful conditions of schools and the deteriorating quality of our teachers they would not have been so eager to give away to a few states our tideland oil. The profit from this oil would have been more than sufficient to pay each state in the union enough to keep the educational system geared to the changing trends in learning. But we should not put all the blame on other people for every person has a stake in education and a right to work toward improving it. Right here in our own county the differences be-tween schools and what they offer a child is very apparent to even the most casual observer. One end of the county gets so much more than other places and why? Because some parents make themselves heard and de-mand the best for their children, while other parents take what is offered without a murmur. Aggressiveness may not be the talent that one likes best in a person but it is very effective when dealing with certain segments of our society, in getting things done. It is no secret that our local school has been at the bottom of the list in most instances in change and honors. The responsibility of this situation does not rest on any one person; rather it is the result of the entire community's complacency. Some of the leaders of the area no longer have children in the school and therefore believe that the local school is no longer their business. But it is their business both from a source of pride and a tax investment. The type of school a community has is one of the surest way to gauge the mental and pnysical aiertness of its residents. There are many physical signs that our community will grow and increase in prosperity. There is no reason why intellectual growth can't keep pace with physical prosperity and a good beginning for that growth to feed on is to estabish a school in our midst that is second to none in our county. for the strike of construction workers at the local cement plant. Everything else has gone up. Let us add support to a movement for a realistic postal rate of four cents for first class mail and seven cents for airmail. We wonder how many women are as good housekeepers today as they were before the T.V. set was placed in the living room. Did you know that high-frequency sounds can give you a headache or toothache? This may be the reason so many more persons suffer from head-aches today than they did some years Television seems to be more guilty of high-frequency sounds than does radio because singers and orchestra seem to outdo each other in hitting the high notes. Radio appears to have better engineers and they control sound better, then T.V. engineers, or so it seems to one in-dividual who doesn't have one shred of evidence to substantiate this theory

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Continued from first page) feet tall and always dressd in the customary attire of a black dress with a narrow white collar and a matching bonnet with white ties fastened in a small bow under her chin. Her skin was very dark and anyone would have thought she was of the Latin race. She was very thin and wore thick glasses due to poor eyesight all her life. She walked very quickly at all times with a firm, determined step and always called herself, "The Ford Runabout!"

Even though her eyesight was poor she educated her self which was ob tained through schools of correspondence, receiving diplomas and then started out for her future life's ambition to the Deaconess Training School in New York City and completing this course returned to her native State of Maryland when she joined The Baltimore Conference of The Methodist Church. It was much less than a year when

I learned of all her goodness, the activities for the entire neighborhood surrounding the church for many city

Early in the mornings, one could see Miss Ford walking briskly to the room in the Swindell Church to light the special oil stove so as the room would be warm for the thirty-two little tots for the morning session of the Kindergarten class which she taught of all denominations. Regardless of the weather, she was right there. At noon, I would call her after the dismissal of the Kindergarten and say "Soups on!" If she was not invited for lunch in any home around the neighborhood, she would nibble on peanuts all afternoon doing entirely without lunch. In the afternoons, she would make calls upon the sick and hunt up a family that was in need of clothing. I have known Miss Ford to have made twenty to twenty five calls daily and always offered a prayer before leaving.

Her big secret was her age and it was not until today that I learned she was born on October 29, 1866.-Just ninety years of age!

When we were assigned to "Swindell" we learned that Miss Ford was paying the sum of two hundred dollars yearly on the mortgage of the church from her life's savings. M Minister immediately called a Board meeting and made other plans.

On Sunday mornings, Miss Ford taught a Sunday School class and then at church time sat beside me in the pew. She always closed her eyes to keep out the glare of the lights She listened most intently to sermon and many times discussed it after with my Minister during the Sunday dinner in the Parsonage Miss Ford sang the hymns in church from memory regardless of the num ber of verses.

She sold candy which she bought wholesale and placed the money monthly in the church plate. She spoke seven languages fluently and was Aid to the Traveler's Aid in New York City many years and also dur-ing the First World War assisting those individuals of foreign birth with whom she could converse freely. Miss Ford was appointed to the churches by the Bishop until her retirement when she received the small pension and even that she shared with others, keeping just enough to live.

The lady with whom she boarded told about a very cold night when she knocked on the door of the bedroom of Miss Ford to see if she was warm enough and getting no response to her knock, she opened the door softly and there was that Little Mite on her knees in which position she fell asleep.

The "Swindell Church" dedicated a day as "Miss Ford Day" while she lived. She was much embarassed when we told her to which she quickly replied that she was not deserving of it. The first Miss Ford Day, she was presented with a radio and this pleased her very much as she listened to the news and to stories when she was in her bedroom at night. (To be continued in next week's

MEETING OF T. B. ASSOCIATION

Not as many active cases of tuberculosis were uncovered in the recent Chest X-Ray survey conducted in convalescent and nursing homes in the county as were expected, reported Dr. Elmer P. Sauer, medical director of tuberculosis hospitals in Maryland. Dr. Sauer spoke at the annual meeting of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association Monday evening at Hoff-man's Inn. Using a "view box", Dr. Sauer explained the findings on a number of the X-ray films. Nine were found to have what appeared to be inactive tuberculosis and five were quite questionable. Further studies will need to be made to determine the activity of the disease. As was to be expected with this age group, many other abnormalities were report-

Dr. Sauer stated that since tuberculosis seems to be more prevalent in the older males today, he had encouraged the association to direct its case finding activities in the homes for the aged.

Miss Elizabeth Bare, Supervisor of Miss Elizabeth Bare, Supervisor of Nurses, told of the role played by the Carroll County Health Department. The most difficult problems were the positioning of the patients and their lack of interpretation. Miss Bare stated that it is anticipated that extensive follow-up work will be requested by the clinician.

Guest included Mr. Frank Jones, executive director, and Mr. C. Reed Corbin, Field Representative, Maryland Tuberculosis Association, Miss Maude E. Manahan, Mrs. Geo. Schochet, Mrs. Frederick R. Seibel, Mrs. George Otto, Mrs. Ernest W. Dunbar, and Mrs. Charles Stonesifer. During the business session the following officers were elected to serve for the coming year: Dr. Frederick R. Seibel, President; Mr. Ernest W. Dunbar; First Vice President; Mrs. Paul E. Lawyer, Second Vice President; Mr. Francis Gates, Secretary, and Mr. Edwin W. Shauck, Treasurer. New Board members elected to service for a term of three years were:

Dr. William H. Foard, Manchester,
Mrs. William B. Culwell, Mt. Airy, and Mr. Robert Lee Miller, Sykes-

Mrs. Dorothy M. Rinehart, executive secretary, gave a report of the work accomplished during the year. The program and budget for the year 1957-58 was presented for adoption. An expanded program has been planned with the creation of several new committees as follows: Patient Relations Committee, Dr. George Schochet, chairman, and Mrs. William B. Cul-well; Health Education Committee, Dr. Wilbur H. Foard, chairman, Miss Maude E. Manahan, Rev. Paul R. Diehl; Volunteer Services Committee, Rev. R. S. Abernethy, Jr., chairman, Mrs. Paul E. Lawyer, co-chairman, Mrs. M. Katheryn Diffendal, and Dr. Gertrude Sonnenfeldt; X-ray Survey Committee, Mrs. Paul E. Lawyer, chairman, Mr. Samuel Jenness, and Miss Elizabeth Bare; Seal Sale Promotion Committee, Mr. Robert Lee Miller, chairman, Mr. Frank B. Hurt, and Mrs. Clifford Timberman. The association took steps to become incorporated, presenting the articles of incorporation which were accepted by vote. The name of the association will be the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association, Inc., and will be incorporated under the laws of the State of Maryland

Placques for meeting room display contributed by Roger Blanchard and Ronald Corbin procured additional contest points for the Panthers (Edd and ward Reaver leader, Larry Hively More assisting) and the Foxes (Fred Sherman patrol leader, Junior assistant Francis Nelson helping) respectively, who also tied for second and third in Assistant Scoutmaster Harold W. In the latest scoring period the first named had caught up with the front-running Flaming Arrows, but the Flaming Arrow bunch of Stuart Dom, John Knox, Donald Koontz, Donald Reaver, and Robert Shaffer are holding the fort during the absence and illness of their head, Charles Turner, and by their recruiting of Ronald Bowers, Wayne Putman, Edward Simmons, and Terry Riffle stand to garner points when these newcomers pass their candidate test.

Greatest progress, however, has been made by John Myers and James Hemler's Racoon patrol, who were top scorers in the uses and tying of knots to win the placque emblematic of superiority in this skill. If these boys can bring up their attendance and uniform records, they stand a good chance of gaining the honor patrol banner for a time. "FACE LIFTING" OF A MODEL "T" FORD

A striking example of the "Before" and "After" of a Model "T" Ford was in the Apr. issue of Ford Time, a Magazine published by The Ford Motor Company. This Model T "Ford-find" vintage of 1924—is owned by Mr. Larry Parish of Gettysburg, Penna. The story of its acquisition goes like this:

Fired by a desire to some day own for himself a replica of the model here pictured, because there are so few of them left—young Parish was ever alert to realize this ambition.
Via the grapevine he learned that just such a car was stored away in the back of a former Ford dealer's garage in Shamokin, Pennsylvania and lost no time in tracking down the lead. Needless to say, the discovery and lost no time in tracking down the lead. Needless to say, the discovery of this treasure had its notable effects upon Mr. Parish, and realizing the potentialities of his "find", he negotiated and consummated a deal with the owner and thus became the

Mr. Parish hauled the car to Taneytown, Md. and dismantled it part by part—to find that after more than three decades, incredible as it may seem, this 1924 Model T Ford Station Wagon was in excellent mechanical condition with the only replacement parts necessary to put same into A1 operating condition being:

The wooden framework of the body, partially intact, was painstakingly restored by hand, with most of it being new and the upholtery was replaced to its original state.

The time consumed for the entire project was approximately 4 months, on an 8-hour-a-day basis, with the biggest job being that of the general clean-up and finishing. Mr. Parish, ably assisted by his father, did the entire restoration work. Their entire restoration work. Their meticulous and tireless efforts were more than rewarded when, at the Antique Automobile Show at Hershey, Pennsylvania, October 20-21, 1956. this "museum-piece" was awarded First Prize in the 1916-1927 Class. eident is a record noteworthy in any industry and especially in the electric industry where employees of a small district such as Taneytown are expected to perform a multiplicity of tasks, many of which are of a hazardous nature.

Without removing any of the lustre of this ten year safety record, it is necessary to mention another record held by the Taneytown District employes. In the fifteen years since the formation of the Taneytown District, there has been only one lost-time accident recorded there. That accident could have been prevented by the use of a hard hat, now a Company re-

In these ten accident-free years, the Taneytown employes have amassed a total of 353,152 man-hours without a lost-time accident.

Company President R. Paul Smith, in a special message to the Taney-town personnel, said, "The outstand-ing record you have set should be and ing record you have set should be and is, I am sure, an inspiration to all of us. We are all cognizant of the many operating problems of a small District, and know it is only through your complete devotion to the Company's safety program that you have achieved this mark."

In accepting the award, Mr. Breth thanked each employe for their co-operation in making such an award possible. The Shouters

Lesson for April 14, 1957

TT WAS an exciting week in Jerusalem. There was shouting on Sunday; there was shouting on Friday; all about the same Visitor, one Jesus of Nazareth. Only the shouting was different. On Sunday he rode in to the city preceded by a guard of honor, disorderly to be sure, but wildly enthusiastic. They called him King ("Son of David"); they said with loud voices that he came in the name of the Lord; the Hosannas must have been heard for miles. Friday morning the Visitor was mostly Dr. Foreman out of sight. The Roman police had him, and they did not disgorge prisoners easily. The crowd milled about in the streets outside the governor's castle, and they kept yelling "Crucify hin:!" Nothing can be more thrilling than to be hailed as King; nothing can be more dreadful than the sound of a mob hungry for torture.

The Same Voices

Now the strange thir.g is that some of the same people who were shouting "Hosanna!" on Sunday, were shouting "Crucify him!" on Friday. Didn't they know their own minds? Well, they didn't. Shouters seldom do. There are always shouters about, they emerge from every crack when anything exciting goes on. They shout in crowds; solo shouters are rare. If you had taken many (maybe most) members of that Sunday crowd aside and asked each one in private: "Do you really think this Jesus is a King?" it is a fair guess that some of them would have replied, "Well . . . I don't know, of course. But he might be. Good idea to get on the band-wagon. I " and so forth. Further. if you had been able to get private interviews with the bloody-sounding shouters on Friday morning, and asked, "do you really think that this Jesus is guilty-and if he is, of what exactly? Do you personally want to see him crucified by the Romans?" You might have got some answers like-"Was I saying 'crucify'? Well, that's a little strong. Of course I hate to see anybody in Roman hands. No, I don't know the man personally, ut I was told ... " and so forth. I have heard-I was told-They say . . . Your shouter has no mind, all he has is a voice.

We Should Know

It is not such a dark mystery why the same people could yell Hosanna! and Crucify! about the same person within a week. Remember what was lined up against Jesus-intrenched interests, selfishness, indifference, pride, hatred, greed, prejudice. For him there was only truth, and truth has short shrift when the shouters are going strong. We may be shouters ourselves. How is it that on Sunday we can sing the most devoted songs about Jesus, we can even offer prayers in His name, and then on Monday (not waiting till Friday) our actions, which speak louder than our words always, "crucify the Son of God afresh"? we sing come from poems which better Christians wrote; we just sing along with others, we don't think much about what the words mean. Then on Monday we fall into the ways of the world. We don't connect what we are doing (which can be pretty devilish and still legal) with what we said on Sunday; and we don't (maybe) intentionally mean anything against Jesus. But we do and what "everybody" does and says, and don't stop to think (it's too much trouble for a shouter to think) that what we are doing, or failing to do, says louder than words—"Jesus? Who's he? Nobody that makes any difference with me, nobody I'd care to be like!"

If They Had Known Him

There were some who shouted on Sunday who were silent on Friday. The Eleven forsook Him and fled. we know; but we may be sure they did not yell "Crucify Him!" and perhaps the Mother Mary took no voice in the shouting any time. The star of her love shone steadily through the storm. Those who really know Jesus, not by hearsay, rumor or tradition, but know him as a living inner Friend, and Savior, do not change their minds about Him overnight. And sometimes those who love Him most deeply are not to be found among the Shouters, but among those who serve. (Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christian the U.S. A. Released by Community, Press Service.)
