ALUMNI BANQUET

Graduates of T. H. S. Dine Last Saturday

The annual T.H.S. Alumni banquet and dance held Saturday evening, June 8th, was the largest and most successful banquet ever held by the association with more than 265 persons in attendance. Arrangements for the entire evening were very capably handled by the banquet chairman, Mrs. Doris Harner. The family style fried chicken dinner prepared by the Taneytown Firemen's Auxiliary was served by members of the High School. The meal consisted of fruit juice, fried chicken, mashed potatoes, peas, gravy, cole slaw, relish, iced tea, rolls, butter, ice cream and cup cakes. The tables were quite lovely with their freshly cut summer floral arrangements.

Mr. Elwood Baumgardner, chairman of the association, explained the past and the proposed activities of the association and then introduced the Master of Ceremonies for the evening, Captain William (Bill) Sell. Bill, who is so well qualified as a Master of Ceremonies, captivated his audience as he spoke briefly of his recent tour of duty with the Air Corp in Newfoundland. He then introduced several familiar guests of association including Principal of the Taneytown Elementary School, Mr. Frank Wagny and Mrs. Wagny; Principal of the Taneytown High School, Mr. Andrew Mason and Mrs. Mason. Welcome back by the association with great enthusiasm were the Rev. Guy P. Bready, former teacher now retired, and Mr. John Wooden (and Mrs. Wooden) former principal, who is now assistant supervisor of High Schools in Carroll County. Many of those present attended T.H.S. under the supervision of both Rev. Bready and Mr. Wooden—whom they hadn't seen for years. Also present for the evening were members of the first graduating class of T.H.S., the class of 1917, celebrating their 40th reunion anniversary. Those present from that class included Mrs. Howard Roop (and Mr. Roop), Mrs. Eva Krebs Brook (and her sister Mrs. James Krebs Walsh) and Mr. Norman Devibiss. Needless to say, everyone was quite pleased to have this group return and hope to have them return for many more reunions with the association.

Following the roll-call and recognition of reunion classes the group then adjourned to the auditorium for dancing to the music of the popular Mell-O-Tones of Hanover, in which Taneytown's own "Bobby" Sarbaugh is drummer. This group of fine musicians provided such a nice variety of vocal and instrumental numbers that they held the interest of the group for the entire evening. Everyone then departed after thoroughly enjoying an evening of renewing old acquaintances and fond memories of their school days.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

"Life With Father!"—Father Knows Best!

This coming Sunday will be Father's Day!

Although, the big day does follow Mother's Day nevertheless it is just as important.

Many of us take Father just for granted—he is that man who pays the bills—who leaves in the morning and returns for his supper year in and year out without a complaint from that man around your house!

He worries silently not even making any comment about anything but if you notice, folks that is the time he is thinking about the very thing which concerns the members of his household.

There is never a Father's Day without I thinking of the Father I knew in Mt. Washington who was awaiting his first new born baby and then the awful thing happened—that little girl was born dead! They suddenly missed the baby and when the nurse and the Dr. went from room to room they found the father in the corner of the living room with that little still life in his arms!

I recall a father "around the town" who was a widower with a little girl who had the biggest brown eyes and when they would walk, this little girl would say most affectionately, "Daddy, don't that remind you of Mother?" That father told me how his heart ached when she would say these things to him. I remember when I took that little girl and bathed her and combed her hair placing a ribbon on it and when I saw the affect upon the father, I prayed that he would marry again. I often wonder if he did marry!

Many times father will work extra hard by that I mean doing some thing else other than his line of work so as he can give his son or daughter the things that other children have just because he wants his child to be like other children.

Have you ever noticed, folks that many in the household are affectionate with Mother but fail to caress Father. You say, "Oh, Dad knows I love him and I am just not the MUSHY kind! Well, it would be much nicer if you were the mushy kind and start from this very day of FATHER'S DAY and show him how much you care.

I recall when I was about 17 years of age and for some reason or other, I shaved my Beloved Father's face. He was a very handsome man—one of those tall and dark with snow white hair and very thick. He had a little moustache which I curled up at the ends and he was indeed most striking. I kissed his cheek and said, "Papa, you are a handsome man!" I will never forget that sweet smile when he replied with so much love in his eyes, "Thank you, my Pet!"

Another time, I recall when I was thirteen years of age and I had spent my weekly allowance and did not have the car fare to visit my very dear friend, Saretta Paynter who lived some distance away. My Beloved Mother wanted to teach me how to manage and she scolded and said, "Well, you spent your allowance yet you knew that you were to go to Saretta's so now you may remain home!" Of course, I cried telling my Mother that I would not disappoint Saretta for anything and the reply came fast, "You should have thought of that before you spent your allowance," I then ventured to go out the back of the house so as I would not meet anyone on the city streets to see the tears. As I opened the big gate, I heard, "Irene, Irene—hold your dress!" There was my Precious Dad at the big bay window of the sitting room holding up a dime for me to catch!

Different individuals may say, "Oh, that was spilling you!"

It was just for once when he knew and I knew and also as I was taught always to keep any engagement that is made and of course, I did start to walk that distance.

Fathers are like that, folks. I know that you can tell some nice stories about your Father, too. And that reminds me when he is eating his special dish this Sunday—why not tell of some little instances you remember that your Dad did for you. He would like that, I am sure. This Sunday will be our first Father's Day without Father—it just does not seem possible!

The next time I write this Column it will be in the bungalow in Darlington! So long, folks. Have a grand week-end with the best man in your life. Until next week D.V. I am,

Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER.

HEED 'EM AND SLEEP!

Every hour of the day and night $5,800 worth of property goes up in flames, due to the misuse of electricity. This is the estimate of the Committee on Statistics and Origin of Fires and Board of Fire Underwriters, which reports further that this $51 million annual loss is going up, not down.

In an effort to stem this rising tide of needless destruction—which is especially tragic in rural areas beyond the water mains—two groups of safety experts, the International Association of Electrical Inspectors and the Safe Electrical Cord Committee, have laid down a joint code of simple rules that should be followed by everyone, everywhere, at all times:

1. Don't connect too many lamps or appliances to a single circuit. When a fuse blows, this is a danger signal. Be sure to correct the cause (usually overloading) before replacing fuse.
 2. Don't run lamp or appliance cords over radiators or pipes, or touch such grounded metal when handling cords or appliances.
 3. Never touch an electric appliance, radio or light switch (not even the phone) when you are in the bathtub, standing in a puddle (as on a laundry floor) or have wet hands.
 4. Don't place cords in door-jambs or under rugs. Constant closing of door will damage insulation, so will walking on cord—and under the rug you will not see the damage.
 5. Use convenience outlets in walls, not lamp sockets, for connecting appliances.
 6. Never leave an electric iron connected—even for "a few minutes."
 7. Never yank plugs out of sockets by the cord. Grasp the plug itself.
 8. When you buy a lamp, appliance, extension cord, power-supply cord or cord-set, always look for the Flag Label on the cord and the words "Inspected — Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc." This is your proof of a tested, electrically-safe cord.
 9. Always call a qualified electrical contractor for repairs or additions to your wiring. Electrical jobs are HOT. They are not in the "do-it-yourself" range.
- Perhaps you are following all these rules now. But it's more likely you take a chance here and there, now and then, even when you know better. Most everybody does. That's why you hear so many fire-whistles in the night.—U. S. Press Association.

THIS WEEK

—In Washington

With

Clinton Davidson

A House - Senate Economic subcommittee headed by tax policymaker Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D., Ark.) begins hearings this week on your tax bill for next year.

The subcommittee expects to hear tax testimony by numerous experts on how, where and when to reduce taxes. Although it has no specific tax bill before it, the joint Congressional group expects to report to Congress before the end of June.

By the end of this month, it is expected, the Appropriations Committee will have paved the way for tax cuts by lopping some $3 billion off of President Eisenhower's original $71.8 billion 1958 budget.

Two big questions will remain to be answered. Who gets tax relief, and when? There are all sorts of proposals as to who should be first in line for tax reduction. Then, there is the question of whether to pass a tax law this year, or wait until next.

The hearings will tackle the entire budget-taxes topic by covering four main subjects: The current economic situation and prospects for the future; the effect budget cuts on government spending; government fiscal control policies; and the timing of tax reductions.

Hearings are scheduled to wind up late next week with testimony from Treasury Secretary Humphrey, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Martin, and Budget Bureau Director Brundage.

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

The first organ grinder of the season appeared on the streets, on Wednesday—and the next day it rained.

Owing to the increased receipts of the office, the salary of the Postmaster of Taneytown has been raised from $1300 to $1400 a year, beginning on July 1.

The following members of the Taneytown Fire Company attended the State Firemen's Convention, in Annapolis, this week: J. S. Fink, R. S. McKinney, Chas. A. Elliot, B. S. Miller, and Charles O. Fuss.

The county School Board has decided to add another room to our public school building, making four rooms. The addition should be made by adding another story, and no doubt will be. With the extra room will come higher grade work—or high school grade—which will be good news to both patrons and young people of this district.

President Roosevelt and family are now at Oyster Bay, Long Island, for the summer. He expects to remain there, continuously, until the last of September, unless important official duties prevent.

Littlestown.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized, Wednesday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Duttera, the contracting parties being their beautiful and accomplished daughter, Miss Edna, and Mr. Claude LeFevre, son of Mrs. James LeFevre, of Littlestown. The ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. J. J. Hill, after which a reception was held.

Detour.—Prof. J. S. Early and wife, of M. C. I., spent last Sabbath with J. P. Weybright, and filled the pulpit at Rocky Ridge, in the morning. Miss Valley Shroob received a diploma at New Windsor College, last week in music and modern language, also an elaborate tribute of flowers from friends at school. J. P. Weybright and wife, F. J. Shroob and wife and Miss Mary R. Weybright attended the commencement exercises, last week, at New Windsor College.

Harney.—On last Monday, Mr. Russell Shoemaker, a student of Gettysburg College, from this place, left for Reading, Pa., where he has accepted a position as Professional Chemist, at the Reading Iron Works. Russell being one of our Harney boys, we feel an interest in him and assure him that he has our best wishes for success. He expects to return to College again this fall and is determined to work until he graduates.

Chevy's come up with the newest, sweetest, smoothest automatic drive—Turboglide. It's the first and only triple-turbine transmission!

Turboglide is something really new and different in automatic drives. In the first place, there's only one forward-speed position on the control panel. There's no "Low" needed.

Turboglide handles everything with the oil-smooth action of triple turbines. You travel from a standstill to top cruising speeds with never a lurch or lag to mar your motion.

When you see a steep downhill stretch ahead, you set the selector at "GR" (Grade retarder) and Turboglide helps slow you down. Try Chevy's new, nothing-like-it automatic drive. It's optional at extra cost—and worth it.

It has been planned to show this movie at the end of the day's session probably starting at 11 then having Mr. Eto make some comments following the movie. FEESERSBURG

(A Voice from Carroll)

Religion is one subject that we have by-passed in this column for two reasons. One reason is that most people are so sensitive on the subject that they cannot discuss it objectively and the second reason is that we know so little about the matter that we can't write about it intelligently. We only bring the topic up now because everyone is talking about Billy Graham's Crusade for Christ in New York City this month. We have listened to him speak over T.V. and while many may be skeptical about him we feel that he believes not only in himself but also in what he is saying. What really is religion? One dictionary defines it as "any system of faith and worship." Most people think it is conformity to the teachings of Christ, but this isn't true. There are four or five great religions in the world today and only one of these is the Christian religion. Billy Graham himself takes recognition of this fact and states that as long as one believes in something sincerely, his life will be made more rewarding. It is becoming more evident as time passes that psychology is the basis on which any religion begins. This, in my opinion is what Graham is telling "the people although not so bluntly."

As a man thinks, so he is." Each of us has put this bit of philosophy into our own lives many times, and it has worked miracles. Dr. Peale uses this theme in most of his writings and sermons. Thirty years ago a book was published titled "Mind over matter." A famous doctor used to give this book to his patients who were hospitalized with imaginary illnesses. Some read the book and were cured; others became angry and refused to even read the first page. That was the beginning of psychiatry. What Billy Graham is trying to tell the people is the same thing that the doctor tried to tell his patients. Religion can change everyone to a happy, fuller life if they know how to use it. The trouble with most of us is that we don't know how to use it, because we do not know how to use our minds. As we grope toward a better understanding of all religions, we believe with Billy Graham that eventually we will find that the key to human happiness and dignity rests within our adherence to our religious training and the growth of our intellect. Not many people are willing to think about religion—they only act toward it or against it. The power of Billy Graham is that he makes people think about it.

Last week members of the graduation class of the Elmer Wolfe school were receiving applause and attention and that is how it should have been. But what about the boys and girls who are graduates of years gone by? It's always interesting to hear what they are doing. This week we heard from two, Miss Audrey Bowers, who enlisted in the U.S. Air Force last year after she finished school was promoted last week to Bay Chief at Kirtland Air Force Base in New Mexico. Congratulations! Also last Saturday David M. Buffington, a former graduate of our local school and Western Maryland College received his law degree from the University of Maryland. Congratulations! The community is always interested in young peoples whereabouts and the work they are doing. Let us hear from you and we will pass it on to the readers.

A friend of mine in a nearby town is lucky enough to have a maid to help her with the housework and the children but she isn't quite satisfied. So several weeks ago she decided to enroll Minnie, the maid in a school in Baltimore that teaches efficient housekeeping. My friend explained this to Minnie but she didn't seem too enthused. When the day arrived for Minnie to go to the city for the course she said she wasn't going. When asked why she replied: "Well, I already know how to do more than I really want to do."

Two belligerent robins tried to keep me from picking enough cherries from our tree to make two pies. They must have thought I was just another black bird with whom they have been having guerrilla warfare all spring. They fussed and danced from limb to limb and begrudged me every cherry I picked. But they finally stopped when they saw I was going to stick to my fruit picking. Looking about I saw what the fuss was all about. They had built their nest two feet from where I was standing. No wonder they were alarmed.

Did you know this is Dairy month? Eat all the cheese and butter you can and drink milk instead of soft drinks so that the farmer can stay in business. He is having a difficult time holding on to the family farm with rising costs and too low prices for his products. Dairy products are good for your family's health too so be a wise homemaker and a good neighbor at the same time.

We are sorry New Windsor Firemen had such a rainy week for their carnival. Usually Union Bridge has uncooperative weather but this year the weather man switched sides. Better luck next year.

Last week the junior class of our school were using their parents cars and gas to search Carroll and Frederick counties for red roses. They had to cover 18 arches for the commencement exercises. People from every spot in the two counties cut their beautiful roses and graciously gave them to the juniors. We wish each person could have seen the arches when finished and how beautiful and effective they were in the ceremony for the seniors. The seniors rowed in white marching under the red arches made a picture long to be remembered and the juniors holding the arches and singing with bright, earnest faces filled one's eyes with emotional tears. Youth with its seriousness, gaiety, maturity and foolishness is a challenging picture at commencement time. It is also a picture of satisfaction and accomplishment for so many people are involved to produce this show-piece.

If you want to save something worthwhile for your old age—save your marriage.—Ruth Roelke.

THE FIVE RACES—

God created five races of men on earth, they say,
Two of which there is much contention to-day;
Of the other three races, very little we know;
But, He must have had a reason, for doing so.

The Caucasian race is in the limelight to-day;
But, unless we change tactics, we shall lose it, they say;
For, the Nation on earth which serves God best
Is the one He intends shall lead all the rest.

Once the Ethiopian race took the lead, they say;
But, like some of the others, it went to decay;
And, so it has been in all the ages of time,
When one race went down, another would climb.

Take the ancient country of Edom; some say,
Job, was the patriarch there, in his day;
They, too, were wealthy and wise in that day;
But, their knowledge all went to Egypt, they say.

They all had Leaders of great renown;
But, when they passed on, the countries went down;
So it has been since man was first known to be;
And, so it shall be till Eternity.

Who was "Abe" Lincoln, in another life?
And, why was he born in an age of great strife?
God sent him here to set the sons of Ham free;
So, as "the great emancipator", he was known to be.

In our day, his star is ascending every place we go
And, the sons of Ham are approaching "a-row";
In 100 years, such progress was never known to be
As the sons of Ham have made in America.

So, what Time shall tell, we do not know;
But, the history of the past shows, how things can go,
So, the wise thing to do, like brothers, to be
Since we all hope to live in Eternity.

God has a reason for keeping countries hid;
Take America, for example, of what He did;
For ages, only the Indian knew this country, was here,
No others knew of this great hemisphere.

But, to-day, she is the Leader, they say;
That is why God did what He did they also say;
He made her rich and from famine free;
So, to her, all peoples would yearly flee.

There is no other place on earth to-day
Where men are as free as in America, they say;
She is God's pattern Nation for all peoples to see
How wonderful, some day, the whole earth shall be.

In this land of "milk and honey", all shall know
Why the God of heaven has made it so;
Here the brotherhood of man shall start to be;
So, an object lesson, it is, for all to see.

Paradise, they tell us, shall start right here—
That truth, to me, seems each day more clear;
Else why did God hide, then put it in first place
If it is not an object lesson for every race?

These are things we shall all ponder well;
(And, that is why so many come here to dwell);
They know that God rules their great land of ours
With its silver, and gold, and beautiful flowers.

Here they can see just how things shall be
When time shall end in Eternity;
And, here they shall learn that the love of God
Takes the place of what is called the "iron rod".

If I had more space I should like to tell
Of what a privilege it is here to dwell;
It is not only a land of plenty to-day;
But, a Symbol of Paradise, in every way.

The whole scene pictures just how things shall be
Through the endless years of Eternity
When, men like brothers shall seem to be
And when cares of every kind shall flee.

In that day the lion and the lamb shall together feed;
And, no longer kill because of greed;
The whole Earth a Paradise shall be
When Earth celebrates her great jubilee.

A Glamorous Party Punch

A punch is the ideal beverage to serve at a party and punches are especially popular with the teen-age crowd. Here's a punch delicious and really glamorous. For a valentine party or an engagement party it can be decorated with candy hearts floating on gobs of whipped cream. For parties with a patriotic theme you might use tiny American flags stuck in the stiffly whipped cream. Shamrock candies are for St. Patrick's Day. And you can think up a decoration to suit any occasion.

It's an easy, quick punch to make, but remember that all ingredients must be thoroughly chilled for good flavor and bubbly sparkle.

Strawberry Cream Punch

2 cups frozen strawberries, cut in fourths
1/4 pint strawberry sherbet (or ice cream)
1/4 teaspoon almond flavoring
2 cups milk
1 28-oz. bottle Canada Dry cream soda
1 cup heavy cream

Combine first 4 ingredients in large punch bowl. Fill bowl with ice cold cream soda. Whip the cream and drop by tablespoons in mounds over top of bowl. Top each mound with a candy heart or other decoration. Makes 16 punch cup servings.

The Payroll Savings Plan is the one sure way

The commencement exercises are over. The diploma you worked four years to get is yours. And the world is waiting!

So now you're on your first job. Bet you've got plans, too! There's a certain kind of car you've had your eye on all through school. Or, perhaps there's a certain girl. In either case, you'll need a good chunk of money!

And although jobs are plentiful and wages are high, a starting salary is still just that—a starting salary. You have to figure some way to save for those plans of yours!

There is a wonderful way offered to you by your Government. It's the Payroll Savings Plan. Here's how it works.

You simply sign the authorization card in your payroll office. Sign up for as little or as much as you like.

Each pay period the amount you've named is set aside in your account. When you've accumulated enough, a Savings Bond is purchased in your name and given to you. And those Bonds start to add up to real money fast because, not only are you purchasing them regularly, but the Bonds you already own are earning interest for you.

Now Savings Bonds are better than ever!

Every Series E Savings Bond purchased since February 1, 1957, pays 3 1/4% interest when held to maturity. It pays higher interest, too, in the earlier years, and matures in only 8 years and 11 months. Now, more than ever, it's smart to save with guaranteed-safe U. S. Savings Bonds. Buy them regularly where you bank or through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Part of every American's savings belongs in U. S. Savings Bonds.

Family Tensions

Lesson for June 16, 1957

"THE family is a divine institution. That is to say, God invented it. He thought of it before men did. He intended it. So it should be a success. Yet the family is also a human institution—that is to say, all homes are made up of human beings. Every home therefore, suffers from the ailments that nag at all things human. A successful home succeeds in spite of all the human handicaps. A home that does not succeed, fails because these handicaps strain it too much.

Dr. Foreman

Tensions

A favorite modern word for these stresses and strains within a home is "tensions." The word is new but the thing is old. Tension is what makes the teen-ager scream, and her mother feels like screaming. "I can't stand this another minute!" Tensions are what make meal-times regular battle-grounds, what give mothers nervous prostration and fathers peptic ulcers before their time, what may make children remember their childhood with a kind of shudder. Tensions are what keep juvenile delinquents from going home, tensions may even be the beginning of lost minds. Now the thing is old, as was just said. In the home of Jacob, who was a God-fearing man, there was plenty of it. There was tension between him and his wives, between the wives themselves, between some wives and some sons, between the sons, between him and his sons. The family, so to speak, was pulled every which way, and actually at last broke up.

What Can't Be Helped

Some tensions cannot be helped. They are in the nature of things. In a home there are persons of different ages, sexes and temperaments. This cannot be avoided. Yet the "battle of the sexes" rages from generation to generation; younger people find older people sometimes very hard to get along with, and vice versa. In Jacob's home he was much older than his wives, very much older than his sons. Men and women in those days and times probably differed even more sharply than now, kept separate as they were for much of the lives. And in Jacob's home temperamental differences surely could hardly have been more striking. The thing to remember is that since these strains cannot be helped, something good can be made of them. The man's point of view is different from the woman's, of course; but it takes both of them to make a healthy human point of view. Youth needs the caution and the wisdom of older people; older people need the optimism and enthusiasm of younger people to keep them from withering on the vine. Different temperaments can balance one another. A home can capitalize on its very handicaps.

What Can Be Helped

Nevertheless, some strains and stresses are just the result of human meanness, human sin. They can be helped, they call for repentance and change. Consider the home of Jacob. His wives did not get along together; but while it was in those times legal enough, it was foolish for a man of his temperament to have married all those four women, especially as he loved only one of them. Some of the trouble arose from young Joseph's 17-year-old conceit. Perhaps he couldn't help his dreams of grandeur; but he did not need to tell those dreams at the breakfast table. And some of the trouble lay in Jacob's playing up his son Joseph.

How to Help It

A foundation-stone for harmony in the home or anywhere else, is harmony with God. One who lives close to God will remember that God's will is always for peace, never for strife. The soul conscious of being forgiven by God will be more ready to forgive others. The spirit blessed by the grace of God—and God's grace comes only to the humble—will not be forever standing on its rights and complaining about its wrongs. It would be a good thing for many a family all nervous with many tensions, to read together the thirteenth chapter of I Corinthians, the great chapter on love-in practice, and then spend a while in silence, each one thinking: Does this describe me? And if not, do I not need God's forgiveness, and a fresh start?

SHORT STORY

City Slicker

By Ona L. Lathrop

PETE WILSON shuffled his solitary deck together, tossed it on his sparrowed desk, and got up as he heard the car stop outside. He glanced through the grimy filling-station window. Business at last, maybe!

"Wowie! What a wham-doddle of a boat!" he sighed to himself, eyeing the long low red and cream convertible as he sauntered out. "Howdy. Fill her up?" he grinned casually.

The couple in the car didn't even glance his way as they wrangled. "You and your scenic highways!" the man was snorting. "She's running hot and we'll probably never be able to get it fixed in this hick town. Nothing but greenhorns in a place this size."

"You make me tired, Blaine Woodward. Just because I wanted to see something besides turnpikes, you blame me for your silly old car going capoot. If it isn't built to climb a hill, you'd better trade it in again." And she went inside the filling-station.

"Looks like trouble all right," he said. "Going to take a little time."

"Something the matter with the battery, I think," the man told Pete. "Make it snappy, will you?" "Mister, I just check gas and oil. My helper—he's sort of a mechanic—but he's home to lunch." Pete raised the hood uncertainly.

"Lunch! At four in the afternoon? Well, get him back here, can't you?" He began pacing impatiently beside the car now, wiping off a trace of dust here and there.

"No telephone here. He'll be back in due time. His wife's got a new baby and they eat at odd hours. Sorry." Pete peered under the hood but these new cars were a puzzle to him.

A long time after, Pete's assistant, Bill Wilder, came ambling around the corner. "Got a little job for you," Pete told him, giving him a sidelong wink from behind the raised hood.

The man came hurrying up. "Do you know your business, Mac, or are you just a grease-monkey? I only want experts working on this car."

Bill peered in, poking at this and that. "Looks like trouble, all right," he announced gruffly. "Going to take a little time, sir."

"You hurry it up. I've got to get over the mountain before dark."

It was growing dusk now and the man kept looking under the hood and getting in their way. Pete thought fast.

"Mister, why don't you and your wife go in and order supper. My wife's got a big beef stew cooking and she'd be glad to fix it up."

Woodward stomped angrily off toward Pete's house. The blonde came to the door. "It smells wonderful in here, darling. Let's eat. I'm starved."

"Oh well, we can't make it now, I guess. Might as well. These hicks—"

Pete watched Bill unscrewing this and that. "Found the trouble?"

"Sure," Bill chuckled. "But I guess there's no hurry, eh?"

"Sure isn't. Take your time. We're just a couple of hicks, you know." They laughed and poked each other in the ribs.

"Just leave the hood up," Pete told Bill. "I have an idea Old Moneybags will be watching out the window to see if we're working."

The next morning, after a steaming breakfast of sausages, hot-cakes and maple syrup, they paid their bills and took off.

Pete fingered the roll he held thoughtfully. "Not bad for one customer," he laughed. "Ten for the repairs, a tank of gas and an oil change, coffee, supper, a night's lodging—boy, I haven't pulled a job like that in months. What was the matter with the thing anyway, Bill?"

Bill guffawed. "Just needed battery water. Course, it takes a blueprint to find where the battery is in some of these fancy new babies, and it takes an expert to diagnose the trouble."

They slapped each other on the shoulder and Pete peeled a bill off and handed it to him. "Pretty good night's business for a couple of greenhorn hicks," he laughed.

We use our phone as our bargain shopper

I'm a mother with three small children who are too young to be left alone. As a result, I can hardly ever find the time to go to a sale in person.

So I've made my phone my bargain shopper. And does it save me money!

Last month, for instance, I saved over $60 on a TV set. They were on sale but, as usual, I didn't have the time to go to the sale. I phoned the store and explained my situation. They were nice enough to send one out on trial, which we liked and bought.

We also use our phone to hunt for bargains, such as one-day sales on play clothes for the kids, gardening needs, many things a growing family uses.

Our telephone bargain-hunting savings are often small. But we believe they add up to enough so that our phone pays for itself—and we know our phone gives us more time to live our lives as we like.

MEETING OF WOMEN'S GUILD

The Women's Guild of Grace E & R Church met June 6, 1957 in the Parish House. The program was in charge of the Missionary Education Committee, Mrs. Clyde Hesson and Mrs. Harold Anders, co-chairmen.

The program began with Mrs. Hesson reading a meditation followed by the assembled group singing the hymn, "Saviour, Like A Shepherd Lead Us." Scripture from Luke 18: 15-27 was read by Mrs. Harold Anders.

ders followed by prayer by Mrs. Elvin Study.

A trio made up of Vesta Null, David and Kenneth Reifsnider sang "The Prayer Perfect" with Mrs. D. Leonard Reifsnider as piano accompanist. Mrs. Charles Anders read the poem "My House", followed by Donna and Wayne Hively singing "Open The Door For The Children" with Mrs. Edgar Fink as accompanist. Mrs. Elvin Study presented the reading, "The Sunset Line" and the women's chorus sang "Bless The Lord, O My Soul".

Mrs. Hesson introduced the speaker for the evening, Mrs. Mark Michael, wife of the superintendent of Hoffman's Home, near Littlestown, Pa. She told of the vision the late George and Agnes Hoffman had and how the vision slowly materialized with the first building, Barclay Cottage being built in 1911 and through the other buildings, until Memorial Chapel was built in 1938. The word orphanage does not apply any more, it is a Home for children, now and is represented by Potomac, Mercersburg and Central Pennsylvania Synods. They have Sunday School, Worship Service, Youth Fellowship and Chapel Choirs as well as special services on special days to help the boys and girls grow up as Christian men and women. The home is operated from offerings, wills and annuities, the main source of food being Harvest Home Donations. The Auxiliary takes care of clothing and incidental needs.

At the present time there are 33 children at the home, ranging in age from 7 to 20 years. 3 girls graduated from Gettysburg High School recently and will soon be leaving. In closing, Mrs. Michael reminded everyone of Anniversary Day on June 27 when Judge Sheely from Gettysburg will be the speaker. A home cooked ham dinner will be served at noon and there will be the usual ice cream, soft drinks, sandwiches, Fish Pond and Novelty Table.

The program continued with Miss Margaret Shreeve playing the piano offertory and Mrs. Hesson giving the offertory prayer. The hymn, "He Leadeth Me" was sung and the program concluded with everyone praying the Lord's Prayer.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. George Motter, president. Reports were heard from the secretary and treasurer and approved. Correspondence included "Thank You Notes" from Elmer Crebbs, Emma Rodgers and Helen I. Bankard. Mrs. Mervin Wantz read an invitation to the "Tea" at the Carlisle Home for the Aged on June 19 at 2:30 p. m. Anyone interested in going please contact Mrs. Wantz so transportation can be arranged.

After some discussion it was decided to set aside $300 as a savings account to be used as we see fit when the need arises.

An invitation will be written to Mrs. Remsburg, Boonsboro, to visit our Guild in September.

The Lawn Fete will be sponsored by the Women's Guild on July 20.

There will be no meeting in July. The August meeting will be in charge of the Christian Social Action committee, Mrs. Otis Shoemaker and Mrs. Frank Wargny, co-chairmen.

The meeting adjourned and a brief social period followed.

"Since the Guild has met, the president has called an executive board meeting at her home, 68 York Street, June 18 at 8 o'clock. It is important that you attend."
