HOSPITAL FOR CARROLL COUNTY

Fund-Raising Campaign Is Being Planned

Mr. Scott S. Bair of Westminster was named General Chairman of the fund raising campaign for Carroll County General Hospital, it was announced this week by Atlee W. Wampler, Chairman of the Hospital committee. Mr. Bair served as chairman of the Carroll County War Memorial committee which brought the Carroll County Medical Center into being.

Mr. Wampler in announcing Mr. Bair's chairmanship stated, "We are very pleased that Mr. Bair has agreed to serve in this capacity. The Hospital project is the logical second step in a program to meet the medical needs of the people of our County, and Mr. Bair's continued association with the project augurs well for its success".

The proposed hospital is to be built as a wing to the present War Memorial Medical Center Building off the Washington Road in Westminster. Plans now being prepared call for a 50 bed medical-surgical unit. The plans are a result of a survey conducted last year by the Hospital Committee.

Mr. Bair is a life-long resident of Carroll County. He was born in Westminster in 1901. In 1927 he formed the National Advertising Company. During the years he had developed this company into the largest highway advertising firm in America. In 1947 it was sold to the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company. His current affiliations include: Director of the Carroll County National Bank; Director of the Maryland State Farm and Agricultural Society; Director of the Investors Loan Corporation of Frederick; Director of the Westminster Hardware Company; Chairman of the Board for Lincoln Manufacturing Company of New Windsor, and President and Director of the New Center, Incorporated of Waynesboro, Penna. Mr. Bair is a member of Grace Lutheran Church in Westminster.

Mr. Bair expressed confidence in the success of the hospital program stating, "The need for the Hospital is evident. Every year thousands of our Carroll County people must go to Baltimore City, Gettysburg and Hanover for hospital service. The people feel that a hospital is needed here and I have found that when the people of America want something, they usually get it. The Carroll County Hospital will be no exception to this".

CANADIAN ROCKIES

Travelers Describe Trip to the West Coast

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ohler and Mrs. Wesley Shoemaker returned home from a trip to the Canadian Rockies and Canada last Tuesday. We stopped to see Rev. and Mrs. Earl Wantz, who is Assistant Minister at the Park Ridge Lutheran Church, a suburb of Chicago. Then traveled on through the Wisconsin dells of beautiful lakes and rich dairy farms, into Minnesota with its dairies, farm lands, iron mines, lakes and forests. In Fargo, N. D., we saw the destruction of a cyclone that hit the city the last of May, destroying houses in a ten city block width and twenty-nine city blocks in length. The destruction was terrible to see. In N. D., we passed thru the town of Rugby, the geographical center of North America. In N. D. and Montana we saw hundreds of miles of strip farming of oats, barley and wheat. In eastern Montana we traveled thru the northeastern part of the Bad Lands.

In Browning, Montana, we went to the Plainsmen Museum. This depicted the daily life of the Indian on the Reservation. A very fine portrayal so designed that the visitor has a strong impression of being in the activity portrayed.

We entered Glacier National Park from the city of Glacier on the West. Glacier Park covers 468 square miles and is characterized by massive peaks, giant glaciers, 200 lakes, beautiful water falls and caves. None of the peaks in Glacier are under 10,515 feet high. When you enter the park you are given Log - "Going-to-the-Sun Highway" - from West Glacier to the east entrance. The Going-to-the-Sun Highway is about 50 miles long, starting in the valley floor and over the Glacier to the east. It is the highest road in North America. Beautiful mountain peaks, crags, lakes and waterfalls can be seen. The melting ice and snow from the glaciers form brilliant green lakes.

Wild inhabitants that we saw were the mountain goat and sheep, bear, deer and elk. Many acres of wild flowers were in bloom to add to the beauty of the park.

Glacier Park is a natural starting point for tourists who plan to visit Banff, Yoho, Kootenay, Lake Louise, Columbia Icefield and Jasper Park in Canada.

From Glacier we went to Calgary, Alberta, Canada and traveled the beautiful Bow River Valley into Banff National Park.

Banff National Park contains an area of 2,564 square miles and is the oldest of the parks. The Continental Divide runs thru Banff and Jasper. The water on the west going to the Pacific, on the east to the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico and on the north to the Arctic Ocean. In Banff we went to Mt. Norquay to see the chair lift and ski-way. Rising thru a vertical distance of more than 1300 feet, the 3240 foot long chair lifts sightseers

TEACHER EDUCATION ASSURED SUPPORT

Funds Being Collected To Lessen Teacher Shortage

Joining the ranks of the many organizations and individuals throughout the County endorsing the program of the Carroll County Scholarship Fund, Inc., the Mt. Airy Kiwanis Club recently presented its contribution to the work of the new organization. At present, the funds received are approaching the $2000 mark and indications are that many groups vitally interested in the project have not been able to take action because of the curtailment of meetings during the summer months.

Originated by the County P-T-A Council interested in seeing that schooling was made possible for potential teachers through the scholarship plan for qualified candidates, the fund has been well received and supported by numerous organizations and individuals.

Checks and cash in amounts varying from $5.00 to over $300 have been received in the past few months by the Treasurer of the corporation, E. E. Baumgardner, Taneytown, showing the interest throughout this area for training students who might otherwise not have the opportunity of the college work necessary for them to commit themselves to teach in Carroll County for two years.

Mrs. Wm. B. Culwell, President of the Scholarship Fund has in a recent statement, urged that all organizations, civic and social, as well as P-T-A, groups and interested individuals, take action to support the plan to assure teachers here. Interviews with a number of candidates are taking place now at Mrs. Culwell indicated that the fund should be made as large as possible to be of most value to the county.

In addition to the donation from the Mt. Airy Kiwanis Club funds have been received from: Manchester Ladies Auxiliary to Fire Company, Frizellburg Homemakers, Mount Airy Lions Club, Mount Airy Homemakers, Winfield P-T-A, Manchester P-T-A, Middletown Homemakers, Mount Airy P-T-A, Carroll County Council PTA, Carl K. "SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)
With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness

Sailing down the Chesapeake on Monday with the thermometer reaching to 94 in the city) was so cool that I had to put on a coat! There were exactly 407 on board—a number getting off in Tolchester which was the first stop and then on to Betterton. It was different than other years as the atmosphere was so quiet due to the fact there was no music. I learned that the band or other type of music only is played on week ends. Why? The Wilson-Tolchester was sold to another group. Even to the saluting of the flag was omitted at Fort McHenry. (Passing that famous Fort). The Moonlight trips do still have the music.

A group of Catholic Sisters enjoyed the outing and many were most kind to them as they were very friendly. After reading good books which I observed as to the titles, a card table was brought before four of them and also a deck of cards and there they sat playing the game and I whispered to one, "What is the name of the game?" "PINOCLE" she replied.

Upon reaching Tolchester there was much excitement on board as a little boy of about six years of age was running all over the boat screaming for his Mother. AND—she did not miss him until the gang plank was being drawn back into the boat and then they had to do that—all over again! A lady on board held the little hand tightly until she saw he was safe on shore with his Mother—What a REUNION! Nuff Sed! You can picture that one dear Readers, Eh? As the boat slowly pulled away from shore, that little boy was hysterical still clinging to his Mother!

Shopping in Oxford, Pa., while in that city, I saw a number of articles on tables in front of a big store and then the prices, at the most reasonable prices. I observed there were bathing shoes or beach shoes for the price of $2.00. Thick rubber soles "n everything. I took the pair into the store to have them wrapped and when I paid the nice elderly proprietor he said, "Bless you!" I have heard that many times but never once to a customer!

If you want to see something just so different with two of the most prominent Stars by all means go down to the New Theatre and see "An Affair to Remember." That affair will remember for it is sweet, light, humorous, interesting, entertaining and much else. The Stars are Carey Grant that likeable man of 53 years of age and real English, too but he does love America, in fact ran away from his English home when he was only a youngster to come to the good old U.S.A. He is always interesting in any picture and as for Deborah Kerr—this picture excels in any I have ever seen her. The entire picture is full of charm. As Terry McKay she is simply Super - Duper and her talent for acting is ooo lah lah! There is a real, deep down to earth love story in the hearts of these two Stars which turns out happily ever after. The couple meet aboard a trans-Atlantic luxury—well—I leave the rest to you but that one should be a 'must' for you and your and you. Then, on the way home stop by and pick up the August Coronet and read all about Carey Grant—his story—the real true one and you will enjoy, "An Affair to Remember" even in your thoughts about that Star who gets $100,000. for each picture and only takes home $80,000!

And thinking of people I almost forgot to tell you that I heard a boy of about 18 years of age say on the Betterton boat the other day to his girl, "This is the first time, I have ever been on a boat and this has been the happiest day of my life!" Cute? A reply to G.M.—Try to convince your husband that it would be best for your health and his as giving up this "Wonderful" grocery business. At your ages you should try to take things easier and enjoy life a little by resting and relaxing. Yes, you can be operated on for varicose veins.

Why not contact your Dr. immediately. I have known many cases just like yours as to those veins and all turned out successfully. As to that business, it positively can be sold even if the buyer does not have much money to put down, any bank would loan on it if it is as thriving as you stated. I understand what you mean when you stated your husband will not listen—there are plenty who listen but will not take heed before it is too late. However, you can realize this that if anything happens you have done your part in trying to convince your husband that he should give up the business. I know of another very fine man who is in the Hardware business whose father and brother died from working too hard, yet he does not want to quit stating he would die if he had nothing to do!

So long, folks until next week. D. V. Have a grand week end and be careful when you drive. I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

MENACE TO THE SMALLER RETAILERS

It is proposed that the federal wage-hour law be extended to retailing—though this industry, along with certain other service businesses, has been exempt during the law's entire existence. If this effort succeeds, what will be the result?

Russell R. Mueller, managing director of the National Retail Hardware Association, wanted an answer to that question. So he polled hardware dealers on their views, and got the remarkable total of 3,000 replies. Of all these, exactly two favored placing retailing under the federal wage-hour law. All the others were opposed—often vehemently so—and for the soundest of reasons.

An Iowa dealer wrote, "The Wage-Hour Bill would have a devastating effect on small operations. Any further burdens such as the wage bill would force on us would about wind up a good many hundred Main Street merchants." A Massachusetts dealer wrote, "... Any time the government regulates, it is the little fellow who has the greatest difficulty adjusting." A Mississippi dealer wrote, "Small town stores can't stand any more expenses..." A Missouri dealer wrote, "We would be forced to discontinue all outside service and become a one-man store or discontinue completely..." An Ohio dealer wrote, "What is wrong with the law of supply and demand? What happened to all the party platforms concerning private business versus government control?"

So the answers went. Their substance is clear: Extension of the law would be a body blow to all retailing, and especially to the smaller retailers—and the effect on the consuming public would be of an extremely damaging nature.—Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

KANSAS CITY, KAN., PRESS: "It is common sense that there must be a limit to the upward price spiral, else a loaf of bread will demand a wheelbarrow of currency as it did in Germany after World War I."

CANTON, PA., INDEPENDENT-SENTINEL: "To all those students graduating from either high school or college... we say, without qualification, that the United States is still the land of opportunity. It is true that taxes are higher than they were a few decades ago, but it is also true that jobs are more plentiful, and earning power much greater."

ROSEBURG, ORE., NEWS-REVIEW: "The Hells Canyon project has become an exceptionally good political propaganda vehicle. This issue has been played out of all proportion to its economic factor. Although the differences between the proposed construction plans are of comparatively minor importance, the project puts the principles of public and private power in direct opposition to one another..."

FREDONIA, N. Y., CENSOR: "Mao-Tse-tung is now reported to have admitted that 800,000 people were liquidated by his regime up to 1954. The news seems cold in print. But it should be dwelled upon... How many regimes in all history have executed as many as 800,000 human beings?"

OLYMPIA, WASH., DAILY OLYMPIAN: "News of an influenza epidemic sweeping the Far East formerly would have caused grave apprehension on this side of the Pacific, for infectious diseases are no respectors of geographical boundaries. Health authorities, however, believe there is no cause for alarm in the U. S."

"One reason is to be found in the magnificent advances of medical science and research."

CATSKILL, N. Y., ENTERPRISE: "Statistics are working in favor of older employees in industry and the premise that they are less productive is being continually disproved. The Industrial Bulletin, published by the New York State Dept. of Labor, opines that 'output man-hours show little significant variations among age groups.' The magazine gives figures to show that older workers have a better attendance record than younger employees and that older workers have fewer accidents on the job. Hiring older workers is good sound business practice. Their experience gained through the years is indispensable."

HARMONY, MINN., NEWS: "To train children at home, it's necessary for both the parents and children to spend some time there."

LAKE CITY, IOWA, GRAPHIC: "The federal government owns billions of dollars worth of—businesses that are not paying any taxes. It takes our tax dollars to keep them operating. These should be sold and applied to our public debt. Six to ten billions in taxes could be saved in this manner."

LINDSBORG, KAN., NEWS-RECORD: "Anza-Amen Lema, whose home is in Tanganyika East Africa—is attending Bethany College. Lema told me that one of the greatest problems in his country was to make his people believe that a government could be operated the way ours is, in the United States. That is, that everyone can take a stand on government operation, can vote for the individuals, in our free elections, can criticize our governmental operations if they are not in agreement with what our lawmakers are doing. These things, he stated, are difficult to get across to his people and it is his belief that our government is going to have to make a definite effort to get these things across to the people of many foreign countries if we are to halt the spread of Communism."

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "In 1887, the first federal regulatory agency in this country was set up with the establishment of the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate the railroads. In the 70 years since... there are... no fewer than 115 lesser bodies with authority to make rules and regulations, investigate complaints and judge the findings. They are rightly called quasi-judicial agencies. It is now the personification of big government."

Fowl Cholera

Cholera is one of the deadliest diseases of poultry, striking in fall and winter when it must be checked promptly to avoid heavy loss. Birds die suddenly and often have a purplish colored comb.

My Recommendation:

Dr. Salsbury's Sulquin should be given at first sign to check immediate mortality. Move the birds to a clean house, if possible, and follow strict sanitation measures. If cholera comes back—as it may do—treat again with Sulquin.

I WANT YOUR INSURANCE BUSINESS

But I am not going to fool you in order to get it. I am not going to force you to insure with me, and I am not going to argue with anyone.

If you look at the facts and figures, compare financial standings of the companies, compare rates, and compare coverage, I know you will want to insure with me.

Competition on a fair and equitable basis is what I like, if I can not do more for you than the other man can, then you have no special reason to buy from me.

I feel the above conditions are fair enough, but below are the conditions I ran into last week.

I sold a farm, the buyer telling me that he wanted me to take care of his fire insurance needs. As he did not want to pay all cash, a mortgage loan company entered the picture, saying they wanted the loan and the insurance. I contacted the buyer again and he said he wanted them to have the loan, but wanted me to have the insurance. I, therefore, visited the loan company and they told me they were going to take the insurance whether I liked it or not. Naturally I told them I did not like it, that there are others in the loan business and that I would not recommend them to anyone else. In other words, I will admit, I am out this time, just no question about it, but I might get another bat. They were not satisfied with a good mortgage loan at their rate of interest, they also forced my client to pay more for his insurance and have less coverage.

Are you only free to do what suits the other man, or are you free to do what you think is best for you?

CURRENT EVENTS
FIFTY YEARS AGO

The Burgess and Commissioners have elected Edward Kemper, former member of the board, to the vacancy caused by the death of Harvey E. Weant.

After Monday, the Editor of The Record will be on his vacation, first to Annapolis, then to Mountain Lake Park until the end of the month. All communications relative to business, should be addressed to The Carroll Record.

A big red auto, No. 3324, caused two wrecked vehicles, on Baltimore Street, on Saturday evening. The horse attached to one of Mr. Everhart's delivery wagons, while standing in front of the Model Bakery became frightened and unmanageable, because of the auto, ran down street and collided with the buggy of Mrs. Wm. Eckenrode, of near Uniontown. The frightened animal broke the shafts from the wagon and tore the harness to pieces, while a hind wheel of the buggy was completely smashed. Considering the number of teams on the street it was remarkable that no greater damage was done. One of the occupants of the auto, after hearing some pointed remarks and seeing the damage done, very coolly remarked—"The next time we go through this town, we'll fly over it", and then they noisily chugged away, perhaps considering the affair one of the interesting events of their trip.

Republican Convention. The Republican County Convention met in Westminster on Monday and elected delegates to the State Convention, the Judicial Convention and members of the State Central Committee.

Mayberry—Dannie Willet, of near Mayberry, spent from Saturday until Monday with friends in Hanover. Samuel Keefe and wife, Wm. Keefe and wife, Ethel Keefe and Ruth Lepo all of Mayberry were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Hoff, of Union Bridge. Mrs. Charles Mumford and son, Norman, of Virginia are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Stiller. Don't forget the Mayberry S. S. picnic this Saturday at 12 o'clock. Festival in the evening in Marker's grove.

TALK ABOUT ECONOMY...
FORDS COST LESS PER MILE!

Fords cost less to buy!

No doubt about it! Model for model, Ford cars are the lowest priced* of the low-price three. And don't be fooled by those "low prices" now being quoted for some "stripped down" models in the medium-price field. Remember, a '57 Ford equipped the way most people want a car today—with automatic transmission, heater and radio—costs hundreds of dollars less than these medium-priced cars, similarly equipped.*

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices

Fords cost less to run!

In the only nationally recognized test of gasoline economy, the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Six delivered more miles per gallon than any other car entered! This, remember, was no "private test" conducted for the benefit of a single manufacturer. This was grueling competition between 12 different makes of cars... supervised by the United States Auto Club. And when the test was over, Ford led all other cars in the thing you want most—actual miles per gallon!

Fords cost less to trade!

Latest official auction sale figures on used cars show clearly that the new kind of Ford commands a higher price than either of its two low-priced competitors. The men who bid at these auctions are professional buyers—men whose very livelihood depends upon their expert knowledge of cars. They pay more for used Fords because they know that Fords hold up in value. Like thousands of Ford owners from coast to coast, they have discovered that Ford is worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it, too!

- Date Clearance
- Aug. 11—Keysville Lutheran S. S., at 9:30; No Worship Service.
- 16—Carroll Wilhilde's lawn, square Dance.
- 18—Keysville Lutheran Worship, at 11; S. S., 9:30.
- 19—Union Bridge Girls 4-H Club picnic.
- 19—Keysville Lutheran Council Meeting.
- 18—Junior Luth League, Keysville 7:30 P. M.

Eileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kiser and Judy daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Kiser spent several days last week with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baumgardner of Terra Rubra.

Mrs. Maurice Wilhilde is planning on visiting with her son Mehrle Wilhilde and Mrs. Wilhilde at the Wilhilde Trailer Camp, York, Pa., Route 6. She expects to go there from her daughters, Mrs. Charles Minnick, Union Bridge, on Wednesday and will stay about a week.

The young Luth Leaguers of Keysville met on Sunday evening at the Keysville Lutheran Church. The topic—The five points of Luth Leagues—was in charge of Judy Kiser. The business meeting was in charge of the President, Judy Kiser. It was decided to start the meeting every other Sunday at 7:30 p. m. Marian Priest is the leader for August 18.

Joan Kiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kiser and Rebecca Wilhilde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilhilde are attending 4-H Club Week at College Park. Joan is a member of the Union Bridge Girls 4-H, and Rebecca is a member of the Taneytown Boys 4-H Club.

The Luther Houcks, of Forest and Stream Club Road have started work on their new home. It is located north of the Charles Albaugh home on the Forest and Stream Club road.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Dendis is visiting with the Dendis at their home, the former Lester Troxell home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilhilde, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Durban, Mrs. Carroll Kiser and Judy, Mrs. Glenn Kiser and Eileen, Mrs. Carroll Wilhilde, Myron, Dick and Jane; Mrs. Edward Coshun and Jimmy and Terry; Mary Shibley and Georgia Asbury.

Jean Stonesifer, Nancy Stine, Bobbie Trout made the trip to Washington, D. C. on Wednesday, July 31st to see the Seven Wonders of the World under the sponsorship of the Luth League.

Libbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coshun of Redland, has been very much on the sick list for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wilhilde and Mrs. Maurice Wilhilde recently made a visit to Clear Spring to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Haugh and Mrs. Baxter Haugh.

A square dance will be held on the lawn at the Carroll Wilhilde home on August 16th. This is being sponsored by the Young People's classes at the Keysville Lutheran Church. Everyone is welcome. This is mainly for fun but if there is any profit it will go to the Keysville Lutheran Building fund.

Robert Trout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trout, Taneytown, visited with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baumgardner at Terra Rubra, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Coshun moved on Saturday to the tenant house on the farm of Clyde Wilhilde. LeRoy is now employed on the Wilhilde farm. The Coshuns moved from the Mrs. Bessie Myers apartment in Detour. It is expected that the Sterling Burriers will move into this recently vacated apartment.

Mr. James Kiser remains about the same at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carroll Dougherty in Detour.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas and family entertained the Union Bridge Planning Group at its annual picnic on August 2. It was decided to hold the September meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jackson, Mrs. Union. Mrs. Clarence Jackson, Mrs. Lon Edwards and Mrs. William Main were selected by the chairman, Carroll Wilhilde, to plan a meeting of special interest to the women in September. The Group agreed to serve a supper to the Rotary Club in April at the Agricultural Center. I understand that it was possible to pay about $6,000.00 off of the Agricultural Center debt last year. It is hoped that the same amount can be paid this year. These Rotary suppers have helped a great deal in defraying this debt.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bowman in Union Bridge. We were glad to have a visitor from our neighboring country, Canada, Mrs. Lon Edwards' friend, Kay Reed (I hope I have the name correct), of Montreal, Mrs. Edwards' home town, accompanied the Edwards family to the Planning Group.

The Keysville-Detour Homemakers Club plan to meet at the home of Mrs. Luth Ressler in Blue Ridge Summit, Penna., on August 22nd.

The Keysville United Lutheran Church Women had a good number attend the weiner roast and meeting at the church on August 5. In addition to weiners, the hostesses, Mrs. John Harner, Mrs. Clyde Wilhilde and Mrs. Gregg Kiser (who was there in spirit, because of some teeth being extracted) served baked beans, potato chips, pretzels, jello salad, iced tea, and coffee. The meeting was held inside after the meal was served. The topic was "No Fortify Hour." Weeds concerned the dedication and consecration of the missionaries at home and abroad, the real need for more people to come into lifetime service for the Lord, in charge of Mrs. Carroll Wilhilde. Before Mrs. Carroll Dougherty, president, had the business meeting, Mrs. Mildred Stine gave a reading in her usual entertaining style. The next meeting will be held on Sept. 2, Labor Day, with Mrs. Clyde Wilhilde and Mrs. Steve Dendis in charge. Several of the young people, Miss Mary Helen Shibley and Miss Georgia Asbury, aided Mrs. Wilhilde in carrying on the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wilhilde, Jane and Beth and Danny visited with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gill and family and Mrs. Emory Yoder and Elizabeth, Saturday and Sunday. Jimmie Gill returned to his home after spending some time with Danny. Danny is now staying with Jimmy. Audrey Wilhilde returned to her home after staying with Linda Gill. Joan Gill is spending a few days with Beth Wilhilde. Could call this the "Kid Exchange". It seems all the families who have youngsters could claim membership. Miss Ada Yoder of Baltimore came to Detour on Sunday to spend some time with her nieces, Mrs. Clyde and Mrs. Carroll Wilhilde and families.

On Saturday Carroll Wilhilde accompanied a group to Miami, not Florida Beach. Mrs. Wilhilde was accompanied by Miss Ada Yoder and Mrs. Emory Yoder to a Mennonite meeting at Long Green.

The drought has affected the beauty of the many well-tended flower gardens in this section.

The Union Bridge Girls 4-H Club will hold its annual picnic at the home of its leader Mrs. Paul Bowman, Union Bridge on August 19th.

EMERGENCY STEPS SUGGESTED TO STRETCH PASTURES, FEED SUPPLIES

Short pastures now and the prospect of short feed supplies for the winter are problems facing many Maryland livestock producers as a result of this summer's dry weather.

University of Maryland Extension specialists studied these problems in conferences and field trips during the last two weeks, and agreed on recommendations for dealing with the drought situation.

The specialists are aware that not all recommendations will apply equally in every situation, and that farmers will have to use their own judgment in applying them.

Culling low producers out of flocks and herds—always a sound practice—is given special emphasis now, when higher feed costs appear likely.

After culling, the suggestion is to feed the remaining animals for production, do not to keep more animals than can be properly fed. It will pay to feed the best quality forage available.

"Give roughage needs for this winter top priority," the specialists advise livestock men. "It is better to buy grain than hay or silage. And if it is necessary to buy roughage, emphasize high quality."

These recommendations are given for specific types of livestock:

Dairy Cattle—Feed well to hold production up to normal.

Beef Cattle—Creep feed calves, and look into the possibility of selling feeders.

Hogs—It may be wise to sell feeder pigs if feed is short.

Sheep—Feed grain during the breeding season if pastures are short to insure next years lamb crop.

Plan now for late fall and winter pastures to ease demands or short winter feed—rye, rye grass and small grains merit attention.

Things to do Now

Lack of pasture is recognized as a pressing problem at present. To get in the best possible grazing, the following emergency steps can be considered.

1. Hay fields of alfalfa, clover or lespedeza, if too short to cut for hay, may as well be grazed. Use electric fences to divide fields into small areas. Do not leave cattle on one area of alfalfa for more than 5 or 6 days to prevent damage to alfalfa plants.

2. Most stubble fields contain some feed and can be grazed.

3. Fields of Sudan grass, millet, or soybean and sorghum mixtures may be grazed if available. There is danger of prussic poisoning on drought stricken Sudan or sorghum, so don't take careless chances.

4. Many waste areas contain grasses and weeds that will supply nutrients, but be careful—hungry animals will often eat poisonous plants. Don't let animals graze in areas heavily infested with wild cherry, poke weed, Jimson weed, milk weed, nightshade or other poisonous plants. University of Maryland Extension Fact Sheet No. 91 gives details on poisonous plants.

5. Corn can be chopped and fed now if no pasture is available.

Farmers may also be able to get up some hay or silage from drought-damaged crops to refill silos and mows. Corn fields that have been damaged by dry weather can be cut for silage even though not eared out. Here, the suggestion is to cut the hardest hit fields or areas first. A general suggestion is that corn, either field or sugar, should be salvaged as silage or fodder if it has been in tassel two weeks with no ear formation; if of one-third of the leaf area is dried. Rain or irrigation will not help these fields. In some areas, particularly the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland, soybeans may be made into good quality hay, even though they are oil varieties. Soybeans that show little promise of satisfactory bean set should be cut for hay. The final point in the specialist's report is a reminder that cannery waste from bean and corn, and cannery peas that are not harvested, can supply roughage.

JEST JOKIN'

"I don't like to criticize," said the English visitor, "but I do think our way of answering the telephone is better than yours."

"Oh? What do you say that's so much better?"

English visitor: "Well, instead of saying 'Hello,' we say 'Are you there?' Then, of course, if you're not there, there's no use going on with the conversation."

After intermission, a man and his wife were returning to their seats. The man asked a lady sitting at the end of the row:

"Did I step on your foot as I went out?"

Expecting an apology, the lady sternly replied: "Yes you did."

The man turned to his wife. "Okay Mabel," he said, "this is our row."

The teacher was trying to impress upon her class the advantage of peace and disarmament. "How many of you boys object to war?" she asked. "You went several hands."

"Jimmy, will you tell the class why you object to war?"

"Cause wars make history," replied Jimmy soberly.

He approached the judge with all kinds of politeness. "You lordship, I'd like to get out of jury duty," he said.

"For what reason?" asked the judge.

"I can only hear with one ear," was the excuse offered.

The judge smiled. "It's all right," he said. "We hear only one side of a case at a time."

After the race the owner was giving the jockey a piece of his mind. "A fine jockey you are," he said, "I distinctly told you to come away with a rush," at the corner. Why didn't you?"

"Well," retorted the jockey tartly, "it didn't seem quite sporting to leave the horse behind."

At the end of the fifth round, the heavyweight staggered to his corner in a dazed and battered condition. His manager approached him and whispered in his ear: "Say slugger, I've got a swell idea. Next time he hits you, hit him back."

"Before you get serious with Tom, be sure he is always kind."

"Oh, he's very kindhearted, mother. He told me just the other day that he had put his shirt on a horse that was scratched.

Customer: "Why do you have an apple as your trade-mark? You're a tailor."

Tailor: "Well, if it hadn't been for an apple, where would the clothing business be?"

The photographer had just taken a picture of an old gentleman on the latter's 98th birthday. He thanked the older man, saying, "I hope to be around to take your picture when you're 100."

"Why not?" the old man replied. "You look pretty healthy."

"You say that typographical errors often bring out the truth?"

"Yeah, listen to this item: 'The doctor felt the patient's purse and announced there was no hope.'"

A roaming pooch wandered inside the building where a dog show was in progress. He walked over to the show circle to watch the activity and to his surprise the judges awarded him a blue ribbon. To celebrate, he stopped in a neighborhood lounge, but only stayed for one drink, as he was anxious to tell the folks at home of his good fortune. Once at home, however, our pooch discovered he had left the cherished blue ribbon on the bar and hastily dispatched one of his offspring to retrieve the award.

The pup dutifully trotted to the tavern, entered it and approached the bar. "What'll you have?" asked the bartender.

"Pap's Blue Ribbon," replied the pup.

A kind-hearted lady who had strict ideas about the consumption of strong drink, was accosted by a shabby character.

"Please, ma'am," he whined, "can you spare a little car for a poor, needy fellow?"

The lady hesitated, sniffing. But he was such a pitiful object, that she opened her purse. "Here," she said, handing him some money, "take this, but I hope you won't spend it for vile liquor."

The needy one scanned the frugal handout. "With what you, gimme, ma'am," he answered sardonically, "I can't get no other kind."

The pressmen were playing ball the other day when a horse came up and said: "Hey, fellow, can I take the next turn at bat?"

"Gosh, a horse that can talk!" they said. "Isn't he smart! He ought to be a foreman."

"Sure I'm smart," answered the horse. "I used to be a race horse at Pimlico!"

'Prefabs' Join Luxury Class

Prefabricated house has eight rooms, three baths.

Prefabricated homes have come a long way from the plywood Nissen huts and corrugated steel Quonsetts that sheltered GI's during World War II.

Today, "prefabs" are widely accepted in both lower and middle-priced home brackets and are reaching out for the "luxury" home market.

The home illustrated here is an example. Built in Toledo by Scholz Homes, Inc., it fits into a high-priced neighborhood as well as any of the conventionally constructed homes surrounding it.

Completely Air-Conditioned

The house has eight rooms, three baths, a full basement, and is completely air conditioned and insulated. It was built to sell for $45,000, including the cost of a large lot on an exclusive street.

Despite its "custom" look, the house is a standard model and can be reproduced anywhere east of the Rockies. Framing, wall and roof panels, asphalt shingles, and ponderosa pine windows are included in the factory pre-assembled "package."

Various "prefab" manufacturers differ in how much of the final house package they supply, but most include wall, floor, and ceiling panels and roof trusses or rafters, for delivery by trailer to the prepared foundation.

The panels are factory-assembled on large flat jigs by trained labor, inspected by supervisors, then loaded in correct sequence so that they go into place at the site quickly and fit together perfectly. "Under roof and lock and key in one day" is the "prefab" manufacturers' boast.

Roof Color Choice

The local builder-dealer adds finish flooring according to local taste, and masonry exteriors and fireplaces when desired. The customer normally has the choice of asphalt roof shingle color, so that the roof, usually the most dominant feature of any house, will fit in with the neighborhood and the customer's own decorating plan.

Rich blue asphalt shingles set the tone for the subtle gray brick exterior of the Toledo house. Preservative-treated, Colonial-style wood windows and exterior ponderosa pine panel doors are architecturally correct for the traditionally designed house. The doors are pre-hung with factory precision.

The house is fully insulated with mineral wool thicknesses recommended for maximum economy in air-conditioned homes: six inches of mineral wool between the ceiling joists, four inches in the walls. The slab model has two-inch perimeter insulation all around. Research has shown that such quantities of insulation reduce the initial cost of an air-conditioned house by permitting a smaller cooling unit. Operating costs are materially reduced.

Enjoy Good Coffee Any Time That is 97% Caffein-Free

What fun to drink coffee as much as you like, unconcerned about after-effects. Your guests will enjoy this care-free attitude toward coffee, too, so serve them the new decaffeinated instant coffee called Decaf.

Decaf is not a coffee "substitute," not something made to "taste like coffee." It is 100% coffee made by a revolutionary Swiss process that takes caffeine out, leaves in true coffee flavor. You may drink instant Decaf as strong or as mild as you like, depending upon the amount you use in each cup. About 1 teaspoonful suits the average preference for strength of flavor.

For years, it was assumed that if you removed the caffeine from coffee, you removed flavor and aroma, too. Careful research shows that bouquet and taste of coffee are not affected by its caffeine content. Old methods of processing for decaffeinated coffee disturbed this delicate balance of coffee components and left products of inferior quality.

It's a trend—the switch to decaffeinated coffee—and it's going to grow. One out of every ten cups of instant coffee drunk these days is decaffeinated coffee. An instant decaffeinated coffee like Decaf tastes so good that it finds new users every day.

modern living by LUCY R. GAVIN

Summertime is definitely "ice time" at our house. A dinner isn't complete on a warm day unless we have an iced dish on the menu.

Members of our family are heavy ice users all year long but in summer the ice making department of our refrigerator really works overtime. The Russians advocate drinking hot tea to make you feel cool but we aren't convinced that they know what they're talking about. We would rather have tall cold drinks with ice circles in them any hot summer day. I'm convinced that the Russians have to settle for hot drinks because they don't have modern refrigerators.

When we want to be festive we make ice cups in which to serve frosty iced chocolate, punch, or fruit cocktail. An ice cup is easy to make by opening a glass or paper beverage cup in a small can or dessert mold. Then pack crushed ice between the glass and its container and store in the freezing unit of the refrigerator until frozen solid. To unmold, turn it upside down and warm slightly with a damp, hot cloth—and there's your ice-jacketed cup, ready for the coolest of refreshing drinks.

I serve all of our cold soups, seafoods and salads on ice platters. Attractive ice serving dishes can be made by taking 2 different size bowls or saucers, putting the soup or salad in the smaller dish and then placing it in the second, larger platter or dish rimmed with ice.

I don't suppose I'd be such a devotee of iced foods if I had to refill ice cube trays and pry cubes out of sticky ice compartments. One of the features of our LP-Gas refrigerator is the automatic ice server. Ice circles are automatically made and dropped into a basket in the freezing compartment. They're frozen so dry they don't stick together and the kids can dip into the basket for a circle or two just like they dip into the cookie jar.

Shut Hot Air Out of House For Cool Day

"Capturing" cool night air is one way to keep a house from feeling the full effects of hot summer days.

In most homes, this can be done by closing the house up as tightly as possible in the morning to keep sunlight and hot daytime air from warming the cooler air that has entered the house during the night.

Even during long, mid-summer heat waves, there is often as much as a 20-degree difference in temperature between the coolest early morning hours and the hottest part of the afternoon.

The method of capturing cool night air works best in a well-insulated house. Thick mineral wool—at least four inches in ceilings and three inches in the walls—slows down the penetration of outside heat. Owners of existing houses can have mineral wool insulation blown pneumatically into these areas. Batts and blankets are available for installation by home-owners or professionals where the wall or ceiling construction permits the material to be fitted in place.

Awnings, shade trees, reflective screening, and vine-covered trellises also are important, since these block direct rays of the sun.

Once a house has insulation and outside shading, a good routine to follow for more summer comfort is:

1. Close all windows before the sun has had a chance to warm up outside air.
2. Draw shades, curtains, or drapes tightly on the sunny side. The heavier and more opaque these are, the more effective they are.
3. Keep doors closed throughout the day. Teach children to go in and out quickly.
4. Use kitchen exhaust fan to get rid of cooking heat and moisture. Automatic clothes dryers also should be vented outside.

Promise to God

Lesson for August 11, 1957

A SURE way to lose any one's respect is to fail to keep a promise. If a promise simply cannot be kept, as in case of illness or accident, no one will hold a failure against you. But a man will more quickly make excuses for himself than others will make for him. The brighter side is true too: no better way can be found to build up a solid reputation than to become known as a person who always keeps promises once made. No brilliance, no charm, makes up for keeping promises. What a letter of introduction this would make: "The bearer is a young man of fine background. He graduated with honors. He has great charm of manner, his knowledge is enormous for his age. He has only one drawback: you can't depend on him."

Dr. Foreman

Promising God

Belief in God is feeble, even among good people, than it ought to be. One proof of this is the fact that many people, if not most of them, will be deeply ashamed of not keeping their promises to human beings; but will not take very seriously their failure to keep promises made to God. If a man owes a church pledge, and also some local store, he will pay the store bill first, and if he can only pay one, you know which gets the cash. If "ratting" on promises made to God is taken lightly, it only shows how lightly men believe in God.

If the Bible teaches anything it is that promises made to him mean for more than when made to ordinary people. The short name for such promises is "vows." Protestants make them as well as Roman Catholics. A promise seriously made, either to do something for God, or for his people because they are his people (especially the church); or a promise solemnly made in God's presence, calling on his name as a witness, is a vow. As the Bible teaches, nobody has to make a vow; but once made, the vow must be kept. Examples of vows are those made at baptism (by the parents, if a child is involved, or by the one baptized if he is old enough), at confirmation or "joining the church;" or when making a pledge of money to a church; or the vows taken by a bride and groom; as well as all sorts of private vows.

... and Changeth Not

"He that sweareth to his own hurt, and changeth not," comes in for special praise, in the 15th Psalm. The story of Hannah tells of just such a person. She promised her first child to God. In her days and circumstances, this meant giving the child up and seldom seeing him again after the first few years. She had been bitter about her childlessness, and of course was overjoyed when little Samuel was born. Giving him up meant being childless all over again—but she kept her promise. She had five other children later, but she did not expect this when she presented her one son, her first-born, in the temple. It's easy to make promises, even easy to keep them when keeping them is pleasant. But your really devoted Christians, solid to the core, are those who keep their promises to God no matter what.

If Some One Knows

Human nature being what it is, even a promise to God is more likely to be kept if we know some one else knows about it. Hannah's vow was known to Eli the priest eventually, and we may guess that he suspected it from the start. No doubt this helped her to be faithful. So marriage vows are spoken not alone in God's presence but in the company of witnesses. So vows taken at joining the church, or confirmation, are taken in front of the whole congregation. This is why baptism of a child or an adult, should never be private. If we were angels, a promise made to God in secret would be just as well kept as one made in public. But since we are human, and weak in faith, it helps if some ear besides God's hears our vows.

to the 7,000 foot level in ten minutes. We didn't venture the chair lift, looking at it was enough for all of us. From Mt. Norquay we followed the highway into Kootenay Park, British Columbia, for twenty miles of beautiful peaks, among them the recently named beautiful Mt. Eisenhower. In this valley of Kootenay can be seen ranges of mountains peeping from behind each other, namely Cascade, Rundle, the highest, Norquay, Aymer, Stony Squaw and Sulphur. The beauty of the surrounding panorama is breath-taking, snow capped peaks glisten against a blue sky, mountain streams falling into tiny lakes, with Big Horn sheep, Rocky Mountain goats, moose and deer frequently observed.

From Kootenay we went into Yoho National Park, Lake Louise and Moraine Lake, Yoho is an Indian word for "Wonderful" and the narrow valley, clear rivers and towering peaks of this park make it a place of wonder.

Lake Louise surpasses description, it is probably the most perfect scenic gem in the world. It is a "cirque" lake, a deep walled recess caused by glacial erosion. It is about one and a half mile wide with an amphitheatre of peaks rising around it. Its surface is as calm as glass and its great beauty is in its coloring, sweeping through green, blue, amethyst and violet and constantly changing.

Nine miles from Lake Louise is Moraine Lake, a beautiful blue green in color lying in the wonderful valley of Tin Peaks. Here we fed the squirrels and chipmunks that were so tame they ate from our hands. Birds are abundant in the park. More than 100 species are found in numbers. Among them the golden eagle, white tailed ptarmigan, red wing crow, Canada jay, grouse, blue bird and tanager.

The forests of Banff are covered with lodgepole pine, the most abundant species, and white and black spruce, balsam fir, Englemann spruce, Douglas fir, white birch, Alpine fir and aspen.

The wild flowers cover the slopes of the mountains and valleys in a riot of color. More than 500 varieties are found in the park, even near the snowline, blooming in waves of blue, rose, white and yellow. Among the best known species are larkspur, violets, columbine, Indian paint brush, alpine anemone, harebell, snow lily, gentian, aster, everlasting, mountain heather, wintergreen and fire weed.

In Yoho National Park is a number of beautiful waterfalls, among them the beautiful Panther Falls, dropping 600 feet from the side of the highway to the floor of the valley. Also Kakkakkaw Falls, it is ten times higher than Niagara and comes from the snow fields between Mount Niles and Mount Balfour 2500 feet above. These cannot be seen as the water looks like it is gushing from the rocks. The torrent drops from the edge of the precipice in three leaps totaling over 1600 feet. The middle leap is one of 1000 feet in a ribbon of foam. The last drop is a cascade of 500 feet.

As we were going into Banff we passed Indians on horseback, and other modes of travel coming into the city. When we arrived in the city of Banff we found they were having Banff Indian Days, a three day celebration. On Saturday morning they had a parade of all the tribes, with their chieftains and warriors dressed in their finest festive regalia, making a beautiful and colorful sight, riding on their beautiful horses. Tourists by the thousands were there to see it. It was so unusual because we were not used to seeing the Indians in all their finery. They lived in tents and tepees on the grounds. Their tepees were gaily decorated. Indians have a love of costume. These tribes were known as the "Stony Indians" but were made up of Blackfeet, Crow, Shoshoni and Kootenay and Yoho Indians of Northwestern Canada.

From Banff National Park we went to the Columbia Glacier Icefield. The Columbia Icefield comprises 150 square miles of ice and is the largest ice field in the Canadian Rockies giving rise to streams that flow into the Arctic, Pacific and Hudson Bay. In this vast field of ice are Mount Columbia (12,294 ft.), Alberta (11,874) Snow Dome (11,340) and other smaller peaks. The Glacier lies in the horseshoe shaped valley and is receding at the rate of 69 feet a year. We took snowmobile nine and a half miles to the top of the glaciers, saw the deep crevasses that are made by the melting snow and we could hear the waters running under the glacier that forms the rivers. It was here that we met that Dr. and Mrs. Rasmussen of Gettysburg Seminary, at the Columbia Chalet, who were also touring the Canadian Parks.

From the Columbia Icefields we took the Athabasca Highway to Jasper National Park. This is the largest of the Canadian National Parks. It comprises over 5000 square miles in area. It is a region of super scenic beauty. The mountains of Jasper consist of a series of parallel ranges running from the Southeast to the Northeast. The folds, upheavals and faults in the rock strata are visible everywhere and erosion caused by the glaciers. Among the natural phenomena in this park are the Miette Hot Springs. The water temperature of 126 degrees F. where it issues from the rocks. In this park is the beautiful Maligne Canyon. This chasm, 138 feet deep, has been cut through the rock by the action of the Maligne River. Large pot holes, carved by water and revolving boulders added to the interest of the canyon. Jasper Park is one of the greatest wildlife sanctuaries on the continent, and contains large numbers of all kind of big game animals native to the Rockies. Included are the Rocky Mountain goat and sheep, black, brown and grizzly bears. Bird life is also abundant in the park. It was while riding through the moose sanctuary that Merle left the car and took pictures of a moose with a large rack of horns in a meadow.

From Jasper we took Highway 16 to Edmonton Alberta, the northern most city of our trip. The Province of Alberta has some of the most beautiful scenery in the Canadian Rockies. The farms are small. The wheat had not been harvested, it being a month late on account of the late spring. Edmonton is a large city on the flat prairie land with lots of large industrial building in process of building.

The Province of Saskatchewan is known as one of the richest grain growing areas of the world. Huge grain elevators were seen in every town. Large beef and dairy herds are important to the province's agriculture economy. Oil field deposits of potash and industrial minerals such as salt, clay products and sodium sulphate as well as uranium are found in the province.

We visited the Legislative Building in Regina, a beautiful building of marble columns and arches. The Capital Building has the largest straight corridor in the world, 542 feet long. The tower and dome reach a height of 188 feet with large murals representing "the Coming of the White Man." The gardens surrounding the capital are a show place of the Province. While in Regina we went to the Saskatchewan Museum of Natural History. The museum is dedicated to the pioneers of the province. The museum building is new, but the collection and exhibits have been growing for almost 50 years. Twenty-four habitat cases are so realistically designed that the visitor has a strong impression of actually being in the landscape portrayed. Sixty-one exhibit cases are devoted to the animal and plant life of the province; twenty-two of the exhibits concerns the origin and history of the earth as revealed by study of rock and fossils; fifteen others deal with the origin of man and the history of early man in North America.

The exhibits consisted of background painting blending in so realistically with the wild life that it wasn't possible to see where one stopped and the other began.

In the entrance hall a special exhibit depicting life on the plains about 1855, called "The Trader's Store," is dedicated to the Indians of the region who occupied these plains and woods for centuries before Saskatchewan became a province and to their half-brothers, the Metis, who played a vital role in bringing understanding between red men and whites. Saskatchewan has a well-earned reputation as a sports men's paradise, with its deep forest, abundant in game animals, its tree-lined lakes offer some of the best fishing in Canada.

The Province of Manitoba has rich rolling wheat country to the south. Manitoba is particularly well known to hunters, both for big game and water fowl. We saw thousands of geese and ducks on the breeding grounds with their young. Manitoba is known as the "Keystone" province of Canada being close to the geographical center of North America. Manitoba is rich in other products besides weeks. Mining, forest products, manufacturing, fish and fur are important to the province's economy.

The capital of Winnipeg is set on 30 acres of beautiful planned gardens. The building is constructed of native Manitoba limestone. The white stone abounds in fossils, which never fail to attract those who see it. Over the center of the building is placed a dome 240 feet high, atop which stands the five ton Golden Boy—13 1/2 foot figure looking over the city. This is the Golden Boy, spirit of enterprise and eternal youth, and one of the best known symbols of Manitoba. The Golden Boy is a runny facing north where the province's future lies. In his left arm is a sheaf of wheat, up-lifted high in his right hand is a torch—the call of eternal youth to join in the race. The tip of his torch is 255 feet above the ground. This legislative building is believed by many to be the finest capital in North America.

On leaving Manitoba we were told to take the scenic Kings Highway into Ontario to Kenora, Ontario and down to the states by the Lakes of the Woods country. The drive was beautiful. Ontario is the key province for vacationist from the U. S. Lying close to the dense population of the U. S., its wilderness regions are ideal for camping, fishing and hunting.

At International Falls, Minnesota, where Smoky the Bear originated, we saw a replica of him, 26 1/2 feet tall, sculptured out of wood. We came into U. S. A. at International Falls, Minnesota. We stopped at the Mesabi Iron Range, the largest open pit mine in the world and of the Lake Superior District of which it is a part. The name "Mesabi" sometimes spelled Mesaba or Missabe, is Ojibway Indian name for "giant". The range gets its name from the topographical feature the "Giants Range" or ridge of Granite hills that lie along the north edge of the iron formation.

The mine covers approximately 360 acres of ground and is 415 feet deep. The iron ore is first loaded by huge power shovels into large trucks with three to five cubic yard dipper holding six to ten tons. The ore banks are loosened by blasting for easier digging. Diesel powered trucks holding ten to fifty tons of ore climb the steep grades to the surface of the mine to be sampled and analyzed. The iron ore is carried by railroad cars of 75 ton capacity to the docks at Superior, Wisconsin, where it is dumped into pockets to await loading into the lake vessels. These huge ore boats can hold up to 20,000 tons of iron ore. It is taken to the great smelting plants to be melted into steel. The mining of this ore and the making of iron and steel from it constitute the basic industry of our country in peace and in war.

From Superior to St. Ignace there is hundreds of miles of virgin forest. At St. Ignace we took the cruiser Petrocka to Mackinac City and down through the center of Michigan and home.

As we traveled this great North American Continent we see the great contrast between the beautiful Rockies and the Great Prairies of Northern U. S. and Southern Canada with their endless fields of grain and the unspoiled beauty of the mountains. With this trip we have visited every province in Canada.

There are thirty-four members in the photograph pictured here. We expect by fall to increase our number to forty-five. Some of the added members will be entering T. H. S. from the Elementary school. We are very proud of the group and we know that you are too.

LETTER TO THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

August 5, 1957
Mr. John D. Young, President
Board of County Commissioners
Westminster, Maryland
Dear Sir:

Re Mr. Preston L. Hale's recent letter and Mr. McDaniel's article in the Baltimore Evening Sun of July 30th, I quite agree that the complete and unabridged statement of County receipts and disbursements should be released to the public each year.

The statement as it recently appeared was, in my opinion, incomplete and misleading. As an example, these items were listed under Summary of Disbursements: "Roadways Transfer to Roads Department $96,138.83" and "Road Machinery $15,000.00." I would understand that this is to mean that the $15,000.00 spent for road machinery and the $96,138.83 turned over to Carroll County road system to be all the money that is spent in Carroll County for roads.

There was no mention of any money received from the State of Maryland for roads. Actually, Carroll County received in excess of $551,000.00 in 1955 and over $600,000.00 in 1956 from the State as a refund on the state gasoline tax.

The county's assessed basis is over one hundred million dollars according to our Tax Supervisor Mr. Harry Dobson. This is big business of which each property owner is a stockholder and we must know how our business is being conducted.

The pertinent question is why has this information not been made public?

I have talked to the County Commissioners about this matter and was lead to believe that a full report would be issued this year. I have also conversed with our State Senator and three of our members to the House of Delegates about passing a law compelling those in charge of Carroll County's public funds to give a complete financial statement yearly. This was not enacted and we receive the same stereotyped financial statement as in the past.

Our neighboring counties give a complete report either by law or voluntarily. The citizens of Carroll County have a right to know and I am sure we have many followers.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE EDWARD KNOX.

RECORD SALE OF FORD CARS

DEARBORN, MICH.—Ford dealers have sold a record $3 billion worth of new Ford automobiles and trucks since the 1957 car was introduced nine months ago on October 3, 1956, it was revealed today.

J. O. Wright, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, said the $3 billion worth of sales is approximately 250 million dollars more than the dealers sold in a corresponding nine-month period of 1955-56.

In the first three quarters of the model year ended June 30, 1957, the nation's Ford dealers sold 1,117,245 cars and 213,469 trucks, compared with 1,074,786 cars and 212,590 trucks in the same period of 1956. The combined increase is 103,469 units.

Mr. Wright released the figures concurrent with the announcement that the annual meeting of the National Ford Dealer Council will be held in Dearborn the week of August 5. He complimented Ford dealers on the sales achievement of the last nine months, and on the improvement in their financial position as a result of their intensified efforts.

IMPROVEMENTS OF CERESVILLE WOODSBORO ROAD

Extensive improvements to the Ceresville-Woodsboro road (Md. 194) are about to commence.

The State Roads Commission this week sent a "notice to proceed" to the contractor. Work is to commence on or before August 15.

The improvements consist of grading, drainage and surfacing of the 6.7 mile road between these two Frederick county communities. In addition a small section of Liberty Road (Md. 26) will be widened and resurfaced at its junction with Md. 194. The surfacing of these sections will be in asphalt or "black top."

Contractor on the project is Patapsco Engineering Company, Inc., of Baltimore whose bid of $667,279 was low on the project. Six other contractors bid on this contract, the highest bid being about $100,000, more than that of the Patapsco concern.
