DRIVE FOR FUNDS FOR COUNTY HOSPITAL

Mathias Heads County; Fuss Appointed for Taneytown Dist.

F. Kale Mathias, prominent, young business man of Westminster, was today appointed as Carroll County Chairman of Individual Advance Gifts Committee for the Carroll County General Hospital Building Fund.

In making this major appointment, Scott S. Bair, General Chairman of the campaign noted that Mr. Mathias, who has long been active in many civic affairs, has already made good progress in organizing committees in each of the towns throughout Carroll County and also in the Reisterstown area. Each of these committees will visit residents in their area for advance gifts during the month of September. This will be followed by a residential canvass in November when every family will be visited and offered an opportunity to contribute to the hospital fund.

The hospital, to cost approximately one million dollars, will be a 50 bed general hospital serving all of Carroll County and adjacent areas. It will be built as an integral part of the present Medical Memorial Center on land made available by Carroll County. $350,000 will be available from federal funds, under the Hill-Burton Act. Carroll County is high on the priority list for Hill-Burton funds in Maryland because there is no general hospital in the county. $300,000 is available from the county and previous gifts. The balance, approximately $300,000, will be raised by public subscription.

The appointment of Merwyn C. Fuss as Individual Advance Gift

MERWYN C. FUSS

Sauble, Harry B. Dougherty and James C. Myers. Mr. Fuss called a meeting of his committee on Wednesday, September 4th. Solicitations of advance gifts and corporations will start immediately. The general public residential canvass will be held in November, when every family will be visited and offered an opportunity to contribute to the hospital fund.

Similar committees throughout the entire county will provide $300,000 by public subscription toward the one million dollars needed to build the 50 bed general hospital to serve the residents of Carroll County. Additional funds are available as follows: $300,000 from the county and previous gifts, $350,000 from Federal Funds (Hill-Burton) under which Carroll County has top priority as one of the few counties lacking a general hospital.

BOOKMOBILE

Jaycees Endorse Traveling Library

On Wednesday, August 28, 1957, the Maryland State Board of Education approved a plan allocating $20,000 of Federal money available under the Library Services Act of 1955 to Carroll County if it establishes a county public library in 1958. This sum, with additional funds from the state and county treasuries, would assure Carroll County citizens a modern public library system with bookmobile service.

Such a county library, with a central branch open full time and bookmobile routes throughout the county, would offer much needed sources of information, research and recreation. Books, pamphlets, magazines, maps, films and recordings would be conveniently available to all the people in every part of the county.

To establish and maintain a county library, our commissioners would either levy a 2c tax per $100 valuation—$2 per $10,000 assessment or appropriate annually an equivalent sum. This automatically would make Carroll County eligible to receive state funds amounting to 16c per capita—$7,185 or more. (Because Carroll County does not have a county public library, it has received none of the $269,184 of state funds paid out in 1957 for library service. In fact, since 1945, Carroll County has lost nearly $40,000 of the Public Library Fund, tax money (Carroll) countians helped put in the state treasury.)

This year, in addition to the state funds, Carroll County, one of the nine counties in Md. without a public library system, is offered $20,000 from the Federal Government as a library establishment grant, with $4,000 a year for the following three years.

The Trustees of the Davis Library, located in the county seat, are willing to let it be converted into the administrative center of the county library. This would save the county the expense of constructing or renting quarters for a central library and duplications of reference collections, cataloging, librarian services and books, and would provide a headquarters for the bookmobile system. The money thus saved would be spent for better bookmobile service for the entire county.

Our Board of County Commissioners are willing to exercise their power to establish and maintain a county public library when they are sure that the citizens really want it. Civic groups and councils throughout the county are cooperating to assure the Commissioners that such is the wish of the residents of the county. These organizations have agreed to inform the citizens in each of the 14 election districts of the advantageous position their county is in to obtain a public library with bookmobile service. They are urging other clubs, organizations and individuals to write their commissioners letters endorsing the establishment of such a system. These letters are to be sent to the commissioners by November 1, for their consideration before they prepare the county budget for 1958.

The Jr. Woman's Club of Hampstead, acting as coordinator of these combined efforts, and the Davis Library have literature available in quantity about our library situation and can provide films and speakers about this subject for club programs upon request.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has already endorsed this proposal and is preparing to send literature to every local civic organization in the near future explaining the system, and urging their endorsement to this very worthy project.

A second class hike to Pleasant Valley had been completed by early afternoon, and by the time Raab finally located the spot, after an apparently endless search, the evening swimming was relinquished in favor of softball in a perfect meadow for it, supper was individually prepared by lanternlight, party in aluminum foil, and after dishes and checking of tent ditches, some cards were played beneath the familiar canvas. A comparatively early retiring hour enabled them to make a prompt start for home Sunday morning, in time for church. On the stage holding a phone in his hand it was something worth while to hear the supposed to be "conversation" with his mother! Then, I heard on another evening the wonderful voice of Charles Lee Simpkins which I never will forget. He sang for Notables of Europe and Queen Elizabeth of England was as thrilled as I.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning. A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer. Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Going on a vacation alone this year was quite different than anything before in my life. Of course, I did just what I wanted to do and that meant if I did not desire to eat two meals a day I just didn't and if I desired to lay in bed and rest at the hotel, I did just that doing without breakfast and hanging the little sign on the outer door which read, "Please do not disturb!" Even the Maids seemed to realize that I needed a rest and complete relaxation. Of course, it was the Shore again and taking along the huge umbrella and the comfortable chair and a warm robe, there I sat on the beach in a secluded spot where I thought no one would approach me but soon I heard voices and questions like this—"You sure are enjoying your vacation?" "Are you alone down here?" "Do you really enjoy being alone?"—and many other questions to which I always replied that I never get bored with my own company and to that came, "Well, that is wonderful!"

Was going to see, "Ice Capades of 1957" in fact my ticket was bought and when I heard that Rocca was going to wrestle that same night, quickly exchanged my ticket for the following evening.

Do you know, folks where I sat and that for the first time in my life—right up to the mat with my arms resting right there along with other reporters. Every now, and then we had to jump up from our seats for if we did not, we would have had those wrestlers right in our laps!

This time Rocca was in a team match which I do not think is just the thing for him—it takes away something of his personality. I talked to him a while before the show as he told me immediately after he was to rush to make the Plane for California.

The following night was the grand show of "The Eighteenth Edition of The Ice Capades" "Madame Butterfly" was presented to the crowded auditorium and there was tremendous applause. Walt Disney's Fantasia as interpreted from Nutcracker Suite which the children loved and I think the adults, too. Then, Carmen was presented and the gowns were simply filled with splendor and glitter! The second half and from the Bavarian Alps, "The Schupplattler Dance" which is the science of stamping the feet, clapping the hands, thighs, heels, knees, cheeks for an extremely complex syncopated rhythm of sounds and in all of the gayest costumes of a far off county. Then, there was "Ae Salute to George Gershwin" and the last—"Jet—300 Minutes Hollywood to Broadway" from the Idlewild Airport, New York. Not forgetting of course, "Those Old Smoothies"—Orrin Markus and Irma Thomas skating as always to the tunes of "Just Because You're Young", "Jealous and Shine on Harvest Moon!" Be sure you watch for the coming of "Ice Capades" this winter. You will enjoy it all, I know.

Then, a Bus load of people were taken to the "Gateway" by Greyhound to see Georgia Jessel in his own show called, "Showtime". The driver a College student for the summer for Greyhound made everyone feel at home in that Bus as though it was a big happy family first of all by introducing; asking names and from where the individual came.

Upon our arrival to the theatre, I was amazed that Georgia Jessel had such a small audience as he is a "TOP" Star in the very biggest theatres. I handed the usher my credentials for an interview and was called back stage to the Star's room.

Never have I met any finer and I tried to encourage him for the show as I realized he was pretty much "down in the dumps" with such a small audience. He has a most pleasing personality and talked a great deal about his 15 year old daughter. On the stage holding a phone in his hand it was something worth while to hear the supposed to be "conversation" with his mother! Then, I heard on another evening the wonderful voice of Charles Lee Simpkins which I never will forget. He sang for Notables of Europe and Queen Elizabeth of England was as thrilled as I.
