THANKSGIVING ACTIVITIES AT ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

For many weeks the atmosphere of Thanksgiving has been evident at the elementary school in pictures and songs, in stories and plays. Thursday afternoon and Wednesday morning pupils of Mrs. Mohney's and Mrs. Perry's room presented an assembly program centered around the theme of Thanksgiving. All students of both rooms participated in the activities which were well presented.

On Tuesday, all children of the school were served a full turkey dinner free of charge. The practice of giving a free Thanksgiving dinner was started in the school some years ago and it is a credit to the cafeteria staff that such a dinner is financially possible each year. The dinner was prepared by the regular staff, Charlotte Shorb, Gladys Nusbaum and Audrey Fair. Mrs. Ruth Valentine helped for the day.

Candy sales which represent the pupils contribution to the new Carroll County Hospital have totaled approximately $63.00 thus far. Two more sales are planned between now and the Christmas Holidays.

O. HOLIDAY RUSH GETS UNDER WAY

Early Mailing Advised Postmaster Burke

The Post Office Department predicts that the 1957 pre-holiday mailings will be the greatest in the history of the P. O. Department. This year we have already noticed the increasing flow of Christmas cards, letters, and packages, and the real rush

Many of our patrons have asked how they could be of assistance during the busy Christmas season. Believing that you would like to help, we offer the following suggestions:

Buy your stamps in advance and place them on your cards and letters before putting them in the box for collection. Unsealed cards without writing, other than your name, may be mailed for 2c but they cannot be forwarded or returned to you if you have the control to you if you have the control to you if you have the your stamped or your dealers. forwarded or returned to you if unde liverable as addressed. Those bearing the letter rate, 3c can be forwarded or returned if undeliverable, provided they bear your return address. All sealed cards and those containing writing must bear the letter rate of postage. You can further assist by separating your cards for local and out of town delivery. When your cards are ready to be mailed, with stamps affixed, tie them in bundles with all addresses faced the same way and with the stamps in the same way. with all addresses faced the same way and with the stamps in the upper right corner. The Postal Department provides labels free of charge reading "All for Local Delivery" and "All for Out of Town Delivery". In using these labels, for example; all mail bearing the Taneytown address, both town and rural deliver should be placed in the bundle labeled "All for Local Delivery." All other would of course be placed in the "All for Out of Town Delivery" pack.

If your packages are not properly proposed and addressed that properly

Select a sturdy container and wrap your package in good heavy paper and tie with cord or strong twine. Write or print the address on one side only and place your return address in the upper left hand corner. It is a good idea to place a card inside the parcel containing your name and address, just in case the outside wrapper is torn off. If you desire to enclose a letter in the package, be sure to mark on the wrappper, "First class mail enclosed" and pay the postage for the letter in addition to the postage for the package. Val-uable packages should be insured. "Do not open until Christmas" or a

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It is just the sweetest arrangement and as I stepped inside, my imagination was of that year of long ago before the Civil War. I observed much as the many articles for sale were exactly of those days and the sales ladies were dressed in that the sales ladies were dressed in that period. Everyone seemed to be so friendly and chucked full of cheer. I stood right there 'observing' and asking questions for this Column. Thought perhaps there would be a little outline of the History of the store but nothing was available. A THIRD GRIM WARNING

High on the average American's heads clear. check-list of things to be grateful for on Thanksgiving Day was the deliv- dip, whether he wants Scotch or erance of President Eisenhower from his cerebral occlusion, and his reported speedy recovery. But the his snuffbox proudly! Let us review misgiving of the public, so firmly that eighteenth century wise-crack planted by the 24 hour blackout on truth from the White House, and We have the pinch. Bring on Amerwhat has appeared from time to time to be weasel-wording from the medicas, can only be erased by the President himself through the resumption of his normal routine.

How many weeks must elapse before the nation can again have a fulltime Chief Executive is doubtless a matter on which the doctors themselves are speculating. It seems definite at this writing, however, that the President will be spared the strain and tension of the NATO summit meeting in Paris, and that President Nixon-reportedly acceptable to the other heads of state-will function in his behalf. And while it is a sad development that Mr. Nixon must be deputized perforce, we believe our representation in Paris should have been planned that way from the beginning. The history of Presidential foreign tours makes dreary and tragic read-

However "mild" the President's stroke may have been, and despite the objections of the medical men to tion of how a President of the United States who may be unable "to discharge the duties of said office" can be legally succeeded by the Vice President returns inquitable to the chill, and Editor Hall campaigned for President returns inevitably to public attention. The Congress, which shoved aside this legislative foundling-ignored by the Constitutionduring its last session, will find this baby back in its lap January 7th. The hot denials of Press Secretary Hagerty that the President has any thought of resigning only make the problem more poignant.

We doubt, however, that Jim Hagerty, alert and able as he is, knows all that is in the Eisenhowerthoughts -or that even "Assistant President Adams does. We consider it entirely possible that if the President himself is convinced that his health will not again permit him to give his office and the American people the exhausting labor it and they have grown to require, he will retire.

Such action would, of course, solve an immediate crisis. But it would still leave the nation unprotected in in a vital ar a during the years to come—as the President, himself has warned. It is the stern and unavoidable duty of the Congress to resolve his question irrevocably in the session immediately ahead.-U. S. Press Association.

FOUR MILLION AMERICANS

Among the innumerable housekeeping details incidental to the reconvening Congress on January 7th, none will be more aromatically traditional than the filling of the Senate snuffboxes. Senate snuff is strictly bipartisan, since there are two identical boxes, one on the Republican side, the other on the Democratic. One authority says they are "Chinese enameled boxes", another describes them as "black lacquer with Japanese figures". But by now they are as American as clam chowder.

Curiously enough, no senator of our times has been known to admit that he ever uses the taxpayers' snuff -yet those black boxes must be refilled each week! But consider that 37 million pounds (packed in 50 different brands) were sold to four mi-l lion customers during the fiscal year that ended June 30 (same as Uncle Sam's)—and nobody knows anyone who uses snuff. That's even curiouser.

George Washington was not secretive about using snuff. In fact, when he went on a trip of any length, he took his snuff mill with him-just in case. Our ancestors tamed the wilderness, threw off the yoke of Britain, set up a radically new type of government and made it work-all with the aid of snuff. They claimed it was relaxing and calming, that it cleared the mind, relieved stomach trouble, was good for the teeth-and it wouldn't set fire to the barn. And just the other day a man who said he could never clear his nasal passages when he had a cold, tried snuff experimentally. It kept his head clear for about twelve hours, he said. (Name on request. As noted above, today's snuff users are pretty shy).

From a study of the past and a mere glimpse of the present, we would say that what this country needs is not a five cent cigar, but more and honester snuff-users. A Senator Mason revealed in a Senate speech, about the turn of the century, that the snuffboxes had been originally installed in that august chamber by a non-partisan resolution, and that he was sure it would take an Act of Congress to remove them. Let us now have another such resolution to supply the House of Representatives, who probably need even more than senators to keep their

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Some weeks ago we hammered out what we thought were to be our last words on the subject of that commotion stirred up across the nation by Editor D. J. McCausland's plea in THE FORSYTH (Mont.) INDEPENDENT last August for an enterprising youth to shine the city's

But no. Here we go again Editor G. W. Hall, of the MYRTLE POINT (Ore.) HERALD, who has been ragging of his success in luring a local boy onto the path once trodden by the disciples of Horatio Alger, now emits cries of anguish and pleas for succor: "HELP HELP!-WANTED A SHOE-SHINER," runs the heading.

"There we thought we were all set for a shoe-shiner in Myrtle Point. Russ Papineau had offered a spot in the Myrtle Hotel lobby, the Vets of Foreign Wars were to sponsor and Gus Metzgus is building the stand. Marvin Linder was going to do the shining Now going to do the shining. Now Marvin informs us he's got a part-time job and cannot do the shinindoor quarters. He got the aforementioned spot in the hotel lobby Mr. Hall campaigned for a built shine stand, and got Mr. Metzgus to provide it. And he was cam paigning for a chair to go on the stand when the latest blow fell Bloody, but unbowed, Editor Hall carries on:

"Myrtle Point MUST HAVE someone to do the job", says Mr. Hall. "This writer CANNOT afford to let it 'go begging'—we canno afford to have Bob Taylor, our U S. Press Association representative in Washington, D. C., get the im-pression we are 'a ouitter'!"

Editor Hall may rest assured we shall never entertain such on opinion of him. But about this boy, Marvin, we're wondering. He is working his way through high school, and no doubt a regular, worry-free pay check is highly attractive. But it's too bad he passed un his chance to taste, at a tender age, the heady wine of independence, to feel his ege expanding in the sunshine of public approval and the respect and regard of fellow business men who are also unning their own shows Perhaps the age of technology has deprived our youth of the privilege and luxury of standing on their own

Sincerely, BOB TAYLOR.

THANKSGIVING DAY-PRAISE YE THE LORD

We thank Thee, Father, for this Feast day of the year— The Roses, too, still linger, to fill us with cheer, Men talk war; but, they tell of love; So, instead of the Eagle, they tell of the dove.

The first Thanksgiving was celebrated in 1623-(For a single harvest that was said to be!) But, Lincoln suggested, in 1863,

That a National holiday the event should be. Thanksgiving is a day when we all should relate How God has blest us in every City and State; It is not braggadocio to let others know

What God has done for us here below

Man was created in God's image, they say; But, He gave him "free will" to go his own way; So, let this day remind both you and me That, to live forever, like Him, we must be.

God sent Jesus to earth to tell of His plan To make a perfect earth, and a perfect man; So, search the Scriptures; and you shall know (The Bible tells us just how to go.

Man's mind from God should never stray; For, God is with him both night and day He is our Life; and, He tells us what to do To banish fear, and, have skies of blue.

If there is something you want, make a decree; Thank God in advance; and the thing shall be; That ancient law has never been known to fail-Praise and Thanksgiving always prevail.

God never fails to bless those who believe; Everything they ask for, they daily receive; Jesus always gave thanks before making a request And, because He did, He was always blest.

Words of praise and Thanksgiving never cease To bring to the speaker prosperity and peace; So, God has included it, in His great plan To make a perfect earth, and a perfect man.

God does not demand it; but, it fills Him with cheer Words of praise and thanks from you to hear; For, on those who do so, He sees His own face; And, that is the goal of the whole human race.

If we give thanks for abundance to every one, God considers that a duty well done; So, He opens the windows, and blessings flow To all of His creatures here below.

Here is a statement that is hard to believe; We should thank God for things we hope to receive; For, every dream you wish to come true Has been suggested by Him to you.

The Bible says: "God declares to man this thoughts So, everything we receive through Him is brought; God tells you to ask for things—don't you see?
All you need is Faith; and, the thing shall be

All through the ages this law has been known; And, by those who are wise it is always shown Giving thanks often help a man to put through Many things which he thinks he cannot do.

Our God is not the austere autocrat He is said to be; His only thought, it is said, is His great family; Have you never noticed how He sends the rain To make the parched earth look green again?

The prophets all gave thanks because they know God would make what they said come true; And, so it shall be with you, if you only believe; The thing you ask for, you shall receive.

We should not only give thanks for a certain thing Which we are anxious for Him to bring; We should thank Him for everything we see; For, without Him, nothing on earth would be.

So, as I have said in the verses before, All we need is Faith; and, to doubt no more; Jesus always gave thanks before doing a thing Because, Faith, He knew, the answer would bring.

·The law of increase is an action of mind-Everything we praise increases, I find; God never withholds a helping hand; So, all of His creations grow and expand.

Jesus only had 5 loaves and 2 fishes, they say, With which to feed 5000 people one day; But, He fed them; and they all were satisfied With the rations which God had supplied. I have spoken of this several times before; And, I shall tell of it many times more; For, God not only thinks of us on Thanksgiving Day,

We are never out of His sight, the Scriptures say. How wonderful it is for us all to know That One so Great is with us every place we go; No matter how dark the future seems to be, Jesus said to all people: "Follow Me!"

So, He is our Leader from Time to Eternity; And to be like God, like Him, we must be; God sent Jesus here to tell of His plan To make the whole earth a heaven for man.

There was a time when men feared to die, Because they believed the Satanic lie; But hell has no fear for those who know That God is with us every place we go.

Growing Family May Find Older House Big Bargain

House-hunters on the alert for a bargain should be aware of the value an older home offers, es-pecially to the growing family planning to buy on a budget. Here are a few of the advantages of buying an older house:

1. Space. It's often not hard to find a structurally sound old home at a reasonable price that offers four or five bedrooms, a large dining room, a basement, and an unfinished attic.

2. Equipment. More often than not, an older house will have a furnished kitchen, window shades or blinds, curtain and drapery hardware, storm windows that the story of t dows and screens, and such things as shelves and built-in storage, all paid for by previous owners.

3. Advancements in home-improvement techniques. Even without extensive remodeling, most older homes in good structural condition can be made com fortable and convenient. Good examples of materials and tech-niques are packaged bathrooms that can be installed in one day, that can be instantian mineral wool insulation is blown into walls and ceilings of existing houses, and asphalt shingles which can be applied directly over old roofing material, adding new color to an old house and giving it durable prohouse can make many of his own improvements gradually terials and ideas aimed and women.

The school authorities of Carroll County with the approval of the Board of Education have recently made studies of college enrollment and achievement of scholarship assistance by Computer Scholarship assistance by Carroll County graduates. Report of the study is made to achieve more complete awareness on the part of the public of the important services rendered by the public high schools and to partically discredit popular notions often fostered and encouraged by those not sympathetic with education. Much reason for satisfaction exists with respect to the effectiveness of schools in preparing for college and it is hoped that frief study of the statistics will be helpful to those who may find it necessary to discuss this area of school service. Carroll County High Schools have reason to be proud of the achievement of their graduates.

The study presently made is of students achieving graduation in the classes of 1956-57 from the eight senior high school units in the county and entering college in these years. Significant conclusions which may reasonably be reached may be stat-

What Christ Means

Lesson for December 8, 1957

WHAT does America mean to you? Ask that question of a hundred Americans and you will get some lame answers, and maybe some good ones. But you would say that the truest answers are not the lamest ones. What does Christ mean to you? Ask that question of a hundred Christians, and you will no doubt get some lame answers. But let us ask the question of one of the greatest Chris- Dr. Foreman tians who ever lived, the Apostle Paul. What Christ actually meant to him, he can mean to every Christian. His language may seem strange, but as D. G. Barnhouse says, instead of complaining about the New Testament vocabulary, wouldn't it be worth while to cultivate the experiences for which the New Testament would give us the right words?

"Christ Jesus Has Made Me * His Own"

The first and central point is, in Paul's words (we follow the RSV translation), "Christ Jesus has made me his own." We turn the thing around too much. We speak of "decisions for Christ." Paul had indeed decided for Christ: but that was never for him the main point. Christ had decided for him! He belonged to Christ by Christ's choice first: intimately, inseparably. With this go two other points. One (as Paul puts it) is the eager desire that "I may . . . be found in Him." This meant that when God looked at Paul, Paul hoped God would see him in Christ. Paul is not any longer a ^parate, lone man, he is so truly in Christ than when God looks at him, he sees Christ. Along with that thought, and a part of it, is another: "not having a righteousness of my own, but that which is through faith in Christ, the righteousness from God that depends on faith." This is so opposite to what the ordinary person, all religious but ours, and indeed many Christians, understand and aim at, that it seems too strange to believe. But this is what Christ can mean, my righteousness. The true Christian character is not something built up by the Christian's own efforts and offered to God; it is something accepted from God. If it is true that when God looks at the Christian he sees Christ, he sees the Christian (as one of our songs puts it) "clad in His righteousness alone."

"The Power of His Resurrection"

Christianity is a supernatural religion. Any one who takes it for less is like a person owning an airplane who never fills it with gas nor takes it out on the runway; like a person who has a fortune in the bank but never writes a check. How often a Christian says to himself, "I can't!"— and he is quite right, as a rule. Much is demanded of a Christian that is impossible; which doesn't make sense till the Christian discovers that the answer ought to be: "I can't but Christ can." Paul not only here but in other places testifies that the same power that raised Christ from the dead is actually available to the Christian. It does not come all at once; Paul is expressing it as a hope only partly realized; but it makes sense-spiritual, supernatural sense if you must put it that way. A Christian can rise above his ordinary earthbound self, by the same power in which Christ triumphed over death.

"We Await a Savior"

Once more, Christ for Paul means the Savior, one who comes to his rescue. But while Paul can speak of having been saved, he can also talk of salvation in the future. The same Paul who cherished the phrase "This do in remembrance of me . . ." could also speak of "awaiting" a Savior. There are of me . two great things, part of what is meant by "salvation," which Paul expects Christ yet to do, in the future. They are closely connected. The first is that Christ will come to bring him and others to the "heavenly city" - the commonwealth the Christian has never seen but where his citizenship papers are already made out. The other thing Paul expects is to be changed: his "lowly body" is to be "like (Christ's) glorious body." Paul does not make this fully clear; he had not yet had the experience. This is the language of hope. But one thing is plain. For Paul, Christ is not only the Savior from sin, but the Savior from death. Paul no longer feared death, as he might have when a boy. Magic Fruit Cakes For Holidays

PRUIT CAKE IS SOMETHING OF A TRADITION at the holidays. In "the old days" this delicacy took hours in preparation, with chopping of fruit and meat and suet, grinding of spices, shelling and chopping of nuts, and slicing of fruit peel. Nowadays you can make a perfect fruit cake in just a few minutes, by using packaged condensed mince meat and sweetened condensed milk, and buying nut meats and candied fruits ready to use. To add to the beauty of your taste-tempting cake, top with snowy frosting, decorate with green wreaths and cinnamon drops for candy holly. This fruit cake would make a welcome gift as well as good eating at holiday celebrations.

MAGIC FRUIT CAKE

- 1 9-ounce package mince meat 1 can (11/3 cups) sweetened 1/2 cup water
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 cup (8-ounces) mixed can-
- condensed milk 1 cup walnut meats, coarsely cup (8-ounces) mixed can-died fruit, coarsely chopped 3/4 cup sifted flour 3/2 teaspoon baking soda

Break mince meat into small pieces and put in a two-quart sauce-pan. Add water. Place over heat and stir until lumps are thorough-ly broken. Boil briskly one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool. Add egg, candied fruit, sweetened condensed milk and nuts. Blend well. Stir in flour and baking soda until just blended. Pour mixture into 9 by 4 by 3 inch loaf pan which has been greased, lined with waxed paper and greased again. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour and 30 minutes or until center springs back when lightly touched with finger.
