PASTOR RECOVERING

Rev. John H. Gonso, Pastor Evangelist, whose home address is 37 Liberty Street, Westminster, Md., is still a patient at the Hanover General Hospital, Hanover, Pa. He is suffering from a rare type of pneumonia. He has been sick in bed for over a month, first it was burning fever, then the nurses put ice bags to him, then just as sudden he would suffer terrible chills, then hot water bottles. He spent much time in the oxygen tent. He was given 6 blood transfusions, and very much medication. He acknowledges that he owes his life to this wonderful Doctor and a wonderful staff of kind and obliging nurses. He did not expect to recover from this serious illness.

He thanks the Hospital for its professional service, but he attributes his recovery first to the prayers of hundreds of friends and the many preachers who came to see him and pray at his bedside. Doctor Gray is permitting Rev. Gonso to return to his home this week under the care of his home physician. He will stay in bed indefinitely, and will return to the Hospital for check up. He is far from being well. He desires that prayer be continued in his behalf.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

As I type this column the first real snow is falling and it is truly a most picturesque sight from any of the bungalow windows. It appears as though it will continue on and not as announced this morning that it will be clearing by noon! I did not venture out as far as the mail box at the end of the road so you can readily understand the conditions. But that precious Sugar Girl thinks those snow flakes were just made for her and she scampers sprightly over the thick white mat, coming in with her beautiful hair filled with the white stuff. Buttons refuses to be lured out—not even a good home would induce her to do so. She looks up at me as much as to say, "I loathe the stuff. You can have it, Sugar, all to yourself, but not me."

Last week, a lady handed me a magazine in which was the following statement with the title "Christian Trend Towards Judaism" by Peter Shimon Olin Foyle who was reared in the Christian faith but who embraced the Hebrew religion some five years ago. He resides in Detroit, married and the father of two children. He is the National Secretary of the United Israel World Union. And here is part of the article—In this age of soul-searching and ideological conflict it is not surprising that we find tens of thousands of Christians and adherents to other faiths in many parts of the world seriously considering the adoption of the Hebrew religion. According to statistics, some 11,000 Americans and others have already embraced the foundational Mosaic way of life during the past decade. The underlying reasons behind this significant world trend are obvious. Puzzled over the long history of Christianity marked by bloody wars, religious and political, the honest seeker after truth has come to realize that there is something basically wrong with his faith. Despite his "religion of love", peace and true brotherhood, has eluded mankind. It was a Christian world he shudders in horror, that stood silently by and tolerated the cold-blooded murder of six million children of the Covenant during the Hitlerian holocaust. Moreover, the true Christian, carefully analyzing the Bible has come to the recognition that the mother faith of the Dealogue proclaiming only One God and One Law, the Torah, for all mankind, represents a philosophy of life harmonizing in every respect with God's natural laws. Here is no multiple man or saint worship. One of the most interesting developments within this new Judaizing trend on the part of the Christian is the fact that it took root and grew in his new Promised Land of America—a land which rose on the very pillars of the Hebrew Bible. It was the Old Testament that inspired the founding fathers when they fought for the independence of the 13 colonies. There is much more to this wonderful article which would be too lengthy to copy. This very month, folks—December—remember Christ was a Jew. When you hear Gentiles—not Christians—speak or ill of the ill of the Hebrew race, or ill of just one Jewish person, you will note that the person has a jealous streak somewhere down his spine. I recall a minister who said now and then to his congregation that it was the jealousy of the Christian toward the Jew that causes hatred. You never heard of any Jewish person disliking the Gentiles or speaking ill of them. Did you? So start now and be a loving individual and you will see and learn the great happiness that is in your heart.

This month this column is just one dozen years old. The years fly. Eh? Christmas on Monday was in full swing in Baltimore. Who said there was not going to be much money spent as it was scarce this year? There were shoppers everywhere and there was so much cheer with every individual being kind to one another. I am sure that many belonged to the Christmas Clubs of the banks and that way there is of course more spending for gifts when they draw out the bulk sum. Whatever you do, folks, don't indulge in more than you can really afford as some families do and then it takes them almost a year to pay back what they borrowed. Never, never borrow money for Christmas gifts as I heard of one family who did such a thing which caused much unhappiness throughout the entire year. If the family is a large one, buy fine cards and they will appreciate that as much as a gift.

How glad I am that I prepared in bringing the snow shovel indoors from the garage—now I can shovel my way out.

Have a grand week end. Be most careful when you drive and if it is not necessary for any type of errand just—don't go. Until next week D.V. I am

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1957

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

CHEYENNE WELLS, COLO., RECORD: "Despite the assurance of Treasury officials that the $275 billion Federal debt ceiling will not be punctured — even by Sputnik — all other indications point to bigger and better Government spending. . . . Unless the humble citizen back home can persuade their Congressmen between now and New Year's that the extra billions must be squeezed out of useless and wasteful Federal bureaus . . . there will be no retarding done. In short, our Government will have no brakes!"

MOUNT AYR, IOWA, RINGGOLD RECORD: "The dog has many friends because the wag was put in his tail instead of his tongue."

RED CREEK, N. Y., HERALD: "From the small beginnings of railroads in this country back in 1830's . . . they have been the backbone of transportation and have contributed immeasurably to the growth of America . . . We cannot believe that America can afford to meet the complete passing of the railroads but the complaint of the companies against obstacles to better revenues are not unjustly founded . . . The costs of operation have risen in tremendous degrees and they find it hard to borrow money for new equipment."

"It is altogether obvious that something must be done to save the railroads and they must be saved."

BROWNSVILLE, PA., TELEGRAPH: "Many Americans now realize that things like Sputnik grow out of basic research done years before any spectacular results are achieved. Thus 'basic research' has new stature in public opinion . . . The freedom which basic research must have is better assured through non-governmental gifts to institutions which instinctively know and resolutely cherish its value."

SPOONER, WISC., ADVOCATE: "Safe gun handling means that you and the other fellow will come back. The hunting seasons are designed for trophies rather than tragedies. Good luck, enjoy the hunt—but be careful!"

PETALUMA, CALIF., ARGUS COURIER: "The hue and cry for better education, in which we join, is motivated by our determination not to surrender to nor be destroyed by Communist Russia. But if the steps we take are but further steps on the road to a strong government in Washington, then we ourselves are surrendering to, or being destroyed by, the spirit of totalitarianism."

BALTIMORE, MD., DAILY RECORD: "General business slowed down in October, but it was, for the most part, a healthy slow-down, a sort of 'Let's Stop, Look and Listen' kind of a slow-down, rather than one based on fear."

"Tight money had its bearing, of course, but it is thought that most of the expansion projects, which were postponed in late 1957 will blossom forth fully in 1958."

PALATKA, FLA., DAILY NEWS: "Certainly electric power is a needed public service and one which the people of this nation can provide for themselves through free enterprise and does not need to be exploited under the authority of the United States government or by the use of the taxpayer's dollars. This notion that the federal government should build and operate generating plants to provide public power, whether it be produced by nuclear energy or any other fuel is repugnant to any concept of free enterprise."

MOUNTAIN HOME, IDAHO. NEWS: "This flu epidemic has been pretty rough, but after talking to some of the folks who have lived in other parts of the world (and there are lots of them hereabouts) we are glad to be in the good old U. S. A. . . . We have advantages over them in many ways, including better medical care."

OLYMPIA, WASH., DAILY OLYMPIAN: "Thirty years ago a large segment of the population was engaged in frenzied stock market speculation . . . Today millions of persons own stocks, but few use securities for gambling purposes."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor, Whenever we discover that someone else has been thinking the same thoughts as we, it is only natural to consider him a very smart fellow, and to pass this wisdom along. Hence, we give you Publisher Frank R. Mills of the CHRONICLE-HERALD of Hoopeston, Illinois:

"As I get older, more spavined and windbroke, buffeted about by the perversity of fate, I tend towards a belief in the utter futility of all existence."

"No doubt, as a grandpa, I am more entitled to such a pessimistic view than are my grandchildren who have yet to experience how to live modern. But if I could see a majority of bright and shining faces among the younger generation I would feel more encouraged . . ."

"It is positively appalling to try and talk with some of these youngsters. Then generate not a single original idea. They can not even carry on an intelligent conversation."

"WE HAVE MADE THEM A GENERATION OF SPECTATORS INSTEAD OF PLAYERS. Their inventive genius is stifled for lack of cultivation. THEY SIT AND WATCH BEING UNABLE TO DO. Recently I was called on to write down a typewriter the confession of a 16-year-old thief. When the officer required him to read the confession back out loud, he could not even read his own words without prompting."

"My generation was luckier. We were not cursed with modern design. The days of our youth were ones of joyous experiences, both work and play. We WERE the cowboys, driving old Muley to pasture. A sled for the winter season was something you made. You hitched a ride behind a buggy because there was no highway traffic to run over you. Within the boundaries of our yard was a world of entertainment. "We had never heard of the movies, let alone radio and TV. We were the characters and the actors, not the spectators."

Mr. Mills goes on to reminisce about life-with-father, his father, who was a dollar-a-day blacksmith - and to wonder out loud whether, after all, our shiny bathtubs and automatic washers really do give us an improved standard of living. He reports that his father's supper table held "infinitely greater variety" than does his own today, that the zinc bathtub - filled from the 'reservoir' in the kitchen range "worked real good". And beefsteak, he observes, is still worth about an hour's work per pound - just as it was then.

But never mind about us. We've more or less had it. It's the youngsters that are important. Is the modern age depriving them of normal development? Is it making them zombies instead of people - imitators instead of originators.

Will somebody please reassure Publisher Mills and . . . yours truly, BOB TAYLOR

P. O. HOLIDAY RUSH GETS UNDER WAY

Early Mailing Advised by Postmaster Burke

The Post Office Department predicts that the 1957 pre-holiday mailings will be the greatest in the history of the P. O. Department. This year we have already noticed the increasing flow of Christmas cards, letters, and packages, and the real rush is on.

Many of our patrons have asked how they could be of assistance during the busy Christmas season. Believing that you would like to help, we offer the following suggestions:

Buy your stamps in advance and place them on your cards and letters before putting them in the box for collection. Unsealed cards without writing, other than your name, may be mailed for 2c but they cannot be forwarded or returned to you if undeliverable as addressed. Those bearing the letter rate, 3c can be forwarded or returned if undeliverable, provided they bear your return address. All sealed cards and those containing writing must bear the letter rate of postage. You can further assist by separating your cards for local and out of town delivery. When your cards are ready to be mailed, with stamps affixed, tie them in bundles with all addresses faced the same way and with the stamps in the upper right corner. The Postal Department provides labels free of charge reading "All for Local Delivery" and "All for Out of Town Delivery". We urgently asked every patron to ask for these labels either at the Post Office or thru your rural carrier. In using these labels, for example; all mail bearing the Taneytown address, both town and rural deliver should be placed in the bundle labeled "All for Local Delivery." All other would of course be placed in the "All for Out of Town Delivery" pack.

If your packages are not properly wrapped and addressed they may not reach their destination, may be damaged in transit, or may be delayed in delivery. Select a sturdy container and wrap your package in good heavy paper and tie with cord or strong twine. Write or print the address on one side only and place your return address in the upper left hand corner. It is a good idea to place a card inside the parcel containing your name and address, just in case the outside wrapper is torn off. If you desire to enclose a letter in the package, be sure to mark on the wrapper, "First class mail enclosed" and pay the postage for the letter in addition to the postage for the package. Valuable packages should be insured. "Do not open until Christmas" or a similar notation may be placed on the outside of the package.

The Post Office will remain open all day on Saturdays the 14th and 21st, with suspension of money order service at 12 noon on these Saturdays.

Rural patrons are requested to follow the above suggestions in cooperation with their rural carriers. The practice of placing money with letters in rural boxes expecting carriers to affix the proper postage will not be tolerated, particularly during this rush season of the year.

Your earnest cooperation with the above suggestions will be greatly appreciated by your local postal staff, and at the same time, giving your mail the very best of service.

Do not run off to the city to do your shopping. Patronize the local merchants first. It is the home people who have the taxes to pay, who have the charities to keep up, who are called on for every emergency in time of distress, who are most interested in your well being and prosperity. Keep your money at home when you can—and you generally can if you want to.

Taneytown—An Important Trade Center and Shipping Point, over 1,000 Cars of Merchandise loaded on its side tracts during the past twelve months. Taneytown, a thriving and substantial trade center, has a population of approximately one thousand souls.

It is surrounded by a rich agricultural country, whose farms, cultivated, after the most progressive time and labor saving methods, yield abundantly, all of the principal cereals, with the added resources of the raising of cattle, hogs, poultry and produce generally. Taneytown has six churches. The educational advantages consist of grammar and high school courses in the public schools. Taneytown possesses a splendid water works system, a well equipped and well drilled fire department, all the principal benevolent and fraternal orders; and rural routes radiating in all directions.

Remodeling Magic

Modest Vacation Cottage
Now Year-Around Home

Remodeling changed this simple summer cottage, left, into the handsome year-around home above. New windows of ponderosa pine and reroofing in a green blend of asphalt shingles helped give the house its modern exterior. All-season comfort is provided by thick mineral wool insulation.

Finding a modest summer cottage that can be purchased for a song and remodeled is a sound and economical way for a family to obtain a year-round home in the country.

A case in point is the home of the Charles Camp family near Morgantown, W. Va. The Camps modernized a tiny cottage built in 1937 for summer use, and today have a modern home that gives them comfortable living throughout the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Camp began their project by consulting Arthur B. Campen, modernization editor of Practical Builder, light-construction industry magazine. Campen drew up plans for remodeling to change the cottage into an up-to-date home.

The remodeling included the addition of a new wing and the extension of a section of the living room wall to form a bay, with a gable-end roof section over it. Almost exactly in the middle of the long, low house, the gable end imparts a more balanced appearance.

Asphalt shingles in a green blend were specified for the entire roof, both the original and the added sections. A new, colorful roof goes a long way to unify the old and the new in a remodeled house, Campen believes, and asphalt shingles offer a wide range of color choices.

Campen chose white for the clapboard siding, with the green of the roof repeated in the window shutters.

The new wing contains the master bedroom, a wood-paneled den, a bathroom and stairs leading to the cellar. Double-hung windows of ponderosa pine were installed in the new wing, the living room bay and the kitchen, to match the wood windows in the rest of the house.

For year-round comfort, full-thick batts of mineral wool insulation were installed in the new sections. The insulation keeps much of Virginia's summer heat out of the house and enables a new forced-air furnace to do a more efficient and economical heating job in winter.

In modernizing the kitchen, wood cabinets and a plastic laminate counter top were added, providing more storage and work space. A new vinyl floor, a dishwasher, and a garbage disposal unit were installed.

ETERNAL LIFE—THIS IS GOD'S MESSAGE TO THE WORLD

Life is not a mystery to those who know
God is with us all every place we go;
At birth He implants Himself in man;
For, to make us all perfect, is God's plan.

Jesus said: "Ye are gods", to the people one day—
(At least, that is what the Scriptures say!)
So, it is God's intention that man shall some day be
A god among gods in Eternity.

One of the secrets, they say, in God's great plan
Is to make a god of you and every man;
So on every mortal God's face we must see
Before he is made fit for Eternity.

The Bible says, as "face answers to face in a glass"
Is the test our bodies must pass;
To weather the storms of an endless day,
One must have a body which shall not decay.

As the tree which stands in the storm cloud's path
Must train its roots to encounter its wrath,
So man must prepare in every way,
To weather the storms of the "Thousand year Day".

So, Reincarnation, they tell us, is God's plan
To make of you and me a perfect man;
A single lifespan too short would be
To learn how to live through Eternity.

God is our Life, the Scriptures also say;
So, where He goes, we no longer stay;
In another body He finds for us a place—
That is how He makes perfect each race.

So back to earth we all must return;
For Eternal Life, we all must earn;
It is a gift which only God can give;
And, unless we are like Him, we could not live.

Men have told us that one must die
To enter mansions up in the sky;
But, such deductions are not true;
There are others things God wants us to do.

I repeat, Eternal Life we all must earn
By giving something in return—
A kindly word, and a helping hand
Is God's imperative demand.

The right to pass the "pearly gate"
Shall not be given to those who wait
To walk the shining streets of gold—
Neither can it be bought or sold.

If that passport we hope to win,
Our bodies must be free from sin;
Like Pilate, we must wash our hands
When forced to do what earth demands.

God knew that man from Him would stray;
So, He devised, for us, the only way
To get and wear that precious gem
Which is called the "Royal Diadem".

That gem they tell us, is of precious worth;
But, many have won it here on earth;
And, we all must have it before we can go—
It is the passport to Glory from here below.

These few verses, tell how we all must be
Before we can go from Time to Eternity;
So, let us all try to learn of God's plan
To make a perfect earth and a perfect man.

The Building Planning Group of the Keysville Lutheran Church met on Thanksgiving evening at the church. Mrs. Florence Lintchum and her son, Charles made a short visit at the home of her cousin Mrs. Clyde Wilhite and family on Nov. 27. They were on their way back to Los Angeles, California, after having spent time in Baltimore, Towanda, Pa. and this section.

Mrs. Lintchum had been assisting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Helen Marks, Towanda, because Helen had quite a serious operation. Helen spent quite some time in this community in the home of the Carroll Wilhite, twenty years ago. Charles recently was discharged from the service, his last place of duty was Japan.

Mrs. Maurice Wilhite is getting along well in the Gettysburg Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa. It is not certain when the cast will be removed from her leg and she will be able to leave the hospital.

The Keysville United Church Women met on Dec. 2nd at the church with Mrs. Carroll Dougherty and Mrs. Gilbert Stine as the leaders. The hostesses were Mrs. James Coshun, Mrs. Mary Devilliss and Mrs. Robert Stine. We really miss Mrs. Charles Cluts, 1626 E. Mitchell St., Tucson, Arizona. Mrs. Cluts wrote wonderful reports of each United Lutheran Church meeting which was held at the Keysville church.

Luther Clabaugh has been painting the church basement at the Keysville church. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zimmerman, who live in the home at the junction of the Six's Bridge road and the Keysville-Detour road, were overnight Thanksgiving holiday guests of their daughter Mrs. George Rogers and Mr. Rogers at their home on Dunroving road in Baltimore. Beverly Priest, a student at the Gettysburg College, spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Priest, Forest and Stream Club road near Detour. The Priest family planned to take Beverly

This change will have to be cleared with the leaders Mrs. John Harner and Mrs. Mark Baumgardner. The topic will deal with the 50th anniversary of the publication of "Lutheran Women's Work." The definite plans will be published next week.

Rev. Dixon Yaste, former pastor in the Union Bridge Parish, made a number of Thanksgiving Day calls in this neighborhood. FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

It may be the uncooperating weather we have been having but so far the Christmas atmosphere has not invaded our spirit. Even though the fruit cakes are baked and hidden away and our cards addressed and stamped for the mailman, that feeling of urgency and expectancy is missing. Maybe we are so busy with painting walls, sanding floors and building up the morale of a hundred and thirty year old house that we haven't had time to catch the yuletide spirit. But we must get with it and soon, for there are only about fourteen days left until Santa makes his mad dash from the North Pole, to every spot in the world. His journey will be a bit complicated this year with all the satellites floating around the earth to confuse him. It would take all the earth's children a bit and if he decided to hop on a man-made plane and go driving off with his reindeers into outer space to see if there are any boys and girls on the other planets who believe in Santa Claus. Do you think there are? It is very possible and one of these days we will really know. It may even be possible that one day we will be exchanging Christmas presents with other planets. The thought is very exciting and already we are wondering what the postal rates will be to send a package to Mars or the moon.

The campaign for funds to build the Carroll County General Hospital is spreading across the entire county. Every citizen will be given a chance to contribute after being informed of the plans by volunteer community workers. This challenging undertaking is proceeding smoothly although the cooperation of everyone is needed so that there will be no real burden for anyone.

The sale of the late William T. Newman property in Keyman on Saturday drew people from Frederick, Westminster, Littlestown, Pa., besides local people. The downpour of rain did not keep people from standing out in the open for five hours. The sale "bug" is a hardy soul and it takes more than the weather to keep him from risking his health for a bargain. Men seem to be replacing women as bargain hunters although when a man wants an article he bids until he gets it. Women use to be accused of paying too much for things but lately they have become overly cautious. We saw one woman bid on an article that was worth twenty-five dollars and she stopped at ninety cents. It went to the next bidder for a dollar. We just couldn't figure that out for it was an article that every woman wants. There seems to be a reluctance on the part of most females to buy second hand furniture no matter how good it is. If you ask them why, they never give you a satisfactory answer. Antiques of course are different, but we find few women other than dealers who like antique furniture in their own homes. But any kind of a dish always brings its full value, and often a great deal more. Dishes hold a fascination for all women although once in a great while you meet one that only wants enough to serve a meal with. No doubt they hate to wash dishes. Attending a sale is the cheapest form of entertainment we know and a perfect place to meet people. Its time consuming of course and more tiring physically than a hard days work, but its interesting and lots of fun because once in awhile you do get a real bargain. We the Saturday for, we were the party who got the twenty-five dollar value for a dollar.

The Mt. Union Lutheran Women Society held its annual Christmas party in the parish house Dec. 2 with thirty members present. In the absence of the president Mrs. Helen Crouse due to illness, Mrs. Ruth Bair was in charge of the meeting. Musical selections of Christmas songs were given by members of the society including Linda Miller, Dale Miller, Barbara, Virginia and Lena Fink; Mrs. Lee Fink, Joan Crabbs and Mrs. Scott Crabbs. Gifts were exchanged between secret sisters and refreshments enjoyed.

Inflation is the art of cutting a dollar bill in half without touching the paper.

Members and friends of the Elmer Wolfe PTA enjoyed the annual Christmas program presented Monday evening in the school auditorium. Miss Judy Fellows, music teacher presented the following program: "The Poor Little Match Girl" done in a sort of pantomime on a blackboard, while the sixth grade elementary chorus sang the traditional Christmas carols. Narrator, Marcia Edwards; soloist, Althet Schneider; character, Bonnie Green and Vickie Kennedy. The senior high school chorus presented the Christmas story in song. Narrator, Barbara Nusbaum; soloist, Nancy Roelke; pianist, Judy Williar. Mr. Berkeley Bowman read the Christmas story and offered a yuletide prayer. Mr. Kanowicz reminded the audience that the school would have from time to time events to raise money for the Hospital fund. He also urged parents to attend the coming basket ball games to encourage the local school team and also to help fill the athletic treasury. The school will close for the holidays Dec. 20th to Jan. 2nd.

The Washington Post paper devoted two columns today lamenting the passing from the American horizon of the "hired hand". The term has always irked me because it seemed to slur a very competent type of workman. The handy man or hired hand is indeed passing from both the city and the farm. From the point of view of those who took advantage of the man who was willing to do all the jobs that no one else had time to do the passing is sad. But to those who deplored the half-caste system under which a hired hand lived, it is a good thing. Today the hired man on a farm is no longer referred to as such. He is the farmer's assistant now both in name and reality. This is the way it should be. In America today there is no class barrier. This is what makes democracy a wonderful thing to live under.

"Its beginner's luck when a boy is born in America. Dan Bennett. If you happen to have a friend that has everything and you don't know what to give him for Christmas, send him your sympathy. He needs it.—Ruth Roelke.

OLD DOC FIXEM SAYS

Many young peoples' societies suffer from the following diseases. Check up on your own group for the following symptoms, and try the prescribed remedies. "No-pep-sia"—letting things drag; no enthusiasm (very contagious). If you feel any symptoms take a good dose of the Acts of the Apostles. "Room-a-tism"—failure to have the room ready before meeting time. Remedy: apply external treatment a half hour before each meeting. "Can't-sir"—shows laziness plus an inferiority complex. "I can't do this and I can't do that." Remedy: Regular dose of Phil. 4:13, "I can do all things in him that strengtheneth me." "Drop-sy"—the dropping out of members when they become discouraged. Remedy: Pray and work.

HOW TO KILL YOUR FIRE CO. OR CLUB 1. Don't come to any meetings. 2. If you do come, be sure to come late. 3. Hold back your dues, or don't pay them. 4. Never ask a good friend to join. 5. Don't have anything to say if called on, just gripe after the meeting. 6. Don't be friendly, just have a swelled head. 7. When one does a good deed or a good turn for the Fire Co. club or town, just criticize him. 8. And don't offer him a free membership. 9. If too wet, too dry, too hot or too cold don't think of coming to a meeting. 10. If you do come to a meeting, find fault with the proceedings and the work done by others. 11. Kick if you are not appointed to a committee, and if you are appointed never attend. 12. Don't do anything to help your Fire Co. or Club, then when a few others take off their coats and do a good deed or something for the town, be sure and howl that a clique is running the organization. 13. Do not correct the young or give them a smile. 14. When there is a special meeting once a year, come and put on a show that you are the whole town.

Soft Green Blend Best-Liked Color On U. S. Rooftops

Americans still prefer green on their rooftops, although their tastes run more to soft, muted tones than they did 15 years ago, a national study shows.

The study, undertaken in 1956 by the Asphalt Roofing Industry Bureau, a manufacturers' association, shows that almost one-third of the asphalt shingles shipped from plants were in soft, blended greens.

A similar study made in 1941 revealed that 20 percent of the asphalt shingles that year were in a bright, solid green. More than 20 percent were hexagonal in shape.

The new study shows a trend away from hexagonal shingles, with only 5 percent sold in 1956. Most popular today is the square-inch strip shingle.

Preferences for color differ in various regions of the United States, according to the study. On the Pacific Coast, light gray was most popular, while homeowners in the Northwest preferred solid black or blue-black and gray blends.

In the Southeast, straight white led with 24.8 percent of the shingles sold, and in the Southwest, white shingles totaled 16.9 percent. In both the Southern regions, solid color shingles were preferred.

Of the total asphalt shingles shipped from 68 manufacturing plants during the survey period, 11.3 percent were white.

Colorful Granules Give Roofing Coat of Rock

Millions of rock granules are embedded into the surface of asphalt shingles. The granules are both functional and decorative.

The opaque granules give the surface of the roofing a tough coat of rock which seals in the heavy oils of the asphalt and reduces the wearing effect of rain, snow, and ice.

For appearance, the granules are given color through a special ceramic process. The result is a wide range of colors available in asphalt shingles, from light pastels to deep tones and blends.

Holiday Breads Are Traditional Favorites

DURING THE HOLIDAY SEASON, even bread is transformed into a festive looking treat that can easily double as a dessert. Sugar Information, Inc. has prepared a recipe for Bohemian Twist—filled with fruits and nuts, and topped with a creamy icing—that will dress up any meal during the coming season, from breakfast right on through to an evening snack.

- BOHEMIAN TWIST
1 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup melted butter
2 eggs, well beaten
1 envelope dry yeast
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup chopped blanched almonds
2 tablespoons candied lemon peel

Scald milk, sugar, salt and butter together in a saucepan. Pour into large bowl, let stand until lukewarm. Blend in eggs and yeast; mix until yeast is dissolved. Stir in enough flour to make a soft dough; cover and set aside for 20 minutes.

Turn out on floured board and knead until dough isn't sticky. Knead in raisins, almonds, and lemon peel. Divide dough into 4 ropes about 12 inches long. Join ends at top; twist a pair of ropes together and press, side by side. Place on greased cookie sheet; let rise until double in bulk. Brush with melted butter. Bake at 350°F. for 55-60 minutes. Cool. Spread bread with butter icing, using 4 cups confectioners' sugar, 4 tablespoons cream and 1 teaspoon Vanilla flavoring. Decorate with blanched almond slivers and cherry halves.

A Man's Favorite Gift

Have you been wondering what to buy the men on your Christmas shopping list? This may surprise you but men rate white shirts as their "most wanted gift". According to pilot consumer research surveys recently conducted by Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., the most common item in a man's wardrobe, a shirt, is still considered his favorite present.

But you wanted to select something new and different for a gift? Then treat them to one of the new Dacron and "Sanforized" cotton broadcloth shirts. The Arrow shirt shown above is made of a new luxury fabric which has the appearance of fine pima cotton yet has the practical qualities of a synthetic blend. Besides looking crisp and fresh after a long day at the office, these new shirts also have all the modern washability features. They may be machine washed and ironed at home, hand washed and drip dried to be worn without ironing, or they may be sent to a commercial laundry.

The short point Glen collar is a new style note to refresh the appearance of any man. Permanent built-in stays, which cannot be lost or damaged, keep the collar points neatly in place.

Personalize Your Bath Towels

SMART HOMEMAKERS these days are personalizing their bath ensembles. They find that monograms on lovely towels add a touch of beauty and accent pride of ownership.

By using materials that often cost less than a dollar you can, with your own handiwork, add monograms, initials and names to achieve smart individuality for all of your bath ensembles. Consider the economy of this, because professional monogramming is expensive. You'll find it wise to invest in the best quality towels you can afford and to add your own expensive looking monograms. It's fun—and requires practically no sewing experience to achieve dramatic results.

A free leaflet "Easy-to-do Ideas for Creating your own Monograms" is yours for the asking. Send a postcard to Dept. W, The Cannon Homemaking Institute, 70 Worth Street, New York 13, N. Y. and you will receive it post haste. It's none too soon to plan for the gifts you'll soon be giving. Both men and women love the "personally yours" monogram touch on luxurious bath towels.

Live With Joy

Lesson for December 15, 1957

NOBODY wants to be unhappy. The trouble is, people look in the wrong places, or in the wrong ways, for happiness. They look for it under the Christmas tree, or at the race track, or in the taverns, or in books . . .

They think happiness is something you can pay for and pick up like a ticket to New York. Well, you can get short-lived happiness, of sorts, in many of these and other ways. Dr. Foreman

But why is it that so many old people not only look sour but are sour? Isn't it because they are disillusioned about happiness? It's something they chased but never caught; or if they caught it they could not long keep it. Happiness is always the big fish that got away.

For Now and for Always

Realizing this, many Christians have worked out another scheme in their minds. They figure that happiness, or joy, is not to be had in this life, only in the next. Indeed some have gone so far as to believe that the unhappier you are in this world, the more happiness will be piled on your plate at the heavenly banquet. And so they will even go to a lot of trouble to make themselves as miserable as possible, like doing without proper food and clothes, wearing hair shirts and heavy chains around their bodies, so earning happiness in the future life.

All this is quite off the Bible's beam. The worldly man is right in thinking happiness is to be found here and now. The hair-shirter who wakes up at 3 A.M. to beat himself with a whip while he sings a mournful Psalm is right in thinking real happiness ought to be a lasting thing, proof against pain and disaster. But the worldling is wrong in thinking happiness is the same thing as "kicks" and that just anybody can have it, and the hair-shirter is wrong in thinking you have to wait for death to usher you to the land of joy. The Bible tells of true joy, and it is something for now and for always.

The Quality of Joy

Bible religion, especially when we come to the New Testament, is a religion of joy. The very word "Gospel" means "Good news." One of our Lord's final words was "—that my joy may be in you and that your joy may be full" (John 15:11). Paul, in writing to his friends at Philippi, was writing in circumstances which could hardly be called cheerful. He was getting older and felt his age; he was not and perhaps never had been a completely well man; he was so poor he needed the help his friends sent him; and furthermore he was in jail. Yet it was precisely in those circumstances that he wrote the classic passage about joy, in Philipians 4, beginning "Rejoice in the Lord always."

A thing like joy never exists by itself. It is always in somebody. It is a name for the way some people are. True joy is woven in with life. So it can best be observed and studied not as if you could put it into a test-tube or under a microscope. You can see what joy is by watching the people who have it. When Paul talked about love, and joy, and faith, people paid attention, they did not throw the letters into the wastebasket, because they knew him and they knew he had lived these things before he wrote about them. They knew that in his life there was no fear, they knew that he had "learned the secret" in whatever state he was, to be content.

How to Have It

Paul did not "have" joy as you might have a parakeet which you let out of its cage to play with now and then. He "lived" in joy, it was the atmosphere of his life. But with Paul, as with all Christians who have learned the same secret, joy did not come alone. The Christian's joy is a treasure beyond price.

If it is not the "joy of the Lord," it is not genuine. So it is always found only in those who have the Christian faith, and the Christian love. The selfish life, the loveless life, never can know what joy is. This is one great reason why true happiness—and the only true happiness—is the joy of the Christian—cannot be found by chasing it. For the person who seeks joy for his own benefit is still selfish; and selfishness and joy are eternally strangers.

The bore was talking at length about himself. Finally he came up with the statement that he was a self made man.

"Say, that's big of you," interrupted one of his listeners, "Lot's of men would try to blame it on somebody else."

UNION BRIDGE, MIDDLEBURG, NEW WINDSOR

A bad tempered old lady was poking among the brooms in a store when a clerk approached her.

"Look at this," she snapped, shaking a broom in the face of the clerk, "fimsy, poor handle, cheap straw. What's it good for anyway?"

The clerk used to tough-tongued customers replied sweetly, "Well, you may find that it flies very well."

Winter Arrangement With Dried Weeds

During a short walk, and usually not too far from home, one can find an assortment of dried plants and often weeds that make beautiful Christmas centerpieces and room decorations. The variety of winter table arrangements which can be prepared from them becomes unlimited once materials are gathered.

Centerpieces are so easy and inexpensive to make. Many materials are already available in the home such as toothpicks, glitter and Christmas balls. Supplementing twigs, weeds, evergreens and candles. Styrofoam is available at variety stores and lumberyards to use as a base.

This design with its winter theme has a base cut from a two inch thickness of white plastic foam. A sharp paring knife can be used to cut any shape and size. The one pictured is a free form, so no pattern or outline is needed.

Edges can be made smooth by rubbing with another piece of the Styrofoam. Holes for the candles are cut in the base just a bit smaller than the candles to achieve a snug fit.

Tuck in the twigs and greenery. Attach the reindeer of plastic foam using toothpicks. Angel hair and glitter are added to give a soft and sparkling touch to the centerpiece.

So easy for the busy homemaker to prepare, it's a table decoration friends will admire and then can make themselves with their own variations.

New Outlook for an Old Standby
Beef Ball Ramekins

Meatballs with green beans and rice plus individual ramekins plus several shakes of Ac'cent equal multiplied mealtime pleasure. Ground beef seems to taste better when served in a portion-sized casserole, and it actually tastes better when seasoned with Ac'cent.

These tiny white crystals of pure monosodium glutamate have no taste of their own, but they do have a talent for bringing out the taste of meat. Add them to the ground beef, then distribute by gently tossing.

Of course the flavor is developed while the miniature meat balls are cooking, and they're cooked before you can say "Beef Ball Ramekins for Dinner Tonight!" Say it to company, too, and serve them with sweet and sour relishes, hot rolls and a green salad.

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| 1 pound ground beef                         | 2 tablespoons butter or margarine      |
| 3/4 teaspoon Ac'cent (monosodium glutamate) | 1 can (1 pound) green beans            |
| 1 teaspoon salt, divided                    | 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup |
| 3/4 teaspoon pepper, divided                | 3 cups hot pre-cooked rice             |

Break up meat with fork in mixing bowl. Sprinkle Ac'cent, 3/4 teaspoon of the salt and 1/4 teaspoon of the pepper over surface of meat. Toss lightly to distribute seasonings. Shape into 1-inch meat balls. Melt butter in skillet; add meat balls and brown; remove. Drain bean liquid into skillet; cook until liquid is reduced to about 1/2 cup. Stir in soup, beans and meat balls; add remaining salt and pepper. Heat to serving temperature. Serve in individual casseroles with hot cooked rice. YIELD: 4 servings.
