RECRUITS NEEDED

BALTIMORE, MD.—High school seniors are being advised to enlist in the Marine Corps before graduation, a spokesman for that service admitted today.

But major R. K. Adams, Officer in Charge of the Marine Corps Recruiting Station here, who made the admission, says he expects no repercussions from parents and school authorities.

The seniors won't be ordered to active duty until after graduation.

Maj. Adams said the delayed active duty program allows him to guarantee qualified young men a place in the Marine Corps.

Otherwise, lowered recruiting quotas make it necessary to place an applicant's name on a waiting list until there is an opening.

The delayed active duty program permits those accepted to remain home up to 120 days before being ordered to recruit training.

"Buddies" who enlist together will be assigned to the same unit for recruit training.

Maj. Adams' office is located in Room 325, Post Office Building, Fayette & Calvert Streets.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

By Esther N. Speak

The old-fashioned winter of 1958 will long be remembered by young and old.

Our most recent storm cut this farm family and many others also off from civilization almost entirely for three to four days.

Due to power failure many adjustments had to be made and were made successfully in our case.

Some of the many things we learned to do without were lighting system, hot and cold running water, electric range clocks, radio, television, phone, refrigerators, washer, dryer and milking machine.

There might be some of you interested in knowing how we managed fairly well during the emergency.

We were fortunate enough to have several kerosene lamps to provide us with light.

Water was pumped by hand from a nearby well and heated on our oil space heater which was used for our personal use as well as for cooking, doing dishes washing clothes and for barn and dairy use. More hot water is used than you might think.

The electric range was missed a good bit until I tried getting breakfast on the top of our oil burner in our kitchen. It fried our eggs very nicely and provided us with our coffee. We had cold cuts and salads for lunch. Mother gave us a complete warm evening meal prepared on her (bottled) gas stove.

Our wrist watches proved very dependable in keeping us the right time and the morning sun was our alarm clock.

We soon became accustomed to no radio and T.V.

The freezer kept our food well frozen in spite of the long time the current was off.

Food that was in the refrigerator was set outdoors in containers with snow packed around it to prevent spoilage.

Clothing, if needed, was laundered by hand.

Probably the biggest problems facing the farmers were water for their cows and the chore of hand milking. There was a small brook in the pasture on our farm so the cows were turned out several times a day for a drink.

Cows, when used to milking machines, do not like to be hand milked. The first few milkings were done by hand but then we discovered a much better way. Possibly it could be of help to someone who has never heard about it. It can be very useful in the summer time also when thunder storms cause the current to go off.

Use your milking machines and your tractor or car. Park the car or tractor side the barn. You will need some small air tube (like that used on the milker) and place it firmly in one end of a vacuum hose. Then attach the large end of the hose to a stallcock. The end with the small air tube is put on the intake valve on the manifold. Then all you do is start the tractor or car and milk.

A better understanding of our ancestors way of life was brought to us during this past week and certainly helped make us more grateful for all the many conveniences we have today.

Rev. G. H. Enfield of Glen Alpine, N. C., a valuable contributor to The News-Herald editorial page, has discovered anew that there are obstacles to writing which do not involve either head or hand. "For the past two weeks I have suffered with a sprained knee and leg," he told friends. The result: "I was not in a frame of mind to do much writing."

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"
With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawn.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Letters to be answered—

Dear Observer: A number of months ago, I wrote to you asking about moving to Fla. and we just want to thank you for what you told us to do. We went down there for a few months and it was cold that we decided to remain North for the rest of our life. Thanks! Signed—Name and then Ma and Pa.

Dear Observer:—My boy friend who has been calling on me for three years wants to marry me but my parents are sure giving us the "run around" stating we are not alone too young but we are not prepared for marriage and much else which I cannot understand. Will you please help us? M.R.C. and J.T.N.

Well, Children: (And I do not know if you will be hurt addressing you in this manner) but you even forgot to write me of your ages and what kind of work the young man is employed in. Your letter does sound as though you were quite immature for the serious business of marriage. Why not talk it over with your Minister? I am positive he will give you splendid advice. It is always best to listen to reason for it is best that way in the end.

Dear Observer:—I have been a widow for almost two years and it just seems that friends gloat in getting one married again and constantly do things pointing this way in every direction. I don't know what is coming next and it is quite embarrassing. I have told them time and time again that I will never marry again and they just smile. What would you do if you were in my shoes as I know that, you, too have been a recent widow. Signed, Constant Reader.

Constant Reader:—Don't feel hurt about the asking to meet this one or that. Be agreeable at all times. Perhaps your friends are joking or may be they really do want to see you marry again especially if they think you are lonely and maybe they are anxious to see a wedding especially yours! You are the one to be the judge of it all. After another year rolls around, betcha if you are not married, your friends will begin to believe you that you really do want to remain single!

Dear Observer:—I am a very aged lady and alone and although I am nicely fixed as to finances, I would enjoy living with someone. I recall in your Columns of you taking in people as to a Convalescent home. I had the pleasure of meeting you once when you lived in Carroll County. Would you consider doing this again? Kindly let me know at once for I would start packing right away. Signed, Aged Lady and her name.

My dear dear Aged Lady:—From the very bottom of my heart, I wish that I could take all ladies such as you in my home. I, too remember meeting you and have always remembered you. I am sorry to let you know that "The House of Love" with which my Patients named my home in Baltimore was before coming to Carroll County and I have not done anything like that since. In fact if you have read my last week's Column you will see that I am going into a small apartment within a stone's throw of the Washington monument.

There are many nice places in which you could live and if you would like, I will gladly send you a number of homes. (Then you could select just the right one and get in touch with them). Thank you for the big compliment! I would not type all of your grand letter to me.

Dear Observer:—I am at my wit's end for I sure do have a big problem. I don't really know what to do and I wish you could help me. Signed H. D. S. This letter a very lengthy one is too long to write due to lack of space. This lady tells of marrying out of her religion when she loved the young man and she realizes now what a mistake it was to get a divorce and now that she married into her own Faith.

Well, D. H. S.—I never was so very sorry for anyone as I am for you. People make the big mistake thinking they should only marry into the same Faith. It is too bad you learned that all too late. As to your second husband's faults—why not go to your Priest and have the confidential talk just the same way as you poured your heart out to me. Did you know that this second man drank before you married him? It all is very sad and I pray that everything will work out for you.

So there you have it Folks. Be satisfied with your own lot for when we hear of the sadness from others, we begin to realize that ours is very small. Eh? See you next week D.V. So long and always remember "Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday!"

And I do hope you had one of those wonderful "Aladdin" lamps in your house for the emergency recently. No home should ever be without one. Don't forget the address—order one now—The Aladdin Co., Nashville, Tenn. It is truly a Recommended Civil Defense Emergency Measure. When Power Lines Fail—in storm, flood, hurricane, tornado, sleet or snowstorm—you are safe with "ALADDIN"? It brings you brilliant economical, white light throughout your home and it is absolutely safe—it cannot explode! I am,

Faithfully,

YOUR OBSERVER.

THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 1958

FREE THE FARMER

The March issue of The Reader's Digest features a challenging article entitled, "Let's Set the Farmer Free." Its author is Earl M. Hughes—a successful Illinois grain and livestock farmer, an agricultural economist of note, and a former vice-president of the Commodity Credit Corporation, which handles the government's $8 billion farm surplus board.

Mr. Hughes' solution to the farm problem is based on abandonment of "the impossible job of trying to legislate farm income through direct price supports." The government's main job, he believes, should be to help find new uses and markets for farm products and then to turn farmers loose to produce in response to free market prices. And he cites an actual and outstanding example of how, in a free market, food consumption can be increased and diet upgraded.

Here is what he says: "At the sharp break in the price of beef in 1953 there were howls that Congress should fix prices on beef cattle. But most cattlemen figured that the real answer was to sell more beef to the housewife not to the government larder. They joined with packers, retailers, farm groups and government in an intensive promotion effort. The housewife got a bargain, and we ate our way out of the beef glut. In the past five years beef consumption has jumped from 62 to 85 pounds per person per year. If the government had stepped in to fix prices and control production, we would have had a beef scandal to dwarf the 500-million dollar potato fiasco of 1947-51, when millions of bushels were given away or destroyed with kerosene. And we'd have a sick beef industry today."

This isn't theory—it's hard fact. The meat industry has provided us with a blueprint for getting agriculture back on a free enterprise basis of operation—which is the only sound and secure basis.—Industrial News Review.

"THE SIMPLE RIGHTS OF MAN"

Cynical questions arose with the curtain on Act II of the Senate Select Committee probe into "improper activities in the labor and management field"—the unending four year war of Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers on Kohler of Kohler, Wis.

Washington wags were asking, for instance, whether Robert Kennedy might be serving as counsel to the Senate Committee or to the UAW forces. As a devoted henchman and disciple of Brother John, it is understandable that it might be difficult for Counsellor Kennedy to disassociate his public duty from the private ambitions of Senator Kennedy. And with Walter Reuther as both the personal embodiment of the UAW and an acknowledged arch-enemy of the Democratic cause, there has been some reason to fear that only the Republicans on the committee were free to investigate objectively.

Within recent days the August New York Times observed editorially that: "Personalities and politics have taken over and seriously threaten the committee's usefulness." But that was before the arrogance and evasions and admissions of UAW witnesses got to be too much for even Democratic stomachs.

In colloquy with UAW Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey over "belly-to back" picketing in front of the Kohler gates, and who said this was exercising "the right to protect our jobs", Chairman McClellan declared: "In a land of freedom, when a man wants to work, he has a right to go in that plant and work". And when Witness Mazey persisted, comparing the UAW action with Congress declaring war, the Chairman snorted: "We're not talking about war. We're talking about the simple rights of man."

With his declaration on the right to work Chairman McClellan brought the Kohler investigation down to earth and made it clear to his committee that they are dealing here with the rights and dignity of all Americans and not with political advantage. His words recall a letter the Senator wrote recently to a constituent down home in Arkansas, and which was published in the Arkansas Recorder, of Little Rock.

"In going into the Kohler strike which involves Mr. Reuther's union, the UAW," wrote Senator McClellan, "the Committee will place emphasis on two aspects of it: violence and secondary boycotts—we will expose whatever we find wrong with the union or with the Kohler company and which comes within the Committee's jurisdiction."

He said further: "I promise to treat Mr. Reuther just like I have all the others." And we think he will, too! —U. S. Press Association

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MILFORD, IND., MAIL: "A free economy does not move in a straight line but in curves, up and down. At present there is a downward trend but increased defense spending raising the national debt ceiling to $280 billion, easing of credit and the other manipulations are calculated to provide the sagging economy with a shot in the arm. It may mean another ride on the merry-go-round of inflation."

VIRGINIA, MINN., M E S A B I DAILY NEWS: "If we can in this fast-moving age have solid economic development without the corrosive influence of inflation we ought to begin to find it out. Unless we start soon to try we may discover one day that inflation is taken for granted by management labor and everybody else as an inescapable companion to our economic progress. Then is hastened the day when the house of cards will collapse."

AZTEC, N. M. INDEPENDENT-REVIEW: "As an old timer we can remember when the only time we had for coffee was about an hour before daybreak and two hours after sundown."

INDIO, CALIF., THE DATE PALM: "... income, necessary as it is, would not be a cure-all for the Postoffice Department ills. The department has been in a gradually worsening mess for many years. Its operation has been kicked and starved and exploited by politics almost to the point of complete demoralization of its personnel. The decline in the quality of its service is known to every body who uses the mails."

RED CREEK, N. Y., HERALD: "The free nations have pooled their military powers, have armed for war but have not pooled their brain-power. It is past time they did. And this brain-power can be used for peaceful objectives too, for development of many great things to make life better, for science has not yet reached all its potentialities."

RIVERTON WYO., RANGER: Government has grown so large that it is beyond comprehension, in capable of self-regulation and bent on perpetuation of its various components.

"People fear the thought of the unwieldy monster attaching even one of its tentacles onto the public schools, no matter how innocent and trivial the initial attachments seems to be."

GRAYSON, KY., JOURNAL-ENQUIRER: "In applying for divorce, a Brisbane, Australia, man told the court his wife made him sleep in the barn where she served his meals by throwing them at him, and that she often paraded nude in the yard."—Press report. Some women are harder to live with than others."

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "The guiding spirit of the recovery, as the President sees it, is not a crash program by the government. Rather, the government is leading off with enough to encourage private enterprise. Business is there for those who believe in it and prepare for it." The recovery will be sounder and more lasting that way."

WALTHAM, MASS., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "The talk is of tax cuts as a pump-priming device at the national level to cope with the recession. This is deficit financing of the most extreme nature, in which all possibility of a pay-as-you-go policy is chucked out the window. How can the government expect its citizens to be thrifty when it gives no heed to tomorrow's bills?"

NEW PHILADELPHIA, OHIO, DAILY TIMES: "The communist world does a great deal of blatant advertising of its alleged charms for the masses of humanity. "In a recent CBS interview, Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin—said that every day 300 to 500 East Germans cross into West Berlin as refugees. Since 1950 the stream has mounted to more than one million. If Communist lands are such a magnificent haven for humanity, why don't people stay? You'll never see the answer to that in the Kremlin's ads."

BEDFORD, IND., DAILY TIMES-MAIL: "Education is the most selfish thing in the world. The only person who can give it to you is you. Teachers can lead, suggest, cajole even brow-beat, but they can't make you learn. That you do alone."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor: Perhaps it's the sudden shift of emphasis from the international to the economic—from the moon to our muttons, you might say—that has caused a sort of tidal wave of do-you-remember when to engulf the nation's editors.

For a sample we give you Editor Hayse Huey of the PENDLETON (Ind.) TIMES. In discussing the days "when things weren't so handy . . . before everything went automatic and we had to do a little thinking and improvising for ourselves," he says:

"Then, we had to be content on a cold winter night with just sitting in the living room reading a good book while we soaked heat from a fireplace or an old Florence hot-blast. We'd just sit there reading and munching on Grimes Golden apples throwing in a handful of popcorn now and then for good measure. If company came in we would play Flinch or gather around an old rinky-tink piano for some good old harmony."

Editor Huey takes a rather dim view of "the modern miracle-kitchen" and present-day "automation" in cookery. He sighs for "the pungent odor of home-made pies and bread baking in the oven of an old-fashioned cast iron cook-stove . . . and that ever-present kettle of soup or beans simmering on the back of the old stove, ready for anyone who come to dip a bowl and warm their innards". Still, Mr. Huey is trying his best to give due credit to modern advancement and concludes: "... we can be thankful that we still have one thing left from those by-gone days—the movies we see on TV today."

From up in Stonington, Me., Editor Gordon MacKey of ISLAND ADVANTAGES regales us with samples from a merchant's account books of a little more than a century ago: "1/2 dozen eggs 4c; one hen, 20c; one turkey, 42c 1 lb. coffee, 10c; 3 pecks potatoes, 30c; 36 lbs. mutton, $1.08; 12 flounders, 12c hauling one load of hay, 10c; work 2/3 day ploughing, 17c; raking hay 1/2 day, 14c mowing wheat, 10c; oxen hauling rocks for cellar and underpinning 4 days, $1.00; 2 bunches laths, 20c."

"How we have changed!" exclaims Editor MacKay. "Some call it progress. Others are not so sure. It seems that our civilization is no different than all the others that have preceded us in time. We must remember that standard of values that our forefathers had and preserve their basic ideas in our present day culture. In this way only, can we hope to maintain our forward movement."

For what it may be worth in this discussion, we note a front-page feature story in the DAILY IDAHO-IAN of Moscow, Idaho advising that more and more housewives are going back to baking their own bread. But it didn't say where.

Even the flitty Westbrook Pegler goes nostalgic, regaling us with the elegancies of murder in the good old days and decrying present-day lack of imagination.

BOB TAYLOR.

SNOWED UNDER!

LITERALLY AND FIGURATIVELY!

WORST STORM CAUSED 50,000 POWER FAILURES

Last week's snow storm did more damage and left more people without electric service than any storm of any kind in Company history. More than 50,000 of our 160,000 customers in the areas hit by the storm were without electricity for varying lengths of time.

76 CREWS WERE WORKING

To cope with this emergency we pressed into service every employe capable of doing the kind of work needed. Extra crews were brought in from every available source, a number of them coming from as far away as the Ohio River Valley area. At the height of the trouble a total of 76 crews were working on round-the-clock schedules. Backing up these crews were hundreds of other company employees, many of whom also worked at night on a 24 hour basis.

THOUSANDS OF INDIVIDUAL JOBS

It was a tremendously difficult job. In many cases the work of restoring service had to be done more than once, as falling trees and limbs wrecked power lines for a second and third time. The job of repair was further complicated and slowed down by the need for restoring great numbers of individual house services which had been broken by the accumulated weight of the wet, heavy snow or by falling branches. Another complication was the fact that normal means of communication were equally hard hit and it was difficult to obtain complete information from all areas. Without our own short wave radio system between headquarters and vehicles and crews the situation would have been infinitely worse.

YOUR DIFFICULTIES AND OURS

To you of our customers who experienced service outages, may we say a deeply felt and sincere "thank you" for the patience and understanding which so many of you showed. We know that many of you could not even get phone calls through to our swamped telephone centers. We also know that in our efforts to restore service to the greatest number of customers in the shortest possible time we made some mistakes and temporarily missed some individuals, but we ask you to bear in mind that in many cases we were working with emergency help, strange to our area and operating under the most difficult conditions. In the few instances where such mistakes occurred we assure you they were unintentional and we are sincerely sorry.

THE WORK OF OUR MEN

We do want you to know our men and their supervisors worked to the limits of human endurance. They did a magnificent job and we are proud of the sacrifices they made willingly, uncomplainingly and effectively.

People of this section are asked to remember the tour which the Artificial Breeders Association of Carroll County has planned. The tour is planned for April 1. It has been planned to take one bus and it is hoped that enough people will go to fill the second bus. All men interested should make reservations through Lloyd Green, Bobbie Shaw or the County Agent's Office. The cost of the trip is $2.50 and that includes the box lunch which will be eaten at the Bull Stud at the University of Maryland. The group will leave the County Office Building in Westminster at 8:30, visits will be made to Logwood Farm and to Doughrean Manor. From there the men will travel to the Bull Stud at the University of Md. and they will eat lunch there. After leaving College Park, visits will be made to the Ed. Fry Farm and the King Farm, both of which are located at Gaithersburg.

James W. Hechler of Scalp Level, Pa. was the Seminary student who preached the sermon at the Keysville Lutheran church on March 16. Mr. Hechler was a little boy when Rev. Charles C. Sellers was the Pastor at Scalp Level. Rev. Sellers was the pastor of the Union Bridge Lutheran Church over 12 years ago. Rev. and Mrs. Sellers now live in Rock Ledge, Florida. They usually make a visit here every summer with Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Kiser and the Keysville congregation.

Mrs. Roy Knouse of Keymar asked that everyone take notice of the time of the visit of the Free Chest X-ray Mobile Unit to the Middleburg and Keymar areas. Tuesday April 1 from 9 to 10 a. m. is the time for Middleburg. On April 1 from 10:30 a. m. until noon is the time for Keymar.

Mrs. Steve Dendy of near Detour was quite ill. It seems that a number of persons in the Six's Bridge Road and Mumma's Ford's road area have been stricken with what has been called the "flu." The Burrier family has been ill too.

The telephone in the Keysville-Detour area has not been working since Wednesday the 19th due to the snow storm. (This is Wednesday the 26th).

Telephone poles are broken, the cross arms are down or in bad condition, the wires at some places are touching the ground. I understand that the condition of the telephone wires between Detour and Keymar and those which are along the Six's Bridge road which pass the Howard Motter place the Richard Adkins and the Charles Fox place is very very bad. Electric current, too has been greatly misused I believe Saturday, Sunday and Monday were the days when the current was restored to most people. Very brilliant flashes of light on the night of the snow storm, Wednesday the 19th wakened people in the Keysville-Detour area. It is thought that the light came from electric wires striking either telephone wires or the ground.

The son, Reese Poffenberger, of the late Rev. Poffenberger, former minister of the Union Bridge Lutheran Parish, has suffered the loss of his barn and some animals and machinery by fire on Sunday night. The Poffenberger family lives near Rocky Hill near Woodsboro. Mr. Poffenberger is a former Agriculture teacher of the Elmer A. Wolfe school.

The Younger Group of the Union Bridge Girls 4-H Club will meet for sewing at the home of Mrs. Roger Roop on this Saturday, 10 to 3. The Middle Group will also meet on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Paul Bowman, Union Bridge, 10 to 3.

Beverly Priest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Priest, Forest and Stream Club road, first year student at the Gettysburg College, spent the week-end at the home of her parents.

Richard Wilhide, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Wilhide, Keysville-Detour road returned to the University of Md. on Sunday evening after pending the week-end at home.

Carroll Kiser, superintendent of the Keysville Lutheran Sunday School, asked that all the dime cards which are being filed for the building of the Lutheran Synod Campsite, Doubs, Md., be turned in by May 1st. Already quite a number of these cards have been returned. Word has been received from Mr. Eiichi Matsushita, student at Gettysburg Seminary and from Yoko Ishikawa, student at the Gettysburg College, that they will not be able to attend the Mission Study which is being held at the Keysville Lutheran Church on Sunday evening, April 13th. FEESERSBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

The biggest news in our community for a long time was the latest snow storm. It began in a normal squall but in twenty-four hours it had turned into a minor disaster. The power lines could not take the weight of the heavy snow and wobbled down leaving Carroll County without electrical power for days. This worked hardship and misery on most families for with the power lines went the means of heating homes, getting water and cooking meals. The farmers had added misfortunes for milking and watering stock was indeed a problem. In some localities storekeepers had no refrigeration and lost the contents of their ice boxes. So did persons with home-freezers. Here at Mt. Union all families are still without electricity and phones after three days but we have learned how to survive. At Merry Knoll we are back to kerosene lamps and the old kitchen range and glad that we were fortunate to have them. Our biggest problem is refrigeration and butter but this was solved by the snow. We removed everything perishable from the freezer and buried it in the snow. We melted snow for water although we did not drink it for there was a blue color on it and we thought it might be contaminated from the upper atmosphere where the A bomb tests sent radioactive particles. But we washed dishes with the water so we may be radioactive right now for all we know. So if there is a strange signal in Carroll County it won't be an extra Sputnik signaling, but just the residents of Merry Knoll filled with atom happy snow.

The other time we were shut off from the outside due to snow we had the optimistic voice of WTR to keep our spirits up but this time the radio was dead and sometimes we felt we may just as well be on a remote island in the Aleutians for all contact we had with our neighbors. But the roads were soon passable and we learned that some of our friends were having a rough time. One family had three small children and were without heat of any kind so a family with a huge house and an old fashioned furnace took them in. A few families moved out and one took a plane south, but most people muddled through and are still muddling at this writing. There is one thing sure and certain, no one had better say that we don't have old fashioned winters any more in our neck of the woods or he will be brain-washed in a snow bank.

March is the month of farm sales, but it hasn't acted like it cared much. But no matter how the wind blows or the snow falls once a sale is advertised it must proceed if at all possible. And generally a sale does proceed on schedule for the people that attend sales are a hardy lot and snow, sleet, rain or mud doesn't deter them from following the auctioneer's chant. The day of our sale here at Merry Knoll wasn't exactly the kind of weather one looks forward to, but the sun was shining and except for the cold wind and slushy footing it wasn't too bad. A large crowd came and things went off very well. The senior class of the Elmer Wolfe School was in charge of the luncheon stand and the members were pleased with the financial result even though they did get cold feet and noses. For one of the seniors it was the first time he had ever attended a farm sale and he said it was better than attending a rodeo. So many people think a sale is depressing for the owner. It can be if one chooses to make it on the emotional basis, but it can be a challenge too. To us it was the end of a happy stimulating and busy period of our lives. Now we are beginning another period of living which we expect to be even more interesting and more stimulating. Life stands still for no one and about the only way one can cope with change is to meet it half way. This we hope to do.

Two talented people lost their lives over the week-end and the world's list of creative artists has shrunk by their premature deaths. Mike Todd died in an airplane crash and Claire McCordell died of cancer. Both contributed a great deal to the enrichment of many lives through their different fields. Mr. Todd gave entertainment and adventure millions by his unique brand of showmanship while Miss McCordell clothed millions of women in beauty by her simple and undorned clothes she designed. It is always tragic to lose people that give so much to others. Beauty and creative art is what this tired world can stand a lot of, and yet only a limited few are endowed with a talent to render this service to mankind. Like the Greeks of old maybe each of us should worship beauty more than we have been doing, and appreciate those persons who dedicate their time and talent to creating it with the same respect as we lavish on engineers, doctors, lawyers, and merchants. Man cannot long exist with a life void of beauty.

Mike, our dog is in trouble again. When the electricity was off and the freezer warm as a breeze off the equator, we buried some ice cream in a snow bank. Mike found it and helped himself. So now he is in a dog's igloo and we are thinking of sending him to the moon in the next Sputnik.

At the present time the Washington Post is conducting a "Favorite Teacher" contest and is publishing some of the letters sent in by the students. The letters prove one thing and that is some boys and girls are aware of the important role teachers have in shaping their future. So many persons are unaware of this until later on in life they think back and realize that something extra special a teacher said or did made a very important turning point in his thinking or actions. Not so long ago we listened in on a conversation by a group of persons about fifty years old and they were recalling their teachers—the ones they liked best and the ones they liked least. One point brought out was that the favorite teacher was the one with strong armed discipline and fair-minded tactics.

We caught a glimpse of the "sack" look and a glimpse is all we want. The designer that wished that look on women either hates his mother-in-law or has just had a fight with his girlfriend. We always thought the flapper in the twenties had a grudge against herself when she put on the helmet hats, skirts above the knees and rolled down hose, but if the women of today put on the sack dress they will prove that they are as silly as men think they are and more so. Girls don't be a potato and fall into a sack.—Ruth Roelke.

Read this poem and think.
I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord,
Real service is what I desire;
I'll say what you want me to say, dear Lord,
But don't ask me to sing in the choir.

I'll say what you want me to say, dear Lord,
I like to see things come to pass;
But don't ask me to teach girls and boys, dear Lord,
I'd rather just stay in the class.

I'll do what you want me to do, dear Lord,
I yearn for the Kingdom to thrive;
I'll give my nickles and dimes, dear Lord,
But please don't ask me to tithe.

I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord,
I'll say what you want me to say, I'm busy just now with myself, dear Lord, I'll help you some other day.

this community. Such a snow to tie up this community. Sue has snow to tie up everything like it has. Some said the worse snow in forty years. I suppose the reason for that way of thinking is we did not have as much electricity as we do now and not as many telephones either, and people feel the effects of it more. I talked to a man on Saturday night and his remarks were that is the way it happens when we want to live modern. So I guess he is about right.

VATICAN CITY HAS WORLD'S LARGEST CHURCH, SHORTEST RAILROAD.

Vatican City is the smallest sovereign nation in the world—108 acres, the size of some golf courses. Yet it issues its own passports, coins and stamps, maintains diplomatic relations with many great powers (not including the United States or Russia), and has one of the most powerful short-wave transmitters in Europe.

So writes Donald Culross Peattie, in the article, "Ancient Holy City: The Vatican," in the April Reader's Digest. The State of Vatican City, he says, has room for only about 1000 residents. Residence permits must be renewed every six months; and men born there lose their citizenship when they turn 25, unless they enter the Papal service.

From Vatican City, the dome of St. Peter's rises 463 feet, dominating the city of Rome, and the country for miles around. It stands on ground considered sacred for more than 17 centuries—the probable burial place of the fisherman-Apostle. St. Peter's, the largest religious edifice in Christendom, can hold nearly 100,000 people, and does so on great holy days. Then the 800 columns are hung with decorations, the 44 altars blaze with light, and the Swiss Guards keep their vigils in red, yellow and blue uniforms and plumed helmets dating back 500 years to the days of the Medici.

Another unique group is the Sampietrini, the 70-odd "little men of St. Peter's"—part engineers, part electricians, part alpinists, who clamber over the mighty dome, opening and closing windows and repairing damage.

Vatican City has the shortest railway system in the world, just a few yards long, but connecting with the state railroads of Italy. Its main use is hauling freight.

Several newspapers are printed in the tiny realm, including the daily L'Osservatore Romano, watched by newsmen around the world as a guide to Vatican policy. Radio station HVJ, installed by Marconi himself, now carries the voice of the Pope to all continents through a lofty cross-shaped transmitter tower.

MORNING, NOON AND NIGHT

Brightly dawns the sun at morning,
On the far and distant hills,
And throughout the tranquil valley
You can hear the bluebirds trill.

The dew is shining on the grass
In distant grassy fields.
Horse and plow are working too,
So a crop that field will yield.

The sun shines brightly overhead,
The dinner bell is ringing,
As workers come in from the field,
All the birds are sweetly singing.

Now the day is nearly done,
The sun is slowly going down.
When it reaches the mountains crest,
It will give them a golden crown.

Now the sun has kissed the mountains
Now there is no light.
The stars are slowly coming out
Now that it is night.

With tickets being so much sought after for "My Fair Lady" it seemed odd that there was this vacant seat. Leaning across the vacant seat, the occupant on the one side asked the lady on the other side if she happened to know why this seat was vacant. "Oh yes," she replied, "My husband and I sent in for these tickets eight months ago, but unfortunately my husband passed away." "I'm so sorry to hear that," replied the lady, "But couldn't one of your relatives have used the tickets?" "Oh no," said the widow. "They're all at the funeral."

Electric Heating Can Be Installed In Older Houses

Electricity is becoming more and more popular as heating fuel for many new homes across the country. But what about older homes? Can they have the modern convenience of electric heating at operating costs comparable with conventional fuels? In areas where electricity rates are low, the answer is "yes" but only if the house is insulated properly. The amounts of insulation necessary are a 6-inch thickness of mineral wool in the ceiling, a minimum of 3 inches in walls, and 2 inches under the floor.

The "blowing wool" technique is used to install mineral wool in existing houses. An insulation contractor with special equipment forces the mineral wool into walls, ceilings, and floors under air pressure.

This packs the insulation firmly around wires, braces, and into every crevice and corner. No "holes" are left through which heat might escape.

The insulation is blown through a long hose from a truck parked outside. When a wall is insulated, sections of siding are removed, and holes drilled in the sheathing. After the insulation is in place, the holes are sealed and the siding is skillfully replaced. To insulate an attic floor, a workman takes the hose into the attic and blows mineral wool evenly between the joists.

Apparently every primitive people learns this most ancient of industrial arts... and by the same technique by which these are made they also make boats, skirts, hats, sandals, shields and even forts and houses.

Answer is basket. Apparently all tribes know basketry techniques and almost any type of object can be woven, including water-tight jars.

Suddenly It's Spring

The calendar says it's still winter, but suddenly it's Spring when your florists' windows begin to bloom with daffodils, violets, hyacinths, azalias and tulips. After the cold dreary days of January, these harbingers of Spring make delightfully welcome gifts to receive or to wire to friends and business associates in this country as well as overseas. This charming arrangement of white tulips, especially designed by Alyn Wayne, official stylist for the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, has 2 features which make it both beautiful and unusual: One is the treatment of the foliage... just the leaves of the tulip have been used, but those placed on the bottom have been doubled back and tied to simulate bows of green ribbon. The other is the reflexed petals of the 2 bottom tulips, making them look like different flowers and which you can do yourself by gently smoothing each petal back over the thumb.

Colonial Charm Combines With "Ranch" Convenience

From the drawing board of Designer Donald Scholz comes this gracious American Colonial in modern ranch house motif. Both indoors and out, the home combines the appeal of tradition with functional excellence. Here are eight typically "Scholz" interior features of the home: (1) a paneled recreation room served from the kitchen's shuttered pass-through; (2) step-saving "U"-shape kitchen with separate laundry area; (3) an intriguing breakfast nook set in a bay window; (4) separate dining area; (5) big living room with fireplace wall in Colonial paneling; (6) entrance foyer with immediate access to all rooms and areas; (7) two full baths, back-to-back, with large vanities; and (8) a large master bedroom with an 8-foot, full-access sliding door closet. Combined with the Colonial charm of the exterior are such modern-living features as a rear private patio, and deep roof overhang protecting all entries. The home in L-shape, permits versatile use of a relatively narrow lot, making it possible for either bedroom or garage elevation to face the street. MY EASTER STORY

2000 years ago, about Easter, mortal man did not know,
(Neither did he know about God, or, how to go!)
So, God sent Jesus, to earth, to tell of His plan;
And to show what He means, by a perfect man.

All through former ages they thought God was a man;
So, He sent Jesus to Earth to tell of His plan;
Jesus said: "God is a Spirit Being" like you and me;
So, He sends us here to prepare for Eternity.

Man did not then know he shall live again;
And, come back to mingle with his fellow men;
Like the dumb brute they thought he would be;
They never dreamed, it is said, of Eternity.

That is how things were before Jesus came to earth;
And, that is why, at Christmas, we sing of His birth;
Hosannas shall again make the welkin ring
When the Boy born at Bethlehem is our King!

Jesus came to tell us we shall live again,
That is the message He brought to man;
God sent Him, not only to tell of His plan,
But, to show what He means by a perfect man.

Before the first Easter, the records say
Men worshiped things which blest them from day to day
Some worship animals, others, the Moon and Sun;
The true God was not known by anyone.

That is how things were before Jesus came, they say;
But, we have a different picture of God today;
Then man thought his physical body was he;
That 3 score years was the end of humanity.

Now we know our physical body here on earth
Is being made more perfect birth after birth;
God sends us all here to learn of His plan
To make a perfect Earth, woman, and man.

Three score and ten years, great writers say,
Do not mean the real you in any way;
You were made in God's image; and, always shall be,
For, through you He shall reign in Eternity.

These physical bodies of ours are only temples of clay;
They are not the real you, great writers say;
God now lives in the body of both you and me
And, so it shall be in Eternity.

There are two billion people on earth to-day;
And, God is the Life of each one of us they say;
How He does it has always been a mystery to man;
It is one of the secrets in His great plan.

When we learn to know God, the Savants say,
The physical body becomes stronger from day to day
"As face answers to face in a glass", the Scriptures say
Is the way our two bodies must be some day.

Jesus grew up in stature and grace, they say;
And, so it shall be said of us all some day;
He did not have to die to leave this earth;
He was made perfect right here on earth.

That was the picture God gave to man;
He sent Jesus to make plain to all His plan;
So, every mortal on earth like Jesus must be
Before he can go from Time to Eternity.

By the resurrection of Jesus at Easter, they say,
God showed how it shall be with us someday
So, as it was with Jesus, it shall be with you they say
For, He said to all peoples: I am the way!

Jesus told us He would come again—
(That He a King was born to reign!)
When man is ready for the world
Over which His flag shall be unfurled.

So, the "Valley of death" has no term to-day;
Since Jesus came to show us the way;
He said to all peoples: Follow Me!
I have come to set you free!

At Easter God says: "You shall live again"—
(Flowers are His Angels who tell it to men);
The false Ego says: that is not true;
But, God says: "This, is my message, to you."

There are many others things I would like to tell
About our God who came here to dwell;
He made the clouds, His chariot and walked on the sea
To show how, in future ages, things shall be.

When the great "Hallelujah Chorus" is sung,
And our "harps on the willows have been hung",
We shall know who it was who set us free—
It was Jesus, Who lived in Galilee!

Easter Decoration Goes Modern

Even Junior Can Help Make This For Easter Party.

An Easter party table calls for an unusual decoration. Here's one that's easy and fun to make.
All you need for the modernistic "do-it-yourself" Easter Chicks project is a sheet of Styrofoam, glue, "glitter," and some toothpicks.

Using a sharp paring knife, cut from the Styrofoam two right-angled triangles. Make the triangle for the rooster's body 10 inches high and 5 inches at the base, and the hen's 9 inches high and 3 inches at the base. For the heads, cut two smaller triangles. Then cut fan-shaped tails and scalloped "combs" to finish the chicks.

Decorate the heads and bodies by drawing a design with a pencil. Trace the lines with glue and sprinkle with glitter. Use only one color of glitter at a time. Wait 15 minutes for drying, then do a different color. For best results, use a polyvinyl resin glue such as "Elmer's Glue-All." Both the Glue-All and glitter may be purchased separately, or together in Borden's "Holiday Glitter Kit" at hardware, stationery, variety stores and other leading retailers.

For the "baby" chick, cut two circles of Styrofoam. All three Easter figurines can be put together with glue-covered toothpicks.

The "Easter Chicks" decoration was designed by Golden Chain Creations, P.O. Box 1560, Northport, L.I., New York, which offers a catalog listing full-size patterns for projects covering all holidays and other special occasions.

In Easter Parade

Served in regal splendor is the king of lamb cuts, a hand-somely decorated Frenched Leg of Lamb. The orange shells which cradle assorted cut fruit act as the escort for the leg of lamb at this Easter dinner spread.

Bells are ringing, choirs are singing and spring's latest styles and colors are all being modeled—because it's Easter.

Easter presents another opportunity to see a parade... a parade of Eastertime food fancies.

In this case, the leg of lamb has been Frenched, that is, the meat has been removed from the lower end of the shank bone so as not to expose more than 1 inch.

Shopping and Preparing
Shopping for and preparing this meat cut is relatively easy. Reba Staggs, meat expert, suggests that for an average size leg of lamb, one be purchased that weighs between 5 and 6 pounds.

To roast, place the leg of lamb on a rack in an open roasting pan, fat side up, and allow it to roast in a slow oven (300° F.) for 30 to 35 minutes per pound. This will take between 2½ and 3½ hours.

If using a roast meat thermometer, the thermometer will register 175° F. when the meat is medium-done and 180° F. when the meat is well-done.

The fruit cup garnishes are actually quite simple to make. Cut firm oranges in half, and carefully remove the fruit from the shell. Notch the edges of the orange shell so they look like baskets. Cut the fruit into small pieces and return to the orange baskets. Top each basket with a strawberry.

In Remembrance

Lesson for March 30, 1958

IT IS curious, important and tragic all at the same time: the very acts which are specially precious to all kinds of Christians have been through the centuries the center of debates and quarrels and splits in churches. The church as a whole cannot even agree on what to call these acts, the simple acts we call Baptism and the Lord's Supper. Most churches call them "sacraments," but as that is not a Bible word, many churches call them "ordinances," though as a matter of fact that word is not used in connection with Baptism or the Lord's Supper anywhere in the New Testament. (1 Cor. 11:2 is a mistranslation in the King James version; the Greek word there means simply "traditions.")

Dr. Foreman

Outward Signs

Let the reader call these what he will. If he goes to almost any Christian church he will observe, some time or other, these two simple acts or rites called everywhere Baptism and the Lord's Supper. The way the thing is done varies from church to church; but if one listens carefully, the same Bible words are always used. In Latin, Greek or English or any other tongue, it is the same in all churches.

They are very simple acts. They are, the sort of act that is called a "symbol"—that is, it means very little in itself, but it carries the weight of a great truth and shines with the glory of a great experience. Baptism is a kind of washing; but even immersion, or "trine immersion," where the person is put under the water three times, is not a real bath. Likewise the amount of bread and wine in a communion service would not satisfy a hungry man. ("If any man is hungry, let him eat at home," said Saint Paul.) These acts are tokens of something else. One of the best descriptions of them, and the most famous, is "outward signs of inward grace." These sacraments, or ordinances, or just "acts" if you don't like technical words, are visible things, very simple things too. But when the church thinks of them, she thinks beneath the surface. She thinks of the inward grace and the outward sign at the same time.

Inward Grace

The inward grace which the church finds in the sacraments, or ordinances, is not a human grace, such as (for example) the worshipper's own humility or love or purity. Such graces are always fallible—they can break down too easily—and often feeble. The grace, of which the acts are symbols, is God's grace, His loving favor, His profound concern, the overflowing of His Father-heart.

The Gospel in Sign Language

A famous theologian once called the sacraments the Gospel in sign language. Now to mystical and emotional Christians they are more than this; but not all Christians are mystics, probably most of them are not. And this much is true for all Christians, however much more may be discovered: the observance of baptism and the Lord's Supper reminds the worshipper of vital Gospel truths. For example, the water of baptism could not rightly be replaced by wine or oil; for water is a sign of cleansing, and reminds us that our sins have soiled us, we need the cleansing power of the Spirit. The broken bread and the outpoured wine taken in remembrance of our Lord, bring back to us, even without words, His sacrifice for us.

In these days when the church is more than ever world-wide, a traveling Christian may find himself in a distant land in a church where he does not understand a single word. Yet if there is a baptism, or if the Lord's Supper is observed, then at once he knows himself by these signs to be at home.

More Rate Increases Predicted

Within the last two years or so in many states, most automobile insurance companies have twice raised their rates because of increased losses and expenses. And, because there is nothing on the insurance horizon to indicate that these losses and expenses will not continue to mount, another round of rate increases appears to be in the books.

The reason for the increases is that the insurance companies have been paying out more in the form of claims and expenses than they have been taking in in premiums.

The millions of dollars which the industry lost during this extended period of rate adjustment are gone for good. There's no way to retrieve them. Because of the very nature of the business, changes in insurance rates always lag behind changes in the overall picture. Primarily, rates are based on the relationship of losses and expenses, on the one hand, to premium income on the other. Thus, when the former exceeds the latter, the company goes into the red. Because of delays in court cases and other things, it is often months, even years, before an insurer knows exactly how it fared during any given period.

By studying trends, insurance actuaries can determine with considerable accuracy accident frequencies and severity in terms of the number of automobile occupants who will be killed or injured on a per car basis. But there is no way to project the costs per accident under present circumstances when inflated costs have no basis in past experience. Unless something is done to curtail accidents and their costs, you can expect continuing increases in the cost of insurance.

There may be a destiny that shapes our ends—but our middles are of our own chewing.

"YEASTNIKS" HAVE YOUNGSTER APPEAL

Up-to-the-minute youngsters will love "yeastniks." They are light fluffy dumplings raised with yeast that add a new dimension to any hearty stew — beef, lamb or chicken.

YEASTNIKS FOR SATELLITE STEW

- | | |
|--|-------------------------------|
| 1/2 cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast) | 2 tablespoons chopped parsley |
| 1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed | 1 tablespoon shortening |
| 2 tablespoons sugar | 1 tablespoon minced onion |
| 1 1/2 cups flour | 3/4 teaspoon salt |
| | 1 egg, beaten |

Measure water into a bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast.) Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Stir in sugar, parsley, shortening, onion, salt and egg. Add flour and beat until blended, about 1 minute. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes. Stir down. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto about 2 quarts of gently boiling stew, allowing batter to rest on meat and vegetables. Cover tightly and steam, without peeking, for 20 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 12 small dumplings.

Stars Give A Big Hand

A big hand for... is the way it goes in the show business world but the procedure is reversed by above stars, Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Lawrence Welk and Bill Lundigan who are giving a great big hand to the 1958 Bishops' Relief Fund Appeal for funds to continue the tremendous program of overseas relief assistance. All the stars plus announcer Ken Carpenter and others have given their time and talent for a series of recordings to be heard on local radio stations in conjunction with the national campaign to raise $5 million. You can give a hand by making a contribution to the Bishops' Relief Fund, Empire State Building, N.Y.C. or to your neighborhood Catholic Church. A big hand for the boys, please — Crosby, Hope, Welk and Lundigan!

Design Keeps Costs Low

Neat, uncomplicated house design usually goes hand in hand with low cost. Take, for example, this modern 3-bedroom, 1 1/2-bathroom ranch house tailored for leisurely indoor and outdoor living.

Designed by architect Rudolph A. Matern, Jamaica, N. Y., the house has a 24-foot-long porch with connecting doorways to the living room, dining room, kitchen, and garage. The porch opens on an 18 by 20-foot patio, an ideal arrangement for family dining, informal entertaining, or children's recreation.

Framing for the house has been simplified without any loss of livability or eye appeal. The main roof section, of conventional gable construction, has a gentle slope. It is covered with an attractive blend of light-color asphalt shingles. The roof sets the color scheme for the exterior of the house. The siding is in a harmonizing shade and the window trim repeats the roof color.

There are two service entrances to the house, one at each end of the kitchen. In conjunction with the main entrance and the short hall into which it leads, these provide a good traffic pattern. The three bedrooms extend across the rear of the house. The hallway separating the living and sleeping areas serves well as a sound barrier. The L-shaped kitchen is separated from the dining room by a breakfast bar. The house can be constructed with or without a basement. Thick mineral wool insulation acts as a heat barrier to keep winter warmth in the house and summer heat out. It makes possible the installation of a smaller, less expensive central air-conditioning system and reduces the day-to-day cost of operating it as well as the cost of heating fuel.

Additional information, blueprints and specifications can be obtained from Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, L. I., N. Y. Refer to plan No. 9399.
