HIT-AND-RUN

Two Elderly Ladies Struck by Automobile

A hit-and-run driver was apprehended 200 yards from the scene after injuring two elderly women in Taneytown at 9:05 p. m., Saturday.

Mrs. Clarence Derr, 48, Taneytown, was taken to Annie M. Warner Hospital Gettysburg, where her condition is critical. She suffered a deep head cut and internal injuries. Her companion, Mrs. Margaret Shoemaker, 80, Taneytown, was treated by a physician for minor bruises.

According to police, the driver of the car, John Melvin West, a 23-year-old laborer of Iron Springs was taken into custody by Trooper Lawrence L. Dunn, 200 yards from the scene of the accident a few minutes after it occurred.

West was being held in the Carroll County Jail in Westminster on $1,000 bond pending results of Mrs. Derr's condition.

Police said Mrs. Shoemaker and Mrs. Derr were crossing from the south sidewalk to the north side of Baltimore Street a few feet from York Street opposite the fire station in the center of Taneytown when the accident happened.

The 1953 sedan driven by West was traveling east on Baltimore Street, going "not too fast" in a 25-mile zone, when it seemed to veer out of its lane of traffic and into another lane which the ladies were crossing, according to state police.

Police said the car continued on after hitting the two ladies without stopping, but had been identified and was stopped within a few minutes by a state trooper who happened to be in Taneytown.

West was charged with reckless driving and with failure to identify himself after an accident involving personal injuries. The date of his trial has not been set.

NEW PROGRAM FOR UNEMPLOYED

Temporary Compensation Claims Can Be Made Beginning June 19

The Maryland Department of Employment Security today announced that it will start taking claims under the new Temporary Unemployment Compensation Program on Thursday (June 19, 1958).

Noting that the Federal Law setting up the program is not effective until Thurs., Robert B. Kimble, Executive Director, declared that Maryland will not only be among the first few states to put the program into operation, but will be the first in the nation to do so with legislative sanction.

The General Assembly met in special session last Friday and approved Maryland's participation in the program, which provides, in effect, another 18 weeks of unemployment benefits for those persons still out of work who have exhausted their benefits under the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law, the Federal Unemployment Compensation Program for Veterans and the Federal Unemployment Compensation Program for Federal Employees.

While it is not known how many persons will be eligible for the temporary additional benefits, some 18,000 persons have exhausted their benefits under the State program.

The Department also released separately today detailed information on eligibility and the filing of claims.

Mr. Kimble said that his Department is gearing for the operation and its attendant workload by hiring and training some 70 new employees, developing new regulations and procedures, and adapting its physical facilities.

The TUC operation will not require any change in the schedules of the Department's county offices, but will effect substantial changes in the congested Hopkins Place Office in Baltimore.

Here's information with which to tell whether or not you're eligible for Temporary Unemployment Compensation (TUC), and when and where to file a claim if you believe you are eligible.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

You may be eligible for additional temporary benefits IF—

- 1) You are unemployed on or after Thursday (June 19).
- 2) You exhausted, after June 30, 1957, your benefits under the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law, the Federal Unemployment Compensation Program for Veterans, or the Federal Unemployment Compensation Program for Federal Employees.
- 3) You have "exhausted" your benefits if you have received the entire amount of benefits to which you were entitled in your benefit year, or if your benefit year expired before you drew the entire amount and you have been unable to establish a new benefit year.
- 4) You do not have unemployment benefit rights available in any other state.
- 5) You continue to meet the regular weekly requirements of the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law and are not disqualified.

How Much and for How Long?

If you remain unemployed and continue to meet all other eligibility requirements, you may get half the total amount of benefits you formerly received. For example, if your former benefit total was $780 ($30 a week for 26 weeks), your TUC will be $290 ($30 a week for 13 weeks).

Unless complications arise, you should receive your first check two weeks after filing your first claim, that is, upon your third visit to an office of the Department of Employment Security.

Benefits are payable for weeks of either total or partial unemployment. This program is NOT retroactive, and no benefits will be paid for unemployment prior to Thursday (June 19, 1958).

This is a temporary program ending next April 1. In other words, no benefits will be paid for weeks of unemployment beginning after March 31, 1959.

When and Where to File a Claim

File your claims for Temporary Unemployment Compensation at the same office of the Department of Employment Security where you formerly claimed Unemployment Insurance benefits.

Be sure to bring the Identification Card you formerly used in claiming benefits, as well as your Social Security Card, your Armed Forces discharge papers, and proofs of birth for all dependent children under 16 years of age.

Appeals and Penalties

You have the same appeal rights under TUC as under the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law. The law provides penalties of a fine or imprisonment, or both, for persons willfully making a fraudulent claim for TUC.

If you make a mistake in giving information when you file your claim, notify the Employment Security office as soon as possible thereafter so that you might avoid penalties.

Ah! The inconsistency of women—a husband would never be forgiven if he forgot his wife's birthday, or remembered which birthday it was!

If you are a person without a friend in the world, you have only to look into the nearest mirror to see who is responsible for this tragedy.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF CARROLL COUNTY

A Review of Facts About This County

Carroll County, comprising parts of Baltimore and Frederick counties, was created January 19, 1837, by act of the General Assembly of Maryland. The county was named in honor of one of its largest original landholders, Charles Carroll of Carrollton, signer of the Declaration of Independence.

This county is the twentieth in formation and the tenth in area in the state. Westminster is the county seat. Other principal towns are Hampstead, Manchester, Mount Airy, New Windsor, Sykesville, Taneytown, and Union Bridge. There are other small towns in the environs.

Since Carroll County is primarily agricultural, the chief sources of income are from dairying, grain, poultry, and trucking. One of the unusual plants that grow advantageously in parts of the county is wormseed. The seed from this plant when distilled produces an oil used in making paint. The Carroll County wormseed oil has the highest quality rating in the world.

The principal industries are the manufacturing of cement, Congoleum, Black and Decker electrical tools, clothing, shoes, rubber, as well as the milling and canning of food products. The Western Maryland and Baltimore and Ohio Railroads have long been major carriers.

The land was settled largely by people of British and German extraction. The former group brought with them the Roman Catholic, the Episcopalian, the Methodist, the Quaker, and the Presbyterian denominations; the latter brought the Lutheran, the German Reformed and the Church of the Brethren.

According to the old records, the first Methodist church in America was built in 1764 by Rev. Robert Strawbridge of Ireland at Sam's Creek, New Windsor district. Nearby, the first Methodist class meeting was held in the log cabin of John Evans which still stands in its original setting.

The churches of the county have fostered education institutions such as the parochial schools controlled by the Roman Catholic Church, and Western Maryland College and the Westminster Theological Seminary associated with the Methodist Church. The property of the former Blue Ridge College in New Windsor is currently owned and used by the Church of the Brethren for the programs of relief and rehabilitation of the Brethren Church and of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America. To this center come many thousands of food and clothing from all over the United States to be sorted and shipped to the needy of the world.

Among the celebrities born on Carroll County soil Francis Scott Key, author of the Star Spangled Banner, probably holds first rank. On January 7, 1806, his sister Anne was married at Terra Rubra to Roger Brooke Taney, destined to be Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

In 1809 Jacob R. Thomas of Carroll County invented the harvester and reaping machine. Later his cousin Obed Hussey, McCormick and others developed practical machines that revolutionized farming in America and in the world. Betsy Patterson of Springfield Manor achieved rather tragic fame when she married Jerome Bonaparte in 1803, for Napoleon, pre-empting the powers of the Pope, soon annulled the marriage.

Among other interesting personalities are the distinguished General Mordecai Gist of the American Revolution; William Rinehart the sculptor, Frederick Dielman the teacher, Frank Brown former Governor of Maryland, and William L. Seabrook the writer.

To Carroll County goes the honor of establishing the first complete county-wide Rural Free Delivery service in the United States. On the first day, December 20, 1899, 2700 pieces of mail were distributed in addition to a pig and two chickens.

All these items of interest and many more are being collected and filed by the Historical Society of Carroll County, 206 E. Main St., Westminster. The property on which the Society is located belonged originally to Wm. Winchester, the English gentleman who founded the town. The Flemish bond brick home was built around 1807 by Jacob Sherman, a Pennsylvania Dutch tavern keeper. The building is in a very good state of preservation considering its age. Fireplaces in the kitchen and basement have the original cranes from which kettles were suspended. All the doors are hand-made with the big iron latches and hinges characteristic of the period. The wrought iron nails were made by the local blacksmith.

Within this home Alexander Graham Bell once lunched with Mary B. Shellman, the first telephone operator of Carroll County and one of its most public spirited citizens.

Visitors are cordially invited to see the antique furniture, documents and curios on permanent display in the headquarters of the Historical Society of Carroll County. Hours 2 to 5 p. m., Monday through Saturday.

Attendance and offering awards were given with Frizellburg and Taneytown receiving the banner and cup for the highest missionary offerings. Two children from each club took part in a "Bible Surprise Door Quiz" and received book mark awards for correctly answering Bible questions. All the songs were centered around Jesus as the "Door" to heaven. Miss Marge Cochran, Baltimore City CEF Director, gave a flannelgraph story depicting the various other doors often falsely used. Refreshments of cup cakes and punch were served to the children.

The last program for the Good News Club season was presented in the Uniontown Church of God on June 8. "TRUE EVER-NORMAL GRANARY"

Earl M. Hughes is an Illinois dirt farmer, and a former member of the Commodity Credit Corporation. And he wants to set the farmer free—free, that is, from government controls and from government policies that have resulted in ever-increasing surpluses. He wants the farmers to be turned loose to produce in a free market.

In discussing his program, he has something to say about animal agriculture. This, as he puts it, "is the true ever-normal granary." Livestock represents more than half of total farm income. We feed half of our harvested crops to livestock, and they convert it into meat, poultry or dairy products. He writes: "Our food supply is enormously elastic: we can stretch it by eating more grain and feeding less livestock, or we can shrink it by merely feeding more livestock. So we can use all of our food surplus if we upgrade our diets to use more meat, poultry, and dairy products."

Then Mr. Hughes tells of a youthful farmer, who was chosen Star Farmer of America for 1958, who used the animal-agriculture approach (which is the free market approach) to success. At 21 he paid income tax on $7,500 and his net worth is $71,000. He raises hogs, dairy cows and beef cattle, along with feed crops. Here Mr. Hughes writes: "He farms mainly outside the farm program because, he says, 'This leaves me free to make my own management decisions and build a volume of business where we can operate efficiently.'"

When it comes to considering future farm policy, we can learn a much needed lesson from the livestock people.—Industrial News Review.

"GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS"

WEST POINT, MISS., DAILY TIMES LEADER: "We are a people who have a deep respect for the law—yet, many of our domestic and international troubles flow from a disrespect for the law. Juvenile delinquency, the traffic slaughter on the highways and moral decay leading to problems in various areas of our society stem directly from flouting of the law and falling away of respect for it."

ROODHOUSE, ILL., RECORD: "The Record is getting sick and tired of reading advertisements in a great many sporting goods magazines, and a number of metropolitan newspapers that offer surplus military rifles from foreign countries for sale at cut-rate prices in America. Even more shameful is the fact that these military weapons were originally paid for by Military Aid money given by the United States to the foreign nations. In effect, we Americans are paying foreign nations to put our own domestic arms manufacturers and distributors out of business. And because you and we pay for Military Aid in our tax dollars, WE ARE KILLING OUR ARMS INDUSTRIES."

"Those are the facts . . . Let's put an end to it."

KITTANNING, PA., DAILY LEADER-TIMES: "Within the next few weeks, some 35 million Americans will 'go down to the sea in ships'—in more than seven million small pleasure craft . . . We might mention as a reference point, that in the piping days of 1929, the boating industry bragged about a 'pleasure marine of more than 50,000 vessels' . . . Unavoidably, it set thousands afloat who had no instinct and little feeling for this new world of sky and sea . . . 'Today, the best hope for sanity on the seas—inland and coastal—is the psychological campaign launched last year by yachtsman Harry Williams, vice president of American Chain and Cable Company. This seasoned sailor's reaction to skylarking on the water is 'Thumbs down, don't clown!', a slogan that is conveyed to the offender by a fist with the thumb pointing to Davy Jones' locker!"

TRAER, IOWA, STAR-CLIPPER: "Labor bosses' tight grip . . . was rather impressively demonstrated . . . when the U. S. Senate rallied its forces to beat down . . . efforts to attach some anti-racketeering amendment to a bill designed to prevent further mishandling of union welfare funds. The bill under consideration would require the registration, reporting and disclosure of all financial details of employee-welfare and pension plans."

LIBERTY, N. Y., SULLIVAN COUNTY PRESS: "To prevent hardware disease, pick up nails, wire, and other metal before turning cows out on pasture. These sharp pieces collect in bossy's stomach and may work their way through the wall, piercing vital organs, and result in death."

LISBON, N.D., RANSOM COUNTY GAZETTE: " . . . people on the farms and in the small towns have been experiencing an economical recession for several years . . . Employment figures for this area show no change from last year; bank deposits are up; sales tax remittances were up 10 per cent all over the area; farmers are optimistic about their economic outlook."

"So it may be that we've already had our recession, and perhaps we ought to encourage the rest of the country a bit by letting them know things are never as bad as they seem."

WHITEFISH, MONT., PILOT: "The idea that youthful offenders mostly come from 'the wrong side of the tracks' is just fancy. One organization after long study came up with a final conclusion that will make a lot of folks 'howl'. Where the blame? On the homes; the churches; the schools—in short on adults with whom youth comes in contact. 'Failed on the job' is the verdict."

STOCKTON, KANSAS, ROOKS COUNTY RECORD: "One of the differences between a small town and a big town is that in a big town the people park their cars when the fire sirens sound, and in the small town, they drive out into the street and try to beat the trucks to their destination."

Signs Of Spring

The arrival of warm weather with its accompanying delights and temptations—the first blooming flowers, the early bird on its return flight, the joy of wriggling a bare foot in the soft, velvety new grass—is suggested in the delightful "Hummel" figurine, "Signs Of Spring."

One of a series of world renowned collectors' items, it is a singularly appropriate gift for this season. The exquisitely hand-crafted ceramic figure will add a jubilant Spring-like note to homes throughout the year. Moreover, there's no need to keep "Hummel" figurines on the shelf. They can be an imaginative note in many decorative schemes. This one, for example, would be a conversation piece set in the middle of front of a floral arrangement.

The "Hummel" figurines are created in the factories of W. Goebel, Bavaria, West Germany. They are finished in incredibly life-like colors by master craftsmen who make an art of their work. Authentic "Hummel" figurines can be easily distinguished by their high quality and by the name, M. I. HUMMEL, indented on the base of each piece.

Kitchen Safety

Do you cut yourself frequently when slicing vegetables?

If so, it may be that you're not using your knives properly, and you might want to try these few helpful cues for avoiding such kitchen "battle scars":

1. Check to be sure that the knife is sharp enough to do the job. You're actually more likely to cut yourself on a dull edge—you have to use more pressure and therefore exert less control. So if the knife does seem dull, the stainless steel blade can be refreshed easily with a quick hone on fine emery or by running it gently through one of the new electric sharpeners.
2. Use a wooden cutting board. This helps to hold the vegetables more firmly and protect the knife blade. Of course, it makes the slicing operation neater, and protects your working table, too.
3. Efficient cutting of vegetables is done with a rolling motion. Hold the knife at both ends. The left hand holds the tip firmly on the board while the right hand presses down on the handle, as shown in the photograph.

So if you don't score 100 per cent on this quiz, better learn the answers to those you missed. You will be thankful that you did!

QUESTIONS

- What would you do if the following situations occurred while driving at a fairly high rate of speed on the highway?
1. You hit a curve and fear you'll lose control of the car.

THE NEW LIBRARIAN

Carroll County Public Library Board appointed as its first librarian Miss Margaret J. Hoefer of Kansas City and this week welcomed her to Westminster and the Davis Library which will serve as the central library for the county system.

Miss Hoefer has had a variety of library experience which should prove valuable in helping organize the program for Carroll County. Her last position as Staff Librarian for Central Air Defense Force Headquarters in Kansas City followed overseas assignments with the Army in Germany, where she operated a bookmobile in Bavaria, and with the Information Service in Japan, where she was Librarian directing a large American library for the Japanese in Osaka, Japan. Her foreign service also took her to Clark Air Force Base near Manila, where she was Staff Librarian for the Philippines Command.

Prior to that she had worked in public libraries in Topeka, Kansas and Greeley, Colorado, and was librarian of Pueblo Junior College in Colorado. Miss Hoefer also has taught high school and college English classes in Kansas and Colorado.

A newcomer to Maryland, she has been getting acquainted with the library needs of Carroll County with visits to several of the committees escorted by Mrs. Helen Rex Shroyer, Librarian of the Davis Library in Westminster, under whose supervision the summer reading program is being planned for all children of the county.

With the expansion of the book collection and the addition of a bookmobile, Miss Hoefer anticipates that county-wide service to adults as well as children will be achieved by fall.

Police Practice
What They Preach

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

LOCAL POLICE DEPARTMENTS all over the country not only advocate safe driving, but they practice what they preach.

At El Cerrito, Calif. (pop. 18,011), police drivers had a perfect record last year, and won a high award in the National Police Fleet safety contest.

This was the outcome of the action of Police Chief Howard A. Thulin who, two years ago, became alarmed at the department's high accident rate.

Miss Smith

Most of the mishaps were minor, but they were costing the city a considerable sum of money—not to mention the embarrassment they were causing.

Chief Thulin appointed a safety committee to investigate each accident. Inattention, more than any other single factor, was a principal villain, the investigation revealed. Side streets and parking lots were the location of most of the accidents; others occurred when officers parked their squad cars so that they were exposed to rear-end collisions.

As soon as the drivers were brought before the committee to explain these accidents, Chief Thulin says, the number of mishaps dropped considerably until finally, in 1957, there were no accidents at all.

Chief Thulin thinks there is a lot for the public to learn from the safe driving practices of his police force.

For example, none of his officers drive at excessive speeds, even when pursuing a speeder. With modern police facilities, chasing a speeding vehicle is no longer necessary or sensible. Inter-city radio communication systems are used to warn police in the next town of an approaching speeder, and a road block then can be set up to apprehend him.

"Many times the speeder is traveling at such a high rate," says Chief Thulin, "that our officers would not be able to keep their cars under control if they tried to keep the violator in sight."

"We've had cases where speeders tear through town at 80 or 90 miles an hour and pile up minutes later along the highway. If we had tried to keep up, our officers might have ended up the same way."

Courtesy and defensive driving are the keys to safe driving, Chief Thulin believes. And he emphasizes that motorists should always be alert when they drive.

Good advice, coming from the head of a police department that has won one of the top safety awards in the nation.

EMPLOYEES PUBLICATION RECEIVES TOP HONOR

The PE NEWS, employee publication of the Potomac Edison Company, has been awarded two top honors in competition with other industrial employee publication throughout the country. 6-19-2t

In the "1958 Better Copy Contest", sponsored by the Public Utilities Advertising Association, the NEWS won "First Award" in its category, and an "Award of Merit" was won by the paper in the "1958 Evaluation Contest" sponsored by the Middle Atlantic Association of Industrial Editors. 6-19-2t

S. E. Remsburg, local employee of The Potomac Edison Company, serves as NEWS correspondent for the Taneytown area. 6-19-2t

The 35th annual PUA contest pitted the paper against entries in a category for utility companies serving from 150,000 to 400,000 customers. The NEWS took top award in this division. 6-19-2t

This year's contest attracted more than 2,000 entries from electric, gas and water companies throughout the United States, Canada and Hawaii. Results of the contest, which is the oldest continuous competition in the advertising profession, were announced at that organization's annual meeting in Pittsburgh. 6-19-2t

The "Award of Merit", which was presented at the regular monthly meeting of that group in Washington, was presented for "exceptional accomplishment in the field of industrial journalism." 6-19-2t

MAAIE is composed of industrial editors from the Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D. C. areas. 6-19-2t

HISTORIC MARYLAND LANDMARK OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

More than two hundred visitors came to the old Union Mills Homestead last week-end, when the historic Maryland landmark was opened to the public for the first time in one hundred and sixty-one years. 6-19-2t

Many of the early visitors were residents of the village of Union Mills, who had seen the old grey house and red brick mill all their lives but never had seen the interior furnishings of the ancient Shriver homestead, built in 1797. Many residents of Baltimore took advantage of fine weather to inspect one of Maryland's newest historic museums. 6-19-2t

Among the many relics of rural home life in the past which are often destroyed or forgotten, visitors found many articles of unusual interest. An ancient eighteenth century barrel-organ, operated by a crank and bellows, seemed to be the most unusual of the many musical instruments preserved in the household, but the most popular room was the original kitchen, with its great stone fire-place, and all the household devices used in a self-sustaining stage of civilization. Children were particularly interested in the collection of doll-carriages, cradles and doll dresses on display in the children's room. 6-19-2t

The Union Mills Homestead is open to the public daily from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., and on Sundays from 1 to 5 p. m. until September. Prof. Frederick Shriver Klein, one of the owners of the property, serves as guide and curator. An admission fee is charged for adults, but children under twelve are admitted free. 6-19-2t

Your Home

By Frances Ainsworth

I bought a wedding present last week that I liked so well I bought a duplicate for myself! The gift was a new steam or dry iron with a new stainless steel soleplate which assures faster, smoother ironing on every fabric... and, because it is stainless steel, the ironing surface stays smooth even after years of hard wear.

The appliance store salesman showed me samples of the new stainless steel soleplate and the regular aluminum soleplates found on other irons and asked me to try the "scratch" test. When I ran my fingers over the aluminum ironing surface, I felt deep rough scratches and sharp edges which snag fabrics, especially the new synthetics. The salesman explained that this will happen to every iron with an aluminum soleplate, when you iron over a snap or zipper, but the almost indestructible stainless steel ironing surface is super scratch resistant!

The new iron, manufactured by Hoover is lightweight, too—less than 4 pounds—and other advantages include button-saver tip, longer cord, new dial plate with 8 positions, new faster heating element.

Talk about easier ironing—here's the answer! Have your dealer show you the "scratch" test or write to The Hoover Company, North Canton, Ohio, for more information.

GOD AND THE REAL YOU—

Every soul is the offspring of God, they say—
(That was God's idea before man came this way);
So, the real you of both you and me, I find
Is like God Himself; for, God, too, is mind.

The truth is God has been with us ever since that day
He is the Christ in us, great witnesses now say;
Man only uses a body to carry out God's plans—
(The Scriptures tell us that we are His hands!)

Jesus, too, said: "Before Abraham was, I Am", one day—
(Physical man has always come that way!)
So, here God teaches us all, from day to day,
How, to make earth a heaven, when we go His way.

God is loving Father, the Scriptures also say;
So, He pampers us all day after day;
Without Him, they tell us mortal man could not be Much less be "a god among gods" in eternity.

God waited for Alons to do what He did—
(For ages He kept this great country hid?)
America is a city of refuge, some now say;
So, to learn about God, peoples come this way.

There is only one door to mind, writers say—
(To it, Christ, our I am, shows us the way);
Thoughts are sheep which some times go astray,
So Jesus came to tell us that He is the way.

To meet God one must ignore the customs of daily life;
(It is that which causes turmoil and strife!);
God was not in the whirlwind, the Scriptures say;
So, to emulate Him, we must be that way.

So, quietly enter the inner chamber; and, shut the door
(Of external worries, think no more)
The Father knows your thoughts, the Scriptures say,
And will cause the thing you want to come your way.

"By thy light, I am illumined and strengthened," say;
(To get God's answer, they tell us, that is the way!)
For, as you open your mind to the light, they say,
Intelligence helps you to go the right way.

The Spirit of Truth projects into your mind
Thoughts like Jesus had, I also find;
It's God's thought or He watches daily over your life,
Which bring, energy, health, and freedom from strife.

The Spirit of Truth floods me with the light of life—
(That is why I am free from sickness and strife)
When we do as it says, we are made whole;
(We never fear lightning, nor, the thunders which roll).

"Every good and every perfect gift comes from above"
(That is another proof that "God is Love"!);
So, if we love our neighbor, and, do, as the Scriptures say,
The heaven we seek shall come our way.

There is no limit, they say, to the power of mind;
(Everything on earth comes through it, I find);
Substance is first given form in mind;
And, as it becomes active, it is manifest, I find.

"Decree a thing, and it shall be established unto thee",
(That is what the Bible tells both you and me!)
It is a law God gave to primitive man;
And we, too, should make it a part of our plan.

Knowledge has been increased, as the Scriptures say;
But, to do certain things, the ancients had the way;
And, that is how God wants us to do—
Only a decree can change grey to blue—

An Occasion For Memories

The Bridesmaid's Luncheon is one of the gayest of the pre-wedding parties. With a radiant bride, a bevy of excited bridesmaids, and a beautiful table set with gracious care, this can be an occasion for wonderful memories.

A rhythmic table setting establishes the mood, with a traditionally bridal color scheme of pink, rose and white. The first tiny roses of the season strike a dominant color note, set in a tall white vase, and arrayed as a Victorian bouquet. The dainty Melmac dinnerware repeats the theme with the exquisite Patio Rose design against a white background. A full blown rose, a bud and a leaf spray appear on the luncheon plates. The color note is picked up in the round pink bowls flanking the centerpiece, which contain, appropriately, pink and white mints. Pink coffee cups complete the harmonious picture.

Beneath the centerpiece, an oval Melmac platter in the same pattern is used to hold the tiny boxes, flecked with floral decoration, for the bridesmaids gifts.

With gleaming silver, a tablecloth of palest pink, and a perfect Spring or early Summer day the Bridesmaid's Luncheon is sure to be an important and delightful pre-wedding occasion.

Who Are Strong?

Lesson for June 22, 1953

IF YOU see a "Strong Man" advertised on the midway at the State fair, you know what he'll be. You expect to see a man with legs like pillars, with arms like bundles of cables, a man who can lift hundreds of pounds without so much as puffing. But a muscle-man isn't necessarily a strong man. It is not our muscles that make us men; gorillas have powerful muscles but they are still gorillas. This is not to say anything against athletes or athletes or healthy bodies. These are all good. But the point is: the characteristically, unmistakably human thing about human beings is not their muscles, it is their mind, their spirit. A strong man is not strong in the full human sense of that word unless his strength shows somewhere besides his bones and muscles.

Dr. Foreman

Lone Wolf

Another wrong notion of what a "strong man" is, can be seen in many popular plots in novels and TV dramas. There the strong man is often the man who is a sort of lone wolf, playing a lone hand, a man without partners or intimate friends. Now there is some truth in the idea that "he travels the fastest who travels alone," but strength is not in stand-offishness, it is not in being a law to oneself. The story of Samson in the Bible has its comic moments, but it is really a tragedy, for it is the story of a man who looked strong, indeed he had no reputation for anything at all but strength; yet he wasted his strength in useless stunts, and never became the strong leader that the times, and his people's needs, demanded. His people, the Israelites, were very much under the thumbs of the Philistines at the time. First and last, Samson caused the death of hundreds of those Philistines, yet when he died his nation was still no nation, only scattered hill tribes dominated by the Philistines' power.

Power of God

Place in comparison Samson and Jesus. Or if you think that is unfair, then contrast Samson and Saint Paul. In a wrestling match Samson could have broken Paul's neck; but only in his muscles was Samson the stronger man. Or if you think that is still unfair, contrast Samson with another of the "judges" or heroes of old Israel, the one his friends called Jerubbaal and we call Gideon. These were both men of the people, called by God to heroic deliverance of their people from oppression, invasion and slavery. Gideon accomplished his task; Samson failed. What was the difference? The student can identify a number of differences; but crowning them all is the fact that Gideon put himself and his abilities at the disposal of God for the benefit of his countrymen; while Samson's powers were used for Samson. Even the spectacular slaughter of his dying moments was—in his own words—revenge for one of his lost eyes. A purely personal vengeance.

Who Are the Strong?

Who are the really strong today? Not the weight-lifters, the professional muscle-men. Not the lone operators, setting their wits against every other man's. The truly strong are those who devote all the powers they have to God and his cause, to justice and peace in the world. The strongest are those who know best the secret of inner strength. Paul was, as we just noted, no giant. But it was little Paul who could say "I can do all things through Him who strengthens me." It was this same small yet mighty man who could write to young Christians in the Roman Empire, men who were not gladiators nor soldiers, about being "filled with all the fullness of God," and prayed for them that they might "know what is the immeasurable greatness of his power in us who believe" (Eph. 1:19). The greatest tragedies of life are not the men in wheel chairs, paraplegics, polio victims. The greatest tragedies are in the lives of men and women who—though they might have been filled with the power of God, might have lived strong victorious lives, have turned away from God, lived only to themselves, and wasted even the powers they had.

SHORT STORY

Buckwheat Plan

By Lonnie E. Legge

THE loud banging, at ten o'clock in the morning, on the old steel triangle hanging on a post in the back yard caused Lemuel Hawkins to unhitch his team, where he was plowing the "back forty" and light a shuck for the house wondering what further trouble had come to perch on his door step at that time in the morning.

It just seemed one piece of bad luck followed right after another; like his seven children—all girls, age 15 to 25, and none married. Seemed like boys were just not interested in corn-fed, country girls. His girls were well educated and comely, but no dates—no dates meant no marriages. Not counting his day-time worry, the sleep he lost thinking up plans for getting the girls married off was worse than all his work combined.

Arriving at the house his thoughts were rudely awakened by his wife's shrill yell: "Lem, the cows have broken into the buckwheat straw stack and are eating it up!"

"Oh no!" Lem said in unbelief. (Now, everyone knows, or should know that no animal will eat buckwheat straw, except, maybe a billy goat and it would have to be starved to it.)

Lem rode over to the barn lot, fenced off for stacking winter feed

3-Minute Fiction

From then on there was an elopement every week.

which had all been fed out, except the buckwheat straw that was used for bedding the stock. The stack was surrounded by cows, devouring the brown straw like hungry wolves. Lem could hardly believe his eyes. He quickly drove the cows out and mended the fence thinking, "something funny about those cows; or that's darn good straw! I'll feed them some of it tonight."

That night he filled the manger full while thinking of the straw he could buy cheap from his neighbors before they found out cows would eat it. At supper he told the family, "I'm sure it must be something in the soil for I never heard tell of cows eating it before."

He was awakened early next morning by the lowing of hungry cattle. Dressing quickly he rushed to the stack and got a fork load of straw and carried it into the cowshed only to find the mangers were already full. None had been eaten the night before. Lem dropped on the pile of buckwheat straw in deep meditation amid the lowing of the hungry cattle.

An hour later the ringing triangle calling him to breakfast jarred him into action of feeding the hungry stock. Cleaning the mangers he hurriedly filled them with roughage from the haymow, which the stock began eating voraciously. Humming a tune, Lem went to breakfast.

After breakfast he got his wife and youngest daughter, Cissie alone and said, "I have hit on a plan to marry the girls off. Course, Cissie, is only a 'little elf' and we want to keep her with us for years yet. Them dang cows, dumb as they are showed me the way. People are just like animals: tell or show them they can't have something and they will get it in spite of hell or high-water!" He then unfolded his plan to them adding, "pay no attention to any mysterious comings or goings."

Saturday night Lem went into town and bought a sawed off shotgun, shells and a brindle bulldog, hinting in several places if he caught any boys hanging around his house, trying to court his girls. "I'll fill them so full of shot it will weight them down till this bulldog can chew their ears off."

Just two weeks afterwards, the eldest girl eloped with the town barber and was married. From there on there was an elopement every week, then two in one week until the six oldest girls were all married and happily forgiven.

Lem and his wife were happy, but Cissie seemed to be the happiest of all; singing from morning till night. One morning not long after the last elopement Mrs. Hawkins, called Cissie to breakfast, but got no answer. She called the second time; then Lem said, "I'll go up and wake her I'm afraid the poor little elf is working too hard."

THE FIRST OPINION POLL

From now until next November it is going to become increasingly difficult for you to keep your thoughts to yourself. Thousands of opinion poll takers will be roaming the country and your mail will be peppered with questionnaires.

Washington, in particular, will want to know what you think about almost everything under the sun. The reason, of course, is that this is an election year for 32 U. S. Senators and 435 Representatives.

One enterprising Congressman who is convinced the early bird gets the vote already has conducted a poll of his constituents on what he lists as the 20 most important questions facing the nation. He is up-state New York Rep. Harold C. Ostergard.

He received 7,232 replies to questions calling for "yes," "no," or "undecided" answers. The questions, and the percentages of "yes" and "no" answers give him a pretty good idea of what his voters are thinking.

Sirloin Steak Styling

Dad will bask in glory on Father's Day. Service with a smile and a meal really worth while will consist of the day's highlights. The menu on this day features a broiled sirloin steak.

It won't be long now until the final countdown to Father's Day is here.

Special menu requests are always in order for this day. Of course, you needn't even ask Dad his menu choice... chances are steak will be the answer.

If this is the case in your home, purchase a sirloin steak cut 1 inch thick.

Steaks—Selection, Preparation

Steaks for broiling are numerous... there's the porterhouse, T-bone, rib, club and top loin in addition to the sirloin. The sirloin can readily be identified by the thin narrow back bone, comments Reba Staggs, meat expert.

When preparing this sirloin steak, simply set the regulator of the range for broiling. Place the steak on the broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the top surface of a 1-inch steak is 2 to 3 inches from the heat; a 2-inch steak... 3 to 5 inches from the heat. When one side is browned, season and turn and finish cooking on second side.

Time Table

A 1-inch steak requires 18 to 20 minutes for rare steak; 20 to 25 for medium. A 2-inch steak... 30 to 35 minutes for rare; 35 to 45 minutes for medium.

"SPICE 'N EVERYTHING NICE"

just what I mean! She, then calls for the assistant Manager, a Mr. Brown who in turn introduces you to your teacher. If you are a lady pupil, a gentleman comes forward as your teacher and if you are a gentleman pupil you are introduced to the lady teacher which is as it should be. You are then taken through that entire building and it is really elegant. There are small individual rooms for the beginner and that way you do not feel any way shy. Then, you are shown the lovely Ball rooms where the parties are held and there are a number of them which are held for all the pupils and their teachers for future parties.

All the teachers are top-notch and they must be most capable for that Arthur Murray Studio! They are truly the world's best! That is the foundation and real reason why the pupil learns so quickly—in a very few lessons you will be doing the Tango, Cha-cha and the Rhumba and from there on, Folks I leave the rest to you! After a few lessons you are taken from the private rooms to the Ball rooms where you will meet many pupils dancing with their teachers. The Tango is the basis of all other dances and when you master this—well—you are on your way! Regardless of age you positively can dance even if you have never danced before. I have heard individuals remark, "I just love dancing that is to sit back and watch but when it actually comes to dancing myself that is another thing!" Folks, Your Observer will guarantee that you will be a dancer sooner than you realize and it will mean grace, poise, confidence and much else and your years will absolutely decrease in number for you will look younger and feel younger and will be full of PEP!

The PARTIES are positively fabulous and fantastic! One evening, I thought I really was in BERMUDA—and here's why—First of all the Orchestra leader was Los Diablos and the Cabana boys who put on the evening program. It was a delightful floor show with the advanced students taking part. As each one entered the main lobby of the Studio, the ladies were handed a lovely orchid (which I kept for one week after)! Can you imagine, Folks dancing to the tune of South Pacific music such as "One Enchanting evening"? That was truly fascinating! You will love mingling with the nice people and "Getting to Know Them" like that song. Remember? Everyone is so nice and sociable and that is what counts. "Bermuda" was carried out to the finest detail and it all meant a delightful evening with many dressed in the Bermuda "Shorts"! Even to the dark Sun glasses and those huge straw hats! Of course, there was a typical dance called "Valencia", danced by a real Spanish teacher. Programs were presented to each one which meant they read the story of this dance before it was displayed. Just like a "Liberetto Opera". When you are a Student at the Arthur Murray Studio, it really is very special! You will love it from the very beginning. My teacher's name? I can hear you ask me or write to me—here it is a Mr. Hawkins! Remember what Mrs. Katherine Murray always says on T.V. in closing her elaborate show, "FOR A LITTLE FUN IN YOUR LIFE, START DANCING!" Call on the phone or call at the Studio and get your free trial lesson—that will convince you!

So long, Folks until next week D. V. Have a grand week-end. Drive slowly and hope one of these days real soon I'll be seeing you at the Studio. Next week's Column will be all about Roses with the little 'love' stories attached which you won't want to miss and which I promised in a previous Column. I remain,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.
