"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"
With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

M E R R Y
MERRY CHRISTMAS!
Across the miles! How well I remember the Christmases near the town!
And the many changes which have taken place since that time! Now, Your Observer is in a tiny house at 908 Argonne Drive, Baltimore 18, Md.

Talk about Southern hospitality. Sure was in much evidence when moving in for my nice neighbor brought in a pot of tea and ham sandwiches! Never did anything taste so good for due to so much excitement, I really forgot to eat that day, Dec. 1.

How fine it was for Uncle Sam to send out those little books of Zone numbers especially at this time of the year when it is so necessary with all the additional mail.

Have you a noticed Christmas greetings come earlier each year yet I remember in Philly when I was a little girl the Letter Carrier trudging through the snow (and it really meant snow storms then) with a huge umbrella overhead and the heavy leather bag on his back and the grand and cheery, "Merry Christmas"! to everyone delivering the mail absolutely on that very morning of Christmas!

Then, I remember somehow I was chosen to carry the big turkey to the nearby bakery on Christmas morning to be baked and the price was just 15 cents! I don't know why they always selected me to do the grocery buying, too weekly as I was the youngest member of the family.

Then, back again I would go to that baker for the beautifully cooked bird and such a feast in our house on Christmas with the entire family all around the table. It is truly something to remember. Big families are wonderful!

What a beautiful letter in answer to my recent one from Honorable Governor Elect of Maryland, J. Millard Tawes. Another to add to my famous collection.

Now here's something which is absolutely a fact and which I have observed all my life time. And this for the Ladies—"if you are plain, then someone learns to love you slowly and slowly you become beautiful to him"—from "Lustful Summer" by R. V. Cassill. I have always noticed that plain women become beautiful as the years come on but the good looking women usually show trouble as they get older. That is the reason for that old saying, "Beauty fades!" Of course, you and I have seen beautiful elderly women many times and if you check you will find that these very women never have left worry—worry them!

Next week will write of the "CAPRICORN" sign from Dec 20 to Jan. 20—the sign which this world could not do without.

Have a grand Christmas, Folks and don't eat too much turkey and keep a check on the amount of sweets the Kiddies eat for that way they and you, too will enjoy every day of their holiday. I am

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

It's a well-known fact that the farmer's share of the money spent for food has been declining. Many people seem to believe that this has at least partly resulted from dirty work at the crossroads somewhere—that certain interests are making excessive profits at the expense of agriculture.

This gives a special significance to some figures found in the 1957 annual report of the American Meat Institute, the organization which represents the packers. These figures, incidentally, were cited in a recent speech made by Herschel D. Newsum, Master of The National Grange.

In 1947, the packers spent 80.6 cents out of each dollar for livestock and other raw materials. In 1957, the figure was 73.6 cents—a drop of 8.7 per cent.

However, in 1947, the packers' profits came to 1.5 cents out of the dollar. In 1957, profit amounted to but seven-tenths of one cent—a drop of 53 per cent in terms of the consumer dollar.

What, then, happened to cause this situation? The answer is a simple one. Practically all the other costs the packers must bear—wages, packaging materials, transportation depreciation, interest—rose sharply in the 10 year period.

Inflation was partly responsible, of course. And another factor, which applies to virtually all agricultural products, is the relatively new public demand for processed, frozen and easy-to-prepare foods. It takes money to meet that demand.

A the same time, livestock and related products accounted for the biggest share by far of farm cash receipts in 1957—to be exact, 56.5 per cent. The meat packing business is a mighty valuable ally of agriculture.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

FORT, PAYNE, ALA. TIMES-JOURNAL: "There are more Americans opposed to the kind of government labor bosses want than there are in favor of it. Many of those opposed are rank and file union members. The solution lies in action by the millions of individuals who oppose the labor boss ideal—a government which sounds like a blue-print for a well-run, humane costly penitentiary."

RATHDRUM, IDAHO, TRIBUNE: "Pay for the government's 2.3 million civilian employees last year was $11 billion—equal to about one-third the total tax bill of all Federal individual income tax payers."

REYNOLDSVILLE PA., STAR: "Muscular Dystrophy afflicts nearly a quarter million Americans. The majority of them are children and only in rare instances do they survive to maturity. To give a richer, more meaningful life to those who now sit in unwilling idleness, Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., sponsors a varied program of patient services including educational and recreational activities. And, to give them the hope of a brighter future, MDAA supports a broad research program which may, some day, come up with the answers to this tragic disease."

CAMPBELLSVILLE, KY., NEWS-JOURNAL: "Since its function is primarily political rather than economic, the Government's responsibilities do not encompass competition with its own citizens in the fields of production and distribution. Given the same conditions, there are no circumstances under which private enterprise cannot operate in these fields more efficiently than can Government. The only cases where, on the surface, this is not apparent, are those in which through subsidies, freedom from taxation, or improper allocation of costs, Government enjoys a definite competitive advantage."

FLATONIA, TEXAS, ARGUS: "A group of Russians showed up unexpectedly at the Pearly Gates St. Peter looked at them with amazement and then announced: 'I don't know why you've come up here. You can't come in, you're atheists.' At this, one of the group stepped forward and replied, 'Who wants to come in We just want our dog back!'"

CARLINVILLE, ILL., MACOUPIN COUNTY ENQUIRER: "The unity of Christians and Jews throughout the world was brought into focus sharply by the death of Pope Pius XII. Roman Catholic, Protestant and Jewish leaders, heads of state and most creeds joined in expressions of mourning at the loss of the 82-year-old 'Pope of Peace'."

CALIPATRIA, CALIF., HERALD: "Today... we are being indoctrinated (taught something without really knowing all about it) by a group that have the most insidious plan for domination of the human race that the fertile mind of man has ever conceived. That plan is simply this: 'Not that we have been created equal by God, but that we shall be made equal by man.' We will all work under the same conditions, we will no longer have any problems, we will all have plenty to eat, we will all have a good house, a good car, a good television set, not necessarily because we earned them but because we are all equal and all deserve the same. We shall also think the same, worship the same, study the same things, dress the same, worry the same, and in the end we will all be the same, NOTHING."

ABILENE, KANSAS, REFLECTOR-CHRONICLE: "American newspapers, this one included, are being bombarded as never before by Soviet propaganda. One of the new tricks is 'planted' letters to the editor, pushing the pro-communist theme. They make the most of the Little Rock situation, labor problems. The wastebasket is full of such tripe."

OAKLAND, CALIF., CALIFORNIA VOICE: "Standard Oil Company of California announced the award of more than $175,000 in unrestricted grants to 34 private colleges in the United States... Industrial aid to education is aid in the finest American sense—a willing and welcome demonstration of individual responsibility."

SUNDAY SELLING

Preservation of the American tradition of non-commercial Sunday observance is actively supported by the Variety Stores Association, according to J. S. Mack, President. Member variety store companies have voted their opposition to the Sunday selling of general merchandise and urge public recognition of its effects before it is too late.

Sunday selling now limited in a relatively few sections of the country will, unless check, Mack warns, spread rapidly during the busiest season of the year. It is not likely that informed public opinion will support turning Sundays, especially those preceding Christmas, into business-as-usual days.

Family, religious and the business life of every community will be changed by Sunday selling. The Variety Stores Association recommends that retailers join with local civic and religious leaders of all faiths to preserve our heritage of non-commercial Sundays.

Men simple refuse to believe it, but an angel is somebody you meet after you're dead.

Teen-agers and The Family Car

WHEN TEEN-AGERS reach the driver's license age, the big battle rages over the family car. Although roads seem cluttered with a variety of jalopies driven by the high-school crowd, the majority rely on the family car for their varied activities.

Since they do have this privilege, it's only fair that they should do the weekly clean-up job to keep the car presentable. It doesn't take long to make it shine—just hose it down and sponge it off in the shade so the hot sun won't leave water spots. And to get the whitewall tires sparkling, brush them down with a solution of Spic and Span (one-half cup to two gallons of hot water), and dust and soil roll off in a jiffy.

To clean the plastic upholstery, especially white, sponge it off with a fresh solution of the same cleaner and grimy marks disappear at once.

Love makes the world go 'round—and 'round and 'round.

TO KEEP YOUR HOUSE PLANTS in good health all winter, make sure you're using the right mixture of soil and fertilizer.

Ferns, gladiolus, and African violets need a soil composed of 3 parts topsoil, 1 part sand, 2 parts leaf-mold. For other potted plants, use the same formula with only half the quantity of leafmold. Plant food is recommended for all varieties of house plants, but be sure that it is applied according to the manufacturer's instructions. The experts advise a regular preventive spraying of house plants against insect pests such as mealy bugs, white flies, plant lice and spider mites. An aerosol spray insecticide, like the Antronol Aerosol Bomb, is lethal to these pests. Be sure to spray the tips of the shoots, both sides of the leaves, and the junction of leaf and stem for most effective results.

WITH CHOICE WINTER SHOWS returning to television, it's not surprising if your eyes work overtime. Yet it may surprise you to know that keeping your eyes on the move can help you to avoid strain. Researchers for the Murine Company, leading eye lotion producer, find that flicking your eyes from one point to another is less tiring than riveting your gaze for a prolonged period on one thing. This is why eyes can become more weary from viewing TV than watching a movie in a theatre. To see everything that is distributed across the expansive movie screen, your eyes are constantly moving. In contrast, the TV screen converges your vision onto a small area. The answer, according to the Murine study, is to shift your attention frequently. And close your eyes periodically for a few seconds' rest.

FAMILY ALBUM WALL PANELS brighten the decor of dens, foyers and bedrooms. They're easy to make, too. Mount frameless toned portrait photographs on plywood squares and circles, then put them on long slender panels for the best effects. Portrait photos are easy to change as your family grows... And here's a neat way to hang photographs in teen-agers' rooms, where neatness may be at a premium. Paper one wall with a large mural map. Place plywood-mounted portraits of your children's friends at whatever spots on the map they may be.

Make A Santa Bucket For Christmas

A colorful and a practical Christmas decoration is the Santa Claus bucket. Built around a 1-gallon paper bucket that is available at paint stores, or a half-gallon ice cream container, the Santa is exceptionally easy to make. All you need, in addition to the bucket, is some red, white, pink and navy felt, a red Christmas tree ball, a 9-inch paper plate, some absorbent cotton, and a tube or squeeze bottle of Elmer's Glue-All, a white adhesive that dries clear.

First cut out red felt parts for the 10-inch arms, 7 1/2-inch legs, cap, mouth and cheeks. Then cut boots and mitts from navy color felt. Cut a 6 1/2-inch circle for Santa's face from the pink felt, and from the white cut strips for boot and sleeve decorations, a band for the hat, and two eyes.

Cut off the ribbed border from the paper plate, leaving a four-inch section for the neck. Secure the pink felt face to the plate with the clear-drying adhesive, leaving neck section exposed. Glue cap to head, add the other cut-outs. Use the Christmas tree ball for a nose, then glue the cotton eyebrows and beard to the face.

Attach the face to the bucket with paper clips, then glue the arms to the back of the bucket, bringing one mitt to the top of the rim and the other under it. Glue the legs to the bottom of the bucket—and the job is completed.

Fill the bucket with candy, cookies, or small packages. Or let the real Santa do it Christmas Eve.

The Night Before Christmas

'Twas the night before Christmas when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse,
When down through the chimney all covered with soot,
Came the "Spirit of Fire" an ugly galoot.

His eyes glowed like embers, his features were stern,
As he looked all around for something to burn.
What he saw made him grumble, his anger grew higher,
For there wasn't a thing that would start a good fire.

No door had been blocked by the Big Christmas tree,
It stood in the corner leaving passageways free.
The lights that glowed brightly for Betty and Tim,
Had been hung with precaution so none touched a limb.

All wiring was new, not a break could be seen,
And wet sand at its base kept the tree nice and green,
The tree had been trimmed by a mother insistent,
That the ornaments used be fire resistant.

And mother had known the things to avoid,
Like cotton and paper and plain celluloid.
Rock Wool, metal icicles and trinkets of glass,
Gave life to the tree; it really had class.

And would you believe it right next to the tree,
Was a suitable box for holding debris.
A place to throw wrappings of paper and string,
From all of the gifts that Santa might bring.

The ugly galoot was so mad he could bust,
As he climbed up the chimney in utter disgust.
For the folks in this home had paid close attention,
To all the rules of good "Fire Prevention".

FEESBURG (A Voice from Carroll)

The Mt. Union Lutheran Church presented its Christmas program Sunday evening, Dec. 14th. The church was crowded with members and friends interested in hearing the young members portray the Christmas story in recitations, songs and drama. The church choir furnished the background music for the program. The young members taking part in the program were: Earl Wilhide, Shirley, Kathy, and Betty Keefe, Terry Bair, Barbara Lambert, Sheila Tregoning, Sandy Miller, Joyce Nelson, Linda Nelson, Jackie Bair, Judy Nelson, Mary Ecker, Michael Martin, Christine Colbert, Michael Grossnickle, Oneida Colbert, Douglas Bohn, John Crabbs, Susan Colbert, Karen Forney, Wilson Colbert, Virginia and Lena Fink, Brian Broadwater, Sharon and Debbie Beard, Dale Miller, Linda Wilhide and Diana Stambaugh. Soloists were Barbara Broadwater, Nancy Roelke and Mrs. Lee Fink. Announcer, Miss Nancy Roelke. Director of Music, Mrs. Blaine Broadwater. Program director, Mrs. Paul Leister, assistants, Mrs. Earl Wilhide, Mrs. Betty Nelson, Mrs. Grace Miller, Mrs. Ralph Beard and Mrs. Maurice Tregoning.

Along about this time every year our family gets into the same old discussion that has been going on for ten years and hasn't been resolved even at this late date. The question under consideration is "How large shall the Christmas tree be?" One member of the family wants one as high as the living room ceiling, another wants a medium size one and the Scrooge in the family wants none at any size. In the past we have compromised and had one eight feet tall. Maybe this year we will compromise again and have one seven feet tall. We imagine that this sort of argument goes on in every home. To save endless talk and enormous wear on ones nervous system it would be best to give every member of the family the kind of tree he wants. Place one in every room of the house. Small tree, tall trees and medium fat trees but leave one room empty of trees. That room would be for any Scrooge lurking around. It would be interesting to see if he would stay in his empty room while all around him were rooms filled with tinsel, lights and pines?

The question "Who ought to be boss?" is like asking "Who ought to be the tenor in the quartet?" Obviously, the man who can sing tenor. Henry Ford.

Whenever we hear a complaint about how much the Federal Government interferes with our lives, we are tempted to tell the complainers that they might not be alive to complain if it wasn't for just one interference from the Federal Government. We are referring to the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. This law compels the producers of food, drugs and cosmetics to meet certain standards and the Federal Government keeps investigators on the alert to see that it is done. Especially important is this law when it comes to drugs. Today with some medicine so potent that the slightest deviation from a formula would result in instant death to the patient it is of the highest importance that the drug industry is required to meet these regulations. There are dishonest and unscrupulous men that unless they are under constant supervision wouldn't hesitate to alter, substitute and cheat on drugs even if it meant death to some person. Although the majority of people dealing in food, drugs and cosmetics recognize their obligations to the public the unscrupulous few are a constant threat, and need to be watched by the Federal Government. Those who think that government supervision and regulation of foods, drugs and cosmetics unnecessary should do considerable thinking on the subject for last summer we had an experience that taught us a lasting lesson. We used a cleaning fluid and in a short time we were very ill. The doctor said we had been poisoned by Carbon tetrachloride, a solvent used in many cleaners but not labeled nor advertised. There is no regulations on such items, but we are convinced there should be.

Most of our nation is in the icy grasp of winter. The almanacs are hitting it on the nose so far in predicting an old fashioned winter that will make last winter look like a Florida holiday.

We heard last week a teenager pay her father the highest compliment a man can receive when he is past fifty. A father asked his daughter to attend the movies with him but she gently declined saying: "People will think you're my boy friend, then they will tell my steady and then that will make trouble."

The dream of every high school and college boy or girl, if they are honest enough to admit, is to be popular. Some, even go so far as to dream of their life as a gay one, whirling from activity to activity in a fantasy of friendship and fellowship. So everyone wants to be popular but few ever attain the dream. And what is this will-o-the-wisp any way? Does any boy or girl who desires it so much take time to analyze popularity? They did they wouldn't crave it so much. Some of the most corrupt men and women were popular. All the dictators of the world were once popular and all of them met a violent death. Movie stars are popular and then they fade into obscurity. Football heroes are popular and when the football season is over they are forgotten. The really great men and women never gave a hoot about being popular. They were far more concerned with accomplishing something worthwhile. If they received adulation they accepted it with humility but if they failed to get it they didn't mind, on someone's shoulder and say they were a failure. The cure for the popularity bug is to become interested in something other than oneself. Real lasting friendship is more desirable than the fickle something called "Popularity."

The thoroughbred horse is once again at Bowling Brook Farm in Middleburg. We rode past the other day and saw some of them in the field. When spring comes and they exercise on the outdoor track it will seem like the clock has turned back to 1928. We are sure there are many people happy to see this turn of events.

There have been so many good things in the past and there will be many bright things in the future that it's hard to lose faith with life.—Ruth Roelke.

FAIRVIEW

FULFILLMENT

Christmas suggests fulfillment. There is, of course, fulfillment of hopes and dreams and plans related to celebration of the big day, but the day itself, or, rather, the event celebrated is significant for the fulfillment of God's purposes.

What God gave the world was what the world desperately needed. Without that gift, life is empty.

A man well supplied with what the world has to offer wrote, "Vanity of vanity, all is vanity." That was long before there was a Christmas. Where all seemed vanity without Christ, all is now attil with the worth of life.

Christmas Day is not a point of time that comes once a year—to many it has not come yet. It is only theirs who find that precious Saviour, who know the living Christ as the gift of God to men.

This great Christmas gift of God is the separate, personal gift of Jesus to a man's own soul. There are many who stand yet on the other side of Bethlehem, and the other side of Christmas. To them Christ has not come. He is only a name—a something vague, uncertain of whom there are many conflicting opinions and various thoughts. And to many thousands He is less than that.

But this is still the Glory of God that He seeks to come into our life as the little child, the beginning of a new and higher life, the revelation of the Father, bringing to the heart, peace and breathing into the soul His own good will to men.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vanfossen entertained in their home on Saturday evening their grandsons, James and Terry Frock, and their nephews and niece, Sonny and Ronny Bell and Sharon Bell.

FLICKINGER—In loving memory of our beloved daughter, ALICE F. GARBER, departed this life one year ago, Dec. 17, 1957.

In my heart a memory is kept of the one I loved and will never forget. You do not know her value. Until you see her empty chair. I can hear that voice say mom, But what was so hard, we had to see you go, but we could not say good-bye.

You were the sun light of our home, Till God took you home. MOTHER and FATHER.

GARBER—In Loving memory of my wife and mother, who passed away 1 year ago, December 17th.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance Just a memory sad and true Just the love and sweet devotion Of one who thinks of you No one knows how much we miss you No one knows the bitter pain. We have suffered since we lost you Life has never been the same. Not dead to us who loved you What we would give to clasp your hand But we know you are in God's keeping In that far and distant land. Loving husband and daughter, JOYCE.

In Loving Memory of my step-sister, MRS. CLARENCE F. GARBER.

Just a memory sad and true Just the love and sweet devotion Of the ones think of you The flowers we placed upon your grave. May wither and decay, But love for you who sleeps beneath. Will never fade away. Loving CHARLES, VICKEY CHUCK.

MEMORY VERSE

What would we give to clasp her hand, Her happy face to see. To hear her voice and see her smile, That meant so much to us. Loving and kind in all her ways, Upright and just to the end of her day. Sincere and true in heart and mind Beautiful memories she left behind. MYNA GARBER.

Sound Spine A Birthright

Do you have a new baby at home, or are you getting ready to welcome one? Solicitous as they are over the health and welfare of the newborn, parents usually fail to take one critical precaution. They neglect to obtain information on the proper care of the infant's spine.

Every baby should have a spinal examination when it is between six and nine months old. Distortions which become more pronounced as the child grows older frequently originate during infancy. And, because of the soft and pliable nature of the bones at that age, deficiencies can be more effectively corrected.

Center of the nervous system, the spine controls the physical condition of the entire body. Some children are slow to walk, slow to talk, lack muscular co-ordination, because of back injuries. Frequently, they improve quickly once treatment is begun.

Spinal distortion is something your child will never "grow out of," and misalignment of the vertebral column will never correct itself. Rather, it renders the victim incapable of fighting off other diseases and afflictions he might otherwise be able to resist.

Your doctor of chiropractic stresses the importance of giving your baby an opportunity to start life with a sound body. It's the best gift he'll ever receive.

MORE ABOUT MY BOYHOOD DAYS—FOR CHRISTMAS (1958)

This is another story about those good, old days When they went by horseback, in buggies and sleighs; It is a story all of the young should know; For, it shows how God pampered us long ago.

The God I worship is just like you and me— (Exactly! like Him, the real you is said to be; These bodies which we all inhabit to-day Are only His temples, and, are made of clay.

So, I thank God daily for my boyhood days When people journeyed in buggies and sleighs; We did not then know Him as we do, to-day; But, He kept a close watch over us, they say.

It seems to me, too, God is like you and me— (In my early youth, that was plain to see!); He put ice on the creeks and snow on the hills To make us joyful, and the give us thrills.

Snow, then, lay on the ground 4 months of the year; It seemed like God sent it boyish hearts to cheer; For, when the hills were no longer white, He patched the bare spots with snow at night.

To the boyish ear, it matters not how the organ swells It cannot equal the jingle of bells; Like a spirited horse he is eager to go; And, share the sport which comes with the snow.

Boys, now living in the city, shall never know Of the many enchantments of long ago; The country boy seemed slow, it is true; But, instinct always told him, how to go.

The Horse and Buggy, many persons say, Changed country life in every way; In every farm yard a buggy would stand; And, gold-mounted harness was the talk of the land.

They had some beautiful horses, in those early days When people traveled in buggies and sleighs; $500 dollars, it took, to buy the rigs In which the boys took the girls to jigs.

Old Dobbin, too, did his best to make things go; But, at times, his tread was slow; As a speedster they say, he seldom reached fame; But, a halo of glory still surrounds his name.

No matter how hard the tempest might blow He was always ready, and, willing to go; And, when the snow or hail hit him on the face He always seemed to increase his pace.

Either by foot or horseback men would wend their way; But, in winter, some chose to go in a sleigh; Old Dobbin would joggle slowly along With one ear to the driver, the other to a song.

"The auto is better, same say, in numerous ways; And goes much faster than buggies or sleighs; But, "we don't get the thrills, many oldsters, now say; That we did when we went the old way".

Just so, people talked; and, some still say; (Especially, those who went the old way!); "We knew when we left and a trip was complete, We would still be alive and on our feet"

In early days Old Taneytown was sometimes slow; So, up to the church we used to go; For a better perspective of the sights to see, We all seemed to favor its great gallery.

But, in December, the Christmas spirit was in the air— (The jingle of bells was heard everywhere!); Skating, sledding, and, parties—galore Were the winter enchantments in days of yore.

When the Christmas holidays drew near Our nights were always full of cheer; But, the picnics and festivals were also grand, And seemed to rejuvenate the land.

Christmas Eve was then the gala night of the year; We all went to the church good tidings to hear; And, to honor Him Who came to earth to dwell, And hear the old story we all loved so well.

The old church when decked with strings of pine To my boyish eyes was a heavenly shrine— Up in front stood two enormous trees Which were loaded down with del-l-ca-cies.

Yes, Christmas Eve was our night for fun— (Delectable viands made glad everyone!); So, our praises ascended to Him on high Who still rules to-day as in days gone by.

By the light of the moon, early, on Christmas day To the Catholic Church we would wind our way To hear similar praises by all who went; So, the whole day was full of merriment.

The church of my boyhood with its steeple high Still points to God as in days gone by; Enchantments which ravish a girl or a boy The fingers of Time can never destroy.

So, in my memory, old Trinity shall always stand Like one of God's pillars in Maryland; She could not boast of a golden dome, But, to the boys, she was a second home.

And, in my dreams of the future, I can see All people, living in peace and harmony; The Brotherhood of man shall grow and expand, And a feeling of love shall compass the land.

So, I predict, men shall some day be More like brothers—(Live in Unity!); For, One God is our Father; and, we all shall roam; Over the fields of His Paradise home.

A gorgeous structure now stands where old Trinity stood; And, from all accounts, is doing much good; She, too, shall be a beacon to light the way Through the jingles of Time to the endless day.

New Accessories Make Parties Easier

The buffet party has been rising in popularity for some years, and this trend seems destined to continue and grow. Guests like them for the relaxed, casual atmosphere they create. They're a great favorite with the hostess because they require only a minimum of fuss, and she has the chance to enjoy her own party.

The recent development of oven-to-table ware in stainless steel is making these parties even more easy and pleasurable to give. Fashioned like fine holloware, these pieces are providing convenient all-in-one vessels in which to cook, serve and even store leftovers in the refrigerator later on. The new designs are available in casserole, covered dish or cooker form and bring with them stainless' famed easy-cleaning features as well as today's top-preference material for cooking ware.

The table above is set for a buffet supper using four elegant new covered casseroles in solid stainless.

Joy

Lesson for December 21, 1955

A MAGAZINE which advertises expensive things — cufflinks for $100 and over, cute little earrings for $500, mens shirts for $15 each — carried once a full-page advertisement with exactly eight words besides the manufacturer's name. It read: "JOY—the most costly perfume in the world."

As an ad for perfume, that was obviously silly. It would appeal only to the kind of person who does not ask, "How good is this?" but "how expensive is it?" You do not raise the quality of your merchandise merely by raising the price.

Dr. Foreman

Nevertheless, as a parable, or a starting-point for meditation, that is worth several minutes' serious thought.

Joy Is Life's Perfume

Perfumery is at the same time one of the most useless and yet most popular things sold. How many thousand gallons of it, will be sold for Christmas presents no one knows. And yet what good is it? A very practical-minded character might ask. All it does is to smell good. Ah, but that is just the point. Let the reader think back over the happiest moments of his or her life. Isn't it true that some sort of fragrance pervades each happy memory? The mint in Grandmother's back yard, the turkey at Thanksgiving, the smell of the Christmas tree, and the spring lilacs, and the perfume she wore the night she said "Yes." An odorless world would be a dull world. It's the pervasive and haunting fragrance of life that lifts it out of the commonplace.

So with joy. Unlike perfume, it has no market value; but like perfume, its usefulness is mainly indirect. As there are cheap and vulgar perfumes, so there are cheap and vulgar joys. But there are rare and exquisite joys too. The same situation, the same relationship, the same duty, the "same old story" can be for one person a drudgery and for another a delight, because one person lacks the joy the other has. Just as literal odors make past moments memorable, so joy makes life's best moments memorable.

Fragrance of Christmas

Christmas is a time of joyous fragrances; but if they are all for the body and none for the soul, we have missed the true fragrance of Christmas. There is a word in the Greek New Testament which, the first time it is used (John 12:3) means literally fragrance — the odor of the precious ointment which Mary poured on Jesus. Four other times it is used figuratively in speaking of the "fragrance" of the Christian life. This and another word (II Cor. 2:15; Eph. 5:2; Phil. 4:18) suggest that the Christian life is more than correct, it is lovely. Beauty is involved with Christianity. The perfume of joy comes to us in the song of the angels, in the song of Mary, in the adoration of the shepherds. Wherever Christ has come, it is as if sour and horrible odors had been replaced by fragrances from beside the River of Life. What are the high days the church celebrates? They are called, and they are, "feasts" or festivals. Christmas and Easter are seasons of joy, not reckless devil-may-care pleasure, which is quite another thing, but joy that links earth to heaven.

Good News of a Great Joy

How stupid and twisted some definitions of religion seem, in the light of the Christmas story! You may detect at least some of the counterfeits passing for Christianity by this, that they are joyless, they are without fragrance. An enemy of Christianity once defined religion as a sum of scruples—in other words, a mess of Don't's. A would-be friend of Christianity defined this religion as "God's attack on man." We should take our cue from the joyous angels, not from such gloomy scholars. Did the angels sing, "You'd better be afraid—we have a whole new list of Don't's!" Did the First Angel shout in a voice of doom: "I come to announce God's attack on man!"—? Christmas is the word of freedom to men in prison, Christmas is the word of joy to a world in sorrow, the coming of a Rescuer to a world that was lost.

MOTOR MALES

Parents, Police Boost Road-e-o

By Jeanne Smith,
Dodge Safety Consultant

RODEOS may be nothing new out West, but a recent "Teenage Road-e-o" in Inglewood, Calif., involving cars instead of horses, gave viewers an entirely new slant on young drivers.

Safety officials, police and parents discovered that youngsters today are taking their driving seriously.

As one parent put it, after witnessing 700 Los Angeles area Explorer Scouts demonstrate their driving skills, "Teenagers today really are being 'taught' to drive as opposed to the haphazard manner in which we 'picked it up.'"

Each of the boys, aged 14 to 18, participated in a driving test supervised by a state driving examiner and competed in a short economy run which demonstrated that careful driving is economical, too. They also took the standard California driver's written examination.

After scoring the tests, an examiner remarked, "These boys really know the motor vehicle code book. Only four per cent failed, and most of the errors were on questions dealing with recent changes in California driving laws."

A California Highway Patrol officer explained his interest in the program this way: "We're eager for any opportunity to work with prospective drivers. We like to get them young—before they have a chance to develop incorrect driving habits or attitudes."

"There's another thing, too," he added. "After we spend the day working with these boys, they realize we're their friends. That's a healthy attitude which helps us tremendously in our work."

We don't have a Big Ben in America, but we do have a lot of BIG BILLS.

Don't let it be said your son is a chip off the old blockhead.

"For better or for worse" doesn't mean for better—or else!

Capsule definition of courtesy: To do and say the kindest thing in the kindest way.

Every introduction is a gangplank to friendship.

To lie down on the job is to invite early retirement.

Behind the wheel is no place for a heel.

It is good to be good-looking, better to be as good as you look.

Color plays a big part in food service. A touch of green—parsley, watercress, raw spinach, adds greatly to all fowl dishes.

Grilled tomatoes give appetite appeal to beef recipes and baked canned peaches dress up lamb and veal. Imperial makes the ideal baster for hot garnishes—adding its own fine flavor to all foods hot or cold.

Add a half cup of chopped almonds to cooked rice which has been tossed generously with Imperial and serve with fowl dishes. A touch of paprika adds color and flavor.

For a gourmet touch to an otherwise plain cream sauce for poached or baked fish, simply add the juice of one lemon—whip it into the sauce—gently reheat and add a handful of tiny shrimp and top with flaked parsley. The sauce, of course, has a base of delicately flavored Imperial.

Try mixing one bar Imperial, ½ teaspoon lime rind, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons lime juice in a mixing bowl and be sure to cream well. Absolutely delicious on all baked, broiled or poached fish.

If you have small pieces of cheese left over—too small to serve, too wasteful to throw away—grate them on the standing grater or in the new hand grater and store in the refrigerator in a covered jar. Use it to top spaghetti, in salad dressings, or in cheese sauces made with a base of Imperial.

Help Fight TB

Buy Christmas Seals

The American Farm Bureau Federation has urged nationwide support of the annual Christmas Seal Sale for the control of tuberculosis. A letter from Charles B. Shuman, President of the Federation, states, "The American Farm Bureau Federation is pleased to support the National Tuberculosis Association and its Christmas Seal Sale."

"The work in combatting tuberculosis made possible by contributions to the Christmas Seal Fund has been of great value to rural people. The task is not completed, and I am sure that farm folks will continue to contribute to this worthwhile activity."

In recent weeks, support of the tuberculosis control and the Christmas Seal Sale has been encouraged by the National Grange and the National Farmers Union.

In Maryland, the Christmas Seal Sale is conducted by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association and its twenty-two county affiliates. Some concern has been expressed by Seal Sale officials because returns have slumped considerably in this year's sale. They have pointed out that the tuberculosis situation is particularly serious in Maryland. The state's case rate is so high that Maryland's ranks fifth in the nation. It ranks seventh among all states in the nation in its tuberculosis death rate. Every year, the number of new cases discovered remains consistently and alarmingly high, officials explained.

Christmas Seal money is used to support chest X-ray and other case-finding programs, health education for patients and professional workers, medical research, rehabilitation and other special, personal services to patients. Seventy-three per cent of the money raised during the Seal Sale campaign remains in Carroll County Tuberculosis Association, twenty-one per cent is sent to Maryland Tuberculosis Association and six per cent is sent to the National Tuberculosis Association. This year's Christmas Seal Sale will last until Christmas Day.

Cards reminding Carroll Countians to send in their contributions for the Christmas Seals they received last month were mailed out today by the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association.

"The raising of funds is not the sole purpose of the annual Christmas Seal Sale, Robert Miller, Seal Sale chairman for Carroll County, said. "The Christmas Seal letter carries into every home the facts about TB and the message that TB is everybody's problem."

Optimism over recent reports concerning the discovery of an anti-tuberculosis vaccine in North Carolina must be limited, it was stated today by Frank T. Jones, Executive Director of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association. Mr. Jones was commenting on a project conducted by research scientists in Chapel Hill. The researches have been experimenting with a new vaccine called RIRV and have indicated that it is safe and reasonably effective.

"However, Mr. Jones stated, "The number of people vaccinated has not been sufficient nor has sufficient time elapsed for the vaccine to be evaluated. We do not know at present whether it is as good or better than any other vaccine. Encouraging as this news is, it is absolutely wrong to say there is an anti-tuberculosis vaccine. A minimum of six more years of research may prove something; or it may not."

"In any case", Mr. Jones continued, "the important thing right now is to remind everybody that this research is supported by the annual sale of Christmas Seals. People in every state that are buying Christmas Seals are thereby paying for these projects."

The setback is that there aren't enough people buying Christmas Seals. Our campaign is already lagging behind last year's campaign. Just as with everything else, you might say the price of research has gone up. We need money for our projects going on right here in Baltimore. Among these are the air pollution project at the Veterans Administration Hospital. There's also the educational program at John Hopkins Hospital. There qualified hospital personnel are learning more about tuberculosis. And we give grants to doctors and nurses so they may attend tuberculosis educational projects in other states. If our Christmas Seal Sale goes down, our help in the fight against TB goes down, too. We have from now until Christmas to convince people that they should buy and use Christmas Seals. We need everybody's help."

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

For several years the Salvation Army has served Carroll County's needy people. The hungry, the cold, those who have suffered loss in fire, and others who need assistance have quickly received food, clothing, fuel, transportation upon the recommendation of the several voluntary "welfare secretaries" who live in various parts of the county.

During the past two years the needs have been greater than funds in the local treasury could finance. This year the county committee, assisted by the Maryland Division of the Salvation Army, is soliciting householders and business firms by mail, trusting that the response will be generous to the extent that victims of emergencies, transients, unwed mothers, and others who depend upon the Salvation Army can be cared for in 1958-59. Contributions will also help to finance the state, national, and international programs of this vital organization.

When the mail man brings you the Salvation Army appeal letter, won't you respond generously? All contributions should be sent to William B. Yingling, treasurer, in Westminster. As you give, make this motto yours: "With heart to God and hand to Man."

SOCIAL SECURITY FOR FARMERS

Farmers are reminded that the cash wages of most farm employees must be reported for social security purposes by January 31, 1959, according to Mr. Laurie Gillespie, Field Representative of the Baltimore (North) social security district office.

These wages must be reported if the farm worker was employed by the employer for twenty days or more in 1958 and was paid on a time basis—that is, by the hour, day, week, etc.; or, if the employee was paid $150 in cash by the employer in 1958, regardless of the days of work. Mr. Gillespie stated further that the social security tax for 1958 is 4½ per cent of the wages, 2½ per cent to be paid by the employer. This applies to earnings up to $4,200 in the year. The tax must be paid to the Director of Internal Revenue.

Taxes on wages paid in 1959 will be slightly larger: the employer will deduct 2½ per cent from the employee's wages and pay a similar amount himself. After 1958, earnings up to $4,800 in a year are taxable for social security purposes.

MARRIED 60 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ohler, who are spending the winter in Eaton, Ohio, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. Their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Geisbert, entertained in their honor with an open house on Dec. 1st. About 60 friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ohler called during the evening to extend their congratulations, and to present them with many lovely gifts of flowers, candy and many other lovely things. They also were wired flowers from their daughter and her family. Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Shoemaker and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Strickhouser and family who reside near Taneytown. They received phone calls from Mrs. Shoemaker and Mrs. Ohler's sister, Mrs. Mary Shorb, also from their grandson, Ronald Geisbert, who is with the Army Medical Corps, in Fort Sam Houston, Texas. They also received about one hundred congratulatory cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Ohler were married in Taneytown, Md., on Dec. 1, 1898, at the home of Mrs. Ohler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Shriner. Their attendants were her sister, Minnie, and Herbert Winter. They have resided in or near Taneytown all of their married life. Both Mr. and Mrs. Ohler are enjoying fairly good health. Mrs. Ohler was 80 years old on Dec. 1st, and Mr. Ohler will be 84 years old on April 7th.

The Geisbert home was decorated in pastel shades of pink and green. The table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a bride and groom. The table flowers were pink and green carnations, a gift to the Ohlers by two of Mrs. Geisbert's friends, Mrs. Ruby Woodring presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Martha Calloway served the cake. Ice cream with wedding bells and coffee were also served by Mrs. Cecil Albright and Mrs. Hubert Keller.

It has been aptly put that an optimist sees the doughnut, the pessimist, the hole.

CARROLL COUNTY HISTORICAL HOME DECORATED FOR CHRISTMAS

The annual Christmas decorations of the home of the Historical Society of Carroll County by the Carroll Garden Club will feature the 19th century period in keeping with the age of the house.

An added attraction this year is an exhibit of 63 pieces of copper Lustre from Mrs. Frederick Leister's 850 piece collection. Mrs. Leister is the former Miss Pauline Eppley from Union Bridge, but now of Upperco. Among the pieces exhibited will be found historical subjects, surrender of Cornwallis, Gen. Andrew Jackson at New Orleans. Raised flower, fruit and animal designs, resists, transfers, pair of unusual Wedgewood candlesticks, and a rare whale oil lamp. This exhibit is in the Gov. Brown room. Miss Gertrude Mencken has a case in the great room showing a lovely Spanish lace scarf and large Spanish fan, a French embroidered shawl with fans of feathers, lace, ivory, satin and handpainted designs. Indoor shutters which originally were hung in the windows of the second floor have been moved to the great room on the first floor and add much charm to the attractive old house.
