HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

No PTA meeting will be held at Taneytown High School during the month of January. Plans for the next regular meeting on February 9, 1959 are under the direction of the Student Council which is sponsored by Mrs. Virginia Sanders. The program will be in the form of an original one-act play based on problems and understandings between teenagers and their parents.

The Maryland State Dept. of Education has announced that 152 five hundred dollar scholarships are available to high school seniors and graduates of previous years who wish to prepare themselves for the teaching profession. The competitive examinations will be administered under the direction of the Department of Education on Saturday, February 7, 1959 in Westminster. Awards will be based upon the results of this examination.

The applicant must be a resident of the state of Maryland and must enroll in one of thirteen non-public eligible institutions whose teacher education curriculums are approved by the State Department of Education. GOVERNOR MCKELDIN

"How Maryland Met the Challenge of the 1950's

The Controversial Book "The Governor Reports: 1951-1958" that was recently published contains many interesting and unknown (unknown to many Marylanders) facts concerning the progress and activities of the State of Maryland.

Controversial as to the cost of publishing and questioned as to its purpose whether it was for the purpose of enlightening the people of Maryland of the "progress" made in the State in the years 1951-1958 or was it purely Political chicanery of a person aspiring for public office.

Whatever was the purpose of publishing a book of this type, there will be no demial that Maryland has made progress in the past seven years. Some of the progress may have been costly and the method to attain such progress may have been unwise but a careful analysis will show that progress has been made in many fields and departments.

A Forward in the book, by Theodore R. McKelden, Governor, is as follows:

JAYCEES WILL HOLD ANNUAL

Bosses Night, the annual banquet meeting of the members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and their employers, will be in Taney Inn, Jan. 22, 1959, at 6:30 p. m., according to J. Robert Waddell, Taneytown Jaycee

BANQUET MEETING

A high point of the evening will be the announcement of Taneytown's outstanding young man for the year. A committee, headed by James Fair, is canvassing this community to determine which young man—21 through 35—has contributed the most to the community during the year.

Bosses' Night is an annual feature of Junior Chambers throughout the nation. It is dedicated to the bosses who support the Jaycees and recognize the value of the organization. Arthur Garvin, Jr., chairman of Bosses' Night, said that the speaker for the event will be Grouver C. Gouker, Jr., Vice-President of the United States Jaycees.

Serviceman's Wife Describes Traveling Experiences

Chasseneuil Vienne, 6:30 P. M. Poitiers Time Dec. 10, 1958.

Dear Mrs. Nulton: Mother said you wanted me to write an account of my trip since leaving Taneytown and I hope this won't tire you. I assure you I have had lots of new experiences and I can hardly believe it isn't a dream. So much has happened in three months.

Mother, Daddy and Arlene took Arthur and me to Fort Hamilton, N.
Y., on Sunday night, Sept. 7 where I picked up my passport on Monday and went by army bus to the Idlewild Airport with 85 other passengers who were leaving for overseas to be with their families in U. S. service. We left Idlewild Airport on Sept. 8 about 9:10 P M. by National Airlines and landed at Gander, Newfoundland, after a rather rough trip in a rain-storm. I was glad Arthur slept for was a little airsick. We got off the plane and the fresh air made me feel much better. At 2 a. m. Tuesday morning we were on our way again and had a most delightful trip to Shannon Airport in Ireland. Arthur slept the whole way across the At-lantic—Ireland looked beautiful from the air, like blocks of colored cement. Each field is divided by bushes or hedge. It was raining again while we made one hour's stop in Ireland. Then we had a three-hour hop into France and landed at Orly Field, Paris where Reese had been waiting Hotel on Tuesday evening, Daddy's birthday. Did a little sightseeing, saw the Eiffel Tower, and Napoleon's Tomb but had to be on our way. There seems to be no traffic regulations or speed limit in Paris and drive with parking lights-I'd never try it. We found good roads to our new home at Chasseneuil which we rent from Monseiur and Madame Marcal, a very fine couple. We have four rooms and bath, attic and cellar; also a garage. So we are really fortunate, I never saw so many flowers. They are beautiful and everywhere even on lamp posts, always arranged in pretty designs. Whenever there is a flowers. There are bicycles everywhere and they have right-of-way. The French bread is better than that in the States and everyone carries it unwrapped. Guess that is what makes it taste so good! I have always heard how the French drink wine. They drink it for breakfast like we do coffee and use it in their cooking. We can get plenty of milk at the commissary and can buy water (vittal) in bottles for a guestor. The Fernice of the state of the side. Sometimes Arthur would be getting quite low in his play clothes. We have had so much rain here this fall it was hard to get clothes dry.

The schools here opened Oct. 1, but I haven't heard when they close. This is a very nice little town with a rou-ulation of 1645—only one Catholic visit there and on one of church, we take Arthur to Sunday there is a painting of him. followed by delicious refreshments School at the Army Base and have services there also.

I had to take a test to get a driver's license for France. I had an 80 question test, an eye examination and also a road sign test, besides my own driver's license for Maryland.

In October I had my first experience with a road block, when coming home after a nice evening of playing bingo we were flagged down by flashing red lights and could see the white arm bands and the white bands on the hats of the gendaimes. Of course, when they saw we were Americans and not Algerians they let us go on. Reese knew what to expect but it scared me.

As Reese was sent to a five weeks school in Murnan, Germany, Arthur and I packed some clothes and went along. We left Chassneuil on Oct. 29 early in the morning and drove until 7 P. M. only made three stops for gas and eats. We took milk for Arthur in our thermos jug for while milk is pasteurized it is not always refrigerated. The water in large cities is chlorinated but not always in the villages. We ate and bought our gas at Army Bases and Quartermaster Authorized Stations. Gas is still ra-tioned, an allowance of 400 liters per month which is ample. If you look at the Atlas you can follow our trip through France—from Poitiers to Chateuroux, Bourges, Montargis, Troyes, Nancy crossing the border at Saarbucken. Here they checked the registration of the car. We stopped the first night at Kaiserlautein, Germany. While eating at the Snack Bar we met Dr. Ransone, one of our Walter Reed doctors. Continuing on our way the next morning we stopped at Frankfurt to see Dr. Jahnke whom job so well that you can do it in I worked for at Walter Reed. From sleep is that you can start do there on we did sightseeing going that way. — CHANGING

MEETING OF LADIES' AID SOCIE-TY ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

The Ladies Aid Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church Harney, held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, January 6.

The meeting was opened by singing two songs, "Bring Them In", and "I think When I Read that Sweet Story". Mrs. Charles Bridinger read Psalm 1 for the scripture followed with prayer by Mrs. John H. Harner. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, followed by roll-call with 12 members present. Mrs. Reifsnider thanked the committees who had charge of the Christmas party. Mrs. George Marshall gave a report of the banquet served December 4. The bill was presented for the aluminum kettles and ordered paid.

The program for the evening was, a solo "Somebody Bigger than you and I", by Miss Mary Katherine Shildt accompanied on the piano by Mr. John S. Harner. A singing dialogue, "A Deaf Woman's Courtship", by Elaine Bowers and Darlene Shaffer, Charles and Robert Fream played several selections on the guitar and mandolin, "In the Sweet by and by", "Over the Waves", and "Mocking

We had our first dinner at a Paris

We had our first dinner at a Paris women holding the plows. The second night we stayed at Nurnberg and night we stayed at Nurnberg and arrived at Garmisch around noon on Friday. This is a beautiful place, a Recreation and Leave Center of Europe. No wonder Mrs. Hitchcock liked it here. We stayed at the Green Arrow Inn in Garmisch for the five weeks of school. From our window we could see the snow covered mounts. we could see the snow covered mountains, the Bavarian Alps, where many come to ski. Reese bought himself and Arthur Bavarian hats, I have a beautiful leather handbag and made woolen hat, a Bavarian China > coffee set. Over a week-end we took the trip up the Zugstpitze. Quite a trip, very went with us to see the Lindeshof Castables and not expensive not much the high in the mountains. The inside selection on meats though, they even wood-work is gold plated and has magnificent decorations. The chandeliers were beautiful and each candle had to be lit each time. The bedroom was fantastic and the bed had an altar built around it. The dining room was very pretty as King Ludwig finished each course, the table could be lowered into the kitchen for the next course to be put on, I never saw such marble, Bavarian, Persian, Russian, etc. and all of it just priceless.

We also visited the Castle Hohenschwangan. It is not nearly as beautiful as Linderhof but there was lots of money involved. Tell Miss Hazel Hess I saw the piano that Wagner played on and also his bedroom. From the second floor windows there were beautiful views of the Austrian mountains. This castle had a chapel on each floor. Martin Luther used to visit there and on one of the walls

The mountains are all so beautiful they have to be seen to be appreciated, words can not express their beauty and grandeur, my five weeks at Garmisch were very pleasant ones. As Reese completed his training at 11 A. M. on Nov. 26 we left after lunch to return home. We went to Munich and took the Auto-bahm (turnpike) as far as Ulm where we stayed with some friends all night. It was very foggy and by morning the trees were covered with ice but the roads had been graveled. Driving conditions improved when we got away from the mountains. We crossed from Germany into France at Strasburg and stayed in Toul on Thanks-giving night. We arrived here in Chasseneuil on Friday about 5 p. m., welcomed back by Janine Marcal with kisses and French. Arthur travels well and this trip he didn't do too much sleeping. He's afraid he'll miss something.

Now we are back to our normal routine again and find the weather much warmer than you are having in the States. Reese has a fire going in the fireplace and it keeps us quit comfortable. Arthur is tired and ready to put his bunny to bed, so hoping everyone there in Tanevtown is well and happy and able to enjoy the joyous Christmas season. I am

YOU PAY FOR PENSIONS

If your first 1959 pay check is less than it was in January 1958—and it is if you are covered by the federal social security system-don't blame it on the boss. He is getting nicked, too.

The last Congress raised the benefits payable from the Social Security tax. The decrease in your 1959 pay checks is the deduction for this tax, which is up from 21/4 to 21/2 per

If your salary is above $4200. the deduction will go on longer-because now the tax applies to $4800 of salary, instead of $4200 as hitherto.

In future years, you are due for still more pay check deductions. The social security tax is scheduled to rise again in 1960, 1966 and 1969 until you are paying 4½ per cent of your salary (up to $4800 unless the wage base is raised even more).

Congress periodically (especially in election years) is generous about expanding social security benefits. But Congress isn't giving anything away. Every benefit has to be paid for. And it is paid for by taxing your salary-and likewise taxing your employer. He must match, from his own till, the amount deducted from your salary for social security.

So regardless of any political ballyloo about how liberal Congress is, the money comes from you and your boss .- New York World, Telegram & Sun.

the inadequacy of Maryland roads.
In the broad fields of public health, in Maryland as in other States, there had been an awakening to the almost medieval stagnation in our treatment of the mentally ill. and State officials were responding to the public clamor for improvement. A good start had been made on better housing and physical treatment of patients. but much more was needed and new methods of treatment and research and much of the plant to accommodate them awaited accomplishment. The good chronic disease program in which Maryland had pioneered had bogged down. Authorization for the State to engage in the systematic study and treatment of alcoholism had been written into law and forgotten.

The panel system reached out in a vain effort to grasp a hard hold on the fast moving century.

On January 10, 1951, as a newly inaugurated Governor I promised to approach the problem of government al obsolescence by giving "effect now to the mandate of the 1947 Legisla ture for the appointment of a commission on the reorganization of th State Government and its Depart

A major objective, I said, "would e . . . to improve the State's fisc-

In the same inaugural address, I promised: "An Advisory Council on Highway Construction . . . to review romptly the State's road building

The humane duty we owe to the mentally sick, the tubercular and the chronically ill, the aged and the indigent in-all recognized categories, I told my inaugural audience, "must continue as a compelling obligation of the State"

From time to time, other study commissions were appointed to re-port to me and to the General Assemly-one that revised the formula under which the State bears its share of teachers' salaries, resulting in general increases—one which continues active devising improvements in many areas of the government.

Meanwhile, we have proceeded with the constant improvement of our physical plant—our University, our State Colleges, our Training Schools and our Hospitals.

We have built and are occupying a new State Office Building in Annapolis, Md., and, as this is written another is provided to the state of the other is nearing completion in Baltimore. The latter will bring together under one roof most of the longscattered departments of the State Government which have been occupying expensive rented space throughut the City.

Entirely aside from the long-range roads program was our plan-ning and building of the tunnel under

Baltimore harbor, a major step in relieving the awful traffic congestion in Baltimore's rush hours.

Indeed, the loyal men and women throughout the State Government have been in step with the times and the progress of the future, and accomplishment has been the rule in all departments.

Noting the approach to the close of my second term—the limit allowed under our constitution—I called upon each Department and Agenc head to render a concise report to me, so that I could report to you—the taxpayers of Maryland.

This is in recognition of your right to know what your tax dollars have bought. It should serve, too, to make you aware that progress is a continuing thing—that in the course of gov ernment, there is no resting place.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

January 2, 1959

This is the first time we have written a date-line for the New Year, and the numerals 1-9-5-9 seem to come more easily and naturally out of the tyep-writer than did the expender 1-9-5-8 twelve months

We hope this is highly significant -that you have, perhaps, had the same feeling of relative ease and confidence—and that whatever mystic force these digits may have is all to the good. After what we have seen of the efforts of statesmen in 1958 to solve domestic problems, ease internal tensions, protect our traditional freedoms live on our tax income; and of their fumbling of the mighty, global issues that must ultimately add up to freedom or slav-ery for the whole world. we might just as well take what comfort we can from carrying a rabbit's foot or a horst chestnut (buckeye?). wishing on the first star—which might turn out to be a satellite, of course, and picking up pins.

For happier anticipations we can turn to the business side of lifein-1959. With the recession receding in the closing months of 1958, the New Year enters on the upgrade with all the signs pointing to steady climb (no boom) in indusa steady climb (no boom) in industrial and consumer production, in hom building and in gricultural income—with some basis for believing inflation has been slowed to no more than a fast walk.

All of which suggests that, on belance our businesses balance, our businessmen may have done a better job than our politicos —and that, in turn, our politicos might be more effective if those businessmen were to give more earnest attention to who is doing what at the statehouse and the Capitol and who should be nominated and elected, and how.

In other words, a happier New

FEESERSBURG (A voice from Carroll)

Although 1959 is just a few days old many people are predicting a bright and hopeful year ahead. Already is has been pretty eventful. The Davis cup is once more back in the United States; the Cuban revolution has ended with the popular rebel leader least enough of both that lift victorious; the Russians have sent a worth while. — Ruth Roelke rocket out to circle the sun and Alaska joined the other States of the Union. What more could one ask from a brand new Year? Yes, it promises to Date Clearance: be an exciting year. But what about 1958? Will it be remembered and for what? It may well go down in history as the year hula hoops had every one in a whirl or it may be remembered for the year the American motorists decided to return to smaller cars that could make thirty miles on a gallon of gas or the year that women lost their heads and returned to the styles of the twenties or the year the Colts gave football fans their most thrilling moments. Taking everything into account the past year wasn't too bad. Some people didn't have jobs; the cost of everything kept creeping up and up and taxes with them and the Unitguess and out maneuver each other paign.

The flower committee for the form of the paign. ed States and Russia tried to out them. So it looks like each year brings happiness and headaches and without fear of losing our prestige as a prophet we think the new year will bring the same. A very exciting year

We took our Christmas decorations down today with mixed feelings. It was a nice holiday but still it did not seem like Christmas. So many people have expressed the same thought. Christmas is no longer the same anymore because we are no longer children. One must believe in the fantasy of Christmas to get the fullest enjoy ment and there is no way for an adult to become a child again. Adults can give each other gifts and go through the various rituals but the glow and excitement belong only to the child-ren. And even for children this makebelieve span is getting shorter and shorter for due to television and older children they soon learn the truth about Santa. Children need fantasy and fairy tales, for they live in a per-iod of "pretending", which lasts until the years for growing up creep up on them and they put away their fairy tales forever. Often as adults they will remember those happy times and it will bring some consolation in time of trouble to recall the carefree years of make-believe.

Mrs. Smith was going about her housework the week after Christman bara Ohler, daughter of Mrs. Virgie when she heard her four year old san Ohler, of Keysville. when she heard her four year old son using some profanity that only a sailor should use. She was shocked and asked her offspring where he had asked her offspring where he had picked up such words. He shocked her even more when he said. "That's ler is also at the Austin home. what I heard Santa say when he was broke the lights.'

Time magazine has named Charles he was the man of the year but we In our opinion the man of the year is Mr. Average Citizen of any country. If you think about it for awhile he is a pretty wonderful guy. He has a job if he is lucky and works at it five days a week or more. He has a family and supports them to the best of his ability. He works hard to educate his children and make worth while citizens of them. He is at the mercy of his boss, his wife and his government. His. wants are few; bowing once a week and a few cigarettes is about all he desires. In exchange he provides a home for his wife and children and a car, taxes to keep the government in operation and a fair days work for his boss. He helps out | in his community with Boy Scouts, the church and the P.T.A. He respects the laws of the land and his neighbors rights. He is a solid Joe and a nice guy to have on your side anytime. He thousands like him make any country worth living in and if it weren't for him there would be no men of the year anywhere.

If a man wants to make a good investment he should take unto himself a wife. Someone has figured up that in actual work she puts in each week a wife is worth $193.95 to her husband, every week of the year.

One of the traditional customs of the Christmas season is calling on friends and neighbors and enjoying their hospitality. It is impromptuvisiting and its loads of fun for all One can even drop in at breakfast time and enion a cup of coffee. Formal entertaining is nice but its the unexpected guests that gives one the most enjoyment. We had those kind of guests this morning. The brakfast dishes were still on the table the house undusted and we were in a state of indecision of what to do with the rest of the day when friends from out of no where, came in. We hadn't seen them for so long that we spent the rest of the day catching up on the news about each other. There is something about the holiday that encourages this sort of

For the school and college crowd the fun was over Monday when they returned to books and classroom. Not all students were unhappy about returning to classes, for some were eager to get back, maybe not so much to work as to see their classmates. We have a new National flag. The flag has been changed 26 times since 1777 when the first one was authorized by the Continental Congress. The flag started out with thirteen stripes but in 1794 they were increased to fifteen. Then in 1818 the stripes were changed back to thirteen. The same year it was decided to add a new star or each State added to the Union With the new flag the interest of each American should be arroused to the extent that they will read up on the history of our flag. For instance each State has its own particular star. Maryland is the seventh star; the last one to the right in the top row. The first star is Delaware, and of course the last one is Alaska. The present flags may be used until they are worn

On New Years Day every time one turned around someone was saying: "Happy New Year". This expression used so often means scarsely anything and it costs nothing to say but never-the-less its our sincere wish that each of you do have a year filled with happiness and achievement. At least enough of both that life seems

In passing through Taneytown early on Sunday evening we stopped for the red light. I noticed the big clock on the hotel which seems to stay at the same time all the time. I was informed it did not run. What a fooler for travelers, some of which, perhaps, have no timepiece. I believe the clock shows twelve thirty five or forty. I think it makes a town more friendly and inviting. Also when shopping, how nice it would be to look up and see the correct time and say, well, its not as late as I thought it was, I can do more shopping. Or on the other hand it may be later than you think. Then it would give you a chance to get home and have the meal ready for your family. Perhaps I am wrong in thinking the town should have a clock, but Taneytown is a beautiful town with lovely surroundings and should be proud to have a town clock with correct time.

All the Way,

Lesson for January 11, 1959

Last WEEK's study was about a miracle that happened; this week the story is about a miracle that didn't happen. This miracle—if it had happened—would have been more astonishing than the successful one. It would have been spectacular, the whole country spectacular, the would have been talking about it. The big news would have been that a rich man had become a poor man, not by losing his money or getting it stolen, but just by giving it away, everything Dr. Foreman he had. But the news-behind-the news would have been the real miracle. It would have meant the absolute changing of a man's mind. What would have to happen to the rich man's mind would be far more of a wonder than what happened to his property—and more important too.

Leave All

But those are all only if's, Mighthave-been's or Would-have-beens. The fact is, the rich man did not change his mind, he held on to what he had. He wasn't happy about it at all; "he went away in great distress" as one modern translation puts it. And Jesus, who watched him go, must have felt an even deeper regret, for Jesus loved the man. It is not easy to see some one you love choose the road to darkness rather than light.

The young man—for 1: was young and influential as well as rich—had asked Jesus what he ought to 6, to "inherit eternal life." That was his way of asking the question that comes in many forms: How shall I get right with God? How shall I be saved? How can I find his meaning and live by it? Where is the road to Light? How can I shall my highest destine?

The young man's friends might have thought that question needless; for he was an extraordinarily good young man. He told Jesus, and Jesus did not doubt him, that he had been keeping the Ten Commandments ever since he could remember. But Jesus said, "You lack one thing." Only one—but what a terrific one thing! Get rid of all you own, Jesus said, give it to the poor; then come follow me.

Follow Me

Perhaps the young man did not hear that last sentence. All he could hear was "leave all." He made a mistake that is made to this very day by people who shy away from being Christians. There ic a Christian now an old man, who for more than the first sixty years of his life refused to be a Christian. He resisted all that members of his family could say to him. His reason was at least an honest one. He know that the way he made his richay-or to be more precise, he innew that the way he tried to make money—namely by gambling, was not a Christian way of living. He was not going to pretend to be a Christian and a gambler too. His trouble was that in his mind being a Christian was chiefly not doing something he very much enjoyed doing, at the racetrack or over the green tables in a club room. As long as you think of the Christian life as a giving-up, a cutting-out of some habit or possession that you cherish, you never do get the right slant. The heart of the Christian life, what makes it worth while, is in that "Follow me."

Major Operation

Would Jesus say to every one, "Sell all you have and give to the poor"? Is it out of the question for a man or woman with money to "inherit eternal life"? Is money something evil in itself? This could hardly be true, otherwise Jesus would not have said to give it to the poor, but to throw it in the lake. Jesus counted among his friends many persons with property, and this was the only man he ever advised to get rid of every bit of it. It is very likely that money was a kind of baby tiger for this young man—harmless enough at first but destined to turn into a roaring killer. Two men may have the same disease; a major operation may be the only cure for one of them. The main point is: Get rid of whatever keeps you from going all the way with Christ.

(Eased on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Ceuncil of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. Released by Community Press Service.) GOD AND THE REAL YOU

This poem tells who you are; and, what you shall be At the end of time; and, through all Eternity; So, read with care; and, study God's plan—
To make of you a perfect woman or man.

Jesus came to tell us death is not the end When, a few short years on earth, we spend; "Take up the cross", said He, "and, follow me" On your journey from Time to Eternity.

God sends us here to build for ourselves a home—
(A perfect body in which to roam);
As face answers to face in a glass is the way
Our two bodies must be in the endless day.

That this is a mental world few of us know—
(That is why so many drugs act slow!);
So, always listen they say, to the real you;
It is he who tells us all how to do.

Jesus knew what I say is true the Scriptures say; So, He put it in practice day after day; And, that is something we, too, must do, To have a physical body like the real you.

Our physical bodies are only temples of clay, In which God dwells, with us, from day to day; Just so, things are, every place we go— (God lives in all His creations here below).

Everything on earth, they tell us, which you see;
The physical body of God, is said to be;
Without Him, nothing that is would you see
Not even the earth a flower, or a tree.

God is the seed in everything you see—
(We see Him in the apple and peach on the tree);
I am telling this because I want you to know
That "God is All in All down here below.

The Chemist can make a grain of wheat, Which looks like the ones we daily eat; But, if you plant it, it will not grow; For, God is not in it, to make it do so.

God is not External; but, within us, they say;
That is where He is known to stay;
And, that is where His Kingdom is said to be;
For, He rules all the earth through you and me.

In these physical bodies in which we dwell We learn the secret, of heaven and hell; The ones who create them are you and me, Since, the devil, the 5 senses, are said to be.

It took 1600 years to write the Bible, they say;
For it tells about God; and, how to go His way;
But, we listen to men, and, do as men say—
(That is why things are as we find them today).

God gave us the Bible to teach us His way—
(He also sends us here in bodies of clay)
In that way we come to learn of His plan—
To make the whole earth a heaven for man.

Why then, does mortal man want his way?
God did what He did to teach us, they say;
He sends us here ,too ,to help with His plan,
To make earth the Paradise home of man.

The God I worship is every where found—(Both in the air and on the ground);
Without Him, no fairyland would ever be
To serve as the future home of you and me.

The Bible tells us that we are God's hands—
(Through us, He carries out all of His plans);
We, too, are Spirit beings ,the Scriptures say;
But God gave us bodies to teach us His way.

God is not a will-o-the whisp as some say
He is exacting like the real you in every way,
So, He sends us all here to help with this plan
And to teach us the brotherhood of man.

When mortal man is perfect he shall be Like Jesus, who once lived in Galilee; God sent Him here to tell of His plan To make the whole earth a heaven for man.

"Mortal man is far from perfect", you say;
That is true!—(We see it on earth each day);
But, here God teaches us the secrets of His plan;
And here He trains you to be a model man.

God has many bodies, which we daily see;
But, none can equal the body of you and me;
It is true, our bodies are still in embryo;
But, in them, God tells us how to go.

Jesus said; "God is Spirit"—(not a Being like man)
He only gave us bodies to carry out His plan;
In them His Kingdom is said to be;
So He rules all the earth through you and me.

God sends us all here to learn of His plan And to make of you a perfect man; He gave you "free will" to train you to be "A god among gods" in Eternity.

Your body is God's body now, and always shall be; In it, He makes His abode with you and me; We are His eyes, ears, feet and hands; So, through us, He carries out all of His plan.

Take God out of any body, and, what do you see?
Physiologs says; "A very little me";
Nine-tenths of me is water and bone;
So, God would be standing there alone.

That our body is God's Holy Temple we must agree,
For, He dwells in it, with you and me;
That truth we all shall some day know
When we learn who we are and how to go.

Here, too, is something you shall know—
(It is God who tell, us all how to go;
So, until we do as He says, the Savant, says;

"The heaven we seek is far, far away".

At so-called death man does not go to find rest,
(Death is only a part of Eternity, test)
So, when you go, your God goes too;
For He, it is said, is the life of you.

As I understand it, death in part of God's plan
To make of you a perfect woman or man;
So, reincarnation is the only way
To prepare to live in the endless day.

The tree which stands in the storm alone;
Must train its roots to encounter its wrath parts;
So, man must prepare in every way
To weather storms of a "Thousand year Day".

A singled lifespan too short would be To prepare to live through Eternity; So, back to earth, we must return; It is here the fires of hell still burn.

The real you, it is said, knows everything;
But, to his physical body false doctrine, still cling;
So, all who came to visit this earth,
Should brand them as lies from their day of birth.

We behold God in the plant and the rose (His is the physical body, of everything which grows; Everything we see on this green earth, Because of Him, has had its birth.

When we learn this world of toil and strife, Our God goes with us; for, He is our Life; A content friend and companion is He And, with Him, we shall spend Eternity.

The resurrection of the body shall not take place
In a dead body of any race;
In a living body, one must surely be
To prepare to live through Eternity.

Perfection is man's goal; and, perfect he must be, (From mandone teachings he must flee); Like Pilate, he must wash his hands
When forced to do what earth demands.
