Easter Egg Hunt Success

The annual Easter Egg hunt sponsored and conducted by Hesson-Snyder Post #120, The American Legion, was held at Taneytown Recreational Park on Easter Sunday at 2:00 p.m.

This was one of the best attended hunts ever held in Taneytown with approximately 150 children participating. 36 dozen regular colored eggs and 55 prize eggs were used. The prize eggs bore a number which corresponded with numbered prizes which were given to finders of the numbered eggs. The exuberance manifested by children at an affair of this kind was certainly in evidence. A few children left the hunt empty handed but, for the most part, there were happy smiles everywhere indicating their quest for eggs had been satisfied.

After the egg hunt was concluded three live rabbits and two Bantam roosters were released, one at a time, and became the possession of the child who caught it after a chase en masse, by designated groups.

One rabbit was released for the 1 to 5 group. This rabbit did not move from the spot and became the pet of the fleetest child in the group. The same was true for the 5 to 8 age group. However, the rabbit released for the 9 to 12 age group created plenty of excitement. Upon being released he calmly commenced nibbling grass. However, moments later he became aware of a thundering horde of children bearing down on him with a determination that would give start to a 1600 lb. Kodiak bear. He took off like the proverbial scared rabbit, turning, doubling back, sidestepping, swerving, stopping suddenly, or evidencing bursts of lightning speed when the situation demanded with all the adroitness of a broken field football runner. However, he was finally snared by a young man who also employed football tactics in the form of a flying tackle.

The first bantam was released for all the girls present. This event probably created more excitement than everything else combined. He proved to possess more fleetness of foot than a Mexican Quail, only taking to the air occasionally. He circled the park several times with some 35 girls in hot pursuit. He took them through one of the shelters, under parked cars, over the Firemen's Carnival grounds, up a roadway, and was finally brought to bay and captured on a door canopy at a home immediately adjacent to the Reformed Cemetery.

The second bantam, released for the boys, provided an exciting chase, but was caught in much shorter time and covered considerably less ground than the first.

Several parents present were equipped with cameras, both movie and still. Some very lively action was undoubtedly recorded on movie film, while the action certainly was not completely lost to the still cameras. The Legion Post wishes to sincerely thank everyone who contributed in any way to the success of this venture. We are looking forward to a bigger and better hunt next year.

SEN. WEANT'S LETTER FROM ANNAPOLIS

Reports Recommendations for Reduction in Budget

Of major importance this week was the report of the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee on the Budget Bill. This committee made recommendations for several substantial reductions in the proposed Budget.

A reduction totalling $1,447,075.00 was made possible by virtue of re-evaluation of the requirements for social security for 1959 and 1960. Expenditure for this purpose has been affected by recent revisions in the Federal Social Security Laws. Pursuant to a recommendation made by the State Comptroller to the joint committee, a reduction of $17,442.00 in the sales tax administration program was made to reflect savings that will be effected when the Comptroller's Baltimore office moves to the new State Office Building. A reduction of $22,000.00 was made to reflect legislative disapproval of a purchase of a helicopter to be used by the Civil Defense Agency and the Maryland State Police. A reduction of $60,000.00 was made to reflect disapproval of the proposed purchase of a new aircraft by the Department of Tidewater Fisheries. An $11,010.00 reduction was made reflecting disapproval of proposed new positions of psychologist and advisor in the Preventive Medical Services. A reduction of $141,960.00 was made in the request for general local health services, in order to eliminate State matching of local public health expenditures in excess of the minimum budget as provided in the program and performance statement. A $50,000.00 request for "appropriations to be allocated" in the University of Maryland Budget was disallowed. A $40,000.00 reduction was made in the University of Maryland program to give budgetary recognition to the income which has been received from the sale of food which has been customarily taken as a budget credit and has not been anticipated as a receipt, thus offsetting the requirements for general funds. A further reduction in the University of Maryland program was made in the amount of $20,000.00 for physical plant maintenance and operation.

There were more minor reductions of sums ranging from $13,068.00 to approximately $9,000.00.

The Senate experienced its first filibuster in many years. This was attempted by Senator Walter B. Dorsey of St. Mary's County who started talking at approximately 9:30 on the night of March 26 and continued his discourse until approximately 2:00 on the morning of March 27. His verbal efforts were aimed at preventing the passage of the Maryland-Virginia Potomac Compact Bill. This bill provides for a joint commission to conserve and maintain the fishery resources of the Potomac River. Senator Dorsey started his filibuster when the report of the Judicial Proceedings Committee was presented to the Senate. This report was a result of a study of this bill made by a sub-committee, of which your correspondent was Chairman. The filibuster failed and the Compact appears to be on its way to pass the Senate.

As this will in all probability be the last week of this 90-day session, we have no schedule of future hearings.

Edward O. Weant, Jr. State Senator

Red Cross Drive in Progress in Taneytown

The Red Cross drive for Taneytown District and surrounding territories is now in progress and reports from solicitors say the public is responding very well. As it is early to give any reports on the situation financially, we are still asking the public to give generously when the Red Cross worker comes around.

The chairman, George W. Crouse, reports he is happy to add the name of Mrs. Robert Miller of Keymar as a solicitor for the Keysville district. Mrs. Miller and Miss Jean Stonifer will collect in that area. Thanks to both as it has been rather difficult to secure anyone for this section.

We are also asking the people in rural areas that have not been asked to send your checks to Red Cross Campaign, Mr. Elwood Baumgardner, Treas., Taneytown, Md. We must go over the top. The Red Cross is conducted wholly on the voluntary support of the American people and we are asking for your full support. Our thanks to all. Weekly reports will be given in newspapers.

Note: All reports should be in by April 15th so we can give our final report to the local chapter in Westminster by April 18th.

LETTER OF INTEREST DESCRIBING TRIP

Mother and Daughter Traveled from Virginia to Japan

Itazuke AFB, Japan
March 13, 1959

Dear Folks,
I have been wanting to write many times but a lot has happened in the past months.

Margo and I left Mother and Daddy's in Va. before Christmas to be in Virginia before Christmas to be able to spend a few days with Bob's folks in Indianapolis. We were due to leave the States 28th Dec. We had a grand time in both Virginia and Indiana.

I had reservations on American Airlines but since they were on strike at that time we took the "City of San Francisco" train. This made it able for us to see more of the West. We took the "Overland Route" through Cheyenne, Wyoming, Salt Lake City, Utah and Reno, Nevada. This route was first used by the pioneers, Mormons and the Pony Express. It was beautiful scenery and being Margo's first train trip, she enjoyed it thoroughly. We had a roomette so we felt very rested by the time we reached Travis AFB, California.

We boarded our Military Air Transport DC-6 plane at 4:30 P.M. Sunday. There was a crew of six and this was the most enjoyable trip I have ever experienced. Before coming into Hawaii I had the pleasure to go forward at the controls and the Pilot let me put the earphones on to listen to Captain of an ocean liner beneath us talking. I also saw on the radar screen a rain cloud which we were flying over. At that time we were flying 10,000 feet. As we came into Hickam AFB Hawaii, the lights were lovely. We stopped there only long enough to refuel and change crew. It is beautiful and we hope to be stationed there someday.

Our next stop was Wake Island. Of course we crossed the "Date Line" which makes us a day ahead of the States. Again we stopped only for refueling and changing crew, also to take on tasty box lunches. On this leg of our journey we were flying at 12,000 feet. MATS has wonderful service, hot coffee at all times, fruit juices, ice water, magazines, pillows, blankets and even music to add to your comfort.

As we banked for landing at Tachikawa AFB, Japan, Mt. Fuji could (Continued on Page Eight)

Having been a "Gray Lady" at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, am now a Volunteer for "The Escort Service" at the Veterans Administration hospital which is only a few blocks from my home.

Looming high and prominently on what had once been the Gallagher property, the 291-bed Baltimore Veterans Administration Hospital was dedicated on October 26, 1952. Its rising walls had been watched with apprehension by the members of its surrounding community who wondered at the wisdom of erecting a tuberculosis hospital amid its substantial and comfortable homes. Therefore with the admission of the first two patients on the 28th of October, 1952, the staff began working at its twofold task of determining how they could use to best advantage the medical care facilities which had been entrusted to them, while at the same time, enhancing their acceptance and understanding by the community. Since that day of the opening 2514 individual patients have been treated for pulmonary tuberculosis and other chest diseases! 2439 major and minor surgical procedures have been performed on 1783 patients! 10 of the patients have been employed by the hospital after discharge! Medical students from both the Johns Hopkins and University of Maryland Medical Schools have a part of their clinical training here. Medical residents from the Johns Hopkins and University Hospitals as well as surgical residents from the Johns Hopkins are trained here. The Social Work Service provides field work training for students from Howard University School of Social Work. This hospital is without a doubt tops in every endeavor. Folks and it is a joy to know just what our wonderful Uncle Sam does for his Newpews! It would be most interesting to form groups and be taken around the hospital by a Guide. I do think all real Americans should visit this beautiful hospital. It is located 3900 Loch Raven Blvd. The patients are very happy realizing if they go along with the Doctors they will get well.

Viewing the picture at the Century, "Some Like It Hot" with Marilyn Monroe, Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon is quite a scream as the latter two actors go through the entire picture dressed as girls. Marilyn is truly more attractive than ever and of course her gowns will please the ladies. There isn't a dull moment during the entire feature and there was a packed audience as many men as there were ladies. Don't miss that one at the Century!

Coming out of the theatre, I approached the man filling up the cigarette case and asked him which now is the most popular and although he stated "Marlboro," he added that the F I L T E R of "Taneyton" was fast coming to the front.

Hope you did not miss the Easter Show of the youngsters on the Arthur Godfrey program on Tuesday evening plus the "Gary Moore Show" of "That Wonderful Year" of 1905 at 10 P.M. singing so many of the old, old songs of—"In The Shade Of The Old Apple Tree", "I Don't Care", "Meet Me in St. Louis", "Lindy" and many others. There was tremendous applause as all those old numbers started.

Don't forget, Folks to plan this year on May 13 at the Washington Monument for "The Flower Mart". Will be reading Astrology so do come down and have your individual Horoscope read. When you walk around you will want to spend the day as many do. Meals are served and the atmosphere is truly charming, beautiful with a touch of foreign countries. (And just about everything is sold at the colorful booths)

Will write about "Aries" in my next Column for these born from March 20 to April 20 inclusive. Have a grand week end. Be careful when you drive and if you drink even one bottle of beer don't drive. Be seeing you D.V.

I am,
Faithfully,

FARM SURPLUS ANSWER

The widely publicized programs for dealing with the agricultural surplus problem are generally political programs. No matter how greatly they may differ in their provisions, they invariably involve the spending of billions of tax money.

A good many variants of such programs have been tried. All, it can be fairly said, have been flat failures. The surpluses and the cost of subsidizing those surpluses have reached stupefying proportions.

Yet there is a sensible, non-political way in which the American farmer can greatly help to reduce the surpluses, and a number of agricultural experts have advocated it. It lies in expanded livestock production. Homer Davison, president of the American Meat Institute, puts the case in these clear words: "An expanding animal agriculture is the best way to attack so-called basic commodity overproduction. If 10 per cent of the farm land currently producing food and fibre crops were diverted to raising meat animals or producing feed for livestock, we would reduce our surplus enough to bring production into balance with consumption."

Then Mr. Davison made an additional important point: "The perishable nature of meat makes it a commodity which defies controlled production. The free market price is probably the only practical instrument that can be used successfully to balance production with consumption and be fair to both producer and consumer."

To this can be added the fact that people like meat, are consuming more of it, and will consume still more in the future if it is available. The case for expanding animal agriculture is an overwhelming one.

MORE FOR LESS

The farm population has been steadily declining and is expected to continue to do so. In the face of this, agriculture will have to supply food and fibre for 200 million people by 1970 and it will have to do it not only with fewer people, but with less farm land.

These facts were recently stressed by the head of one of the leading manufacturers of farm equipment. The farm land loss will be due to housing, industrial development, airport construction, road building and so on. This means that soil conservation on a far more effective scale than at present will be vital. The spokesman described a six-point program toward this end. First, is land capability maps which, in effect, completely inventory soil on every individual farm. Second, is the continued development of complete conservation plans setting out the best use and treatment of each farm acre. Third, is the growing need for highly trained soil conservation technicians. Fourth, is the continued development of mechanized equipment for making the conservation construction jobs easier and more practical. In this connection, convertible equipment has been designed which makes it possible for farmers to do those jobs with the same machines they use for plowing, tillage, and harvesting, and the cost is far below that of the earth-moving equipment needed on heavy industrial jobs. Sixth, the country needs a vastly stimulated research program covering both conservation and marketing.

This is a large order, but by no means an impossible one. And it is a "must" if the inevitable demands on agriculture of the future are to be adequately met.

IT CAN'T BE BLAMED ON DEFENSE

Senator Byrd of Virginia says: "Contrary to general understanding, recent great increase in federal spending have not been for defense and foreign aid. They have been for domestic-civilian programs. Since 1954 expenditures outside of defense, atomic energy, and foreign aid categories have grown from $19.1 billion a year to $33.4 billion. This is an increase of $14.3 billion, or 75 per cent."

In other words, basic needs aren't responsible for the swollen budgets. Non-essentials and luxuries are. To quote him once more, "Our people must remember that the very foundation of our system rests upon the fact that the people must support the government. It is not the purpose of government to support the people."

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

WICHITA, KANSAS, THE DEMOCRAT: "One explanation advanced for the mushrooming growth of governmental expenditures is that such are required because of the tremendous rate of growth of population. The Tax Foundation, Inc., recently came forth with findings which pretty well belie the explanation. In the past 20 years, says the Foundation, U.S. population has increased by some 33 per cent—but the cost of government, federal, state and local, has increased almost 600 per cent."

LEAVENWORTH, WASHINGTON, ECHO: "Some people have made an art of being slow to pick up the check. You've really got to hand it to them."

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS, JEWISH ADVOCATE: "President Eisenhower, in a noteworthy civil rights program presented to the Congress...called for the adoption of legislation that would increase the power of the FBI in the bombings of synagogues, churches, and schools. His proposal would make it a Federal offense to flee from one state to another to avoid detention or prosecution arising from such bombings."

"This legislation is badly needed, because as the President pointed out, though state authorities have been diligent in dealing with these crimes under local laws, Federal assistance, bringing to bear all the fine paraphernalia and expert personnel of the FBI, can be a great supplementary force for local authorities..."

STANLEY, WISCONSIN, REPUBLICAN: "Here is how Abraham Lincoln described the free enterprise system in his first annual message to Congress, in 1861:

"The prudent, penniless beginner labors for wages awhile, saves a surplus with which to buy tools or land for himself, then labors on his own account another while and at length hires another beginner to help him. 'This is the just and generous and prosperous system which opens the way to all, gives hope to all and consequently energy and progress and improvement of conditions to all.'"

FACTS AND OPINIONS

The community physician is the most important man in cancer control, according to Dr. W. Kenneth Clark, vice president of the American Cancer Society. In his view: "If the community physician is not cancer-conscious, the specialist may come into the picture too late." The Society estimates that of 255,000 cancer deaths in this country, about 75,000 could be prevented by earlier detection and treatment.

Writing in The New York Times, J. H. Carmichael says that the pressure of Soviet oil exports on the markets of the free world is steadily increasing. The flow approaches 300,000 barrels a day, and it has become the Russian's main economic weapon in many cases. Moreover, he adds that the drive on free world oil markets has only started.

How much will it cost to send men into outer space? U.S. News & World Report places the price of a round trip ticket to the moon at $60 million, or $100 a mile. By way of comparison, flying around by airliner costs 7c a mile at tourist rates.

From Time: "Booms in hi-fi, boating, photography, travel, frozen and gourmet foods, all come from relatively new things that tempted consumers to part with their cash. This is the real road to growth, the innovation of exciting and useful new products and industries that Government alone cannot start. It can only provide the incentive for business to improve itself. As Harvard's Slichter says: 'You can't expand without demand for the product. We need less sales talk, less hot air and better quality and more originality.'"

A curious Senator asked all federal agencies to send him copies of their current books and other literature. He received 83,000 works. Subjects included How to Trap Cats, Recipes For Frying Muskrats in Wine, and The Status of North American Fleas.

Oregon Voter observes: "In the business world an executive knows something about everything, a technician knows everything about something and the switchboard operator knows everything."

Economist Fred G. Clark points out that there are five costs which make up the selling price of any product, made anywhere in the world, under any system, at any time. These are: The cost of goods and services bought from others; the cost of payments to government (taxes); the cost of wearing out tools (depreciation); the cost of human energy (payrolls and benefits); the cost of using tools (profits).

In the opinion of J. E. Corette, president of the Edison Electric Institute, the people of America must become better informed on America's government, business and productivity and take an active and courageous interest in government, if our future is to be as great as our past.

Clark Mollenhoff, a Pulitzer prize-winning newspaperman, says: "The tremendous power of the Teamsters now overshadows anything the business barons of sixty years ago could have envisioned. This is a power over every other union in America. It is a power that touches every home in America. We have this power augmented by large tax-exempt treasuries and special laws that make the operations immune from the anti-trust laws."

Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation writes: "The success of our public school system is largely due to the responsibility placed upon local citizens and the school boards they elect. Any plan which further reduces their authority and responsibility will inevitably result in weakening our schools. Yes, there are many needed improvements in our educational system. We need a broadened base of support to relieve tax inequities. We need to return to a merit system for teacher advancement so that salaries will become more adequate, for the best qualified instructors. We need to place greater emphasis on fundamentals and be less concerned with educational 'frills.' These needs will be met more certainly by local people than by a vast federal bureaucracy."

More than 800,000 Americans have been cured of cancer and are still living, an officer of the American Cancer Society reports. Another 900,000 who have undergone treatment are in a five-year observation period at the end of which they will be judged as cured if their symptoms do not recur. Where the cure rate was one in 10 cancer cases in 1913, it is now one in three. Early diagnosis is vital.

In mid-February, the state of Michigan ran out of cash. A crisis was averted when Michigan industries paid some $35,000,000 in taxes months ahead of the due date.

International jet air travel, only 5 months old, has gotten off to a rousing start. Time magazine says that Pan American's planes have been filled to 90 per cent capacity, as compared to 50 to 55 per cent during the comparable months in past years. The company's total transatlantic business jumped 46 per cent in two months, and still bigger increases are coming.

J. E. Corette, president of the Montana Power Company, says: "If tax-free federal government (enterprises) continue to expand and tax-free cooperatives continue to increase, it will lead to complete government ownership of all business because government either must get money in the form of taxes from prosperous business and prosperous wage earners or it will have to take over the entire business and run that business for government profit."

Veteran Broadway press agent Richard Maney writes in the New York Times Magazine: "Only 11 of the plays, musicals and theatrical what-nots produced in New York last season recovered their cost. Of the 44 flops—flop is the trade epithet for a feeble undertaking—16 perished within three weeks of their christening; another 19 were annulled short of 100 performances. This excess of disaster is dismaying, but modest. Over a five-year span the odds against success are longer. Mid-term returns indicate that in the current season duds will top delights by six to one."

FRIZELLBURG

We extend our sympathy to the Walter Myers family on the loss of their husband and father. Following the funeral held Saturday some of the floral tributes were distributed to sick and shut-in friends and to the churches in the community. Flowers in the altar vases in Emmanuel (Baust) church Sunday were in his memory, given by his family.

Red Cross News

The Board of Directors of the Carroll County Chapter of the American Red Cross met in special session on Monday evening, March 16th, with the President, Mrs. Stuart Widener, presiding. It was decided under emergency conditions that it may be necessary to discontinue the swimming program for 1959 unless the quota is met in the present campaign for funds. The emergency has arisen due to the fact that several areas, Taneytown, Uniontown, Berrett and Franklin are without District Chairmen. It was the unanimous opinion of the Board that this action was necessary in order to preserve the independence of the chapter since the charter states that if funds are not sufficient to carry out the program of the chapter, the charter will be revoked. The directors who attended the meeting were: Mrs. Lester Buffington, Charles Clark, Mrs. Paul C. Copenhaver, Mrs. Charles T. Eunich, C. W. Haschert, Mrs. Horace Jefferson, Wm. P. Lahner, Mrs. Paul Leatherwood, Sr., Col. Severne S. MacLaughlin, Geo. W. McClung, Mrs. Harry Reese, Jr., Mrs. Clyde F. Schlerf, and Charles R. Stroh, Chairman of the 1959 Red Cross Campaign.

A Birthday Party

A birthday party was held for Master George Eckard in honor of his fourth birthday, Friday, March 27th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sprague, Union Bridge. 4-Hers participating in this important program are: Janet and Wilson Arbaugh, Patty Roach, Teresa and Jay John, all of New Windsor; Howard and Ralph Murray and David Pickett of Woodbine; Chalmers Warehime, Carroll Hahn, Barbara Rinehart, Betty and Mary Ellen Stonestifer of Taneytown area; and Stanley Compton, Jr. and Edward and Eugene Curfman of Westminster.

Colorful New Danish Cookware

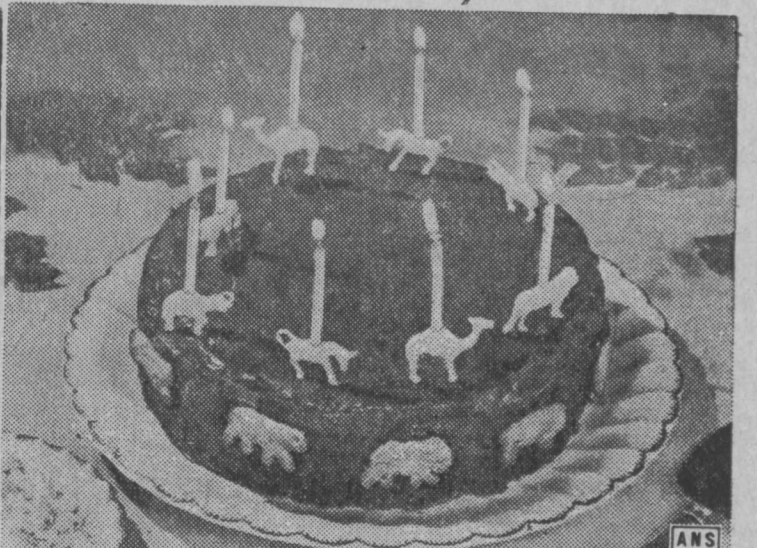

Colorful new cookware that will go right from the kitchen stove to the most elegant "company" table with equal ease is a real serving aid to the homemaker. Food stays hot — even for second servings — and extra dishes are cut to a minimum.

The new Danish Cookware by Voss is among the most handsome and best for cooking now available. The ovens, shown above, illustrate the classic simplicity and functional attributes of Voss. Designed by Henning Seidelin, famous Danish sculptor-designer, the utensils are a deep, lustrous enamel on cast-iron. The dense enamel coating that covers even the edges is resistant to chipping and washes like a dish. The precision tempered cast-iron base assures steady, even heat perfect for slow cooking. Voss is obtainable in "Danish Red", "Copenhagen Blue" and "Turquoise", with a soft grey interior complementary to natural food tones.

Prices are approximately $11.95 for the three quart size, $9.95 for the two quart and $7.95 for the one quart, including covers. Correlated trivets are available.

Imported and distributed in this country by Schmid Brothers, Inc., Boston.

Magic Birthday Cake

HERE'S A MAGIC ANIMAL CAKE, aglow with candles, to add a festive climax to a birthday party. The easy frosting, made with sweetened condensed milk and chocolate, is creamy and smooth and delicious.

A parade of animal crackers around the side of the cake will delight the children, and if you can find animal candle holders you'll have another decoration they will surely enjoy.

If you want a light frosting, coat the animal crackers with chocolate for contrast.

1 1/2 cups (1 15-oz. can) 1/2 teaspoon salt
sweetened condensed milk 2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
1 tablespoon water 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

Put sweetened condensed milk, water and salt in top of double boiler. Mix well. Add chocolate. Cook over rapidly boiling water, stirring often, until thick, about 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Cool. Stir in vanilla. Spread on cooled cake.

Light On The Subject

Actually, Marianne isn't delving into psychology—she's just trying out the tiny reading lamp attached to her book. Its bright light is concentrated on the pages — so her late reading can't disturb anyone else. And when she dozes off, her Eagle Booklight turns off automatically. Marianne's reading lamp is pink — her favorite color — but it's made in blue brown and ivory, too.

One Plus God

Lesson for April 5, 1959

"ONE PLUS GOD" is a slogan that might fit many a strong life. It is not only the secret of such men as were the prophets of old, not only for Saint Paul and Saint Augustine and Martin Luther, and other famous persons admired by Christians. The reader should realize that this can be true of every one who puts his trust in God. The price of admission to the goodly company of the saints is not cheap, but it is in every one's reach: Faith.

Dr. Foreman

Loyalty

This was true of the famous Old Testament hero named Samuel. He was what in football language is called a triple-threat man. He was a priest, prophet, judge, military advisor; and tradition even says he was a writer, though of course he did not live long enough to have written the books that bear his name in the Old Testament. (They do not claim to have been written by him.) Before his time there had been no kings, and indeed there very much unity among the tribes of Israel. Under his leadership the tribes were better united, and it would not be much exaggeration to say that Samuel "shaped the tribes into shape"—the shape of a kingdom which he turned over to the first king-by-title, Saul. It is true that King Saul did not pay attention to Samuel's wisdom; but all the same, after the old prophet was dead, Saul thought so much of his advice that he actually tried to conjure him out of his grave just to hear him again.

What was the secret of Samuel's power over Israel? First of all it was a contagious loyalty to the one true God. It was a time when most men worshipped many gods. Even the Israelites did this. Samuel ran the risk of being looked at as a crank or a fanatic, but such was his known loyalty to God that when he challenged Israel to throw away their idols, they did. There must have been something in his life that made even those primitive men sure that one-plus-God means greatness.

Prayer

Another marked feature of Samuel's life was his prayers. We have on record the story of his very first prayer. It was not a begging request, not a "Gimme" prayer at all. It was "Speak, Lord; for thy servant heareth." Even as a boy he would rather hear what God has to say than to pour out words before God. How seldom it is that people in praying give God any chance to speak! The Lord seldom has much to say to a man who insists on talking every minute.

Another feature of Samuel's prayer life was that he prayed for others, even when those others had turned their backs on him. Samuel did his best to persuade the Israelites not to have a king. He knew that "power corrupts" and he predicted accurately their future kings would show. But they wanted a king all the same; yet in taking leave of them Samuel was not bitter. "Far be it from me that I should sin against the Lord by ceasing to pray for you," he said.

Wisdom

Samuel was an example of what we nowadays call a circuit judge. He held court in three cities, including his home town. (This alone is remarkable.) He was not (on the one hand) the kind of religious person who retires to a cell and there spends his life in prayer. He was a man of affairs, trusted by high and low. He was not (on the other hand) the kind of religious person who keeps his religion with his hymnbook—in church, where he takes it out and gets loud and happy over it once a week—only once. Samuel on the contrary was a man whose religious faith was the foundation of his wisdom. Religion did not lift him "out of this world;" it gave him insight into the problems of this world. His one-plus-God life was not for himself alone; God in life helped him to be a help to others. Perhaps one strong reason why there are not more persons who deserve that "One-plus-God" description, is that too many of us want to have God by the hand to serve ourselves rather than others.

MONEY ANYWAY

"Everyone is accusing me of having married my husband for his money," said a glamorous blonde to her lawyer, "but actually that's what I want to divorce him for!"

The new Kiwanis International Building 101 East Erie Street in Chicago. The general office staff of Kiwanis International and its youth organizations moved into this modern glass, marble and structural metal building on Friday, March 20, 1959. From here, the servicing of all 4600 U.S., Canadian and Hawaiian clubs is now handled.

Kiwanis International's General Office Moves Into New Kiwanis International Building

The General Office of Kiwanis International moved into new quarters—the just-completed Kiwanis International Building at 101 E. Erie St., in Chicago—on Friday, March 20, it was announced by George W. Crouse, president of the Kiwanis Club of Taneytown, Md. All 115 of the international service organization's general office employees will be housed in the new million dollar structure. From this building 4600 U. S. and Canadian Kiwanis Clubs will be serviced.

The move into the Kiwanis International Building is the final step in a five-year program of finance, design and construction on the part of Kiwanis. Every Kiwanis member contributed financially to the project. According to International President Kenneth B. Loheed of Toronto, Ontario, "the completion of this beautiful new building is proof positive of the confidence in Kiwanis' future, on the part of all 256,000 Kiwanis members whose generosity and hope for the future made the building a possibility. Further, it reaffirms the belief of Kiwanians everywhere that our organization stands on the firmest of footings—unselfish service to the men, women and children of the communities in which we live."

The new building is constructed of masonry, marble, structural metal and glass. It was designed to express the spirit of Kiwanis—and to provide the best possible facilities for service to Kiwanis clubs and their members. It represents the fourth home office which Kiwanis has occupied in Chicago.

The building consists of three levels. It fronts on Erie Street, a half block west of Chicago's famed "Magnificent Mile." A ground-level landscaped court and a parking area share the rear portion of the property. The new structure stands on a site formerly occupied by the home of the late Anita McCormick Blaine, granddaughter of the inventor of the reaper.

The Kiwanis International Building is air-conditioned throughout, fitted with modern lighting equipment, sound-deadening ceilings, and light, movable metal partitioning. In the reception foyer stands a 35 foot curved mosaic mural depicting Kiwanis' community service work. This is executed in Venetian tile. In front of the mosaic is a halo-lighted ovaloid map of the North American continent (Kiwanis' current field of operations) with numerical lights indicating scope of Kiwanis outreach.

A beautifully-appointed Past President's Room, a Board Room paneled in curly California redwood, men's and women's lounges, and a small accommodation employee's lunchroom are also features of the new building.

MORE PROOF...it pays to feed PURINA

Alvis Fleming and Purina Salesman Travis Westbrook

Purina's dairy program has helped this North Carolina herd produce

1,477 lbs. more milk per cow

Shortly after Alvis Fleming began his dairy operation with 50 cows on 600 acres outside Littleton, N. C., he took two steps forward which have helped him build both his herd size and production per cow in short order.

He started testing his cows for production on DHIA. Soon after, he began managing and feeding his herd the research-backed Purina Way.

In one year his herd average increased by 1,477 lbs. milk per cow. At the same time, he began to see definite improvement in the form of faster-growing, thrifter calves; bigger, healthier heifers; and well-conditioned dry cows joining the milking string with ample reserve strength to carry them through long, productive lactations.

See us for details about Purina's research-backed Program for Dairy Cattle, followed by Alvis Fleming and other fast-growing dairymen wherever cows are important.

easily be seen even through it was getting dark. It looked like a great big chocolate drop with a white top. This is of course the highest mountain in Japan and has snow all year round.

Bob was waiting for us as we got off the plane and it was mighty good to see him.

We stayed all night at Tachi before boarding the Pullman train at Tokyo to come 700 miles south to our base. The trip was indeed scenic. Japan is really lovely, quite mountainous and every inch of land cultivated. Tangerines and grapefruit season was in and you can imagine how pretty they looked on the trees.

Our base is located on the island of Kyushu which is called the "Florida of Japan". We are also seven miles from the sixth largest city of Japan, called Fukuoka. Here you can shop in exclusive department stores and dine in modern restaurants. These are open for business every day of the week. We use Japanese yen for all off base buying and MPC for on base. The only Stateside money we use is the penny. The prices are a great deal different than Stateside and I'm afraid we are going to be a little spoiled when we return next year.

Bob is with the Air Control and Warning Squadron on a site which is nine miles from the base. This is the reason we are due back next year because the men have only 18 months tour of duty on this site. He is able to get home every weekend. I can see the site, which is on top of the highest mountain around, from our kitchen window.

Our Japanese house is quite different. We are living just a short way from the base. Of course, these homes must be approved by the Air Force before moving in. We have two bedrooms, living, kitchen, bath and a little room just inside the front door to take shoes off before entering. We have tatami mats in all rooms except the bath. This is woven rice grass and makes walking very comfortable.

Spring is here and the cherry and plum blossoms are beginning to bloom. We have a plum tree outside our home. The temperature is in the 70's. I know this is quite a lot warmer than Maryland for this time of year.

The Japanese people are very polite. They are always busy and believe me do things the hard way. They are skilled in mostly everything and it is done right. Everyone drives on the wrong side of the road and people use the streets for walking, also riding bicycles. This makes driving very difficult and slow.

Margo is having the time of her life. She can say quite a few things in Japanese already. As you can imagine she enjoys the toy shops.

Anytime of the day one can see old ladies pulling their colorful flower carts along. They go from door to door selling from sun up till night time. These cut flowers are so reasonable and are just lovely.

We all say "Sayonara" to the folks back home from Japan.

Sincerely,
Betty Lynn Robertson Geib

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

It has always seemed to us as though our educational system is a little out of joint when the heroes of campus and school-yard are those whose glory is recorded in batting averages, yards gained on the gridiron or the number of times a ball is tossed or dropped through an iron hoop.

And when one of these heroes can achieve passing grades without extensive aid from those less gifted in physical prowess, it is something to marvel upon and the subject of further accolade.

It is human and natural, of course, that all of us, young and old, like our heroes virile, robust and no less than six feet high. But, even so, we believe our institutions of learning are guilty of pandering to this human weakness when they should be making a reasonable effort to glorify scholarship.

Wherefore it is most refreshing to discover that the schools of Ashbury Park, N. J., have launched an effort to close the gap between brawn and brains. There, the schools are awarding letters (the very same as those given the athletes) for maintaining a 90 or better average for the school year.

We hope this shift of emphasis toward intellectual accomplishment is causing the community to burgeon in bright new letters. And we hope, too, that the word is getting around and that schools elsewhere are adopting the idea. Certainly there is here no discounting of the prestige of the cherished symbol. Nor do we think anyone will question that a 90 average requires as much study, discipline and field practice (outside of school hours) as a complete pass, a home run or expert dribbling.

If we can have enough "letter-men" (and women) in the Three R's, perhaps the nation will be equipped to carry on in the technological age we have already entered. As matters stand, this is a large question mark.

Sincerely,
BOB TAYLOR

HELP WANTED

Millions of people for 2 weeks of hard outdoor labor. 12 to 16 hours per day. Experience helpful but not necessary. Crowded working conditions; intense sunshine, sweltering temperatures, rain, gales, etc. Many hazards involved. No time off for meals, coffee breaks, chats. No wages or salary. Applicants must agree to pay all expenses. No others need apply. What is this? A slave labor job? Maybe but it's commonly called a vacation.

It Means So Much . . .

Letters received by the Carroll County Scholarship Fund, Inc. from students in training to be teachers tell of their progress at school and their desire to maintain good grades.

Some of the recipients of teacher scholarships have located jobs on college campuses to help defray expenses. A $325. scholarship pays board and books at a state teachers' college with tuition being free. At independent colleges the $325. scholarship is applied toward tuition.

For each scholarship awarded, the candidate has met qualifications of scholastic achievement, health and personality. The financial need has been established.

In one letter received, a student expressed it this way, "by maintaining a B average I feel as though I'm helping to earn the scholarship."

Another letter told of appreciation of the opportunity to attend college because "were it not for the scholarship I would not have this challenging and rewarding experience."

The students are looking ahead with anticipation to completing their training, and, as fully qualified teachers, taking their places in the Carroll County School system.

An interesting sequence of events led to the formation of this Scholarship Fund. Several years ago the lack of teaching personnel was the subject of discussion at a meeting of the Carroll County Council of Parent-Teachers Associations. Realizing that numerous high school seniors were anxious to become teachers but lacked the funds necessary, the Council voted to initiate the formation of such an organization.

The Carroll County Scholarship Fund was incorporated in May 1957, and in the interval has aided five students and helped one individual complete the final half of college. In this short span, the local schools have benefited by the addition of one qualified teacher and have promise of five additional teachers.

Through public support of The Carroll County Scholarship Fund, Inc. more young people will realize a life's ambition. "It means so much," they write. Confidence placed in these young people who will become our teachers will continue to pay dividends.

Elwood Baumgardner, treasurer, Taneytown, has reported receipt of funds from various parts of the County in support of this program.
