INTERESTING MEETING HELD BY LIONS CLUB

The Lowly Onion Extolled by Speaker Waggoner

"The strongest subject you've ever heard anyone speak on" was the topic chosen by Ford Waggoner, retired industrialist and accountant, now living in New Windsor, when Program chairman Robert W. Feeser volunteered no suggestion as he sought to engage this famed lover of poetry for the Lions club meeting at Taney Inn last Tuesday evening, April 28, at 6:30 p. m.

President Frank T. Dunham conducted the meeting and stood surrounded by every past-president of the club who is now a member since its inception July 22, 1947. First president was J. Hoke Ommert, Westminster, who was unable to be present, and his successor was Merle S. Ohler, in whose regime electricity was brought to the municipal park. The unexpired term of the next in line, Robert E. Thomas (now a pastor in Pennsylvania near Somerset) was served out by Robert W. Feeser, who also was elected to a full term the year after; and he was followed by Singleton E. Remsburg, of minstrel fame, then Harry B. Dougherty, Homer Y. Myers, Wilbur O. Thomas, Raymond J. Perry, J. Alfred Heltebride, and Ralph W. Stonesifer, down to the present.

A visitation group from New Windsor was warmly greeted, consisting of Lions David Hoff, Sidney Lease, and Howard Ropp.

The president then called for floor nominations to the slate prepared by Remsburg, Dougherty, and Stonesifer, but none were forthcoming; and Secretary Kenneth C. Shorb was instructed to cast a ballot for these 1959-60 officers who will serve from July 1, 1959; Delmar E. Riffe president, Frank O. Wargny 1st vice-president, Merwyn C. Fuss 2d vice-president, Rev. Edmund P. Welker 3d vice-president, Kenneth C. Shorb secretary, John T. Hottinger Lion tamer, Wilbert N. Hess Tail twister, and Thomas Morrison and Thomas J. Smith 2-year directors.

President Frank then explained the calendar project by which a neighboring district club cleared more than $1100 one year, and for which two promotion teams will be formed, the Gold and the Blue, captained by Remsburg and Lewis R. Baer.

Program chairman Feeser was thereupon free to introduce the evening's speaker, Ford Waggoner, poet, historian, world traveler, whose intriguing subject was corporeally illustrated in the large yellow object he handed to President Dunham. "An Onion," George Stevenson called it "the rose among roots". Without it no true cook can successfully create his art. Imagine it as part of the 55 carloads weekly required to supply the 16 million natives and another million floaters who live within a radius of 10 miles from New York. Picture it as the sweet "something fresh" which the sailors in Richard H. Dana's Two Years Before the Mast bogged from a passing Boston schooner when they had been a scurvy-ridden 180 days at sea out of Puerto Los Angeles.

Then try to think where it is grown as profusely as wheat on the Dakota plains, corn in the Mississippi stretch that separates Illinois from Iowa, or tobacco in the Greenville region of Tennessee. Every storekeeper keeps a few of them, but where did grower Perry send 10,000 tons of onion seed (not sets) to one "small farm"? It was to Texas, of course, down near the arid border, where the mountainous harvests are piled high by migrant Mexicans.

"Men are something like onions," Mr. Waggoner went on — there are good men, little groups of good men, these are the onion that gives piquancy, zest, and zip to the communities in which they live. They are the ones which are putting Taneytown on the map, the community is dependent on them, and who would be a good Lion must be a good onion.

The next meeting of the club will be Tuesday, May 12, when Homer Myers will have charge of selecting the program.

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

MOUND, MINNESOTA, THE MINNETONKA PILOT: "Anyone else want to comment? We won't. A recent survey among the three senior high grades at Mound high uncovered the fact that 66 per cent of the sophomores had no idea who John Foster Dulles was, 71 per cent did not know of Mao-Tse-tung, 64 per cent had no idea who Charles DeGaulle was and 62 per cent had no idea who Gamal Abdel Nasser was. Percentages were pretty much the same for the next two grades—junior and senior. And we need more and more science and math."

TICONDEROGA, N.Y., SENTINEL: "It is high time that our legislators turned away from the blind mice status and openly admit what they and we all know—that there will always be gambling and lotteries, albeit hidden. . ."

"Great Britain permits lotteries. . . do we consider then, that the British people are generally immoral? and do we honestly believe that because we do not permit lotteries that we have higher principles than those who live in the British Empire?"

KINGMAN, ARIZONA, MOHAVE COUNTRY MINER: "Every American has been exposed to the dangers of communism and its world-wide domination of the will of man and his dignities and freedoms."

"But we don't have to be convinced. The people who must be convinced are the . . . millions who have lived in the most horrible poverty for generations and have never had hope for the future."

"When the communistic overloads come along and hold out a promise to these people it is sometimes the only promise they have ever heard. They have nothing to compare it with—nor do they know that complete domination is the final communistic objective. . ."

HAGERSTOWN, MARYLAND, THE MORNING HERALD: "Labor and management will go on endlessly arguing wages and profits. Government will mire itself as always in debate and sheer blather. But in the ball park you'll get action—and a result."

"Not a bad antidote for the uncertainties we live with in so many other realms."

COVINGTON, TENN., LEADER: "Michigan is one of the most affluent states in the nation, with vast industrial areas. Yet, on Feb. 2, Governor Williams, with his bank credit shut off and his treasury unable to meet payrolls . . . appealed to industry for prepayment of taxes due April 15 . . ."

"This should be an undeniable confirmation of the oft-repeated prediction that a government, state or nation, can go broke. However, we fear that it will take more than this warning to convince federal bureaucrats they can't go on spending what we don't have."

SPRINGVIEW, NEBRASKA, HERALD: "Inflation is just like the weather. Everybody's talking about it but nobody's doing anything."

LONDON, OHIO, THE MADISON PRESS: "You can tell what kind of community you live in by looking at your newspapers," so says an executive of the United States Chamber of Commerce. How can he do this? He answers simply that the newspaper is the mirror of community life, its personality."

SALEM, INDIANA, REPUBLICAN LEADER: "The fellow who built a boat so large that he had to tear down the barn in order to get it out would qualify for an expert in American diplomatic work."

"For today we see the world threatened with charges and counter-charges bolstered with threats of war and attacks because our supposedly great American leaders provided for a Berlin controlled by four powers, but without providing access to West Berlin. Our American leaders entered into final agreement with Russia for control of the fallen German city but let Russia keep the 110 miles of territory separating Berlin from the rest of the free world . . ."

Writing in The New York Times Magazine, Kingsley Davis describes the increase in the earth's population as an "explosion." Sixteen years from now, it is estimated, the earth will contain a billion more people—and in 41 years nearly four billion more.

Starting oil operations in remote areas of the Middle East is like setting up shop on the moon, according to Petroleum Week. Aside from politics, operations are troubled with lack of communications, roads and living quarters, and the constant battle with nature. Only 25% of the employees of the Arabian American Oil Company are connected with direct oil operations. The remaining 75% are needed to keep the 25% alive.

National Review reports that Californians pay the heaviest state and local taxes—$238 per capita per year. Next heaviest taxes are levied in New York, $229; Nevada, $229; Massachusetts, $210; and Oregon, $201. The smallest tax load is carried by Arkansas—$100.

The best reason why businessmen should get into politics is because politics is already in business, in the view of President O'Donnell of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He points that government is a major stockholder in business, with the federal government alone taking 52% of the profits of every corporate venture, and considerably more than half of every individual venture if it is successful to any degree.

An economist forecasts that Americans will spend almost $2 billion this year on sporting goods.

Columnist Sylvia Porter finds that in the past 88 years—as long a period for which reliable statistics exist—stock prices have advanced an average of 1,060%, as against a cost of living increase of 232%.

The Air Defense Command of the U. S. Air Force has commended the nation's railroads and their employees for assistance rendered. In the words of Lt. General Atkinson, its commander: "By co-operating in the Ground Observer Corps program to the extent it did, the American railroad industry gave more to the air defense system than any other single unit of the nation's industrial resources."

The 46th anniversary of the federal income tax occurred last February 25—and the baby certainly has grown! At the beginning, in 1913, the rates ran from 1% to 6%, as against 20% now. And where the per capita tax averaged 82c in these long-gone days, it has risen to $397.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

The Nation is once more approaching that ridiculous semi-anniversary on which the affairs of all and sundry, and of our transportation industries in particular, are thrown into a pretty complete spin by autoeratic announcement from the State House or a big-time City Hall that it is later than we think.

We refer, of course, to the abomination euphemistically known as "Daylight Saving". Originally imposed on us as a war measure of no demonstrable aid to victory, it lives on through the ingrained resistance of politicians toward relinquishing any authority however trifling and the patience of a public long benumbed to bureaucratic irritations.

Here and there about the U. S. communities and even a whole state have risen up and decided to have none of it. But the insurgents have been pitifully few, and being in the minority have had even greater inconvenience and confusion for their praiseworthy independence.

Two points come to mind respecting this impending nuisance. First, just who are these people who, like mischievous children, have this itch to fool with our clocks? And do they constitute the majority that our philosophy of government considers the proper and acceptable authority for decisions affecting all?

Point Two: A careful perusal of the Constitution convinces us that this noble document provides ample protection to any citizen who wants to get up an hour earlier.

Believing, as we do, in the power of the press, we think a concerted effort by the grass-roots newspapers alone, to discover who wants this time-juggling and who does not, might well run the meddlers to cover—and let the rest of us decide for ourselves when we wish to get up and go to bed and work and relax.

Sincerely,
 BOB TAYLOR

To The Citizens Of Carroll County

Now that the 1959 Legislative Session is over the members of the House of Delegates, namely Preston L. Hale, Joseph H. Hahn, Jr., Wilbur W. Magin, Thomas R. O'Farrell, feel that it is their duty to summarize the accomplishments at Annapolis and give a brief explanation of local bills passed affecting the people of Carroll County. This report is in conjunction with weekly releases by Senator Edward O. Weant, Jr.

H.B. 199 was introduced and passed; his bill requires the County Commissioners to advertise for bids for any supplies and equipment over $1,000, beginning June 1, 1959. This regulation will set up a standard policy to be followed by the local authorities, and will create a better understanding between our people and the administering officials. There is a similar law on the books applying to the Board of Education of Carroll County.

H. B. 318 - requires the sale of alcoholic beverages to be on Daylight time when such time is effective. This bill carries out the recommendations of the Grand Jury of 1958.

H. B. 642 - increases the pay of jurors to $8.00 per day, bringing Carroll County in line with other Counties of the State.

H. B. 692 - authorizing the County Commissioners to furnish secretarial services for the members of the House of Delegates, at such compensation as the Commissioners shall determine. Most all of the other delegations have this assistance, and this added service has materially helped our delegation perform the duties required of them at Annapolis.

H. B. 763 - this is an enabling act authorizing the County Commissioners to regulate the conduct of electrical business - if they deem it necessary—before the Commissioners shall adopt any such regulations they shall hold a public hearing thereon after at least ten days notice to the public by publications in one or more newspapers published in the County.

S. B. 147 - relating to the employment and compensation of the Court Stenographer of Carroll County.

S. B. 148 and S. B. 149 - authorizing the County Commissioners to convey any of the County Almshouse property or farm, not to exceed 15 acres to the Carroll County General Hospital, Inc.; also making it mandatory that any future sales of this land be only at public sales after proper notice in County paper.

S. B. 210 - this bill pertains to the jury for the August term of Circuit Court. The Circuit Court shall have the option of summoning either grand jurors or petit jurors or both.

S. B. 268 - this bill provides that the appointment of the Clerk to the Magistrate be made by the Magistrate instead of the County Commissioners.

S. B. 321 - putting the dog licenses in Carroll County on a calendar year.

S. B. 486 - giving the County Commissioners the authority to appoint an Executive or Administrative Assistant. This was requested by the local authorities; if put into operating practice would allow the Commissioners more time for overall supervision of the various departments. The Executive would handle the detail work.

S. B. 484 - relating to the salary of Justices of the Peace other than Trial Magistrates in Carroll County. It has been difficult to secure the services of individuals for these positions; therefore, the salary has been set at $180.00 annually.

S. B. 542 - relating to the reporting of parked trailers to the Assessors of Carroll County. Trailers have been assessed and taxed in Carroll County for several years; this bill merely makes it mandatory for the owner to notify the office in Westminster that a trailer is being parked in Carroll County and giving the location of same.

We want to thank the people of Carroll County for their wonderful co-operation during the 1959 Session. The hundreds of friendly letters received were greatly appreciated and help us to better understand the problems and issues of our County.

We are now looking forward to the 30-day limited Session of 1960 and the 90-day Session of 1961. We hope that the people will feel free to consult us about problems and issues as they arise, and if any Legislation is needed, ample time will be provided for study and consideration before the next meeting of the General Assembly.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING

A special meeting of the Stockholders of The Birnie Trust Company will be held at the office of the Company in Taneytown, Md., on Monday, May 4, 1959 between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock A.M. CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

Early gardening has been greatly retarded by the cold and wet days during the week, and corn planting is also held back for the same cause.

The following were drawn for jury duty for the May term of Court from this district: Elmer S. Hess, Daniel J. Hesson, George K. Duttera and Harry Senft.

The following from Taneytown, representing the Presbyterian and Lutheran C. E. Societies, attended the Hampstead Convention, this week: Miss Amelia H. Birnie, Mary Reindollar and Edna Mehrling, Rev. Dr. H. A. Goff, Mr. Geo. H. Birnie and Master Merwyn Fuss.

Middleburg.—Two of Mrs. R. W. Walden's horses were among the lucky winners at the Pimlico races, this week.—John E. Humbert raised his new barn last week, and now has it under roof.—Walter Johnson met with a painful accident last Saturday while assisting at the raising of J. A. Koontz's barn. A large timber being placed in position fell and to save the lives of several men, Walter caught it with such a grip that two fingers on the left hand were split open.

New Windsor.—Mrs. W. A. Bower, of Taneytown, is spending the week with her parents, John H. Roop and wife.—Quite a number of people have had "Sink Spring" water put in their houses the past few weeks.

NASSER — ENIGMA OF THE MIDDLE EAST

His name is on everyone's lips, in either a curse or a prayer, yet no one really knows Egypt's strong man, and few have seen the inside of his villa. One of those few is American Weekly reporter Nerin E. Gun, who saw and photographed Nasser with his family and freely discussed his plans.

FEESERSBURG

(A Voice from Carroll)

The Maryland General Assembly, during its recent session took a step in the right direction when it added hawks, bluejays and kingfishers to the list of birds now protected by law. Governor Tawes has just signed the bill. Only the starlings, crows, sparrows and buzzards are now unprotected because although they render a distinct service to man as scavengers, there is a reasonable doubt that they also spread certain diseases. But all birds whether man wants to admit it or not contribute in some measure to his own well-being. It is true some birds, like the sparrows and starlings, have habits that annoy man, but the insects these birds eat can also be very annoying. We are very happy that at last the graceful hawk has protection against gun-happy humans. It always grieved us to see these birds shot and then nailed to the side of a barn. A dismal ending for such a noble hunter. Any person that deliberately shoots birds for target practice is lacking in character and sadistic in nature. We know of a man that when he was in his late teens used robins as targets. Now he can't hold a job, is divorced from his wife and is quite a problem to everyone. This doesn't prove that everyone shooting birds will end up this way, but it is reasonable to assume that persons who enjoy killing birds has a kink in his makeup somewhere.

The Mt. St. Mary's College Glee Club is celebrating the celebration of its tenth anniversary by issuing a commemorative record entitled "By Request". The 40 man group under the direction of the Rev. David W. Shaum is heard in sixteen selections from a classical, popular and contemporary repertoire.

The Carroll County Tuberculosis Association met April 13th at Hoffman's Inn for a dinner and to elect officers for 1959-60. Eighteen members with their guests were present and heard a report of the work accomplished in 1958 and a speech by Mrs. Callahan of Baltimore. The following officers were elected for one year term: president, Charles L. Stonesifer; 1st vice-pres., Robert Lee Miller; 2nd vice-pres., Preston C. Coffman; treasurer, Edwin Shauck; Members of the Board: Samuel M. Jennings, Dr. George Schochet, John G. Isaac, Mrs. Paul Lawyer, Mrs. A. Millard Roelke, Mrs. Wm. B. Culwell, Mrs. Earl Rinehart, Mrs. Geo. Magin, Mrs. Gladys Wimer, Miss Maud Manahan, Raymond Buchanan, George Otto, Dr. Wilbur Ford, Willard Uhler, Rev. R. I. Abernathy, Francis Gates, Lawrence Fink. The Carroll County Tuberculosis Association has just concluded the 8th chapter of its history of purpose and achievement. The Crusade against tuberculosis has been a steady movement of progress since the association was organized in 1950. Much has been learned and achieved. But the progress that has been made does not blind the Association to the fact that tuberculosis is still present in Carroll County and that it is important that they deal with it as it exists today, not of yesterday, not until every case of tuberculosis has been found and treated. But the Association cannot do this alone. The public must help. It is every person's duty to learn all they can about the disease, to see that every member of the family gets a regular check up, and to buy Christmas Seals that are sent to each family each year. Together, tuberculosis can be eradicated.

Farmers, beware of persons selling magazines whom you do not know. A farmer in Baltimore county has just been swindled out of $1600 by two magazine salesmen who pretended to be Government agents and accused the farmer of owing "back veterans taxes." The two magazine salesmen were among a group of nineteen who had been selling magazines in the Baltimore area earlier this month. All the men were from out of the state.

This was the Sunday when Maryland clocks were set ahead one hour. We always think that daylight saving was dreamed up during World War I but Benjamin Franklin thought up the idea in 1784. We suppose he spent most of his night awake thinking up inventions and ideas and he saw no reason why other people should do so much sleeping. So he decided to get them out of bed early by inventing daylight saving.

As most teachers have long known, sex is no determining factor in brains. Now this fact must be faced by employees and the public. Only 2 percent of the babies born are potential geniuses and half of these are girls. Girls must be encouraged from the very beginning if they show an interest in tools, machinery, insects or anything that is usually reserved for boys interest only. More girls must be persuaded to give up the easy courses in college for science and engineering. And when they obtain their degrees in these fields and wish to marry and raise a family, it should be made both possible and attractive to her to be a mother and a professional worker. Ways must be found to protect and utilize brains because the destiny of all rests with the few who have brains and use them. We may just as well face the truth now that not one is given the same amount of gray-matter. If only 2 percent of all people born are geniuses its high time we took extra good care of that 2 percent.

Sometimes surprising things happen at a public sale. At Mrs. Minnie Bohn's sale Saturday in Bark Hill two books brought $150.00. Yes, you are reading correctly. . . $150.00.

Husband—Why does a woman say she has been shopping when she hasn't bought a thing?

Wife—Why does a man say he has been fishing when he hasn't caught a thing?

A barn on the farm of Denton Powell, near Baust Church, was destroyed by fire Saturday morning. It is believed that the fire started from a piece of hot metal from a fodder shredder. Fortunately no farm animals were lost but a large amount of feed was lost in the fire.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Hoffman, Thomas, Bruce Thomason, Charles West, and Thomas West.

This past weekend provided a true miracle — a camping trip to Natural Dam on the grounds of Troop 84, Littlestown, that was not marred by a drop of rain. Menus were designed for cooking tests in Second class. First class, and merit badge categories. Some repairs were made to the bridge by Stuart Dom, Shaffer, and Six, and a raft constructed, chiefly by Dom and Six, who also erected an enormous "pup" tent with a gigantic piece of canvas. Present for the outing, which broke up Sunday noon following a Sunday school lesson taught by the scoutmaster, were Flaming arrows Shaffer and Ronald Bowers; Foxes Six, James Tracey, and Dom; Panthers Kootz, Ronald Airing, and Richard Clingan; Raccoons Baer, Gerald Tracey, Harold Bollinger, Paul Stitely and James Wojtkowiak; Kenmit Stambaugh the lone Rattlesnake; Thomas and (on Saturday only) Rock of the leaders; and industrious guest of Kootz.

This Thursday's meeting will be another swimming session at the Frederick "Y", and the theme for May 7 will be taken by Scribe Dom. Frankly, an outdoor game to replace the much overworked "Capture the flag" is needed, and assignments have been made to come up with something new.

Scout Advancement

Advancements in Scout rank earned in the past month include these merit badges: Farm layout and building arrangement by Ronald Bowers; and Cycling and Fishing by Shaffer. A number of Tenderfoot awards should be expected shortly, because Candidate, since January 1, no longer is recognized as a Scout rank.

Patrol Contest

The inter-patrol contest and its concomitant weekly award of theme plaques reveals the Foxes still far in the lead under Six and James Tracey as leaders, with a score of 89. The Raccoons, led by Baer and Gerald Tracey, are second with 57, the Flaming arrows third with 51, Panthers 47, and Rattlesnakes 30. The non-competing leaders have nevertheless amassed a score of 75.

The next council event is the District camporee to be held May 15-16-17 at Big Pipe Creek Park, in the troop's own backyard, to which everyone is looking forward. Besides the judging of camp layout, menus, packs, etc., there will be events in emergency pack making, uniform wear and inspection, a first aid bandage relay, flag care, a knot tying relay, tent pitching, firebuilding, plant life, and a campfire skit.

Paper Drive Date

Should early and continuing rain Saturday make impossible the carrying out of present plans a new date will be announced for a future scrap drive. Scouts able to help with the paper collection are asked to be on hand promptly, at 8:00 a. m.

Birthday Party

A surprise birthday party was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Glass, R. D. 1, Littlestown, in observance of Dr. J. Littlestown, birthday, Saturday, April 25th by the children.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crawford and children, McSherrystown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Glass and son, Westminster R. D. 3; Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Glass, Emmitsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Glass and son, Hanover, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Glass and daughter, Evelyn, Phyllis, Vickie and Dale Glass, R. D. 1, Littlestown, Pa.; Mrs. David Gow, Baltimore; Mrs. Cecil Knott, Hanover, and Mrs. Sylvia Frounfelter, R. D. Taneytown.

Alumni Association Held Dinner Meeting

The Frederick-Carroll Alumni Association held its annual dinner meeting on Thursday, April 16, at Taney Inn, Taneytown, Md., with George Motter, president, presiding.

Roy Miller '58, assistant to Dr. Harold Dunkleberger, was the guest from the college, and told the group of the developments and progress of the college. Interesting colored slides of the campus were shown. A tape recording of President Eisenhower's speech at the recent spring convocation was played during which photographs of the convocation were passed among the group.

The following officers were elected to serve for the next year: President, Cash W. Smith '32; Secretary-Treasurer, Harry Emigh '49; Representative to Alumni Council, George Motter '47.

Those present were: Rev. Stanley Jennings '39 and Mrs. Jennings, Taneytown; Dr. E. S. Falkenstein '21 and Mrs. Falkenstein, Westminster; Rev. Meeting of Carroll County Historical Society

The Historical Society of Carroll County celebrated the twentieth anniversary of its founding in a meeting held at the home of the organization, Westminster, on the evening of April 9. At that time the society paid tribute to one of its former presidents who has done outstanding research work on early land grants. In token of appreciation, A. Earl Shipley, also a former president of the society, presented Dr. Tracey with a portfolio which artistically outlines his achievements.

The theme of the program was Memories of our First Year. Mrs. Carroll Shunk, attired in a green taffeta gown of a century and a half ago, recalled the meeting of Feb. 2, 1939 by reading the first minutes. Excerpts follow:

Mrs. Harry M. Kimmey and Mrs. Carroll W. Shunk, having discussed the advantage of having the former residence of the late Miss Mary Bostwick Shellman for a community house, Mrs. Kimmey called a meeting at her residence for Thursday evening, February 2. Those present were Mrs. M. John Lynch, E. Claude Erb, Miss Bonnie Custerborder, Mrs. G. W. Carroll Shunk, Mrs. Charles O. Clemson, Henry Himler, Dr. Levine Billingslea, H. Peyton Corsuch, Miss Lillian Shipley, Mrs. John Smith of Wakefield, Mrs. John Wood, Jr., D. Eugene Walsh, Miss Adeline Hoffman, Mrs. Agnes Jones, Mrs. Agnes Fink Michaux, and Mrs. Harry Kimmey.

This was followed by a report of subsequent meetings compiled from the Scrap Book and the Minutes of the Society by Dorothy Elderdice. Highlights follow:

March 11, 1939. Braving rain, snow, hail, and slippery roads, about 75 men and women from Carroll County and from Baltimore attended the meeting at the Westminster High School, called for the purpose of organizing a Carroll Co. Historical Society. The speakers were George R. Babylon, one of the founders of the Carroll County Society of Baltimore and J. Walter Eckenrode, president of the same organization. They assured firm support for the new venture. Mrs. William H. Thomas, chairman of the nominating committee, nominated Senator Baile for president; Chas. W. Melville and Dr. Arthur C. Tracey for vice-president; Mrs. W. Carroll Shunk for treasurer, and Mrs. Charles O. Clemson for secretary.

April 20. The Certificate of our incorporation as the Historical Society of Carroll County was issued to J. David Baile, Mary Gray Clemson, and Irene Buchanan Shunk as authorized incorporators of the society.

May 19, 1939. A large group of interested persons assembled in the Westminster High School for the first meeting of the society as an incorporated body. Miss Elizabeth Billingslea, chairman of the program committee, had secured for the guest speakers, Judge Edward S. Delaplaine of Frederick and Henry James Young, director of the historical society of York County, Dr. Arthur G. Tracey also spoke. At this time there were 7 life members and 213 annual members.

July 31. At the open meeting in the Opera House July 31, Mrs. Harry Kimmey stated that the purpose of the meeting was to discuss the purchase of the Shellman House. Many spoke in favor of bidding for the home when put up for sale.

August 12, 1:30 p.m. John H. Cunningham, executor of the Shellman estate, put up the property for sale as advertised. Colonel T.K. Harrison, acting for the Historical Society of Carroll County, was the only bidder. About 20 members of the society were on hand to celebrate the immediate possession of the property.

September 24. The society inaugurated the custom of holding open house on Sunday afternoons. Mrs. Agnes Jones and Miss M. Louise Matthews were the first hostesses.

November 9. The first annual meeting was held in the auditorium of the Westminster High School. The newly formed constitution and by-laws were adopted. Committee chairman gave enthusiastic reports.

Feb. 15, 16, and 19, 1940. The Historical Society celebrated the 1st anniversary of its founding with an original drama, entitled TALES OF LORENZO DOW, based on local history and tradition. Members of the Society joined the Westminster Players in the cast. At this time there were 340 annual members of the historical society, 23 life members, and 95 permanent home members.

At the meeting of April 9 1959 twenty-four of the charter members were in attendance. A number of them gave impromptu memories of the first year of the society. At the conclusion they joined with other members and guests in a tour through the newly renovated basement.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO— Part I

The young often ask, and are curious to know About the games and customs of 100 years ago; Yoy may think I am kidding; but, let me say Things were quite different from to-day.

Then, labor was cheap, and traffic was slow— (Six miles per hour was as fast as they could go); And, a dollar a day, from sun to sun, Was the average wage paid to everyone.

This may sound trivial; but, let me also say Those fellows made America what it is to-day; To make her great Old Dobbin, too, did his best; And, for that reason deserves a good rest.

Concerning the games the young used to play, The most refined was the game called "Croquet"; On every campus and lawn around A red and yellow croquet set could be found.

Playing marbles was another popular game, If a boy "shot" one he would claim the same; And, at Easter, "egg picking" was the rage— A game in which the youngsters would engage.

Skating and sledding took up most of our time When, on the creek and up the hills we would climb; To go skating and sledding was a great delight, On a beautiful, moonlight winter's night.

In those days such a thing as a buggy was not known; When a fellow went "sparking", he went alone; Old Dobbin would take him right up to the door; Then, stand and eat grass as he did before.

I knew of some who went sixteen miles away Who never reached home till break of day; Their horses jumped the tollgate if the keeper slept; So, in that way, many a dime was kept.

Such a contraption as a "bike" was only a dream Of the boys with whom I used to team; To build them of wood, the hub was too big To make them a practical sort of rig.

The people all lived in a primitive way; They had no buggies - (not even a sleight!); Either on "shank's mare", or, horseback they went— In that way many a whole life was spent.

Some went barefoot six months of the year— (Never wore shoes unless company was near!); When a girl went to town in that early day She used to go barefoot part of the way.

When she entered the town she put on her shoes; And kept them on till she heard the news; But, when she returned, at the foot of the hill, She took them off, a parental mandate to fill.

The tallow candle and the old cook stove Furnished light and heat for all who would rove; And the games of old all were played In the light which the tallow candles made.

Of the round bellied coal stove with its rosy glow The country people did not then know; Wood was the fuel used in days of old To cook a meal, or give heat to the cold.

Sugar was another commodity hard to be found, The first to arrive was sold by the pound, With a hammer and chisel the merchant would thump When cutting a pound from a 100 pound lump.

Soap, the modern detergent of our day, Like some other things had not come our way; Neither had cleansers yet reached the land— On every sink stood a box of silversand.

The soaps of those days were all made of lye; So, at bathing time, the kids used to cry; That burning sensation would cause great fear, And, much lamentation we used to hear.

The water was heated by the sun in a tub; And, to remove grime, the mother would rub; And the harder she rubbed the more kids would cry Because of that horrible soap made with lye.

Great ash-hoppers, holding ashes of wood At every place in the country stood; They were out in the open to catch water from the sky; And from them, the people got their lye.

Then, too, the round bake-oven was a familiar sight (Some were kept going day and night); They used to gladden both nose and eye When, from within came a big apple pie.

There were few factories of any kind Except the old mill which used to grind The wheat from which we got our bread; And it, by water-power, was fed.

The cannery was an important innovation far and wide; Before its advent all fruits were dried; In every yard tables of fruit could be seen Covered with mosquito bar, red, pink or green.

They had no paper money, no matches, no lamp, in that day; In the spring when the mud was ankle deep And, out of which one tried to keep.

That is how people lived 100 years ago When the old horizon was hanging low; Nothing new ever seemed to appear; So, they lived the same way from year to year.

But, up in Philadelphia in 1876, A new horizon men started to fix; They raised the old one many miles high; And, a new panorama greeted each eye.

That event took place 80 years ago— (What it did for America we all know). Right on its heels things started to go, And, all of our cities began to grow.

The Philadelphia Centennial of 1876 Was the curtain which hid old customs and tricks, A new world was seen by the physical eye When the old horizon was lifted high.

Old Horace Greely, along with the rest Shouted: "Young men! young men, go west!" Men took his advice, and to-day, they say, The West is a model in every way.

Forty, a Bible number, is said to be; And, it seems to be true of America; For, in 40 years this country was made, It was then her foundation for greatness was laid.

From 1874 to 1914, this great land of ours Grew to be the mightiest of all the powers, The Bible predicted such would be the case And it can be said of no other place.

Incredible, you say?—Not by any means— It is only a part of God's plan, it seems. Men have tried to make this a democracy; But, it has always been a theocracy.

God still rules here to-day as in the past; His treasures here are costly and vast; This is called the great granary of the world, Because in this country, His flag is unfurled.

In every move which we make to-day Whether we ask Him or not God has a big say, He controls man's mind as in days of old And they always do what they are told.

This statement is backed by the Book of books, We see it in practice wherever one looks; God handled Pharaoh as a potter does clay, And just so He does with our Nation to-day.

God has always had places for people to go; To escape the anarchists fatal blow; And, this great El Dorado is just such a place, And her doors are open to every race.

Wm. McKinley once asked: "What right have we To deny entrance to those who flee From persecution, and would like to come here, To worship God in safety from year to year?"

God knew what it is to be an emigrant, (As a child many years in Egypt He spent); So, He made this country, the Land of the Free; A refuge for all who from tyranny flee.

America is a land of wealth and opportunity; Because God intends that so it shall be; Then, let us cease wondering, and know that He Made it just what it is—A Land of the Free.

Big Executive

Lesson for May 3, 1959

DAVID, as King of Israel, would not make nearly so large a splash in the modern world as he did in his time. For one thing, his kingdom was a large one, for him, but in our times it would seem to be pretty small. At its greatest extent it measured only about 350 miles north to south, and an average of about 120 east to west. Lay that down alongside the map of your own state, and it will not look enormous. Furthermore, kings are very unpopular nowadays. We cherish the few that are left, but more as curiosities than as vital necessities.

Dr. Foreman

Nevertheless, this ancient freebooter who rose to a throne, who hacked a kingdom out of the wrecks of other kingdoms, was a man of such strength of character personally that he has remained a figure of romance and religion combined, for centuries. It would not do us much good to think of him as king, for nobody around here has any ambitions to become a king. Still, most Americans do cherish the ambition of some day becoming an executive, the bigger the better; and we can do ourselves some good by thinking of David as a good example of a big executive.

For the People

The executive will always be with us. Whether you are operating a lifeboat or an orchestra or a college or a steel plant, there has to be a boss of some kind. People may not like particular bosses, but a man who thinks we'd better abolish all bosses doesn't know what he's talking about. The ancient king, like the modern business executive, is the policy-maker, he makes the decisions that affect his whole business. If he is any good, he is worth his extra salary. But what makes a boss a good one? Of course he should know the business well, from the inside; and David surely did. He knew the land and the people, he was an experienced guerilla fighter, he had been trained in the leadership of smaller units before he took high command. He knew what the people needed, having come up from the ranks, he knew what they thought and what they wanted and how they lived. It is said of him that he "administered justice and equity to all his people." Some kings have used their power for themselves; David used his for his people.

Public Relations

David was no Hitler, perpetually unsatisfied so long as another country was left unconquered. He dreamed no dreams of world-empire. His territory for those days was ample, and larger than most. We read of his friendly relations with other kingdoms on various borders. Now that is another mark of the good executive; he not only uses his position for the public good, but he maintains good "public relations" in every direction. Nowadays every business of any size, including educational institutions, will have a public-relations director. This is not mere advertising. Whatever good your outfit may be able to do, it can do its job better if its aims are understood.

Under God

David was first and last a religious man. He learned some hard lessons the hard way; one of these was that not even a king can be above the law of God. His kingdom, strictly speaking, was not his own; it was God's kingdom which he was expected to manage as God's representative. The people he ruled were God's people before they were his. Like all kings, he came and went; only God remains forever. God is King of Kings, Lord of Lords. When J. B. Phillips came to translate Ephesians 6:9, he had a happy thought. Turning what Paul writes into the forms of the 20th century, he remembers that "master" and "slave" are no longer realistic words. So he has Paul warn employers: Remember that you are responsible to a Heavenly Employer! High office, whether it is in a business firm, a manufacturing plant, a university, or in a political position, is not only a public trust, but it is a responsibility under God.

CLEANING TRICKS

Before you store your summer things in the closet, take everything out and give it a good cleaning and airing. How about perking up your closet with a new color scheme? If it is off the bedroom, it's a good idea to carry the same color in the shelves, trim and baseboards, but try a contrasting one on the walls. Yellow is pretty with green or white; turquoise is smart with navy. Use the same color scheme for a linoleum floor. It will be so easy to keep clean and neat with a quick once-over mopping with a Spic and Span solution, the special product for hard-surface floorings that's fine for painted surfaces, too. Give your storage boxes new coverings by using the wallpaper in your color scheme, and be sure to label each box with the contents so it's easy to find everything when the next season rolls around.

If the ceramic tile in your bathroom has a dull, spattered look, make a solution of Spic and Span (½ cup in a pail of hot water) and with a sponge wipe off all of the surface. Use a toothbrush to remove dirt between the tiles. Rub down with an old Turkish towel to polish. Plastic tile may be cleaned the same way.

Whatever it's called—family room, rumpus room or playroom—it's the room for fun and relaxation. The most practical type of flooring for such a room is, of course, asphalt or vinyl or vinyl asphalt, which is so easy to keep clean with the special product designed for cleaning hard-surface floorings and painted surfaces. No rinsing or wiping dry is needed—a boon to a busy housewife. Look for lightweight and easily movable furniture for this room, preferably upholstered in plastic fabrics for easy upkeep. Let the colors be gay and light. Use ingenuity in decoration on the walls—a collection of old sheet music, menus, old playbills or posters—whatever appeals to the family.

Bright Ideas

PLAN NOW FOR CHRISTMAS '59. January is the ideal time to start saving for next Dec. 25, say bank experts. Then, you can save regularly in much smaller amounts because you have almost a full year in which to save. And to back up their point, they provide Christmas Club savings accounts in many banks today. These clubs run in 50 week cycles so you can collect your Christmas money in plenty of time to do your shopping. So, if you were caught short-of-cash this Christmas, take a tip from your experience and start now to save for the arrival of old St. Nick in '59.

A GOOD CLEAR letter is easy to write if you follow a few simple rules, according to the Voicewriter division of Thomas A. Edison Industries, experts in the communications and office-dictation field. Clear expression of one idea at a time, set down in logical order, is the prime ingredient of a good letter. Also, sentences should average about a dozen words. Too many people try to "impress" instead of "express," says Voicewriter. But you can overcome this hazard by simply being yourself. Just let your message be as friendly and direct as if you were talking to the recipient face-to-face.

YOUR POINSETTIA plants will live after Christmas if you follow these tips from the experts: Guard them from drafts and make sure that they have a "long night"—nearly 12 hours of complete darkness. It's important that this "sleep" be uninterrupted by even brief periods of light. To keep the plants dormant, don't water until April. Poinsettias also may be troubled with mealy bugs and scale insects. To combat these pests, use a handy aerosol spray insecticide, the Antrol African Violet and House Plant Insect Bomb.

Is My Baby All Right?

Medical Research Offers Hope In Solving Birth Defects Problem

By THOMAS M. RIVERS, M.D.
Medical Vice President,
The National Foundation

Birth defects are the largest childhood medical problem in America today. Yet we know amazingly little about their causes. Tremendous strides have been made by medical science in the past two decades. Yet when it comes to ways of preventing these disorders that afflict over a quarter million infants a year before they are born, we are like early explorers embarking on vast uncharted seas.

Not so many years ago we knew almost as little about polio. In 1938, at a time when our cities were periodically scourged by polio epidemics, when thousands of children were paralyzed almost before they had learned to walk, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was formed.

With March of Dimes money this pioneer health organization planned a great research program and financed talented scientists who began probing at the root of this disease. In quick succession came a whole series of brilliant medical achievements: typing the various strains of polio virus; growing viruses in cultures of nonnervous tissues, developing the Salk vaccine; testing it in field trials of history-making magnitude; and putting it into use with unprecedented speed.

Target: Birth Defects

Polio is now declining sharply. It may soon, we hope, become a thing of the past. With this victory in sight, the National Foundation now turns its accumulated experience and know-how to other health areas where the same kind of research, patient aid and training of professional disease fighters is sorely needed. Birth defects are now one of its major targets.

Research in birth defects is closely allied to work already done by National Foundation scientists on the nature of the living cell. Before they could find a polio preventive, these scientists had to know how a cell grows and how it acts when invaded by a virus.

This is called basic research.

Though basic research does not necessarily tell us how we can cure or prevent a disease, without it we are like people wandering about in a darkened house that needs repairs. Until we get light on the structure of the house, we cannot really remedy its flaws.

Every human being develops from a cell. How this cell grows into a person is still one of the prime mysteries of all biology. But National Foundation scientists have already learned much about a substance called nucleic acid which exists at the core of all human cells. Indeed, it forms the core of all living things, including viruses. It is this substance which is the key to heredity and the development of the unborn child.

"Pilot of Life"

Nucleic acid, a complex molecule, consists of two thin, spiral strands, intertwined like vines, upon which hang atoms like clusters of "berries." Somehow—though we do not know exactly how—this acid keeps the germ cell on its course, determining that it shall develop eyes, ears, nose, skeleton, internal organs and extremities. That is why nucleic acid is often called "the automatic pilot of life."

If the nucleic acid is defective, the direction it gives to the growth of the cell is faulty. This kind of "misdirection" can then result in an infant with a minor defect such as nearsightedness or color blindness, or with a serious defect such as a clubfoot or an open spine.

Or again, the nucleic acid in the human germ may be normal to begin with, only to be damaged by some outside agent. X-ray radiation, for instance, may cut the nucleic acid strands or knock off some of the berry-like particles. Then the infant will be born malformed.

Avoid Strong Drugs

Strong drugs and narcotics, large doses of alcohol, lack of oxygen (hypoxia) and certain types of virus infections may cause similar malformations in the growing embryo. The effect of virus infections upon the unborn child is a particularly fertile field for research.

In the second article of this series I mentioned German measles, which can damage an infant if the mother is infected during the early stages of pregnancy. Scientists now suspect that other viruses may cause similar damage. These are the so-called "orphan" viruses, discovered by National Foundation virologists while they were studying polio virus. Cousins to the polio viruses, the "orphan" group was so labelled because they could at first be identified with no known disease. Originally they were thought to be harmless. Since then it has been found that they may cause meningitis and even paralysis. Coxsackie viruses, another recently discovered group of "cousins," may cause meningitis, mild paralysis, heart disease and even death.

In the summer of 1957 over 400,000 persons in Milwaukee and the Twin Cities were stricken with one of this group, known as ECHO 9 virus. Two research projects now receiving March of Dimes support are examining the children of mothers attacked by ECHO 9 to determine if this virus has injurious effects upon unborn infants.

Antibiotics are already used to protect the embryo from syphilis. Medical research may uncover more drugs and chemicals to control other causes of malformation.

Rehabilitation Offers Hope

There is still another area in which research offers hope for the future. Not long ago a disabled person was often doomed to a useless life in bed or wheel chair, barred from society's normal activities. This deprivation no longer holds. In its efforts to salvage paralyzed polio patients, the National Foundation sponsored contributions to the techniques of rehabilitation now widely used in crippling due to many other causes. The search for still new rehabilitation methods will continue. One new project with great potentialities is the invention by National Foundation grantees of an "artificial muscle." Not yet perfected for mass production, this device may aid disabled persons to use their hands and arms.

For all such projects pushing forward the frontiers of knowledge, medical science needs more skilled manpower. A great researcher, like a great poet, painter or writer, cannot be found at random. He combines imagination, determination, technique and knowledge. Nobody can endow a man with imagination or determination, but if he has them we can teach him the requisite techniques and knowledge.

To Train Disease Fighters

This is what the professional education program of the National Foundation seeks to do. Its object is to provide more doctors, scientific investigators, medical social workers, physical and occupational therapists. In recent years the National Foundation swelled their ranks by thousands. It is now expanding its program to help train still more battalions of disease fighters. Persons with birth defects will be among the many who will be helped.

Besides birth defects, other areas of March of Dimes activity are polio, arthritis and virus diseases.

A Surprise Party

A surprise birthday with 30 persons in attendance was held Sunday April 26 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Crum and son, 36 George St., in honor of Mrs. Crum's grandfather, Mr. Thomas Fox, Keyville, who became 86 years of age. Mr. Fox was the recipient of a beautiful 3-tier birthday cake and many nice gifts. The party was given Mr. Fox by his immediate family.

Those present beside Mr. Fox were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Crum and son; Mr. and Mrs. Upton Austin, Mr. Melvin Austin, Mr. William Austin, Mrs. Virgie Ohler, Mr. Joseph Ohler, Mrs. William Topper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ohler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Austin and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Little, Mrs. Dennis Overholtzer and daughter, Mrs. William Ridinger, Miss Vivian Rowe and Miss Ann Holly.
