In the center of the auditorium was a Japanese pagoda surrounded by potted chrysanthemums and ferns and furnished with wrought iron garden furniture. The walls were decorated with a stone border, Japanese writing, and dogwood and cherry blossoms. The pagoda and a canopy on three sides of the auditorium were hung with Japanese lanterns. The entrance was particularly attractive with floral garlands and a gravel walk through a garden of flowers. Murals of Japanese landmarks decorated the entrance and background of the stage. In front of the stage banked with ferns and geraniums was a pool of water into which there cascaded an imitation waterfall created with dry ice.

To further carry out the theme, waitresses wearing Oriental costumes served the buffet supper consisting of ham, scalloped potatoes, peas, relishes, rolls, ice cream, cookies, coffee, punch, and mints.

TANEYTOWN NEEDS MORE FIRE PROTECTION

Reason Outlined by Cambridge Rubber Company Official

In the letter below, Cambridge Rubber Company calls the Mayor and City Council's attention to the need for better fire protection in Taneytown by increasing the water supply. They neglected to stress the need for more water in supplying the increased size of water mains. Increasing the size of the water mains is not the complete answer if there is not sufficient water to keep them filled.

In the last fifteen to twenty years the water level has receded, an indication that water is not as plentiful as it was years ago. Should a severe drought occur during the summer, it could be possible that Taneytown would suffer a water shortage. This is not at all impossible—several summers ago some of the wells at the pump house showed a very weak condition in supplying water for the town.

Would it not be a wise move for the Mayor and City Council to begin exploring means of meeting a water shortage in the dry summer months? (Editor).

The letter follows:
TO THE Mayor and Council, Taneytown, Maryland. Gentlemen:

We have discussed at various times with the Mayor and certain members of your Council the necessity of improving the water supply and its pressure, not only as required for our Taneytown factory and its operations, but as needed for the entire City of Taneytown.

Early in 1942 our original plant was completely destroyed by fire, resulting in unemployment of all its employees. We have recently completed a new plant of 36,000 square feet in Taneytown which means we are now employing between 600 and 700 people in Taneytown and 300 to 400 people in Littlestown. A large majority of these people are residents of Taneytown and its surrounding area and we can readily understand and appreciate the disastrous economic effect it would have on the community if all these employees were thrown out of work due to our plant being destroyed by fire.

We carry fire insurance on all buildings, machinery, and merchandise. The related insurance companies are insistent that some major improvement be made in the present public water system in order that there will be sufficient water, not only to operate our plant, but to adequately cover the requirements needed in the event of any fire.

LIONS PROGRAM--- THE TELEPHONE

Technicalities of this Instrument Explained by the Speaker

When Frank T. Dunham, President of the Taneytown Lions Club, in his dual capacity as bulletin editor, requested each member to bring a guest to the meeting last Tuesday, May 12, at 6:29 p. m., in Taney Inn, he promised a program good for any one who might take advantage of the privilege. Homer Y. Myers, who arranged the evening's entertainment, came thru in grand style, through the courtesy of Messrs. Howard Walters and Ralph Everhart of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

President Frank conducted the meeting, the Rev. Edmund P. Welker pronounced the invocation, Singleton E. Remsburg led a brief period of group singing with Harry L. Reinhold at the piano, and following a fine ham dinner served by the Inn, members were called upon to introduce their guests, who were: Henry Alexander, Charles Angell, the son of Theodore Fair, William Feaser, Chas. Fritz, John Gonder, Stanley King, Paul Morelock, John Perry, Ronald Sappington, Herman Saylor, William Stonesifer, Clifton Utz, Oscar Wargny, and Jesse Wimer.

Introduced by Program chairman Homer, the speaker, Mr. Walters, then launched into quite an interesting explanation of the purpose of the telephone company, which is to carry intelligence, and the fantastic ways by which they do it. He began with illuminating the lights of his exhibit by striking an ordinary match and warning it magically before a thermister (a heat-sensing device much used in the telephone business,) enumerating the sorts of messages carried aside from the human voice, namely tele-

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Such a beautiful sight as one gazes upon the lawns throughout the city of those wonderful and colorful Azalea plants—pinks and reds. They sure do give wonderful "Lifter-Upper" to any lawn. It is always sad when they fade so soon as a few other flowers, too. The Pink Dogwood is doing beautifully and hope they last longer than last year. So much for April as it plans for the wonderful month of May!

As I write this Column, that precious Sugar girl is looking up at me and then rolls her eyes to my lap asking me how soon I will be finished that she desires to jump up. Those who do not understand or love animals would never take time out to actually listen to their line of talk. Last night, believe it or not, Sugar was asking me to play ball and all I said was, "Go down in the cellar and get your bone which you left in your box!" In one minute that dog was back handing me the hope with constant wagging of that short curly and beautiful tail. My guests remarked, "If I was not here to see that, I would have been frightfully hard to convince that dog actually knew what you said!" Never before that means years ago were dogs in limelight as they are now for a dog was just a dog and that was it! Remember?

If you don't think that "Life Begins at 80"—read on—84 year old Sir Winston Churchill put himself forward as a candidate for the House of Commons where he first won a seat just 59 years ago and then added, "As your Member of Parliament, I shall do my best to serve you as my breath holds out!" WHEE!

And as for that Bachelor—Frank Parker—"the hard to get guy" is to marry a Hollywood girl! Whoops! As for that sweet American Princess our own Grace Kelly will be holding another precious Cherub in her arms as this Observer stated in a Column (Continued on Fifth Page)

THE LETTER FROM CAMBRIDGE RUBBER COMPANY

It is only for this reason we are here again to present to you this situation as we need your immediate cooperation, so that we may advise our insurance companies as to what improvements will be made in the immediate future to provide an adequate water supply and increased water pressure.

It is interesting to recollect that when we first located our factory in Carroll County we did not have any city taxes to pay as the property on which the plant was located was outside the corporate limits of Taneytown. However, shortly thereafter, the boundaries of Taneytown were extended and we are now paying, and have paid for a number of years, a steadily increasing appreciable amount of city taxes.

We do not remember of ever calling on the Mayor or the Council for any favors in connection with our operations. In this particular instance, we have no alternative but to plead that immediate steps be taken to increase the water supply and pressure of the City so that the entire community may be adequately supplied with the normal water requirements demanded by the various insurance companies. This is imperative.

We have been informed that your consulting engineers have prepared a plan divided into three progressive stages for improving both the pressure and water supply in Taneytown. We feel there is no question that action should immediately be taken to complete at least Stage #1.

We all know what has been done for new industries coming into other communities and for those who have been domiciled in the same community for ten or fifteen years or longer.

In one case, the Town ran a new 12 inch water line for a distance of approximately six miles so that a factory would have adequate water for fire protection and its operations. Also this plant was given certain tax benefits when it located in the community.

In another instance a 6 inch water line was replaced by an 8 inch water line for a distance of approximately one-half mile to provide an adequate supply of water. There are many other similar situations with which you are fully acquainted.

Some years ago an insufficient water supply gave us a great deal of concern at Littlestown where another one of our plants is located. This matter was taken up with the Mayor and Council and an adequate improvement was made both in the water pressure and the volume of water. It is our hope that you gentlemen will likewise make an adequate improvement in the water situation at Taneytown.

We have flow tests showing the water available at locations near our plant and we will be very glad to present them to you if you desire. These tests show both the static pressure and the number of gallons of water available per minute and they indicate the present serious lack of water supply.

You are aware that several years ago to improve the fire protection at our plant, we erected a sprinkler tank at a cost of approximately $50,000.00. However this large tank, with the present water supply from the City of Taneytown, is not now sufficient to give adequate fire protection.

In the event that nothing is done by Taneytown in the very near future, we will have to make an additional large expenditure to install another water tank and related pumps on our property. However, this will only protect our own plants in case of a fire and will not be of any benefit to the community as a whole. Even though our company should install a new water tank and related pumps, we still may have increased insurance costs unless Stage #1 is completed. On the other hand, the improvement by Stage #1 will result in marked improvement to the fire protection of the community and reduce insurance rates to some industries and mercantiles.

It does not seem fair to expect us to make large expenditures due to an inadequate water supply and water pressure in the City. You are well aware of the loss the community would suffer in the event of a catastrophe at our plant, and it is for this reason only that we ask consideration be given to the installation of an adequate water supply for Taneytown.

May we again point out that in the event improvements are made in the water system all mercantile and factory unsprinklered plants will have a rate benefit. Also some plants that are now sprinklered, but do not have adequate water, will likewise receive a reduction in insurance rates.

However, if the water improvements are made we will not obtain any reduction in our insurance costs.

We have been informed water rates will be increased in Taneytown and that we will have to make increased payments to the City as a result. On the other hand, there has not been an adequate improvement in the amount of water available or water pressure in the event of fire.

We understand you are considering immediately installing a 600 gallon automatic pump to take the place of the present manually operated pump. This will be some improvement, but it will not be sufficient to take care of the over all water requirements.

May we suggest when the foregoing automatic pump is installed, that the present manually operated pump be changed over to a electrically operated one.

Also, the pumps to be so arranged so that (1) when the water level at the present tank drops 5 feet one pump goes into operation and (2) when the water level drops 10 feet the second pump goes into operation. This should always keep the tank at an adequate level.

In this short period of time it is impossible to review all the various details and specifications involved in the several plans to improve the Taneytown water supply both as to fire protection and insurance requirements.

Our fire insurance companies for the last three years have been calling on us for improvements in the water situation of Taneytown and they have been very lenient in their demands. However, they now are insisting that something be done promptly towards a major improvement in the Taneytown water supply and water pressure.

We know we will have your cooperation and that you appreciate the necessity of prompt action so we can advise the insurance companies as to when steps will be taken to bring conditions in line with their recommendations for the protection of all Taneytown.

Yours very truly,

Internal Revenue Office Receives Aspirin

Some people do have sympathy for the Internal Revenue Service, according to Irving Machiz, District Director for the Baltimore District, who received the following letter from a taxpayer after April 15:

"I am extremely sorry, but I just realize that I forgot to attach Form W-2 to the rest of the papers mailed to you a few days ago. I realize that this will cause extra headaches and am herewith enclosing a couple of aspirins, and believe me, I am not doing this to be facetious either."

Sure enough, there were two aspirins enclosed.

CURRENT EVENTS
FIFTY YEARS AGO

The public schools close next week, and both teachers and children will welcome the change.

The United Brethren church has just been repapered, a new carpet laid, and gas fixtures installed, which greatly improves its interior appearance.

Mr. Lloyd M. Basehoar, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Basehoar, student of the Dental Department, University of Maryland, was awarded the "Gold Medal" of the Freshman Class on his mechanical work.

The interior of St. Joseph's Catholic Church is being handsomely frescoed and will be finished about June 1st. The work has already been in progress several weeks.

Tyrone—Jacob Rodkey is building an addition to his house on his farm tenanted by his son, Ira. The fence around the church and cemetery at Baust's was painted, which makes quite an improvement. Guy Haines and wife and Sterling Myerly and wife spent Sunday with friends near Medford.

Harney—Mr. John D. Hesson has again opened up his green grocery store at this place and it is believed will do a good business. Mr. Harry Wolf has commenced laying the concrete blocks of his new house.

White washing is the order of the day around this place and the fences are beginning to shine. Mr. J. W. Fream, our popular house painter and paper hanger is very busy.

Frizzellburg—George Harmon has raised his washhouse and is digging a cellar under it. Our boys have organized a baseball team here and plans are being made for the purchase of new suits.

Proceedings of the School Board. From five localities in the county, requests, and in some cases urgent demands have come to the School Board for new school houses, or for an additional room to the present house. The board has no money with which to undertake the work and for that reason at their regular meeting held May 3, a resolution was passed they would not build any house or additions this summer. During the past nine years the Board has built 12 new school houses. There are about 140 schools.

The meeting opened with the pledge to the Flag and group singing. The theme of the meeting was "Down on the Farm". Den #2 read a few articles concerning farm products in the United States. Den #1 presented a skit in pantomime (of different farm animals) to the song "Old MacDonald had a Farm", sung by the families of the Scouts.

A prize for the best farm costume was won by Rose Mary Mathias.

Cubmaster Harold Warner presented achievement awards to the following boys: Den #1, Wayne Myers, Bear Badge; Den #2, Gary Sanner, Wolfe Badge.

RURAL MAIL BOX IMPROVEMENT WEEK
May 18 to May 23, 1959

Annual Mail Box Improvement Week will be observed this year during the week of May 18 thru 23 which includes boxes on rural routes with collection and delivery service.

The Department emphasizes that it is the responsibility of the rural patron to provide suitable boxes, erected and maintained for easy and safe accessibility, presenting a neat appearance, and affording protection for the mail. Boxes that are improperly erected or in unserviceable condition retard delivery of mail and expose it to the weather.

Names of box owners should be inscribed on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door if boxes are grouped. The box number may be inscribed on the box if desired. Boxes and supports should be kept painted they may be painted either white or silver, and your name in neat black letters about one inch in height on the side of the box.

Rural mail boxes must be located on the right side of the road in the direction of travel of the carriers in all cases where traffic conditions are such that it would be dangerous for the carriers to drive to the left in order to serve the boxes, or where their doing so would constitute a violation of State or local traffic laws and regulations. Approved rural boxes must be of the regulation type and located at the curb line, and erected so that the bottom of the box will be 3 1/2 to 4 feet above the roadway.

Please cooperate with this program; take pride in your mail box as part of your home.

FEESBURG

(A Voice from Carroll)

It use to be the custom that not until a public figure had been dead at least a hundred years was it deemed proper to recognize his greatness or his contribution to history. But customs have changed radically in this respect and we think for the best.

Last week two men were honored while they are still alive and can personally enjoy the honors. They were Winston Churchill and Harry Truman, two men who will certainly be remembered in history books, but how fitting that they should be recognized for their ability while they are still with us. These two men have much in common but the one trait that stands out more than any other is their personal courage and bull-dog determination.

We like to believe that this is peculiar to Americans but we must concede that the British never lacked these peculiarities too. Courage can be found every where in all people, but it is especially needed in heads of government. Both Mr. Churchill and Mr. Truman were heads of their respective governments in a critical period of history; both of them knew it and acted accordingly. It is proper that the British people and the Americans honor these men now.

The Carroll County Scholarship Fund sponsored an entertainment Friday night in Alumni Hall, Western Maryland College which drew an appreciative audience. The program was so arranged that all sections of the county were represented by their talent. Representing Union Bridge and Uniontown districts was Miss Nancy Roelke, student at Western Maryland College. All proceeds from the sale of tickets and from patrons will go towards the scholarship fund of the county.

We often wonder how all the mothers before 1908 got along without "Mother's Day" since it wasn't until that year that a day was set aside to honor mother. But they seemed to have thrived rather well without a special attention day although they certainly deserved one.

What with doing the family laundry on a wash board, cooking meals on a wood stove, carrying water from an outside well, ironing with flat irons heated on the kitchen range and making the family clothes, mothers would have loved all the attention her counterpart receives today. But she would have settled for the modern kitchen with its electrical appliance in preference to flowers and candy and sentimental cards. But in spite of all the hard work without benefit of applause on a special day the mothers of yesteryears were something special. They knew that the home with mother in it was the key to a happy and satisfying life. They knew that children wanted mother to be home when they returned from school and she was there. No club meetings, or bridge parties or outside job kept her from her real work of being full-time mother. She did not know what a baby-sitter was for she had no reason for requiring one. She lived only for her family and if her family took her for granted she did not mind. For being a mother had its own reward.

The announcer—Charles Whitney; Herald—Drew Caparola; invocation—Rev. Donald Brake. The High School Chorus and the Band presented several musical selections. Others taking part in the entertainment were Stella May Stutz, Edith Smith, Althea Snyder, Susan Shry and Leonard Michaels. The May fete drew a large and appreciative audience.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Carroll County General Hospital held a meeting Monday evening at the Carroll County Medical Center. Gladys Wignert, president, presided. Representatives from the Hanover Hospital Auxiliary explained how they work with the hospital to raise funds for the different needs of the institution. Mr. Atlee Wampler showed a rough sketch of the future Carroll County Hospital and it clearly indicated that the Hospital will be a very modern and convenient building. Incidentally work on the hospital should begin in July. The delay has been caused by the reorganizing of plans for the building. The Women's Auxiliary now has close to 400 members from all parts of the country. The meeting Monday night was attended by 75 members with all districts represented except two. The white elephant sale following the business meeting was a financial success and furnished lots of laughter. Charles Roop was the auctioneer. The tentative date for the next meeting is August 31 st.

On his deathbed, Alexandre Dumas, the famed French writer, was told by his disappointed son, that there were only a few coins left in the family treasury. "How wonderful," enthused the elder Dumas. "That's precisely the sum I had with me when I first came to Paris. Imagine living like a king for half a century and it hasn't cost me a cent."

This world, after all our science and theories is still a miracle; wonderful, inscrutable, magical and more, to whosoever will think of it.

What Is Advertising?

James D. Woolf, writing in a recent issue of Advertising Age, expresses the opinion that "Advertising is a business that is concerned first and foremost with the art of persuasion. To persuade you to buy my product or service, I must promise you convincingly that my product will do something for you, will benefit you in some desirable way: it will make you happier, healthier, more beautiful, more popular, richer, more secure, or whatever. What I say to you in print or other media is the same thing I would say to you if I were talking with you face to face. It's as simple as that."

Permit us to add our own reminder: Advertising won't sell anything that won't sell without advertising.

Policemen sometimes get in trouble drinking in saloons. Maybe this will correct it.

Since you cannot refrain from drinking, why not start a saloon in your own home? Be the only customer and you will not have to buy a license. Give your wife $55 to buy a case of whiskey. There are 240 drinks in a case. Buy all of your drinks from your wife at 60c a drink and in 12 days (when the case is gone) your wife will have $89 to put in the bank and $55 to buy another case. . . If you live 10 years and continue to buy all your whiskey from your wife and then die in your boots, your widow will have $7,085.47 on deposit . . . enough to bring up your children, pay off the mortgage on the house,

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE" (Continued from first page) umn some time back. Big families are happiest no matter—rich or poor.

Hope you did not miss the T. V. Show of Channel 11 titled "The Troubled Ones!" All about Skid Row and what liquor had caused in the lives of those living there. It was that very first drink many stated how it all started! That should have been shown at an earlier hour so as the youngsters and Teen Agers should gaze upon it with horror. Eh?

Somehow this Observer thought all along that our grand President would appoint Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to take over. He is a deep thinker! A letter arrived asking me if I was a Democrat or Republican and the following I will state freely and candidly. My Beloved Dad and my late husband were Republicans and the more I thought about it all and studied, I felt that I would rather be "INDEPENDENT" always voting for the best man! And he always happened to be a DEMOCRAT! C R A T! AND I did vote twice for our grand President Eisenhower of these United States because I knew he would be the best man in that White House!

"Maryland, My Maryland" was the opening music in the Movie with Debbie Reynolds, "Mating Time"! All through the show I tried to figure out where the places and farms were in Maryland as it was supposed to be in our wonderful State and not far from Baltimore. It was clucked full of action and as for Pep that gal has the three V's and really appears as a girl of fifteen! I'll leave the rest to you and all the farmers will get a big laugh from that one, I can assure you.

The following is the Horoscope for the May person born April 20 to May 20th inclusive. This is the sign of Taurus and those born under this sign have truly the greatest strength, will-power and determination of all the signs. Their senses are keenly alive and they above all others enjoy a sensuous existence. This sign is of great possibilities and these people putting passion in the background can accomplish great things in life no matter how difficult. They should follow their own inclinations and never permit anyone to tell them what to do for they are capable of doing just about anything they make up their minds to do. They have handsome physiques and that applies to both sexes and have much vigor and freshness far into the declining years of life. They never seem to grow old! They are fond of all the arts and if they are talented as to anything pertaining to Dramatics, they should begin studying at a very early age as they always go to the top in 'show business'. They have remarkable powers of concentration and are imbued with magnetic and sympathetic forces that make excellent mental healers. Everyone enjoys having this sign around as they can give the other fellow a "Lifter-Upper" at all times. All signs must be told of the weaknesses which they should try to overcome. For instance the uneducated or unlighted sign of Taurus are very head strong and most unreasonable and want their own way in many instances. All this can be controlled by patience and thinking before they speak. When this has been accomplished there is not a sign that is more beautiful! To be ideally happy they should marry the Sagittarius sign—those born from Nov. to Dec. 20 although there are other signs which go beautifully with Taurus but that should be the first choice.

So long, Folks. Have a grand week end. Remember always about those— "Troubled Ones" and if you don't drink! Until next week end. D.V.

I am,
Faithfully,
Your Observer.

Church Will Hold Mortgage Note Burning Ceremonies

Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Congregation, Taneytown, Maryland, will burn the mortgage note on its Parish Education Building on Sunday at 10:00. This service will take place on the day of the Sixth Anniversary of the Formal Ground Breaking Service, May 17, 1953.

Dr. J. Frank Fife, President of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Maryland, will be the speaker. His message is entitled, "Making Education Effective." The Rev. Glenn L. Stahl, pastor of Evangelical Lutheran Church, Waynesboro, and pastor of Trinity from 1945-1955, will bring greetings at the service. It was during Pastor Stahl's ministry to Trinity that the new building was planned and built. The service on Sunday will be under the direction of the present pastor, the Rev. Stanley B. Jennings. Special music will be presented by the Senior Choir under the direction of Mrs. Wallace Yingling with Miss Hazel Hess at the organ. All Church Departments and congregational Organizations will be represented at the service.

This efficient new parish building which is now entirely free of indebtedness, was for many years envisioned by many of the congregation. Its use in the next five years since its dedication, Sept. 5, 1953 has been a real joy to much thought was given to enlarging Trinity. In 1945 a "committee on Building" visited other church buildings and began to make recommendations. A Steering Committee in 1948 recommended a Planning Committee be appointed with Carroll Hess as Chairman. During the year 1950 great plans were made for a 200th. anniversary of the congregation. An outstanding pageant was presented. In conjunction with this celebration a goal for $50,000 was set and successfully met. Early in 1952 a five member Building Committee was authorized, appointed and immediately went to work. Plans were drawn, accepted, and bids were signed early in 1953.

At the date of authorization the available cash totaled $63,632. Contracts and estimated extras without furnishings totaled $99,985.00. Pastor Stahl and the congregation broke ground on Sunday, May 17, 1953. Later in the same year, on September 20, the Corner Stone Laying Service was conducted by the Pastor. Early in 1954, a Furnishing Committee and a Kitchen Planning Committee were appointed. The completed building was dedicated on Sunday, September 5, 1954 under the supervision of Pastor Stahl. Dr. J. Frank Fife, of Baltimore, preached the sermon. At the time of dedication cash receipts were slightly over $53,600.00. The total cost of the new building and other improvements to the existing building, chiefly of which was the construction of the Chapel, and the initial work on the parking lot, was $119,592.81. At the time of dedication there was an indebtedness of approximately $36,000.00. The final payment on the mortgage note was made on March 13, 1959.

The committee from Church Council in charge of the arrangements for this service consists of Harry B. Dougherty, Sr., Franklin H. Fair, Clyde L. Hesson, Glenn L. Reeve, John H. Skiles, and the Rev. Stanley B. Jennings.

Power Is Peril

Lesson for May 17, 1959

SOME PEOPLE have everything. Not all people begin with everything; but King Solomon did. Talk of being born with a gold spoon in the mouth! Little Solomon would have choked with all the sets of gold spoons that belonged to him. He was the king who had everything done for him. Everything all arranged. He did not have to carve out a kingdom; his father David had done that. He did not have to develop an army; his father had done that too. He did not have to try to be rich; he was born wealthy. He was the favorite son of his father's favorite wife; the strongest forces in harem politics (always a power in barbaric countries) were on his side.

Dr. Foreman

Strength Has Its Dangers

Solomon had better than a scheming mother on his side; God was with him. The beautiful story of Solomon's dream, in I Kings 3, shows the young king at his best. Yet the story of his reign, in spite of all its magnificent display, in spite of all the peace and prosperity, is in the long run a story of decay and degeneration. He was like a great rocket leaving its launching pad in a blaze of light, yet going off-course and bringing down in its crash many a hope and expectation of success.

Why was this? The story of Solomon tells us something about power and its perils. Most people think of power as a sort of insurance, and so we seize every chance to increase our power. Few powerful men are content with the power they have. They are always grasping for more.

The Power of Bad Influence

One danger is that if a man is specially powerful, everything he does will be copied by lesser men.

(Lesser men may be just as power-hungry as greater men, only not so successful.) As is well known, Solomon built not only the famous Temple of Jehovah; he built shrines for other gods, also in and around the city of Jerusalem. It is a fact that all that the prophets of the true God could do or say, for hundreds of years, did not succeed in winning the masses of people to the Lord. Worship of idols went on, generation after generation. And why not, with Solomons' temples to other gods still standing? Why not? They would say—if it was all right for Solomon it is good enough for us. If Solomon had been as loyal to God as God's generous goodness to him deserved, the whole sad history of Israel might have been different. But because Solomon was no obscure working man but a powerful monarch, his very sins would be imitated—and indeed they were.

Peril to Personality

There is a more intimate danger in great power, and that is to the inner self, the soul, of the one who has it. We must not think this is true only of prominent people like judges and presidents and generals. It is true of kings and cowhands, true of parents, whose power over their children is greater than they realize, true of employers, managers, everyone who has the right to give someone else orders. The danger is that the strong man comes to think that whatever he can do is right.

Shall We Shirk Power?

Solomon became a tyrant, as even his son admitted. If we had room, we could name still other perils of power, but the reader is invited to make his own list. Let us just ask a question. Since the possession of power is a danger not only to the soul of the powerful but also to those over whom he stands, ought not a conscientious person to refuse to accept power, small or great? Not by any means. The dangers are always there; but they are made less for the person who is aware of them. And power there must be. You cannot run a fish market or a church or a nation if nobody takes orders from anybody. Order and authority there must be; and without power this is impossible. Bishops and presidents and managers and bosses are necessities; nevertheless they will (if they are Christian) hold office in true humility, not in pride.

New Automotive Project Being Inaugurated for Youth of Carroll County

Do you know how much your car costs you? How safe is your automobile? Are you aware of the many laws governing motor vehicles' operators on our national, state, county, and city highways?

These questions, and many more, will be covered in the new Automotive Project, to be started in Carroll County this spring. This project is primarily designed for young people from the ages of 15 through 17. However, if you are a parent or automobile operator, you may be interested and are invited to participate.

Emphasis will be placed on safety, your owner's manual, highway laws, and regulations, and many others. The objectives of this program are to have a better understanding of the importance of the motor vehicle; an ability to perform elementary car maintenance operations; such as cleaning and polishing, care of tires, etc.; a knowledge of the basic parts of the car; an understanding of the principles of force, speed, center of gravity; an understanding of the economics of efficient purchase and operation of an automobile; and, an awareness of the vocational opportunities for competent persons in the automotive field.

If you are interested, contact the County Agent's Office, Westminster, Maryland. The telephone number is TLden 8-4611.

Prospect Bright for Discovering Answers to Riddle of Arthritis

(Editor's Note: This is the third of three articles on the nature, causes and prevention of arthritis by Dr. William S. Clark, director of medical care of the National Foundation.)

By WILLIAM S. CLARK, M.D.
Director of Medical Care,
The National Foundation

Our position in relation to arthritis and the rheumatic diseases, foremost cripples of mankind in the U. S. today, might be likened to standing on a small island of knowledge surrounded by a sea of ignorance.

Yet in the past few years our attitude toward this cruel, unpredictable disease has undergone an enormous change. We no longer believe that nothing can be done about it. Today the small vanguard of research scientists combating arthritis is growing; new recruits are joining them from many scientific fields; the prospect for the future was never more hopeful.

The arthritis picture today is not unlike that of polio 21 years ago. In 1938 we neither knew how to prevent polio, how to cure it or how to treat it effectively.

But in that year the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was formed, and soon after it conceived, organized and financed with March of Dimes money one of the most fruitful medical research programs of our time. Within two decades these research workers broke through barrier after barrier of darkness concerning virus disease until they found the Salk vaccine. There is still much to be done in polio. No cure has yet been found. But at least we have at hand a sturdy weapon against its ravages.

With this victory behind it, the National Foundation now turns to arthritis and the rheumatic diseases. The next few years may give us "the answer" to these maladies that have plagued the joints of man since the dawn of time.

Avenues of Research

In the first article of this series I described what arthritis is and how it affects the human body. In the second I told what can be done about it: treatment and relief. In this column I shall discuss the avenues of investigation we must explore in the future.

To begin with, the common denominator of several rheumatic diseases, including osteoarthritis, rheumatoid arthritis and rheumatic fever, is damage to the connective tissue. This tissue consists of a fibrous protein imbedded in a mucoid carbohydrate called "ground substance." But our ignorance of its nature and function is still profound. We need to learn much more about its origin, physical and chemical structure; metabolism (rate at which it absorbs and uses food); behavior under normal and abnormal conditions. We may confidently expect our research to shed more light on this vital area.

Causes Unknown

We still know almost nothing about the causes of arthritis. Virus infection is not ruled out, though we have as yet isolated no responsible virus. Heredity may be another source; but we have no proof beyond the observation that certain types of arthritis run in families. Psychological tensions have been known to "trigger" attacks, but we still don't know how this works. Allergy and hypersensitive reaction is yet another avenue for causative research. These tentative clues lead us into such varied sciences as virology, genetics, biochemistry, enzyme chemistry, psychopathology, immunology and epidemiology. Promising leads to the causes of arthritis already exist in all these fields. Now they must be followed up.

We have, again, a simple, accurate test for diagnosing rheumatoid arthritis. It stands to reason that the earlier the disease is detected, the better our chance to treat it and to stop its crippling. Work already has progressed to the point where we may soon hope for a simple and reliable diagnostic test.

"The Rheumatoid Factor"

The most promising clue in this direction is the recent discovery of "the rheumatoid factor." This is a difference between the blood of a normal person and a person with rheumatoid arthritis. In the blood of an arthritis patient there exists a heavy protein which, under certain laboratory conditions, forms clumps on foreign substances like the red blood cells of sheep. In about 75 per cent of rheumatoid patients the test works. Further research may refine it and make it almost 100 per cent accurate.

But the rheumatoid factor raises still more fascinating questions for medical science to answer. Just what is its nature and significance? Is it a cause or a symptom? Could it be an antibody—a resistance that the blood sets up against disease? If so, does this not suggest that rheumatoid arthritis may spring from a virus or similar infection, perhaps one that has been latent for years? Or might it denote a hypersensitivity reaction to some other element in the body—a so-called "auto-antibody?" Or again, might the rheumatoid factor be a secondary manifestation of some other as yet undetected cause of joint disease? Only from a concerted scientific attack can we hope for enlightenment.

Drugs are another fruitful area for research. Though cortisone and other "steroid compounds" have not fulfilled their original promise, our chemists may devise newer hormone preparations relatively free of injurious side-effects.

It has been noticed, for instance, that during pregnancy women with arthritis show marked improvement. Indicated here is an unknown factor in body chemistry that still needs to be explained.

What We Already Know

In the treatment of the after-effects of arthritis we may get from research no sudden, dramatic discoveries. Yet it is not generally recognized that severe crippling and disability might be eliminated by the application of what we already know. During its long experience with polio patients, the National Foundation, for instance, made notable pioneering contributions to the science of rehabilitation. Many a patient who, 10 or 20 years ago, would have spent a hopeless wheel chair-ridden life, now can be salvaged. We need still more research in rehabilitative techniques, and this is what the National Foundation's expanded program now proposes to do.

To achieve the goals I have touched on in this column, we need, above all, more trained minds and skilled hands in the whole galaxy of disease-fighting professions: more young doctors to specialize in rheumatic disease; more young research scientists in laboratories; more biochemists, physiatrists, nurses, physical and occupational therapists, medical social workers. The National Foundation already has swelled the ranks of these much-needed experts through its professional education program. But we are still far short of the required number. The National Foundation is now seeking to recruit additional talents, without which we cannot hope to vanquish arthritis.

Hope For Future

All this upsurge of new interest and new activity is bound to bring results. It is reasonable to expect that in the not too distant future the clues we already have will lead us to a knowledge of how arthritis occurs and how it can be stopped. Already we stand on the threshold of a rapid advance into that future.

Besides arthritis, other areas of March of Dimes activity are polio, birth defects and virus diseases.

INSTANT COFFEE TAKES THE CAKE

This luscious-lovely cake is sheer mocha magic! From start to finish it takes less than 15 minutes to make, and it tastes as heavenly as it looks. The secret? There are several: a bakers' angel food cake, cream-rich instant pudding, and full-flavored instant coffee to give the touch of mocha.

The natural coffee aroma that greets you as you open the jar of new and improved Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee is a promise of the rich roast flavor to come. When you serve glamorous Mocha Angel, accompany it with fragrant, flavorful cups of this improved instant coffee. Make the beverage up by the potful and let it mellow a few minutes to reach its full bloom of coffee flavor.

MOCHA ANGEL

1 bakers' angel food cake
1 cup heavy cream
1 cup cold milk

2 teaspoons instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee
1 package instant chocolate pudding

Cut angel cake into 3 layers, using a long knife, preferably with a serrated edge. Pour heavy cream and milk into a deep mixing bowl. Add instant coffee and pudding. Beat until well mixed, about 1 minute. Spread between layers and on top of cake. If desired, garnish top with chocolate curls made by using a vegetable peeler and a square of unsweetened chocolate. MOTOR MAIDS

Dead-Of-Winter Driving Tips

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

CLOUDY SKIES may give you the blues now and then, but don't let them bring accident blues into your life.

Ice, snow and rain are problems for every driver this time of year.

One basic factor can be pinpointed for increased driving difficulties in wet weather: Less Friction.

Friction between tires and pavement produces traction. Without traction we couldn't turn a corner, stop or start a car. So, safe winter driving requires extra friction.

HERE, THEN, are a few suggestions for deep-winter driving:

When roads are slippery from snow or ice, many good drivers start in high gear with cars equipped with standard transmissions. This eliminates wheel spinning. With automatic transmissions it generally is best to feed the gas slowly for the same reason.

Stopping is even more of a problem in wet or icy weather. However, a few simple rules eliminate most danger.

FIRST, begin to stop some distance from your destination. Release the accelerator pedal slowly. Press the brake lightly at first and release it almost at once. Repeat this operation several times. This eliminates the danger of locked wheels.

ROOF DRAIN SYSTEM

How well does your house stand up against stormy weather?

If you've been having problems, it's quite possible that the fault may lie with the condition of gutters, drains and downspouts. Rust and corrosion in this all-important equipment seriously impairs its efficiency. Some metal can actually "bleed" into unattractive stains on the outside structure of the house.

So if you're considering an improvement in the existing installation, you might take a cue from the increasing number of home owners and contractors who have found stainless steel to be the best material for these fixtures. This metal is highly rust and corrosion resistant. It requires little maintenance and its unique durability results in a longer and thus more economical life to any roof drainage system.

Decorative, too, the stainless gutters and drains, together with the necessary spikes, ferrules and hangers of the same metal, have a permanent built-in luster that gives an attractive accent line to the exterior of the house. Or, if desired, they can be successfully painted to match side-wall colors by the application of a coat of vinyl-type primer underneath the coat of house paint.

You Can Be A Magician!

The performer hands someone a pack of playing cards with instructions to take out as many as desired and to lay them face upward on the table. One is to be selected while the performer is out of the room. Performer returns to the room and announces that he can sniff out the thought of card. SECRET: Performer arranges with someone in the room who knows the selected card to gently tap his shoe while he is bending over the table. A "swindle" but a good trick.

The above trick is just one of over 100 different tricks with cards, coins, ropes, silks, etc. which can be learned after reading "Practical Magic," a book published by D. Robbins & Co., Dept. P, 127 W. 17th St., New York 11, N. Y. The book also contains an important article on showmanship which is essential to "put over" your tricks successfully. Book is for sale at magic shops or directly from the publisher, for only $1.00, postpaid. Magic is a wonderful hobby and will give pleasure both to the "magician" as well as to his audience. All tricks in "Practical Magic" are easy to do, and suitable for ages 8 to 80.

LIONS PROGRAM

vision programs, telegrams, telephotos, and, more recently, the transmission of various data, anything which can be tape-recorded.

In passing he showed samples of cable, for example the "2100" cable with 4342 wires each individually wrapped and bound together in a lead sheath (now being partly replaced with a polyvinyl covering) and the familiar coaxial cable.

Beginning in 1907 radio was also used for transmission purposes, and this was aided enormously in 1913 with Lee de Forest's invention of the vacuum tube, permitting their engineers to surmount one of their most pressing problems by amplifying messages at regular intervals to overcome fading. By 1915 one engineer had talked by radiotelephone from Arlington, Virginia, to Paris's Eiffel tower, and in 1920 the first commercial service was installed between Los Angeles and Catalina. In 1927 England and this country were served at $75 for three minutes by a similar service which today costs but $12.

Ships at sea, trains, yachts, and even airplanes can be reached. In 1946 a mobile unit in automobiles began to come into vogue, employing the "push-to-talk" button, and in the following year the microwave radio system was used, which today links every state, carries over 70% of all TV channels, and 30% of long distance toll circuits.

Where an ordinary wave may be anywhere from 1/4 to 1/2 mile long, a microwave in radio is only a little over three inches in length, transmitting in a direct line of sight fashion that does not follow the earth's curvature, and behaving much like light itself. It travels at the same speed, has a frequency of 4000 megacycles, and if you watch closely enough to count as they go by, four billion of them pass your line of sight every second. It requires 107 coast-to-coast towers to amplify the singles across the breadth of the nation, but its advantages are suitability in rough terrain, the fact that weather has no effect, and it handles a lot of telephone business, 3600 simultaneous telephone conversations or six TV channels.

Quoting Confucius, "A picture is worth 10,000 words", Mr. Walters performed many demonstrations of the behavior of these signals, transmitting music from one of his portable towers to the other within the audience's earshot, deflecting one of the towers' antennae to show how the "horns" must be beamed toward each other to effect the relay, polarizing the microwave, demonstrating its passing through cardboard and plywood, its deflection by a brass plate, its stoppage by rotating the polarity perpendicularly, its bending through flexible hollow pipe much like light is curved through a lucite rod, and finally touching on the tropospheric scatter propagation system now in use between Florida and Cuba, and in Alaska, where the troposphere is used to reflect highly concentrated beams at a wide angle from the sending station to the troposphere and down to the destination. There upon he blew the exhibit's lights out and called it an evening. Altogether it was a highly rewarding one for his hearers.

For the next meeting of Taneytown Lions, that of May 26, Lion Remsburg will have charge of the program, a Lions International Counselors' Night.

Meeting of Church Women

The United Lutheran Church Women met on Wednesday evening with Mrs. John Hoagland and Mrs. Paul Shorb as leaders. Mrs. Hubert Null, pianist, softly played a hymn to open the meeting. The devotions consisted of hymns "I Love To Tell The Story" and "For The Beauty Of The Earth", prayer and scripture were by Mrs. Shorb. Mrs. Hoagland had the introduction of the topic, "Growing as World Friends", and Miss Mary Rein-dollar and Mrs. Mervin Conover had readings on it. There was a piano solo, "The Blue Danube" - Strauss - by Miss Hazel Hess.

The quarterly Thank-offering service was conducted by Mrs. Harry Forney and Mrs. George Martell. The business was conducted by the president, Mrs. Glenn Reeve. Mrs. Ernest Dunbar was elected the delegate to the Maryland Synodical Convention in October. Miss Mary Rein-dollar the alternate.

After this the annual birthday social followed. Out of appreciation for the interest and inspiration of the older members this program was planned to honor them, twenty in all. All were not present. This was in charge of Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner, Mrs. Merle Ohler and Mrs. Norman Sauble. Vocal solo, "When Mother Prays", Wayne Wilhide, piano accompanist, his mother, Mrs. Baumgardner announced there would be an amateur TV program, "It Could Be You". Mrs. Luella Harner wrote the script and was mistress of ceremonies. In a very unusual way with surprise interesting stories or incidents in the lives of those selected, Luella surely put on a good show. Mrs. Ohler and Mrs. Sauble pinned a pink carnation on the ladies, and each was given an inexpensive gift relating to the story told about her. A number of pictures were taken of the honored ladies by Mr. Baumgardner.

Very delicious refreshments were served.

"Why is it that a man wakes up in the morning after sleeping under an advertised blanket, on an advertised mattress, and pulls off advertised pajamas, takes a bath in an advertised tub, shaves with an advertised razor, washes with an advertised soap, puts on advertised clothes, sits down to breakfast of advertised coffee, puts on an advertised hat, rides to his office in an advertised car and writes with an advertised pencil."

"Then he refuses to advertise, saying that advertising doesn't pay. And if his business isn't good enough to advertise, he advertises it for sale."

"You are only young once, but you can stay immature indefinitely."

Mother-Daughter Banquet

180 mothers and daughters of Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown, attended the Mother-Daughter banquet in Trinity Church, Tuesday evening. The affair, the first of its kind in Trinity, was sponsored by the United Lutheran Church Men who arranged and served the meal.

Organ music was provided during the dinner by Delmar Riffe. The invocation was given by Mrs. Stanley Jennings. James Fair, president of the U.L.C.M., welcomed the ladies and girls; Pastor Jennings gave remarks. Herbert Bowers, chairman of gifts, presented planter arrangements and potted plants to the oldest, youngest, newest mothers, and the youngest daughter present. Also to the person with the lucky birthday. Each person present received potted flower as a favor.

The program, planned by the Mite Society, included a solo by Miss Jane Gilds, musical number by Wayne Wilhide, David Naill, and Carroll Crum, accompanied by Billy Formwalt on the clarinet and Miss Hazel Hess at the piano. Mrs. Gilbert Stine favored with a humorous reading, the Youth Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Wallace Yingling, sang several numbers, and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ohler showed slide films of the 1959 Tournament of Roses Parade.

From all indications the evening was a success, enjoyed by all present, but especially by those ladies who usually work many hours preparing and serving banquets. These women seemed to delight in seeing their inexperienced men-folks struggling with serving a crowd of this size and cleaning the mountains of dishes. Those in charge were: tables, Elwood Harner; table setting, Kenneth Smith; waiters, Geo. Naylor; food distribution, Fred Garner; coffee, Stanley King; dessert, Harry Dougherty, Jr.; dish washing, Marcus Baker; gifts, Herbert Bowers.

The Teacher's Creed

I believe in boys and girls, the men and women of a great tomorrow.

I believe in the curse of ignorance, in the efficiency of schools, in the dignity of teaching, and in the joy of serving others.

I believe in the lessons taught not so much by precept as by example, in the ability to work with the hands as well as to think with the head, in everything that makes life large and lovely.

I believe in beauty in the school room, in the home, in daily life in and out of doors.

I believe in laughter, in love, in faith, in all ideals and distant hopes that lure us on.

I believe that every hour of every day we receive a just reward for all we are and all we do.

I believe in the past and in its lessons, in the present and its opportunities, in the future and its promises.
