TANEYTOWN SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Collection of Paper, etc., Sat.,

The July collection of newspapers, rags, and magazines will be conducted by Boy Scouts of American Legion Troop 348 in Taneytown this Saturday, July 18. Roads to Mayberry, Copperville, Crouse's Mill, Keymar as far as the Keysville turn-off), and Pine Hill will be covered as well as Taneytown itself and those rural residents who are on the regular pick-up list. The collection two months ago was so large that one truck had to make two trips to the unloading depot; if this should happen again, it may mean a late pick-up for some, but everything put out will be gathered, and members gladly take it from your cellar or your attic when their attention is called to this need while the drive is in progress.

Meetings at Natural Dam A series of swims at their favorite Natural Dam have featured recent meetings of the troop, with the out-door program held there afterwards. door program held there afterwards. Softball as the game item has thus given way to swimming, and such themes as Morse code by flashlight suggested by Rickey Clingan, the collection and identifying of tree and plant specimens directed by Scribe Stuart Dom, and a firebuilding contest staged by the scoutmaster are examples of the program opportunities which the summer months provide. This week Troop 348 will march vide. This week Troop 348 will march in the Harney Firemen's parade on Wednesday. Next week Assistant patrol leader Wayne Putman will have charge of a swimming contest, and the meeting following will be pro-grammed by Patrol leader David Hopkins.

Summer Camp August 1

Saturday, August 1, will be a red Taneytown scouts will leave to base their summer camp at Tumbling Run leanto clearing on the Appalachian trail, with swimming facilities available at nearby Old Forge Park. Baseball players of the Youth league have a problem, since Taneytown may be in the August 3 play-off, but arrangements can surely be made whereby they return for that day's play and would still enjoy almost the entire week of camp in the hills near Waynesboro.

Advancement to Star The troop is proud to record the attainment of Star scout rank by Dom and Six. Fishing merit badge has recently been earned by Ronald Bowers, while Michael Tracey finished his work on Tenderfoot rank. James Frock, a recruit from Cub ranks, has begun to attend scoutmeetings and will doubt-less complete his Tenderfoot work

Taneytown Lions Enjoy Family Picnic July 14

A most inviting family picnic con-stituted the July 14 meeting of Taneytown Lions club staged at 7:00 p. m. in pavilion 3 of the beautiful Memorial Park. Co-chairmen for this event were Donald R. Baker and Merle S. Ohler, and they were assisted by Curtis G. Bowers, Harry B. Dougherty, Raymond J. Perry, and Norman R. Sauble.

Softball afterwards claimed the allegiance of some, while younger members of the Lions' families took to the apparatus or roamed the embryo forest, and President Delmar E. Riffle gave graphic proof of the Polaroid Land camera's excellence by producing superb photographs of local notables within sixty seconds of their being snapped. This instrument will be donated to some lucky person Tuesday, August 25, at the annual public crab feed. Chairmen Singleton E. Remsburg team captains Lewis R. Baer and Glenn O. Reever were seen cor-raling members regarding the Community Anniversary Calendar project, while program chairman Merwyn C. Fuss was heard inviting his committee (Lions Dougherty, Robert W. C.E. CONVENTION HELD IN PHILADELPHIA

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kiser Were in Attendance

Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Kiser, delegates to the 45th International Christian Endeavor Convention held Philadelphia, July 6-11, attended 3 days of the Convention arriving at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel Thurs. morning. All daytime activities, conferences, assemblies, etc., were held there, while all evening sessions were held in the Baptist Temple. We were conveyed each evening by 8 buses to the Temple. This great church is the memorial to the "Four Chaplains of the Dorchester", who gave their lives at sea with the other 1700 persons. Our leader, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, was the minister there at that time for 12 years. His son was one of the "Four Chaplains" giving their lives. There is a revolving altar of three religions, Protestant, Jewish and Catholic, on the ground floor of the temple which was viewed by thousands each evening.

Tours of the city were conducted

Mr. Funk urged the Chamber of Commerce representatives to confer with the County Commissioners and the Legislative Delegation of Carroll County to see if they would enter a formal request that the work be expedited by substituting it for work scheduled earlier in the County. In addition, Mr. Funk conferred with two members of the Roads Committee of the Gamber-Smallwood Improvement Association concerning the Association's request to return Sykesville Road to the State system. Carl E. W. Schmehl and Phillip L. Beamer, members of the association's road committee, met with Mr. Funk in the Baltimore offices of the State Roads Commission.

The 11-mile stretch of the road from Fenby to Eldersburg was made a part of the Carroll County system on July 1, 1956, with the exception of 1½ miles of it which are operated by the City of Baltimore as part of the Liberty Dam area.

Mr. Funk said the State Roads Commission would take up the pos-sibility of a transfer if a formal request from the Carroll County Com-missioners were sent to the SRC. In addition, Mr. Funk asked Mr. Beamer and Mr. Schmehl if it would be possible to obtain an expression of sentiment on the proposal from the County's Legislative delegation.

"The Nun's Story" at the New theatre, the screen play from the book by Katherine C. Hulme is quite different from any Movie I have ever seen. This picture should be viewed by all and especially young girls who have the Calling to follow that relig-ious life. It is taken from an actual experience of a Belgian Nun. The story deals with a charming and beautiful daughter of a Surgeon who has the desire of being a Nun. As she says, "Goodbye" to her Father before entering the building—well—I know regardless of the sex—there were plenty of tears from that vast audiance. She is given the name of Sister Luke and what really is so very impressive is that nothing is left out so to speak of all details as to learning to be a Nun from the very beginning. She joins an order of Nursing Nuns and may be assigned for duty in any place in which her services are required. Life as very strict in the Convent with the utmost silence, meditation and prayers. The wonderful scenes and even to the confessions is truly sacred that you feel in viewing the picture that you must be good yourself in the future.

There is no romance at all although for a time the thoughts of the viewers may have been that the Dr. where Sister Luke was assigned to the hospital had a special interest in her. This is far from the case as he treats her as a patient when she becomes ill with Tuberculosis. All this takes place in the Congo and she is cured by this Famous Dr. The play although very deep ends rather abruptly due to the fact that Sister Luke facts. to the fact that Sister Luke feels that She should not continue to be a Nun having learned that the Germans have killed her Father and there is instilled in her heart such hatred. The acting is really beyond describ-ing and it will be voted the 'picture of the year plus the Oscar for Miss

Audrey Hepburn. In such a building, I'll always remember when in the hotel in Vincennes, Indiana, I was the guest of the Nuns by a Mother — a widow with one lovely growing daughter who was the only child at this Convert. The Sign of "Leo"—those born from July 20 to Aug. 20 inclusive is ruled by the Sun, the life-giver of all things. It not only represents the heart of humanity but the heart of the universe as well. These people both men and women have the most charming of personalities and are al-ways liked by everyone. They are excellent conversationalists and have the happiest of dispositions. are sincere-so very loyal to those they love and they bring much sunshine into the lives of their friends. They really grow younger as the years go by. They have beautiful speaking voices and excel in music either playing any instrument or vo-cal. These people do things on the spur of the moment many of which they soon regret. Their ever ready generosity and sympathy is often the cause of them being imposed upon. Many times their sympathy will them into serious trouble and after they have "made a mess of their affairs" they are truly sorry for their mistakes. So they must be most careful. The men of this sign are great admirers of the opposite sex and love beautiful women. These men are born lovers and can no more exist without love and affection than a plant without water! They truly are the sweetest people these Leo born. They even cause one to become younger in thoughts just living around them. Their love is as loyal as it is intense. They never see a flaw in those they love! These people are fond of luxury, warmth and ease and sometimes wait for the spirit to move them. FARMERS WITH FORESIGHT

"Farmers with foresight are helping homemakers take the guesswork out of pork buying," reports the American Meat Institute. And they're doing it by ironing out some of the peaks and valleys that always situation.

Historically, pork has been a seasonal commodity. For a month or two a year the meat counters have bulged with the product and, inevitably, prices have plummeted. Then later on, during the short supply season, prices would zoom to a level that caused many homemakers to drop pork from the meat budget.

The solution is to bring more stability to the hog market by improved production methods. Monthly farrowings throughout the year, according to an Institute spokesman, now vary less than in past years. By way of example, in 1937, 4% of the country's hogs went to market in the low months and 14% in the high months. Twenty years later, the comparable figures were 6% and 11%.

As this healthy trend continues, pork prices will level out more and more. That is expected to increase consumer demand for pork products by keeping them available at reasonable cost throughout the year. This demand, in turn, will enable farmers to stabilize their production. Every-

Mr. and Mrs. William Fleharty and family visited in Halifax, Pa. on Saturday. They were guests at their meals of her Aunt and Uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Sweigard—they also visited with her Grandmother. Bill Fleharty has been on vacation—he returned to work with the telephone Company on Monday. Mary and Debbie Sappington are planning beginning on Friday, to spend a little time with their sister Betty and her family near Annapolis. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coshun and Family entertained the Union Bridge Parish Luther League at their home on Sunday evening, Many league members and others attended.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Priest and Family spent last Thursday in Hershey. They visited the Park and the Museum.

Keysville-Detour Road, spent several days in Baltimore last week with Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers and Barry and their granddaughter, Chris.

The rains were so welcome in this section on Monday night. The dry weather was beginning to seriously hurt the gardens and pastures and corn fields. The Double Pipe Creek ran very high with yellow muddy water (the soil here is red) which indicated that a heavy down pour from other sections of the county had occurred.

The tiny colt in the Gerald Myers
(former Delaplaine place) meadow has been attracting a lot of attention.
Mrs. Emory Yoder and Jimmie
Gill returned to their home at White on Sunday. Audrey Wilhide came home after visiting a week with Linda Gill—now Danny Wilhide is at the Gill home. Sandy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fry, Baltimore and Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gill are visiting at the Carroll Wilhide home. Beth Wilhide is home after spending a week with Joan Gill.

The Terra Rubra Girls 4-H Club want to thank all those who sup-ported the Bake Sale on Saturday They cleared around thirty dollars. This Club is planning to have a Family Night Program in August. The date will be set at the July meeting. It is very probable that either the 15th or 22nd of August will be chosen. The next meeting will be held at the home of Judy Bostian in Middle-

Obviously enjoying a chat during the recent "Weekend with Scientists", sponsored by the Heart Association of Maryland, is this group, including two high school students from Carroll County.

The students were among fifty young men sponsored on a three-day sojourn to the University of Maryland campus at College Park. High school youngsters, selected by their schools for talent in science, were instructed by a faculty of ten prominet Baltimore medical scientists.

Dr. Douglas Carroll of Baltimore City Hospitals, Heart Association chairman for the event, has termed the wekend "a complete success." The Purpose of th gathering was to acquaint gifted students with the challenges and satisfactions of careers in medicine and biology.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO (Part 2)

Here is one poem you all should keep—

(It is old, but, in my memories, it lingers deep);
It tells of how people did 100 years ago

When money was scarce, and travel was slow.

Paper money did not come until 1839;
So, even at the start, men thought it was fine!
I still have two notes issued at the time—
One for a quarter, the other for a dime.

Some say: "People were slow in that early day",
But, to do certain things, that is God's way;
This land of ours was then a forest, they say,
Not like the great El Dorado you see today.

The Lucifer match was a great innovation;
Its fame spread quickly all over the nation;

Not like the great El Dorado you see today.

The Lucifer match was a great innovation;
Its fame spread quickly all over the nation;
For years the Tallow candle furnished light,
(It was the only luminant at night).

We got the Kerosene Lamp in 1868;

We got the Kerosene Lamp in 1868;
It, too, many persons seemed to elate;
Some, it was said, could not wait till night
To light the wicks and make the home bright.
The horse and buggy, many persons say
Changed country life in every way;

Changed country life in every way;
In every farm yard a buggy would stand;
And gold-mounted harness was the talk of the land.
They had some beautiful horses in these days
When people traveled in buggies and sleighs;
Five hundred dollars used to buy the rigs

In which the boys took the girls to jigs.

For 100 years, they tell us, this great land of ours Was more or less subject to all the powers;
But the flourishing East and golden West Of all other nations have made her the best.

From 1874 to 1914 this wonderland of ours, Grew to be the mightiest of all the powers, Because it is a part of God's great plan To make it a model home for man.

To make it a model home for man.

Today, no matter where you may go,
Except for road markings, we do not know
If we are in Pennsylvania or Maryland—
Just so, you find things on every hand.

On no other spot, they tell us, do you see the faces,
Of the people of so many different races;
A modern tower of Babel she now seems to be,
For into her, all peoples yearly flee.
Winter came early in days of old—
(Even in November it was quite cold!);
So, after the farmers took in their last crop

Peter Rabbit and his buddies began to hop.

When the clock of Time struck on days of old
Men, everywhere, prepared to fight the cold.

With an axe on their shoulder to the woods they would go
For they all loved to see the ember glow.

For they all loved to see the ember glow.

Snow then lay on the ground four months of the year;
It seemed like God sent it boyish hearts to cheer;
For, when the hills were no longer white,
He patched the bare spots with snow at night.

When I was a how how the March winds did blow!

When I was a boy, how the March winds did blow!
The hills you now see wore a mantle of snow;
The creeks were all covered with crystal clear ice;
But to me, this earth was a paradise.
About the time of the great Frederick Fair

Hats were seen flying in the air;
Old Boreas shouted: "Put on your shoes as before",
For, of me, you shall soon see more!
The country boy would then put on his cap
And cross frosty fields to inspect his traps;
He never feared the snow or the ice—

He never feared the snow or the ice—
His only concern was to get a good price.
Country boys all liked the "Fall' season best;
Because it gave them more cash to invest;
Rabbits were plentiful in those days;

Rabbits were plentiful in those days;
Then, too, they had income from other ways.
They had walnuts, shellbarks, and apples to sell Besides other viands people liked so well;
They also sold partridge, sometimes creek fish Both of which made a delectable dish.

Boys living in the city shall never know
Of the many enchantments of long ago;
The country boy seemed slow, it is true,
But, instinct told him just what to do.
Not long after the rabbit season in early days
People were out in "cutters" and sleighs;
The jingle of bells could be heard everywhere,

People were out in "cutters" and sleighs;
The jingle of bells could be heard everywhere,
And the spirit of Christmas was in the air.
Kids of today seem to be more alert
Than urchins were when I was a "squirt";
When company came, behind a chair we would go,

But why blame the kid? His father was slow
When the old horizon was hanging low;
He, too, was bashful, and did the same thing,
To timorous to give his mother a wedding ring.

To the boyish ear it matters not how the organ swells
It cannot equal the jingle of bells;

It cannot equal the jingle of bells;
Like a spirited horse, he is eager to go
And share the sport which comes with the snow.
But the seasons have changed—(so have our ways)
People no longer journey in buggies and sleighs;
Those who laugh about the old customs fail to see

It was they who helped to make America.

Just imagine the hardship through which they went—
(Of the many drops of sweat they spent!)

To make the great East, and, the "Golden West",
Which the God of heaven has so richly blest!

At first, the whole country was covered with trees;
But they labored and cut them down by degrees;
It took more than 100 years the "New Land" to clear
Though they cut down thousands of trees each year.
Of the timber they built beautiful homes on the farms—
(Some of which still add to our country's charm);
Out of a forest they made the richest soil on earth;
So, they gave to this country, as it were, a new birth.

So, they gave to this country, as it were, a new bird Old Dobbin did his best to make things go, Even though, at times, his tread was slow; As a speedster, they say, he seldom reached fame, But a halo of glory still surrounds his name.

No matter how hard the tempest might blow,

He was always ready, and, willing to go;
And, when the snow or hail hit him on the face
He always seemed to increase his pace.
By foot or on horseback men would wend their way;
But, in winter, some chose to go in a sleigh;
Old Dobbin would joggle slowly along
With one ear to the driver, the other to a song.

With one ear to the driver, the other to a song.

The auto, some say, is better in numerous ways,
And goes much faster than buggies or sleighs;
But, "we don't get the thrills", oldsters now say,
"That we did when we went the old way".

Then too, "the auto is too inanimate," some say;

Then too, "the auto is too inanimate," some say; "It goes; but, it goes a different way", "Life, not speed, on this earth is the thing Which causes laughter, and makes people sing".

Just so people talked; and, some still say—
(Especially those who want the old way).

(Especially those who want the old way),

"We knew when we left, and, a trip was complete
We would still be alive and on our feet".

They had signs for all seasons of the year
Of which people talked when a change was near;
As things were in the Fall, so they were in the Spring
When the birds and robins, began to sing.

When the April sun shone good and hot
Out of his boots the country boy got;
And, he did not put them on, they say,
Till the birds which went south came back this way.

But some pedestrions for out on the sed

But, some pedestrians far out on the sod
Over "terra firma" barefoot had trod—
Before the grass on the lawns was real green
Many shoeless people could be seen.

Just so, things were in days of old
When the summers were hot and the winters cold;
In the summer, boys went to the creeks to get cool,
In winter they went on their skates to school.

This is a picture of things when I was a boy—
People had backaches but hearts full of joy!)
Modern innovations do not take the place
Of the horse and buggy in the boyish heart of the race.

Bible Material: Ruth. Devotional Reading: Isaiah 58:6-11.

All His Children

Lesson for July 19, 1959

THE "BOOK" of Ruth is a very I short one. It could easily be printed in fairly large type on one page of a newspaper with room to spare. But it is a mistake to judge writings by their length, otherwise the Congressional Record would be the world's literary masterpiece, and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address a worthless trifle. As a story, the book of Ruth has a great charm. It is one of those parts of the Bible which we might call God's extras, something which Dr. Foreman could have been left out, but which, once we have it, we would not part

Ways to Read Ruth

One can read this little tale of long ago just as a tale and enjoy its simplicity and beauty. Or one can find in it much sociological interest, what marriage meant in those far-off days, what provisions were made for the very poor, and so forth. One can also enjoy and learn something from the characters described in it, each one sketched in a few revealing words. The author is strangely modern at this point. Writers today seldom use adjectives (such as heroic, brutal, clever, or what not) about their characters; they just let us see them and judge for ourselves. So it is in the book of Ruth. But the way we propose to look at "Ruth" is this: the book shows with quiet simplicity how the very kinds of people many of us are inclined to look down on or shy away from, are God's children.

Plain People

There is another book in the Bible telling about the times when the characters in the story of Ruth were alive; it is the Book of Judges. It is full of hero-stories. But none of those heroes appears on the pages of "Ruth" and none of the characters in "Ruth" are mentioned in the tales of blood and battle that make up the Book of Judges. Apart from all the fame and the glory, apart from the people who nowadays would make the headlines, lived the simple farmers and poor people whom Ruth knew. You might get the idea from reading Judges that God is interested only in brilliant, exceptional people, great leaders and heroes. But the book of Ruth brings out the point, for the thoughtful reader, that God has just as much interest in the humble as in the great and famous. His children are everywhere.

It was written in the Hebrew law that certain foreigners were not to be welcomed, not to be treated as equals, not to be married by a Hebrew. Moabites were especially to be kept apart. No descendant of a Moabite, to the tenth generation, was to be accepted as a member of the "congregation" of Israel. Yet first Mahlon and then Boaz married this Moabite girl. Boaz knew she was a foreigner, but his question was not: What is her nationality? but, What kind of woman is she? Boaz was one of those rare people who are kinder than any law requires; who look on people as individuals, not as members of a (perhaps hated) group. It is hard for us today to think of God as having children in Viet-Nam and Czecho-Slovakia and Thailand and other "outlandish" places. But he

In-Laws

The most impressive and solemn expression of the devotion of one person to another is found here in the book of Ruth. Strangely enough (some would think) it is addressed to a mother-in-law. How down-toearth the Bible is! Many people think of in-laws as either away off yonder, a strange tribe, or else as an interfering lot when they live too close. They have status only because they are married to some of US. Nothing could be more absurd. God's children are your inlaws just as much as your "own" people. This particular in-law-or we ought to say, this pair of them -were closer, more helpful to each other and more understanding than their own flesh and blood. There may be undiscovered treasures among your in-laws!

Lisa for Old Towels

USE YOUR SOFT, WORN BATH TOWELS to make a towel apron for bathing baby. Mother wears the apron, lifts baby from the tub and wraps him warm and snug. With a slight pull, she loosens snaps at neck and waist and holds baby in the towel apron ready to dry.

The Cannon Homemaking Institute gives directions for making this simple bath apron from worn or new towels. The corners are cut and bound with ribbon, as shown. (You need three yards.) Sew loop to right corner of upper edge of towel. Sew snaps to other end of ribbon loop and also to left corner of towel. At waist line, tack ribbon with looped end to right side; sew snap at opposite side. Halter and waist tie can be opened with a slight pull when baby is lifted from tub.

That Holiday Itch!

ALMOST EVERYONE, and particularly the junior members of the family have had vacations spoiled with violent 'holiday itches" . . . caused by poison ivy, mosquito and bee bites, hornet-stings, bramble scratches, cuts, abrasions, heat rash, athlete's foot or the hundreds of other bugaboos faced during vacation. These can be most painful and scratching can result in torn skin and even develop and spread infection. Well, here's good news. Your druggist has, or can easily procure for you, a new liquid formulated by Cuticura to cope with common skin injuries and irritations. It's cooling, soothing and possesses quadruple anesthetic-antiseptic power. A bottle included as regular equipment for your beach or camping trips, your picnics and vacations is a "must." This pleasantly scented jade green liquid will halt any tendency to itch and scratch . . . is your insurance for a trouble free holiday.

Chiffon Is For Summer

Chiffon pies are especially popular for summer. This is because they're light, airy and refreshing and are also as easy as a breeze

There's no need now to start from scratch to make a chiffon pie. Just use the excellent chiffon pie filling mix available, follow the package directions and you'll get a perfect pie in just a few minutes—no soaking of gelatin—no beating of eggs—no melting of chocolate. Just whip up the chocolate chiffon pie filling mix and turn it into this beautiful Walnut Crumb Crust* and chill:

Chocolate Chiffon Pie Make filling according to directions on the package of Jell-O Chocolate Chiffon Pie Filling. Pour into a Walnut Crumb Crust*. Chill until set. Serve plain or with whipped cream and walnut

*Walnut Crumb Crust 2 tablespoons sugar 11/4 cups fine vanilla wafer crumbs 1/4 cup butter, melted 1/4 cup chopped walnuts

Combine crumbs, nuts and sugar. Add melted butter and mix well. Press firmly on bottom and sides of 8- or 9-inch pie pan. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 5 to 8 minutes. Cool before filling.

HOT ROLLS AND COLD CUTS-UNBEATABLE SUMMERTIME COMBINATION

Even when the temperature is 90 in the shade, most of us homemakers find that our families want something hot along with that standard meal of cold cuts and salad. And hot rolls invariably win the nod.

And do you know that you can make your very own yeast-raised rolls for supper in just a little over an hour? It sounds impossible, doesn't it? It used to be, but with this new quick recipe, it's true. The secret is active dry yeast and biscuit mix, combined with water. The mixing and kneading time has been cut down to nothing. And the best thing of all is that these home made hot rolls give that short-cut cold meal a real appetite appeal, especially when you make these rolls with a sharp

CHEESE POCKET-BOOKS

3/4 cup warm water (not hot-105° to 115°) 1 package active dry yeast

2½ cups biscuit mix 2 tablespoons soft butter Cheddar cheese

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Mix in biscuit mix, Beat vigorously. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Mix in biscuit mix, Beat vigorously. Turn dough onto surface well dusted with biscuit mix. Knead until smooth, about 20 times. Roll dough into circle about ½" thick. Cut into rounds with ½" cooky or biscuit cutter. Crease circles with dull edge of knife to one side of center. Brush with butter. Put small slice of Cheddar cheese on smaller half. Fold larger side over smaller side so edges just meet. Place on greased baking sheet. Cover. Let rise in warm place (85° F.) 45 minutes to 1 hour. Bake at 400° F. for 10 to 15 min.

Conducted by Max S. Kehne, the classes were held each week at the Frederick Junior High School. Graduation certificates were awarded by Mr. Kehne and John W. Morgan, PE's Frederick district manager.

The course covered a basic study of electricity, including; static electricity, magnetism, direct current and alternating current, electromagnetism, instruments and measurements, and other related subjects.

Christian Endeavor Convention Highlights

Dr. Earl W. Gates, our present retiring president had first raised his hand to accept Christ in one of his meetings. Dr. Clyde W. Meadows, Chambersburg, Pa., was elected to succeed Dr. Gates as president of the International Union. Dr. Poling also spoke of the fatal night of his son on the

Saturday at 8:30 a. m. the United ministered in the crystal ballroom of the hotel in charge of Dr. Peter Vroom, minister of Baptist Temple, Philadelphia. Five other ministers and 28 attendants distributed the

The great Philadelphia Convention Choir sang at all evening sessions. Saturday afernoon, the "Christian Witness Parade" with beautiful floats, colorful regalia, music and Christian enthusiasm marched from Parkway to Independence Hall (two miles) with about 15,000 participating in the parade with many more thousand spectators. All states were represented, with many from Canada, Washington, D. C., Hawaii and Germany also. Six of the Marylanders rode in Mr. and Mrs. Warren P. E. Smith's ear, beautifully decorated in Md. colors, while four of the delectors gates carried the Md. C. E. banner. There were 22 Marylanders in attendance but we had many more regstrations. This parade lasted two

Saturday evening, we went again by buses to the Baptist Temple to the sing session when the presentation of International Youth's Distinguished Service Citation to the Honorable Richard M. Nixon, Vice-president of the United States. Mr. Nixon was the eighth recipient of this distinguished award. Dr. Earle W. Gates presided and presented the citation to Vicepresident Nixon; also the diamond emblem that each new president receives being from Dr. Clark, Poling, Gates to Dr. Clyde W. Meadows, Chambersburg, Pa., the new International C. E. president.

The message, "On Fire But Not Consumed", was given by Dr. Harold John Ockenga, Boston, Mass. Vice-president Nixon spoke 3 minutes on his life in Christian Endeavor, stressing he grew up in C. E. The first time he got on his feet and talked was before his C. E. Society of which he was president in Friends' Church, East Whittier, Calif., and also touched on world affairs since he had just come from Pittsburgh where he had attended the steel strike meeting and would leave for Russia from Washngton in the next day or so. Mr. Nixon is distinguished in peace as in war for his courage, integrity, states-manship and Christian faith, which have been steadily demonstrated in patriotic service for God and country. His life is an inspiration to youth. Mr. Nixon named Dr. Poling the greatest thinker in faith of his time.

Chicago, Ill. extended an invitation for the 1961 International Convention and Ottawa, Canada an invitation for the 1960 Citizenship Conclave.

We attended Sunday School and church service Sunday morning along with Mr. and Mrs. Warren P. E. Smith, Frederick; Miss Sallie Marker, Middletown; Miss Ruth Kreig, Adamstown; at the "Chambers-Wylie Market Physics Physics Chambers and Market Physics Phy Memorial Presbyterian Church" where Rev. Howard Moody Morgan, D.D., is pastor. We arrived home at 6 p. m.,
