Meetings to Discuss Federal Milk Order Being Planned SATURDAY, SEPT. 26

A series of meetings at which officials of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. and members of the organization's Volunteer Workers Groups will discuss the U.S. Depart ment of Agriculture's "recommended decision "for a Federal Milk Marketing Order are being set up by the dairy farmers' organization. Signature of the decision was expected this Present plans call for meetings in Taneytown, New Windsor, Thurmont Middletown, Westminster, New Mid-way, Jarrettsville, Hampstead, Liber-tytown, Churchville, Greencastle (Pa.) Mt. Airy, Hagerstown, West Friendship, Cordova, Charlestown, (W. Va.) Clarksville, Centreville, Annapolis, Hereford, Rising Sun, Phoenix and Fawn Grove, (Pa.).

The meetings are for non-members as well as members of the MCMP, since all dairy farmers shipping their milk to Baltimore will come under the terms of the Order. "We particularly hope that non-members will visit with us, hear what s said about the Federal Milk Marketing Order which we requested and ask any questions concerning it," said Edgar G. Emrich, of Thurmont, President of the Cooperative.

"In recent weeks there have been deliberate attempts to confuse not on-ly milk producers but the milk con-suming public", Mr. Emrich continued

"We expect to refute the distortions of fact which have been put before the public. Our people have been working for the Federal Order for the past year. It is designed to stabi-lize the milk market and guarantee 27. Hilltop Ranch is a Christian Camp. Christian Endeavorers, we need you there as we feel we have to the milk producer a fair minimum – no maximum — price for his milk.'

Preston G. Coffman, chairman of the Christmas Seal Committee of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association, today was notified by Frank J. Fischer, president of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, that Mil-waukee Braves star Red Schoendienst has been named National Honorary Chairman of this year's Christmas Seal Campaign. Schoendienst thus becomes the first person to hold such a post in the fifty-three-year history of the campaign.

Mr. Fischer reminded Mr. Coffman that the famous ballplayer was strik-en with tuberculosis just about a year ago. He is completing his recovery and is traveling with the Braves.

"The case of Red Schoendienst is a dramatic illustration of the progress this country has made in the fight against TB," Mr. Fischer said. "Not too many years ago there was little or no hope for a victim of tubercu-losis. But today, if the disease is detected early, a person with TB can look forward to rejoining his community after a relative short period of treatment and recuperation. The National Tuberculosis Association and Christmas Seals have been close-ly identified with this progress." Mr. Fischer said further that Schoendienst is approaching this new assignment with the same "spark" for which he has become famous on the ball field. "He has volunteered to give as much time to the Christmas Seal Campaign as his physicians will permit," the MTA president stated. "After you've spent a few minutes with Red, you realize his interest in fighting TB is as strong as his spirit to win ball games. He plans to make TV and radio appearances and participate in other activities to help make this campaign the most successful ever'

WHY TRADE GOES ELSEWHERE

As the ancient ballad tells, for want of a nail a kingdom was lost. A modern paraphrase could be that for want of the right kind of advertising great amounts of business are lost.

The Windsor, Missouri, Review, points out that "The chief competitors of the small city retailer are not other local merchants. His most serious competition comes from nearby metropolitan centers." Prices on standard brands of merchandise, the Review goes on, are virtually the same every where. Low overhead sometimes gives the small - town retailer a competitive advantage over the big-city merchant. So the Review asks and answers a question: "Why, then do so many shopeprs travel fifty or a hundred miles to buy the same items they could obtain at home for the same price? Many retailers who ask this question should look to themselves to find the blame. Inadequate advertising is likely to be the answer."

The merchant who just opens his doors and waits for the customers to enter, without attracting them through advertising, is going to do a minimum of business. The merchant who sees to it that people know what he has to offer is going to do the maxoutstanding advertising medium for the retailer.

To ALL Dairy Farmers

A "recommended decision" carrying the U.S. Department of Agriculture's proposals for a Federal Milk Marketing Order for the Chesapeake Bay area was expected to be signed in Washington this week.

The Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc., representing the majority of dairy farmers shipping their milk to Baltimore, requested this Order after it became obvious that only a Federal Order could stabilize the milk market and guarantee equitable prices for ALL milk producers.

In recent advertisements efforts have been made to confuse milk producers and consumers as to the meaning and effect of a Federal Order. These have contained misstatements and distortions of fact.

In order to acquaint ALL dairy farmers - MCMP members and non-members alike - with the actual operation of a Federal Order, the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc., is arranging a series of community meetings at which individuals acquainted with the terms of the recommended decision will be on hand to discuss these terms and answer all questions.

WE URGE EVERY BALTIMORE-PERMITTED PRODUCER, REGARDLESS OF MCMP MEMBER-SHIP, TO ATTEND THE MEETING NEAREST HIM. THE SCHEDULE OF TOWNS, PLACES AND TIME WILL BE ANNOUNCED.

NOTICE!

BALTIMORE, MD.

He worked his way to success as a mining engineer, and he worked his way to the top in public life.

As a worker who knew the value of a dollar, and the penalty for waste, he sought to instill business principles of efficiency and economy in government when he was President of the U. S.

Such a policy at that time was not popular with politicians who sold to the people the idea that enough federal spending would pave the way to prosperity when the going got tough. That bought votes, and the idea of a fair return for value received, went down the river. The idea of spending our way to prosperity with easy government money was launched.

Mr. Hoover who abhored waste and inefficiency in 'business as well as in government, returned to private life, but not to retire. He continued to work for the national welfare in countless ways. At the risk of being unpopular he has sought to safeguard his country from a spendthrift's fate.

As he passes his 85th birthday, Mr. Hoover stands revered by a nation as a symbol of integrity, and an inspirration for a generation whose job it will be to save this heritage from the ravages of debt and inflation and destruction from within.

A New Car—Falcon—by Ford Motor Company

Ford Division of Ford Motor Company released first official photo-said it expects to build 100,000 of the graphs of the Falcon Sept. 8, and economy cars by the end of 1959. James O. Wright, company vice president and Ford Division general manager, said assembly of Falcons already is under way at the division's Lorain, O., assembly plant, and will start shortly at plants near Kansas City, Mo., and San Jose, Calif. Falcon engines are being produced at Lima, 0.

Mr. Wright said the keynote of the Falcon will be economy of operation and maintenance. "For example," he said, "the Falcon will have gasoline economy 50 per cent better than the largest of the socalled 'compact' cars of American manufacture, and 35 per cent better than the smallest domestic car made

Other Falcon features include a redesigned front suspension for improved ride and handling; a new type and side panels.

by the same producer. Compared with the latter, the Falcon has 35 per cent more luggage space, 70 per cent more windshield area, and a full foot more of rearseat width."

Mr. Wright said that in the area of replacement parts a Falcon fender will cost 50 per cent less, a windshield 40 per cent less and a muffler 30 per cent less.

With regard to air-cooled versus water-cooled engines, Mr. Wright said the Falcon's water-cooled, frontmounted engine will require only $1.80 worth of anti-freeze in the winter —

50 per cent less than a full-size car. Mr. Wright said the Falcon will be introduced publicly October 8 at 7,000 Ford Division dealerships across

"Based on the amount of public interest in the Falcon already being reported by our dealers," he said, "we are expecting our busiest introductory period in years." Mr. Wright said the Falcon com-bines economy of operation and smaller exterior dimensions with rugged-ness, "big-car" roadability and passenger space comparable to that of standard cars.

"Its wheelbase is 81/2 inches short-er and its over-all length 27 inches shorter than a 1959 Ford Fairlane, yet it is a full six-passenger car with interior roominess approximating that of standard models," he said. "Fore example, front leg-room in the Falcon is only one-tenth of an inch less than in a 1959 Ford and front head-room is actually seven. tenths of an inch greater. Rear-seat passenger space also compares favorably." Mr. Wright emphasized that the Falcon is "all new from the ground up." None of its parts will be interchangeable with those of standard Ford models. The Falcon, which features unit-ized constructions to combine maximum strength and rigidity with minimum weight for this type of ve-hicle, will be offered in two-door and four-door models. Optional equipment will include automatic transmission, radio, heater, safety padding, seat belts, tinted glass, and interior and exterior deluxe trim.

Falcon styling is simple and functional, with decorative trim and chrome at a minimum. An oval grille runs the full width of the car and contains the single headlights. Both hood and fenders slope downward to meet the grille, providing the driver with better visibility. The center of the hood features a Thunderbird-type air scoop.

Running the full length of the car is a sculptured panel which adds to the car's beauty and at the same time look they love and still keep on the sunny side of their bridal budget with exquisite Regency stationery. #### A VOICE FROM CARROLL COUNTY

We suppose that our dentist's of-ce is no different from any other fice dentist's office; but the minute we step in it, we feel that we are taking our final walk to the gas chamber. In the first room the decor is attractive with red-leather chairs and low-slung tables. The room is well lighted and appears to be sound-proof, until a few screams from the next room dis-proves this delusion. On each wall is a smiling painting, which is supposed to ease one's mind while wait-ing for the time to pass. Around the room on tables are all the latest magazines the piles and piles of comic books. Even with all this reading material and comfort, the people in the room appear to have the feeling of anticipation. There is very little conversation; and if a person ventures to speak, he does in a solemn whisper. Everyone sits very straight, and the air of a funeral creeps through the room. When at last our name is called we enter a gleaming white room which seems to be equipped with all sorts of torture machines. Each piece seems more sinister looking than the next one and we have the urge to flee before it's too late. Finally we are settled in the Chair which bears all the characteristics of an electric chair. Overhead hangs that dreaded monster machine...the drill. All around is the odor of sterile cleanliness and the air of thick silence still prevails. Finally in walks the execut-ioner . the dentist. He has that per-ennial smile on his face and tells his usual corny jokes. As the seconds tick away, and the final moment draws nearer, the dentist opens one of the many drawers in his cabinet and begins selecting his choice instru-ments. As we look at each one, we try to figure out what it is to be used for. Without any luck, we decide to look out the window. Now the view from our dentist's window is not very comforting as directly across the street is a funeral home. Upon seeing this, we decide to close our eyes and attempt to relax. In the adjoining room we hear the hum of the drill on another unfortunate victim and the steady sound of running water from the fountain. This nerve-racking hum is broken by the whistling of our dentist, which perhaps is worse than the sound of the drill. The dentist eventually returns and commences his examination. With his hand in our mouth, he asks us all sort of ridiculous questions to keep our mind from his work. At last we hear the two most beautiful words in the dictionary.. "no cavities". Now we think it's all over and we can escape; but there is still one little room we dictionary ... missed on our way in. It contains a black book and stacks and stacks of little white cards. This is where we are fortunate to make our next appointment. If you hate to get up in the morning to face a new day at the office school or factory, don't worry about it for its a perfectly normal feeling. For getting up means facing responsibilities and who in his right mind doesn't want to shun them once ever so often? It will be too bad for Mr. Khrushchev and for us if on his visit here he is not shown both sides of Amer ican life. Of course he must see the supermarkets, the auto factories, the mechanized farms and the beautiful buildings. But this is just one part of the United States. He should be shown also the small towns, the family farms, Boy Scout camps, the village store, and gas station, the volunteer fire companies, and some of the small community projects. All these things are a very important part of our national life too. If the only impression Mr. K. gets of us is "Bigness' than he is going to be misled. Our strength is not in big stores and big factories, but rather in the small towns that dot America from coast to coast, filled with everyday people who are only important because they are people. We of course have no way of knowing how Mr. K. is going to judge us. He is not a stupid man and he must know that the U. S. like Russia is not composed entirely of rich and powerful men turning out gadgets by the millions. But will he be able to see the millions who live in are 5 years old and are very happy Md. visit but Mr. K. should be able to take home with him the truth that Americans like democracy and thrive on it because they can change with the changing world not by revolution out by evolution. The smell of autumn is in the air Soon the wooded areas of Carroll

County will turn to glory. Each fall there sweeps through the rolling hills a procession of glowing colors that can be witnessed almost nowhere else in the world than right here. For to produce autumn coloration, the climate must be temperate and the forests made up of species that lose their leaves in winter. Our woods have scores of trees, each with its own hue in the paintpot of autumn. The turning of the leaves is an event that every year arrives on schedule and contrary to belief frost doesn't bring about the artistic change. Its chemistry that does the trick and it is set in motion by the shortening day and longer night as winter approaches. The waning day signals the tree to shut off the wondrous laboratory .: the green leaf, for the winter. The story of the leaf, its work and its purpose is a story all its own and can be found in any library. We are more oncerned with the beauty of leaves and the lovely pictures they make aong every country lane in Carroll. We wonder what the man in the noon thought when for the first time in millions of years he was slapped on the cheek by a rocket. He prob-ably brushed it aside thinking it was a new kind of mosquito.

A little girl was watching her mother put the finishing touches on a newly baked cake. Finally she could contain herself no longer. "Mother", she said," your cake would look like the ones in the magazine pictures if you would cut a piece out of it." If you want to be a dear old lady at eventy you must be a dear young lady at seventeen.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

The following item from the SHELBY (Mo.) SUN was reprinted recently by Editor Wendell Crowe of the CLAY COUNTY DEMOCRAT of Rector, Ark. Mr. Crowe says he can recall most of these historical references and that "our Papa was the first man to put in a flush toilet in his community, and brought folks in from far and wide to admire it". This is not for beatniks - just us oldniks:

"Life may begin at 40.

If you are 'some' past that mark you may remember -"When a small town could support two blacksmith shops. Air con-ditioning in the bathroom was two small half-moons in the little house at the end of the path. It took six flatirons to do the family washing. Dad brought milk home from the neighbors in a open bucket. "When 'shorts' was something you fed to a hog and not a covering for your posterior. When you had to wind the Victrola after each record was played. The name of the pianothat used to beat the player ivories at the Hoot Gibson shows. When Mama stood bent over the washing board from 6am til noon each Monday. When you were given a half-teaspoon of kerosene with sugar to knock a cold.

When you ran two miles to watch an airplane make a landing in a farmer's cornfield.

When the gals wore spitcurls and black bloomers. When the Sears-Roebuck catalog served a dual purpose. When the grocer gave you kids a big sack of candy every time Dad paid the bill. When the baby diaper was always a three-cornered affair.

"When Happy Hooligan was your favorite comic strip. When an old mag meant the farm plow horse. When you had to crank the Model T and hold the choke at the same time - and when changing tires meant just that, not just changing wheels. When the school principal could and did 'whop' the behinds of misbehaved kids - and still keep his job.

"When a farmer could grow any crop of his choosing (and got whatever he could for it). 'Remember? Those were the good ol' days." Editor Crowe down in Rector admits that crack about the independent farmer made him "almost blue thinking of present Government regulations, and the surpluses mounting up, and nobody, including us all-wise editors, with any kind of worthwhile solution to the problem". He remem-bers selling "a load of cotton for five cents" under the old system, and what he brought for the money, includ-ing "a bag of those old-fashioned brown, candy 'Boston Baked Beans' which you can't get any more". He wonders where the new rules are taking us and "whether these controls are really necessary'

So do millions of others - farmers especially. Bob Taylor

Promise of Peace Lesson for September 20, 1959

THINGS HAVE become badly confused when "peace" seems to be a bad word. Believe it or not, there are people in the United States who think that any one interested in peace is a communist. That is not only bad logic, but it plays into the hands of the real communists. Their constant bad word for us is

"war - mongers," a people who want war and will do anything to start one. This is not true of us as a nation, and yet people who turn against the notion of peace are certainly giv- Dr. Foreman ing ammunition to anybody who likes to call us a bloodthirsty nation.

"With a Whirlwind"

The great prophets of the Old Testament did not admire war. They looked on it as something brought on by sin. One passage from Zechariah is a sample (7: 8-12). God had an ideal for his people, a life of justice, kindness and mercy. But the Israelites would not hear, and so God "scat tered them with a whirlwind . . ." As we know from the Old Testament histories, this whirlwind, the instrument of God's wrath, his punishment on a nation that would not obey-this was nothing other than the wards which ended the Hebrew kingdoms. And the Hebrews, as the stories show, had chiefly themselves to blame for getting into those wars. Most of the recorded history of the two kingdoms of Judah and Israel is a history of wars, long or short. Very few of them did the Hebrews any good, and in the end it was war which, like a tornado, left their homes in ruins and blew them like straw across the face of the earth.

Ideal City

But the storm of war was not the last word of God to Israel. The prophet Zechariah, preading in a time when Jerusalem was only just beginning to rise from the aches of more than half a century of desolation, looks forward and promises in God's name a new and different kind of city. He draws no blueprints; but it is plainly a city of peace. This is not a foreview of heaven; it is a picture of the ideal city right here on this earth. It is

It is necessary that all music groups be scheduled during the reg-ular school day. The recognition of music as an integral part of the school program has been accepted over the past years and must be con-tinued It seems that many of the inspiring and informative discussions reand informative discussions re-garding music education are made to groups of music educators who need it the least. If these same messages could be presented to administrators, school boards, and members of the community, as well tinued.

The administrators should accept the obligation to present a schedule that will insure the instrumental as to music teachers, a great deal of good could be accomplished. For years the Lyons Band News has been urging music educators to music student the opportunity to take instrumental music without conflict of other subject areas throughout nas been urging music educations to meet with their administrators on an educational plane at their meet-ings and discuss music problems. On reading over a report of the State Workshop of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Associahis high school career. Rehearsal Time Because there are many and varied skills necessary in instrumental music, Elementary instrumental music classes should meet for five 30-minute periods each week and that three ation, we found an excellent outline which, we feel sure, if presented to the Secretary of the State Associa-tion of School Administrators, would be given consideration with the result that the subject of music would be placed on their agenda for their next convention such periods should be an absolute minimum 'at the elementary level.. Junior and Senior high school organizations should meet five full perods each week. Sectional rehearsals are vital to the success of any instrumental music program. Ideally, the sectional re-hearsals should be a part of the regular school day.

ties informed as to the real educa-tional values of such a program. 4. Establishing communication and a working relationship with the various administrative professional edu-cational associations and the music school's public school curriculum planning committees. The Instrumental Music Program To further the total growth of boys and girls, it is the purpose of instrumental music, as an integral part of the school program, to con-tribute toward the maintenance of a proper cultural balance in a fast-developing civilization that already stresses scientific achievement, ma-terial wealth and extreme speciali-zation in various fields of endeavor. Instrumental music provides an opportunity for recognition, satis-faction and enjoyment through a worthwhile experience, discovers innate talent, and develops clear-think-ing individuals. It further develops good work habits, wholesome ideals of conduct, mature citizenship and pride in being a part of a group activity.

to be called 'the faithful city,' that is, faithful to the laws of God. That covers everything; but Zechariah puts in some particulars.

Old men and old women will be sitting in the streets, and children will be playing there. (Remember the ancient type of city had no parks and no open space except the market-place; and there was no traffic except of very slow animals and people.) This you would not see in war time. In that era the aged and the very young and the weak simply died off in war times; only in times of peace would they be out there in large numbers.

How Peace Comes

Now children and old people do not make peace, they simply enjoy it. It is the middle-aged, the active influential people who do most either for peace or against it. So the prophet Zechariah addresses the great mass of the people about peace and prosperity (8:12). He speaks of "sowing" prosperity, and then goes on to put this figure of speech into very plain words. What are the seeds? He goes on, still in the name of God: "These are the things that you shall do . . ." If we want peace and prosperity, God will not drop them into our laps. He expects us to plan and prepare for peace just as we plan and prepare for a crop of apples. No man can raise an apple without the help of Nature (or, rather, of God).

So while God's ideal for the human world is a world at peace, there are certain conditions to be met. The seeds of peace have to be sown. Zechariah (8:16-17) names some specific things: truth and justice in particular. To say that war is the effect of sin is only half the truth. The other half is that peace is the fruit of public and private goodness. The most enduring peace is not an accident, it is not manna from the sky. It is a crop reaped by those who have worked hard sowing and cultivating the things that "are true and make for peace."

3. The growth of individual re-sponsibility is imperative to the success of any group. 4. To serve the school and community. 5. To provide the instrumental music student with a wealth of back-ground experience and training to draw upon for future use in the home and community. There is no substitute for creative ness on the part of any child in rela-tion to his mental and physical growth. The expressive art of music requires the creative processes to be-come active. Music becomes as much a part of the student as the student a part of the student as the student does of music and thus evolves the true identity of the child's expressiveness. Music is unique—everyone is in participation and is constantly in recitation.

Curriculum and Scheduling

The following recommendations are to be considered the essential needs and for, an adequate instrumental music department. In the small schools where the numbers, and possibly talents, are limited, it is suggested that the instrumental music program be limited to one organization, either Band or Orchestra.

There should be one full time in-strumental music teacher, either Band or Orchestra, with a major in either Wind, String or Percussion instruments.

As enrollments increase, more levels of achievements of proficiency should be scheduled. This may be achieved with a second Band or with the introduction of a string program. It is felt that students should not be denied the opportunity to study Strings and that when talent and finances permit, a String program should be established with a String major as the teacher, and they should also be able to assist in the Wind program.

Program

There should be a minimum of 3 teaching levels. The Senior organiza-tion should contain students from the ninth through the twelfth grades. The Junior organizations should consist of students from the seventh through the ninth grades, and the Beginning organizations may consist of students from the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades, as well as Junior High Students who have not had the opportunity to start in instrumental music in the grades. The Senior or-ganizations should include the basic instrumentation, and the Junior and Beginning groups should be sufficient
