County Commissioners Hold Title

Contracts for the construction of Carroll County General Hospital hav-ing been made by the hospital corporation, the County Commissioners on November 3, 1959 adopted and passed a resolution dedicating 13.98 acres of land of the County Home Farm for hospital and medical pur-

This dedication was made after consulation with the hospital authorities, and after a survey of the proposed site, and in pursuance of the authority granted the Commissioners by Chap-ter 272 and Chapter 806 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland, passed at its 1959 session. The original Medical Center tract of 7.54 acres, dedicated by the Commissioners in 1950, is included in the hospital location, and appropriate rights-ofway over the remaining lands of the County Home Farm, to Gist Road and to Bishop Street, were provided in the resolution of dedication.

A plat showing in detail the area so dedicated has been prepared and recorded among the Plat Records of Carroll County and the original Dedicatory Resolution will be recorded among the Land Records of Carroll County in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court. Title to all this land remains in the County Commissioners of Carroll County, subject to the uses and purposes as set forth in the Resolution and the two Acts of the General Assembly.

Second Annual "Watt New" Display

FAMOUS BALL PLAYER

"Bob" Turley will Address Jaycees at Meeting Nov. 23rd

Bob Turley, star pitcher for the New York Yankees, will be the speaker at the annual public "Sports Night" dinner to be held Monday evening, Nov. 23, at the Tropical Treat Restaurant, E. Baltimore St., extd. The affair is sponsored by the Taneytown Jaycees and the public is cordially welcome. Dinner will begin at 6:30 p. m.

"Bullet Bob" has turned down scores of speaking engagements this Fall, and the community is highly Fall, and the community is highly honored and fortunate to have such a prominent, World-Famous Sports figure to appear here. It is being made possible through the efforts of Jim Elliot, a home town boy, now associated with the Sports Department of the Baltimore Sunpapers. Mr. Elliot is a good friend and close neighbor of the Turleys and so has persuaded them to accept this invitation.

Also of interest, particularly to the ladies, is the fact that Mrs. Turley will accompany her husband for this date. No doubt many will have questions to ask her on the problems and excitement relative to being the wife of such a star.

Tickets are available from any Jaycee or at Dougherty's Supperette. Although the dinner will be served in the spacious new banquet room of the Tropical Treat, a capacity crowd is expected, the tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis. Sports-fans, young and old alike, will certainly not want to miss this rare opportunity to hear and meet one of baseball's greatest. So you had better get your tickets today before it's too late.

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

WOODBURN, ORE., INDEPEN-DENT: "It doesn't take an expert economist with a flock of degrees after his name to see the adverse effect that ever upward spiraling wages, cost of living and taxes are having on this nation's economy. It takes just plain 'horse sense' to appreciate the danger."

DETROIT, MICH., DETROITER: "Every once in awhile someone takes a crack at trying to come up with a word picture of the size of the national debt that can be imagined. Latest one is by Rep. Minshall (R-Ohio) One million dollars is a stack of $1000 bills approximately 4 inches high; one billion is a stack of bills 333 feet high..' To illustrate the national debt --you'd need a stack of bills more than 18 miles high. We haven't checked the figures, but what's one mile or less.'

WALTHAM, MASS., NEWS-TRI-BUNE: "Nearly every motorist who has done late night driving can recall instances where he has dozed for a fraction of a second. Your eyes close, the head dips, then you straighten up with a sudden awareness bordering on panic. It might take only the time for a snap of the finger to regain control. In such an experience, you brush against the wings of death."

BELLINGHAM, WN., HEARLD: "The hard pressed railroads are taking a page from the airlines industry and are intent on putting into effect a plan for strike insurance that would cover a road fully for its fixed charges if idled by a walkout.

"The railroad plan differs in manner but not in design from the plan put into effect last year by major airlines. Under the terms of the plan, each unstruck carrier pays to the struck line the additional net income it receives from 'diversion of the struck line's traffic'."

CHETOPA, KANS., ADVANCE: "If government-owned surplaces of wheat and corn etc., were as easy to dispose of, -- or had as many places where they could be put without any trouble, as is the case with a surplus. in a state treasury, crop surpluses would cease to be problems."

CANTON, GA., TRIBUNE: "It is fine for us to enjoy religious freedom with the right to worship as we please, but it does us little good unless we really worship."

JEFFERSON, O., GAZETTE: "Whether it is deer, pheasant, duck or rabbit, it is always good to enjoy the colorful fall days of the woods and open fields.

Unfortualitely, hunting accidents in recent years have multiplied to an alarming degree-- mainly because the number of hunters has increased. Every hunter knows the rules of safety as every motorist knows the rules of the highway, but accidents happen with guns as well as with automobiles.

"Ninety-nine times out of 100 hunting accidents are caused by carelessness. A cardinal rule of the hunter is to never carry a loaded gun in the car." BEAVER FALLS, PA., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "As the public interest is hurt more and more by such longdrawn out labor disputes, the overriding public right to industrial peace will have to take precedence and a way found to prevent such disruptions of the economy without undue trespass on the rights of workers." FREDONIA, N. Y., CENSOR: "Almost everyone used to regard employing the handicapped as a kind of charity. The man who gave jobs to workers suffering from some sort of physical disadvantage was generally looked upon as a good-hearted fellow willing to assist others at some cost to himself.

Make Fruit Dessert Dumplings

When it's your turn to make dessert for a church or club function or a friendly get together, try making cherry dumplings. Using canned cherries, add light corn syrup for sweetening and give a delicate accent to the flavor with cinnamon. To make the featherlight dessert dumplings, use corn oil for shortening and mix the batter lightly. Drop the batter on top of the hot fruit sauce and bake to a rich brown. Serve the cherry dumpling plain or top with cream, using just a small dollop of whipped sweet or sour cream if you are weight or penny watching. Double or triple the family size recipe for larger groups.

Cherry Dessert Dumplings 1½ cups (1 No. 2 can) cherries 1 cup light corn syrup

Juice from cherries 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1 tablespoon corn starch 1 recipe Dessert Dumplings

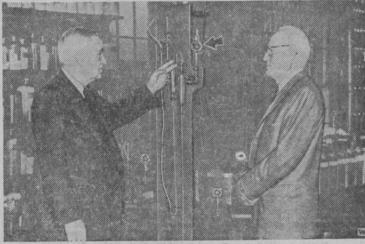

Drain juice from cherries into a saucepan. Add corn starch and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils and thickens. Stir in light corn syrup, butter or margarine and bring to a boil. Add cherries; bring to a gentle boil. Meanwhile prepare Dessert Dumpling batter. Pour hot cherry mixture into a 1½ quart baking dish. Drop batter by spoonfuls over hot cherries. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Serve with whipped cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings. whipped cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Dessert Dumplings

1/4 teaspoon nutmeg 1/4 cup corn oil 1 egg 1 cup sifted flour 2 teaspoons baking powder

1/4 teaspoon sugar 2 teaspoons sugar Measure and sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and nutmeg. Stir in the corn oil. Combine egg and milk and mix. Add to flour mixture and blend. Drop by spoonfuls over top of hot fruit mixture. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings

Light Bulb 80 Years Old This Year

Charles Edison, son of Thomas Alva Edison and chairman of the board of McGraw-Edison Company, shows Max McGraw, president, how the famed inventor developed the first successful incandescent light bulb 80 years ago this year (Oct. 21, 1879). Arrow points to replica of the first bulb mounted on the mercury pump used to exhaust air around the carbonized cotton-thread filament. 'American Thanksgiving'

THE TRADITIONAL DAY OF THANKS for the good things bestowed on its people by gracious Providence is as old as the story of our Pilgrim fathers in America. The Mayflower settlers were the first to set aside a day for "the giving of Thanks to God" and their guests at the first Thanksgiving included nearly one hundred Indians who had helped them through the first, terrible winter.

The story of Thanksgiving, from the time of our Pilgrim fathers through "turkey day," as it is often called, is the subject of "American Thanksgiving" on "Du Pont Cavalcade Theater," scheduled for many ABC-TV and selected spot stations between November 22 and November 28.

1. George Washington, as played by Richard Gaines was heard to refer to the day as "a local festival" when he was encamped on the Boston Common during the American Revolution. 2. The spirit of our forefathers as played by the Pilgrims in the scene above was kept alive, however, and Abraham Lincoln was the first American President to officially declare a National Thanksgiving Day. 3. Stephen Wooten, above, appears as a youth at the first Thanksgiving, and, in the lower picture, as the son of a

How often people use those words at the end of a telephone call!

Perhaps they mean "thanks for the good news." Or "thanks for this useful information." Or "thanks for the order."

Sometimes they mean "thanks for thinking of me. Thanks for cheering me up."

Whatever the meaning may be, people do appreciate your calls and you appreciate theirs.

"Thanks for calling" is a constant reminder of how much usefulness and value and friendship your telephone gives you. It's one of life's biggest bargains.

The term originated in the days of canopied beds surrounded by curtains. A curtain lecture was originally a scolding administered by a wife after she and her husband had gone and had drawn the curtains. Dr. Samuel Johnson defined the phrase as "a reproof given by/a wife to her husband in bed." Washington Irving wrote: "A curtain lecture is worth all the sermons in the world for teaching the virtues of patience and longsuffering. "Curtain lectures today come under the title of "nagging."

Tight House Shrugs Off, High Winds

It's too late to protect your home from a hurricane, tornado, or other violent windstorm after storm warnings are posted.

This is why home owners all over the country are taking advantage of the late-summer lull in chores to get their houses ready for the rough weather of fall and winter.

fall and winter.
What can you do to protect your home from wind damage? Here are some suggestions from leading insurance companies:

1. Inspect the outside of the house carefully for such things as loose shutters, siding, and gutters, and doors and windows that do not close tightly. Ripped loose in a high wind, any one of them can become a dangerous

2. Inspect trees and shrubs and remove all dead or dying limbs. Dead or weakened trees should be cut down.

3. Check bird houses, TV antennas, outside lighting accessories, clothes drying racks, and lawn furniture to be sure the gran't be torn loose by viole to can't be torn loose by viole winds. Lightweight lawn a patio furniture, flower pots, a the like shoul be taken insi when a windstorm is approac ...

4. Look carefully at your roof. If it is old and shabb, or if any of the roofing material is loose or uneven, call in a reliable roofing contractor for a professional inspection. This is an essential precaution, because roofing material torm away by ing material torn away by wind exposes the interior of the house and its contents to rain.

If the contractor recommends a new roof, he can apply asphalt shingles especially designed to resist winds of even hurricane force. These provide a tight roof that will protect the house from harsh weather for years.

Some other precautionary measures you can take include having flashlights or lanterns handy, an emergency supply of water and foodstuffs, and a port-able cooking stove or supply of

CITY BLOC VS. FARM BLOC Davidson

Important turning points in history sometimes occur almost unnoticed at the time, only to be recognized much later as marking the end of an era and the beginning of another.

It was a month ago that congressmen from city districts and from farming areas marched down the aisle to the well of the House to give their names and be counted for and against debate on an omnibus farm bill.

When the talley of "yeas" and "nays" was announced by the clerk city congressmen outnumbered farm congressmen by 214 to 171, and thus was born a new and powerful bloc, the City bloc, in Congress.

The Farm Bloc had been defeated for the first time in history, on an almost straight division of rural vs. urban votes. It was the day that the farm states congressmen knew would come sooner or later, but it nevertheless shocked them.

Balance of Power

The defeat of a farm bill was not unprecedented, but the division of votes was. Democrats from 52 urban districts had defied their party leaders to join 161 Republicans to kill the farm bill. Only 21 Republicans voted with 150 Democrats for debate on the bill.

The balance of power in the House now has followed the overwhelming population shift to cities. Although a minority for the past 50 years, farmers have continued to get favorable legislation because they had no organized opposition.

From an approximately even consumers.

division between urban and rural population at the turn of the century, farmers have dwindled to only about one-eighth of the national total of 172 million. Within a few years the percentage of farmers will be about one-tenth.

An analysis of the 435 congressional districts shows that in 280 more than one-half of the voters live in towns of 5,000 or more population. In those districts consumer interests are predominate.

Less Political Influence

The farm vote is of declining importance in national elections, and it is decisive only in a few states and congressional districts. There is increasing recognition in Washington of the importance of the "consumer vote."

Many of the congressmen who voted against the farm bill had an eye on the coming fall elections. They knew that, on a national average, 11 out of every 12 votes cast will be by people more directly concerned by food costs than by

The City Block is only beginning to form as a united force in Washington. Organized labor has, so far, provided most of the leadership, but Secretary of Agriculture Benson has assisted in the revolt against the Farm Bloc.

His contention that the omnibus bill was a "monstrosity" which would add to milk and bread prices played a decisive role in defeat of the omnibus farm bill, and cleared the way for legislation more acceptable to him and most

Moldings Beautify Interiors

Traditionally, moldings are used to give homes beauty and texture. It wasn't always this way. Moldings first were used in much the same way weatherstripping is today-to seal cracks between walls, ceilings and floors against

Recreation Rooms Will Serve Family In Many Ways

RAINY days, snowy, inclement weather and even guests can be less trying to homemakers who have recreation rooms at their disposal. On days that the children can't play out-of-doors, they can release their pent-up energies, along with those of their friends in the recreation room.

The recreation room which has an adjoining half bath or even a shower can also double as a guest room, provided the room is fitted with a couch that can serve as a bed.

In addition to these uses, recreation rooms are wonderful for adult parties to save wear and tear on the living room or perhaps to offer a larger, more informal room for the party.

Location of Room Homes don't always need a basement in which to have the recreation room. If you don't have a basement, or if what you have is already thoroughly used, then perhaps there's a garage, utility room or an extra bedroom which might serve the purpose equally well. If possible, the room should have a washroom or powder room or shower for convenience. This will save much wear and tear through the house during play time, and of course, it's really a must if the recreation room will serve some time as a guest room.

As for designing a recreation room, there is only one must: it must be casual and easy to clean. This means easy to clean surfaces in the walls or in paneling, and an easy-to-clean floor which will withstand rough play as well as spilled soft drinks.

Oven-Baked Meats Usher in Fall

Doesn't it smell wonderful to come in from the nippy out-ofdoors to a ham and sweet potato casserole or round steak coated with herbs and simmering gently in its juices? There's nothing so welcome as an oven meal when Fall starts on the way in!

You can use some of a Sunday baked ham, sliced for this tempting dish:

Ham and Sweet Potatoes

- (Serves 4) 3/4 pound ham, baked, sliced 1 18-ounce can sweet potatoes
- 4 slices canned pineapple 8 whole cloves ½ cup pineapple juice
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon Dash of nutmeg

Arrange ham slices and halved sweet potatoes alternately in shallow baking dish, standing ham upright when possible. Cut pineapple slices in half and arrange on top of ham and potatoes. Stick cloves in ham; pour juice over all, then sprinkle with cinnamon, nutmeg and sugar. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 25 minutes.

An herb coating seals in all the goodness of round steak and adds a touch of native spice:

Herb-Braised Round Steak (Serves 6)

2 pounds round steak, 1/2-inch thick

2 eggs, beaten 2 tablespoons milk

1 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon thyme

½ teaspoon marjoram Dash of pepper

34 cup fine cracker crumbs

1/3 cup bacon drippings Pound meat thoroughly on lightly floured board. Cut into servingsize pieces. Combine eggs, milk and seasonings. Dip meat into egg mixture, then in crumbs, handling carefully. Brown meat on both sides, using drippings. Add 2 tablespoons water and any egg mixture remaining. Cover tightly. Bake in moderate (350°F.) oven for 45 minutes. Uncover and bake for 15 minutes longer.

Good 'n Easy After-School Snacks:

Vanilla Wafer Triple Deckers

School work and crisp fall weather bring one result every mother can predict: hungrier-than-ever youngsters. Sure to satisfy even the biggest after-school appetites are good and easy new "Vanilla Wafer Triple Deckers". Husky stacks of golden brown vanilla wafers, spread with thick layers of peanut butter, cream cheese and raspberry jam, they are as nourishing as they're tasty. And they're so simple to prepare that the very youngest scholar in the family can make them all by himself. Show him how to make the first dozen, this easy way:

"Vanilla Wafer Triple Deckers"

36 Sunshine Vanilla Wafers 2 tablespoons chunk-style

½ 3-oz. package cream cheese 1 teaspoon raspberry jam

peanut butter Spread 12 of the vanilla wafers with peanut butter. Blend together the cream cheese and jam. Spread this mixture on 12 more wafers. Stack these on top of peanut butter covered wafers. Top each double-wafer stack with an unspread wafer. Press down lightly. Serve with milk or chocolate milk. Makes 12 "triple deckers". TANEYTOWN ORGANIZATIONS

URGENT TASK

"THERE IS NOTHING WRONG WITH America that the faith, love of FREEDOM, INTELLIGENCE AND ENERGY OF HER CITIZENS CAN-NOT CURE." - DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER WE CAN SOLVE THIS PROBLEM AND

Figures on 4-H enrollment for 1959 again show an upward trend. If the increase is reflected in all 50 states and Puerto Rico, this year's final score could well be within touching distance of the two-and-one half million mark, predicts the National Committee on Boys and Gir!: Club

While the number of 4-H'ers is steadily increasing, the annual crop of winners remains about the same, the National Committee points out, because the number of award programs is limited.
Thus individual qualifications become higher and competition keener. At the present time the ratio for state and national winners is one member out of 2,000.

The national award programs in which 4-H'ers participate include clothing, frozen foods, ento-mology, safety, public speaking, and tractor. There are nearly 50 others, according to the National Committee.

All 4-H projects and accivities endeavor to show how to improve the individual, the family, the home, farm and community.

Every 4-H member pledges ". . . my head to National Committee."

Besides the personal satisfaction of "learning by doing," 4-H'ers take great pride in their accomplishments, and outstanding records are rewarded, the National Committee reports.

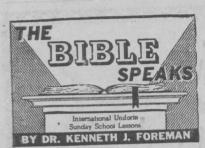

Awards are provided annually by individuals and business firms among which are: Mrs. Charles R. Unto Death •

Lesson for November 15, 1959

IT HAS OFTEN been dangerous to be a Christian. This should not be a surprise to any one who knows the story of Jesus. He himself said that if a man wanted to be his follower he would have to take up a cross every day. Christians nowadays often wear crosses as jewelry, but what Jesus meant was no trinket. Indeed, in his time nobody would have dreamed of making an ornament in the shape of a cross. (Did you ever see a necklace or watchchain with a tiny electric chair at- Dr. Foreman tached?) A cross always meant one thing: a horrible death. Not a death by accident, not a suicide, but a death by court order or mob violence, a form of death inflicted only on the worst criminals, enemies of society. You will have to be considered a criminal, Jesus said in effect, you will have to be prepared literally to be executed as a criminal, if you are going to follow in my footsteps.

People Don't Die for Opinions

Most Christians throughout the centuries have not been called on to be actually killed for their faith. Jesus did not mean that only those who die a martyr's death can be considered Christians. Still, in almost every age of Christianity, there have been martyrs. First, in the long list is a man named Siephen, whose story is told in Acts A brilliant scholar, a convincing debater, he proved to be so goon at showing how right Christian faith is, that his enemies decided the only way to stop him was to arrest him. Perhaps they did not mean to kill him; but kill him they did, in what is surely one of the strangest lynchings in history. For the men who stoned Stephen to death were not a mob acting without knowledge of the court. They were members of the court itself. Now, some one might ask why Stephen was stubborn. Why couldn't he agree with the majority? (In that court he was a minority of One.) Why couldn't he at least keep his opinions to himself? If Christianity were a matter of pinions, of course S have kept his to himself. But people don't die for opinions. They die for convictions. And a conviction does not go down to the uttermost depths of a man's mind and soul unless he is willing to die for it.

Christianity is not a matter of opinions that can easily be changed. It is a matter of people who have convictions which change their whole lives, so that their lives are expressions of their convictions. They will lose life rather than surrender.

Martyrs In Our Time

The roll of those who have died for their Christian faith is a long one. It is not finished, and it has grown much longer in our time. The writer of these lines has worshipped in a "refugee" congregation in Korea, a martyr church. Every member of it is a native of north Korea, who left home to come to south Korea, a strange land to him and not too hospitable either - to begin life again in poverty but in Christian freedom. Not only that, but almost every member of that congregation has lost some relative, murdered by communist orders.

Centuries ago the church used to distinguish between "red" and martyrs. The first kind "white" sealed their testimony in blood. The second kind were not killed but, being always ready to die, suffered for their faith in other ways, perhaps long continued. All honor to martyrs of both kinds. Most of the foreign missionaries, or "fraternal workers" as they are often called, live as white martyrs. Beyond our ordinary comforts of home, away from most of their families, exposed daily to contagion, surrounded by a world so depressing that many missionaries' minds have given way under the strain, overworked and too seldom reinforced, they nevertheless live rejoicing. Every one has heard of the young missionaries who were murdered by those Amazon Indians. Their widows are carrying on their unfinished work today. The wives have not been killed; but who shall say they are not equally martyrs?

"Opportunities Unlimited" was the topic used by the guest speaker, Mrs. Charles Hauser, to hold her group of 211 United Lutheran Church Women spellbound. "God always asks questions," said Mrs. Hauser, "but he doesn't need an answer if you hesitate to give one, he always knows it." She told each one of us to ask ourselves this question, "What in this world are you doing—for Heaven's sake?" This was a most inspirational address.

In the afternoon Mrs. Hauser gave us many suggestions and helpful in-formation about the two themes for mission study---Africa and Town and

Scoutmeeting Thursday

The regular troop meeting last Thursday night saw the weekly theme handled by Assistant patrol leader Wayne Putman and the selection of by Assistant patrol leader games by Assistant patrol leader Gerald Tracey, while something new, of a special nature, was promised by Patrol leader Robert Shaffer. A short session of the Green-Bar leaders' council followed for making future plans and effecting a few changes in organization.

Quartermaster Ralph Hoffman conlucted a quiz on the requirements of Electricity merit badge at a recent meeting, and it proved worth while and aroused considerable interest, as evidenced by the plethora of hands eager to be recognized when each question was put to the various patrol members participating in this phase of the weekly contest. Putman chose the game, which was Mounted foot-the Rattlesnake patrol.

Patrol Contest The inter-patrol contest grows more heated as the second-place Panthers led by Koontz and Sam Bower creep closer (at 152) to the 186 points of closer (at 152) to the 186 points of the Fox patrol, whose leaders are Larry Six and James Tracey. Byron Baer and Gerald Tracey, heading the Raccoons, are third at 131. By its very size its job is more difficult, which may be the reason why the Flaming arrows trail at 114. In the near future swimming at the Frederick "Y" will again be resumed, wood-cutting tackled, and a Green-Bar outing scheduled.

It's all in your Point of View!

This looks impossible, doesn't it? But turn the newspaper sideways, and what you see won't look impossible at all.

Does it seem impossible to save more money? Sometimes the solution is to turn aside from reckless spending habits, and the picture can be very different. With careful planning, you'll soon find that you have more money to save.
