The celebration of this great family and community day had its origin in New England in 1621 under the leadership of Governor Bradford. During the Revolutionary Days the Congress recommended an annual recognition of a day of thanksgiving on a national scale. However, it was not until 1864 that a president of the United States appointed a day of thanksgiving. And since Abraham Lincoln the national executives have been issuing annual Thanksgiving Day Proclamations des-ignating a day for special prayers and thanksgiving to the Creator of man-kind and the provider of all earthly gifts.

As the early pilgrims guarded themselves as a community against the attacking Indians with muskets as they went to worship God with thankful hearts, so may we guard ourselves as a community against all self-complacency and individual self-righteousness and make our way to God's House with gratitude upon our lips and in our hearts on the eve of Thanksgiving Day 1959.

The very first cold day and I mean real cold, there were many sparrows in the tiny yard hunting for some-thing to eat. I quickly tossed bread A regular meeting of the Board of Education of Carroll County was held in the Board Offices on Tuesday, Noto them and just as quickly they flew away and when I looked out of the window there were about a dozen more. They had flown to tell their relations about the food! If all people vember 10, 1959, with President De-Vries R. ful! Eh? On Halloween night, those "Trick or Treaters" arrived and it was such a pleasure to open the door to them which brought back many memories in Philly when I did the same thing— the difference? Well, those days it was minus the T R I C K S. But this was a new one-a Mother coming along with her three children although she was not in costume. A new wrinkle!

Hope you did not miss the second evening with Fred Astaire and Barry Chase. It was delightful. I thought of the times. I enjoyed it all at Keith's in Philadelphia when his partner was his sister, Adele Astaire. Tward the end of the hour one could sit down and review it all as he sang numbers of yester-year. The Spon-sors of those wonderful cars which were described right there as STRONG, QUICK and HANDSOME! STRONG, QUICK and HANDSOME! Thinking of the various ones on T. The part which I observed was on the right side which was not done on the right side which was not done at all. Many wives are giving the "Toni" to the men in their lives!

Immediately, three men are placed on the exterior of the car, then they are taken to the work shop on the upper floors where they have the wonderful mechanics go over them entirely. They must then be passed by the executive before they are sold. Now, then they are placed in the used car sales room ready to be taken out for trials as the prospect comes in to purchase one. If anything goes wrong, the buyer goes back and is given the utmost attention as though they had bought a new car! No wonder that company has been there all down through the years! A VOICE FROM CARROLL COUNTY

One of the pre-Christmas activ-ities in which Carroll Countians par-ticipate enthusiastically, and with generosity, is the National Christmas Seals Sales Campaign, now in pro-gress throughout the country. The Carroll County Tuberculosis Assoc-iation began mailing out 13,000 letters containing Christmas Seals Monday, Nov. 16 and by the end of the week Nov. 16 and by the end of the week every home in Carroll County should receive one. Christmas is the time of giving and being concerned with others welfare. The Christmas Seal is a humanitarian symbol of man's concern for man and in the past has been the difference between health and suffering, of life and death for many. Charles Stonesifer, president of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Associ-ation and Preston Coffman, chairman of the Christmas Seal Sales Campaign, invite all citizens of Carroll County to make the war against Tuberculosis their own personal fight. Buy and use Christmas Seals to help wipe out the disease that still kills 12,000 Americans every year. Mr. Cof-fman points out that Christmas Seals

Zoning For School Property

The County's Planning and Zoning Commission, upon hearing the objections to certain proposals for lands adjacent to school property recently purchased, is considering the need of a temporary zoning measure. Last week the Board of Education registered a request for the Planning Commission to consider zoning as a pro-tection for its school properties and stated that the three or four years it would take to complete the neces-sary planning studies for a comprehensive zoning measure might be too late While the Planning Commission has not ruled on the matter of recommending a temporary ordinance it did in effect ask that several key principles of an interim zoning ordinance be presented for its study during the next several weeks.

Chairman Miller Richardson is requesting such information which might be included in any temporary ordinance, pointed out that in any event the Planning Commission must be satisfied that any provision would be solely for the protection of the citizens of Carroll County before ordering a draft prepared for study of advisory groups and the general public. He pointed out that two or three months might be needed by the Com-mission to make such preliminary uring Company for their lovely boxes

1960 Road Program

the 1960 Road Program for Carroll County for those projects planned for utilizing Federal funds. This information is required by the State Roads Commission for earmarking Federal funds for counties of Maryland. Fortunately, the Highways Department under direction of Paul J. Walsh furnished the County Commissioners with a completed use survey of all non-macadam roads in Carroll County early this week. Information from the survey will be used by the Commissioners in drawing up the 1960 Road

Program within the next two weeks. The matter of selecting a specific road program for 1960 is of added importance over other years in that Carroll County's present allocation of Federal funds is $229,000. To be as sured of having approximately $450. 000. of road projects advertised and under contract by August 30, 1960, and in order to get the $229,000. allocation, a definite program is neces-sary at this time. The matter of coordinating the engineering, the construction and administration requires time, and for this reason Mr. Walsh' office has advised the County Commissioners of the importance of pre-paring the 1960 program in the fall of 1959.

Next year, 1960, the American voter is due to be saved all over again. It a presidential election year and we are anxious to learn what both the republicans and democrats intend to save the poor innocent voter from this time. Both parties have about run out of saving devises for we have already been rescued from abnormalcy, wickedness, fear, war, peace, propaganda, enemies, taxes, labor, big business, and even from ourselves. This is the 20th century but it may just as well be the first, because we are still being saved for the same old reasons. But some how the men runing for office make it interesting and sometimes convincing for the majority of voters turn out to vote. We get through the ordeal every four years and during the break be-tween elections the voters manage to survive in the same old way and show up at the polls when the next election rolls around. Teenagers are not the worst auto-mobile drivers. The men and women over sixty who insist on driving when they know their eyesight is poor and their blood pressure is way above normal are a menace on the road, and potential accident victim.

Our boy had already filed his story, but late at night he got a telegram from his editor that read.: How old Gar Wood? "The reporter wired back: "Old Gar Wood fine. How

The Good News . Lesson for November 22, 1959 T CANNOT be said too often: Christianity is not an organization, it is not a creed, it is not a tet of good resolutions, it is not a special kind of philosophy, it is not ideas. It produces all these, but it does not begin with any of them. It beings with good news. We have a first-class case in the story before us in Acts 8.

At the turningpoint in that story, we are told that Philip "opened his mouth and . . told him the good news of Jesus.'

It is not said that Dr. Foreman Philip opened his mouth and gave the stranger good advice, or con-Semned his sins, or urged him to turn over a new leaf, or offered him a book to read, or urged him to join a church. He just told the good news about Jesus.

Evangelism Is Good-News-ism

The church today has a technical-sounding big word which many Christians do not understand. It is "Evangelism." When we hear the word, we think of sawdust trails, of mass meetings, of Billy Graham and the Salvation Army and special services at the church on the corner. We think of trained choirs and TV and teams. Like typical Americans we want our "evangelism" as we want everything else, on a grand scale and organized to the last inch. Actually, evangelism (as Billy Graham or any good minister can tell you) is a simple thing. As a famous Christian leader from Cey-ion, D. T. Niles, has said, "Evangelism is one beggar telling another beggar where he can find bread."

K

Some Unristian people say they do not believe in evangelism. Push the question with them, and you may find one or the other of two things to be true: either they don't understand what evangelism is, c else they don't really believe it Christ after all-they have no good news to tell. There is a good and a bad way to run a newspaper. A critic may not like the way a particular paper is run, but that doesn't mean that newspaper business is, bad business.

Philip told his good news effect much so that the name

"evangelist" stuck to him. What made him so good at it? He probably never took a "course in evangelism" all his life. For one thing he was a man sensitive and re sponsive to the leading of the Holy Spirit. We first hear of him when the church at Jerusalem is looking for men to appoint on a committee (Acts 6). Qualifications mentioned were that the men should be "men of good repute, full of the Holy Spirit and of wisdom." (It would seem that being full of the Spirit and of wisdom were not thought of as being the very same thing.) At any rate, by the time the Spirit said to Philip, "Go join this chariot," Philip knew the Spirit's voice. it is not necessary to suppose that the Holy Spirit always speaks, or spoke to Philip then, in a voice you could catch on a tape recorder. The point is that the Spirit's will was made known in Phillip's mind, and Philip knew the difference between God's direction and a notion of his own. How did this man become so sensitive to the voice of God? No doubt because he had been obedient before.

He Know His Bible

Another reason for Philip's success is his knowledge of his Bible. It was a "rash" thing to do, maybe, for this dusty pedestrian to speak to this Very Important Personage in his chariot. But Philip felt he had the right to speak. When he heard that official reading aloud (for that is what the Greek word in verse 28 means), in his dull treasurer's-report voice, that sublime passage from Isaiah 53. Philip could not hold in. Do you understand what you are reading? he cried. The distinguished stranger was too much astonished to be offended. Here he was, a man of wealth, distinction, power; but this poor hiker had something he did not have: he knew what the Bible has to say, he knew what it means. God used this man, who had the one thing needful, to convert a man who had everything but what he needed. God can always use hose who know and love his Word.

This community has been selected to participate in the largest medical statistical study ever undertaken. Your help is needed right now for a "Cancer Prevention Study" which will record the family backgrounds, personal habits, medical histories, occupations and other factors in 500,000 families throughout the nation.

Responses to questionnaires (which are completely confidential) will be analyzed for clues as to why some people may be more likely to get cancer than others. It is expected that from these records will emerge some common factors which cause cancer. When these are known, it will be possible to evolve ways of preventing the disease which now strikes 500,000 Americans every year.
