The Christmas Season In Trinity Church

The children will lead in the services commemorating the birth of Jesus Christ, the Saviour of the world, on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock in Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Taneytown, Maryland. Departments will meet as usual at 9 o'clock. The Children's Service will take place at 10 in the church nave. The emphasis will be upon giving at Christmas - the gift of Jesus - and our gifts of love to others. Departments taking part will present gifts during their portion of the service. These gifts were first brought to the children's rooms and placed under the tree. The gifts will be given to needy families in the county. The youth choir under the direction of Mrs. Naomi Dodrer will sing. The service is under the direction of a committee headed by George Naylor, Jr.

A service of infant baptism will be conducted in the church at 2:30 p. m. by the pastor, the Rev. Stanley B. Jennings. Both Junior and Senior Catechetical Class will meet for instruction at 6 p. m. The Senior and Intermediate Luther Leagues will meet at 7 p. m. and will join forces in singing Christmas Carols in the community. They will return later for a fellowship period.

Christmas Eve

The annual family Service on Christmas Eve will be held at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday evening. A very worshipful service has been planned. Selections will be presented by the youth and senior choirs; with both choirs joining in a special number. The pastor will deliver an appropriate Christmas Eve message to the congregation and friends who plan to attend. Mr. Herbert Bomberger, student field worker, will assist in the service.

The church is beautifully decorated for the season. Each department has a tree and several other decorations in keeping with the real meaning of Christmas. There are two towering cedars, one on each side of the main altar in the chancel, trimmed with blue lights. Laurel with blue lights intertwined follows the lines on the great arch at the entrance of the chancel. Poinsettias add to the beauty of the chancel. At times the church is lighted only by groups of candles on every window.

The Taneytown Chamber of Commerce holds its annual Christmas party for the children of the Taneytown area on Friday evening, December 11, with a parade escorting Santa Claus into town. The Taneytown High School Band marched and played for the procession. Also participating were the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, Linos Club, Cub Scouts, Brownies Scouts and Girl Scouts. Bringing up the rear of the procession came Santa Claus appropriately riding in a red convertible.

The procession ended at the Taneytown Fire Hall where ceremonies were held welcoming Santa to Taneytown. Invocation was given by Rev. William Hendricks, welcoming Mayor R. J. Perry, after which Santa greeted children of all ages. Treats of candy and oranges were passed out to approximately 500 kiddies.

Christmas Tree Can Be Hazard

Fir, spruce and pine forests beginning to sprout in vacant lots are a reminder that it's time again to start thinking about the annual ritual of purchasing and putting up the family Christmas tree.

It's time also to start thinking about fire safety precautions which will prevent the tragedy of a fire which can mar the holiday season," says Robert L. Zentz, local insurance agent.

Because of the natural pitch and resin with which it's filled, a Christmas tree is one of the most flammable objects known, Zentz warns.

"The use of electric lights on the tree and the placement of tissue wrapped gifts at the base of the tree serve to increase the fire hazard.

"But, the hazard can be reduced if only a few simple precautions are put into practice," he declares.

Zentz says that fire prevention experts for the Kemper Insurance Companies have developed a set of safety rules which should be observed by Santa's adult helpers in getting the tree ready for the Christmas season.

1. Buy a fresh-looking tree and keep it outdoors if possible until Christmas eve so it won't dry out too quickly.
2. When you set the tree up indoors, place it in a special stand which includes a container for water. Replenish the water when necessary so as to slow up the drying-out process.
3. When you put up the tree, place it away from curtains, partitions or anything which can catch fire easily. Don't place the tree where it obstructs exits.
4. Use flame-retardant cotton and crepe paper and non-combustible tree ornaments and trimmings on and under the tree.
5. Your tree lights should bear the familiar UL label showing approval by the Underwriters Laboratories. Check the wiring of each set carefully; look for dangerous, broken sockets or frayed wires. Keep metallic decorations away from sockets because they can cause a short circuit and a flash-fire.
6. Brace your tree for safety's sake with a single short guy wire fastened to the top part of the main trunk and to the ceiling. Remember, if the tree should fall, a broken light bulb could set it afire.
7. Keep a safe distance—10 feet if possible—between your tree and other sources of heat; such as, fireplaces or space heaters.
8. Turn off the lights when you leave the room for any length of time and at bedtime.
9. Good housekeeping near your tree is a must. Get rid of gift wrappings, boxes and other combustible material immediately after gifts are opened.
10. Remove the tree as soon as it begins to show signs of drying out. Don't let a lapse in common sense cause a tragic tree-burning in the home.

Church Choirs To Broadcast

The choirs of the five Taneytown Churches will "broadcast" over the airwaves of Taneytown during the week preceding Christmas through the loud-speaking and amplifying facilities of the Lutheran Church.

The concert which will be of 30 minute length will begin at 7 p. m. and the following is the schedule from December 17 to 23, exclusive of Saturday and Sunday: Thursday, Trinity Lutheran Church; Friday, Presbyterian Church; Monday, St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church; Tuesday, Messiah Evangelical United Brethren Church; and Wednesday, Grace United Church of Christ.

In this united effort on the part of the Church of our Lord Jesus Christ the true meaning of Christmas is brought to the people of the community. Just as the angels sang announcing the birth of God's Son, so today the children of God sing with joy in declaring his advent and the annual observance of his birth into a world that so desperately needs not only Christ, but also his teachings, his way of life and the redemptive power of his saving grace.

WITH OUR ARMED FORCES

U. S. FORCES, KOREA (AHTNC)—Kenneth T. Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Knight, 133 Lombard St., Littlestown, Pa., recently was promoted to specialist four in Korea, where he is a member of the U. S. Army Seoul Area Command. Knight, a librarian in Headquarters Detachment of the command's Special Services, entered the Army in January 1958, completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C., and arrived overseas last May.

The 19 year-old soldier attended Littlestown High School.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"
With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Each year, the Hutzler Department store sends the souvenir calendar with the season's greetings to each customer and this year all the pictures are of the churches in Baltimore. In choosing the theme, the company had Mr. Wilbur H. Hunter Jr. Director of The Peal Museum who had the difficult task of selecting a limited number of subjects from the wealth of material available. Beginning with the Otterbein Church which is the oldest church in Baltimore, Mr. Hunter chose fifteen which were built between 1784 and 1892 each of them important from either the historical or design standpoint. These pictures are but a few of the fine examples of the handsome buildings perpetuating Baltimore's religious heritage.

Did you know that 350 persons died in accidents in the European Alps this year? The highest toll was in Austria where 130 mountain climbers died! Italy was second with 67 deaths! That is what I call cheapening life! Why would one take chances and desire to climb mountains when they realize there is danger ahead?

Mrs. Housewife, why not purchase your fruit cake this year instead of the tiresome and expensive job in making it yourself? The finest FRUIT CAKE on the market and that for a number of years is made by "THE WARD BAKING COMPANY." It is a light cake in color and it is truly delicious! Very few raisins and all fruits, nuts and chunks full of cherries. They are made in two sizes. To slice the cake it states to use a very sharp knife, wet the blade in hot water and never press the knife down on the cake but instead slice it with a slow sawing motion and this will prevent it from crumbling.

Folks, this year be sure to sign your name to the Christmas cards you are sending—don't have them printed or engraved. It adds a personal touch to the card when it arrives—a sort of nearness and I think you know just what I mean.

The Baltimore stores are crowded this year and that seems to be every day and night. Of course, there is old Santa in all the stores and the children never tire of talking to him. It brought back many memories when I used to take three little boys ages 4-6 and 7 to see all of them. I used to stand aside and watch the expression on each little face as it was his turn next in the long line. Richard, the youngest always went first and he

Arthur S. Flemming, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, pledged an all-out effort to back up the Food and Drug Administration's campaign to protect consumers from "the fraudulent products and schemes being foisted upon the public as weight reducers."

"There is no article," he told a news conference, "as a simple, safe and sane food drug or device which will bring about loss of body weight without exercise of the will to cut down the food intake."

Did you know.....That 98 percent of petroleum research funds come from within the industry. The federal government foots only two percent of the bill, the lowest of any industry listed by the National Science Foundation. The industry spends about $300 million annually on the search for better processes and products.

Every two minutes fire damages or destroys someone's home in a United States city. There were nearly 300,000 residential fires reported in the U. S. during 1958, in communities of 2,500 population and over.

Some 10 million Russians are learning English; an estimated 15,000 Americans study Russian. The government and educational institutions are working to help us catch up in the linguistic race, and now a company that publishes phonograph-record language courses for children has come out with a set on Russian.

A midwestern company manufacturing nails pays its workers $2.90 an hour and sells its product at $9.80 per 100 pounds. Similar nails from a German plant, with wage costs of 90 cents an hour, can be purchased in America for about 15 per cent less. America now imports about 50 times more nails than it exports.

Even during the Korean War, when competing modes of transport were not hampered by rationing of fuel and scarce materials as in World War II, the railroads were called upon to transport 72 percent of all military freight, and 64 percent of military passenger volume. It is generally assumed that intensification or spread of that conflict would have sharply boosted these ratios.

Not long a New York City Judge wrote to the New York Times saying that in the 17 years he had been on the bench not one Chinese teenager had been brought before him on a juvenile delinquency charge.

P. H. Chang, Chinese Consul-General in New York, was asked to comment. He said, "I have heard this story many times from many judges. I will tell you why I think this is so. Fial piety is a cardinal virtue my people have brought over from the China that was free. A Chinese child, no matter where he lives, is brought up to recognize that he cannot shame his parents. Before a Chinese child makes a move, he stops to think what the reaction of his parents will be. Will they be proud, or will they be ashamed? Above all other things, the Chinese teen-ager is anxious to please his parents."

The amazing record of the Chinese children and young people shows that it is in the home that the cure for juvenile delinquency will be found—and in no other place.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

"Christmas"

Christmas means different things to different people and Charles Dickens wrote about the differences so well in his "Christmas Carol". That is why the story of Scrooge and Tiny Tim have become the most read-aloud stories of all time. For me, no Christmas is complete until I hear the Christmas Carol read by some actor on the radio or television. Why should this simple tale have assumed almost as indispensable as that of the Christmas tree and mistletoe in the celebration of Christmas? Evidently much of its popularity is due to the fact that the story contains characters with every attitude toward Christmas. In that respect they are so human. When we read the Christmas Carol we instinctively think of our relatives and friends and catalogue them as Scrooge, Bob Cratchit, or Tiny Tim. All of us know a few Scrooges, who do not believe in Christmas nor take any part in the fun and gaiety. They like to spread gloom and to ridicule the holiday as a sentimental farce. But they are unhappy people the year round, born without imagination in to their own little world, ruled by ego. The character of Tiny Tim reflects the spirit of childhood, the world over. Accepting misfortune with trust, enjoying everything around him and being happy within the shelter of a devoted family. How many children today with all their fine advantages wouldn't exchange their lives for loving devoted family life such as Tiny Tim enjoyed? We must not forget Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cratchit for they symbolize all the wonderful parents in the world whose only ambition in life is to create a happy and enduring home for their children and to make it especially attractive at Christmas time. And we must remember that even Scrooge was scared into believing in the spirit of Christmas.

Traditions grow by doing the same thing over a period of time. During the past twenty years people have more and more taken an interest in decorating the outside of their homes and lawns with colored lights and other symbols of the Christmas holiday. No town, however small fails to get decorated and there is scarcely a house that doesn't light a candle or put up a wreath in recognition of Christmas. So rare, indeed is the house without some form of decoration that one is apt to wonder at its bleak appearance. In the past we have looked on all the decorations as strictly a commercial project and having little to do with Christmas, but we have mellowed with age, and now enjoy all the glitter and beauty of the lights. Its just another example of getting use to something and finally learning that its enjoyable.

During the next two weeks the churches in the community will be putting on their Christmas programs. In most churches the children take the spot light on the program and always give a good account of themselves in the form of recitations, songs, and plays depicting the real Christmas story. This is the one time of the year when children understand and like the Christian religion. Children love babies and the story of the birth of Christ is so simple that even the smallest child is interested. Every child is anxious to play the part of Mary or the shepherds and in most instances they play the part with feeling and deep reverence.

In England, the day after Christmas is known as "Boxing Day". It gets its name from the custom of opening the Christmas boxes placed in the churches for casual contributions and distributing the contents to those who render small services without pay. It is a survival of an older custom when monks used to offer masses for the safety of ships. A small box was placed on each vessel to receive contributions from the sailors. Carrying a box from door to door for the collection of Christmas money and presents was an early custom, and in the course of time poor boxes were placed in churches for donations to be distributed to the poor on Christmas morning. Here in our nation we have no "Boxing Day" in the formal sense but many churches and organizations collect food and toys for the needy at Christmas time. Just last week we heard about the work that the Police Department carry on the year round in Baltimore. At headquarters they have a box into which people violating some small infraction of the law are invited to put a small or large contribution in the box. At Christmas time the money is used to buy baskets of food for families whom the police officers know are in need. The money from the box is also used the year round for many things. Like buying shoes for children so they can attend school or buying a bus ticket for a runaway boy to get back home or paying the rent so that a family will not be put out on the street. In fact they play Santa Clause the year round.

Mistletoe is a favorite Christmas decoration because its often used as an excuse for the opposite sexes to do a little love making but there are also a great deal of superstition attached to it. The mistletoe is said to have been created by the falling tears of Venus, when she had been wounded by one of Cupid's arrows. Another story is that the mistletoe was given to the goddesses of love to keep, and everyone who passed under it was given a kiss, to show that it was an emblem of love and not death. In France, mistletoe was worn as a good luck charm.

Holly too is popular at Christmas and it also is associated with some strange folklore. The holly tree in some countries has become almost an object of worship and at one time, new born children were sprinkled with water in which holly had been soaked, to keep away evil spirits. In Ireland they believed that holly could draw fairies and they used it to decorate their houses so as to gain favor with them.

"Home for Christmas" is the aim of everyone that has been separated from home and family for any length of time. These three words seem to hold all the meaning of Christmas. At no other time of year are home ties as strong and the urge to be with one's family more acute. By train, plane and car people crisscross the continent just to say "hello" to mom and dad in person on Christmas Day. It's the greatest feeling on earth just to be able to say "I'm going home" and be on your way.

The sound of music heard afar; the breathing grass, the broken sod, the sun, the Moon, the twilight star, do all proclaim the mind of God.

To all, a very merry Christmas! Ruth Roelke

From The County Commissioners' Office Monday morning's (Dec. 7) snow storm caught many Carro Co. citizens unprepared for winter. However, at the County Roads Department 4 a. m. Monday morning saw Clarence Bell, an assistant to Roads Engineer Paul Walsh, give the order to start plowing. The unusually heavy winds made all north-south roads in the County impassable in a matter of hours on Monday, and as of Tuesday afternoon Roads Engineer Walsh indicated that all hard surfaced roads were open to traffic. Wednesday morning saw the start of the removal of snow from the non-macadam roads by county graders. 12-10-3t

While the general public often forgets the magnitude of the job of removing snow from over 700 miles of county roads, the 35 employees in the County Roads Department do not. Most all men worked around the clock starting early Monday and did not stop until Tuesday evening, a total of thirty-six straight work hours for many. A total of 16 snow removal units were in operation. Active in the fight to keep roads open were drivers Carroll Staub, Russell Stitley, Clyde Welty, Herbert Tracey, John Schaeffer, Charles Flickinger, Donald Wilt, Kenneth Hawk, William Sherman, Herbert Shipley, and Dennis Myers. Other personnel were William Flickinger, Harvey Stephen, Virgil Cain, Jack Click, Ralph Arbaugh, Kenneth Calliflowe, Algie King, Elmer Messenger, Milton Warehime, Arthur Stephen, Elwood Simpson, Walter Keefe, Maynard Martz, Levi Maus, Charles King, Roger Royer, George McGee, Donald Stephen and Clifton Blacksten. 12-10-3t

Milk and Cookies
Are Still Favored
By All Youngsters

WHEN it comes to trading, the favorite pastime in the world youngsters, dollars to doughnuts the young ones will swap their books for roller skates any afternoon of the year.

These same odds say the youngsters won't trade their after-school chocolate milk and cherry cookies for anything. It's a good thing, too, for they need all the energy they can get from nutritious chocolate milk and cookies before they take to their wheels.

Pour the milk right out of the container for an easy snack. For

Feature Fruits
In Baked Desserts

When you're having an oven dinner, there's nothing nicer than a baked fruit dessert that can be fixed right alongside the meat and vegetables. Apples, pears, oranges and the dried fruits make wonderful, spicy puddings that are such a hit when there's a cold nip in the air.

Here's a delightful dessert served warm or chilled with thick cream either poured from the pitcher or whipped to a froth:

Apple Oatmeal Crisp

(Serves 6-8)
6 tart apples, peeled, cored, quartered
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/4 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup butter or substitute

Place apples in greased 2-quart casserole. Combine brown sugar, butter, oats, flour and cinnamon. Mix until crumbly, then press firmly over the apples. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for one hour. Serve with cream, plain or whipped.

Date Pudding

(Serves 6-8)
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
1 1/2 cups warm water
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 cup chopped pitted dates
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk

Dissolve brown sugar in warm water and pour into baking pan. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over syrup. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 25 minutes. Serve with cream.

Stilbestrol Ups
Gains in TestFeeding Conditions
Varied in Trials

Stilbestrol hormone implants for boosting livestock gains have proved profitable under a wide range of Oregon beef-feeding practices as tested by Oregon State college research workers.

Yearling and two-year-old steers receiving stilbestrol implants in the ear gained about one-half pound a day more on the average than untreated steers, according to David C. England, OSC animal husbandman. The OSC scientist conducted 10 feeding trials under widely different feeding conditions during the past year.

Locally-produced crops as the predominant feed source, supplemented for a balanced ration, included peavine silage; potatoes; high grain rations; meadow hay and moderate grain levels; and silage and hay with low grain levels.

England found that a 30 to 36 milligram implant appears to give maximum increases in most feeding situations, although large-framed dairy steers may respond better to 45 milligram implants.

Thirty milligrams of stilbestrol was a satisfactory level for weaner calves on a fattening ration containing either high or low levels of grain, the OSC tests showed.

The tests also demonstrated that sprayed heifers gain faster when treated with stilbestrol implants, although a 15-milligram level appeared to be enough. The OSC animal scientist does not endorse heifer spaying. He said the tests demonstrated, however, that implants of stilbestrol—a female hormone—probably make up for some of the loss in normal hormone production that occurs when ovaries are removed.

Artificial Breeding
Tests Span Oceans

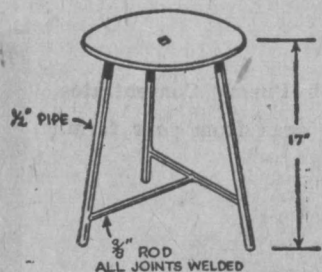

Animal scientists at the U.S. Department of Agriculture have artificially bred sows in Maryland with boar semen collected in Norway.

Semen samples were collected and processed daily and flown to the USDA's Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville, Maryland, over a 15-day period last December. In each case from 30 to 40 hours elapsed from the time the semen was collected until the sows were inseminated.

Results of the experiment show that boar semen treated with diluters can be successfully shipped long distances. Other experimentation in artificial insemination in swine and processing boar semen for storage is going on at the Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin and Cornell agricultural experiment stations.

Of the 24 sows artificially inseminated in the Beltsville experiment, 11 or 46 percent farrowed litters of strong, healthy pigs. Average litter size was 9.2 pigs farrowed and 7.4 or 80 percent were alive at 21 days of age. Survival rate on other pigs normally produced the same season at Beltsville averaged 83.6 percent in pigs weaned at 56 days of age.

Utility Stool

An old cultivator disc mounted on legs of 1/2-in. pipe makes a utility stool that is quite handy around the farm or in the shop. Legs are welded to the convex side of the disk and are braced with two lengths 1/2-in. rod, as shown.

Santa Comes Through, As Usual, On Skis and Sled

WHEN THE occasion demands, Santa Claus can be as modern as a satellite and as athletic as a water skier.

And he doesn't always have "cheeks like roses," or a nose "like a cherry," as in the classic description given him by Dr. Clement C. Moore in his famed "Night Before Christmas" poem written in 1822.

In fact, Jolly Old Saint Nick wears red-striped swimming trunks and gleefully delivers his bag full of toys via water skis on one of this year's Christmas cards.

A "vanguard" greeting this season shows Santa hastily departing a satellite cone as it approaches to earth.

But traditional Santas of beauty, Santas of joy, and Santas with reindeer are also plentiful in this year's Christmas cards and likely will always be with us, according to Hallmark Cards, the world's largest greeting firm.

Only in the days since World War II has Santa departed from the twinkling eye and rosy cheeks given him in Dr. Moore's pen and the image created in 1863 by Thomas Nast, the political cartoonist, in a drawing in Harper's Illustrated Weekly.

Until modern times, it would have been a near sacrilege to change the jolly old fellow, but like other things, a touch of humor has been injected to please the tastes of modern living.

St. Nick this year is shown sliding down the banister, and landing slightly dazed at the bottom. On another card he is patching his trousers. The patch, when revealed as Santa departs, carries the traditional "Merry Christmas" greeting.

A walking Santa Claus for children comes on a large folded Christmas card this year. The Santa, when punched out of the card, assembled, and powered by an elastic band, will walk across the floor, merrily swinging his arms. There is a Santa with a bag of cutout cardboard tricks. And another perennial favorite of children is a Santa whose bag can be filled with small coins.

The history books say Santa derived from a Christmas bishop, Saint Nicholas, who lived in the city of Myra in Asia Minor during the fourth century.

But in all countries, no matter the name he is given or the image in which he is depicted, Santa stands for unselfish giving, a benefactor of children, a bearer of joy.

A best-dressed look from hat to toe has swiftly turned into a world-wide trend according to overseas fashion flashes!

Brigitte Bardot, Gina Lollobrigida and Sophia Loren led the European glamour lasses as they all went on recent shopping sprees for the new 'round the clock collections that have captured the heart of fashion.

Softly rolled cloches were the pet daytime choice to tame the familiar trailing tresses of Brigitte Bardot. Deep-crowned and big brimmed, the cloche is a style that Brigitte Bardot lends serenity. Hats tame her tresses! la Belle Bardot chose it in colors ranging from a red as gay as Paris itself through the demure, nun-like white—so very new this season.

Sophia Loren chose to tuck her curls under a collection favoring the perky derby family; a dapper coachman and a very dashing fedora both feature the femininity of face veils. Following through with the new American flair for emphasizing hats as the crowning glory of every truly coordinated costume, Sophia's choices also included an evening collection that included dramatically swirled toques done in satin extravaganzas of color.

Gina Lollobrigida's lavish Italian beauty led her toward an after-dark selection of hats that go to dinner and dancing with starry sprinklings of jewels all the way from the crown of the hat to the tip of its veiling. One of her favorites, she confides, is a bonnet that can take her anywhere after a long day at the studio when her hairdo turns uncooperative; it's a white satin bonnet with an organdy rose blossoming on the brim which makes her both look and feel fresh as cake.

Star-gazing at such as Brigitte Bardot, Sophia Loren and Gina Lollobrigida, one doesn't have to have a horoscope to know that hats are a definite "must" in the immediate future of fashion's firmament!

Christmas Grace

Lesson for December 20, 1959

CHRISTMAS TIME is giving time; but not all "giving" is Christian. When a man at a race track drops a quarter into the Salvation Army lassie's tambourine, that isn't giving, it's only a tip to Lady Luck. When you give something to your Aunt Ginny although you hate to do it, but you know your cousin is going to send her something, and you hate to offend the old lady, that isn't giving, it's just protecting your interests. When you have a "secret pal" and you put a present for her (or him) under a tree, knowing that your s.p. will have one there for you, that isn't giving, it's a game of swapping. When you give away an old garment that you don't want to be seen in any more, that isn't giving, it's just cleaning out your closet.

True Giving

The grace of Christmas is Christian giving. When is giving Christian? When it costs the giver something, when it is worth giving, and when the one who is to receive it really needs it. I might save up my money and spend a lot of it on a set of plumber's tools for Aunt Ginny, that present would cost me something but Aunt Ginny would have no earthly use for it. While it's fresh in our minds it would hurt none of us to go over our Christmas shopping list for 1959 and see how much of it was Christian.

All the same, giving is the grace, the special grace, of Christmas. It is a fitting way to celebrate God's greatest gift to us. It was about three centuries after the birth of Christ that the Christian church set a definite date for his birthday. Once begun, the church never gave up this custom. But the essence of Christmas is not Santa Claus, not the tree nor the yule log, nor the mistletoe, nor the lights in the windows, charming as all these may be. The essence of Christmas is the grace of Christmas, and the grace of Christmas is Giving.

Not Always Things

Most of us think of gifts as things, things that weigh something on the scales, things that can be put into a pretty box and be wrapped up. Sometimes the best present may not be a thing of that kind at all. Our Bible story from Acts is as much a Christmas story as the one from Luke; for both have to do with Giving. The story in Luke tells of God's gift to us. First we see the Christians at Antioch giving the good news to that city. Since Christians had then no prestige whatever and were few in number, their "speaking to the Greeks" must have been personal conversations, not public sermons. They shared their faith, and that was the best gift of all. Faith cannot be wrapped in a package and it weighs nothing on the parcel post scales. But it is more valuable than any parcel that was insured this or any Christmas.

At Our Doors

Our Christmas-grace story from Acts also tells of a different kind of giving, which was Christian too. There are times and occasions when the "spiritual" gift is not the thing. Saint James saw this clearly. He raises the question with some one who has just sent a needy case away, with a blessing but with an empty basket. "Go in peace," this person had said, "be warmed and fed." If any one should ask him whether he gave that poor widow anything, he would have said, "Of course. I gave her my blessing, didn't I? I expressed my earnest prayer that she would find warmth and a square meal." "But you didn't give her any firewood or groceries?" "No—I gave something much better because it was spiritual: a benediction." O nonsense! James says such a man's "faith" is dead. John, a spiritual man if ever one lived, wonders if such a man has the love of God in him at all. Spiritual gifts are the best gifts—but if they go along with material selfishness, they are not gifts at all. A benediction may be an expression of the grace of Christmas; but so may a sack of potatoes. A Christmas gift is one that Christ would give.

became so excited that he just could not remember all he wanted for Christmas and Santa had to help him out John, the middle boy who was always so mischievous and looking at Santa would say "I just saw you, Santa over in the May Company. What is this anyway, a joke?" Then, came the eldest, my series lad. "What is your name?" asked Santa. "Francis, Jr. Sir" (He is the one now studying for the Ministry) "Well, have you been a good boy?" Laughingly he replied, "No, Sir not all the time!" The next store we went in, I quickly stood in line and never will I forget the children's expressions as they never knew what I was going to do and say! John said, "Mama, what are you doing?" I quickly gave old Santa the wink and just as quickly said, "Oh, Santa I have been a very good girl and I would like to have lots of presents!" The crowd surely enjoyed that one, Folks and you just can imagine! Eh? I think Santa enjoyed it more than anyone else! Nuff Sed!

As I walked along this year on Howard Street it all was so vivid before me when suddenly a lady stopped to give a coin to the poor blind boy who sits on a stool in the coldest days or the hottest days and he is getting so thin. The lady approached me and said, "I was very ill in the hospital for a long long time with a real break down. I prayed that God would restore me to my health and if that miracle happened, I would be a real Christian so here I am!"

When you go to town, Folks be sure and stop by the "Charles Street Landmark" which I visit about once weekly which is the Woman's Industrial Exchange. The articles are beautiful and all made by hand. It was opened in the year of 1899 to "help women help themselves!" The exchange gets a percent for each article that is sold. There is a restaurant in the rear. Even the bread or biscuits can be bought, too and they are of the old time Maryland bakery. On a sign of a small chopping board for any household, I read these words—

"when I did ill, I heard it ever but when I did well, I heard it never!"

As I continued up Howard Street after observing much, I went into the Movie "The Mayfair" to see the wonderful show of "The Last Angry Man" Paul Muni will surely get the OSCAR for that one. After so many disgusting stories about sex, Folks this is such a homey picture—so substantial that it will carry you back to the country Dr. right in Taneytown or around your town wherever that may have been. I recall of just such a Dr. in Baltimore on St. Paul Street, a very aged man whom everyone loved but his office was all in a clutter that it was Greek to me how he located anything he once placed down in that room. Paul Muni as Dr. is just such an old fashioned and conscientious and faithful Doctor and you will love him from the very start. The office is situated in Brooklyn, N. Y., in a very poor section and all the patients are poor but the Doctor treats them as though they were well to do. He is truly the Good Samaritan—of the Old School! Don't miss that one!

Now that the winter is here why not as Katherine Murray says, "Put a little fun in your life and start dancing!" It will be fun plus all the glamour if it is done right down at that famous studio on North Charles Street right above Lexington. You will feel better and look younger! Will be seeing you in Philly! So long, Folks. Have a grand week end. Next week, I'll be writing about the little "Mink" muff which I lost during the Christmas rush in town last year. Until then, D. V.

I am
Faithfully,
Your Observer.
