MARCH OF DIMES CAMPAIGN

Drive For Funds will be Conducted in January

All high schools and accredited colleges in Carroll County have just received application forms for the 1960 Health Scholarships offered by The National Foundation, it was announced today by Mrs. Gladys M. Wimert, chairman of the county chapter.

The Health Scholarships to which the state is entitled by population will be supported by funds from the New March of Dimes campaign in January against the crippling diseases of birth defects, arthritis and paralytic polio. Each scholarship will pay $500 a year, or a total of $2,000 for four years of training in one of the five key health professions of medicine, nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy and medical social work.

Mrs. Wimert said that the 403 U. S. high school and college winners of 1959 Health Scholarships are now preparing for their careers in colleges and medical centers. They will help relieve the desperate shortage of experts who man the hospitals, clinics, and treatment centers, care for the sick and injured, and safeguard the nation's health.

"The National Foundation's Health Scholarship Program," said Mrs. Wimert, "is one of the three weapons by which the world's biggest voluntary health organizations is fighting the crippling diseases that affect one U. S. family in every four. The other two weapons are medical research, which produced the Salk vaccine, and patient aid, which provides medical care for victims of disease."

She added that applications for the 515 Health Scholarships which will be offered in 1960 to all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Canal Zone have just reached 29,000 high schools and 1,500 accredited colleges. The final selection of winning candidates will be made next summer by state committees of leading professionals in the health fields.

In 1959, the first year of the new scholarship program, according to Mrs. Wimert, more than 4,700 applications were received, but three-fourths of them were for training in medicine and nursing.

"This points up the need for making the public more about the lesser known but vitally important, occupations of physical therapy, occupational therapy and medical social work," said Mrs. Wimert. "The Health Scholarship Program aims to acquaint the American people with the achievements and needs of these professions, to stimulate public interest and support for them, and to educate young Americans for these regarding careers."

High school seniors or college students interested in Health Scholarships should request applications from their principals, deans or career counselors, or the local chapter of The National Foundation.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

HAPPY NEW YEAR, Folks and may you have many Blessings this year.

I wish you health as my Poem always states for we are really rich and have everything when we have our health!

Going up to Philly the other day to see the sights for the holidays was most interesting. Left on an early train and returned on the late train the same day. Met friends at the big Bronze Eagle in that famous institution, The John Wanamaker store which is the meeting place for every one.

By all means visit the store right now before the Kiddies return to school. There is a tree beautifully lit up which changes colors every few seconds automatically of Green, red, yellow and pink which stands on the balcony of that store. The interesting Arches statues from the story of Biblical days is witnessed by thousands which are as follows:—The Revelation of the Shepherds, The Christmas Rose, St. Francis, Cathedral Bells, St. Nicholas Christmas Carols and Chords. Martin Luther and the First Christmas Tree, Arches of the Flight into Egypt, Organ Keyboard, The Presentation in the Temple, The Adoration of The Magi, The Nativity, The Annunciation, The Visitation, Christmas Court Legend, Abe and Issac, David and Moses, The Shepherds, St. Philip, St. James Major, St. Peter, St. Thomas, St. Bartholomew, St. Matthew, The Prophets—Isaiah, Daniel and John the Baptist, Deciples—St. John, St. Jude, St. Simon, St. James Minor, St. Andrew and St. Matthias.

Then, the Heavenly Chords of the wonderful organ right there are heard and there is silence and everyone stands still!

Walking to the Court Yard of the City Hall was fascinating. There was a 25 foot tree or even higher in the centre and the Christmas decorations were big plastic electrically lit balls in all colors as large as Grape fruit. The twinkling stars at the top greeted one as they entered the Court yard. The Policemen and Firemen's Band was right there led by the Director, Bel Fiordes and the first piece—well? You know it all "JINGLE BELLS" and that made the gathering right there very friendly, plus all the big smiles! All in all it was a delightful day—having lunch at the Strawbridge & Clothier Department Store.

Don't forget, Folks about the second Concert on Thursday evening, Jan. 7 at 8:30 in the Gettysburg High School Auditorium featuring Mr. Paul Chalfant Violinist.

Now, this did arouse my curiosity. Down on Howard Street there is the Diet Shop and on the window was advertised, "Tiger's Milk"! I had to go in to make inquiries about that one. It was Cottage Cheese with other ingredients! UGH!

How wonderful this "Good Will Tour" of our President of these United States! Yet I recall as everyone else of the man who gave The World A Dream of Peace! President Woodrow Wilson. When he was a little boy playing on the lawn in Georgia, two men came by. "Mr. Lincoln has been elected!" said one. "There will be War!" The boy ran to find his father who was working on next Sunday's Sermon. "Sir", said the boy, "what is war?" Fifty years later, Woodrow Wilson found out! In 1914, an archduke was shot in Bosnia and the boy who had asked his father, "What is War?" now had the answer! By the time it was over, he knew that the most important job in his life was to make a peace that would not let war happen again—a peace based on freedom for all for he knew that free men do not start wars. He gave his life to the effort. And before he died, he dared to hope that the world had fought its last war! Isn't it possible we will live to see that Woodrow Wilson was right? FACTS AND OPINIONS

Frank Chodorov writes in National Review: "What the (steel) companies want is permission to run their plants efficiently. Under the contract in force previous to the strike, any change in operational practice which management wanted to introduce was subject, upon a grievance being filed by the union with the industry's board of arbitration, to review and adjudication. Management was obliged to justify its action; the union had an equal, and sometimes dominant, hand in the running of the plant. That a proposed change was economically justified was of secondary importance; it was objectionable to the union because it upset the going order. Thus, the 'work rules' became a deterrent to efficient management. They made for rigidity and high costs."

According to U. S. News & World Report, a borrowing spree on in this country. We owe $800 billion in public and private debt and it is increasing at the rate of $63 billion a year. So a trillion-dollar debt is in sight.

A short time ago the residents of Mount Vernon, Missouri, voted on a bond issue designed to provide funds for a transmission line tying the town to the Southwestern Power Administration. The measure was defeated by a substantial margin, and Mount Vernon will continue a contract under which the town has been served at wholesale by a private utility company for more than 25 years.

Senior Vice President Naylor of Gulf Oil Co. asks a question: "What ends are we serving when capital, management and technology are strained to improve the quality of products while holding down their costs, only to have the successes of such a program dissipated by unreasonable demands by labor, constantly increasing and disproportionate motor fuel taxes and various forms of governmental interference?"

In a recent month, railroad retirement payments crossed the $75 million mark for the first time since the system was established. Of the total, 77 per cent went to retired employees and their wives and the remainder to survivors of deceased employees.

Although America's economy grew during the past century at a rate unparalleled in history, this pace has slowed during the 1950's to the point where the United States stands almost at the bottom of the list of major nations in terms of economic growth. That statement was agreed upon by a panel of 11 distinguished economists, meeting at a forum conducted by the National Industrial Conference Board. The American preference for more leisure was mentioned as a factor contributing to slowed growth.

In 1913, the Tax Foundation tells us, federal government tax collections came to about $35 million, which was collected at the rate of $67 a minute. In 1959 tax collections amounted to about $59 billion, collected at the rate of $111,912 a minute.

Writing on labor problems, David Lawrence says: "The basic point is collusion and conspiracy. Workers have the right to join a union in their own plant and to strike if they cannot agree with the employer through collective bargaining, but have they a right to monopolize an entire industry, and, by collusion throughout the country, conspire to bring on an industry-wide strike? This is the real issue that the congress will have to face at its next session, and it may also be one of the most important controversies in the 1960 congressional campaign."

BEAVER FALLS, PA., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "Federal, state and local expenditures are running at $129 billion a year. That is more than one third the national product. In other words, 35 cents of every dollar in this country goes to help maintain government on all levels."

Linda then . . . and Linda now

Six-year-old Linda Breese of Columbus, Ohio, has been crippled from birth. She suffered from a birth defect, a disorder which seriously afflicts one out of every 16 babies born in the United States.

When Linda was old enough to walk, she could get around only with the aid of steel braces on her legs. That meant wearing heavy, ankle-high shoes which were not very pretty for a little girl who was otherwise developing into a real beauty.

Children with significant birth defects, known medically as congenital malformations, often face a lifetime of crippling. But there was hope in Linda's case. In her hometown, at the Columbus Children's Hospital, a new center especially designed to treat birth defects was set up with the support of New March of Dimes funds. It is probably the world's first birth defects treatment and study center.

Linda began a series of surgical operations, treatments and exercises to strengthen the muscles she still had in her legs. Today she no longer needs the braces and can even ride a tricycle. Though she still uses crutches, the doctors at the Columbus center hope that she may soon be able to abandon them. Meanwhile, what delights Linda most is that, like other little girls, she can now wear pretty shoes.

The New March of Dimes campaign in January, 1960, is aimed at three major crippling diseases, including arthritis and polio in addition to birth defects. It is estimated that one out of every four American families is affected by these disorders. Linda's progress toward a healthy, normal life symbolizes the hope held out by the New March of Dimes for millions of sufferers from crippling diseases.

A WORD TO THE WIVES

It's a wise wife
Who enjoys life
And works a budget plan,
Who lays away each payday
The savings that she can.

No rule of thumb
Dictates the sum,
But bankers say
The smartest way
(The secret of it all)
Is a set amount
For a bank account,
No matter if it's small.

It's a wise wife
Who improves life

And watches spending more,
And so she knows
Where her dollar goes —
Keeps a checkbook score,
(A checkbook is a tally,
A sort of balance sheet,
And a cancelled check
Is proof of pay —
A recognized receipt.)

It's a wise wife
Who plans well —
Savings and expense,
For she who budgets dollars
Shows her common sense!

RING OUT THE OLD

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

Christmas eve was clear and cold with brilliant moonlight, but on Christmas morning the earth was covered with snow which continued during the day to a depth of about six inches, finally developing into a moderate blizzard, causing many roads to be badly drifted. The mails were delayed and social and church events interfered with, but all agreed that it was "fine Christmas Weather".

First for Butter. Carroll County carried off the first prize for the best five pounds of butter, at the Maryland State Dairymen's Association, held at the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore Nov. 29 to Dec. 3, 1909. A. Kurtz Myers, of Frizzellburg, entered the contest by sending five pounds of butter manufactured at his creamery, and carried off first prize and on Dec. 23 received the Association's check for $10. The butter scored ninety-seven and was made by Howard Welk, buttermaker.

Tyrone.—The old proverb "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach" does not hold good with men only, but with women also, for on Christmas women as well as men ventured out in the snow for the sake of getting something for the innerman. It is to be hoped after facing such a storm they were not disappointed. White caps, black faces and all kind of hideous looking wild beasts are roaming through this part of the country of an evening enjoying the Christmas holidays masquerading.

May Be Named "Key Mar." For a good many years, Bruceville, York Road and Frederick Junction have been more or less synonymous and confusing names for the junction point of the W.M.R.R. and the N.C.R., the postoffice now being York Road and the station Bruceville, while the Junction still holds on to some extent. Recently a very proper movement has been made locally for a change in name or the adoption of one name for both P. O. and station in order to avoid confusion. We are informed that a citizens meeting recently proposed "Mont Terra" and "Key Mar" as euphonious and historic names and that the latter has been practically accepted by all parties concerned.

York Road.—Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Stonesifer were given a surprise by their friends on Monday. It being their wedding anniversary. There were about 25 present.

Fall cleaning time again! Take it easy by making a list of jobs to do, then do just one a day. When you add that check mark "finished," you'll have a real glow of satisfaction.

1. ✓ SPEND A MORNING cleaning pantry shelves. Use a detergent for them. For seldom used pans and roasters, clean them inside and out with an oval soap pad... they'll be bright and shiny for holiday use.

2. ✓ OVEN CLEANING! That's a periodic job not limited to fall, but it still needs to be listed as a part of the basic kitchen cleanup. An oval soap pad is the easy way, easier on hands too.

3. ✓ PAINTING THIS FALL? After the paint dries, use a little plastic mesh ball to scrape bits off windows and floors—this won't harm glass or tile either.

4. ✓ LAST CALL for cleaning outdoor equipment. Aluminum chairs and garden tools thrive on a rub-over with a sudsy oval soap pad for use again, the first fine day.

Tip to House-Hunters:

Don't Forget To Investigate Upkeep Costs

Prospective home buyers can get more house for less money by investigating certain important cost factors before coming to a final decision about any home.

Most real estate agents and home economists agree that the six factors which need investigation most are:

1. Mortgage. Shop around at a number of banks to find the lowest possible mortgage interest. A 5 percent interest rate on a $15,000 mortgage will cost roughly $10 a month less than the same mortgage at 6 percent.

2. Taxes. Get a clear picture of the total taxes you'll have to pay on a house, and look into the possibility of future tax increases. Real estate, water, and sewer taxes may be as low as $20 per month for a $20,000 house in one community, and as much as $60 per month for the same house in a neighboring community.

3. Travel between work and home. Costs of this travel can add considerably to family expenses, not to mention the added time required for longer distances. These factors should be considered seriously when comparing the costs of a house "close in" with one in "exurbia."

4. Heating. Make sure the house is well-insulated, since it can cost up to $25 a month more to heat a house that has poor insulation or none at all. Research has shown that a minimum thickness of three inches of mineral wool in walls and at least four inches in the ceiling can reduce the cost of heating a house by as much as 40 percent.

5. General construction. Are sidewalls, windows, doors, foundation, and framing in good condition? If not, avoid the house, since these components are difficult and expensive to replace. If the roof is old and shabby, this needn't concern you if you like the rest of the house. A new roof of asphalt shingles in a color you like can be applied quickly at a reasonable cost and will assure you of years of protection from weather of all kinds.

6. Paint, inside and out. The condition of paint often is a good way to tell how carefully the house has been maintained over the years. When paint is in bad shape, it may be an indication that the plumbing and heating systems, as well as other important parts of the house, have received similar lack of care.

A sigh for the year departed; It gave us pleasure and cheer; But a smile for the one just started And a royal welcome here.

A tear for the days remembered For pleasures along the way. But a song for the joys assembled To come with this New Year's Day.

A prayer of thanks for the old year; The days it was ours to live; And a prayer of hope for the future; And all the good it will give.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

MERRY, MERRY CHRISTMAS—THE MERRIEST EVER—

to my Dear Readers across the miles! Your Observer will be thinking about the many wonderful Christmases right there in Carroll County! The big tree right outside of the kitchen door which I lit up for the Holidays plus all the candle lighted windows which could have been seen for miles on the 71 Highway. One Christmas, I'll always remember which was the last one right there when the two eldest boys and their wives sat down with the rest of the family for the big feast! And that day the snow came down. Beautiful memories of the country I loved. It is really something to remember! And this month, the Column is just FOURTEEN Years old!

Reminiscing about the Christmases in Philadelphia when I was a little girl (and it really did snow always the night before and such heavy snows then). In those days the Postman always delivered the mail on Christmas and there were a number of greeting cards but not plentiful as they are today. That nice postman always with the pleasant smile and "Merry Christmas!" he would say loudly as he would trudge up the snow filled steps in the city row of houses with his high hip boots plus the heavy bag over his shoulder. And we were such a big family—(Your Observer the SEVENTH child) and there was such joy, laughter and mirth in our household. I was always selected to carry the big bird to the neighborhood bakery which they would bake or roast for the little fee of five cents! Back again, I would go with long leggings and that Tom 'O Shant-er upon my head in the snow carrying that heavy Turkey done to perfection. I often wonder how I managed it but then I was always very strong and healthy. ("May" people always are.) What always amazed me was nothing in sight the night before the big tree which swept the ceiling the highest branch bent over with the weight of the big topped ball and the many gifts which were hidden. All were evidence the following morning and there we were long before dawn all around that tree shouting with glee at the gifts. There were Foreign Dolls and lovely dresses and French shoes and Kid gloves from France from the wealthy relations and that big check in the mail. I recall the lovely white Fox furs sent to my older sister from my cousins and when she wore them (they were so long) that the dogs used to come up and bark on the streets!

Somewhere, whenever we believed in Santa Claus yet we were always cautioned never to give away the secret to other children. The only times P I E S were baked in our house was on the holidays as we were told that eating the daily would not be good for our teeth! Then, to top the Christmas Day off, the big company of "Crane's Ice Cream" whose President was a personal friend of my Dad's would always send a great big freezer of twelve quarts of ice cream! Ah! yes—it all is wonderful to just sit back and reminisce! Children—happy little hearts and such a little time to be a child!

Now, folks here is the story about "The Little Round Muff" of which I told you I would write in this week's Column. Do you recall last year when I lost my little Mink Muff in a department store in Baltimore? Last month, I went to the St. John's Episcopal Annual Turkey dinner and Bazaar. As I walked around to each booth and came to the final one number 12 which was called "The Attic Booth!" I did not look at the counter but what was hanging up on a nail by the cord. A little round Mink Muff which appeared a trifle larger than mine. My continued gaze must have started the lady aiding in the sales of the merchandise and looking at me and then at the muff she took it down from its hanging place and said, "Isn't it lovely? It is a real Mink Muff and not one thing wrong with it which was presented by one of our Members!" I held out my hand and it was so much like the Muff I lost with one exception—there was no zipper. "It is only two dollars!" "Two Dollars?" I said in astonishment. "I'll take it!" "I'll put it in this shopping bag for you" continued the lady. "Oh, please don't, I'll just carry it as I lost almost the replica last Christmas!" "Oh, I knew there was some story attached the way you looked at the Muff. May I ask you your name?" I told her and then she called her Minister over to meet me and all through that little Mink Muff!

What a big surprise to get a beautiful Air letter from Arthur Godfrey! When you buy ice cream, folks the next time be sure you get a brand called "DELVALE" sold to every store plus all Acme and A & P's. The kind to ask for is only "VENETIAN SPUMONT". It compares with the Breyer's of Philadelphia brand. You will never be satisfied with any other ice cream after tasting this kind and flavor.

Saw the most fascinating thing the other day at the stop light by Hochschild's—the back sill of a car completely done as a Christmas garden and everyone standing there shouted, "Oh, Look! 'Original!'"

Now, here's a cute one! Down in that Southern state in the city of Atlanta, Ga. the hospitals have announced if any baby arrives just in time for Christmas, that baby will be placed in a big red stocking and handed to the Mother!

And this from the "Farmer's Almanac"—Christmas this year will be GREEN!

During the holidays, folks be sure and take a trip to Philly and visit the John Wanamaker store which is truly an institution by itself. All about that next week and my visit to Philly this year just for the sights! Until then D.V. Have a great week end. Don't eat too much turkey and please do not permit the Kiddies to eat too much holiday candy and that way all will enjoy the holidays so much more.

I am, Faithfully, Your Observer.

Care Advised In Selection Of Roofing

Choosing the roofing material for a house is an important decision for anyone, whether he's an architect, a builder, or a home owner getting ready to reroof, says architect Roy S. Johnson of Tarrytown, N.Y.

The right choice of a roofing material, says Johnson, can mean an important cash savings, a contribution to the appearance of the house, and the security of knowing the roof will give good protection from all kinds of weather.

Johnson, one of the Eastern seaboard's leading designers of fine homes, says these are the things he looks for in a roofing material:

1. Ease of application. Some roofing materials require special training, tools, and experience to apply. An example of a material that is easy to apply is asphalt shingles. Any qualified roofer can apply them skillfully and dependably without costly, wasted labor.

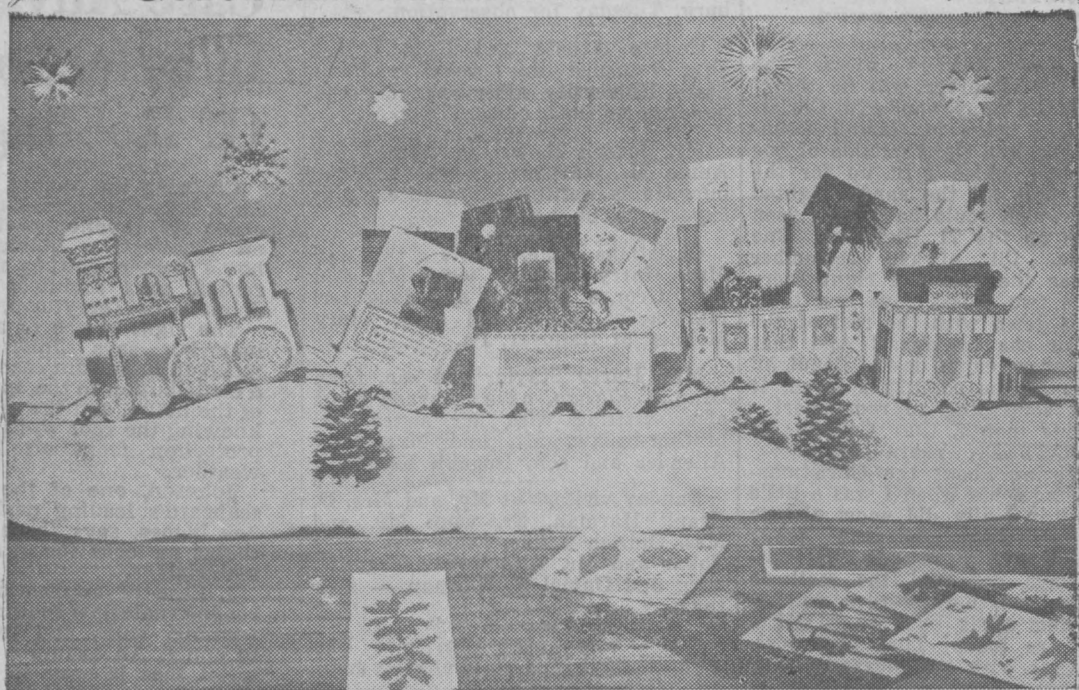

2. Color. Johnson says that although he prefers white or other subdued light-reflecting colors of asphalt shingles, deep or blended colors on the roof can enhance the appearance of many homes.

3. Texture. A soft, textured appearance, without any harsh glare is an architectural "must" with Johnson. "Hard, gleaming surfaces are for office buildings and greenhouses, not homes."

4. Durability. A good roof, says Johnson, should last for years without giving any trouble, and should never rot, corrode, or dent.

5. Low cost. In building a new home or remodeling an

The Hallmark Holiday Express is available in card and stationery departments.

'Dimes' Opens First Birth Defects Center

A birth defects study center, the first of its kind designed to combine clinical treatment with research and teaching, has just been officially opened at Columbus, Ohio. It is supported by funds from the New March of Dimes, which is now engaged in its January campaign for contributions to fight three major crippling diseases including, besides birth defects, arthritis and polio.

Medical experts say that birth defects are the biggest unmet childhood medical problem in the United States today. There are more than 600 different kinds of birth defects, or "congenital malformations," as they are called by doctors. They range all the way from harelip and clubfoot to mental retardation.

Some 250,000 American babies are born each year with one or more significant birth defects; and about half of this number are doomed to a lifetime of serious illness or crippling. About 34,000 infants each year are stillborn because of these afflictions, or die within the first month of life. Medical science as yet has few clues to the causes of these disorders that occur before birth; and there are few known methods of prevention.

Shrouded in Superstition

The study center in Columbus' famed Children's Hospital thus represents the beginning of the New March of Dimes attempt to solve a medical problem that has heretofore been largely neglected by research. It is a problem that has for centuries been shrouded in fear, superstition and shame. By tackling this issue with a three-pronged program of research, patient aid and training of skilled medical professionals, the March of Dimes organization seeks to bring hope to the hundreds of thousands of parents whose lives have been blighted by bewildering grief and heartbreak following the birth of a malformed child.

This hope is bolstered by the past record of the March of Dimes organization in fighting baffling diseases. It was March of Dimes funds that encouraged Dr. Jonas E. Salk to become a virologist and that produced his world-celebrated vaccine against crippling polio.

Parents are taught to give home care to children with birth defects at the Columbus Children's Hospital Birth Defects Study Center, supported by New March of Dimes funds. Here doctors examine Jackie Vess, 3, born with hydrocephalus, commonly known as "water on the brain," while parents get instruction.

Born with an open spina, two-month-old Madonna Galich is examined by a physician at the Birth Defects Study Center, just officially opened in the Columbus, Ohio, Children's Hospital. New March of Dimes funds will be used to help this baby toward a normal and useful life.

Some Can Be Helped

Certain major birth defects, such as "water on the brain" (hydrocephalus) and "open spine" (spina bifida), can now sometimes be corrected by new techniques of surgery, medical experts at the March of Dimes organization report.

Through the combination of treatment, teaching and study at the Columbus Birth Defects Study Center and others the March of Dimes hopes to establish that new knowledge will be obtained and spread so that the devastating effects of these disorders may eventually, for the most part, be prevented or controlled.

World Mission

Lesson for January 3, 1960

CHARLES Darwin, the famous scientist, is reported to have said, "If I am ever cast adrift on a savage island, I hope it will be one where Christian missionaries have got there first." Dr. Pitt Van Dusen during World War II wrote a book called "They Found the Church There," describing some of the many times Allied troops had been astonished to find Christians in the least likely places. A young paratrooper lost in New Guinea, expecting nothing better than to be eaten by cannibals, would hear the sound of a familiar Christian hymn, something he used to sing in Sunday school. When he made his way toward the sound, he discovered not cannibals but ex-cannibals, now changed men because Christ had come to their village.

Dr. Foreman

Toe-holds

One of the most thrilling sights this writer has seen in recent years was a book, in fact two books—though he could read neither one! One of these was the first book of any kind printed in one of the Miao languages (Miao rhymes with a cat's meow). Some young missionaries, trained in the study of primitive languages, have for the first time in history put this Miao language into writing so that these mountain tribes, living in the border-lands between China and Thailand, can learn to read, and in time read the Bible. This new book is only a primer, but it is a kind of toe-hold for the Christian missionaries. The other book is a reprint of the first New Testament ever printed in Korean. Seventy-five years ago, to be a Christian in Korea called for the death penalty. No missionary could go there. But in China this Testament was printed in the Korean language, and smuggled into Korea by the "Christian Underground."

Small Beginnings

The story of Christian missions is long, and thrilling. The only people who do not get a thrill out of it are the people who get no thrill out of Christianity itself. A church member who says, "I believe in Christ but not in missions" is as good as saying "I don't believe in Christ." The Christian religion is a missionary religion, which is to say it is for all men everywhere, it is not "American," "white," "occidental" any more than it is Asian, yellow or oriental. Missionaries have gone everywhere, that is to say into all sorts of places. But what we call foreign missions, or world missions, began with the day when two men set out from the city of Antioch headed west. They were the best and ablest men in that church, they were its associate pastors as we would call them. They had been, so to speak, city missionaries in the metropolis of Antioch. Now the church sent them out. But the church did not send them until they were sure this was the will of the Holy Spirit. The thought of sending these men came as an inspiration, and the church recognized it as such. So Paul and Barnabas became the first real "foreign missionaries" in history.

Target: World

"Go into all the world," Jesus had said. There is no "here" or "there" for Christian missions. If an American Christian goes to share Christ with the Koreans, he is a "foreign" missionary; if a Korean comes here for the same purpose he is a "foreign" missionary too. (That is one reason why some churches do not speak of "missionaries" home or foreign but of "fraternal workers.") Preaching a Gospel sermon to a Spanish-speaking congregation in Texas is "home" missions; preaching the identical sermon to a congregation in Mexico is "foreign" missions. Its geography that draws the line. There is no line, really. That first "foreign missionary" party started by going to the old home of Barnabas himself, where they would have (in our lingo) "connections." But the world is always the target. Places and countries may be barred to us, for shorter or longer times. But the church sets no limits for itself. Wherever in the world there are people, there the Good News of God is needed, and there Christ's men will joyfully go.

4-H Winner

Maryland's state winner in the 4-H Club food preparation awards program sponsored by Betty Crocker of General Mills is Sarah Ann Ramsburg of Thurmont, shown here with Helen Hallbert, director of the company's home service department, at the Club Congress in Chicago. As one of six national winners, Sarah received a $400 college scholarship.

The annual battle of drivers against the elements will soon be under way and the victors will be those who are smart enough to be prepared and skillful enough in their driving and walking to outwit old man winter. The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission cautions you to be certain your vehicle is in good condition for ice and snow and as a pedestrian walk with extra care and do not take chances.

There will be more "After-Dark Driving" in December than in any other month of the year—This is the month of short days and long nights. Individual citizens can help a great deal to alleviate the problems which winter brings if they will accept greater personal responsibility and obey the rules of courteous conduct which will enable everyone to enjoy the entire holiday month.

Failure to heed traffic laws and take proper precautions could make December indeed THE DARKEST MONTH OF THE YEAR!

Buying Tips for White Sales

NOW'S THE TIME TO CHECK YOUR LINEN CLOSET, to be ready for bargains in household textiles at the White Sales. Be sure to select your towels in matched ensembles of harmonizing colors, suggests The Cannon Homemaking Institute. You'll find a wide assortment of pastels, deep tones, as well as lovely floral designs.

Don't forget plenty of sheets and pillow cases, especially fitted ones with new exzomatic corners. They come in solid colors, stripes and also in floral designs. You'll find regular flat type sheets too, in interesting related colors and designs. It's news that you can now find fitted and flat combed percale sheets for king and queen size mattresses, as well as for Hollywood beds.

Bright Ideas

THERE IS SOMETHING NEW under the sun, as illustrated by new x-ray equipment being developed to fill medicine's needs. Radiologists—physicians specializing in the use of x-rays, radium and other radioactive substances in diagnosis and treatment of disease—are now working tirelessly to develop x-ray machines that use smaller doses of radiation. Result: New electronic amplifiers that make it possible to use the fluoroscope on a patient with the minor dose of a simple chest x-ray; a special dental x-ray machine that films the entire mouth on a single plate; new fast films and screens that cut radiation doses in half; lead shields and aprons for protection of the reproductive organs.

THIS IS THE TIME to protect next year's lawn against crabgrass, say the gardening experts. The weeds are highly reproductive, and every plant that has invaded your lawn this year may bear as many as 100,000 seeds to riddle next year's turf. You can spot the invader by its creeping stems that choke out desirable lawn grasses. It often turns purple or brown in late summer or early fall. Combat the pest before the seeds mature by spraying your lawn with a disodium methyl arsonate solution, such as the Antrol Hose-Spray Crabgrass Killer. The chemical comes bottled pre-mixed and with a built-in sprayer head that attaches to any ordinary garden hose for easy application.

THE HOT DAYS OF SUMMER are marching days for ants that troop through cracks and crevices, into the basement and into the kitchen. But they can be stopped cold with some well aimed chemical warfare. What counts is the chemical—and how you apply it. Make sure you get an insecticide formulated to knock out ants, such as the Black Flag Roach and Ant Killer, which contains long-lasting dieldrin and comes in a pressurized can. Spray under baseboard edges, around refrigerators, tables, sinks, garbage cans and cabinets, and particularly into crevices along the ants' routes. If they have set up colonies within foundation walls or side walls, spray on exposed parts of studs or into cracks of masonry. The long-lasting chemicals give protection for weeks and will stop new attacks of ants.

from The Bible
I am the way, the truth and the life.—(St. John 14:6.)

Since the dawn of human thought restless man has sought to find a meaning for his existence and a set of unchanging truths to guide him through the troubles of this mortal life. Happy are those who recognize in Jesus the one sure answer to their search.
