Weant Reports Legislative Procedure

The 30-day Session of the Maryland Legislature convened on Wednesday, February 3, 1960. This is a new experience for many of us as we are in our freshmen term and have not yet had an opportunity to serve in the so called "Short-Session."

According to Section 15 of Article 3 of the Constitution of Maryland provides that the General Assembly shall consider no bills during the 30-day session other than (1) Bills having to do with budgetary, revenue and financial matters of the State Government, (2) Legislation dealing with an acute emergency, and (3) Legislation in the general public welfare. It is our understanding that the Rules Committee intends to adhere strictly to these limitations during the present session.

According to the report and recommendations of the Legislative Council of Maryland, a committee made up of the General Assembly made up of the General Assembly which meets during the interim between the Legislative Sessions for the purpose of considering Legislative problems, it appears that many important bills will be considered in the next thirty days by your General Assembly. These would affect such things as Blue Cross Insurance, the Clerks of Courts (sponsored by your correspondent for the purpose of including a requirement for indexing in the laws providing that Clerks of Courts have the duty to record deeds, mortgages and other papers affecting the title to property). Court of Appeals (a bill proposed by a committee, of which your Senator was chairman, to increase the membership of the Court of Appeals of Maryland and the represide for the colorier. ship of the Court of Appeals of Maryland and to provide for the selection of the Judges from Appellate Judicial Circuits, for their terms of office and for the quorum necessary for the Court's deliberations), defective de-linquents, elections, health (relating to the control and regulation of radia-tion in this state) and industrial finance companies.

Further recommendations by the Legislative Council would affect longrange fiscal planning the merit system, motor vehicles (to increase the fee for a learner's permit and to refuse to issue a registration or title certificate to an applicant against whom there is an unserved warrant), perceits addicts the Potemas Pirot, public accountants, public welfare, retail installment sales, retirement systems (including State employees' retirement system and teachers' re-tirement system) roads, Rule Against Perpetuities, sales tax (providing for an exemption from the sales tax for the sale of raw materials to a manufacturer who will use them to fabricate a finished product to be incorporated in real property outside the State of Maryland), savings and loan associations, schools, State bonds to retain the state of the state bonds, taxation (to impose a premium tax upon domestic mutual fire insurance companies), testamentary law, unemployment insurance, uniform Act for Simplication of Fiduciary Security Transfers, veterans and workmen's compensation.

Athough not included in the Leg-Athough not included in the Legislative Council report, we understand that there will be considered bills affecting the salaries of teachers and classified employees.

Zepp.

Scout Week will be February 7 to the 13. The scouts will wear their uniforms to school on Monday the 8th. On Sunday afternoon February 14th

There is not room here nor do we have the information to elaborate on the various bills at this time but we will attempt to discuss in our weekly column the various bills as they are proposed

A SILLY SYSTEM

If someone came up to you and said that the Government should buy up the goods small grocers cannot sell each year, you'd tell him he was crazy. You'd point out that this couldn't be done without purchasing also the surplus stock of chain grocers at a cost of some hundreds of millions of dollars. You would say that the idea was silly, that the American people would never stand for it.

But they are standing for something very similar. This is the price support program under which the Government acquires farm surpluses. The present Administration inherited this program and has been unable to get rid of it, due to the numerical strength of the farm-support bloc in Congress. Secretary of Agriculture Benson has administered the program according to the law, but he has done it under protest. He feels, and President Eisenhower feels, that the cure for the farm problem is not found in Federal handouts to farmers or in the buying up and storing of farm surpluses.

Those favoring the present program say they want to help "the needy farmer." However, most of the surplus crop comes from the larger and more efficient producers, who do not need Federal aid. Some of the big farmers get subsidies of from $100,000 to $1,000,000 apiece every e small farmers who need aid get trifling amounts. To continue such a program, with its monstrous buildup of surplus and its terrific costs, en the excuse that it is to help needy farmers is like using a steam shovel to fill a teacup.

Have Your Car Safety Checked

By Martha Johnson Dodge Safety Consultant

If you live in one of the 2,000 communities that have regular safety check programs, the few minutes it takes to run through the safety check lane may save you, other motorists and pedestrians from being injured.

Even though you may think your car is in perfect operating condition, chances are there's still something that could cause an accident.

Last year, among the three million vehicles checked in this program, one out of five was found to need safety service.

Safety check lanes are set up at convenient locations to offer you a free check of about 10 major items of your car.

A lot of work goes into setting up the lanes and a lot of people give their time and service so all of us will have safe cars to drive. Manning the lanes are mechanics loaned from automobile and tire dealers and independent garages and service stations.

According to Charles C. Freed, chairman of the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee, the 10 items most often checked on each car are brakes, front lights, rear lights, steering, tires, ex-haust system, glass, windshield wipers, rear view mirror and

If you take advantage of this free service, you will be joining millions of Americans in helping reduce traffic accidents caused by vehicles not in safe operating condition.

Engineers Design Safety Into Roads

By Martha Johnson Dodge Safety Consultant

"Drivers who skillfully and intelligently use roads as planned by traffic engineers have better assurance of safe travel and contribute their share to the comfort and convenience of fellow road users," according to Fred W. Hurd, director of the Bureau of Highway Traffic at Yale University. "As a result of scientific studies of road accidents and congestion made by traffic engineers, we can devise better methods of road design and traf-fic control," he says.

"But, the human factor still is one of the highway engineers greatest problems.

"For example, acceleration and deceleration lanes are provided at many intersections smooth the flow of traffic. Yet some drivers use these supplemental lanes improperly or not

"We use precise calculations to time traffic signals based on traffic volumes and the average time required for a vehicle to pass through the intersection. But drivers who fail to start up promptly when the light turns green contribute to a 'back-up' of traffic which may extend over the entire period of peak traffic flow."

Traffic signals timed in a "progressive" manner also are mis-used, according to Hurd. "Impatient drivers who exceed the posted speed cause increased hazard and delay for all traffic, and gain little or nothing in travel time.

Advantages: the emergency patient, or the patient merely in a hurry, can get the benefit of x-ray diagnosis now almost as quickly as the radiologist could formerly have given his doctors a preliminary reading. And, says this radiologist, the X-Omat makes for a neater, happier x-ray department.

NEW CHEMICALS, new formulas and new selfpowered sprays ( are being designed to give the battle of the bugs, says Dr. Harold Rife, chief entomologist of the Black Flag Laboratories. The trick is to understand how these new insecticides work, so that you can use them against the right insects in a way that they will do the most good. For example, the kind of spray you use should depend on the kind of insect you want to kill. The space sprays, which literally poison the air for insects, are most effective against flying insects. Dr. Rife says that home-owners should close windows and doors in rooms be-fore using space sprays, leave them shut for thirty minutes and then air out the room thoroughly for safest and most effective use of the

Cooling Ideas Ideal Now

Winter seems like an odd time to be thinking about air condi-tioning a house to make the tor-rid days of summer more com-

But from a practical stand-* point, winter actually is the best time to install air conditioning. Waiting until summer may mean higher cost and a possible delay in having the work done. At this time of year air conditioning dealers are not rushed. They are eager to keep their crews busy. Competition among dealers is more likely to result in lower bids.

Another advantage of installing air conditioning prior to summer is that the work will be finished and the equipment will be ready to go into operation at the first sign of hot weather. This avoids the annoyance of waiting for a contractor to do the job while temperatures and tempers rise.

Today it is possible to air condition a house at a far lower cost than ever before. This is because research has shown that proper insulation permits the use of smaller, less expensive

In Southern states as much as 25 per cent can be saved on the cost of equipment if a house is insulated with 6 inches of mineral wool in ceilings, at least 3 inches in walls, and a minimum of 2 inches in floors. In most Northern states, the same thicknesses of mineral wool can reflect a savings of up to 20 per

And be ye kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.—(Ephesians 4:32.)

When we stop to think that God forgives us of our sins not once but many times, that He loves us despite our unworthiness, how is it possible that we can keep unkindness, hatred and resentment in our hearts?

Women Play Key Role In 'Dimes' Research

Crowing a killer virus in a laboratory test tube to see what makes it tick may not seem like an ideal pastime years an increasing number of women have attained top-rank recognition as medical research scientists, many of them under grants supplied by The National Foundation with New March of Dimes funds.

The researches of these women have enlarged the body of new medical information and helped solve a wide variety of health problems. Not least among these was the conquest of a virus that killed and crippled its victims in wave after wave of epidemics—polio.

Pioneer in Protection Dr. Isabel Morgan Mountain is one of the most famous of these women scientists. As a member of the Johns Hopkins research group some years ago she won medical recognition for demonstrating that animals could be protected against po-lio by a vaccine. This was a giant step toward the development of the Salk vaccine for humans, which—like Dr. Mountain's work—was done under grants financed by the March Mountain's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Hunt Morgan, were both well-known geneticists. Her father won a Nobel Prize in 1933 as the criginator of the gene theory of heredity. The 1960 New March of Dimes campaign for funds to support research, patient aid and the training of experts in the three health areas of birth defects, arthritis and polio is climaxed by a Mothers' March of two million volunteers. The Marching Mothers are also conducting a nationwide "door count" at some 30 million homes to collect facts concerning the problems of crippling diseases in their communities. The local New March of Dimes office has also appealed to all donors who have not already done so to send in their contributions in the "mailer appeal" envelopes distributed at the beginning of the year.

FEESERSBURG A VOICE FROM CARROLL

This is an unromatic age. Realism placing the emphasis on facts, is dominate. The intellectual leaders of the or any other of Hammond in your time are the scientist and the real- home especially when you have anyistic writer, and the chief business of the rest of us is therefore to face facts and to accept whatever view of life they seem to present. Just what is romance? In the past it meant adventure...the desire of the individual to create episodes in their life dealing with travel, new ideas, romance and religion. It meant anything that took one away from the dreary and commonplace. Put to-day we are all told to face the facts. The day of imagination is almost gone as witness the lack of interest in Greek Mythology. Children today are taught to think of thunder in terms of air expansion and the myth of Thor's hammer is never mentioned. Religion one the "Great Romance" is extended to the religious system. And romantic love. is losing much of its mystical value We are not so foolish as to maintain player. that there is any less falling in love than formerly. But young people in love now talk of the emotion as a by-product of chemistry and are cynical about being caught in a situation forced on them by nature's manipulation of certain glands. And yet, with all the knowledge handed us by science, the realities of life are no easier to bear than they were when all of us were so ignorant. Life is no easier to endure with all the facts at our command. What is the answer? To ignore truth and facts is just being stupid. But just to live by facts means the death of the individuals personality. Facts belong to the external world but romance still has a place within the individuals intellect. Who wants to walk sedately through life where nothing but facts and common sense matters? All of us need romance and adventure in our daily living to give seasoning to the drudgery and rebellion against a world filled with realism.

The children always know when there are visitors in the house... they can hear mother laughing at father's jokes.

Playing classical music on the piano requires faster thinking than any other activity. Notes, and fingering, accidentals, interpretations, pauses, phrasing pedaling, meter and rhythm of some pieces demand 60 mental operations a second. Communities that do not know what to do with discarded christmas trees will be happy to learn that New York's LaGuardia and Idlewild international airports are built on lowlands filled with discarded christmas trees. Only the Japanese cultivate the unique art of growing dwarfed trees in pots for room decoration. Some-times these little trees, even after hundreds of years, are less than two feet in height, yet their proportion of stem, branch and leaf are preserved with fidelity. Pots containing groups of six or eight fine ones, suggesting a forest have been sold for groups of six or eight line ones, sug-gesting a forest have been sold for thousands of dollars.

Of all the people in the world to-day, not more than a third eat with knife and fork. Another third use chop sticks. And the final third still eat with their fingers, which in the final analysis is the best way to eat food anyway. Be generous with praise for it can work wonders. But it requires experience, an attentive eye, and real knowledge of human nature to know what to praise in another person and to choose the right moment for doing t. Flash criticism is much easier than Mrs. M. O. Fuss.

Mr. John Frock and family, Mummetsburg and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Simpson visited Sun. eve. with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Frock, Mr. Frock is and Mrs. Clyde Frock, Mr. Frock is encouraged, only goaded to achievement by ridicule and fear. That idea, thank goodness, has vanished almost completely today. Duty alone will never inspire the best in people. Only devotion, backed by self-respect can win it. And such devotion comes only to those whose judgments are just yet whose praise is willing, quick and generous.

We are in the midst of reading "Brighter Than A Thousand Suns" by Robert Jungh. It is not fiction but it is more exciting than a mystery story, and at the same time, it is filled with new information about the scientists who made the nuclear bombs. The book is about the story of their lives....their agonies, their triumphs and their rivalries. If the book does nothing more for the read-er than making him understand that daughter, Terri Lynn, on Jan 29. Mrs.
Grauel is the former Vonnie Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Green, Westminster. Little Dawn other men have, it will have done much to erase the idea that scientists with her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Barber and son Ricky called on Miss Mae Farver, reader requires no special scientific knowledge.

As part of his combat training, a young Air Force officer was attending survival school. Asked by one of the instructors if he had ever had this week. One reason is that so far Jerry Farver spent the week-end five seed catalogues have arrived by with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. mail and the second reason is that our baby orchid plant is blooming which alone is sufficient evidence that plants are beginning to stir from their long winter sleep answering to the secret and silent whisper of

> Nothing is ours to keep for ourselves. Money, talent, time, whatever it may be that we possess, is only ours to use. This is the great law > written everywhere. Who is more truthful, boys or girls? We believe boys are. Girls take refuge in little white lies more frequently than boys for their own personal protection and to keep from hurting other people unnecessarily. Boys do not feel inclined to go this far protecting other people. Girls hate to give a direct answer like "yes" or "no" but boys have no such reluctance. A girl has a dozen ways of turning down a date she doesn't want and none of them involve a direct no. Her excuses are her parents, the weather or homework...anything but the truth that she doesn't want to go out. A boy would simply say: "No, I don't want to; and let it go at that.

Q-Water seeps up through the concrete slab floor of our basement after a rainstorm and remains damp for days. Is there anything we can do aside from excavating and regrading?

A—A Midwest home builder with the same problem solved it by coating the floor with a thin layer of asphalt roofing cement. While this was still tacky, he covered the entire floor with sheets of heavy-duty plastic film, then put down a 2-inch layer of concrete.

Q-What types of repairs and improvements are eligible for an FHA home improvement loan? Also, what is the limit of FHA home improvement

A—In general, anything that adds to the "livability" of a house. A new roof of asphalt shingles, for example, is approved under an FHA Title I loan because it protects a house, beautifies it and adds value to it. A home owner now can borrow as much as $5,000 on a Title I loan, repayable over as long a period as 5 years.

Q — When driving finishing nails, how can I keep from denting the wood with my hammer? A-A rubber fitting is available that slips over the nose of the hammer. A hole in the center of the fitting exposes metal for driving the nail. A collar of rubber around the outside edges of the nose prevents denting.

A unique addition to the farm or urban home's family room or den is a magazine and newspaper rack modeled after those you'll find in most libraries.

Truly different from the conventional home magazine holder, it's a three-tier rack that serves as a display stand and a distinctive piece of furniture at the same time. The rack makes a handsome, practical place for magazines and newspapers—and what's more, you can make it in your own workshop at little expense.

Magazine racks are practical for family room.

The rack is made from sheets of plywood and common planking. In drawing your plans for the project it's advisable to use standard sizes to keep down the waste of materials. Use 3/8-inch plywood in 4-by-8 foot sizes. The common planking can be 1-by-2 and 1-by-10-inch stock.

The portable power equipment you'll need in the construction are a drill, a saw, and a sander.

The construction plan basically is a "box" of plywood, open at the top and front, lined with three shelves mounted within at about 60 degree angles."

The shelves, of 1-by-10-inch stock, are edged with "standing" ledges for the magazines or folded newspapers. Mount the shelves on angle pieces nailed to the side and back of the plywood casing. After assembly, smooth the surfaces with a power sander, using No. 6 paper.

A word of caution about driving nails into the end grain of plywood. The nails will hold much better if you drill a starting hole smaller than the finishing nail.

(Questions from readers about do-it-yourself problems or projects are welcomed. Send them to Thor Research Center, Marengo, Ill. They will be answered in these columns or by individual letter.)

In Champ Ranks As 4-H Speakers

Richard Manser of Baltimore and Dixie Larrimore of Rock Hall are 1959 4-H public speaking champions of Maryland.

In recognition of their speaking skills, the Pure Oil Co. has presented each with a certificate of honor, according to the Cooperative Extension Service.

Manser, 18, is a freshman at the University of Maryland. In his winning speech, he asked—and answered—"What is a 4-H Club?" His knowledge of the subject is based on seven years of membership.

Manser, a junior leader of the Glen-Arm Boys' 4-H Club, is vice president of the Paltimore County Council.

To achieve her triumph in the girls' division, Miss Larrimore spoke on "4-H Club Work—What It Is and What Its Members Do." She took up public speaking when she joined 4-H four years ago, has made 45 speeches locally and was 1958 junior winner only 15, Miss Larrimore is president of the Rock Hall Girls'

4-H Club. She is in her second year at Rock Hall High school.

Sticking To It

Lesson for February 7, 1960

DEOPLE get the strangest ideas about what it was like, nineteen centuries ago. When a thing has been a success for that length of time, people forget that it ever trembled on the brink of failure. Names that have been honored for nineteen centuries, we think must have been held in high honor from the start. When the most we know about a place long ago is the names of some very good people who lived there, we suppose everybody was cut from the same

Dr. Foreman

The plain fact is, Christianity had to fight for a toe-hold in the world in which it was born. It was not an irreligious world, the place was swarming with religions. It was not a world that felt "hungry for the gospel." It was not a world where the "higher values" were much sought after. In short, it was a pretty discouraging place to

Corinth, Cross-Roads Capital

This was specially true at Corinth. Paul started the Christian church going in that city. He has been known so long as an apostle that it is easy to over-rate his reputation at the time of his peak years. If you had got one citizen of Corinth, any citizen at all, by the corner of his toga and told him the Paul the Apostle, yes sir a real apostle, think of that, was coming to the city and intending to start a Christian church, the Corinthian citizen would have said something

"Apostle-what's that? Paulwho's he? Never heard of one or the other. Oh, a religionist is he? We've more than enough of that kind here. I hope he's not from the east? He is? From Jerusalem?-Dh-a Jew . . . Well, outside of being a superstitious lot, those people are rioters by nature. Mark my words, there'll be rioting in the synagogue before that man's been here long. You can have him."

That wouldn't exaggerate a bit the scornful reception Paul might expect in Corinth—and he knew it. He wrote some years afterward that he came to Corinth in weakness (probably ill health), and in much fear and trembling-in modern slang, he was all shook up.

Paul the Dauntless

Nevertheless Paul was determined to start a Christian church going in that big booming indifferent city of Corinth. Not only were there all the difficulties of making a dent on a large commercial city, but Paul himself had good reason for not feeling at his best. He had just come from Athens, where (to be blunt about it) he had been a flop. Indeed he had been chased out of more cities than he had been invited back to. He had not stayed anywhere long, he had to battle for the chance to be heard. Would he do any better at Corinth? No Corinthians would bet on it.

As a matter of fact, in spite of the riot that did occur, just as you might have expected, in spite of being ignored, slandered, opposed, threatened, ridiculed, he stuck to it . . . and won. When he left that city he left behind him a Christian church which for all its faults had enough Christians to keep the church on its way all their lifetime.

In Spite of Everything

What kept Paul sticking to it? It was partly his own stubborn temperament, partly having friends who believed in him. But the main reason was that he was convinced he was doing God's work. People who get discouraged about the church ought to read about Paul again. In spite of ill health, active and bitter opposition, riots and threats of riots, in spite of the great difficulty he found in getting members from the "better class," in spite of the coarse materialism of a city like Corinth, the poverty of the church and its many problems, Paul did what he believed the Lord wanted him to do-stay with it till the job was done.

God surely wants his church to succeed, today as at any time in the past. But it is likely to succeed, in city or in country, wherever it is, only if the people who are responsible for it share, as Paul did, had something of the persistence of God.

Entertain With A Foreign Flair

Do you like to plan company meals around a main dish that can be made in advance—is a meal-in-one—and is distinctively different? Here's just that recipe, Oriental Pork and Rice. Its flavor has a foreign accent yet its ingredients are strictly American. Making the zesty sweet-sour sauce with instant nonfat dry milk may be a bit different for you. Simply mix the dry milk and flour together, add water as the liquid and proceed as you would for making most sauces and gravies.

Whether you're a foreign cookery fan or a brand new cook, for say entertaining—and for pleasing your family and friends—try

'Togetherness' Works Out Best In Home With Two Living Rooms

Two 22-foot living rooms and complete air conditioning are among the unique features of this colonial-styled ranch house that would make it ideal for any family.

Emphasis is on family living.

One of the living rooms is designed as a family room that may be used as a dining area, a TV room, a game room, or a study. Both rooms have fireplaces. Sliding glass doors open on a spacious terrace along the entire length of one of the living

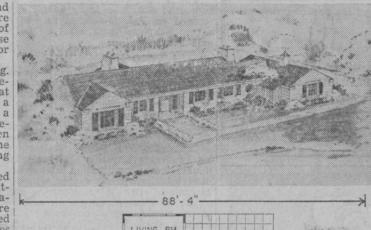

Traditional styling is carried out with colonial siding, shutters, and a cupola atop the garage. Double-hung windows are of ponderosa pine, and a paneled door of ponderosa pine graces the covered entrance.

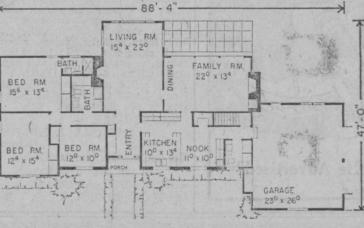

Stone facing on the center ex-terior wall accentuates the beauty of the wood siding and gives and appearance of richness and strength. The stone is ac-cented by asphalt shingles in a deep green shade on the roof. This deep tone adds color but preserves the traditional dignity

Built into the garage is a work bench for the home handyman. The full basement provides space for a work shop, recreation room, laundry area, and storage. The house also may be built without a basement.
