LETTER FROM ANNAPOLIS

Senator Weant Reports Legislative Procedure

The number of bills introduced at the end of the first week and a half of the current session of the Maryland General Assembly stood at 92 in the Senate and at 107 in the House. It is very probable that many of these will never complete the full legislative trip through both Houses and to the Office of the Governor because of the shortness of time in this session. Many will die a natural death because of their own inherent characteristics.

At this writing only one bill has passed through both Houses of the General Assembly. The others which have been introduced during the first days of the session have been referred to the various committees for study before being presented to the members of the Legislature for the final vote. Much depends on the recommendation of the committee as to the chances of final passage of an individual bill. These committees will either bring the bills out in the House or the Senate with a favorable Report, Favorable Report with Amendments, an Unfavorable Report or bury the bill in the office safe.

Many bills are unrecognizable after being operated on by the members of a committee. Consequently the importance of such committees as the Senate Judiciary Committee, the Senate Finance Committee, the House Judiciary Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee can not be overemphasized.

Of importance to many in Carroll County is Senate Bill No. 78, introduced by Senator Barrick and your correspondent, to permit sale of hunting licenses to authorize agents on credit. As I have now stated, these agents are required to purchase for each specified amount of licenses for sale to the public, thereby tying up their funds for long periods of time without giving the agents the benefit of a reasonable return thereon. For this reason many former hunting license agents refuse to continue this operation. It is hoped that Senate Bill 78 will correct this situation and that more agents can be recruited throughout the counties for the convenience of our ever-growing army of hunters.

We note that a House Joint Resolution has been introduced for the purpose of requesting the appointment of a Governor's Commission to consider the establishment of a State Department of Agriculture. We have not had an opportunity to read this Resolution as it has not yet been printed but it may have far reaching effects on Carroll County we will report further on this as soon as copies of the Resolution are available.

The Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee are continuing their hearings on the Budget and the Capital Improvements Bills. Thursday, February 18, has been scheduled for hearings on the budget of the Department of Education and Morgan College. Friday, February 19, will bring hearings on the University of Maryland budget. Tuesday, February 23, these committees will consider the budgets of the Department of Motor Vehicles, the State Police and the Baltimore Office Buildings and Wednesday, Feb. 24, will bring the review of the total Capital Improvement Program with the State Planning Department and the Department of Public Improvements.

At this writing the controversial Teachers' Bills are still in the committee in the House of Delegates. It is difficult to say just what the final form of this legislation will be. In any event, we still believe that further study is needed of the Teachers' Pay Problem to give tax relief to the local governments and to bring about more uniformity.

E. O. WEANT, JR.
State Senator for Carroll County

Carroll County's Snow Removal

The County Commissioners this week expressed officially their appreciation and praise to employees of the Carroll County Roads Department for their untiring efforts in the snow removal operations beginning on Saturday, February 13.

Roads Engineer Paul Walsh gave the order to start snow removal operations on Saturday afternoon for a continuous operation until Monday evening. This meant that most drivers and their assistants worked 48 hours or more without relief.

The chief headache in Sunday's snow were gale winds which closed most hard-surfaced roads after they had been opened earlier. Tuesday saw an effort started to remove snow on non-macadam roads not opened to traffic.

Presbyterians Return To Church For Worship

The congregation of the United Presbyterian Church in Taneytown will return to their Church for Worship on Sunday, February 21. For a number of weeks the congregation has been meeting in the Home Service Room of the Potomac Edison Building.

Worship will be at 9:45 a. m. Pastor Hendricks will preach on "I Believe - He Shall Come", the seventh sermon in a series on the Apostles' Creed. The choir will sing "Praise Ye the Lord" by Wilson.

Church School will meet at 8:45. The children's classes will meet in the basement.

Work of reconstruction began late in August. The Church, built in 1783, was raised to make room for a basement the same size as the sanctuary. A small addition on the rear provides space for the choir in the Sanctuary. In the basement, the addition provides for a kitchen, washrooms and the boiler room.

The Sanctuary is completed. In the basement, the walls are yet to be painted and ceiling tile and floor tile will be installed.

A service of rededication will be held in the near future.

Every one is welcome to worship with the United Presbyterian Congregations.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Many Items of Business Transacted

A regular meeting of the Board of Education of Carroll County was held in the Board Offices in Westminster on Tuesday, February 9. President DeVries R. Hering presided and welcomed to membership on the Board, Mr. Roland L. Pickett, recently appointed by the Governor to serve as a member of the Board in place of Mr. Albert Lawyer who resigned.

Action was taken to approve the minutes of the January meeting and the current financial transactions.

The Board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Barbara Foye from the North Carroll High School faculty and approved the appointment of Mrs. Rita M. Frey to replace Mrs. Foye as a teacher. New teacher contracts were approved for 1960-61 in the case of Miss Eleanor Baker and Miss Bernice A. Stonesifer, service to begin in September.

The Board was given advice regarding various items of the 1960-61 budget and the effect the budget figures would have on the operation of schools with respect to personnel, and otherwise, during the 1960-61 school year.

Consideration was given to a number of problems connected with the providing of services for school operations and action was deferred on the number of these items, at the request of the superintendent, for further study.

Approval was given for the purchasing of accounting equipment to be used in the general accounting office after bids are received.

After discussion, action was taken by the Board to approve resolutions as follows: That the superintendent is directed to notify the members of the House of Delegates from Carroll County and the Carroll County Senator of the position of the Board with respect to proposed legislation in connection with teachers' salaries, advising the Senator and Delegates that the Board is unanimously opposed to the proposal as submitted in the James Legislation, by reason for the fact that the legislation is inadequate and does not provide the funds necessary to support it. It is also evident to the Board that any legislation which destroys the important principle of equalization for school support in the State of Maryland would not be to the benefit of the pupils of the counties of the State. The Board directed that the legislators be promptly notified that the said legislation is not acceptable in its present form. The Superintendent was further directed to notify the legislators that the Board was unanimously in favor of the proposal of the Maryland State Teachers' Association, H. B. 65, and the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers, S. B. 49, to establish a minimum salary of $4000. and a

Girl Scouts No. 1202

The girls of No. 1202 have been quite active thus far this year. Some of their activities have included a hike to review fire-building, a coke party to elect officers, several court of honor meetings, a hay-ride and Halloween Party combined, and a Christmas Party at the home of Bobby-Lynn Hopkins. Last week Mrs. Otto Olsson visited the Troop and gave a very interesting talk. So vivid were her illustrations of Sweden the girls could almost imagine themselves as a tourist in that lovely country. A few weeks ago the girls visited Willow Farms Dairy. This trip proved to be very educational and an asset to future badge work. Most of the girls have completed second class rank and are hard at work earning badges toward their first-class rank.

Some of their future plans are taking part in the April Exposition in Westminster, a trip to Philadelphia in May, and an investiture service and reward ceremony combined to take place the first half of June. We hope some of the parents will accompany us or visit us on these occasions.

Beginning this Saturday (Feb. 20) Troop No. 1202 will meet from 9 a. m. to 10 a. m. at the Elementary School. Please note change in day and time.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Congratulations to the Boy Scouts on the 50th Anniversary of which it has been in existence! And it was all started in England. It is wonderful to be a "Boy Scout" plus that one good DEED a day!

In the Hochschild, Kohn Tea Room on the walls are hanging lovely paintings by Eleanor Slesky. If you are interested in any one of them as to a purchase, just notify the Waitress at your table.

Viewing the Movie "On the Beach" at the new theatre is the story of the after-effects on the world after an H-bomb has been dropped on it. The entire population has expired with the exception of those in Australia. In the picture those left are awaiting the arrival of a fatal radiation which is creeping that way. Although, there are the "Stars" right in your eyes such as Ava Gardner, Fred Astaire playing his first part in a serious drama (and he does look terribly aged) and Anthony Perkins, somehow it does not hold the interest and at times it is rather weird. Many may enjoy this type of a picture but not Your Observer.

Do not spend a penny to see that awful gal, Brigitte Bardot in "Woman of Satan" it really is a sinful picture right from the very start and to the very end. I do not think that French actress can compare with our American Beauties. That constant pout of hers becomes so boring as she rarely smiles.

Like those Pennsylvania famous Dutch saying, "WE GET TOO SOON OLD", UNDT - TOO LATE SCHMART." That sums it up if you know what I mean and I think you do!

The Piano called "CABLE" Company is now located on Franklin Street near Eutaw. There is plenty of style and tone to these lovely instruments and if you are contemplating a new purchase, it is best to look them over. They are nearest to the Henry F. Miller Piano in every detail.

In our Church Bulletin the following was printed and which I thought pretty good:—"Sorry, I can't attend church because—Need to rest, Company is coming, Going fishing, Going on a pleasure trip, Too busy working on my house, Going to the Movies, Am going to watch a certain program on T. V."—And then it states—CHECK WHICH ONE AND MAIL TO GOD!

And now comes "SIMCA" The grand product by the Chrysler Corp. Never have I ridden in any small car to compare with it! It is the only car which rides like a large car, so tight in every detail without the slightest

TAX BITE GOES DEEPER

On January 1, 1960, social security taxes took another jump to 6 per cent on the first $4,800 of earnings. They will again jump in 1963, in 1966 and in 1969, until the employee and employer are each paying 4-1/2 per cent for a total of 9 per cent. This federal tax will then aggregate a maximum of $432 a year per employee; and self-employee; and self-employed persons will have to ante up $324 each.

Commenting, "Your Taxes"—a publication of a non-partisan taxpayer association in Oregon—says in part: "Indicative of the extent to which the social security system is deviating from its original purpose is the effort, such as the Forand Bill of the last Congressional session, to provide federal purchase of health care services for certain social security beneficiaries. Under the Forand Bill some 16 million persons eligible for social security would be entitled to receive hospital, surgical and nursing home treatment under a government-run program. The bill (about $2 billion the first year) would be financed, of course, by another substantial hike in the social security tax rate....

"The imminent increase in the social security tax should be another reminder that today's workers who expect to benefit from social security in their old age are presuming on the generosity of the next generation."

"Your Taxes" goes on to point out that the social security trust fund amounted to $21.5 billion at the end of the last fiscal year. That is a whale of a lot of money—yet it would carry the program for only two years if the tax were abolished. Also, of late, social security disbursements have been exceeding the tax receipts. Further broadening of the social security system would have to be accompanied by a staggeringly heavy boost in the tax if the fund were to be kept in the black. Is that what the groaning taxpayers want?

FACTS AND OPINIONS

The Portland Oregonian says: "U. S. motorists for years have been showing, through their purchases of small European cars, a desire for low-cost transportation. But not until this year have the Big Three of Detroit automakers recognized this trend and offered the new, 'compact' Falcons, Corvairs and Valiants.... It might be thought that Detroit at last would be convinced that the public genuinely wants small, functional and economical cars. But evidently the lesson has not yet been learned. General Motors seems to feel its Corvair, with only 80 horsepower, is at a competitive disadvantage when the Falcon has 90 horsepower and the Valiant offers 100. So G. M. will hop up its Corvair engine so the car will go faster and use more gasoline. And Ford is about to put out a 'luxury' car, the Comet, with rear fender fins, dual headlights and six inches more wheelbase than the Falcon. Here we go again."

A new record in passenger safety performance for Pullman car operations has been announced by the Association of American Railroads. From 1951 through December 31, 1959—a period of eight years—almost 84 million passengers traveled a total of 53 billion passenger-miles by Pullman without a single fatality.

According to the N. W. Ayer & Son directory, the weekly newspapers of this country now have a circulation of nearly 23,000,000, as against 17,254,668 in 1949.

Today's Health, a magazine of general circulation published by the American Medical Association, warns that woolen blankets can be a source of disease in the wintertime. The blankets can harbor disease germs that cause flu, sore throats and similar illnesses because the low-temperature washing recommended is not hot enough to kill the germs. To combat the danger, the magazine recommends that the blankets be soaked briefly in a water and disinfectant solution before being laundered regularly, that they be covered with bedspreads while in use, and that they be disinfected after illness.

Representative Tuck of Virginia has introduced a bill that would declare featherbedding contracts unenforceable and void. He explained that existing law declares it to be an unfair labor practice for a labor organization to cause an employer to pay for services not performed. "But unfortunately," he added, "this provision of law has not been enforced and thus many millions of dollars are mulcted each year from the American people."

The Territorial Enterprise, of Virginia City, Nevada, takes a dim view of modern inventions and innovations, existing and pending: "This is an age of horror it may well be worth sticking around to see if only for the day when the moving sidewalks go berserk and chew up all the pedestrians, the customers are wrapped in cellophane and sent home by electronic delivery, the nightmare dream of a coast-to-coast traffic jam with every road solid with cars becomes a reality, and mankind finally and for all time strangles itself to extinction with machinery—on credit of course."

According to Oil Facts, the average petroleum industry worker earns $1,650 annually in fringe benefits on top of his regular wages. This is $699 more than the average for industry in general.

Sylvia Porter, the financial columnist writes: "You will pay the stiffest price in more than a generation for money you borrow in the months ahead. You will find the loans increasingly tough to get in this period. We are flatly into a major cycle of tight and expensive credit."

CURRENT EVENTS FIFTY YEARS AGO

A bill has been presented in the House by delegate Hesson, providing that Levi D. Reid of Taneytown, be placed on the "Teachers' Retired List," under Chapter 584 of the Acts of 1904, which provides a pension of $200.00 a year, under certain conditions, to be paid to public school teachers (retired) who have taught for 25 years or longer in the state. Mr. Reid taught about 40 years, and 35 years as principal of the Taneytown school.

Mr. Josephus Hockensmith, of Bridgeport, one of the oldest citizens of that neighborhood, died on Monday morning. He had been in failing health for a number of years. Mr. Hockensmith was in his 78th year, and leaves a widow and a number of sons and daughters.

Mrs. Ellen C. Crouse left last Saturday on a visit to friends in Washington, D. C. accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Eliza Crouse, from York, Pa.

Measles are quite prevalent in our community and not abating. Miss Ethel Keefer is now a victim and quite a number of others. —Wm. Yingling who was quite ill is slowly improving, also Mrs. Ezra Spangler. —There will be an unusual amount of changes during the coming spring in village and community, as follows: Mr. U. G. Yingling to the property of Edw. Yingling, Wm. Babylon to the property purchased from and vacated by Mr. Yingling; Jas. Yingling to the property he purchased from Howard Petry; Jess Stonesifer on the farm vacated by Mr. Yingling; Howard Stonesifer; Charles Davidson in the house of Ezra Stuller. —Our public school was given a surprise on last Tuesday, when Oak Grove school gave them a call, which was enjoyed by all. Singing and recitations were indulged in by both schools and had quite a jolly time; short talks were given by both teachers, Mr. Roy Spangler visiting and Miss Ada Hahn home school.

Copperville—Elwood Fink and Melvin Sell, students of Oregon school, are afflicted with typhoid fever. Elwood Fink is dangerously ill, and one of his sisters has tonsillitis. —Mr. Samuel Clingan and bride, called on the family of Bendigo Newcomer on their way home from Uniontown, where they had been joined in wedlock.

Mrs. Carroll of Catonsville, Maryland, uses her phone to chat with a friend about a change in time of the Card Club meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll are active in their church, the P.T.A. and the Boy Scouts. These activities, combined with raising two teenagers (Patricia 16 and Phil 13), make their phone an important part of running their home.

Like other busy wives and mothers, Mrs. Carroll has many activities to attend to each day. She knew her phone was a help to her—but she thought she'd like to know exactly what it saved in time, money and travel. To find out, she kept a telephone diary of all calls made or received for a two-week period.

Her diary showed that phone calls saved days of waiting for information... hours and miles of travel on everyday errands, and friendly visits. Not surprisingly, the money saved on travel was greater than the cost of her phone.

Maybe you'll never keep a telephone diary—but if you take a few minutes to think of the value of your phone to you, we believe you'll agree that your phone pays for itself in convenience—and in money saved as well.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

The fascination of a doll collection only grows when the viewer knows something more about dolls than being able to say that they are pretty or interesting. The fabulous collection of dolls recently given the Carroll County Historical Society by Mrs. W. Parker Jones of Washington is one that should receive considerable attention from the people of Carroll County but unless a person knows a little background of doll making the full significance of the collection will be missed. Consider the interesting facts: Dolls at one time were considered so important that ships carrying them were accorded neutrality between nations at war. During the Civil War, precious medicines and drugs were smuggled through the Confederate lines to soldiers by concealing them inside doll's heads. Many public schools in the United States use dolls with which to teach history, sociology, arts and crafts. Also in studies to eradicate racial prejudice and to develop appreciation for other peoples and other lands. There are over 255 million dolls in this country and most of them are owned by adults.

The fact remains that although the doll is mute, it is more enduring than some of the finest monuments ever built. One of the most interesting dolls ever made was the Penny Wooden doll made during the early 18th and 20th century. They were hand carved in pine, poplar or maple by German and Tyrolean toymakers. Later they were made in New England. They have hour-glass figures, slender necks, sloping shoulders. The legs and arms are jointed at shoulders, elbows, hips and knees. The heads vary in shape. Some are quite round, others are slightly pointed at top. Hair is painted black and always indicates a center part at forehead. The actual Penny Wooden doll for a penny in New England about the middle of the 19th century. The doll was four inches in height. The Penny Wooden dolls were made in Vermont in the 19th century expressly for export to Japan and were so cleverly made that it allowed the Japanese child to depictate the doll without destroying it. Beheading in Japan is a national ritual and to the Japanese children a natural thing to do with dolls. The same thing as American children playing cowboy and Indians with guns. Dolls are made in many kinds of material, and it would be farfetched to try to name them all but most of them can be listed in the following groups: Wood, Wax, papier mache or composition, china, bisque, Parian, leather, rubber, celluloid, rag and novelties. No real doll manufacturer existed in the United States until the middle of the 19th century. All professionally made dolls no matter of what material, were imported from Germany, France and England, with the Germans importations far exceeding those of other countries. Whether a doll collection is valuable in a purely monetary sense depends on a number of factors. There are certain standards and values attached to specific types and styles of dolls. To some extent they control the market prices. On the other hand the rapid growth of doll collecting means that in many cases prices are gauged according to what the traffic will bear.

Because a doll is old does not necessarily mean that it is valuable. Workmanship and artistry are usually preferred above mere age. Association with history if it can be verified controls the price of dolls. A good collection is not based on the number of dolls nor the money value. It is based on interest and the completeness of the collection. A really fine collection one tells a story with dolls.

There seems to be no end to the interesting things we can learn from reading the life of Lincoln. At this time when the fitness of a man for the presidency of the United States is too often tied in with popularity polls it is good to be reminded that Lincoln at the time of his election he was as unpopular as a man could be. His enemies meant to destroy him and his friends meant to use him. He emerged from his ordeal to stand alone in American history. Why? Because he earned. He had no popularity polls to tell him how good the public thought him. He had to work hard to prove himself. How well he did this, history and time have shown us. When will the popularity craze in the United States end? When will the measure of a man be taken by what he has accomplished instead of his popularity with the public. The answer will be found when America grows up intellectually and emotionally.

Snow has the power to make people stay home when everything else fails to keep them there. The threat of being stranded on a highway in near zero weather is too much for most people, so at the appearance of the first snowflake cars are tucked away in the garage and the highways are given a rest. To find out how dependent we are on cars as transportation when snow halts traffic our first thought is to cancel all social engagements. Using our two legs for walking is just unthinkable. Distance, of course, prohibits too much walking but people living in the city complain when snow forces them to walk ten blocks. We have to admit that we don't like to walk any more than we have to either, but the doctors keep telling every one that good health demands walking. The easiest thing to do is getting used to conveniences although sometimes it isn't the wisest or best thing to do.

Mother of a small but active boy to psychiatrist: "Well, I don't know whether he feels insecure, but everybody else in the neighborhood does."

This week may see the end of the fight in Annapolis over the Teacher's pay increase bills. It seems to us that the bill backed by the Parents-Teachers' Associations is the best plan and if passed would improve the morale of the entire teaching profession. The bill that Governor Tawes favors will cost less money but will not be any incentive for young college graduates to enter the teaching profession. We never have been in favor of giving a person a raise in salary just because they have been on the job for a certain length of time. Making a pay raise automatic after several years of service is all right but every teacher should have a pay raise now. This should apply to the teacher just out of college and to the teacher who has worked a number of years. It is really the teachers that have been working only a few years that need the pay increase most. Many of the teachers in Carroll County that have taught a number of years are getting at the present time a fair and adequate salary. And even this group should have a pay increase providing all the other groups get one.

Did you notice that the old fashioned valentine made a comeback this year? They were put out by Hallmark and they turned St. Valentine Day back at least thirty years. But people say that the lack of sentiment in young people is giving St. Valentine some serious concern. Seems like the new generation make their own valentines.—Ruth Roleke.

Survey of Industry in Carroll County

The Planning and Zoning Commis-sion began last week to make a sur-vey of existing industry in Carroll County. All industry is being con-tacted by a representative of the Commission and furnished with a questionnaire which upon completion will be of extreme value in the plan-ning program of the County.

Gerald S. Brickett, a member of the Planning Commission's Industrial Advisory Committee is coordinating the work for the Commission. Actual field work will be accomplished by James McMahon, a senior student at Western Maryland College, who was selected to do the survey work in con-junction with his college curriculum.

It is anticipated that the survey will be completed within three months, then the results will be tab-ulated for industry as a whole. Plan-ning commission Chairman E. Miller Richardson has indicated that the information gathered would be in-valuable in determining the trends and needs of industry in Carroll County today and related that there-after, the development of a master plan for the County's growth would better be able to reflect in it guides for a better economy.

Season's Success With Chiffon

A holiday comes to your kitchen when you choose an easy-to-make dessert such as Loganberry Chiffon Pie to serve during the Christ-mas season. Made with "can't-fail" strawberry chiffon pie filling mix that requires no cooking, this light and fluffy pie is ready to come out of the kitchen in the shortest possible time and please guests who call during the happiest season of the year.

Loganberry Chiffon Pie

1 package Jell-O Strawberry Chiffon Pie Filling 1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup boiling water 1 cooled baked 8- or 9-inch pie shell
1/2 cup cold loganberry nectar

Place mix in a large deep mixing bowl. Add boiling water and mix thoroughly. Add loganberry nectar. Then beat vigorously with a rotary beater, or at highest speed of electric mixer, until mixture is very foamy—takes about 1 minute. Add sugar and beat until filling stands in peaks—takes 1 to 3 minutes. Pour into pie shell and chill until set, about 2 hours. Garnish with pastry cut-outs. Serve with whipped cream, if desired

Cakes-Then And Now: 1860-1960

In a delightful old cookbook published in London 100 years ago, the directions seem very amusing to the modern housewife. Her predecessors were admonished to take care lest the cakes be heavy and fall. She was warned that "It is indispensable that all ingredients be heated before mixing... flour thoroughly dried and warmed, currants, sugar and anything else the same way, butter and eggs beaten in basins which are fitted into pans of warm water..."

"Sugar should be rolled with a rolling pin...Butter washed and weighed...Firkn butter cut in small pieces and washed. For a quick cake, beat whites of ten eggs for one hour..."

Now aren't you glad you live in the year 1960, in the days of cake mixes and quick frostings? For a truly luscious topping on a spice cake, try:

DANISH BLUE CHEESE FROSTING

½ cup heavy cream, whipped and mixed with
¼ cup Danish Blue Cheese
½ cup chopped California walnuts
Cool cake slightly, spread with topping, cut in squares and serve at once. Dee-liscious.

EXPERT ADVISES HOMEMAKERS ON "BATTLE OF THE BUGS"

Spring cleaning will give you a chance to insect-proof your home—effortlessly—if you follow a few tips from one of the country's leading entomologists. Dr. Harold Rife, chief entomologist of the Black Flag Laboratories, Cranford, N. J., says that in insect control a little prevention is better than a lot of cure. And your spring cleaning is the perfect time to do insect prevention for the coming hot months.

When you're insect-proofing for summer, you can depend on residual or surface sprays to keep out crawling insects, Dr. Rife says. These can be applied with a self-powered aerosol, a hand pump or a paint brush, as long as the liquid is worked thoroughly into cracks and crevices. Be sure to spray under the kitchen sink, behind the stove, at places where pipes enter the walls and at wall cracks and crevices in the basement.

If you want to kill flying insects in a room, your best bet are the "space sprays" which kill flying insects with tiny droplets in the air. Close all doors and windows in the room and spray the upper corners. Leave the doors closed for at least 30 minutes and then air the room thoroughly.

According to Dr. Rife, you can stop insect invasions before they get started if you use both space and residual sprays as you do your spring cleaning.

Top Service

Lesson for February 21, 1960

THE MOST over-used and ill-used word in the English language, perhaps, is "service." It's the great American catch-word. Your car dealer, florist, banker, garbage collector and preacher all talk about service. Certain business men's associations are called "service clubs." Innumerable places have the sign over the door: SALES AND SERVICE. When you look into it, often it turns out that what is meant by service is "making something good that should have been good in the first place." It is often something that is bragged about whereas it ought to go without saying. It is often not done well (as in poor restaurants or garages) and sometimes consists in furnishing something not asked for or needed.

Dr. Foreman

Services of the Church

The church in America can't escape it. If the church did not offer service it would be most peculiar, and in fact would hardly be a church at all. For it, almost alone, serves by its very nature. All the institutions of society that do truly render service, were inspired or created by the church in the first place. (Orphanages and savings banks come to mind, and there are many others, notably schools.)

But what are the services of the church? We often use the term "church service" to mean the meeting for public worship and preaching. We cannot quarrel with that use of the word, but that is not what is meant here. What we mean is, when the minister calls on a new family and tells them the services of his church are at their disposal, what does he mean? Certainly something more than to say the worship-meetings of the church are open to them.

Many minor methods of service are used by the church: operating kindergartens, book clubs, employment agencies, loan funds, not to mention more elaborate projects such as educating people on the moral side of public questions, operating hospitals, publishing houses, schools and so on. By calling these "minor" we do not mean they are unimportant or that the church should not undertake them. When Paul wrote: "Let us do good to all men, especially to those who are of the household of faith," he laid down the foundation principle of every service project that deserves the name.

Nevertheless, the question still is: What is the most vital service, the top service the church can render? Surely it must be to give people what they need the most. Suppose a man is dying of a serious disease. He may not want any particular medicine, or any medicine at all. But a doctor, examining him, may know just the specific medicine for his trouble. He ministers to the man's need, not to his immediate appetite.

What human beings need most is, in one word, God. The church is doing the supreme service for us when it shows us the way back to God. (Let us rather say, the way forward to God; he is ahead of us, not the other way around.) The doorway to God has two keys, like a safety deposit box: one key is marked Faith and the other Repentance. God gives us the keys but never forces us to use them.

To Feed and Defend

The church is often thought of as a flock of sheep, its leader as shepherds. In addressing the elders of Ephesus, who remembered well his three years among them, Paul marks out the two things a shepherd does for his sheep: to feed and to defend them against wolves and other beasts. Some people suppose that a church's service is confined simply to proclaiming repentance and faith — in other words, the church's whole and only business is evangelism. This was not Paul's practice. He, and the elders after him, if they followed his example, also fed and defended Christ's people. "Feeding" means all the church does in nourishing and building up Christ-like character, especially teaching, preaching, counseling, training for Christian service at the highest levels. "Defending" means keeping the church strong, despite the attacks of all who would destroy it, from without or within.
