THE ORIOLES ARE COMING TO TOWN

The Mayor & City Council with the C. of C. and other organizations of Taneytown are planning a program to entertain the Oriole ballplayers, their wives, officials of the Club and other dignataries next Monday afternoon when they visit Taney.

The plans include a parade of welcoming followed with a program at Memorial Park about 5:30 p.m. The public is invited. One of the features at the Park will be a play-off game between Taneytown and Woodsboro—the local team is the club sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Taneytown. Everybody is welcome—a big turn out of citizens is hoped for.

Meeting of Taneytown Chamber of Commerce

The Taneytown Chamber of Commerce met for its regular monthly meeting Monday, July 19, 1960 at Tan-ey Inn with twenty-three members eing present. A resolution concerning the loca-tion and financing of a building for local industry was read and passed unanimously by this body. The arrangements for the summer outing to be held Thursday, August were announced and those in attendance were given the opportunity to purchase their tickets for the Oriole Baseball game which will be attended by this group on the outing.

Reports from the various committees were heard and the meeting was adjourned at 8:15 p.m.

Members of the Taneytown Chamber of Commerce who have not had the opportunity to purchase their tickets for the summer outing and ballgame are requested to do so as soon as possible. These tickets may be obtained from Vice President Raymond J. Perry or Frank T. Dunham. The cost of these tickets are $2.25.

Efforts of Taneytown and Waynes boro to reroute Route 140 will "not be considered" until after 1963, according to a letter from the State Highway Department to the Gettysburg

Julian Estep, president of the Chamber, Tuesday released details of a letter received from Pennsylvania Secretary of Highways Park H. Martin in reply to interrogations made by the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce after it was announced that Taneytown and Waynesboro were seeking to have U. S. Route 140 run from Tanytown through Waynesboro to McConnellsburg instead of termin-ating in Gettysburg after passing ating in Gettysburg after passing through Littlestown.

Martin's letter stated that the Pennsylvania Department of High-ways "has been in touch with the State Roads Commission of Maryland in regard to this matter and both agencies have agreed that it would not be advisable to consider such a change at this time, certainly not until after the Centennial of the Battle of Gettysburg."

Early in June, the Waynesboro Chamber of Commerce wrote to the State Secretary of Highways indicat-

State Secretary of Highways indicating approval of the project proposed by Taneytown that Route 140 be routed from Taneytown to Emmits-burg, Blue Ridge Summit, Waynes-boro connecting with Route 30 at Mc-Connellsburg.

Waynesboro, in approving the idea, quoted A. H. Carpenter, chairman of the roads improvement committee of the Taneytown Chamber, as holding a Taneytown - Waynesboro - Mc-Connellsburg route would "provide a more direct route between the market centers of Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Cleveland."—"The Frederick Post."

SCHOOL INTEREST CONTINUES AT HIGH PITCH

On Tuesday afternoon the meeting room of the Board of Education was filled to practically overflowing as about 25 Taneytown citizens and parents, business people and organizational representatives of the community filtered into the regular meeting of the county educational policymaking body and the Superintendent of Education. Time on the full and ousy agenda had been arranged for previously.

In the one and one-half hour meeting-time the delegation continued ts plea for serious and urgent consideration of the two matters which it is felt by the local group need attention and decision. They are 1. keeping all the pupils of the Taneytown district, except agricultural students, in the Jr.-Sr. High School as the student body now exists, and 2. the erection of a reasonable addition of 8 rooms and cafeteria to the present Elementary School.

It is felt by the Taneytown people that both these requests are quite reasonable when it is recognized that Taneytown is growing as the increased number of pupils would seem to indicate and within but a few years a graduating class of 100 should be a reality, when it is borne in mind that from the first use of the Elementary School 10 years ago it was practically filled to its intended capacity, yet the enrollment has continued to grow, and when one considers the taxes which are paid by the Taneytown district.

Two things were assured the delegation by the Superintendent of Schools before the interested citizens left the Carroll County Administration Building. They were 1. that there were no plans to transfer any students from the Taneytown Jr.-Sr. High School THIS year of 1960-61, except those that might request transfer to another school, and 2. that before its adjournment on Tuesday the Board of Education would take into deliberate, consideration and give serious thought to the matter of additional construction at the Elementary School and that a letter concerning its action would be forthcoming very shortly.

Summer Program

'Though encountering heavy competition from baseball, carnivals, bands, and parades, the troops outdoor summer program has fulfilled a genuine need, having been centered at first in the beautiful setting of Memorial Park. There one of the most closely contested softball games ever played contested softball games ever played was finally fought to a draw, there Quartermaster Ralph Hoffman carried out an inter-patrol waterboiling con-test, the scoutmaster following with a nature walk and hunt concentrating on trees and plants. Patrol leader Robert Shaffer ran off a compass dash in the scout hall when rain put a damper on the park session which was to have been devoted to summer camp menu planning, and this was continued at Natural Dam on the porch of The Sportsmen's cabin. Ronald Martin was reviewed on Tenderfoot rank and presented with his badge. He is a Raccoon recruit, while Arthur Eyler, a Flaming Arrow, was awarded Firemanship merit badge at this meeting. The most recent Natural Dam outing was of a swimming nature, with a marshmallow roast afterwards, under the leadership of Assistant scoutmaster Robert L. Bowers.

Community Service

Parking for the Taneytown Firemen's Carnival occupied the week of June 13 under the direction of scoutmaster and assistant, and of former Assistant scoutmaster William B. Abrecht, Jr., with aid from Patrol leaders Shaffer and Donald Koontz, Assistant patrol leaders Samuel Bower, Stuart Dom, and Gerald Tracey, as well as Ronald Airing, Ronald Bowers, Willard Candler, Jr., Rickey Clingan, Eyler, James Frock, Quartermaster Hoffman, Philip Martin, Michael Tracey, and Thomas West, and especially conscientious assistance beyond the call of duty from Charles yond the call of duty from Charles Welk.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

From Life Magazine: "The one incontroverible charm of fishing is the shaded pool, the lazy lake, the mild mystery of the next bend, and the clean solitude. Fishing is a good excuse for getting closer to nature, if you need an excuse; in which case it is better to fish crudely than not to fish at all. But not so crudely that you spoil nature for the next man. The only fisherman who really deserves the name of slob is the litterburg who leaves a trail of captious vandalism, empty beer cans and cartons. These are signs of a character that even nature can't reform".

According to Senator Magnuson, it is estimated that the U.S. Merchant Marine, counting its seagoing, shoreside and shipbuilding and ship repair segments, contributes more than $5 billion a year to our economy. And foreign trade, he adds, provides direct employment for more than 41/2 million Americans.

Leo E. Brown, the American Medical Association's director of communications, says: "The individual physician-has a very real obligation to the profession to do all within his power to maintain high quality service, to take the time to discuss with the patient his physiological well being, and to impress upon him his sincere interest, plus a frank discussion of the cost involved".

Featherbedding practices in the railroad industry have been deployed by the president of the California grape and fruit tree League in a letter to President Eisenhower. He said that this organization was "vitally concerned with any cost factors-that will increase freight rates or impair railroad efficiency".

Chain Store Age reports that TV and the big circulation magazines may help create mass merchandise trends, but merchants find that local people sometimes pay more attention to what's promoted locally. The local outlets of a national chain must often cater to special customer demands. Big fashion trends often fail to catch fire in certain areas, which fads, which often die nationally after a sharp sales rise, can linger on in some towns to become good staple business.

Norvin R. Greene writes in National Review Bulletin. "Early economists thought of competition in terms of price only. But competition today consists not only in price but also in service, quality and innovation. Such competition brings in its wake a constant stream of new and better products and, in turn, contributes to a rising standard of living".

There are 81/2 million civilian government workers, federal, state and national, according to the Tax Foundation, or about one for every 21 Americans The most recent count shows that there were nearly 200,-000 more of these workers last October than a year before. Most of this increase came at the state and local

MOST FREQUENTLY taught of all non-military defense courses is Radiological Monitoring for Instructors. It is designed to teach technically-qualified adults how to instruct others to detect and measure radioactive fallout which would be spread by wind after a nuclear attack. The training course is stressed because, unlike most other fields, the radiological expert has few counterparts in ordinary civilian life who could be called upon in an emergency. Classes are taught at the Western Instructor Training Center (shown here) in Alameda, Calif.; the Eastern Instructor Training Center at Brooklyn, N. Y., and the Chemical-Biological-Radiological Defense School in Battle Creek, Mich. (OCDM Photo)

Not a single cracked egg since Chevy took over the route

That '60 Fleetside pickup you see takes whatever kind of road comes along, and makes about 250 stops a day delivering eggs house to house for Mr. Harry Hansen of Missoula, Montana. "With my previous truck," Mr. Hansen writes, "I always had some cracked eggs. Cargo damage always cut into my profits. But the new Chevy eliminated that problem completely. I haven't had one cracked egg with my new truck and I've had up to a ton of eggs in it without any difficulty. . . . I didn't know a truck could ride so nice."

Chevy rides nice, all right: takes good care of fragile cargoes. But that's not even the half of it. Torsion-spring suspension also means longer life for the truck; extra thousands of working miles, because the sheet metal and body components take less of a beating. You can run off-the-road or over back trails at faster safe speeds, too; get in more trips a day, make more money. Those facts are as true of the big Chevrolet heavyweights as they are of the pickups. Any model you name. Get one on your job and you've got the world's most efficient, most economical way to haul any load over any road. Your dealer will be happy to prove that statement any day you say.

"I'm getting close to 20 miles to the gallon," Mr. Hansen states, "and that's on stop-and-

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

The Democratic convention is over and from what we hear there are many unhappy democrats around the Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carbaugh and country; dissatisfied with the way the son Chuckie of Washington, D. C.

The Friendship Carriers class will convention was managed and unhappy with the candidates that were selected. It may be that by the time election rolls around in November the unhappy members of the party will forget their personal chargrin and rally to the support of the party but they will still be resentful of the political steamroller tactics at the convention that handpicked the candidates and ignored the delegates wishes. If the newspaper reporters found the convention dull, the public found it drab and colorless. To those of us who have watched other Democratic conventions in the past we wonder what has happened to the once brash and fighting donkey who kicked over the heads this Place. of many political professionals. The one thing that people may remember about the 1960 convention after everything else is forgotten is the eloquent speech of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's to the delegates on behalf of Adlai Stevenson. The political astute Mrs. Roosevelt knew before she made her talk that the Kennedy forces were going to win, but she felt she had to give the delegates, a chance to think and act before they rubber-stamped Kennedy. But the delegates were apathetic and brain-washed. were in no mood to think of their responsibility to the country or the world. They just wanted to do as they were told to do, and go home. We wonder if the Democratic party will ever be again the liberal force that drew so many young idealist and fighting statesmen to its banner. It is a little known fact that the common barbed wire which farmers today take for granted was the chief reason why the West expanded so rapidly. It was 1870 when it was learned that some method had to be found for over-coming the natural handicaps to agriculture in the semi-arid plains. The first and most urgent problem was to provide fencing. Even in the East, where timber was available, the cost of fencing was an important item; in 1870 the Department of Agriculture estimate of Agriculture estimated that the total cost of fencing in the entire country was not far from two billion dollars and the annual up-keep consumed almost two hundred million dollars. In the Plains where lumber had to be imported, the cost of timberfencing was prohibitive. Yet if cattle were to be controlled, manure saved crops protected from the ravages of roaming cattle and water-holes preserved, fencing was absolutely necessary. Farmers in the Plains experimented for years with various substitutes such as earth embankment-sand hedges. In 1874 J. F. Gildden of DEKalb, Illinois, put barbed wire on the market and the fencing problem was solved! By 1883 Gliddens company was turning out 600 miles of barbed wire daily, and the expense of fencing had been reduced to a mere frac-tion of its former cost. The importance of barbed wire to the development of the Great Plains was comparable to that of the cotton gin in the development of the South. Today farmers everywhere depend on barbed wire to protect their fields and to keep live stock in their proper place. Even where electricity is used the barbed wire for a carrier is more effective than the plain wire. A cheer for barb-

Public schools are best for a democracy for all classes are blended together, the rich mingle with the poor, and both are educated together. Let the public schools flourish, and there an be no permanent aristocracy in our land. For the monoply of wealth is powerless when mind is allowed freely to come in contact with mind. John

News Release from the Planning and zoning Commission

The County Planning Commission meeting at Sebastains' Farm Pond agreed last week on the protective near Uniontown on June 25, 1960 in measures to be included in a draft the evening. There were 55 people measures to be included in a draft for a temporary zoning ordinance for Carroll County. The draft will be the third which the Commission has studied and believes that the protective features approved for the third draft will be satisfactory and adequate at this time and in the best interests of the County.

Last week's action does not necessarily indicate final approval of a zoning measure. The Planning Commission's advisory groups will be called upon to study the measure. So will many organizations of the County

The chief desire of the Planning of the Planning to Chairman Miller Richardson, is to insure that the most objectionable uses which can locate in the County will be required to submit to public hearing and thus the public will be given a chance to detrimental to a community.

Uses selected by the Planning of the Planning of storage, and trailer camps.

Another feature included and thought to be valuable to the County's interest is a requirement for building set-back lines.

Following a review of the new draft by Commission advisory groups and County organizations the Commission indicated that the draft will be submitted for review of the public. This, said Chairman Richardson might be a picnic supper, each family bring their basket supper.

The paper drive held on June 11, 1960 was a big success and scouts want to thank all who helped to make it so. The next drive will be held about the middle of August with the date being announced later.

Our children are our responsibility, and we cannot rightly blame their shortcomings on a long list of other be as early as September or October.

STAINLESS STEEL ELEGANCE

In summer time informal entertainment moves to the casual atmosphere of the backyard, patio or barbecue. But for the special time when hamburgers or hot dogs just won't do, you may want something that combines the elegance of smart New York dining with the glitter of stainless steel.

Nino, "maitre d' " at New York's fashionable Hotel Drake recommends his own superb recipe for Steak Diane as the dish that can satisfy the most demanding palate and yet can be served with sophisticated grace out under the skies.

In preparing his famous dish, Nino insists on using a stainless steel grill designed to his own specifications and available through Legion Utensils Company. Only stainless will hold the heat properparing Nino's delicacy, it has a frame for containing canned heat and a tray used for cooking. You can use it for ham or bacon and eggs, pancakes and even crepes suzette.

NINO'S STEAK DIANE

2 Servings

Pound steaks between paper until they are twice original breadth and ½" thick. Bring to table on platter garnished with chives and parsley. Light canned heat. Put 3 pats butter and chives on grill tray. Cover butter with dry mustard. Pepper, sait and olive oil one side of steak. Place on grill as soon as chives start to brown, then salt, pepper and oil unprepared side of steak right on grill. After 2½ minutes to a side (rare) douse fire. Allow to simmer a moment. Serve. Tip tray, scrape juices into one end. Squeeze lemon into gravy and rub tray bottom with rind. Add Worcestershire, parsley and remaining butter. Pour sauce over steak.

ALMOST PINCHED—a Chrysler rolled into Detroit from Chicago on three wheels and almost earned a ticket from Patrolman Raymond Brewington. But the lady pointed out that it was only an engineering test to prove that unibody construction makes cars so strong that they don't sag even when you take off a front wheel for 300 miles. Note to motorists—don't try this unless you have a ton of weight in the trunk as this engineering test car does.

Steadfast Love

Lesson for July 24, 1960

Long AGO there lived a man by the name of Hosea. God marked him for a prophet, but perhaps Hosea did not know this until after his tragedy. For he went through a great tragic experience, one of a sort that cannot simply be tossed into memory's trashbasket and forgotten. Hoseas experience was one that left scars upon his soul.

The Woman In His Life

Hosea's story, told in the first part of the book which bears his name, is a puzzling one as it stands, and it remains a puzzle even when it is reconstructed. What follows now is a very widely accepted interpretation of that story, though no interpretation is beyond mistakes. There was a woman in Hesea's life; her name was Gomer, from the same Israelite people as himself. It is clear that he loved her, and Dr. Foreman that she bore him children. The names of the children, however, suggest that all was not well in that household. The oldest child was named Jezreel, the name of a well-known fortress city of those times. There was nothing odd about that way of naming children. When the second child was born, Hosea (still not yet a prophet) gave her a curious name. It sounds strange in English; it was much more strange in Hebrew, the language Hosea spoke. Lo-Ruhamah, "No-Mercy" was the little girl's name.

Life's Bitterest Cup

Did Hosea give that innocent child that gruesome name because he had discovered that his Gomer ves a woman without mercy? If he dia, the third baby bore a name more sinister still. It was a little boy; and Hosea named him Lo-

Ammi-"Not My People" or "No Child of Mine." He had lost all belief that his wife was any-longer true to him; in fact he publicly branded her by giving the child that name. Gomer did what you might expect: she left him with the children, and he had the three of them to bring up by himself, trying to be father and mother both.

The Woman In The Slave Market

Long afterwards, Hosea found a woman in the slave market and bought her and brought her to his home. The interpretation of the story which we are following takes this woman (not named in the Bible story) to be no other than the lost Gomer. It is very likely that she was. It would de a delicate courtesy not to give her name, for she had indeed sunk very low, as the story shows. If it was Gomer, sure enough, then Hosea had discovered something besides his former bride. He had discovered in his own heart a love which bridged all the rifts and chasms that a wayward woman's merciless selfishness had cut across the fair face of their happiness. He discovered a love which was stronger and more enduring than anything.

Love of God

Other writers in the Old Testament speak to us of the love of God, but the word they used has often been mistranslated, or played down in the translating. The Hebrew word is now (in the Revised Standard Version) given its rightful meaning: Steadfast Love. The translators worked hard to find one word that would say what the Hebrew word says, but they could not find one. So "steadfast love" it is. Hosea's experience taught him two things. One was the depth of his own love, as we were just saying. The other was the depth and endurance of god's love. Hosea, who became known as a prophet, but never fully recovered from the shattering experiences of his early life, always spoke of God and Israel as husband and wife. Just as Gomer had been unfaithful to him, so the nation of Israel had been unfaithful to God. But fust as Hosea's love was so steadtest that he could take back and care for a horribly damaged Comer, so Gods love is steadfast in spite of his Israel's sins. Yet-we cannot suppose that Hosea, once his wife was at home again, did not care what she did; and we must believe that God, though he loves the sinner, hates the sin.

THE MIGHTY AGES-(1800 AND 1900)

The Age of 1800 surpassod all age, the records say; "None have ever equaled it in any way;" In it, God showed how He wants man to be At the end of Time, and, through all Eternity.

This great land of ours was a wilderness, they say Before God sent Christopher Columbus this way; But, God gave men tools to work with, they say So, they all learned to know Him in this way.

The glory of that era shall never end For, in it, on God, men learned to depend; God gave us our first Thanksgiving Day; And to thank Him now, that is still our way.

About God's goodness, even then, some know—
(When He does not send Rain, He sends the dew);
And, just so, things shall continue to be
Though all the long years of Eternity.

The age was the greatest ever known to man Because, in it, God gave a hint of His plan To make it what it some day shall be— The Paradise home of both you and me.

Some say 1800 is dead; but, that is not true; God started with it to make the earth new He made America a City of Refuge they say For all who want to know Him and go His way.

In his hand, they tell'us, 1800 held the key Which unlocked the door to our world of mystery; o, old centuries, old desires have fled Because of the thunder of his tread.

Who was this warrior so shrewd and great Whose mighty arm our ship of state
Hath steered to peaceful sea?
Whose calm, yet keen, discerning eye
Once penetrated earth and sky, Who told of Empire did despise? Who saw the child Columbia rise; And, at her feet the nations bow?

The chain of servitude was hung Around her neck when she was young; He broke it, with his iron hand— (That watchful guardian of our land); And, on his back the musket bore Which drove all tyrants from our shore.

Our Nation's National song a task gave, He tore the shackles from the slave; Over all the land made freedom ring! Taught love of God, who is our king! For everything we have to-day, It was he who passed this way!

DEAD! HE IS NOT DEAD! While Sun, and moon and stars shall last Among great Epochs shall be classed

THE AGE OF 1800! The songs and ditties of that day
Like the Pyramids, have come to stay; Down through the corridors of Time

Those catching strains shall always chime! But, from one truth, I can't refrain-My, how the people did complain
Of muddy roads on a pitch dark night!—
(But, mud and darkness took their flight!)

For want of a buggy, or, what we call a hack They journeyed on uld Dobbin's back; Six miles per hour to us seems slow;

But, he took them, where they wished to go. Now, on Macadam roads, at last, We roll along ten times as fast On pleasure jaunts, from East to West, Through what was then a wilderness. When war's dark cloud obscured the land.

He made the tumult cease,
Took brave Columbia by the hand,
And led her till the dawn of peace. He bade his Son, Invention rise-Unbarred the gates of light!

Of things which were not caused to be A glittering host! He made the Factory raise its head!

Beheld a future bright! Beneath dark and sullen skies, He saw the smoke of commerce rise; Then cast a bright electric spark O'er all the land, where it was dark!

He gave us money, the match, the lamp, the radio-The stove—(millions of things we now know?) He also gave us tools of every kind, Tools to sow with, and tools to grind.

Mortal man shall never be Greater, or wiser than was he Whom God sent to make strong and free

This wonderland, called America. DEAD! HIS NAME SHALL NEVER DIE! The wonders of his Masters hand Are the common talk in every land-

From sea to sea, from zone to zone, O'er all the earth his fame is known! No more a Mayflower ploughs the sea

In quest of an America; Mighty iron clads, daily, come and go No matter how the winds my blow! But listen! Lo, there cometh

Another warrior bold!

Hear the thunder of his iron heel!

Who is this mighty sovereign?

What means the mighty throng, These herolders of truth This arbiter of wrong? It is the Age of 1900! In his hand he holds the key To a world to a world at Liberty.

Through the visits of the future, the avenue of years, I see many smiling faces, eyes undimned by tears; All the earth by goaly men is manned, Who do not make a hell of the Paradise God planned.

The things I see are but a dream; But, just as real, to me they seem! The brotherhood of man will surely be, The inception of peace and felicity.

The war drum's beat shall cease to be When all races live in peace and agree, When mortal man learns for sure that he His Brother's keepers. God wants him to be.

For Picnic Purposes, Instant Tea Is Perfect Portable Potable

Getting ready for a picnic always brings up the difficult question of drinks. To lug along bottled drinks is apt to be a nuisance because the bottles are heavy, occupy quite a lot of space, and require chilling. If you make tea or punch in advance, there's never enough, and if you put ice in your drink before you leave home, the drink gets diluted by the time you're ready to consume it.

As usual, there's a simple solution to this apparently knotty problem. Any picnic site worth visiting has a ready water supply. Take along a jar of Nestea,® the 100% pure instant tea, and make your cool drink on the spot. Nestea dissolves instantly in cold spring water to produce a refreshing beverage, clear as spring water itself and full of tea flavor.

Fill a thermos jug with ice cubes and add them to your tea when you make it. That eliminates the hazard of diluting your tea. One rounded teaspoon of instant tea in a glass of cold water pleases most tastes, but those who like their iced tea stronger need only add a little extra instant tea to the water and suit themselves

To the usual word of caution, let one more be added: while you're not forgetting the salt for the tomatoes, don't forget the sugar for the iced tea. And while you're remembering the sugar, slip a lemon, a packet of mint, or whatever garnish you prefer to make the iced tea taste even better.

Dessert With A Tropical Flair

Imagination is the hidden ingredient that makes this charming tropical dessert so distinctive. Shredded fresh (or canned) pineapple, folded into a chocolate-rich mousse makes a delightfully unexpected flavor combination. Serve it in pineapple halves for a dramatic touch that will call forth the admiring comments

Pineapple Chocotate Mousse

Combine chocolate and water in saucepan. Bring to a boil over low heat, stirring vigorously until blended. Add 3/4 cup sugar and the salt and simmer 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour slowly over egg yolks, stirring well. Cool. Add vanilla and fold

Add 1/4 cup sugar to pineapple and let stand 20 minutes. Fold into chocolate mousse mixture. Spoon into freezing tray of refrigerator, set control for coldest freezing temperature, and freeze 3 to 4 hours. Garnish with bits of pineapple. Makes 8 to

Babies Taste-Test New Foods

While babies don't actually stir the pot, they do play an important part in the development of baby foods. For example, important part in the development of baby foods. For example, more than 2500 babies were given a chance to taste-test a brand new protein dinner containing proteins from the three richest animal sources—meat, egg yolk and milk. These dinners offer 24 percent more protein and 31 percent more nutritional value than comparable dinners tested. One big question remained: Would babies really enjoy the taste of this highly nutritional product? Feef, lamb and chicken blends were taste-tested and then tested again, until Beech-Nut was satisfied that any baby would love the final recipe. Not a single upset tummy could be attributed to the inners. Today, thanks to babies themselves, these new protein camers can be found in any leading food store. ... mers can be found in any leading food store.
