Girl Scouts at Camp Whippoorwill

Carol Remsburg, Marion Dunham, Carol Piezonki and Nancy Wargny, Intermediate Scouts of Troop 723, left for Camp Whippoorwill on Tuesday Aug. 9th and will return Aug. 20th. Camp Whippoorwill is one of 2 established Girl Scout Camps. It is located in a lovely wooded area along the shores of the Magothy River in Anne Arundel County. There are opportunities to learn how to swim, how to handle canoes and row boats, and to sail. The program includes many adventures in camping skills, nature projects and crafts. There are six units with a capacity of 136 campers—Brownies, Intermediates and Seniors. Campers are grouped by age, experience, interests and abilities. Each staff member at Whippoorwill is trained to help the campers learn new skills and have many happy adventures. The qualified food handling staff and a registered nurse look after the health of each camper. The August 28th morning service will begin at 10:30 and will be the bicentennial worship service. The Taneytown Presbyterian congregation will worship with the Emmitsburg congregation. The Rev. In connection with this milestone in the church's long life an interesting history of the church has been written by Mrs. Ruth Owen Richards. One feature of the book is a list of all the members through the years. Many familiar family names appear. Copies of the book are available for sale and may be obtained from most of the church members. Memorial plates are also available.

Nationally Known Lecturer to Appear in Local Church

Dr. Henry J. Heydt, teacher, lecturer and author will be the speaker at a Bible Conference to be held in this community. This conference will be in the Frizellburg Church of God, Frizellburg, Md., beginning Sunday, Aug. 21 and continuing each evening thru Friday, Aug. 26. The time for these services will be 8 p. m. night. There will be special musical numbers and congregational singing each evening. Dr. Heydt is a member of the Missionary staff of the American Board of Missions to the Jews, Inc. He came to the Mission from a varied background of Christian ministry. Upon his graduation from Moravian College and Theological Seminary, he became pastor of the Moravian Church in Lancaster, Pa. After serving four years in this pastorate, the Lord burdened him with the need for a Bible training school with seminary standards in that area. Accordingly, he founded the Lancaster School of the Bible and Theology and was its president for twenty years. During this time, his love for the Jews was steadily increasing, and he incorporated a required course on "Jewish Evangelism" in the Bible School curriculum. The contents of this course form the subject matter for his book, Studies in Jewish Evangelism.

He is also the author of The Gospel in Galatians and of a hymn of consecration, "Closer to Jesus", which has been published in Tabernacle Hymns #4. He is a contributing editor to Christian Victory magazine, being responsible for four departments monthly. In the Mission magazine, The Chosen People, he conducts the Question and Answer department. Dr. Heydt is president of the Jewish Missionary Training Institute, a department of the Mission. He is also a faculty member of Northeastern Bible Institute and lecturer in high schools, colleges and universities.

Piney Creek 4-H Fair News

For the second year in succession the Piney Creek 4-H Club had the winning team in the dairy judging contest at the 1960 Carroll County Fair. Members of the team were as follows: Louise Gunther, who placed first in the junior division for the second year in succession; Diane Windisch, who placed among the top ten; and John Rinehart, who placed first in the Senior division. All three 4-Hers are attending the judging practices held between the county and state fairs. Four individuals having the highest totals will be selected for the junior and senior teams to represent Carroll County at the Maryland State Fair. 4-Hers are competing through the county for these teams.

In the dairy show held July 21, John and Diane represented their club well. John exhibited the winning junior calf and two year old cow.

In the poultry exhibition Anna Blair who recently joined the club, displayed a pen of bantams. Betty Ann Wolf exhibited vegetables.

John and Edmund Dutterer had the champion team demonstration in which they packed front bearings on a Farmall Tractor. They will represent Carroll County at the State Fair.

PILOT SUMMER SCHOOL LAUNCHED BY FRANCIS SCOTT KEY HIGH SCHOOL

For a period of six weeks, July 5th to August 12th, twelve boys and girls have been attending Summer Classes held at the Francis Scott Key High School under the administration of Mr. Henry J. Kanowicz and the instruction of Mrs. Della M. Rickell. Most of the children have made 100 per cent attendance. All of the unavoidable absence were voluntarily made up. Reading skills and spelling were the subjects taught.

Children from the Francis Scott Key School area were enrolled in the summer session. Each student was required to pay a small monetary fee. The course required thirty hours work, but many of the students worked more hours that they might complete the goal set for themselves at the beginning of the school. Through intensive and individualized instruction, they completed the work they ordinarily would have done in approximately twice the time.

The pilot summer session is the first of this kind held in Carroll County. The Administration, having observed the pupils busily and happily engaged in this summer activity, feel that the project has been very successful. It is hoped that it will be possible to offer a wider range of subjects another year and that many more students will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to improve their scholastic standings.

Re-Distribution of Gasoline and Motor Vehicle Revenues

Carroll County Commissioners Edmund L. Carr, Charles W. Saylor, and Francis J. Crawford, along with County Agent Landon C. Burns and Technical Assistant George A. Grier met in session with the County Commissioners of Western Maryland on Thursday, August 11 at Deep Creek Lodge in Garrett County.

Detailed discussions were held on re-distribution of gasoline and motor vehicles revenues, the group generally favoring the greater percentage being given to the County than is planned in the proposed Bailey Bill legislation. The subject of a combined engineering staff to the Western Maryland counties was also discussed, but generally disapproved. Discussion was also held relative to a combining of the Western Maryland counties for insurance and also the subject of the sale of motor licenses in the respective counties was given detailed attention. The next meeting was scheduled for Hagerstown on November 17.

Recommendations of the Temporary Zoning Ordinance

The Planning Commission last week received recommendations from its Agricultural and Industrial Advisory Committees approving the draft of a temporary zoning ordinance for Carroll County. As a result of such action, Chairman Miller Richardson of the Planning Commission requested that copies of the draft given tentative approval by the Commission be made available to County organizations and interested citizens in order that any additional recommendations might be forthcoming before required public hearings.

Basically, the proposed ordinance requires hearing on junk yards, airports, explosive manufacture and storage, rifle or target ranges, and trailer camps prior to approving any application for such uses. Also included are requirements for building setbacks from all roads as well as off-the-road parking for any use.

Meeting with the Commission in discussing the zoning measure were the following members of the Agricultural and Industrial Committees: John J. Bixler, Jonathan Dorsey, Frank Bushey, Lloyd B. Wilhide, Leonard E. Sherman, Gerald S. Brickett, Lloyd M. Elderdice, Russell H. Morgan.

The Planning Commission indicated its hope that prior to the end of September that all organizations will have had an opportunity to study the measure and that public hearings can be held in October or November.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"
With all my heart, I wish you every morning.
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It was UNDERNEATH THE STARS last night at the Stadium for a concert by the combined No. 1 Park and Municipal Concert Bands with Leigh Martinet conducting. It was sponsored by the Bureau of Music, Department of Recreation and Parks. The Soloist, was Janice Hassel (Miss Delaware in the Miss America Contest of 1956) and her voice was in perfect tone as she sang the Operatic numbers plus a few popular tunes. Although, there was much thunder overhead, the audience was so interested and appreciative that no one moved or attempted to leave until the closing number. These delightful programs should be more frequent throughout the summer.

And thinking of delightful programs—hope you did not miss "Cypress Gardens" on T. V. at 10 P. M. with Esther Williams and Fernando Lamas. The latter played the role of a handsome Prince with his Harem. The lighting and underwater scenes of the swimmers were really fantastic due to the built in of nine submarine picture windows below the surface so that cameras would follow underwater activities as well as on the surface. There was a cast of 150 and the youngsters were truly delightful. There was a love story of course with several delightful songs. This Observer was quite surprised at all the hidden talent of that Argentine actor and, no doubt there were a million other viewers just as much surprised.

In the lobby in "The Sun Paper Building" there is a bell on the counter and I was curious and read the following which was presented by The National Association for Mental Health in recognition of outstanding service in the fight against Mental Illness to The Sun Paper—"Cast from Shackles Which Bound Them. This Bell shall ring out hope for the mentally ill and victory over 'Mental Illness' it was awarded in 1953. Then seeing a placard on the wall, I read Henry Louis Mencken—Newspaperman 1880-1956—"If, after I depart this vale, you ever remember me and have thought to please my Ghost—Forgive some sinner and wink your eye at some lonely girl....."

Walking down Howard Street the other day—this big sign with these words—"Lonesome? Worried? Without Peace of Mind? Go to a Movie and leave worries behind!"

Did you know it was the year of 1837 when the Sun Paper was founded? I always compare the daily and Sunday Sun with the wonderful paper of the New York Times.

Going down for a treatment of Chiropractic to the office of the great Dr. Calvin Hornstein at Madison Street next to the Marty Plaza—read the following which is framed on the wall by Thomas A. Edison—"THE DOCTOR OF THE FUTURE WILL GIVE NO MEDICINE, BUT WILL INTEREST HIS PATIENTS IN THE CARE OF THE HUMAN FRAME IN DIET AND THE CAUSE AND PREVENTION OF DISEASE!"

Dr. Hornstein was a close friend of the late Frederick L. Erickson, the retired Organist of the Emmanuel Episcopal Church. It was the most interesting and wonderful to learn of the habits, character, disposition and life of this great man of whom the Dr. spoke.

Little "Eva" now is barking for real and plays with her five and dime toys like a child. She seems so happy with them. Grows cuter every day. Almost too friendly with strangers! Each dog has its own personality like people. That precious "Sugar" ran from strangers! So there you have it even as a dog!

The movie called, "From The Terrace at the New Theatre is acted superbly as the cast is perfect. It is a story of misunderstanding as to parents and marriage. The story is of a young son who returns to his unhappy home in Philadelphia from the Navy. He is shocked to find his mother an alcoholic and blames his father for it all being a selfish, thoughtless man due to his neglect. This son marries and also follows in the steps of his father as to neglecting his wife. He becomes more interested in making money and job not business so to speak. Finally he visits a little Pennsylvania town in fact for business reasons, too as to surveying a coal mining district. Here he meets a very innocent girl, Natalie by name. But I'll leave the rest of the story for you to see.

Have a grand week end folks. Might as well be comfortable and remain home after church services. Am awaiting that nice cool day when I'll be seeing you for the day around the town D.V.

I am faithfully,
Your Observer.

FACTS AND OPINIONS

Recreational boating has become this country's fastest-growing sport. More than $2,500,000,000 will be spent on it this year by some 40,000,000 enthusiasts, according to the American Petroleum Institute. At the peak of the season an estimated 8,200,000 pleasure craft have been plying our rivers, lakes and oceans. There 1960 consumption of gasoline will run to 533,000,000 gallons.

Thurman Sensing of the Southern States Industrial Council says: "As late as 25 years ago there was only one federal aid program of any consequence extended to the states, namely the highway program costing $250 million per year. Now grants by the federal government to state and local governments total about $5 billion per year under 62 different programs of federal aid."

A self-portrait of the American executive—based on a survey of 6,500 top businessmen conducted by Newsweek—reveals that he is just about as interested in religion and culture as in business news: The survey also shows that 72 per cent of these leaders are members of civic organizations.

President Eisenhower says: "Of this I am certain; America's economic strength is not in Washington, D. C., nor on public spending. It is in the creativeness and industry and spirit of our people!"

Some 70 million registered motor vehicles now ply our highways, and traffic congestion has become a major problem. However, as the old saying goes, we ain't seen nothing yet. A Bureau of the Department of Commerce estimates that the figure will reach 114 million by 1976. This would mean one vehicle for every two men, women and children, or three vehicles for every four persons of legal driving age.

Governor Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina remarks: "The transcending malady of our times is the plague of compromise. Insidiously, it eats away at American principles and the free enterprise system in America."

Taxes paid by Class 1 railroads in the first quarter of this year amounted to $266,237,113, a rise of 7.2 per cent over the corresponding period of 1959, according to the Association of American Railroads. About 25 per cent of this outlay went for federal income taxes, 37 per cent for payroll taxes to finance retirement, survivor, and unemployment and sickness benefits, and 38 per cent for all other taxes.

Charles E. Webber of the Sun Oil Company says: "The double set of rules under which gas producers operate is a condition unparalleled in American business. We have all the hazards of free enterprise. Every day we compete with each other for additional business—or to hold on to what we already have. Yet, when it comes to selling the gas, the Federal Power Commission holds us under a utility status. We are required to live as utilities without the guarantees ordinary granted to them. We are not even permitted to recoup the cost of gas replacement because of unrealistic price ceilings set by the FPC."

The President of the United States cannot be arrested for any crime, even murder. While he is in office no court can judge him, but Congress can remove him from office. Once removed he can then be judged as a private citizen.

Boys' Clubs Blend Tonic For Youth

An unusual example of how cooperation, teamwork and mutual striving for common goals can be achieved among normally opposed groups was recently revealed in a progress report by the Boys' Clubs of America.

Its ability to blend grass roots citizens, capital, labor and political parties into a result-producing tonic, has made the Boys' Clubs movement one of the nation's leading youth guidance organizations. Today, it offers daily services and facilities to almost 600,000 members in more than 550 Boys' Clubs in 365 cities.

Nationally, the Boys' Clubs organization leans heavily for leadership on its board chairman, Herbert Hoover, who for 25 years has actively directed its growth and expansion. Working with Mr. Hoover are more than 100 business, civic, industry and government leaders who serve on BCA's A. L. Cole national board. A. L. Cole, vice president and general manager of the Reader's Digest, is the organization's dynamic president.

Citizens in every walk of life combine their energies, talents and emotions to serve their local Boys' Club. Each Club has its own president and board of directors. Each Club also benefits hugely from volunteers, male and female, who augment the professional staff by giving of their time and talent to further Juvenile Delinquency.

Rounding out the national organization, is a professional staff with headquarters in New York and regional offices throughout the country, under the direction of J. M. Gleason, John M. Gleason, an internationally known youth authority.

A PLACE-SET PICNIC - OUTDOORS OR IN

Everybody loves a picnic. It has a happy, casual, outdoor air that can't be beat, even with "ants in the sugar and sand in the salt." A picnic party (minus ants and sand) is also a charming mode of warm-weather entertaining, especially if you make the event a dress-up picnic, complete with silver place settings and the other finery of gracious dining. What's more, you needn't pitch the party way off in a woodland glen. Your patio, back porch or even the family dining room will do quite nicely, says Marian Marsh, Director of Oneida Table Planning Service.

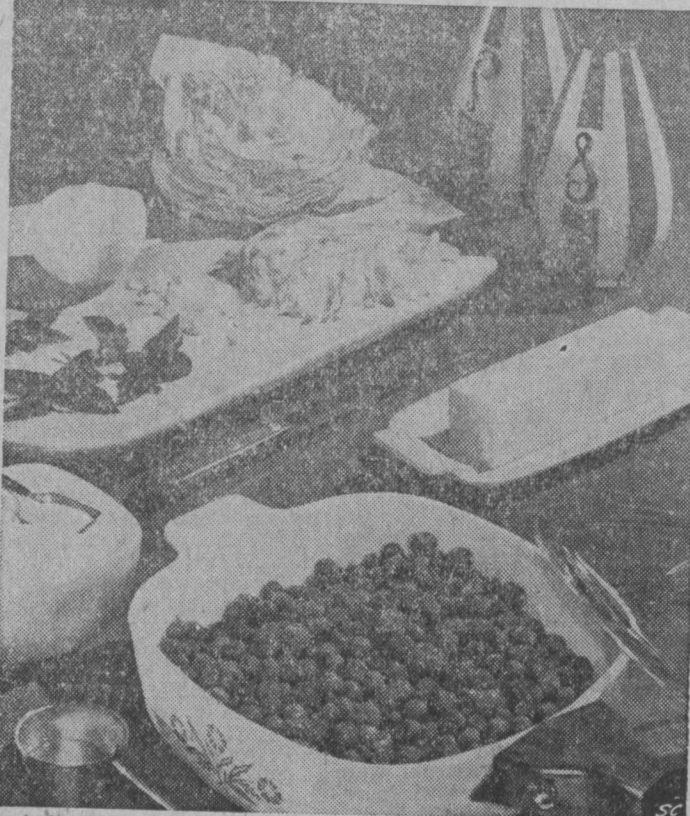

In the dramatic picnic setting shown, the daisy-strewn table covering is a bright green mat of artificial grass (or it might be green burlap) which gives the effect of a sweet meadow. A covered maple bucket, thermos-lined, holds the picnic fare—a gourmet casserole treat, perhaps. Extra relishes go on the small acorn-shaped wooden board, equipped with its own miniature serving fork (really, a salad fork). And the picnic lemonade is offered, most elegantly, in real glass tumblers, smartly fashioned by Libbey in soft sky blue.

High point of this place-set picnic, however, is its use of beautiful flatware and dinnerware. The forks, knives and spoons, and gleaming silver serving pieces, are the new sterling-look "Song of Autumn" pattern in Community Silverplate. And each smooth oval handle is ornamented, appropriately, with a raised wheat motif, dark-accented in sculptural effect. The Oneida Premier melamine dinnerware, resembling china, is "Autumn Memory"—leaf-adorned as if a pretty twig had been plucked to delight each guest.

1 small sprig mint
1/2 head lettuce, shredded
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons cream

Drop frozen peas into saucepan with the water, salt, sugar, onion and mint. Cover and bring to a boil quickly over high heat, separating the block of frozen peas with a fork, if necessary, to hasten thawing (takes 2 to 3 minutes). When peas are separated, scoop half of lettuce under the peas and place remainder on top. Cover, reduce heat to medium, just enough to keep peas simmering gently, and cook until peas are just tender, about 5 minutes. Add butter and cream and serve at once. Yield: 3 servings.

"These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck...but not our Chevy"

Few trucks are subjected to the body-wracking beatings that are part of a day's work for this Chevrolet Series 60 pulpwood hauler. It's owned by J. E. Fox, North Carolina logging contractor. As Bobby Fox, a partner in the business says, "Loaded with pulpwood, we drive over stumps and potholes you'd think would tear the truck to pieces. These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck, but not our Chevy. We can average an extra load a day... make $45 to $50 a day more with this Chevy than we can with the others."

In every weight class these Chevis are doing more work at less expense than trucks have ever done before. Drive one at your Chevrolet dealer's. It's an experience that could pay you big dividends.

"That 6-cylinder engine really performs," says Bobby Fox. "It's got the lugging power we need in the woods and walks right along with a full load on the highway."

A Service Of The Thor Research Center For Better Farm Living

A reader who is tired of squeaky floors in his home wants to know how he can eliminate the squeaks.

The basic cause of squeaky floors, of course, is shrinkage of the floor boards. This condition allows adjacent boards to rub against each other, as one gives and the other doesn't, when there is movement over the floor.

To solve the problem of squeaking boards on the first floor, drive small wooden wedges between the floor joists and sub-floor. This tightens the boards, preventing movement or rubbing. If the squeak is on the second floor, drive 8-penny nails at a 45-degree angle through the squeaking boards into the sub-floor and joist. The joists ordinarily are at 20-inch intervals from the outer wall. Be sure to countersink the nails and fill the nail holes after using the latter solution.

Install bridging between joists to stop vibrating.

A stop-gap solution to squeaking floors is to sprinkle talcum powder between the board spaces. But at best this is a temporary answer.

Another reader asks, "Our home is over 30 years old and in some areas the floors vibrate when they are walked upon. What's the most reliable way of making them firm?"

ANSWER: Install wood bridging between the floor joists beneath the vibrating sections. The bridging should be of the same thickness and width as the joists and should be cut individually to the exact size to fit between adjacent joists. Fasten the bridging with 12 or 14 penny nails driven through the joist and into the bridging at each end. If the vibrating floor area is large and several bridge pieces are needed, stagger the bridgings so each can be fastened individually as indicated.

(Questions about home and farm maintenance and improvement should be sent to the Thor Research Center, Marengo, Ill. They will be answered by letter and in some instances in these columns.)

Beware.—A word to the wise should be sufficient. Be careful when high pressure salesmen from the city or strangers come to your home selling their products, who insist you sign contracts on the spot without any further thought. Give them a negative answer until you investigate whether they are reliable, and whether you are overpaying for same. Chances are you can buy the same products in your own community at a price lower than theirs. After all, if they really are on the up and up, a day or two for you to make up your mind won't make any difference. Be careful; don't sign your name on any papers until you are sure.

HELPING HAND
FOR A YOUNG LADY

The morning rush hour was in full swing as the C & P installer slowed his small panel truck at one of Baltimore's busiest intersections. He could hear the angry sound of many auto horns. Then he saw the cause.

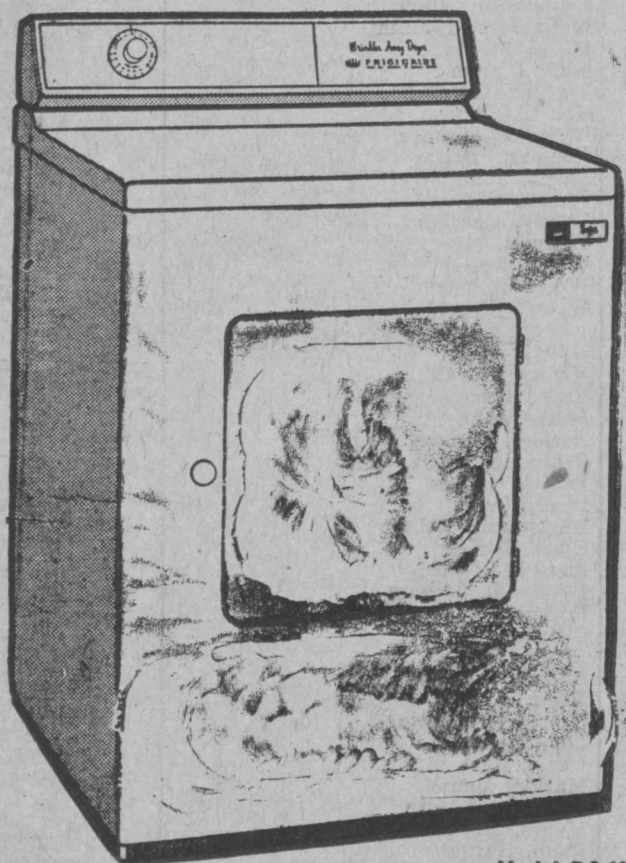

Stalled across 4 lanes of traffic was an old car. All alone in the car was a young lady, trying frantically to start the motor. A tremendous traffic jam of cars was piling up in the blocked lanes.

Horns were honking, blood pressures were rising, as drivers too far down the street to see the cause of the tie-up tried to hurry its untangling with a blast of their horns.

The C & P truck pulled to a stop. The driver jumped out, walked over to the stalled car, and spoke to the young lady. Then he pushed the car and the young driver to the far curb. You could almost hear the sigh of relief from the young lady, and the stalled motorists, as traffic began to move again.

To the young man from C & P, this was all part of a day's work. (We know this because one of you readers took the time to write and tell us about his act of courtesy.) We at C & P believe courtesy makes our day and your day more pleasant. Lending a helping hand to others, on or off the job, is a courteous service we're glad to extend.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Isaiah 5:1-24.
Devotional Reading: Romans 13:8-14.

After the Drinks

Lesson for August 21, 1960

THE BIBLE says not a word against whiskey. The reason is the same as the reason why it does not warn against too-fast driving, or the excessive use of sleeping pills, or flying a light plane in freezing rain. These are all ways of cutting life short, just as whiskey is. But the Bible does warn us many times about the use of wine and the equivalent of beer. Most of the references to "strong drink" could be translated "beer" without seriously changing the meaning.

Dr. Foreman

Death

The prophet Isaiah, looking about him in his own city of Jerusalem, saw a drinking people, men and women for whom social drinking was a well-established, popular habit. But he did not like what he saw. Furthermore, since an authentic prophet is one who sees with God's eyes, we can be sure, if we take the Bible seriously, that God did not like it either.

Does God like it any better in America? In 1958, the last year for which figures are available, the sales of liquor stores were $4,439,000,000. This is just about double what the public spent in shoe stores in the same year.

Liquor advertising accounts for some of this, to be sure. But liquor ads—very attractive they are, too—always show the liquor-drinker before the drinks, never after. They never show the murders committed under the influence of alcohol, they do not show the wrecks caused by drinking (not necessarily drunk) drivers. The ads show a man—before—they do not show him after his drinks have made him less than a man. "The grave has opened its mouth," Isaiah said, referring to his hard-drinking nation. The grave opens its mouth today... not to mention the living death of alcoholism.

A nation that spends twice as much in liquor stores as in shoe stores has a very odd standard of values, to say the least. The drinker, even the modest drinker, opens the door to becoming a man (or woman) who cannot think straight. If you were to be operated on, would you like to think the surgeon had just taken a little rum to warm himself up? Would you willingly fly in a plane if you knew the pilot kept himself pretty well "juned up" between flights? If you were a prisoner, would you like to be sentenced by a judge who had several drinks under his robe? You would not. But if we don't want important things done for us by people even a tiny bit tipsy, we should not want people thinking for us with their brains even a little fuzzed with alcohol. The farther a man goes with a drinking habit, the bigger and bigger the bottle grows, bigger in importance, that is, Isaiah knew that a drinking nation calls "evil good, and good evil."

The Rotten Root

The people, the liquor-loving people, that swarmed in Isaiah's city, he compares to a plant of which the root is rotten and the blossom is dust. They have lost their stamina, they will fall to their enemies like dry grass before a flame! (This came true, we must remember). One of the most frightening features of America is the attitude of many leaders toward liquor. Charles A. Wells, in "Between the Lines" for Jan. 15, 1959, writes: "The favored treatment liquor gets in the U. S. Armed Services, and in U. S. diplomacy, is notorious... Liquor gets priority treatment... The Kremlin is cracking down on liquor in Russia with severity, and preaching sobriety and temperance—as is Red China. Are not the despoilers in the American defense program guilty of sabotage as much as if they mined a bridge or put a time-bomb in a plane? Narcotics squads knock themselves out going after dope-users and peddlers. Why is it nobody much bothers with the enormously larger number of drug addicts who drug themselves with alcohol? Could it be because too many 'Important People' are the same kind of drug victims?"

Authors Book to Combat Growing Indifference to U. S. Heritage

Revival of good, old-fashioned American patriotism and a reappraisal of our national heritage is called for in "The Quiet Betrayal," a book by Sidney L. DeLove, Chicago banker and lawyer recipient of many of the country's leading patriotic and national awards.

In this, his first book, Mr. DeLove decries increasing distortion of basic values, marked by growing spiritual indifference and material reverence, and calls this our greatest danger. DeLove's theme is that if we do not take immediate steps to strengthen our individual characters, we cannot survive as a free nation. "Uncle Sam" of the twentieth century is not the man he was in the nineteenth century, says Mr. DeLove. Uncle Sam of today is described as being drunk with material comforts and power and thinks security and happiness can be bought with guns and jet planes.

To combat the growing lethargy and indifference of the average American insofar as a realization of his priceless national heritage is concerned, the author calls for better education in primary and secondary schools to emphasize the positive values of Americanism and Democracy. The time has come, he says, to reacquire ourselves with our own traditions and way of life. The meanings of citizenship and patriotism must once again find their ways into our lives and into our educational systems. As adults we have set aside our birthright, the author contends, in adjusting to the pressing tempo of twentieth century life. Our schools have forced Americanism out of the classroom to make way for temporary trivials.

This is a good book for the younger generation—that which came to adulthood since World War II—as it will acquaint them with what conditions were like before the government started to play such an increasingly important role in their daily lives. The book will also appeal to oldsters who decry the nonchalant, take-it-for-granted attitude of the younger people of today.

*"The Quiet Betrayal," Normandy House, Chicago, Ill., 1959 $3.50.

Committee to Investigate Prison Administration

State Senator Edward O. Weant, Jr., has been appointed by the Chairman and Vice-Chairman of the Legislative Council to be Chairman of a special committee to investigate prison administration in Maryland. This Committee stems from the recent strike of inmates at the House of Correction. In addition some questions have been raised about the conduct of the Reformatory for Males in Washington County.

Other members of this Committee are Senator Aaron A. Baer, Fifth District Baltimore City; Senator John L. Sanford, Jr., Worcester County; Senator H. Winship Wheatley, Jr., Prince Georges County; Delegate Charles W. Coss, Washington County; Delegate Alger Y. Barbee, Montgomery County; and Delegate Ridgely P. Melvin, Jr., Anne Arundel County.
