The Boys' Physical Education Program by Travis Dutterer, 9A

The boys' Physical Education program is designed to teach boys how to take care of their bodies and how to be good sportsmen. It teaches many kinds of sports. In Physical Education boys should learn good coordination and team work.

The boys' Physical Education program for the fall is mostly out-of-door sports. The first sport is soccer. Soccer is a game in which there are five line men and six back field men. The game starts by the center forward kicking the ball off. Then the ball is kicked back and forth between the players. The ball is kicked up and down the field until one of the teams put a goal in. There are four fifteen minute quarters. To play soccer a boy should be in the best of physical condition.

One way to get in condition for soccer is to run cross-country. Cross-country is a distance running event in which one runs across rough ground, around the track, up hills and down, over fields and through wet grass. The boys are timed at this run.

When it is time to start the winter sports, the main winter sport is basketball. Basketball is a game in which five boys pass the ball back and forth between them trying to keep the other team from getting the ball and at the same time trying to make a basket. In high school basketball there is usually a Junior Varsity (J. V.) squad and a Varsity (continued on page four)

MORE ON QUESTION OF FLUORIDATION

Opinions of Health Officer, Dentist and School Principals

The Taneytown Jaycees in their quest to have the public water supply of Taneytown fluoridated have received their biggest boost yet. Several prominent men along with those in the medical and dental profession have joined forces with the Jaycees to try and fluoridate the water supply of Taneytown.

We have received comments from several of these individuals and with their consent, we have decided it would be beneficial for the people of the town to see their views.

The following is a statement of the Carroll County Health Officer, Donald E. Fisher, M. D., M. P. H., regarding fluoridation of public water supplies:

"I believe that it is the parents' God-given duty to constantly strive to produce the finest, healthiest children possible so that each succeeding generation is better than the previous one. It is through such community efforts as fluoridation of public water supply and its benefit in reduced dental disease that we can remove yet another curse of humanity from oncoming generations. Fluoridation is one of a multitude of ways in which a community can foster increasing superiority of its children.

There are those who would defeat the very basis of our social progress by obstructing the common sense fluoridation of our drinking water. They might claim that fluoride is rat poison. I challenge them to identify a single solitary case of fluoride poisoning due to fluoridated municipal water supply. The same people might hold up to pictures of teeth, pitted and stained due to markedly excessive fluoride ingestion. I challenge them to find a single case of such disorder resulting from drinking the water of a fluoridated supply such as that of Baltimore. The same people might claim that fluoride causes cancer. If the research medical profession with all its tremendous knowledge is still uncertain about the cause of cancer, how can ill-formed people be so confident in their dogmatic statements.

In Baltimore, the fluoridation of a water supply has caused a 75% reduction in decay of permanent teeth among children who have drunk the water over a six-year period since birth. Surely this reduction in dental disease is a remarkable forward step in the improvement of general child health. Think of the benefit the present children will realize when they reach adulthood relatively free of preventable dental extractions, false teeth, bad appearance, infected gums and jaws, and all the other unfortunate results of unnecessary tooth decay."

The following is a statement from Mr. Ned C. Musser, Principal of Taneytown High School:

As long ago as 1952, classes in Taneytown High School were asking questions, such as, "Why doesn't Taneytown add a fluorine to its water supply?" The science files still contain the same pertinent information on the advantages of fluoride as a deterrent to tooth decay. All the scientific findings to date prove the importance of adding fluorides to a city's water supply. The American Medical Association and the American Dental Association advocate this addition.

If this simple additive can make the lives of our children both healthier and happier, we would be remiss in not providing it for them.

The following is a statement from Paul L. Roxin D. D. S.:

All the scientific evidence available today points to the success and subsequent reduction in tooth decay by drinking fluoridated water. We cannot afford not to avail our children of their beneficial public health measure. The rewards of drinking fluoridated water are to be found in clean, sound, and healthy teeth for generations to come.

The following is a statement from Mr. Frank O. Wargny, principal of Taneytown Elementary School:

The water supply of Baltimore City and the surrounding metropolitan area has been fluoridated for several years. Children of Taneytown should receive the same protection against tooth decay as afforded those living in the metropolitan area.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth;
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It was with thrills and chills that I sat in the Peabody Concert Hall last Thursday evening listening to the Baltimore Civic Opera Grand Opera Preview! The Hall was crowded to the last seat and I think to standing room as it was open to the public for free! It brought back many beautiful memories of the Philadelphia Opera House when I used to attend twice weekly having all the leading STARS! The audience was a most appreciative one for many curtain calls of those Opera singers. There were selections from "IL TROVATORE" "LA BOHEME" AND "ANDREA CHENIER" with IGOR CHICAGO conducting. The audience was really sorry when the end came so soon! It was a most delightful evening. Plus the "Cream" of Baltimore!

The Cruise down to Annapolis on Saturday had 212 aboard and it was as though it was a large privately owned yacht with a party. It was called, "Port Welcome" and everyone seemed to enjoy the trip plus the big and delicious boxed lunch which was prepared on board. The announcer explained every detail as to the trip which took three hours and as we neared Annapolis he continued to describe the buildings of the Naval Academy. I have not been there for six years and, no doubt it will be my last as since then my cousins have all passed on when I used to visit them once weekly. I love old Annapolis in fact I would enjoy living there which I have always said. There is something even to those old brick sidewalks that get under your skin and I think you know just what I mean. Of course, the homes again were all open for the Tour which was as interesting as ever. This year "The Pink House" was added and it was a precious affair. Mrs. Valentine being a delightful hostess. Much furniture has been added in those few years to the Hammond-Harwood House. This house is built in three sections of handsome salmon-colored brick typical of Maryland Clay and is considered by all authorities to be one of the finest examples of Georgian architecture in the United States. There is so much fine detail in the interior. Both legend and history are centered in this lovely house. It is said that Matthias Hammond built it for his intended bride but that he paid such ardent attention to its detail that she became jealous and refused to marry him. He remained a bachelor to the end of his days, devoting himself to affairs of the state. Lafayette visited here and it was a favorite meeting place of the planter society of Maryland. Through the years it has been lived in and loved by prominent Maryland families including the Harwoods who inherited it and who owned it for seventy-five years before it became a museum.

As we stepped off the boat there was the old familiar part of Annapolis where people sell fish just caught right there with many other trucks in line selling vegetables from nearby farms. The largest basket of (continued on page four)

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1960

THE KENNEDY MILLENNIUM

Now the electorate has heard everything.

Generous young Mr Kennedy, whose heart bleeds for everybody, who is going to raise the minimum wage to $1.25, repeal the state right-to-work laws, sanction the secondary boycott, make it easier to call strikes meet unemployment with lush Government boondoggles and let the US Treasury pay for:

More schools and bigger salaries for teachers.

Increased Federal share in public assistance programs.

Medical care for the aged and increased social security benefits.

Creating new industries, new jobs and retraining workers in depressed areas.

Vast expansion of hydro-electric generating plants, transmission lines and marketing co-ops for "low-cost" tax-free electricity.

Subsidies to guarantee high prices to farmers and subsidies to processors and distributors to give low prices to consumers.

And who will also curb inflation, now charges the Republican Administration with extravagance and says he is going to be economical!

"I believe in a balanced budget", he told fund-raisers in Indianapolis, "and an honest dollar—in the Federal Government doing only those tasks that cannot otherwise be done".

This latter remark has a startlingly Jeffersonian flavor to be issuing from the larynx of a dedicated disciple of the welfare state. It will be recalled that the greatest Democrat of them all pointed out long ago that the Government should do nothing that the people can do as well for themselves. Thus, it would seem Mr. Kennedy takes a very dim view either of history or the capabilities of his fellow man in this decadent age—or both.

The greatness of America was developed by individual struggle, by a competitive system of free enterprise; not by Government interference, but by being let alone. America's political strength flourished as a confederation of sovereign states, just as it must sicken and die as an economic dictatorship by Washington commissars, however soft-hearted they may be.

The Boston Boy charged "Republican rule" with a deficit of $18 billion and hooted at the Nixon claim that the Democratic promises of 1960 would cost a similar amount.

We can only assume that Mr. Kennedy will get his pork wholesale.—U. S. Press Association.

CORRESPONDENCE

We desire correspondence to reach our office on Wednesday, if at all possible. It will be necessary, therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Tuesday morning. Letters mailed on Wednesday may not reach us in time.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

Have you ever said something that the minute the words were spoken you wished that you had never uttered them? All of us have found ourselves in this pitfall at times but some people go thoughtlessly about their way day after day, saying whatever comes in their mind without thinking, and constantly making remarks which hurt the feelings of others. We all admire the person who seems to be able to always say the correct thing. This we call "tact". Everyone can acquire it if they are willing to work at it. The first rule is: "Think before you speak." For example, Betty brings to a group of girls that she has been asked by three boys to go to a college dance. Several of the girls can't go to the dance because no one has invited them. Dave shows his straight "A" report card to Bill without first finding out that Bill has failed two subjects. Mary constantly talks about her rich family and their possessions ignoring the fact that several of her friends are from families of moderate means. The tactless person can bring heartache to others and unhappiness to himself. We dare to say that people make more enemies by the things they say than by the things they do. If one wishes to make his own life run more smoothly he must think twice about the comments he makes. He must consider in advance what the effects of his word may be. The lack of tact can be fatal to the best of talents. However much ability a person may have, he cannot be fully effective if he is always offending others by thoughtless remarks. We all have certain friends who when we meet them, leave us with a warm glowing feeling because they always have something nice to say. On the other hand we all have acquaintances that we cross the street to avoid talking to for the simple reason that their casual remarks are full of acid and barbed innuendoes. A sharp tongue can be as fatal to its owner as deadly poison.

Washington, D. C. will become a "lost city" of historic buildings and monuments if some senators have their way. They want the national capital moved away from the East Coast to a point deep inside the country as a safety measure. They maintain that the present seat of government could be too easily destroyed by an enemy bomb. Right now we are wondering if any section of our country is safe from bombing.

In a speech before the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association Monday night at the Agriculture Center, Dr. Patrick Storey traced the progress of Tuberculosis from the age of the Pyramids in Egypt to the present time. One of the interesting things he pointed out was that at one period of history, particularly at the time the poets Shelly and Keats and the Bronte sisters lived, tuberculosis was not considered a sinister and dreaded disease as it is today. Because the people at that time did not know that it was caused by a specific germ or that it could be transmitted from one person to another, they surrounded tuberculosis with mystery and a certain amount of romanticism. In that period many families lost four or five children with the disease and that was one reason families had so many children. They had to, when half of them died before reaching maturity. One can easily see that we have come a long way in our time in conquering this insidious disease but this has only been brought about by the diligence of many people. Dr. Storey said that if the constant alertness was stopped just for five years the rise in tuberculosis would be alarming. The Tuberculosis Association all over Maryland are doing a tremendous public service to the citizens. They are constantly educating the people about tuberculosis, testing them in several ways to find the disease in its early stage and helping those who have contracted the disease. The public helps too by buying the Christmas Seals. So its another case of working together for the benefit of all. The "Kick Off" dinner was attended by forty persons including Board members and their friends. Miss Nancy Roelke sang a medley of songs from the "Sound of Music". She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Carleen Ritter. Rev. Robert Hiller of Westminster gave the invocation and the Rev. Albert Vaughn pronounced the benediction. The ladies from several Homemakers Clubs served a turkey dinner which met with unanimous approval by all present.

This week things have settled back to almost normal. The world series is over, with the Pirates winning making almost everyone happy and Mr. K went home, making everyone happy. Its too bad that when he departed that all our troubles couldn't depart with him. But that is not the case, but we are wondering just how many people realize this. When Mr. Krushchev was ranting and raving in the U. N. and we were wondering what Stewart Alsop wrote about him just two years ago. He said: "We know that Mr. K is an immensely able man, with extraordinary drive and energy and a born gambler. He is genuinely fascinated by the arts of war. His morality has nothing in common with our morality... that betrayal and sudden death are to him the commonplaces of life. In his lexicon there is no such thing as friendship. His view of the world outside his own is distorted by a doctrine which insists that his world must inevitably triumph over ours. We know enough of this small, smiling man to avoid the mistake so many of his rivals have made, the mistake of underestimating him. That mistake could be, in the most literal sense of the word, fatal." Unquote.

More parents are taking an active interest in what their sons and daughters are doing in college. Not too long ago parents were happy if their children remembered to write home if it only was a request for money. But higher education is also higher in price so Mom and Dad show up on the campus to see just what their money is accomplishing. Last Saturday 550 parents visited Western Maryland College for Parents Day which was the largest turnout for any event except commencement.

If you still believe that Mother Nature is never wasteful with her gifts, just stop and consider the hippopotamus, with a hide one and a half inches thick. And he doesn't have the slightest interest in politics. Before Nov. 8 rolls around we bet both Kennedy and Nixon will wish that they had one half as thick a hide as Mr. Hippo.

Autumn is approaching in her chariot of gold; She is driving out the heat of summer days.

She is showing all the latest tints which earth will wear this fall. Truly, it is astounding—such displays! All the folks who live in valleys and in lands where forests grow Welcome the return of autumn days. They bring peace and fireside dreaming when the earth is all aglow. And the tang of autumn mingles with the haze.

grapes I ever saw for the small price of 50 cents! (Concord).

On Sunday was the three Chartered bus trip of The Maryland Hobby Club to the little Mill Village of Waterford, Va. which is situated just about ten miles south of Leesburg where Author Godfrey has his farm. This was the Seventeenth Annual Homes Tour of that little village and it has much charm with those old houses some built in the 18th Century. It was founded by the Quakers who came down from Pennsylvania. It lies well back from the main highways and has never had railway or other public transportation. This has kept it insulated from the major changes which have affected similar towns during the past century. The houses are unchanged all down through the years. It is truly a sleepy country hamlet as there is small industry there. The population is four hundred with three doctors, one tanner, 2 housejoiners, 2 cabinet makers, 1 chairmaker, 1 boot and shoe manufacturer, 2 hatters, 1 painter and 1 tailor! If you take the trip be sure and take your lunch along for there was a miserable lunch for the price of $1.25 and that just about upset everyone of the guests.

Folks, if you have ever heard or have seen a young girl by the name of Virginia Rae Brown who left her home two years ago at the age of 14 and who has not been seen or heard of since please contact me immediately. If you read, this, Virginia dear—do contact your Mother immediately. She is grieving terribly and I have never seen so sad a face! Everything will be forgiven and forgotten if you just call or write to your Mother. She is still working in the same place. All she asks to know that you are safe! You may come to my home, dear child—there is nothing to fear. Your Mother told me what a lovely and dear girl you always have been.

Have a grand week end, Folks. Be careful when you drive. Soon the leaves will be turning yellow and it will be Thanksgiving again and Christmas will be upon us before we realize it. Until next week end, D. V. I am, Faithfully, squad. In many countries basketball is an outdoor sport. In the United States, however, it is an indoor sport.

YOUR OBSERVER.

HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Next is the Spring sports. The main spring sport is Track and Field. In track and field there are many events. There are many running events as well as field events. In the track events, sprints are a big athletic event. There are also many distance runs. In the sprints there are the 50 yard dash, 60 yard dash, 80 yard dash, 100 yard dash, and many others. In distance runs there are ¼ mile, 1 mile, 1½ mile run and many others. In field events there are the high jump, running broad jump, hop-step-and jump, pole vault, shot put, and discus throw. These are events which take a good physical condition, lots of skill, and lots of practice. These events are also used in the Olympics.

In the boys' Physical Education program there are other activities, such as apparatus which includes the high bar and ropes for stunts and climbing. We hope to add flying rings, trampoline and parallel bars. Another activity which junior high boys like is tumbling. Calisthenics and other exercises build up the boys' physical health. Individual sports like handball, archery, and Lacrosse are played occasionally.

These are some of the main ideas of physical education, but Physical Education also helped the boys in knowing how to take care of their bodies. It teaches them to make sure that they get enough rest, eat properly and stay in and all-around good physical condition. Everyone should try to take an interest in Physical Education in order to keep well informed on the subject. For certainly there is a sport for almost everyone, and everyone should be interested in his health and the means to maintain it.

The following seniors will go to Towson State Teachers College on Thursday, October 20: Emma Jane Formwalt, Jackie Myers, Norma Willet, Anita Jester, Carl Ebaugh. They will attend an open-house for Seniors.

The enrollment period for school accident insurance has been extended to the end of October. If any students still want this insurance, they should bring $1.50 to the TSS office promptly. Anyone wanting to enroll after the end of October will have to pay a much higher premium.

Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests were given Tuesday morning to Carl Ebaugh, Norma Willet, Emma Jean Formwalt, Jackie Myers, Anita Jester, Dave Hopkins, Diana Skiles, Kathy Jennings, Valerie Nusbbaum, Carol Hahn, James McCurley, Theron Clabaugh, Stuart Dom, Paul Andreas, Allen Shirk, Cherie Phillips, Susan Riffe, Dwight Copenhaver, James Koons, Faye Clingan, Kenneth Gilds, and John Kinchart.

The purpose of this test is primarily as an aid in the guidance of Juniors and Seniors toward College. In addition to its guidance value, the P.S.A.T. is required by a number of scholarship programs.

There will be open-house at Towson State Teachers College on Sunday, October 30, from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. for parents of high school juniors and seniors. All parents are cordially invited to attend.

On Wednesday afternoon the Taneystown Tigers won their soccer game with Sykesville by a score of 3-1. Mike Wildasin scored in the first period and Dwight Copenhaver scored in the third period.
