The speaker for the day was Dr. Andrew G. Truxel, who is the imme-course is most interesting to learn about.

As I registered, I noticed the many out of town visitors whose names were signed right there. Every Marylander should pay at least one visit to that home. What a grand treat for the school children in May! This distinguished plantation house has won itself a wide reputation by the beauty and balance of its Georgian lines. Although, the land was acquired by Dr. Charles Carroll of Annapolis in 1732 and the house begun later on in 1754, it was his son Charles Carroll Barrister who completed it and with his wife, Margaret Tilghman, made it a center of enlightened colonial living. While winters were spent in Annapolis, Mount Clare was their summer home where race horses were bred and the latest scientific farming and gardening were practised. Ten varieties of grass seed and even broccoli were imported from England. The portraits of the owners still grace the living room walls or in other words the Drawing room and these portraits were done by Charles Willson Peale. When strife increased with the British rulers, Charles Carroll played as important a role on the state scene as did his distant cousin, with the British rulers, Charles Carroll played as important a role on the state scene as did his distant cousin, Charles Carroll of Carrollton, on the national scene in Congress. To Mr. Charles Carroll Barrister is given the major credit for drawing up Maryland's Declaration of Rights and State Constitution. State Constitution.
It is the five shad in 1783, Mrs. Carroll lived on at Mount Clare, where her chief interests were her gardens and greenhouse from which she supplied George Washington with rare trees and plants for Mt. Vernon. Since the Carrolls had no surviving children, a nephew James Maccubbin inherited the place on the condition that he take the Carroll name. During his take the Carroll name. During his ownership the cornerstone of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was laid on the land donated by him, and the first railroad station, Mount Clare was built nearby. The preparty was built nearby. was built nearby. The property continued to remain in the family until the year of 1890. Many original pieces of furniture have been returned to grace the rooms again and to recall the elegance of the eighowners and since 1917 the house has been under the custody of the National Society of Colonial Dames of America in the State of Maryland.

Truly, the charm is right there.

Even the floors are the original—great wide boards and each room for parents with refreshments served at its conclusion. The program should be finished at about 9:00 o'clock and be painted and of course it is the painted an money that is lacking here. There should be many patriotic painters who would and should offer their services one day a week to restore even more beauty to this grand Colonial home. I could have remained there for hours, so interested was I and intend to return to that Carroll Mansion.

Will be seeing you next week D. V. Have a grand week-end. Always teach the children to take care of those old pieces for that is the way Antiques are born! Until then.

I remain, Faithfully, Your Observer.

GRASS ROOTS OPINIONS

BURLINGTON, WIS., . STAND-ARD-PRESS: "We're putting students in classes according to their ability'. This was a statement made by local Principal Frank Hanrath in a speech to Burlington Rotary. It's the kind of thing so many people have been advocating for years. It's the kind of thing that will keep us ahead of the Russians in education-for, the idea of trying to make the same thing of all children is ridiculousit can't be done.

"What we are trying to say is simple. Don't try to make college whiz kids out of all our students."

TULELAKE, CALIF., REPORT-ER: "Americans concerned with the maintenance of a strong competitive rail system-would do well to heed a warning sounded in recent news reports from England.

"The government there announced that debts of the British railroadswhich have been piling up steadily since nationalization in 1949-will be wiped out with the taxpaying public picking up the tab.

"To prevent the expensive results of government operation in Britain from happening here, it seems obvious that the American railroads must be freed from the costly burden of restrictive regulations and stifling labor practices from a bygone era" TOOELE CITY, UTAH, TRAN-SCRIPT: "It's all pure falsehood that the United States is the richest nation on earth. We can't even pay our day by day running expenses without borrowing money. We must soon come to common sense and realize that our resources are limited, and we have no reserves, and there are many, many things which we can't afford, and should not even attempt because of our financial and physical limitations"

GREAT FALLS, MONT., LEAD-ER: "No more logical argument could be given to teenagers contemplating quitting school than a report by the U.S. Employment Service. In the midst of a recession in which 5.5 million workers are unemployed, nearly 18,000 jobs went begging last month for lack of qualified applicants. They included engineers, social workers, draftsmen, skilled trades of all kinds, accountants, librarians, to name only a few".

CARLSBAD, N. M., CURRENT-ARGUS: "There have been complaints in the Soviet press about the fact that many proposed improvements never get off the drawing board because the time necessary to install them would cut into the required quotas of factories where quantity comes before quality. Low-paid workers also object to plant modernization because the time required cuts into their bonuses". MYRTLE CREEK, ORE., MAIL: "The extension of the 'helping hand' of state funds to those in difficulty not of their own choosing is certainly most praiseworthy. And we should not wish it otherwise for those who have suffered ill fortune. But it should be made neither so comfortable nor so continuous that the recipients should wish to wallow in it. Assistance in time of need is one thing. Continuous support of the lazy and the indigent is another. And those who deliberately prey upon the public coflers, one way or another, need to be discouraged"

CUERO, TEXAS, RECORD: "It must be hoped that, somehow, the small independent farmer, and business man, will be able to find a place in this country—a place where he can work and prosper and retain that independence and individuality that forms a priceless safeguard against regimentation, sameness and loss of individualism".

It's A Pearadise Spring Salad

Springtime is saladtime. For a lighthearted salad which will match the mood of the weather serve a refreshing combination of canned Bartlett pear halves and cottage cheese, accented with small fruits for color and flavor.

Canned pears and cottage cheese have long been a favorite among traditional salad combinations, but it is made as spring-like as the blossoming flowers with the perky colors of the small fruits added for variety in flavor. Change the accenting fruits for a hallmark of your own individuality.

Canned Bartlett pears are the synonym of flavor. They are picked at just the right stage of maturity, then permitted to ripen off the tree to a pale yellow. It is then the canneries catch the optimum of flavor and juiciness. By a special process, they are peeled and cored, ready to be placed into cans. A sugar syrup covers the pears for a delicate sweetness and to maintain the firm smooth texture.

Both cottage cheese and canned pears contain health giving minerals and vitamins and the cheese gives a generous protein lift to the menu.

Pearadise Spring Salad

6 canned Bartlett pears

1½ pounds cottage cheese

1 cup pineapple chunks 1 cup mandarin oranges

1/2 cup grapes
6 maraschino cherries
Salad greens
Fruit salad dressing

Line a long salad boat with greens. Arrange cottage cheese in the center of the bowl. In either end of the bowl put the canned pears. Combine the three remaining fruits and divide equally between the two ends and on top of the canned pear halves. Serve with a fruit salad dressing of your choice or add a bit of pineapple or maraschino syrup to mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

The Civil War Centennial commit-tee of Carroll County, under the lea-dership of Attorney Charles O. Fisher is making steady progress by implementing two projects which are now underway. Number one is recording Civil War happenings as remembered by the older citizens of Carroll. Mr. Paul Smith of WTTR will be glad to call at the home of any person who has a reminiscense of interest. He will be accompanied by a member of the Historical Society who will do the interviewing. The second project is the issuing of a plate which will depict places and persons who were prominent in the local engagement one hundred years ago. The plates will be ready for distribution early this summer and any one who wishes one should contact the His-torical Society and place their order so that the number of plates to be ordered can be estimated.

A biology teacher in one of the counties in Maryland has kicked up a storm by going too deeply into the sex life of birds and bees in his high school classes. He has been fired for teaching his students the facts of life. Many parents approved of his teachings and stood by him in the controversy. We are not acquainted with the true facts and so will refrain from commenting on the case except to say We cannot see how a teacher could teach his students more about sex than the television set does. But we believe a biology teacher can present the subject better and more factual. We have facts to prove that children of all ages are getting the wrong slant on sex from television. We are not opposed to sex education in the schools. In fact we think its better to teach it in the schools where the students get it from a biological standpoint than having them educated by the movies and television where its presented as romance and exploited to sell merchandise. The Carroll County Tuberculosis The Carroll County Tuberculosis Association held it's annual membership dinner Monday evening at Miller's Dining room situated on the Washington Road, Westminster. Dr. In Miss Betty Helwig, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Helwig was guest speaker for the Sunday School and Church Service of the Union-Edmund G. Beachman of Baltimore! town Church of God on Sunday morn-City was the guest speaker. He pointing. Miss Helwig is a return mised out in his address that the fight sionary of the Church of God, her against tuberculosis will be with us for a long time. Although new drugs are effective, the difficult thing is to first find the people with tuberculosis so that the treatment can be used. This can only be achieved by x-raying and skin testing a large portion of the population. But it been found that the very people that should be x-rayed are reluctant to visit the mobile unit. Either through fear or lack of knowledge they shun the examination. The biggest challenge the Tuberculosis Association has is educating the public that tuber-culosis is transmitted from person to person and that it can be arrested and cured. It is a disease that needs to be guarded against because no age group is immune from it. The very young, teenagers, middle-aged and the older citizens can all become victims of the tubercle-bacilli, the germ that causes tuberculosis. The fifty persons attending the dinner were impressed with what Dr. Beacham said as he was a serious and effective speaker. Mr. Edwin Schauck will head the local

Whether you are an expert dancer, or have two left feet—heed these famous words of Catherine, (or was it Arthur?), and join in the fun at the first Public Benefit Dance this Saturday night in St. Joseph's Hall, Frederick Street, sponsored by the Jaycees. Forget your worries and cares in this beneficial and relaxing recreation, while at the same time you are contributing to a worthy

Music will be furnished by "The Debonaires", popular dance orchestra who will be appearing in Taneytown for the first time. This is a five-man organization featuring trumpet, clarinet, saxophone, bass. piano, and vibraharp. Dancing will begin at 9 p. m.

Proceeds of this affair will go toward the many community activities carried on by the Junior Chamber, including the Teen-age Safe Driving Road-E-O and the Fishing Rodeo for the youngsters. Tables may be reserved by calling the chairman, Robert Boone, or Jaycee President, Harry Dougherty, Jr. Tickets are on sale now by any Jaycee at discount prices.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank friends, neighbors, and relatives for the lovely gifts, cards and visits while I was in the I also want to say many thanks to those who so willingly helped take care of my home and family. Sincerely,

MRS. FRED B. GARNER CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the Taneytown Volunteer Fire Company for their assistance in extinguishing a fire at my home.

MABEL V. SMITH. OTTO—In loving memory of my beloved mother, AMANDA C., who passed away May 2nd, 1949.

A loving mother so dear, so rare, The trials she went through, so few could bear, She never complained, she wasn't that kind, She was one of those mothers so hard to find, Her heart was the truest in all the wide world, Her love the best to recall, No one on earth can take her place, For she is still the dearest of all.

God saw the road was getting rough The hills were hard to climb, He gently closed her loving eyes And whispered "peace be thine", Her weary hours, her days of pain, Her weary nights are past. Her ever patient worn out frame Has found sweet rest at last.

What is home without a mother All things this world may send, But when I lost my darling mother, I lost my dearest friend. Loving daughter

MARION HOFFMAN.

Of Interest to Farmers

Spring is here and farm operations are gaining momentum. As farm work gets underway, farmers everywhere will begin the battle with the bugs and other pests.

Hay crops were hurt considerably last year by the alfalfa weevil and one of the heaviest outbreaks of aphids that has ever occurred. Associate County Agent, Robert L. Jones ciate County Agent, Robert L. Jones points out that chemicals should be points out that chemicals should be ordered now to assure an adequate supply for spraying at the proper time. Farmers should check individual fields carefully to determine when to spray. Alfalfa weevil can be controlled with 1½ pints of Malathian ahd 3 quarts Mathoxyclor mixed together in 25 gallons water per acre. Either of these chemicals alone will give satisfactory control of the weevil for one week. However, Malathion must be used for the aphid. thion must be used for the aphid.

Good insect control doesn't just happen; Mr. Jones stresses accurate application, proper materials and spraying when damage begins to show on most of the alfalfa tips as being most important.

Social Security

A new leaflet describing social security financial operations during fis-cal year 1960 is now available at the social security district offices in Baltimore, L. J. Gillespie, Field Representative of the Baltimore (North) District Office announced today.
Entitled "Facts About the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund and the Disability Insurance Trust Fund," the leaflet notes that as of the end of last June the total assets of the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund stood at $20.8 billion. On the same date, the assets of the Disability Insurance Trust Fund, which was set up in 1957 to finance payments to disabled workers, were $2.1 billion.

Also included in the new leaflet is background information on how social security insurance benefits are financed, Mr. Gillespie pointed out, noting that social security taxes and the interest on invested assets are designed to keep the programs on a self-supporting basis. "This new leaflet," he said, "may clear up some misunderstandings about the nature of the social security trust funds and how they are invested." It points out, for example, that these social security insurance trust funds differ from private insurance reserves and why the money not needed for the payment of current benefits is invested only in Federal securi-

INSURANCE

Lower car insurance rates are fore-seen by the president of the nation's largest auto insurance company, which dent toll march hand-in-hand, he said, and stepped-up traffic safety efforts in many large cities are beginning to pay off in lower insurance costs for many motorists. In a few areas where many motorists. In a rew areas where accident experience has worsened, rates may go up, but the overall picture is good, he said.

Better insurance company experience in the nation's courtrooms is also helping to lawar costs. Bust area also helping to lower costs. Rust credited a recent trend toward more reasonable jury awards to growing public awareness of the relationship between damage verdicts and insurance rates.

Intensified competition within the industry is bringing other benefits to the insurance buyer, Rust said. In 1960, State Farm and several other major auto insurers developed facilities to provide voluntary insurance for "extra hazardous" drivers, many of whom have traditionally sought surance protection in the assigned risk plans. New rating plans designed to pinpoint the most equitable rate for the individual motorist was another industry development of 1960.

Rust's comments were made in his year-end report on 1960 operations of State Farm Mutual.

Local agent for State Farm is Arthur W. Garvin, Jr. He said his company is now in its twentieth year as the nation's largest auto insurer. Earned premiums and memberships rose 8.6 per cent last year to a record $469,117,621. At the year's close, there were 6,161,433 policies in force, an increase of four percent over 1959, and State Farm policies covered 12 percent of the private passenger cars operating in the U.S.

Assets reached $639,558,318, or 12.6 Assets reached $639,558,318, or 12.6 percent over the 1959 figure. Surplus to protect policyholders was increased $50,613,018 to $206, 732,643.

For the eleventh straight year, claims paid were up, increasing 8.8 percent to $243,829,851. The company settled a record 2.157,390 claims in

For most of the year, hew business production was below the 1959 rate, Rust said, attributing it to the general slow-down in the conomy. eral slow-down in the economy. Applications matched year-earlier levels in September and have been steadily

A House Is To Live In

The every-day tasks of a housewife are pretty generally understood, ranging as they do from irritating inconvience to downright drudgery. The tasks themselves embody little that is new. They are traditional. But just as irksome to the modern homemaker as to her great grandmother.

In the light of these facts it hardly seems necessary to begin spelling out the duties to mother. Yet some experts with uncounted years of total ex-perience in this field have produced a booklet with a great deal of information on how to do these chores in compatibility with the homemaker's particular personality.

The booklet is entitled "A House Is To Live In", published by the Bissell Home Service Institute at Grand Rapids, Mich., and it gives quick recog-nition to the fact that although household chores are all the same, the women who perform are different and approach the job in different ways. They cover such situa-tions as establishment of an individual, personalized housekeeping situation. They do not call it schedule. How to clean a room, where to start and what to do next. How to practice "preventive housecleaning" in short stop creating a mess to tidy up. How to use occa-sional outside help to the best advantage. How to identify yourself as a compulsive cleaner, impulsive cleaner, clutter cleaner, casual cleaner and what to do

There is a list of tools to use and tactics to be employed. There are hints on the fabrics and floor coverings easiest to clean, seasonal chores not to be neglected. How to handle the small fry who create big cleaning problems.

Where to begin the cleaning day and how to proceed ultimately to the finish while reducing the chances of being overcome with total exhaustion in the process.

The average husband might find himself a little overawed by the abundance of information in this compact booklet. But the experts didn't overlook him either. He is a contributor to the general disarray of the household and there are expressions on how he some suggestions on how he can reduce the task of orderly maintenance. The booklet is available to all interested persons by writing to The Bissell Home Service Institute, Grand Rapids, Michigan,

Nourishing Sweet Touch

Vanilla Peach Custard

Looking for a new, all-occasion dessert that's nourishing as well as delicious? "Vanilla Peach Custard" provides a cool, sweet touch that's just right for light, springtime menus. Best of all, it can be baked ahead of time and refrigerated until you're ready for it. An easy blend of vanilla wafers, canned sliced peaches, eggs, sugar, salt, milk and vanilla is all it takes. Here's the recipe:

Vanilla Peach Custard

16 Sunshine Vanilla Wafers 1 No. 303 can sliced peaches, drained 4 eggs, beaten

½ teaspoon salt 2 cups milk 1 teaspoon vanilla

1/3 cup granulated sugar Arrange 10 vanilla wafers on bottom of a buttered 8" by 8" by 2" square baking dish. Lay sliced peaches on top, reserving 6 slices. Combine eggs, sugar, salt, milk and vanilla, blending well. Pour mixture over all. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., for 30 minutes or until custard is set in center. Cool; refrigerate. When ready to serve, decorate with reserved wafers and peaches. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Wisdom Divine

Lesson for April 30, 1961

OF ALL the strange features of the book of Job, one of the most puzzling to all students of the book is its ending. Let us pick out just one of the difficulties and try to get some light on it. It is in what God says about Job and his friends. The friends are condemned, Job is praised. On the face of it, this does not seem to make sense. For God says to the friends, "You have not spoken of me what is Foreman right, as my servant Job has." What makes that sound very odd is that throughout the drama the friends had never once criticized God, but on the contrary defended him. Job on the other hand complains about God over and over again. He complains because he was born, in the first place. He feels he has been unfairly treated, and he wants God to explain himself. He complains that God will not come out and talk to him like a man. How can it be that Job "speaks of God what is right" while his friends do not?

The Unanswered Question

To solve this difficulty, some students of this book declare that what God means about "speaking right" does not refer to the whole debate between Job and his friends, but only to Job's abject repentance (42:1-6). Job admits he was wrong to pry into the secrets of God, while his friends say not a word in the humility of worship. This may be part of the solution; but there may be another part of it which needs looking into.

For one thing, the great question of the book remains unanswered to the very last. Why do the righteous suffer? was the question, and in particular, Why does this good man Job suffer?

An important part, therefore, of the "wisdom that comes from God," consists in admitting that some questions, while not beyond God, are beyond us. Wisdom is not being able to answer all questions. Wisdom is knowing the difbetween questions which can, and questions which can't, be answered so we can understand

God Does Not Need Our Advice

Further, Job learns that wisdom does not consist in our getting so smart that we are equipped to offer God advice. Job had more than once, in debate with his friends, rather hinted that he could (if he were as mighty as God) arrange and run this universe better, at some points, than God arranges and runs it. But in Chap. 40 God says to him: "Shall a faultfinder contend with the Almighty?" and Job replies, "I am of small account . . . I lay my nand upon my mouth." And at the end he says "I despise myself, and repent . . ." Nobody has or ever has had or ever will have enough wisdom to be on an Advisory Committee for the Universe. God does not need idea-men, he has thought of all the good ideas there can be. When we pray, we are encouraged to make known our requests; but when a request becomes a command, we put ourselves into the position of advising God-complete fools!

Accepting God

"My eye sees Thee," Job says. This is the wisdom that comes from contact with the Almighty. Not, "My mind understands Thee." Wisdom that comes from God does not consist in charts and diagrams of God's mind so that we can explain all he does and maybe even think ahead of him. Wisdom that is divine, wisdom that bears the stamp of God, begins when we accept God as God. This means that we accept the fact that he is God. He is not responsible to us; he does not have to tell us why he does this or that. We are responsible to him, not he to us. Accepting God is not merely acknowledging his will to be supreme. It is falling in with his will, knowing that it is the will of supreme power and righteousness. If Job had been a Christian, he would have learned more than this. For a Christian accepts God as the "Father of our Lord Jesus Christ." And so he accepts God as Love. There is no higher wis-

LEARN AO KNOW GOD'S SON, HE IS THE REAL YOU OF EVERYONE, LIKE HIM TRY TO BE-

God needed a physical body in His Great plan So He made a body, and, Called it man; We are His Eyes, His mouth, ears, feet and hands; So, through us, He carves out all His plans.

The Real you'is wonderful, they say—
(Not the fellow we meet each day,)
God sends us all here in bodies of clay,
To learn to know Him, and, about His way.

Some think their body is them, even in this day; But, it is only an inanimate masterpiece of clay, God uses it daily His work to do;
And, He does it, they say, through the Real you.

So, the physical body, is not yet the man—
(It is called a house in God's plan;
In it, God trains us like Himself to be;
For, through us, He shall reign on the stars, we see.

God sent Jesus as a Baby to show you and me How He wants us to grow up to be;
The Scriptures, too, tell us, that we are His hands,
That, through us, He carries out all of His plans.

Not many know it, but it is a part of God's plan
To make a god and godees of every woman and man
For through Him God shall reign on the stars we see Through all the long years of Eternity.

All of this talk about a devil they say
Is fol'ddral talk, in this late day;
The devil is only a bad thought, some say;
Just as thoughts were called Angels in Peter's day.

The only angels who have ever appeared to man Were thoughts God sent to tell of His plan So, do not believe what men say— To teach us, God always finds a way.

When man is perfect he shall be
Like the Boy God sent to Galilee
God sent us all here in bodies of clay
To learn to know, how to do things His way. The Real you they tell us, is God's potential Son (That, they say, is the lineage of every one) God tells us all, through Him what to do; So, when the body is perfect, it is the Real you.

So, listen to God—(try like Jesus to be)— (God sent Him here to teach, you and me);
Remember, you and your body still are 2;
So, try to make it like the Real you.

That, they tell us, is why God made man—
(God needs a body to carry out His plan);
So, He named His creation man, they say;
Because He needed a body to do things His way.

Jesus knew well about God, you and me— That is why God sent Him to Galilee); He al so knew why God made the stars and sea— God said: "I made them inhabited to be?

There are still many things man never knew; But, here is one thing we know is true God gave us a body His work to do And He wants us to make it like you.

It is wonderful to know how Great God must be (He is the Life of everything we see!)
In the vegetable kingdom He is the seed,
From the Giant Oak to the tiniest weed.

The seed in the peach is Him said to be;
And the same is true of all the fruit, we see;
So, to find us all, they tell us, that is God's way—
Just so, He watches over us, day after day.

Even in the Ocean God workes the same way—
(He looks after the inhabitants of the deep they say)
Some of our most lucious viands come from Him they say So, God raises them there for you and me.

God also made the free for you and me—
(It is one of His greatest gifts to humanity)
When famine comes, and, land crops fail
It sees that hunger shall not prevail.

So, learn to know God, and, follow His plan
To make of yourself a perfect man
He sent Jesus to earth to show you and me
How He wants us to grow up to be.

If we only knew God, how different things would be; (He is really The Life of you and me)
We all come here, like Him, to learn to be For, through us, He shall reign in Eternity.

I may be wrong, but, something tells me God trains us here to live on the Stars we see This Earth is God's School and from here we go To one of the stars from here below.

Since the real you is mind—(like light said to be)
It would not take long to go to the Stars we see;
So, that is how I think things shall be
When we go from time to Eternity.

That there is only One God, the Scripture say, So to make us like Himself was the only way; Jesus, too, said, "The Father and I Are One".

So, in no other way is the Father like the Son. Jesus also knew why God made the Earth, you and me (That is why God sent Him to Galilee!)
So, let us all, like Him, try to be;
For, through us, God shall reign in Eternity.

twenty, only one to fight. As for pretty Janice Lawton, she had been so petted and spoiled that she expected everybody, Bill included, to Rock and Roll whenever she mentioned a number. But Bill, who had loved Janice ever since they were big enough to make mud-pie's together, was too proud and a little too stubborn to let her run his life.

Bill knew her main reason, although engaged, she had been seen with that well-to-do city fellow,

George Wallace, who had taken abode in the village awhile ago. The night of their break-up, the conversation went something like this:

"Janice, why are you so suddenly objecting to my work?"

"It is dangerous, for one thing. Beside I want to look forward to more than just being an aviator's wife."

"When we became engaged you knew I was an aviator. What brought on the sudden change?" "I - I suppose," Janice faltered "because lately I've been meeting successful people, like George Wallace. I've stepped into another world, and I must keep stepping." Bill took the cue. He stepped out of the picture.

Nevertheless, as the days passed, Janice hoped that Bill would make some sort of an overture for a reconciliation, but he remained as silent as a church mouse.

Three weeks from that fateful night, Bill was flying into port, the landing gear froze as he hit the runway, the plane swerved and fell on it's side. It didn't crack-up, nor was there any fire, but when they hauled Bill from the cabin his left leg was broken.

An hour later, upon receiving news of the accident, Janice rushed to her mother. "Mother," she sobbed, "I've just got to go to Bill."

"Very well, dear," replied her mother. "But take into consideration; Mr. Wallace may not ap-"Then he can disapprove," said Janice briskly. "No man is going to run my life."

When she arrived at the hospital, a nurse indicated the white bed on which Bill was half asleep, his leg hoisted and held in position by weights. She weaved her way around other white beds and stood over

"Ha!" he exclaimed, breathing laboriously. "Strange what a fellow see's when delirious."

Janice sobbingly, leaned over and kissed his lips.
"Gee-ma-nettie," he muttered, a smile was in the making. "That seemed real." "Darling," quavered Janice. "It was real, really real." "Then unreal another one." The smile had reached it's peak. Janice obeyed, joyfully. "Oh, Bill, I didn't think I wanted to marry a flyer, but a little bird kept telling me I couldn't love anybody but you." "That same little bird has been humming and jet-diving around my ears and heart, too, Listen, honey, shut off the water works and kiss me again."

Again Janice submitted to authority.

"Soon as they unwrap this left hind leg of mine we'll be married. Will I still be flying?"

"Always," blurted Janice. "I've wanted to be the wife of an avia-

Mr. Fuss then introduced as speak-Mr. Fuss then introduced as speaker the Rev. Glenn Flinchbaugh, pastor of Redeemers' United Church of Christ in Littlestown, whose topic was "Two Guides in Life." The one who gave us these guides was Jesus of Nazareth, and the first might be summarized in the expression, "Mind your own business". Citing the quotation from Matthew, "And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy holdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?", he reminded his bearers of the old Greek motto, "Know thyself," of how the priest and the Levite were minding their own business when they ignored the man who had fallen among thieves, of the rich man who had been able comfortably to enjoy appalling military waste". Now, of had been able comfortably to enjoy appalling military waste". Now, of his luxury while Lazarus nearly starved, or of us when we come home waste in an operation the size of the stemmed from his temple statement to our attention. Here are a few to his mother, "Wist ye not that I must be about my father's business?"

We must be objective as well as subwe must be about my father's business?"
We must be objective as well as subjective. There is a difference between poking your nose into and putting your heart into other people's business. Some people have done more than mind their own business; they have minded the Lord's business as well. It is like the former Buddhist telling of the superiority of Christianity for this very quality of being objective rather than merely passive. "A religion that does not begin with the individual is hardly a religion," Rev. Flinchbaugh said, "but one that ends there falls short." Similarly, good Lions are trying to take care of others' business. It is analogous to the old Jewish proverb, "God could not be everywhere, so he made mothers." "You Lions," he concluded, "scattered everywhere over the face of the globe, can truly be about your father's business." There is no greater calling.

The next program of Taneytown Lions will be in charge of Raymond J. Perry, for the meeting of May 9, "City government night."
