A remarkable movie entitled "Oper-ation Abolition" was shown to members of Taneytown Lions Club and visiting delegations from Mt. Airy and New Windsor last Tuesday evening New Windsor last Tuesday being in in Taney Inn, the program being in Stanley W. charge of Lion tamer Stanley W. King in observance of Veterans Day. First vice-president Lewis R. Baer presided and opened the meeting in the traditional manner, leading in the singing of the National Anthem and the pledge to the flag, and calling and the piedge to the mag, and the invo-cation. Lion King chose several pleas-ing songs for the period of group singing, Harry I. Reindollar playing the piano accompaniment. The visi-tors were recognized, and Robert Ren-berg introduced his colloagues from shaw introduced his colleagues from New Windsor, Andrew J. Hobbs and Gilbert D. Martin, while Francis Crawford, Mt. Airy, presented fellow Lions Dr. Caldwell and Norman Etz-

The movie shown by program chairman King was a shorter version of the one seen the night before at the Taneytown high school P.T.A. meeting, a documentary on the hear-ings held by the House Un-American Activities Committee in the San Fran-cisco Court House May 12-14, 1960. It revealed the sordid performance of the Communist-inspired students, the lack of cooperation, interference, and actual rioting which it was the Com-munist Party's tactic to incite and then use for propaganda purposes in their own red press. The purpose of the hearings, as explained by Rep. Francis E. Walter, was to gather in-formation as to possible subversive in-filtration among students in the San Francisco area. By the time the publi-cly announced hearings were under The movie shown by program cly announced hearings were under way, the mob psychology played upon by the red agents who were able to make the students their dupes, made a mockery of the oft heard statement that "It can't happen here." What that "It can't happen here." What happened, of course, was that they were in effect refusing the right of free speech, which they professed to regard so highly, to duly constituted agencies of the Government of the United States. A claque and free speech are seen to be mutually exclusive.

Homer Y. Myers then showed an artist's conception of the proposed Community Activities Building, explaining its location, plan, and some-thing of the effort which has been ex-pended under the leadership of Lions mmediate past-president Glenn O. Reever, who has been acting as Chair-man of representatives from 17 different civic organizations in the city. A constitution and by-laws have now been adopted by them, and it is sought to get "The Activities Building Com-mittee of Taneytown" on its feet financially by the participation of voting delegates from each organization who will derive their power to vote from an initial fee of $200 each to be contributed at the charter meeting Monday, November 27, in the Taneytown Firemen's Hall. In fact, Taneytown Lions Club had this on their Executive Board's agenda at its Potomac Edison Building session following the regular meeting of the club. John Reever of the Taneytown Jaycees was next granted the floor to in-troduce their "community attitude troduce their survey" which they are conducting among all organizations and later will extend to all citizens of Taneytown. It was an extensive questionnaire of some forty questions, some rating the quality of present com-munity, assets, others calling for an expression of opinion on current civic and economic questions, still others requesting criticisms of or constructive suggestions for a community betterment program. After the meeting President John

Scout News

Although meetings outdoors con-tinued to center at Natural Dam until the first week in October, that of September 21 was the last during which swimming was a part of the program there. September saw a theme series based upon nature lore, two of them dealing with leaf spec-imens and tree identification, in spel-imens and tree identification, in spei-ling bee fashion, after going out and gathering the leaves. Then two were devoted to a wide game of stalking parties consisting of two patrols each. The first was so highly successful— aided by a camouflaging moonlight and its novelty—that those who mis-and its monted a repetition the week and its novelty—that those who mis-sed it wanted a repetition the week after. October 5th was the most re-warding session on star study that this troop has ever experienced in its 24-year history. With the aid of star maps and the various regular hand-books, patrols first figured out what they wanted to see and then located they wanted to see and then located the star groupings in the heavens be-hind the old creamery buildings near the Scout hall and in the adjacent field. Some 15 were identified by one patrol, the Foxes, under the leader-ship of Stuart Dom and Ralph Hoff-

Bird recognition was judged the week after by means of the old Arm and Hammer Soda cards and National and Hammer Soda cards and National Wildlife Federation reproductions. At this meeting also the troop tried out a brand new game, Finnish handball, a product of the Program quarterly published by the National council, Boy Scouts of America. This was unusually well received and has since been repeated. With October 19 the subject of Morse code was tackled, but not without one last nature fling—in the form of leaf spatter prints made at Scoutmeeting during patrol sessions under the direction of each patrol leader. The Flaming arrows (Robert in the direction of the start of Shaffer, leader) were deemed best in this field, but all four patrols were close in their execution of this pro-ject. "Touch" was played to set the stage for a similar game employing Morse latters, and the Raccoons cap-tained that evening by Charles Ma-son, assistant patrol leader, were easy winners. In Morse "Go Down" and Morse word relay, however, the Foxes won the Morse and placeton but won the Morse code placque, but lost it the next week when Mason's Raccoons, and without his help (since he directed the theme) had a perfect message consisting of six multiple word tree names. When Quartermaster Philip Martin varied the International Morse theme pattern last week by starting a mes-sage from the scoutmaster to one patrol, and from the latter to one pa-trols in succession, his Foxes were tied by the Panthers (Samuel Bower, patrol loader) patrol leader) and so share possession of the plaque until another wins it. Assistant scoutmaster Larry E. Six closed this meeting by having each person name a different knot-the task was hard by the time it got around to the tail end.

Special Highlights

For members of the Green-Bar leaders council only. there was an overnighter in The Sportsmen's cabin at Natural Dam for the entire weekend of October 20, during which future program plans were outlined that they figured would make the troop's winter activities of greatest attraction to all members. The first highlight was carried out last Sunday afternoon when, through the courtesy of George Abrecht and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Abrecht, Sr., a rifle target shoot was staged on the nomemade range to which they have on several occasions invited the Scouts or Explorers of Troop 348. While this activity was designed for older boys, several younger ones also participa-ted. Highest individual score and best average was preformed by Shaffer second highest score was that of James Frock; second highest aver-age was held by Dom, closely follow-ed by Frock, Thomas West, and Ron-

Reading so much about "Breakfast at Tiffaney's" with Audrey Hepburn, I walked in to see the show. I thought it was going to be a charming affair right from the beginning as it shows this actress eating breakfast as the this actress eating breakfast as the curtains parted down at "The Towne Theatre". She is returning home beautifully gowned with a huge black picture hat. She stard's in front of this very store in New York City and opens up a paper bag taking out a paper cup, flips the lid and reaches in for the breakfast bun! She is drink-ing the milk and eating that bun! It was New York all right but not a vehicle in sight! She consumed it all vehicle in sight! She consumed it all and then to her apartment. Over nine million lives have been saved since the first Christmas Seal was used, but the savings of lives is not enough," declated Mrs. Smith. 'We must see to it that every family is spared the suffering and tragedy

"We must expand our efforts to find all the unknown cases of TB luring in this community; increase our efforts to help ex-TB patients get back on their feet and stay there; extend our educational program so that people of all ages learn how to protect themselves from TB; and we must put more money into medical research to find better ways of fighting TB, she added.

ald Martin in that order. The consensus was to repeat this activity soon, but the next item on the schedule is an archery shoot November 19, with a Sunday afternoon hike set for December 3.

Advancement

Patrol leader Bower was advanced to Star scout rank at a Board of review conducted by Troop committee chairman Robert F. Wantz last Tuesday. Bower also has been the only one completing merit badges in recent weeks, namely the subjects of Athletics and Firemanship. This will con-tribute greatly to the Panther score in the current inter-patrol contest, ir which they now stand second at 150 points to the Foxes' 174. This contest continues until December 31, and in past years the prize has often been a trip to see an ice hockey game at Hershey Sports Arena.

Recruiting

The troop's roster is expected to be increased by the enrollment shortly of five new members on the completion of their Tenderfoot tests David Baumgardner, Gary Eckard, Richard Eckard, Kenneth Merriken, and Leroy Smeak. There is room for more, and the troop feels its program is attractive and worthwhile enough to command a larger membership. Green-bar leaders hope to make it important enough that none will wish to miss a single meeting.

The charter review for sending in registration papers for the troop year will be conducted by council officials with the Troop committee and senior leaders at the Legion Home on Tuesday, November 21. The scoutmaster will report on the past year's activi- | public. ties and achievements, and goals for 1962 will be set. New leadership is also vital need.

NOT A PRETTY PICTURE

The Federal Government spends $18,000 a minute. That works out to more than $1 million an hour, $26 million a day, and $3 billion every 10 days.

Last year the interest on the national debt alone was $9.5 billion. It will be higher this year, as the debt limit has been increased.

This is the result of spending money we don't have. We are simply passing the bill on to future generations, which is about as sorry a legacy as anyone can think of. And with it we have been creating a welfare state which, if the current trend keeps on going, will handcuff their freedoms even as it drains their pocketbooks. It's not a pretty picture.

FARM - CITY WEEK

November 17-23 will mark the seventh annual observance of Farm-City Week-an observance which is held throughout this country and Canada, and has been arousing success by any standard. Last year, for instance, more than 10,000 communities in the two countries participated. This year the number may be still larger.

The purpose of Farm-City Week is stated in these words: "To bring about better understanding between rural and urban peoples; to increase the knowledge and appreciation of each for the American (Canadian) way of life; and to recognize that Thanksgiving Day symbolizes America's awareness of, and gratefulness for the bounty of nature and the strength of her man-made institutions." That is a large order indeed, and to fulfill it requires large thinking, planning and organization. Farm-City Week has these in abundance. Kiwanis International is the coordinating agency and hence the prime mover. Working with Kiwanis is a National Farm-City Committee which reads like a Who's Who of American business, industry, agriculture, the professions, trade, church, youth and service groups, educational institutions, government agencies, publishers and broadcasters. There are some 150 such organizations on the Committee, and all will play a role in making the week-long observance a success for the seventh time. On the national level, a number of what are known as "high visibility" projects will be staged. These will bring the week's theme home through the press, broadcasts, magazines and so on. For instance, one year a reenactment of the first Thanksgiving dinner was held at Plymouth, Massachusetts, followed immediately by a modern Thanksgiving dinner showing the bounty of America's farms, ranches and fisheries. This event received wide publicity. This year a new and colorful series of dramatizations of the Farm-City Week idea will take place throughout the country, consisting of pilgrimages by youngsters to selected historical sites and museums. The young fry will be attired in appropriate costumes, and will arrive at their destinations in vehicles ranging from oxcarts to 1961 cars. At the same time, observances will be primarily local, rather than national, in character. The heavy em- prevails in Washington that, if you phasis, for the best of reasons, is on the grassroots. The activities make a disappear. long list, and cover a wide range. Farms will be toured by businessmen, handing out the social benefits, taxing and rural residents will tour factories. some to poverty and making all the There will be joint tours of agricul- people equal even though some are tural areas, processing plants and more willing to work than others, are cities. programs will include tableaux pic turing "a day in the life of a farm." City people will actually spend a day on a farm, while country people spend a day in the city. Church services will be devoted to the farm-city interdependence theme. Newspaper columns, editorial pages, display advertising and radio and TV broadcasts will be devoted to the Week and its significance.

So it goes. In the words of President Christ L. Christensen of the National 4-H Service Committee "Farm-City Week is an activity which has caught the imagination of farm, business, governmental and lay leaders alike. The necessity of closing the breach in understanding between the rural and urban segments of the American economy is a very real one. Farm-City Week has taken the lead ... " And President Charles B. Shuman of the American Farm Bureau Federation says: "Farmer-Businessmen meetings and conferences, the working together on varous projects and activities-all these help to bring about a better understanding of our mutual obligations in maintaining our private competitive enterprise system and the American vay of life."

From these properties will come some $300 million in local property taxes this year to support counties, cities, school districts and other local government. Farmers who are belated with their corn harvest and Fall work are re doubling their efforts to get things in ship shape for an early winter. The first skift of snow fell on Tuesday evening.

George Sauble sold a cow last week for $85.00 This is a pretty fine price, but it was a fine animal.

With 102 farmers advertising in our last issue against hunting it would seem that the sentiment of farmers in this section is pretty nearly unanimous against the sport. A regular meeting of the Board of School Commissioners for Carroll County was held on Monday, Nov. 13 County was held on Monday, NoV. 13; all the Commissioners were present. A delegation from the patrons of Franklin School, in Middleburg Dis-trict came before the Board, and requested that Franklin School be reopened. This school was opened during the Fall term, but the number of pupils on roll and in attendance was below the required number for running a public school, and the running a public school, and the school was closed. The petitioners state that there are enough pupils to meet the requirement and they promise to see to the enrollment and attendance of these pupils. The mat-ter was placed in the hands of Commissioner Levi D. Reid who has charge of the District.

A: No. Outside of the fact that a good dye job requires professional handling and constant care, there are more practical ways of adding color to your natural scheme. Any thing too drastic or artificial will only take away that wonderfully young fresh look that makes a teen-ager so attractive.

However, Mr. Beaver reports that the greatest weakness in the campaign in Carroll County has been failure on the part of local business and industry to utilize the payroll deduction plan among their employees. The only other area where the plan was successfully used was among the pub-lic school employees where a per capita gift of $5.00 was reported. This figure however, compares with a $7.52 per capita gift among public school employees in other counties represented in the campaign. Residential solicitation will continue in most areas of the county. Visiting "The Senior Citizens Visiting "The Senior Citizens' HOBBY SHOW sponsored by The Junior League of Baltimore Inc. at the University Baptist Church on North Charles Street was most interesting and all articles were displayed beautifully. There were two paint-ings which were the most beauti-ful I have ever seen. One by a Mrs. Herbert Dove of a Georgia scene of a home with a Court. It was truly a magnificient piece of work and a large bunch of yellow Chrysanthemums that were so lifelike to each petal that one thought they could reach over the table and pick a Chrysanthemum right from that vase! The exhibitors seemed to be so proud and happy The Show was held for four days and here was a talent program of Pianists, Barbershop Choruses, Band Mandolin selections and Show Tunes There also was a Preview Party with Sunday (Totenfest). At this time we a number of speakers. This is the third year of this Show and I do hope they keep it up for it does much for those Folks.

Hope you did not miss "The Gay 20's" Show of Lawrence Welk on Sat-urday night as that topped all his shows with plenty of vim, vigor, and vitality-not a dull second! (And I wrote just that to him).

Winners To Receive Awards At High School Assembly

Robert "Doc" Miller, Westminster High School senior, has been adjudged the first place winner in the fourth annual Carroll County Teen - Age Writing Contest, held Oct. 21 in Westminster High School.

Second place honors went to Marilu Wood, Westminster High junior. Contest Chairman Charles Mooshian announced the awards recently.

Miller, who won first place in the county contest and second place in the Maryland contest in 1960, will receive a $50 bond and a chance at $125 in state prizes. State awards will be announced Nov. 10. The $50 U. S. Savings Bond will be given by Willow Farms Dairy, Inc. as part of its community service program.

Miss Wood as runner-up will receive seven silver dollars donated by Editor Mooshian, one for each of his seven children.

The awards will be presented to Miss Wood and Mr. Miller at an as-sembly program to be held in Westminster High School sometime in November.

What My Newspaper Means To Me! The subject of the contest was "What My Newspaper Means To Me" and was not known by the contestants until the time of the contest Oct. 21. The papers thus written were both original and spontaneous, Mooshian said.

Sponsor of the statewide contest is the Maryland Press Association. Carroll County newspapers sponsoring the county contest are Carroll County Times, Democratic Advocate, Taneytown Carroll Record, Mt. Airy Community Reporter, Union Bridge Pilot, and the Sykesville Herald.

Miller's essay is printed in this is-sue. Miss Woods' winning paper will be published in next week's edition.

P. T. A. MEETING

The Parent-Teacher Association of Taneytown Jr.-Sr. High School held its regular monthly meeting on Mon-day evening, November 13, in the high school auditorium. Frank Dunham, President of the group, presided. Both the secretary and treasurer gave their reports. Mr. Musser, principal of the school, gave a few remarks inclu-ding the fact that T.H.S. had the highest percentage of school attendance in Carroll County during the month of October.

Mr. Dunham then introduced Neal Powell, president of the City Council, who presented to the group the outcome of the meeting of the Citizens Committee with the Board of Education in Westminster on Tuesday, November 7th. This was in regard to the proposed consolidation of Taney-town High School with Francis Scott Key School, and the stand which this committee is taking against this proposed consolidation. The group then saw the movie "Op-eration Abolition", which had to do with Communist riots in San Francisco in 1952. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

One to two weeks delivery!

Mrs. Marbury L. Councell recently kept a diary for us, of all the telephone calls her family made over a two-week period.

The purpose: to see how much time, traveling and money their telephone saves them.

At the end of the two weeks, this is what Mrs. Councell estimated she saved, in money-$21.43. Also she saved 192 miles of traveling around, plus 18 hours of working time. And to Mrs. Councell, the busy mother of four young children, those "extra" eighteen hours probably were the most important.

If you kept a telephone diary, chances are your totals would be different. But one thing is almost certain-you'd find, too, that your telephone does far more for you .:. than the small amount it costs.

Self-Control Lesson for November 19, 1961

YOUNG man was about to be A dismissed from college, not for any particular rule that he had broken, but for general worthlessness. His mother could not understand it. She wrote letters, she sent telegrams, she tied the dean up in her logues. So finally the dean invited her up for a conference with all concerned. There they all sat, the boy himself and his mother several of his teach-telephone mono-

Dr. Foreman ers, the cream of his fraternity brothers, the athletic coach, even the president of the college. Everybody told about what they had done for the boy, how they had tried to urge him on, stimulate his ambition, see that he studied, and so forth. Everybody seemed to be steamed up over the case except the boy himself, who sat through it all like a lump of putty. Finally the president had to ask him: "Well, you have heard what every one else has done. Isn't it about time you did something for yourself?"

Imperatives

That is a true story, but it is also a parable of the Christian life. God will not do everything for you. He does a great deal, He has gone to infinite pains for your benefit. His Spirit comes to make a home in you. Yet the Holy Spirit will never do for you what you might do for yourself,-the Holy Spirit is not a substitute for your own will-power. The New Testa-ment is filled with joyful testimony to what God has done for as, but it also very often gives us commands. The Holy Spirit will no more take our tests for us than that poor indulgent mother could pass her shiftless son's examinations for him. "Make every effort," Peter says (2 Peter 1:5) to build up all the elements of a strong Christian character.

Self-Control Needed

No part of the New Testament suffers more from awkward expressions in the 1611 translation (the "King James") than this great passage in 2 Peter. Among other things, one of the key-words is tucked out of sight by a wrong translation. In verse six it is not "temperance" Peter means; the Greek word means literally selfPUBLIC SALE control, a stronger word by far than temperance. It means holding yourself in, not living like a child that says and does whatever suits him at the moment. It means not getting angry when you feel anger (if you catch the difference). It means keeping on with a job if it has to be done, no matter whether you feel like it. or not. It means, in short, not letting yourself get away from your-self. A car that goes "out of control" cannot be steered. A life out of control is not going to listen to reason, there is no steering it. A life of faith, virtue and knowledge would be a good life, would it not? Yes, but Saint Peter sees something else needed. Faith, virtue and knowledge need to be supplemented by self-control. A life without this is like a fine car without a driver.

Completion On the other hand, in this description of the ideal Christian life, the last word is not self-control. We may have met people who were long on self-control but short on influence,' because they were so intent (so to speak) on holding themselves in, holding themselves down, that they forgot to shine. Steadfastness (dogged persistence), godliness (Peter's word means reverence, a sense of the Presence of God), brotherly affection and love, all are needed to complete self-control. The good life, you see, is not one single good quality off by itself. People will pick out some one's virtue and they will rate other people as "good" or "bad" de-pending on how they stack up against this one single yardstick of comparison. Well, history is filled with warnings at this point. Don't rate somebody high just because he has one outstanding good trait. The emperor Nero was generous with his friends and he loved music. Genghis Khan, who laid his world waste, was a man who knew no fear. Adolf Hitler was (by intention, many think) a patriotic man. Stalin was very persistent. Satan himself is an untiring worker. One virtue alone is like a lone cornstalk in a big field. 10 (Based on outlines copyrighted by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. What My Newspaper Means To Me!

by Robert "Doc" Miller (Senior, Westminster High School)

What does my newspaper mean to me?

A source of information on what is happening around me, an opinion clearly set forth on controversial isa bit of entertainment to sues, brighten up my day, a place where ad-vertisers present their wares for my approval; my newspaper means all these things to me.

I depend on my newspaper to in-form me in detail on what is happening in the world, the nation, and in my community. I know that my newspa-per will present all the facts on both sides of the issue in a clear, unbiased way so that I may easily inter-pret them. Facts alone are useless; a person must put them to work in his

He must interpret them and learn a lesson from them if he is to benefit at all.

My newspaper will tell me what my friends and neighbors are doing and will keep me informed on what is happening in my community. I will be informed of all municipal machi-nations, of all community service pro-jects, of all social affairs. I will also be given a chance, through advance knowledge, to participate in all of these affairs.

In the editorials, my newspaper will present, for my approval or rejection, an opinion on current events. A person without opinion is like a car without a driver; he has nothing to direct his thoughts and actions, nothing with which he can control the affairs that affect him.

A citizen without opinion is unable to intelligently cast his ballot in an

CARROLL COUNTY REPUBLICAN MEETING TO FEATURE SENATORS BEALL AND BUTLER AND FORMER GOV. McKELDIN

A mass dinner meeting of the Car-roll County Republicans is being plan-ned for Thursday evening, November 16 at the Carroll County Agricultural Center in Westminster at 6:30 p.m. This affair will be held under the joint auspices of the Carroll County Republican Club and the Carroll County State Central Committee. John Marshall Butler is the senior Senator from Maryland, having ser-ved the Free State in his current ca-pacity since 1950. Theodore R. McKeldin served as Governor of Maryland from 1950 to 1958, a position toward which he is casting covetous eyes again. Mr. Mc. Kelden is nationally remembered as the accomplished orator who put the name of Dwight D. Eisenhower into nomination at the Republican Convention in 1952.

Fife Symington and George Arrowsmith, candidates for Congress from the Second District, Newton Steers, announced candidate for Congressman-at-large, and other notables in Maryland Republican Circles are expected to attend.
