December 11, 1961
Board of Education
Carroll County, Maryland
Dear Sirs:

Mr. Allen A. Resnick has asked me if I would write a statement concerning the effect of a high school size on the quality of education. It has until recently been commonly assumed that larger high schools offered a better quality of education than do small ones. This opinion has been based upon the fact that larger schools make possible more specialized courses, more specialized teachers, and a wider range of equipment. James Conant in a recent book about high schools, restates this opinion, for these reasons.

Recently this opinion has been thrown into serious question. Several facts have led to this:

1. A study carried out in 1956-1957 by the Connecticut Citizens for the Public Schools which measured achievement in the tenth grade in 51 towns in Connecticut showed no correlation between size of schools and achievement of pupil, when other factors such as IQ level were held constant.

2. Two studies of the quality of colleges as measured by the achievement of their graduates, came out with surprising results about the size of a college and its quality (Origins of American Scientists (R. H. Knapp and Goodrich, and The Younger American Scholar: His Collegiate Origin, by Knapp and Greenbaum). The colleges that showed highest indices of productivity were about ten very small colleges, under one thousand in size. "Prestige" colleges like Harvard or Princeton, and larger universities, with extensive laboratory facilities, ranked much lower. This result was surprising to the authors, and led them to further investigation of these highly productive colleges. Their conclusion was that the close personal interest that a faculty member might take in a student at a small college stimulates that student to further effort. Such a relationship was not possible at a large college or university.

3. I have recently completed research on ten high schools in Illinois (ranging in size from 150 to 2,000) to determine the effects of these schools on the student within them. My results (published in 1961 by the United States Office of Education in a monograph titled Social Climates in High Schools and in a book by Crowley-Collier, titled The Adolescent Society) give no support to the belief

TANEYTOWN LOSES ROUND ONE

Fight for High School will Continue

At the December 12th meeting of the Carroll County Board of Education the Board, after hearing additional testimony, by letter, reaffirmed their September action by a vote of 4 to 1 with Mr. Merwyn Fuss casting the dissenting vote. This action was, of course, the decision to move Taneytown Sr. High School to Francis Scott Key School effective September 1962.

On November 7th a Taneytown Citizens Committee represented by Mr. Alleck A. Resnick, Baltimore Attorney, presented their case for the retention of Taneytown Sr. High School. The case was built around the following points: 1. History of school; 2. Main part of social and cultural life of Taneytown; 3. Taneytown High School physical plant is adequate for at least five more years; 4. Expenditure of $100,000.00 during last two years; 5. Francis Scott Key was not built with Taneytown in mind; 6. Promises to community; 7. April resolution of the Board of Education; 8. Strong sentiments to keep Taneytown High School; 9. Distance of travel; 10. Condition of Roads; 11. Curb on extra-curricular activities; 12. The effect on the commercial and industrial growth of Taneytown.

The only rebuttal to these many arguments was that the youngsters of Taneytown would obtain a better education at a larger, more comprehensive school. This conclusion was apparently based on the position taken by Dr. James Conant.

(As an aside I feel it only fair to report to the citizenry, that three of the board members engaged themselves in filling out stubs for some lottery while Mr. Resnick was presenting his case. I feel quite sure the money was for a worthy cause but how discourteous can you get. Further, would this attitude indicate to you that these people were of an open mind — something it seems to me should be the first requisite of a School Board Member)

To counter the claim that our students are not getting a good education at Taneytown High, that they have trouble adjusting socially and do not do well in college many hours were spent obtaining evidence supporting the following information:

During the past 10 to 15 years five students from Taneytown High School enrolled at Hood and five graduated, ten enrolled at Gettysburg and eight graduated, twenty enrolled at Western Maryland College and seventeen graduated or are still enrolled. This speaks for itself.

In addition a letter from Dr. James S. Coleman, Head of the Department of Social Relations at Johns Hopkins University and author of a recent book entitled "Adolescent Society" was written to the School Board. This letter, which should prove our point that a large school is not better than a small school beyond any doubt, is reproduced here for your perusal:

that a large high school offered a better education. One of the two schools where the students were most motivated to learn was the second smallest, a school with 350 students in grades 9-12, and was far more important than size of these schools was a kind of attitude of learning that existed, and a positive attitude developed as often in the small school as in the large ones.

4. A number of large high schools, concerned about the impersonality of education in a large school, and the fact that a child can easily get "lost" in a large school, have attempted ways of breaking themselves into smaller units. Thus, there is a development of recognition that large size can have bad effects particularly on students who are not outstanding.

On the basis of the present evidence, my opinion is that both the best schools and the worse schools are the smallest ones. The large schools are neither as poor as the worse small schools, nor as good as the best ones. Beyond this, the evidence indicates that specialized teachers are not nearly so important as are more intangible matters; the kind of relationship that exists between teacher and student; and the kind of "spirit" that a school has. This does not at all indicate what the optimum size of a high school is. All that can be said is that the evidence is not yet in, and the preliminary findings cited above do not indicate that large schools are superior to small ones.

James S. Coleman
Chairman

It is most regrettable that a group of non-professionals with closed minds, and glib, autonomous powers, can determine, against the will of the people, where and how their children will be educated. The school board has failed to produce one shred of evidence proving that the larger consolidated school is producing better education. They have failed to consider our arguments and the evidence we have submitted. Is this happening in a Democracy, in our beloved America?? Maybe it is time to stop and take stock of ourselves.

It goes without saying that we will continue our fight, steadfastly, and confident that right will prevail. The next step taken will be on the advice of counsel. News releases will report developments at the appropriate time.

This set-back should not make us discouraged, on the contrary, it should strengthen our determination to see this thing through to a successful conclusion.

Meeting of Lions Club

In a tastefully decorated Taney Inn filled to capacity last Tuesday evening Past-President Frank T. Dunham presented a nice program for Taneytown Lions and their ladies while Delmar E. Riffle provided background organ music of popular, classical, and Christmas themes.

President John T. Hottinger presided and opened the meeting in traditional fashion, Lion the Rev. Edmund P. Welker pronounced the invocation, and Lion tamer Stanley W. King led the group singing of Christmas carols to the piano accompaniment of Harry I. Reindollar. Following a delicious roast turkey dinner each Lion introduced his lady, and special guests were Mrs. Howard W. Miller, wife of the speaker; Mrs. Paul Devibiss, guest of the Hottingers; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Inyve, guests of Lion Dunham; and Mrs. Fern Hitchcock, Jr., and her accompanist, Dr. Hagemeyer, of Western Maryland College, guests of the Homer Y. Myers.

Mrs. Hitchcock then favored with lovely renditions of three vocal solos, Dr. Hagemeyer accompanying her at the piano. She had chosen "The Little Road to Bethlehem" by a modern English composer, Michael Head; a negro spiritual from South Carolina, "Mary Had a Baby"; and "Christmas is Here," a selection appearing in a recent issue of THE AMERICAN HOME magazine.

Chairman Dunham thereupon introduced as speaker the Rev. Howard W. Miller, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Taneytown, who spoke on the subject, "Presents are gifts in His name." He began by citing the familiar hue and cry on all sides against the horrible dragon of commercialism, but dared to aver that this may be overstated. The season is such a happy one, for both Christian and non-Christian alike, when by both word and deed most people share. The crassness of Christmas lies only in the motive behind all the giving. If one gives in the spirit of love, as did the weary, tired, tattered old woman coming from the dark recesses of the great cathedral to lay upon the altar her humble gift, perhaps some undefined, meaningless, even worthless thing, the bells will chime in their magnificence, for a gift given in love is that which pleases the Christ child.

Or, as in O'Henry's well known story, "The Gift of the Magi" where the woman cut off her beautiful hair to buy a watch chain for her loved one, and the loved one, also unbeknown to her, sold his prized watch to buy combs for her lovely hair, each gift may have been a useless one, but each acted out of a deep, abiding, sacrificing love the one to the other.

One should not be unaware of God's great gift of His son, the baby Jesus, who, though a king, put aside the regal trappings of purple and came in a lowly state. The central miracle is that God did intrude to become man, so that He might in the fullness of time suffer the cross with the sins of mankind. "This Christmas let's give presents in His name, in the spirit of love. He gave us everything which is good in this wonderful world, which we take for granted, which we use and misuse. Like the advent hymn, 'Veni, Veni Immanuel,' may this be the prayer that we carry in our hearts throughout the Christmas season, throughout all our days, thus keeping Christ in Christmas in our total lives all the year. 'O Come, O come, Immanuel.'"

Singleton E. Rensburg next reported on the Community birthday calendar project, in which the blue team captained by Donald R. Lawyer came out ahead over the gold headed by Robert F. Wantz. Delmar Riffle was honored on the winning team for selling the most listings and calendars, while the highest gold canvasser was Glenn O. Reeve. Total project profit was approximately $750.

Graduated the night before from the Roaring Lions public speaking course was International counselor Harry B. Dougherty, Sr.

The meeting usually held the fourth Tuesday will be cancelled, and in its stead Christmas baskets will be assembled and delivered on Saturday, December 23, under the leadership of Donald R. Baker.

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Do make a trip downtown, folks and even if it means a special trip to "The Hecht-May Co" store for it surely is all a glitter for the Holidays! Each year is a different theme and this year it is "A Thousand and One Gifts" of "The Sacred Temple"—"The Star in the East" and those two cages which hold the beautiful white Doves from India and there are twelve of them! As I stood before one cage there they were kissing! It has the atmosphere of The Arabian Nights with the Harem girls. No store in Baltimore can compare with the Hecht-May Company and only with the New York stores do I compare it.

Baltimore is all so gay downtown and especially if you await until after dark to see the decorations lit up beautifully.

If you need a new desk blotter be sure and get the red color for this time of the year as it will give your desk a little more oomph! This time of the year always brings back the beautiful Poinsettia Plant which my Minister never failed to present to me.

As I walked into the Toy Department was amazed to see the modern doll—now with all the other features—it is the KISSING AND DANCING DOLLS and yet I will always recall the beautiful dolls I had being double jointed and the lovely bisque faces and all they did was to close their eyes to sleep! Most of them came from Germany those days and if it came from Germany, the public knew regardless—it was made to perfection! Eh? The dolls are huge in height wearing actual Kiddie clothes. I always loved dolls and still have a beauty sitting on my bed. Years ago, the hair of the dolls was genuine in fact when my curls were cut off, a wig was made for my special doll from my own hair. Doll hospitals were plentiful and nowadays they are very scarce. Making Cookies the other night brought back the time in the Parsonage how they were eaten before the holidays and many more had to be baked!

Remember the gentleman who wrote to me last year asking me to write about the awful Christmas debts staying out of a wig was made for my special doll from my own hair. Doll hospitals were plentiful and nowadays they are very scarce. Making Cookies the other night brought back the time in the Parsonage how they were eaten before the holidays and many more had to be baked!

NOTHING TO GIVE -- UNTIL

Soaking the rich, via the taxation route, has long been a political technique that has paid off handsomely as a vote getter.

But the fly in the ointment now is, that as the tax boosters run up the total tax take, to the confiscation point, there aren't enough "rich" to meet their demands, so they have to lower their sights and increase taxes on the middle and low income citizens to raise the money to cover their spending projects.

The biggest political spenders, who advocate having the "government" do this or that "free" or "at cost" for the people, are very careful to refrain from saying that the government can provide nothing "at cost" or for "free" until it first takes the money away from them. You don't get something for nothing from government, because it has nothing to give until it first acquires it through taxes.

SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS

Are you past retirement age and still working? If so, there may be some social security benefits due you.

To get social security benefits every month of the year, you must limit your earnings to $1200 a year. Most social security beneficiaries recognize this rule. But what happens when you exceed $1200? Do you lose all of your checks when you earn over that amount? The answer is no, says Mr. L. J. Gillespie, Field Representative of the Baltimore (North) Social Security District Office.

New rules have been passed by Congress effective with 1961. This new law recognizes that many people prefer to keep working and do not retire until they are well past 65. Under these provisions, it is now possible for a person to earn well over $1200 during the year and still draw some of his social security beneficiary earnings over $1200 his total benefits. When a social security beneficiary for the year are reduced by $1 for each $2 that he earns from $1200 — $1700. For every $1 that his earnings go above $1700, his benefits for the year will be reduced by $1.

Mr. Gillespie presented this example of how this new rule works: Ray Shaw, age 65, receives $100 a month from social security. His wife, Patricia, age 66, gets $50 each month as a wife on Ray's social security account. Together they receive a combined check of $150 a month.

In 1961, Mr. Shaw works throughout the entire year and earns $125 a month, or $1500 for the year. His earnings exceed $1200 by $300. This means that $150 will be deducted from the benefits due the family for 1961.

These new rules mean that a family drawing a monthly benefit of $254 would be able to have some social security benefits even if their yearly earnings are high as $4400. Another family whose benefits were $200 a month would not lose all of their payments until they earned over $3800 for the year. Thus, it is possible that you, too, may qualify for some monthly payments even though you are making well over $1200 per year.

There is one other provision in the law which provides that a worker may draw a benefit for any month of the year in which he neither earns wages of more than $100, nor works in self-employment, or is 72 or over.

Mr. Gillespie suggests all persons 65 or over who are still working call on their local social security office for information as to whether they will be able to receive some social mean the loss of some monthly benefits.

You've got nine Chevy II models to choose from. This is the Nova 400 Sport Coupe.

Luxury and low price were never blended so beautifully

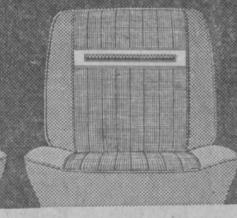

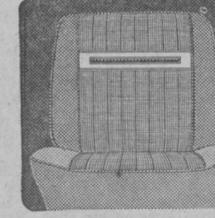

Who but Chevrolet could've done it? Price, spice and everything nice! A car that's bustin' with room, zoom and richness. One that's deep in convenience and comfort. One that won't let you squander a thing but affection. Look over the beautiful new Chevy II Nova here, and light out in it at your dealer's.

NEW CHEVY II NOVA

A SIX WITH V8 SCAT. You design a throaty Six (120 hp. strong) with special refinements like seven main bearings. You take your Six and team it with a car that is hundreds of pounds lighter than the big jobs—and, partner, you've got Go!

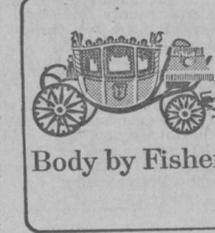

EASIER GOING RIDE. New Mono-Plate rear springs take the place of old-fashioned multi-leaf springs. Tough but ever so gentle, they help give you a ride that reminds you of the big Chevrolet—and you know how smooth that is.

RICH REFINED INTERIORS. Here's where you sit in the lap of luxury. Leatherlike vinyl upholstery. Foam-cushioned, of course. Carpeting and scuff mats. Vinyl overhead and chrome trim—the works!

EVEN BUCKET SEATS IF YOU LIKE. Comfortable, contoured for full support, padded with thick deep-foam cushioning, covered in rich leather-grained vinyl. Yours at slight extra cost in the Nova Sport Coupe and Convertible.

Body by Fisher

STRIKING NEW STYLING. Any way you look at it, the Chevy II Nova is a neat, nifty fashion plate. The lines are so crisp and clean we're tempted to call them "elegant" (except that sounds downright expensive and, as your dealer will happily show you, Chevy II is anything but!).

An air mailed Christmas Card to Werner Rahm, Zum Talheim, Hallau SH, Switzerland, would, I know, make this "Swiss Boy" very happy.

Edward Coshun has had to miss some work because he got a piece of steel in his eye while at work last week. I understand he is much better.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schnappinger of Balto., Md. were week end guests of her cousin, Mrs. Carroll Wilhide, Mr. Wilhide and family, Key-De-Blue Farm.

Mrs. Joseph Storey, Sykesville, was a Monday visitor at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Dougherty and Larry, Detour.

The Edward Coshun's have Santa filling the stockings at a fireplace on the side of their house, Keysville-Detour Rd. worth taking the time to see.

The snow began to fall here on Saturday. On Sunday there was ice and snow. Tuesday evening very, very foggy.

Mrs. Herman Schott, Starner's Dam, was a visitor last Thursday with the Carroll Wilhide family. Mr. Schott joined this family as a guest at supper.

I understand Mr. Theodore (Pete) Long's brother Reisterstow, has moved into the Long's apartment.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Keyton and Michael, Six's Bridge Rd. visited on Monday evening with the Myron Wilhide family.

A VOICE FROM CARROLL

Early in 1952, some American newspapers carried front page photographs of formerly ill tuberculosis patients, looking fat and healthy, dancing in the aisles between rows of abandoned hospital beds. The old-time TB sanatorium was declared obsolete. Tuberculosis, so the stories read, had been stopped in its tracks by little white pills of a new coal-tar compound, named isoniazid. Some doctors were skeptical and urged the public to wait until the drug had time to prove itself. Nine years later the INH compounds have proven to be not the miracle workers that the news stories said they were. But isoniazid has revolutionized the chemical treatment of tuberculosis although it has not reduced the treatment of the disease to mere pill taking, nor eliminated the TB sanatorium nor ended the need for surgery. To be sure many patients with tuberculosis can be treated in clinics and at home. Hospital treatment has been shortened due to the new drugs but it still requires a combination of nursing, bed rest and medicine to make a person ill with TB into a healthy person again. Constant research is necessary and so is educating the public. For there are many who read the first pre-mature reports on isoniazid in the papers and believe that pills alone can cure tuberculosis. There is real danger in this belief. Your local Tuberculosis Association will furnish you with the facts. Part of the money you contribute by buying Christmas Seals is used to educate the public and by the public we mean YOU.

Edna Ferber says a woman can look both moral and exciting... if she also looks as if it was quite a struggle.

A sense of duty is what impels most of us to get out of bed each morning and go about our daily routine. For if we were guided by selfish motives alone, most of us would just draw the bed-covers over our heads and take another long nap. But we are duty-bound to make breakfast for the family including the family pets knowing that they are unhappy if not fed on time. Duty guides most of us through the entire day whether we think about it or not. It is the unseen force that makes us do the things we don't like to do, like dusting and cleaning silverware and often ignoring the things that would give us pleasure because the small voice of duty slyly reminds us that it would be wasted time. "Duty" is a nice safe comfortable word. It holds everything together... family, church and state. If we all lost our sense of duty the world would fly apart. First, the family would disintegrate, the church would collapse. We often believe that some of the problems of our young people come from the fact that we, as parents have not stressed this sense of duty as much as we should. Duty is not a burden but a privilege to serve. And only in serving others can one's own life be completed.

Someone told me the other day that an empty coffee tin makes an ideal container to roast one or two potatoes. Just put the potatoes in the can, place the top on and either put them in the oven or on top of the stove with the heat turned to "low". It works for we tried it.

Half the fun of Christmas is decorating the house. The stores are filled with lovely decorations but to be different why not use things around the house like unused beads, ribbons off of packages, flowers from hats, and colored paper. A bit of pine trimmed with beads makes a nice table decoration. The more original the better. Everyone has an imagination so why not use it.

Apparently what happens to little girls who don't eat their cereal is that they grow up to be fashion models.

The other day the phone rang while we were busy making an apple pie.

Frantically disengaging our hands from the gooey dough, we reached the phone after the sixth ring. A voice at the other end of the line said: "Madam, you have been selected to receive some magazines free of charge. You only have to pay thirty five cents a week for mailing and handling charges. May we have your address, please?" While the voice was talking, we were doing some mental arithmetic and came up with the sum of $18.20 which was the amount we were supposed to pay for free magazines. Although our temper was at the boiling point, we declined the honor of becoming a sucker without exploding into violence. After hanging up the phone we returned to our pie and took our anger out on the dough with the rolling-pin. Magazine salesmen resort to all sorts of trickery to make sales but this was the first time we have ever been subjected to the phone technique. We suppose this sort of approach is legal but hardly honest. It certainly doesn't leave a person with a pleasant feeling either for phones or salesmen.

After you've done a thing the same way for two years, you should look at it carefully. After five years, look at it with suspicion. After ten years, throw it away and start all over.

"In this closet?"

"In the drawers of my desk?"

"Yes everywhere, he is in your pocket now."

"No he ain't though."

"and why not?"

"tauth I ain't dot no pottet."

There is so much sickness all around us at this time of writing, we do hope all will be well before Christmas and we hope to see the sun shine through real soon, don't you?

A pageant, "Prince of Peace," will feature the Christmas program at the Uniontown Elementary School, Friday evening at 8:00 P. M. The event based on Bible stories will include many favorite Christmas carols. The first and second grades will present several rhythm numbers. Many of the "Burg" children attend the Uniontown School.

Christmas is a beautiful sentiment. It is a beautiful faith. It is the trusting, the strong faith of a child. It is the never-failing belief of humanity in the truly miraculous. But it is even more. It is a force against which the most powerful evils cannot stand for long, nor the most wicked of men can overpower. Christmas has altered the world.

The Carroll County 4-H Beef Club, under the leadership of Mr. Earle Stonesifer of Taneytown, is sponsoring a 4-H Angus Calf Contest during the months of December and January. The contest is open to all Carroll County 4-H Club Members. Participants must complete the statement, "I would like to have a 4-H Beef Project" in 50 words or less. Entries must be mailed to the County Extension Office by January 15, 1962. The winner will be announced January 30, 1962.

The registered Angus breeding heifer being offered in this contest is the offspring of a heifer won by George Brooks of Hampstead through a 4-H Beef Club Contest in 1959. The rules of the contest state that the 4-H'er winning the breeding heifer must return the first calf to the Carroll County 4-H Beef Club for use in another contest.

Entry blanks for the contest may be obtained from 4-H Club local leaders or the County Extension Office in Westminster.

HEATING

2,000 years ago, the houses of Korean noblemen contained "Spring rooms"—so called because of their Spring-like warmth, even on coldest days! The rooms were heated by fires kindled under the hollow floors!

Romans heated their famous bath by piping hot gases from a central charcoal fire under the floor and up through flues in the walls. They were first to make extensive use of "radiant heating" in which floor and wall act as large warming panels.

Today many modern homes and buildings are heated by the same principle. Panels of steel pipe concealed in the floor or ceiling, supply invisible, clean and draft-free comfort that duplicates the sun's own radiation.

Keys To Carefree Motoring

Streaked windshields signal worn wiper blades. Wiper arms and blade holders are made of strong stainless steel... but the rubber blades wear out, obscuring view, endangering safety. Carry a spare blade and replace as needed.

Your auto muffler quiets the exhaust, prevents seepage of carbon monoxide into car. Latest innovation: A sturdy stainless steel replacement muffler available for most cars.

DO YOU KNOW HOW MUCH MILK YOUR COWS CAN REALLY GIVE? A cow is a factory. She eats grass, hay, silage, grain and Wayne Feeds. She makes milk. Each cow-factory has a certain bred-in capacity. When Bossy's assembly line isn't running at full capacity, she isn't making as much money for you as she should. The way to find out if she's really running at full capacity is to put more feed in and see if you get more milk out. FEED HER ACCORDING TO WHAT SHE COULD GIVE TOMORROW, instead of what she gave yesterday. Wayne can show you how to balance these larger feed intakes so that your cows can handle them. You feed the rumen bacteria too, so they can work harder and digest more roughage. See us now for the Wayne Program that will work for you... choose from these quality Wayne Feeds... WEEKLY SPORTS REVIEW

The 1961 All-America, featuring honor students Alex Kroll and Merlin Olsen, has the biggest line in history. Lone repeater from last year is Ohio State fullback, Bob Ferguson. Nicknamed "the quiet man", he accomplished the two goals he had set for himself in 1961. He led the Buckeyes to the Big Ten title and repeated as All America. Also in the backfield is the Syracuse "wonder boy", Ernie Davis. The No. 1 draft choice and Heisman Trophy winner, led the Orange to a Liberty Bowl berth as the team's leading ground gainer, pass receiver, kick hauler and scorer. He was among the nation's leaders in rushing (823 yards, 5.5 average) and points (94). The 1961 All-Star Team is as follows:

- E—Jerry Hilterbrand, Colorado, 241 pounds, Davenport Ohio.
E—Bill Miller, Miami (Fla.), 192, McKeesport, Pa.
T—Merlin Olsen, Utah State, 265, Logan, Utah.
T—Bill Neighbors, Alabama, 229, Northport, Ala.
G—Roy Winston, Louisiana State, 225, Baton Rouge, La.
G—Dave Behrman, Michigan State, 247, Dowagiac, Mich.
C—Alex Kroll, Rutgers, 228, Leechburg, Pa.
E—Sandy Stephens, Minnesota, 215, Uniontown, Pa.
E—Ernie Davis, Syracuse, 210, Elmira, N. Y.
E—James Saxton, Texas, 164, Palestine, Texas.
E—Bob Ferguson, Ohio State, 217, Troy, Ohio.

Chamberlain Breaks Record
Last Friday, the Philadelphia Warriors lost a basketball game by a score of 151 - 147 in three overtimes. But the loss was through no fault of the slender-looking man they call "The Stilt". He grabbed 43 of the Warrior's 98 rebounds, had 31 field goals, 16 free throws and played every minute—giving him 24 consecutive games without a moment of rest during play. Elgin Baylor's 71 points previously were the NBA single-game record. Chamberlain now holds the record with a total of 78 points in one game.

Taneytown To Drop Sports
Next year, Taneytown High School will not be in contention for any trophies or championships. The Tigers will no longer have the familiar smell of lime in their nostrils as they kick the soccer ball around the field. They will no longer have the feeling of satisfaction as they listen to a ball going through a net. And last but not least, the track uniforms will be packed away in mothballs along with the bats, balls, and gloves of the baseball team.

The decision came Tuesday, December 12, 1961, when the "almighty" referees in Westminster (The Carroll County Board of Education) decided to call the game because of "unsportsmanlike conduct". Now, the question is, who was the poor sport? In any case, the verdict must stand. The referees have made their decision and it can not be changed. And so, sports at T. H. S. must cease. For you see, their will be no Taneytown High School next year.

Permanent Cure Found For Rotted Window Sills

It is no longer necessary to constantly use putty to fill in cracks in weathered and rotted window sills, or to make constant repairs, or finally replace these unsightly areas.
A new product, proved in commercial and industrial applications for the past five years, is now available to the homeowner — which will permanently do away with the rotted window sills problem and give them a "like new" appearance.
The new product is a heavy-bodied pigmented material that dries to a pliable, flexible coating. Called Tuff-Kote, the material is supplied with a roll of glass fabric and a special applicator.
This is how it works:
A thin coat is first brushed over the window sill and smoothed down with the squee-gee type rubber applicator that is furnished. Then, a length of fabric is cut from the roll provided and applied over the coated area. A second coat is then brushed over the glass fabric and feather edged with the applicator.
That's all there is to it.
The rotted window sill is left is treated with Tuff-Kote and glass fabric. Result is shown at right—practically a "brand new" window sill. Anyone can now resurface rotted and weathered window sills, permanently.
Professional painters and carpenters who have used this product state that it does away with the former method of trying to salvage weathered and rotted window sills with the tiresome wood putty filling and painting—always a "sloppy" result producing a fair amount of splinters.
Now, the process is so simple that anyone can do it, and the cost involved is minor. It produces a smooth, weatherproof seal which stands up under all weather conditions—permanently.
This new product is available at most paint, hardware and building supply stores.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Adoration

Lesson for December 17, 1961

"ADORATION" is a cheap word and a word of high dignity too, depending on who is using it, and for what. "I adore chipped beef" or "I adore these new hem-lines" are feminine ways of saying "I like it a lot."

That's the cheap use of the word. It's an extravagant compliment that means very little. The high and even sublime

Dr. Foreman use of the word means worship. It comes from two Latin words meaning "pray to." To adore God is to pray to Him and worship Him. In all the high use of "adore" and "adoration" it is implied that what you adore is above you, superior to you. It is the high use of this word that we should look into.

Adoring Nothing

There are persons, as there have always been, who bow to no one and nothing. They acknowledge no superior on earth or anywhere else. They may be compelled to admit there are forces they cannot control, personal or impersonal. But they do not bow to them except of necessity, as a lawyer may yield to the judge's ruling even when he despises it. Such people regard adoration as a sign of weakness, of willingness to be trampled on. Now this attitude is good up to a point. Some things there are which we should not adore. There are powers of wickedness to whom it is wicked to bow. But that is not the point. The people of whom we speak just here are not bowing to anybody or anything, they respect nothing and no one. This means that they do not even adore what is adorable; respect what ought to be respected, or worship One who ought to be worshipped.

Adoring what is mean.

Which is worse, to adore nothing or to adore what should never be adored? Among the various off-beat religions of the world are found devil-worshippers, bowing to idols which not only look fierce, frightening and ugly, but which stand for crimes such as murder and fornication. But you would not have to look far, even in America, before you would find people who, while not signed up as devil-worshippers, nevertheless admire bad things and bad men. Such people will, of course, oppose what is good. Incidentally it is hard for "nice" people who have perhaps lived among Christians all their lives, to believe that there are 100% scoundrels in the world. It is a popular notion that everybody, no matter how bad he is, has good intentions. This is not true. Some people intend no good. When that man out west picked up a bag with $240,000 in it and returned it to the owners, he got stacks of mail condemning him for being a fool. Those letters came from people who could not understand honesty and did not admire it. What did they admire?

Adoring the Highest

In absolute contrast are those people who adore what is adorable, who bow only to the Most High. This is what we do, or wish or intend to do, in public worship. It is an interesting question what would happen if it were suddenly discovered that the all-powerful God is wicked. That will not happen; it is not true; but if it could be true that the Maker of heaven and earth is a devil, perhaps some would keep on adoring him just as men of a certain type look up to a known killer. But others, we hope most others, would refuse to bow to a devil no matter what throne might be under him. In the famous Song of Mary she praises God not alone for his greatness but for his goodness. Mary worshipping a devil would be grotesque and horrible. Mary praising the God who shows mercy is sweetly right. Worship in itself is neither good nor bad. It is good only when the One who is worshipped is good above all.

Adoring can be dangerous

We grow more and more like what we adore. If we adore nothing, we ourselves become empty and cold. If we admire people who "get away with murder" because they are smart, we shall try to get away with all we can, ourselves. But if we admire what is admirable, adore what deserves adoration, we shall come to have some likeness to the object of our prayers. To adore the God of love is to begin to live as one of his children.

NEW WEAPON AGAINST HEART ATTACKS

A new medical procedure has recently been reported that offers hope in the fight against heart attacks—the killer that takes more lives than any other disease.

In essence, the examination involves an x-ray visualization of the heart and heart vessels by radiologists, the doctors who specialize in x-ray diagnosis. A small, narrow tube is inserted into the main artery leading from the heart. Opaque liquid is then injected into the region and x-ray films made. The result is an x-ray film of the heart and heart vessels that will reveal critically important information about the most important organ in the body.

Surgeons hope this new x-ray examination will help them prevent heart attacks before they occur.

"Thank you for employing such wonderful people"

The above words, which we value highly, are in a letter received from a young college coed. The letter goes on to say that she lost her wallet while running an errand for her family. She rushed back to the store, looked everywhere, but had no luck in finding it. Finally, sure that she would never get the wallet back, she started home feeling pretty down in the dumps.

But at almost that very minute the door-bell rang at her house and a voice said "Excuse me, I think this wallet I found belongs to someone who lives here." The voice belonged to a C & P installer, and the result was a greatly relieved young lady.

In itself this is a small thing—what any good neighbor would do. And we're glad the desire to be of help is so natural with telephone people. Whether it's a service representative taking a real interest in your problem, an operator making an extra effort, or an installer returning a lost wallet—the spirit of service is the same.

Have Kemper Care With Kemper Insurance

The $229,000,000.00 in premiums which KEMPER INSURANCE wrote in 1960 represents peace of mind and security for nearly 2,000,000 policyholders.

In the lives of all of us, scarcely a minute goes by but what we are using the product of a KEMPER INSURANCE policyholder. The food we eat, the trains and planes we ride, the household goods we use, the movies we see, the gasoline, oil and tires for our cars, the television we watch—all these and many more are more often than not the products of KEMPER INSURANCE policyholders.

During 1960, KEMPER INSURANCE provided some form of insurance protection to one third of the firms listed on the New York stock exchange in addition to many thousands of smaller business and industries.

As Hurricane Carla plowed through coastal regions of Texas, KEMPER INSURANCE claim disaster teams were already moving into hard-hit areas to serve policy holders who sustained losses. Federal Mutual Claim men (a KEMPER COMPANY represented locally by ROBERT L. ZENTZ of Taneytown), traveled to Texas carrying folding ladders, 100-foot measuring tapes, flashlights and other equipment to facilitate their work. Speedy emergency measures, at the time of a disaster like Hurricane Carla, are the trademark of KEMPER INSURANCE.
